Selvidge to receive Hall of Fame honor

Former Clarendon mayor Tex Selvidge will be honored among the greatest players, coaches and personalities from Southwestern Oklahoma State University's rich and storied history Saturday, Feb. 6, when four new members will be inducted into the school's Athletic Hall of Fame.

The 2010 inductees include: Leonard "Tex" Selvidge, a football star for the Bulldogs in the mid 1950's; Bennie Beutler, longtime stock producer for the SWOSU rodeo; Todd Helton, a NAIA football All-American in 1989; George Hauser, legendary men's basketball coach of 27 years for the Bulldogs.

The new class will be honored for their achievements on and off the playing fields at a luncheon beginning at 11:30 at the Memorial Student Center Ballroom. The festivities will be held in conjunction with the Bulldog's basketball game against Cameron later that day.

Tickets for the luncheon are $20 and available now by calling the SWOSU Athletic Department at 580-774-3068.

The SWOSU Athletic Hall of Fame was established in 1962 and honors those individuals who, by outstanding achievement in athletics or service to the college's sports teams, have made lasting contributions to the cause of sports at the school.

Program to look at post-CRP options

A Conservation Restoration Program (CRP) landowners meeting will be held next Tuesday, November 10, at 6 p.m. in the Bairfield Activity Center.

In an effort to address educational needs for land owners that will be transferring land out of CRP to production use, Texas AgriLife Extension in Donley County will host this meeting to assist producers with options and management decisions related to life after CRP. Topics on the agenda will include Government programs after CRP, economics of crop production vs. beef production, and Managing Lands for Beef production.

For more information, contact Leonard Haynes at the Extension Office at 874-2141 or by cell phone at 806-282-7680.

Alzheimer's group to hold meeting

The Alzheimer's Support Group will hold a meeting on November 17 at 4 p.m. at the Senior Citizens Center in Clarendon.

Support meetings are held every third Tuesday of the month. For more information, contact Chandra Christopher at 259-2597.

CEDC awards two storefront grants

Old fashioned hand-crank awnings are shading two properties on Kearney Street thanks to a project funded by the Clarendon Economic Development Corp.

The CEDC Board on Monday night awarded its seventh and eighth cash awards under its Façade Grant Program to Salon 306 and T&J Properties, Inc. for the restoration of the neighboring buildings' antique crank-type canvas awnings.

Todd Knorpp, who owns properties at 306 S. Kearney and 308 S. Kearney, was reimbursed a total of $914.15 for work. He said the mechanisms for the awnings have been there for many years.

"Several people have tried to buy the mechanisms from me over the years, but I wanted to fix it back the way it was," Knorpp said. "I can remember riding bicycles downtown and touching the canvass awnings. Mr. Hay (at Greene Dry Goods) didn't like us doing that."

Knorpp said he learned about the Façade Grant Program through articles in the Enterprise and seeing other improvements being done on Kearney Street.

"I think it's a great idea, and I think the fronts downtown are looking good," Knorpp said. "It definitely influenced my decision to do this."

The buildings under this project, along with the Clarendon Insurance building, were built at the same time more than 85 years ago. Knorpp's wife, Donna, operates Salon 306 at the 306 S. Kearney property, which for many years housed the local Post Office before it moved to its present location during the Kennedy administration. John Payne later had a clothing store in that location and opened it into the building at 308 S. Kearney. Tim Salem also had a clothing store there before Knorpp purchased the properties about 20 years ago.

Knorpp partners with Jim Shelton in the ownership of the 308 S. Kearney building, and they lease the building to Jimmy and Anita Simpson, who operate an antique store and upholstery business there.

Work on the salon totaled $878.68, and the project at the antique store cost $949.62. Knorpp says he is still looking to buy a hand crank to operate the awnings and also says he intends to do some painting to finish the project.

The CEDC has budgeted $10,000 for this fiscal year's Façade Grant Program, which provides fifty-fifty matching grants up to a maximum of $2,000 per project for properties on a three-block stretch of Kearney Street.

Projects eligible for consideration could be anything from a coat of paint to new signage to a complete rehabilitation of a storefront. Those interested in the grants are asked to apply prior to beginning a project, and applications are available from CEDC Secretary Roger Estlack at The Clarendon Enterprise.

