

Ya' gotta hunt for the good life

In The Clarendon Tradin' Post hands a picture of a Doberman dressed in hunting garb, a pipe in his mouth, and a gun over his shoulder. It reads, "Ya' Gotta Hunt for the Good Life." That was Irvin Andrew Tipton's philosophy and he did just that when he, as a young man, came to Clarendon with his wife and three children to seek his fortune (to hunt for the good life).

This is part of the Tipton family heritage which will be preserved for generations in the Donley County Family History Book which The Clarendon Press is now working on.

Cotton farmers need to check field for insect infestations

Donley County cotton producers should be checking their field for insect infestations according to County Extension Agent Ronald Gooch.

Damaging infestations of bollworms were found in a new field this week. Treatment may be justified when counts average 5,000 or more small worms per acre or 8 to 10 percent of the plants are infested.

Check the entire cotton plant, as small bollworms and eggs are being found in all areas of the plant, not just in the terminal area. Continue to check fields twice a week in order to detect bollworm eggs and small larvae early.

Infestations of boll weevil were found in a cotton field this week. This is the first infestation of boll weevil found in Donley County since 1974. Entomologists are predicting the worst cotton boll weevil season on record for the Rolling Plains. Donley County cotton producers may be faced with fighting this major cotton pest again.

Let's clear up confusion over Bible classes

By ATTORNEY GENERAL
JIM MATTOX

There has been confusion recently over the meaning of an Attorney General's opinion regarding Bible classes at state universities.

Bible classes, for which students receive college credit, have been structured in a variety of different ways at different state universities.

At some schools, the instructors of Bible classes were chosen and paid by various religious organizations. However, the instructors were given official university status.

A 1985 opinion by my Office stated that such an arrangement between a state school and a religious organization was a violation of the U.S. Constitution. The Constitution prohibits the active involvement of the government in religious activity, and vice versa.

The opinion did not prohibit state universities from offering Bible classes if the universities had complete control and responsibility for the classes. Nor did it prohibit universities from giving transfer credit for Bible classes offered by religious organizations.

Because of additional questions about the matter, my Office issued a second opinion in May 1987, answering the questions.

The opinion stated that allowing a religious organization to nominate or pay the salary of a university faculty member gives the religious organization the opportunity to control the faculty member. A religious organization cannot participate in running state affairs. To allow that also would require allowing the reverse -- allowing the State to select or pay ministers or pastors of churches.

There are a variety of ways that a state university may offer college credit for Bible classes without violating the Constitution.

The simplest method may be for the arrangement to continue as in the past, but with one exception, removing the official university status given the classes and instructors.

Another method may be for the universities to assume complete responsibility for the Bible classes as they do for any other class on campus by selecting and paying the instructors themselves.

My Office has offered to help the universities restructure the Bible classes so as not to violate the Constitution.

As I stated in the opinion, it may be argued that one's education is not complete without a study of the history of religion and the Bible and their effect on civilization.

I have found my own studies of the Bible during my college days to be beneficial, and I encourage the universities to make the changes necessary so that students will continue to have the opportunity to study the Bible.

Control white grubs in lawns

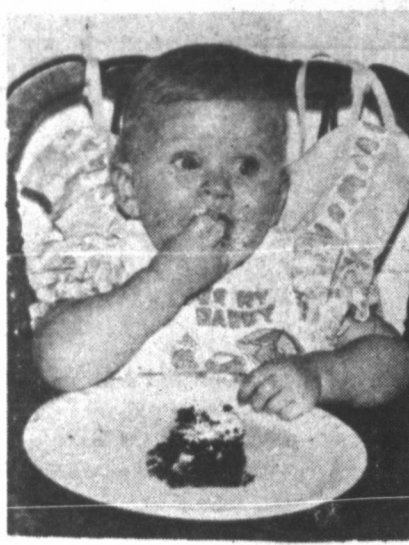

White grub control in lawns is important during August, says Ronald Gooch, County Extension Agent. The adult form of the white grub is often called the May or June beetle and is about 1/2 to 5/8 inches long and light brown. The flight period for the adults in Donley County generally occurs from mid to late June and lasts from one to three weeks. The female lay eggs which hatch in three to four weeks, and feed on grass roots. Once grubs begin feeding, control measures should be taken. Treatment time in Donley County is normally mid-August.

White grubs in excessive numbers can heavily damage lawns, notes Gooch. Check for white grubs by cutting a square foot section of sod with a shovel and examining the roots and soil to a depth of 4 inches. Examining at least one square foot of sod for 1,000 square foot of lawn area. Chemical treatment is needed if there are more than four grubs per square foot of sod.

Diazinon, Dursban or Oktanol provide adequate control and should be used at recommended rates given on the chemical container label. The granular form is easier to apply and to wash into the soil than liquid or spray formulations. After using granules, drag the grass with a tow sack or water hose to knock them down to the soil. Then apply enough water to soak the granules well into the soil.

Apply diazinon sprays at the rate of 25 gallons of water, including the insecticide, per 1,000 square feet to wash the insecticide into the soil. Wetting the lawn before spraying also helps. Always keep children and pets off the treated lawn until the grass is dry.

The key to white grub control in home lawns is proper timing of chemical applications and getting the insecticide through the grass to the root zone where grubs are feeding, emphasizes Gooch.

First cousins enjoy reunion in Clarendon

First cousins and grandchildren of pioneer residents, John Cooper and Emma Arwine Scoggins, met Tuesday, August 11, 1987 in the home of Mr. and Mrs. G.W. Estlack. These cousins are children of Lula Scoggins Wheeler and H.L. Wheeler, Lena Scoggins Bairfield and Wint Bairfield, and Faye Tyree Scoggins and Oma Allen Scoggins.

Charlie Bairfield treated the group to lunch at Mary's Country Kitchen. Visiting, reminiscing, and taking pictures was the program of the day as each brought others up to date on his or her activities. This was the first opportunity the cousins have had to be together in several years. Only one parent of any of these cousins survives: Mrs. Faye Scoggins Bieglow of Amarillo - mother of Ruby Dell Scoggins Estlack and Dorothy Fay Scoggins Whitlock. She was able to be present for the occasion.