Since the Façade Grant Program began in 2008, the CEDC has awarded more than $6,414.15 to property owners who have improved the appearance of downtown Clarendon. Currently, one additional project - work on the Downtown Ministry Center - has been approved pending completion and fulfillment of CEDC requirements.

The CEDC Board will next meet to consider grant applications on Monday, December 7, at 5:15 p.m. in City Hall.

Lions Club celebrates 87th year

The Clarendon Lions Club celebrated 87 years of service during its annual Charter Banquet last Tuesday night, and one of its members was recognized for 60 years of Lionism.

Lion Bill Lowe joined the club on June 12, 1949, at a time when the club had about 60 members he said.

"That grew to 150 members at one point," Lowe recalled.

The Lions Club met for many years in the basement of the First Christian Church, Lowe said. But by the time he joined, the club had moved to its present building, which was one of three buildings that came from the POW camp in McLean.

The Lions were a rowdy bunch back in '49, Lowe said, recalling the reputation the club had for biscuit throwing.

"It was kind of embarrassing," Lowe said of the rowdiness. "A lot of men didn't join the club because of the silliness that was going on."

Lowe served as president of the club in 1964 and was allotted $400 to go to the international convention in Atlantic City.

"If I recall correctly, the plane ticket was $380, so I had $20 to spend when I got there," Lowe said.

Also during last Tuesday's banquet, Lion Velda Ross of Quitaque, discussed the highlights of her travels and experiences as the wife of Lion Jimmy Ross, who served as president of Lions International in 2006-2007. Ross presented her husband's banners to Lion Lowe, Boss Lion Chuck Robertson, the club, and Past District Governor Bill Auvenshine.

Lauren Shelton was crowned by the Boss Lion as the 2009-2010 Lions Sweetheart.

Members and spouses attending the banquet were Lion Don Smith,

Lion Bill Auvenshine, Lion Jimmy and Paula Johnson, Lion Larry and Karen Capranica, Lion Jerry and Nelda Woodard, Lion Delbert and Naomi Robertson, Lion Roger and Lion Ashlee Estlack, Lion Chuck and Lindsey Robertson, Lion Bill and Lynn Lowe, Lion Jim and Cindy Shelton, and Lion Bobbie and Sandy Thornberry.

Services will honor veterans

Three services will be held in Donley County next week to honor the services of local veterans.

The first service will be a Veterans Day Candlelight Vigil at Clarendon College on Monday, November 9, at 7 p.m. in the Bairfield Activity Center.

Dr. John Howard, M.D., OIF Veteran will be the guest speaker.

This program will honor veterans of all wars, and everyone in the community is invited to attend.

The program is sponsored by the Clarendon College One Book One College Committee.

The second program will be held on Tuesday, November 10, at noon in the Bronco Gym and hosted by Clarendon Elementary.

Veterans will be recognized with a special message and presentation and will then be treated to a meal prepared by the Clarendon High School family and consumer sciences class.

The Adamson-Lane Post 287 of the American Legion in Hedley will hold the third service of the week at the Rowe Cemetery in Hedley on Veterans Day, November 11, 2009, at 10 a.m.

The post members will place flags on the graves of 217 veterans buried in that cemetery. The flags will be left there through November 10 and 11 in honor of those departed comrades that have served this country.

The program will be conducted by the members of the American Legion. The Veteran's Day address will be by Legion Commander Barry D. Schoenthal of Darrouzett. Barry is Past Commander of District 18 American Legion, and Past Adjutant of District 18, and now serves as Commander of Division 4 of the Texas American Legion.

The program will include the ceremony honoring those missing in action or still a prisoner of war. The program will conclude with the playing of Taps.

Hedley ISD will honor the veterans following the services with a meal and Veteran's Day program.

Let's just sell California to the Chinese

By Jerome R. Corsi
© 2009 WorldNetDaily

With China increasingly wanting equity for debt in buying U.S. Treasuries to finance the $1.4 trillion 2009 Obama administration debt, maybe the United States ought to sell California to China.

With unemployment at nearly 10 percent nationally, California is nearly bankrupt, and the federal government is in no position to finance California's state budget deficit.

There is precedent for selling California to China: the 1803 Louisiana Purchase in which the United States paid France to acquire the Louisiana Territory, and the 1867 acquisition of Alaska from the Russian Empire, then known as "Seward's Folly" after then-Secretary of State William Henry Seward.

This was the suggestion I made, only partly tongue-in-cheek, to the Constitution Party national meeting I addressed last Saturday in Phoenix, Ariz.

Alternatively, maybe we could outsource the Social Security Administration to Beijing, since increasingly the Obama administration is dependent upon Chinese financing to keep the federal government operating.

With the Social Security Administration about to go into the red on a cash-flow basis, outsourcing the agency to Beijing would eliminate the middleman by allowing the Chinese to bypass Washington by mailing Social Security checks to American seniors directly.

Besides, the Chinese will probably be able to operate the Social Security Administration with less costly bureaucrats, a move that might also help President Obama reduce federal budget deficits.

To clarify the process, the federal government could add a notation at the bottom of all Social Security checks saying, "Paid Courtesy of the Government of Communist China."

Applications for Social Security retirement benefits are 23 percent higher this year, with a large number of baby boomers age 62 applying for benefits early, many because they are unable to find employment.

While Social Security is supposed to have $2.5 trillion in trust funds to cover such shortfalls, Congress has spent the Social Security trust fund reserve on other underfunded government programs, placing government IOUs in the trust fund to replace the otherwise absconded cash.

These suggestions are designed to be reductio ad absurdum in nature, picking up on several major themes developed in my new book, "America for Sale: Fighting the New World Order, Surviving a Global Depression, and Preserving U.S.A. Sovereignty."

There I demonstrate what U.S. Treasury GAAP accounting has documented that the U.S. government had a $65.5 trillion dollar negative net worth in 2008, largely as a result of unfunded obligations for Social Security, Medicare and Medicaid.

The Obama administration has already admitted to a $1.4 trillion deficit in 2009, the largest federal budget deficit relative to the size of the economy since 1945.

Moreover, the Obama administration projects a $9 trillion addition to the national debt over the next 10 years, nearly doubling in one decade the approximately $11.9 trillion national debt accumulated since the founding of the United States.

A well-qualified Chinese economist has begun circulating among international economists a new plan under which the U.S. government would guarantee foreign investments, so foreign nations like China with large dollar holdings in U.S. Treasury debt could convert that debt into equity to buy and own U.S. assets, including businesses, or invest in U.S. infrastructure, including transportation infrastructure, without risk of loss.

Writing in the Financial Times of London, Yu Qiao, a professor of economics in the School of Public Policy and Management at Tsinghua University in Beijing, proposed a plan for the U.S. government to guarantee foreign investments in the United States.

Yu observed that foreign nations now hold $1.6 trillion of U.S. government debt, with Asians, including China and Japan, holding half of the outstanding public-owned U.S. Treasury bonds. He also noted China directly or indirectly holds more than $1.2 billion of U.S. treasury bonds.

If the U.S. dollar collapses under the weight of proposed Obama administration trillion-dollar budget deficits into the foreseeable future, holders of U.S. debt would face substantial losses that the Financial Times estimated "would devastate Asians' hard-earned wealth and terminate economic globalization."

Truthfully, there is no alternative than to demand Congress balance the budget, regardless how difficult that may be to accomplish, rather than pass expensive new government social welfare programs, including the Obama administration's planned takeover of the private health system under a universal government-funded health insurance scheme.

Either that, or states will have to pass Ninth and Tenth Amendment resolutions under which the people of the state reclaim sovereignty and reject federal spending in a wide range of policy areas, including very possibly highway funds, hospital funds and welfare funds.

The only alternative to loss of sovereignty may be for "We the People," the true sovereign in the United States, to simply say "NO!" to a massive central government that appears to comprehend no spending limits.

Dr. Jerome Corsi received a Ph.D. from Harvard University in political science in 1972.

Costume war settled without bribes

After the first episode with Kyndall's costume, I thought that I would have to wean her into it. I thought I would maybe try it on daily so that it would grow on her; but, after repeated rejection, I gave up.

So I was pleasantly surprised when Halloween came, and Kyndall did not scream at the sight of it. I am not going to lie, I was more than a little worried about Operation Bumblebee, but Halloween 2009 happened. And the important thing to remember is that I won and that there was not a struggle or an Oreo bribe involved.

Kyndall put on her yellow tutu and buzzed around as happily as she could. When we took her out to trick-or-treat, she carried her pumpkin basket the entire time, knocked on doors, tried to walk in houses, and got as much candy as her little hands would grab.