Those to enjoy the day were: Mrs. Lola Wheeler Brooks of Guyton, Okla.; Mrs. Irene Wheeler Glenn of Salinas, Kansas; Mrs. Naomi Wheeler Calvert of Optima, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. J.H. Wheeler of Galveston, Tx.; Mrs. Faye Scoggins Bigelow and Lawrence and Dorothy Faye Scoggins Whitlock of Amarillo; and the hosts - Charlie Bairfield and George Wayne and Ruby Dell Scoggins Estlack of Clarendon. One first cousin, Lois Bairfield Miller and her husband, Dr. M.S. Miller of Ft. Worth, Tx., were unable to be present.

J. LaFon family reunion

Descendents of Mr. and Mrs. J. Robert LaFon, early settlers in Lelia Lake and Clarendon, held a family reunion in Clarendon and Amarillo recently. While in Clarendon they visited the grave sites of Mr. and Mrs. LaFon in Clarendon Citizens Cemetery after which they enjoyed lunch at the Golden Acorn dining room. Their visit to Clarendon rekindled fond memories of "Main Street", the old Opera House, the College and College Avenue where their home was located, the Methodist Church where they attended church, Sunday School and Epworth League meetings in their youth as well as other familiar and now nostalgic places. Some of the group went on to visit the restored historic S.W. Lowe home which was of great interest. It was a happy day of pleasant memories for the entire group.

A highlight of the gathering was a festive day at the Palo Duro Canyon ranch home of daughter Roberta (LaFon) Currie Seastrand near Amarillo where a Sutphens catered barbecue luncheon was served. Everyone enjoyed swimming, hiking, fishing, horseback riding and just plain relaxing. Video movies were made of all activities by daughter Bobby Jo Condran and later shown on TV monitors.

Another highlight of the festivities was a delightful evening buffet and swim party hosted by grandson Jim and Sondra Currie at their attractive home in Amarillo. The home, patio and pool area were artistically lighted and elegantly decorated for the affair. Keyboard artist, Gene Seastrand, entertained with music of the Big Band era. A chorus line was assembled from the group by daughter Ruth Shanklin who taught them the choreography from the musical "New York, New York" as well as the Texas Two-Step, "Put Your Little Foot" and dances of the 'twenties'. Thirty-six members of the group attended and enjoyed the delicious food, refreshments and the entertainment.

Immediate descendents attending the reunion were daughters Lynn Pope, Lubbock; Ruth Shanklin, Albuquerque, N.M.; Edna Mae Beville, Washington, D.C.; Roberta Currie Seastrand, Amarillo; and Bobby Jo Condran of Ventura, California.

Grandchildren attending were Carol (Pope) Newsom, Patti (Shanklin) Mastrandrea, LaFon Beville

Great grandchildren attending were Natasha Newsom, Michael Mastrandrea, Melissa Beville, Kimberlin Ward, Kim Currie, David Currie, Bobby Currie, Susan Currie and Robbie, Jonathan, Rachael and Michael Knight.

Others attending were Ross H. Beville, Stuart Condran, A.P. Richardson, Gene Seastrand, Sondra Currie, Sandy Currie, David Mastrandrea, Calvin Newsom, Robbie Knight, Sr., and Sandy Condran.

Texas A&M cattle grading school

Producers need a working knowledge of beef cattle grades to help them in marketing their stock. That's why the Texas Agricultural Extension Service will be conducting a special cattle grading school at Texas A&M University Sept. 10-11.

"The Beef Cattle Grading School is designed to teach a common nomenclature and grade specifications for feeder, slaughter and carcass beef," points out Dr. Chester Fehlis of Bryan, district Extension director and school coordinator. "We want to help producers become better equipped in determining grades and thus the value of their cattle. That way a producer can better describe his cattle to a prospective buyer."

Another aim of the school is to standardize common name cattle grades and specifications used in Texas, Fehlis adds.

The school will include classroom, field and meat locker instruction, practical grading exercises for participants, and attendance at a sorted and co-mingled stocker-feeder sale at Brenham.

Individuals interested in attending the school must preregister by Sept. 1, Fehlis points out. Registration information is available at any county Extension office. Participation is limited to the first 150 individuals who preregister.

The school will begin at 9 a.m. Sept. 10 at the Louis Pearce Pavilion on Texas A&M's west campus, with opening remarks by Extension Director Dr. Zerle L. Carpenter. Officials with Texas A&M's Department of Animal Science and the Livestock Market News will discuss beef cattle grades, feeder cattle and slaughter cattle grading, and slaughter cow and bull grades. The school will conclude with discussions on carcass grading and evaluation and beef cattle marketing strategies, Fehlis says.

Cooperating with the Extension Service in hosting the school are the South Central Texas Beef Herd Improvement Program and Texas A&M's departments of animal science and agricultural economics.

Children and vitamins

While you're out buying clothes, school supplies and lunch boxes to get your children started on the new school year, should you also be buying vitamins?

According to Dr. Alice Hunt, a nutritionist and Registered Dietitian, the answer is "probably not".

"Normal, healthy children who eat a varied and balanced diet will get an adequate amount of all the necessary nutrients their bodies need, so a vitamin-mineral supplement is unnecessary," says the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service specialist.

Hunt also advises considering the foods your children eat regularly. For example, if a child eats a bowl of fortified cereal every day, it may be similar to taking a vitamin, depending on the degree of fortification.

The labels on cereals and other fortified foods list the percentage of the recommended daily allowances (RDAs) of vitamins and minerals contained in a serving of the product. According to the specialist, a number of these products contain 100% of the daily requirements for adults.

"If your child has a consistently poor appetite or eats only a limited variety foods, a check-up by a physician is appropriate," says Hunt. "The doctor may suggest a vitamin-mineral supplement to improve overall nutritional health."

Because excessive amounts of some nutrients, such as vitamins A and D, can be toxic however, she advises giving a child supplements without checking with a doctor.

"Giving children vitamins can easily lull parents into a false sense of security that the child's nutritional needs are being met," cautions Hunt. "But a supplement is not an adequate substitute for a good diet."

The nutritionist maintains that the best thing parents can do to get children off to a healthy start on the school year is to stick to the basics: encourage them to eat a good breakfast, pack a nutritious lunch and have plenty of healthy snack foods around for after school.

Wildlife and nature facts

It's tough to find good household help these days -- but not for some owls. According to "International Wildlife" magazine, Texas screech owls capture blind snakes and carry them to their nests. The snakes, which normally live underground and feed on termite larvae, help rid the nests of insects that parasitize young birds. Apparently the housecleaning pays off. Biologists found that young owls in nests with snakes grew faster and had a lower mortality rate than those in snakeless nests.