After hearing Judge Hall say, "Oh boy!" she repeated that the rest of the night. "Oh, boy! Oh, boy!"

I'm fairly certain that Kyndall has now discovered her favorite day of the year. She seems to have learned the true meaning of Halloween... candy. Her love of baby steps

by Julie Shields

Tootsie Pops, Smarties, and a variety of chocolate goodies, apparently overcame her hatred of bumblebee wings, and left us with a night of great memories.

When all was said and done, we took off the bumblebee costume to leave her in a black turtle neck onesie and black tights to run around in at her Nana and Papa's house, which left her looking like a little chunky burglar.

She soon stole away into the bathroom where Derek caught the Hamburglar climbing into a full bathtub of water, clothes and all. I thought a "busy bumble bee" was fitting for her, but maybe next year she will be a monkey.

Hospice cares for families, patients

As we are all aware, healthcare costs and availability are a primary focus of our attention today. Now more than ever people are examining the best utilization of their healthcare dollars. In this regard, I believe that hospice is an efficient, cost-saving use of our resources when viable treatment alternatives are no longer available. But there are other more compelling reasons why I advocate hospice care. Here is why I believe in hospice:

The word "hospice" was originally used to describe a place of shelter and rest, or "hospitality," to weary and sick travelers on a long journey. However; I'm not talking about hospice as a place, but hospice, a philosophy of care. I believe in end of life care framed by hospice principles, that hospice neither prolongs nor hastens the end of life, but provides comfort care for persons facing the end of life's journey. The goal of hospice is to enable patients to live an alert, pain-free life and to manage other symptoms so that their last days may be spent with dignity, surrounded by their loved ones. Hospice focuses on quality rather than length of life. Cicely Saunders, M.D., founder of the modern hospice movement, stated, "You matter because you are you, and you matter to the last moment of your life, and we will do all that we can, not only to help you die peacefully, but also to live until you die."

I believe in hospice because hospice affirms life. In a world where one's value is often measured by productivity and vitality, hospice knows you are more. We know you are worthy of our care and respect, and that you deserve to live and die with dignity. Cardinal Terence Cooke stated, "The gift of life, God's special gift, is no less beautiful when it is accompanied by illness or weakness, hunger or poverty, mental or physical handicap, loneliness or old age."

I believe in hospice because we know you are more than your diagnosis or prognosis. We understand that you are a physical person but that you also consist of the spiritual and emotional. You have social and financial concerns too, and you need to be allowed to address each of the parts that make up who you are. We realize that your life was different in the past, and we seek to honor the person you are now and the person you were before we met you—physically, mentally, emotionally, and spiritually.

I believe in hospice because of the people we serve. We serve people who have been dealt a tremendous blow—a diagnosis and limited life expectancy. We serve people who, though temporarily stunned and afraid, choose to stay alive until they're not—who choose to live life to the fullest. We care for those whose indomitable spirit refuses to bend and who change our lives as a result of their decision to live with courage and gratitude. We serve people who sacrificially care for their loved ones day after day after day—sometimes caring for husband or wife, parent or sibling, friend or neighbor, and sometimes for a child. We are humbled by their strength and commitment.

I believe in hospice because of our team approach to care. An entire team of professionals work together to care for patients and their families. Our care teams consist of medical doctors, nurses, hospice aides, social workers, chaplains, volunteers, and grief counselors. These experts collaborate to evaluate needs and provide the best possible care for patients and their families. Together, they provide palliative care aimed at relieving symptoms and giving social, emotional, and spiritual support.

I believe in hospice because of our commitment to families after the death of their loved one. The hospice care team works with surviving loved ones to help them through the grieving process. We provide bereavement follow up for our families for at least two years after the death of their loved ones, because we realize that grief doesn't follow a designated timetable. We feel an obligation to our communities, so our grief counselors provide, at no cost, individual and group counseling for anyone who is grieving the death of a loved one, regardless of one's affiliation with our hospice or any other.

I believe in hospice because of the care we provide. A nurse is available to respond to phone calls 24 hours a day, seven days a week, so families will not have to be alone with their questions or concerns. Our staff often becomes like family as they care for patients in intimate ways in intimate settings. Relationships form quickly when one is tending to wounds and helping with baths, conversations take on a depth of meaning when relationship issues, heartbreaking regrets, or matters of eternal significance are shared. I believe in hospice where doctors work to provide pain and symptom relief for their patients, where they take the time to honestly answer questions and listen with their hearts. In hospice, physician house calls are not a thing of the past.