Scientists at the University of Florida have found a real off-the-wall reason why some common houseplants mysteriously wither and die. It seems that mercury added to some paints to retard mildew is highly toxic to some indoor plants. Because of their sensitivity, such plants could prove useful for detecting low levels of toxic chemicals in the indoor environment. "International Wildlife" magazine reports.

There being no further business the meeting was adjourned. All members joined hands for the Closing Ritual and Mizpah.

The hostesses Carol Hinton and Pam Fletcher then served a delicious spaghetti dinner to members and guests. Members present were: Patsy Leffew, Judy Anderson, Judy Bland, Sandra Eads, Barbara Fagerlund, Carol Grady, Frankie Henson, Wanda Hill, Connie McKinney, Charlene Mays, Nova Mooring, Sandra Mooring, Leslie Schnauffer, Fay Vargas, and Beth Walker.

The inquiring mind wants to know

Henry VIII, Martin Luther, Ferdinand and Isabelle, Leonardo da Vinci, Napoleon, Feudalism, the Renaissance, the Spanish Inquisition, the French Revolution, such is the stuff of the European History class on Tuesday evenings at Clarendon College this fall. If you have always enjoyed reading about knights in shining armor, have wondered about all of those wives of Henry the Eighth, have never understood how Martin Luther's list of complaints contributed to the Protestant break with the Catholic Church, or have felt sympathy for the quillotine victims of the Reign of Terror, treat yourself to a semester of mind expansion.

Jo Schollenbarger as instructor for European History 1500-1815 (HST 113) will demonstrate how comprehension of geography, vocabulary, and the humanities provide historical insight. A chronological development of historical events replaces a series of memorized dates in her approach and the continuity of human nature is revealed as vaguely recognized historical names become characters in the drama of life.

Register now for this course that begins September 8 and will run through December. For further information contact the Registrar's Office at Clarendon College or call 874-3571.

4-H Baking project

The Whole Wheat Baking Project is under way with 16 kids participating. In this project they learn about the Panhandle's #1 agricultural product, wheat. They learn about the kernel itself, the nutritional benefits of whole wheat in the diet, and even how other countries use wheat products. And of course they bake with whole wheat.

On August 26 these kids will have a work day in which they are going to measure, label, and package several dry mix recipes. The mixes will include a whole wheat biscuit mix, a white flour biscuit mix, a whole wheat brownie mix, and a pancake mix. Finishing off the day they will have the packaged mixes as well as cookbooks made up of past and present whole wheat project recipes for sale along with a bake sale at Trifway from 2:00-5:00. These kids have and will work hard on that day. The proceeds from the sale will go to help pay for the awards and prizes given at the Bake Show on Sept. 4.

The cookbooks will have only recipes that have been made by 4-H'ers in past bake shows or for this year's bake show. They will all be nutritional whole wheat recipes. The mixes can be easily stored and only need liquid added to make a fast and simple dish. So come out to Thriftway on August 26 and see what these kids have been up to and even take a ready made dessert home for supper.

Social Security for young workers

Many people equate Social Security with the elderly and retirement, but the program actually provides benefits for people of all ages. Retirement may seem a long way off in the eyes of young people, but monthly retirement checks are only one of a package of benefits available to anyone who works long enough in Social Security-covered employment.

Disability insurance, for example, is an important feature of the Social Security program for young workers. It provides benefits to workers who are so severely disabled that there is reason to believe they will be unable to return to work for at least a year. There is a special requirement for work in the last ten years. In such cases, a worker can start receiving monthly payments after an initial 5-month waiting period.

These benefits will continue for as long as the person remains disabled. Moreover, a person who receives disability benefits for 24 months becomes eligible for Medicare, which can help meet the costs of health care.

If a married worker becomes disabled, monthly payments can also be made to the spouse and children. And if the person should die, survivors insurance will help protect the family through the payment of monthly benefits to the children and surviving spouse, if he or she is caring for an eligible child. If there are no children, the surviving spouse can receive payments at age 60 (50 if disabled).

These features are all in addition to the retirement benefits that many people think of as comprising the entire Social Security package. But Social Security is more--much more.

Memphis - Old Town New Spirit

Hall County in the southeast corner of the Texas Panhandle may be 97 years old but the spirit remains that of a pioneer.

Memphis, county seat of Hall County is preparing for its 97th reunion and picnic, September 19 and 20th. An annual event sponsored by the Hall County Reunion and Picnic Association and Memphis Chamber of Commerce is initiating a new project that will make the picnic a perpetual self paying celebration.

The plan was introduced by Mark White, vice president of the association. For 97 years the residents and business people of Memphis have given money for the big feed, now they are being asked to give a gift only in 1987. The money will be put in an account and only the interest will be used for the celebration. This is more in line with the pioneer thinking of self reliance and independence. Each person will be presented a certificate to show that they gave so that the celebration can continue in the spirit of their fore bearers.