I believe in hospice because we provide care for those who qualify—regardless of their ability to pay for that care. If Medicare, Medicaid or private insurance is unavailable, then our services are provided as a courtesy so the patient can receive compassionate end of life care. Care may be provided in a beautiful inpatient hospice setting, in lovely homes, in less than lovely homes, in nursing homes, or in a van in a store parking lot. It doesn't matter to hospice where you live, care is provided in what you consider your home.

I believe in hospice because of our mission to care for children. Odyssey's annual SKY Camp has, for 12 years, provided a free camp for grieving children in our area. I have heard the laughter of children at SKY Camp, where those children can play and be children, yet learn about grief and realize they are not alone. I have stood at night as candles were lit in honor of loved ones and heard the cries of those same children as they gave voice to their pain and loss in the safest of places—encircled by trained volunteers who were totally devoted to them for that weekend. I have seen a vast array of pictures of their loved ones, framed by a Peta Canyon morning, and known that no one in that room has words for the sacredness of that moment.

I believe in hospice even when we fail. When because of fatigue, or carelessness, or miscommunication, service is not provided or is provided in a less than perfect way, I still believe in hospice. I know that we are humans—humans with good intentions—and humans will fail. But we will not accept failure; we will constantly work to do better the next time and to see that the system doesn't break down in that way again. We will work to uphold the promise we have made to ourselves and to our patients, to provide compassionate care at the end of life's journey.

I believe in hospice.

Christmas Cash returns for 2009

Holiday shopping at home is easy and affordable again as all three local banks have teamed up to provide zero-percent interest "Christmas Cash" loans for the 15th year.

As in the past, anyone can make application for a loan up to $3,000 interest free with Pilgrim Bank, the Donley County State Bank, or Her-ring Bank.

Local businesses are still signing up for the program, and a complete list of participating merchants should be available next week.

The program has proven popular with consumers and is seen as way to encourage shopping at home.

Once a Christmas Cash loan has been approved, the borrower will be issued Christmas Cash, which may be spent like currency toward purchases at participating businesses.

If your business would like to participate, call Sharon Winfrey at 874-3517.

The Clarendon Volunteer Fire Department held a demonstration Friday morning in the high school auditorium for the Clarendon Junior High students.

The presentation covered basic fire prevention that the students should practice at home. They showed the kids several techniques that would help them to get out of a house or building in case of a fire or other emergency. The firemen showed the students several video clips that helped emphasize how fast a fire can become fully engulfed and how to go about getting safely out of a burning building.

The fire department gave away a smoke detector to two different students, Brandon Miller and Richard Anderson.

Firemen urged the students to all go home and make sure there are smoke detectors throughout their homes and to practice a fire escape plan at home with their family.

Drive collecting socks, blankets for elderly

Patsy Spier made it back home from visiting her son in Burleson and the girls. She had lots of fun. Little Amiya is running around and loving on everyone and trying to talk. Emory and Dasia are into volleyball and soccer. I can't seem to find much news around Hedley at this time so here goes more Patriotism:

"I Am A Soldier: I am a soldier. My blood permeates the soil of many countries. I have gasped my last breath on many a desolate stretch of beach. For you...all of you, the children who play in the parks, the mothers who watch over them, the fathers who struggle to sustain them. There are those here who have belittled and reviled me, who have made a mockery of me and what I stand for. You, also, have I suffered and died for. I withstood heat, insects and disease So the right to dissent would be yours. I endured the pain and terror of battle and the maiming of my body to ensure that you might worship as you please. I died in agony in order that you, no matter who or what you are, Have the freedom to choose your own destinies. And I would do it again because I believe in the ideals that made this country what it is today... free. I love her with a deep and abiding love that transcends mere physical pain. I am a soldier. Pray that I will always be there, for if I disappear from this country, so will you." -Anonymous

Memphis Meals on Wheels and Hedley Senior Citizens is starting a "Sock and Blanket" campaign to make sure that our elderly and shut-ins have something warm for Christmas. If you could donate a new or gently used blanket or new socks we will make sure our clients get them. We are starting off to fulfill Memphis first, then Hedley and what we have left over will be sent on to Clarendon and Howardwick. The drop off for Clarendon will be with Lori Mays at the Panhandle Community Services on 416 S. Kearney. If you want your items to stay in Clarendon or for Donley County please leave them with Lori.

We are starting it for the elderly, but the Panhandle Community Services will have an "Angel Tree" and will need items for all ages. A pair of socks or a blanket will help to warm someone this winter. Please contact Kathy and Patsy Spier either at 259-3212 or 856-0143 or 856-5302 or bring items by the Memphis Meals on Wheels at 202 S. 8th; Hedley Senior Citizens or our home 407 N. Main in Hedley or Lori May 874-2573. Help us warm up the elderly in our communities. We must all work together to take care of our elderly in all of our small communities.

The Hedley Senior Citizens would like to invite anyone to come eat with us. We serve a wonderful noon meal, and we would love your fellowship. We still need help, and we are trying for a new building again. As you know our building is 105 years old. If you would like to donate please send to Hedley Senior Citizens, PO Box 216, Hedley, Texas 79237.

Quilting connects us to earlier generations

After a cold, rainy, windy week we ended up with a beautiful weekend and more of the same in the forecast. We added an inch of rain in the rain bucket, which pleased the ranchers and wheat farmers, but the cotton farmers are loving this sunshine.

Well, I missed an opportunity last week to remind you to set all your clocks back on Sunday, but that's okay. I'll fuss about all that time we saved this week. I wish someone would do a study on the amount of time spent and wasted on changing all the clocks in the US twice a year, probably spend all the time saved on those two jobs.

One of the things I had looked forward to with retirement was learning to quilt, and the Quilt Project sponsored by the Agri Life Extension office and taught by Mary Ruth Bishop was the perfect opportunity. I have finished a year-long quilt project called "The Row Rendevous" with 12 rows representing each month and many different types of constructing blocks including piecing, applique, and embellishment. I must admit I tried the paper piecing but could not comprehend the technique. It was a challenge, and I was happy to finish the quilt.

I have talked about the quilt so much to my family, my daughter suggested I write an article on the history of the quilt. As I walked into the library Friday, what did they have but a display of books on quilting, so I knew that was going to be my next topic.

What do you think about when you hear the word "quilt"? Maybe a warm, comfortable feeling or your mother or grandmother or favorite aunt, maybe you have a quilt someone gave you or maybe you just always wanted a quilt. I think about my mother, Marie McCracken, and her mother, Etta Reynolds, who were both quilters. In fact, Grandmother lived to the age of 95 and pieced a quilt on her treadle sewing machine that year. But the history of quilting goes back many, many years before that.

Quilting is two layers of fabric with padding between, held together with stitching. As Erica Wilson says in her book Quilts of America, "France has petit point, England has smocking, Scandanavia has white openwork embroidery, but patchwork is a needle art that is America's own. Perhaps no other art form so symbolizes the pioneer virtues of thrift, industry, and ingenuity that built America."

'wick picks

Because every scrap of material was precious, clothing was reused, maybe several times, the last time ending up in a quilt. Can you imagine saving each scrap until you had enough fabric to cover a bed, then stitching them together by hand by lamplight into a bright object that keeps your family warm. Because white muslin was an easy material to obtain and was cheap, it was usually the background fabric, with fabric dyed with natural plants. Yellow came from peach and pear, brown from roots and tree bark, a blue from the indigo plant which early women settlers found would become deeper if boiled in an iron pot. Oh those ladies, how they did work to put some color in their life.

This is just the beginning of the history of quilts, it will continue next week. In the meantime, enjoy the Indian Summer weather.

Delaney

Oressa Hastings Delaney, 96, died November 1, 2009, in Canyon.

Delaney

Memorial services will be at 2 p.m. Thursday, November 5 at the First United Methodist Church in Canyon with Rev. Kevin Deckard, associate pastor of Polk Street United Methodist Church in Amarillo, and Rev. John McClean, pastor, officiating. Private interment will be in Dreamland Cemetery in Canyon. Services are under the arrangement of Brooks Funeral Directors.