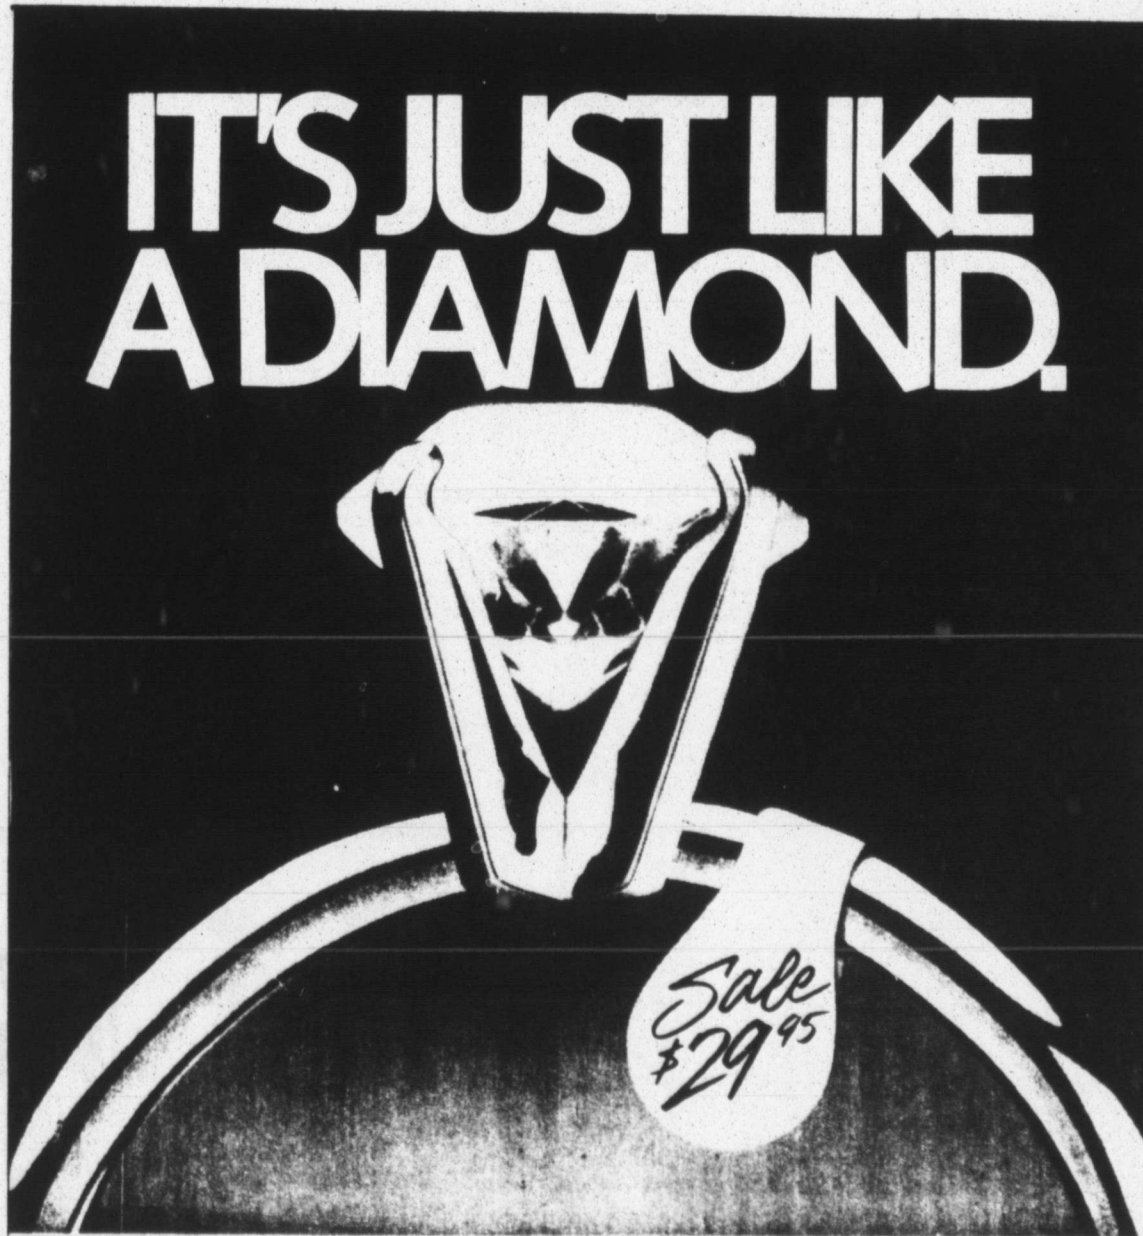

The big two days of visiting will begin at 9 a.m. on Saturday, the 19th with registration on the court house square lawn followed by a parade, tour of the museum and an art show. Lunch will be available on the square and a Living Legends rodeo, concert and dance will be held Saturday night.

Sunday activities begin with church at 9 a.m. followed by the Bar-B-Q and visiting at noon in the city park. All former residents of Hall County are invited to attend the celebration.

According to Greek historians, kissing began when menfolk wanted to know if their womenfolk had been sipping wine.

You know it's an imitation. But what about the many people today who have decided they are just like a banker? From stockbrokers to retailers, from credit unions to insurance men, to savings and loans, they all seem to be saying, "You don't need a banker, we'll do just as well." Oh, no they won't. Because no one else has the banker's hundreds of years of banking experience behind them. Nor do they enjoy the kind of trust that bankers do from the majority of Americans.

So why settle for an imitation when you can have a real banker at our Full Service Bank?

THE ONLY PLACE YOU'LL FIND A BANKER IS THE BANK.

High school students study historic buildings

While most Texas high school students have sports and dating on their minds, many have turned their interest towards historic buildings -- their breezeways, portio porches, dormer windows and wrought iron hand rails.

They are Junior Historians, students who have become involved in a new preservation education program called Adopt a Building. It is sponsored by the Texas State Historical Association which is based at The University of Texas at Austin.

Participating Junior Historian chapters "academically" adopt a building or other man-made landmark in their community which has not been previously researched, says David DeBoe of the TSHA. Through media presentations, displays and outreach programs, the junior and high school historians spend one year uncovering information about their building or site's architectural and social history.

"In the process, Junior Historians develop a new interest in the role buildings have played in the history of their communities and they increase preservation awareness in their own neighborhoods," according to Dr. DeBoe.

In at least one instance, the research was sufficient to qualify the site for a Texas historical marker. Such was the case with the chapter from Kilgore High School which adopted its 1930's mission-revival style high school building.

"If we're going to have these buildings around in the future, we're going to have to get the young people concerned about them," points out Dr. DeBoe, who believes that Texas is the only state currently operating an adopt a building project.

Most of the chapters participating in the project last year adopted historic homes. Among the homes selected was the Jack Murchison home which formed the backdrop for the film "The Best Little Whorehouse in Texas" (Pflugerville Middle School). Five chapters selected to study schools in their towns.

Dr. DeBoe, who is a member of the Travis County Historical Commission, notes that when people think of preservation work, they usually think of residents over 60- or even over 30. He hopes the TSHA Adopt a Building program will change that perception.

Each chapter participating in the project is required to complete four phases of work, including a declaration of adoption and completion of a detailed survey, requiring students to visit their building or site. The third phase of the work requires the Junior Historians chapter to produce an audiovisual presentation of the project. The final phase is an outreach program, where students take their presentation into the community as a means of making citizens aware of their efforts, as well as the preservation needs of the site or building.

Some Junior Historian chapters adopt landmarks rather than buildings. These adoptions include an abandoned railroad depot (Crockett Junior High); a hotel (Thomas J. Rusk Middle School, Nacogdoches), and an old major-league-size baseball stadium (Alpine Junior High).

"Who would have ever thought that there was a major-league-size baseball stadium in Alpine, Texas?" he asks.

Teachers interested in the project may contact Dr. DeBoe at the Texas State Historical Association, Sid Richardson Hall, UT Station, Austin, Texas 78712 or by calling him at (512) 471-1525.

Mike's Pharmacy

Diuretics First

Control of high blood pressure helps prevent strokes, kidney disease, and heart attacks. The first nondrug measures generally used include the restriction of salt in the diet, moderate exercise and weight reduction in those who are overweight. If nondrug measures do not provide adequate control, medicines may be used.

Diuretics ("water pills") are the mainstay of drug therapy in high blood pressure. Almost 40 percent of hypertensives will respond to diuretics and need only take this one medicine type. Diuretics increase sodium excretion from the body by blocking sodium reabsorption at the kidney. As sodium leaves the body, so does some of the water in the blood stream. The loss of water helps lower the blood pressure. Diuretics also lower blood pressure by other mechanisms that are not completely understood.

Many physicians look for a drop in blood pressure after three weeks of diuretic therapy. If the decrease is not adequate, other medicines may be added such as those which inhibit the actions of the nervous system or those which relax the blood vessels. These drugs seem to work best if the diuretics are continued.

Adapting to kindertgarten

Even the parents of children who have attended pre-school or day-care can have mixed feelings about sending their child off to kindergarten, says family life specialist Diane T. Welch.

"The pre-schools and day care centers that many children attend have some elements of school, but also try to simulate a home-like environment," observes the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service home economist.

"Kindergarten focuses on teaching children the formal skills they need for success in the school environment, she explains.

"It's not unusual for parents to almost regret that the child must face the demands of school, and yet be proud that he or she is growing into a self-sufficient individual who can adjust to and enjoy the world outside the home," adds Welch.

"Children will have mixed feelings too," she says, "so by expressing their joys and concerns, parents become a role model for the child, encouraging open communication about school."

According to the specialist, some parents fear that by allowing children to express negative emotions about starting school, they will encourage these feelings. But talking about it allows the child to acknowledge and work through these emotions without shame or guilt.

She suggests using the last few days of vacation to smooth the transition to kindergarten with some of the following activities:

*Don't make promises, but talk and wonder with the child about school. Read books about school and tell your own stories about the days when you went to school. Help the child understand about progress in learning. Some children are upset to find they can't read the very first day!

*Make a visit to your child's classroom and teacher. Some schools schedule these visits with parents in advance. Explore the playground and bathroom, try out the chairs and find the water fountains.

*Encourage your child to play with another child who will be in the kindergarten class, so he or she will have a friend there.

*Get a head start on schedule changes by adjusting bedtime and mealtime if that will be necessary once school begins. If new day-care arrangements are necessary, start the day-care routine before school begins, so the child doesn't have to adjust to both at once.

*Help your child learn his or her whole name, address, telephone number and what to do if you're late arriving at home or school.

"The first day of kindergarten is also a time for parents to become involved in their child's schooling," maintains Welch. "Knowing and talking with teachers, joining parent-teacher organizations and doing volunteer work at school will help you be a part of this important aspect of your child's life."

Immunizations required by Schools

"What some young parents may not realize is that although outbreaks of vaccine preventable diseases are now less frequent in Texas, the diseases can still spread among us. Children are not born immune to diseases," Hodgson said. "It is important that their parents follow their physicians' advice in scheduling all the necessary vaccinations and boosters, and in keeping accurate records for each child," he added.

Some preventable diseases persist, mainly because parents often do not take them seriously enough to ensure their children's immunizations are up-to-date. In 1986, TDH recorded sporadic outbreaks of measles (398 cases), mumps (239), pertussis (112), rubella (78), and tetanus (12) in the state. Victims included unimmunized children as well as adults who had allowed their own immunizations to lapse.

Hodgson said, "Parents who are not sure that their children's vaccinations are current should begin now to update their records, to be ready for the coming school year. Their family physicians should be able to advise them on any booster shots that are due. Parents who have no family physician, or who cannot afford a private doctor should check with local public health clinics."

More than any other preventive health care practice, immunizations begun in childhood and kept current, save money, misery, and lives. In the U.S., an estimated $1 billion are saved annually in would-be medical costs because of immunizations against polio, tetanus, measles, rubella (German measles), mumps, and diphtheria.

In Texas proof of vaccinations is required by law for all children registering for day care or public

Bronco Band

By JAY GAGE

Attention former and current Bronco Band members. As many of you know this year's football team has an excellent chance of capturing a district crown. It would be a shame if these hardworking men did not have the support they deserve. What better way to support these men than through the band. They have the fighting spirit it takes to win and they need the same fighting Bronco spirit to support them.

I urge you to throw away your past grievances against past band directors. They are gone forever. Give our current director, at least, the benefit of a doubt.

Many of you can remember when the band was big in number and strong in size. And many can remember the great feeling of pride and spirit when the Fight Song blared across the stadium. It can happen again, but not without you. We need you! No matter if you played a tuba or a flute, we need you, so that we can support our Broncos the way they deserve to be supported.

If you need to know when we practice call any band member.

Travel scams

"Everybody loves travel bargains, including crooks," warned J. Don Clark, director of the state highway department's Travel & Information Division.

Clark said that Texas travelers are being victimized by spurious "travel packages" offered by shady travel-service operators. "Initial contact is often by telephone," Clark said, "offering what sounds like a certificate good for round-trip air fare to Hawaii -- for only $29."

"Actually," Clark explained, "the certificates are usually nothing more than reservation forms for advance bookings. After the first payment, more fees keep appearing -- deposits, pre-payment for transportation, lodging, and other hidden costs than can amount to hundreds, or thousands of dollars."

Clark voiced special caution against giving telephone solicitors your credit-card number. "If a 'travel package' sounds too good to be true, it probably is," he emphasized.

He cited a recent "come on" related to investment in vacation-resort time sharing. A potential "investor" was told that she had already won an all-terrain vehicle, requiring payment of only $29.95 for "handling, processing, and insurance." The all-terrain vehicle turned out to be a lawn chair with four wheels attached.

Such fraudulent vacation-travel schemes, which the Houston Chronicle has labeled "selling travel dreams and delivering nightmares," are currently under investigation by the Texas Attorney General's office.

Clark said that people who receive phone calls or post cards announcing they've "won" a travel bargain, or have been "selected by computer" for some fantastic travel deal, should be immediately suspicious. "I'd recommend that anyone who's approached with a cut-rate travel scheme, check it out with one of our many reputable travel agencies, or the local Better Business Bureau, he cautioned.