Oressa Naomi Hastings Delaney was born April 25, 1913, in Clarendon, to William Silas and Elizabeth Hunt Hastings. At the age of five her family moved to Canyon, where she lived until her marriage in 1938. She was a 1931 graduate of Canyon High School and graduated as valedictorian of her class. She graduated from West Texas State in Canyon in 1937 with a Bachelor of Arts degree in English. She married Richard K. "Dick" Delaney on July 14, 1938, in Oklahoma City. Throughout her life Oressa taught English and other subjects in several school districts in the Texas Panhandle, including Wilson School in Randall County, Booker, Hereford, Childress County Schools, Estelline, and Clarendon.

At the time of her retirement in 1977 she had been the school librarian for the Clarendon schools for several years. Oressa and Dick moved to Canyon in 1986.

Throughout her life Mrs. Delaney derived great satisfaction from keeping in touch with her former students. The accomplishments and successes of her pupils and their continuing friendship were of the great pleasures of her later life. She also enjoyed attending reunions at the various schools where she had taught over the years.

She was a lifelong Methodist and was a member of the First United Methodist Church in Canyon, where she was a member of the Murray and Crusaders Sunday School classes. Oressa taught Sunday School classes for many years in several of the communities where she and Dick lived. She was a lifetime member of United Methodist Women, a member of the 1926 Book Club in Clarendon, and a member of Eastern Star. She was also a lifetime member of Texas Retired Teachers.

As long as her health allowed her to actively participate, she volunteered at the IHS Care Center in Canyon helping with the weekly worship service sponsored by the United Methodist Church. Several years ago Oressa spent several months writing her personal memoir—a remembrance of her life that will be a treasured possession of generations that follow.

Mrs. Delaney was preceded in death by her husband, Dick, in 1989.

One of the major pleasures of Oressa's life was her family. Survivors include her son, Larry H. Delaney and wife Dee of Claude; daughter, Rita Wynn and husband Larry D. of Canyon; four grandchildren, Janice Fagan and husband Randy of Broken Arrow, OK, Janell "Jo" Deckard and husband Randy of Amarillo, Christi Wynn of Canyon, and Chad Wynn and wife Crystal of Claude; six great grandchildren, Steele Beatty of Oklahoma City, Briana Fagan of Broken Arrow, OK, Ashley Wade and husband Jared of Norman, OK, Megan Deckard of Amarillo, Tinsley Wynn and Aiden Wynn of Claude; a nephew, Jimmy Delaney and wife Ellen of West Allis, Wisconsin; a niece, Bryna Schuerle of Fayette City, Pennsylvania; and numerous cousins from the Hastings family.

For those wishing to honor Oressa with a memorial, the family suggests either the Mission Fund or the Church Library Fund of the First United Methodist Church in Canyon, 1818 4th Avenue, Canyon, TX 79015.

Canyon museum to hold symposium on Red River War

CANYON — The Red River War: A Clash of Cultures on the Southern Plains sets the stage for Phase III of the Texas Historical Commission's Red River War Battle Sites Project with a day-long symposium at the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum on Nov. 7, featuring leading scholars, tribal members, authors, archeologists and museum experts.

A unique collaboration between historians and archeologists from 1998 through 2003 led to exciting new discoveries about well-documented events of the Red River War and helped to redefine the history of the American West during Phase I of the THC project.

The Red River War of 1874 pitted Southern Plains tribes against the U. S. Army in a series of battles in the Panhandle-Plains region. The conflicts resulted in the defeat of Native Americans and removal from their homelands. The project identified and documented many of the historic sites of the conflict that were previously lost or forgotten.

Artifacts discovered along with research of the military records of the National Archives during Phases I and II of the project, contributed to a new and greater understanding of events surrounding the war.

Now, Phase III carries the research a leap forward, providing the public with a wider range of perspectives about the impact of this military campaign on the history of the Southern Plains.

The symposium coincides with the PPHM's major art exhibit A Running Fight: The Red River War in Art which assembles depictions of events leading up to the Red River War by such renowned artists as Frederic Remington, Nick Eggenhofer and W. Herbert Dunton.

The symposium begins at 8:30 a.m. and is free and open to the public. Seating is limited. The art exhibit runs through Feb. 14, 2010. Continuation of Phase III of the Red River War Battle Sites Project includes launching a virtual travel guide through the Texas Plains Trail regional network.