THE ROUTINE

It has been said that, "A rut is just a grave with both ends missing!" This just may be truer than we would like to believe. We all tend to get caught up in the day-to-day routine of making a living and doing what we have to do to get by. It's easy to let our routine dominate our lifestyle because old ways of doing things and regular habits are hard to change! Trouble is, "the routine" can keep us from reaching out, learning new things, living & growing!

This week, I want to encourage you to break the old "routine"... Write in for our Bible Correspondence Course and begin a new and exciting study in God's Word; This Sunday take time out of your regular schedule to come and visit with us in Bible Class & Worship! A break in your routine may become a key to abundant life!!!

DONLEY COUNTY SENIOR CITIZENS
Caring People...A Lamp to the Community

Thanks to Chester Moore for those delicious Donley County cantaloupes everyone enjoyed last Friday. Thanks to D.W. and Lela Swain and Eda Wallin for the nice cucumbers. We really appreciate folks for thinking of us when these garden goodies get ready.

Board of Directors met in regular session on Wednesday, August 21st. Jean gave the report for July activity, which was good. The Grant Proposal for fiscal year 1988 has been completed and turned in to PRPC. The approval hearing will be in September. Jean stated she will be attending several meetings in the next six weeks preparing to live with new rules and regulations.

Thanks to Lucille Smith, Barney and anyone else that helped with the Musical Jam Session on Friday, August 14th. From what I've heard they had a good one. Thirty-four were present to hear music by Bob Harmon, Melvin Strygley, J.B. Yates, Hugh Neuhaus, Jack Davidson, Nova Neuhaus, Lucille Smith, Creed Smith, Wally Sides, Forrest Denton, Bailey Estes, Dick Stephens and Dee Williams. Sounds like they had a good time - sorry I missed it.

Sales tax checks sent out

Donley County Cities, Clarendon, Howardwick and Hedley received $11,850.86 in August, which represented taxes collected on sales in June and during the second quarter and reported to the Comptroller by July 20th. Although this is $183.03 more than the cities received for the same period of 1986, the three cities are down $5,777.25 for the year.

Clarendon received $9,986.95, Hedley, $892.47 and Howardwick $971.44.

For the same period in 1986 Clarendon received $10,265.44, Hedley $703.32 and Howardwick $698.96.

Bullock said the monthly allocations were down 7.4 percent in August compared to the 1986 August allocations in the 1034 cities that levy the one percent city tax. The State Comptroller's office sent checks totaling $99.7 million.

Area cities showing a decrease in sales include Paducah, down 11.80 percent for the year; Wellington, 5.30 percent; Memphis, 16.53 percent; Turkey, 18.40 percent; Shamrock, 10.61 percent; Wheeler, 10.32 percent; and Claude 3.56 percent.

Lion's Tail

By GENE ALDERSON

The Clarendon Lions Club held its regular meeting at noon on Tuesday at the Lions Hall. Twenty-eight members and guests were present.

Following the regular opening ceremony Boss Lion Shelton called the meeting to order and made some announcements. Lion Wilbert Bernabee introduced Lion Murrell Whitaker who is our zone chairman and whose home club is Hedley. He brought us several items of information from the District and also informed us that the Lions International Convention this year will be in Denver, Colorado. Meeting adjourned.

The Texas Housing Agency will begin accepting applications on August 17, 1987 for a new cycle of federal tax credits available under a homeownership assistance program for low- to moderate-income Texans. "The purpose of the program is to give individuals or families who are now living in rental housing a chance to move into a house of their own," said Dan A. McNeil, Executive Administrator of the Texas Housing Agency.

The Mortgage Credit Certificate Program increases a family's disposable income by reducing its federal tax obligations. This tax savings, which can amount to as much as $2,000 a year, provides a family with more available income to qualify for a home mortgage and to apply towards the monthly mortgage payments. For example, a family who plans to purchase a home for $56,000, and receive a loan of $53,000, at 9.5 percent interest for 30 years will pay the lending institution $5,020 in interest during the first year. Under the MCC Program, the family will be eligible for a tax credit of $1,004 in the first year of that loan.

"In each succeeding year for the life of the mortgage loan, the family can claim an income tax credit for 20 percent of the mortgage interest paid to the lender, up to $2,000," McNeil said.

To qualify for the program, a family must be a first-time homebuyer or not have owned a home during the past three years, and their current household income may not exceed $35,075 (a slightly higher limit is permitted in certain metropolitan areas). In general, a homebuyer may pay up to $74,790 for a previously-owned home and $90,360 for a new home. During the first 30 days of the program, applications will be processed only on homes priced $80,000 or less.

The Texas Housing Agency will issue the certificates to eligible families through a network of more than 200 participating lending institutions throughout the state. Approval to participate in the program must be obtained prior to purchasing a home. Families may obtain a list of lenders and a program brochure by contacting the Agency at (512) 472-7500.

The Texas Housing Agency was created by the Texas Legislature in 1979 to provide affordable housing opportunities for low- and moderate-income families. The Agency fulfills its purpose, in part, by issuing tax-exempt bonds to finance single family and multi-family housing throughout Texas and by issuing tax credits to qualified homebuyers and rental housing sponsors. The Agency receives no state or federal appropriations; its programs are self supporting.

Never Again List

Here is a list of negatives we should never again confess, along with the scripture we should confess every day. Clip this "Never Again" list and quote it daily and watch it change your life.

Never again will I confess "I can't", for "I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me" (Phil. 4:13).

Never again will I confess lack, for "My God shall supply all your needs according to His riches in glory in Christ Jesus" (Phil. 4:19).

Never again will I confess fear, for "God has not given us a spirit of timidity, but of power and love and discipline" (II Tim. 1:7).

Never again will I confess doubt and lack of faith, for "God hath given to every man the measure of faith" (Rom. 12:3).

Never again will I confess weakness, for "The Lord is the strength of my life" (Ps. 27:1), and "The people who know their God will display strength and take action" (Dan. 11:32).

Never again will I confess supremacy of Satan over my life, for "Greater is He that is within me than he that is in the world" (I Jn. 4:4).

Never again will I confess defeat, for "God always leads us in His triumph in Christ" (II Cor. 2:14).

Never again will I confess worries and frustrations, for I am "casting all my cares upon Him who careth for me" (I Pet. 5:7).

Never again will I confess sickness, for "With His stripes I am healed" (Isa. 53:5), and "He Himself took our infirmities and carried away our diseases" (Mt. 8:17).

Never again will I confess lack of wisdom, for "Christ Jesus is made unto me wisdom from God" (I Cor. 1:30).

Never again will I confess bondage, for "Where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is liberty" (II Cor. 3:17).

Never again will I confess condemnation, for "There is therefore now no condemnation to them which are in Christ Jesus" (Rom. 8:1).

Presumptive disability payments

People who apply for supplemental security income (SSI) payments who claim to be disabled or blind may receive presumptive payments if they meet the other criteria for eligibility. Payments may be made for as long as 3 months so applicants will have some cash assistance while evidence is being collected and the decision on eligibility is being made.

The decision can be made and payment started by the local Social Security office if the impairment is readily observable and severe and there is a strong probability that the person is disabled or blind. If the condition is less, obvious, a decision of presumptive payment may be made by the State agency which is responsible for the disability decision.

Recently, the acquired immune deficiency syndrome (AIDS) has become increasingly important as a basis for presumptive disability payments. Other conditions in which a finding of presumptive disability is often found include chronic renal disease, severe mental deficiency, total deafness, or blindness.

On the other hand, some impairments, while real and troublesome, often do not warrant a finding of presumptive disability. For example, back pain, except in case of traumatic injury to the spine, is difficult to evaluate, as are such conditions as high blood pressure, diabetes, and ulcers.

Presumptive payments are not considered overpayments and do not have to be refunded if it is finally decided the applicant is not blind or disabled.

August 14th was the birthday of Wilma Snelson. Happy Birthday Wilma!

When you read this column this week Loyd and I and our nephew James Graham will be in Durango, Colo. for a few days rest. We plan to ride the Narrow Gage Railroad from Durango to Silverton. I also want to go river rafting. Will let you know if I can get anyone to go with me!

We may just sleep for 3 or 4 days! Fred and Peggy Watt and Guy took Keith to Amarillo on August 12 when he was to leave for Fort Knox, Kentucky to begin Basic Training in the Army National Guard. However, due to an accident earlier, the doctor deferred his induction for three months in order for his fingers to finish healing.

Fred and Peggy and the boys visited Harry and Cheryl Rowley, Jeff and Robb during the evening and enjoyed dining out with their friends.

Keith stayed in Amarillo that night and visited with Thunder Denton. He returned to Panhandle Thursday to work.

Marty and Sis Martin of Giles attended the Ranch Rodeo in Wichita Falls during the weekend. Matt and Kendra stayed in Childress with their grandmother.

Fred and Peggy Watt attended the graduation ceremony of the Clarendon College Vocational Nursing Class on Friday, August 14. Their daughter, Su-San Couch was a member of the graduating class.

Peggy Watt took her father, Moon Mullins, to the doctor in Amarillo last week. T. Mullins took him back this week. The doctor had told him to come prepared to enter the hospital. At this time it is not known whether he stayed or not.

We had 30 people at the musical on Monday night. Had lots of good music and singing. There were 19 people for 84 Club on Tuesday night.

We also had a Board meeting Tuesday afternoon. They planned a fund raising Pizza Supper. This will be to raise funds for a new garage door for the building where we keep the van. If any of you have noticed the old one is falling apart. This will be held sometime in September.

Wednesday there were 6 who went on our grocery shopping trip.

Thursday there were 28 checked in our blood pressure clinic.

As you may have noticed we have changed our Bridge Club from Friday night to Thursday afternoon at 2:00 p.m. We had 1 table playing this last Thursday.

We didn't go on our Friday night out to eat this week.

We have had a good response on people who have called to volunteer to drive the van on our home lunch deliveries. We could still use more people on this. If you would like to drive the van for home deliveries for 1 or 2 days a month give Jean Taylor a call at the Center. We will start using volunteers the 1st of September.

ONCOLOGY NURSE Mary Smith, RN, introduces a video for patients in the Harrington Cancer Center's Patient/Family Resource Library.

Cancer Center awarded grant

The Meadows Foundation of Dallas has awarded The Don and Sybil Harrington Cancer Center a grant of up to $240,000 for Supportive Care programs. The funds allow health care team members to expand existing support programs at the Cancer Center, and to initiate new programs to benefit patients and their families.

Among the programs slated for expansion are support groups and counseling for patients'and families, and the patient/family resource library. New programs include a variety of Supportive Care programs for pediatric oncology and a cancer survivors' celebration scheduled for October.

For many years, the Meadows Foundation has demonstrated an interest in innovative ways to solve community problems, and projects which lead to organizational self-sufficiency. The Division of Supportive Care at the Harrington Cancer Center has taken a leadership role in developing efficient, effective programs which embody these goals. Recently, the Harrington Cancer Center has received several inquiries from national organizations, requesting presentations and articles on the comprehensive care programs developed in the free-standing setting of the Cancer Center.

Algur H. Meadows, and his wife, Virginia, created the Meadows Foundation in 1948 to benefit the people of Texas. Al Meadows was a successful oil man who often stated his life was greatly enriched by sharing. His philanthropic legacy has benefitted more than a thousand Texas programs in health, education, social services, the arts and in the civic and cultural sectors. The Meadows Foundation is currently one of the largest private foundations in Texas, and among the twenty largest in the nation.

Hedley Lioness Club

By JEANIE GREGORY

The Hedley Lioness Club served over one hundred people at their Sunday dinner. The menu consisted of turkey and dressing, sweet potatoes, green beans, salad, Irish potatoes, cream corn, hot rolls, cake and drinks. We would like to thank all the members that helped in the preparation of the food. It was a big job but we had alot of good cooks. We would also like to thank Connie Taylor and Flora (Granny) Sanders for assisting in the repairing of the electric mixer. A special thanks goes to all the people that ate with us. We appreciate your support.

Tick populations increase

Tick populations increase dramatically with warmer weather, causing inconvenience and health hazards for homeowners and pets.

Ticks are biting, blood-sucking parasites, and their bites may become inflamed and infected due to toxic secretions, points out Ronald Gooch, County Extension Agent. Tick paralysis, tularemia and Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever may be transmitted through tick bites.

Brown Dog, American Dog and Lone Star ticks are the most common in Texas home landscapes. Brown Dog ticks are reddish-brown while American Dog ticks are yellowish-brown when unfed and slate gray when engorged. The brown dog tick rarely occurs in rural areas; instead, it hides in crevices around buildings. American dog ticks are most often found along roads and trails. The Lone Star tick has a characteristic white spot on its back and commonly referred to as a spot backed tick.

A female tick may lay several thousand eggs, beginning a two-to-four month life cycle. Remaining stages - six legged larva (seed tick) and eight legged nymph and adult - generally develop on separate host animals. After each feeding the tick drops off the host and temporarily hides until the next developmental stage.

Regardless of the species, control is basically the same for all ticks, says Gooch. Heavy infestations in the home may require treatment by professionals. Spot treatment with household sprays containing Diazinon, Dursban, Baygon, resmethrin or Vapona will provide excellent control of light infestations.

Outside the home where vegetation is thin, use 5 percent carbaryl (Sevin) dust at 20-25 pounds per acre. Increase the rate as vegetation thickens. If using a spray, mix five tablespoons at 25 percent diazinon emulsifiable concentrate (EC) in one gallon of water. Apply one gallon of spray per 1,000 square feet.

Choloryprifos (Dursban) is also suggested for tick control. Apply 1.5 ounces of material per 1,000 square feet of treated area. When spraying, pay particular attention to roadsides, animal trails, paths and pet resting areas. Retreatment may be required if tick populations continue to be observed. Always read the label on the insecticide container for application instructions. Properly store any unused portion of the insecticide under lock and key to prevent accidental child poisoning.

Most species of ticks can't survive in cleared areas where they are exposed to excessive sunlight and predators, points out Gooch. Keeping areas clear of debris is important in tick control.

Gooch advises pet owners to examine their animals frequently. Light infestations can be controlled by rubbing carbaryl dust into the pet's hair. Also, treat the animal's sleeping quarters every week.

If a tick becomes attached to the skin, remove it with a slow, steady pull. Be careful not to break off its mouthparts. A drop of chloroform, isopropyl alcohol, ether, acetone or fingernail polish rubbed over the tick may help remove it. It can be removed a half-hour later with less damage to the skin because its oxygen supply is reduced.

Always apply an antiseptic to tick bites, adds Gooch. If your hands touched the tick, wash them thoroughly with soap and water to reduce the risk of spreading disease.

TREATMENT FOR STIFF NECK

If you're suffering from a stiff neck, don't wait for it to take care of itself when treatment is available to correct it.

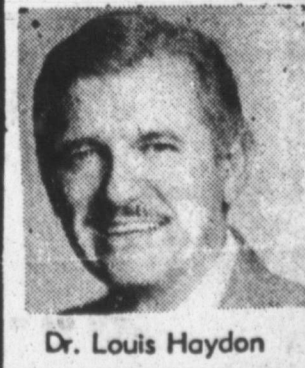

Of all the bones in the spinal column, none are more easily injured or more vulnerable than the seven vertebrae in the neck. None are moved more often. We are constantly turning our heads to look at people and things.

Neck stiffness can have many causes, from sudden and violent accidents to such simple activities as painting a ceiling or just sitting reading a book for a long time. But there's nothing simple about the pain.

A careful examination will reveal the source of the pain and how best to treat it. Any misaligned vertebrae in the spinal column should be properly adjusted so there will be no abnormal pressure on your nervous system. Treatment may also include exercises for the cervical muscles such as gently rotating your head in all directions. This can help restore muscle strength and tone.

[1] "Hotel" shall mean any building or buildings in which the public may, for a consideration, obtain sleeping accommodations. The term shall include hotels, motels, tourist homes, houses or courts, lodging houses, inns, rooming house, or other buildings where rooms are furnished for a consideration, but "hotel" shall not be defined so as to include hospitals, sanitariums, or nursing homes.

[b] No tax shall be imposed hereunder upon a permanent resident.

[c] No tax shall be imposed hereunder upon a corporation or association organized and operated exclusively for religious, charitable, or educational purposes, no part of the net earnings of which inures to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual.

[d] Revenues derived from the tax rate in excess of four percent (4%) may only be used for the following purposes:

[1] The acquisition of sites for and the construction, improvement, enlarging, equipping, repairing, operation, and maintenance of convention center facilities including, but not limited to, civic center convention buildings, auditoriums, coliseums, civic theaters, museums, and parking areas or facilities for the parking or storage of motor vehicles or other conveyances located at or in the immediate vicinity of the convention center facilities;

[2] The furnishing of facilities, personnel and materials for the registration of convention delegates or registrants;

The tax assessor/collector shall be permitted to have access to books and records during reasonable business hours as shall be necessary to enable him to determine the

SECTION 6

[a] If any person required by the provisions of this article to collect the tax imposed herein, or make reports required herein and to pay the tax assessor/collector the taxes imposed herein, shall fail to collect such taxes, file such report, or collect such taxes, or if any such person shall file a false report, or any persons shall violate any of the provisions of this article, such person shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction be punished by a fine not to exceed Two Hundred Dollars [$200.00].

A look at the 4-H philosophy

4-H is a distinctively American, non-formal educational, character and skills building youth program conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

4-H is keyed to the development of individual boys and girls so that they may become productive, contributing citizens. 4-H lays a broad and firm base for a lifetime of personal growth.

Further, the purpose of 4-H is to develop young people through the involvement of parents, other adults and volunteers who organize and conduct learning experiences in a community setting. The focus is on human interaction designed to develop skills, abilities and understandings in youth and adults as participants.

4-H is effective because its educational services relate to youth's needs. Through informal, practical, learning-by-point programs, 4-H helps boys and girls establish real-life goals and skills and become competent, productive citizens. The home, local club and community are the training grounds in which 4-H participants develop knowledge, skills and attitudes.

4-H, as an ever-renewing movement, takes pride in its contributions to American society for more than 75 years. It is not easy for a youngster to develop a realistic sense of his own individuality and yet have an awareness of his social role and responsibilities. Youth who participate in 4-H will develop some capacity to function as generalists, no matter how they may choose to specialize. A pattern of success built upon hard work spawns inner resources which permit young people to cope with unforeseen challenges and to survive as versatile, capable individuals in an unpredictable world. Youth so educated will assure the necessary flexibility, adaptability and innovation for society.

Participation in the 4-H program is voluntary and open to all interested boys and girls regardless of race, color, creed, national origin or handicap who are between the ages of 9 (or in the third grade in school) and 19.