Broncos dominate Memphis, 49-13

By Sandy Anderberg
 With several key players sidelined due to sickness or injuries, the Broncos knew they had to take Memphis out of the picture to secure a spot in post-season play. Several junior varsity players were moved up to play at the varsity level and they came through for the team to help get the big win over the Cyclones 49-13. The Broncos racked up 390 yards rushing compared to only eight for Memphis and added another 112 yards in the air for a total of 502 yards on the night. With the win, the Broncos have at the least secured a number two seed in the playoffs and earned the right to play for a share of the District championship against Wellington next week.

"This is the third year in a row that we've made the playoffs and are playing for a part of the District title," head coach Gary Jack said. "We'll have to play good against Wellington, and we can't make any mistakes. They are a good team, but we're a good team, too, when we're playing good." Also according to Jack, Forrest Yelverton, Trevor Cobb, Devonte Hardaway, and Jerami Johnson fell into their roles and did a good job for the Broncos. "The young kids contributed for us," Jack said. "And we had some other kids that stepped up and played really well." Brayden Phillips filled in for quarterback Johnny Gaines and played a great game according to Jack. "Brayden was six for ten and threw two touchdown passes. He also ran for a touchdown and on defense he made an interception and had three tackles. Jacob Pigg played well for us and was instrumental in making three key blocks on three different touchdowns." Jack noted that Mike Crump ran the ball well and was responsible for 150 yards rushing on 10 carries. He also scored the opening touchdown and added two more on 55 and 40-yard runs. Wes Williams accounted for two touchdowns on the ground on a 15-yard run and a 55-yard run.

Stephino McCampbell helped the Broncos with a 43-yard pass from Phillips for six. Coby Braughton kicked all seven extra points and did a great job. "Jon Levario made some good plays for us," Jack said. "And Tre Brown, Dylan Wright, Bradley Watson, Josh Krumwiede, David Roberts, and Matt Henderson played well for us." "We took care of business and wrapped up a playoff spot. It would also be good to share a part of the District title. We would be pleased to see that." The Broncos will play their final home game of the season Friday night against Wellington beginning at 7:30 p.m.

C-C runners compete at district meet

By Sandy Anderberg
 Several cross-country runners participated in the District Cross-Country Meet held in Plainview Monday, October 26.

The Lady Colts finished third as a team. The Lady Broncos made a good showing, led by Audrey Shelton on the two-mile course. Shelton's time of 13:59 was good enough to finish 16th out of a large field of runners. Maci White came in next at 15:32 for 41st place and Trevela Dronzek was 46th at 15:49. Jency Burton ran 57th with a time of 17:08, and Amanda Powell was 59th with a time of 17:20. Sam Sanderson was 60th with a time of 17:25, and Morgan Wood finished 62nd and ran the course in 17:29.

The first place time in the meet was 12:22 and was posted by Chelsey Bass of Farwell. Mikayla Sheehan, Kae Hewitt, and Danielle Ford ran for the junior varsity Lady Broncos and finished 27th, 36th, and 38th respectively. The times were 17:36, 18:36, and 18:40.

Three Broncos took on the three-mile course for the boys with Matt Henderson finishing 12th with a time of 19:54. Diego Santos was 14th at 20:03, and J.D. Baxter was 28th with a time of 22:28. Ricardo Dela Rosa topped the field at 18:11.

The Lady Colt had a good day and finished third behind Wellington and Bovina. Sarah Luttrell led the field of Lady Colts in 9th place with a time of 14:08, and Phara Berry was next at 15th with a time of 14:23. Abby Johnson came in 23rd at 14:48, and Glory Bryley was 32nd at 15:11. Haley Ferguson ran a 15:13 for 34th, and Jessica Cenicerros was 37th with a time of 15:49. Ryann Starnes 74th at 16:52, Skyler White 75th at 16:54, Jacy Hill 77th at 17:01, Savannah Topper 88th at 18:06, Minnie Buckhaults 89th at 18:12, and McKayla King 90th at 18:13. LeeRoy Buckhaults was the only junior high boy that ran, and he finished 9th with a time of 13:45.

At only a few minutes into the fourth quarter, the Clarendon Colts were sensing a two-touchdown win, but allowed Memphis to get back into the game to tie the score.

After an attempt to score in the final series failed, the Colts settled for 28-28 tie.

"We had a two touchdown lead entering the fourth quarter and didn't finish the game," coach Clint Coley said.

"They drove 98 yards to tie it and we stalled out at the 30-yard line to finish in a tie."

Charles Mason had a touchdown in the game and Cody Harjo caught a pass from Chance McAnear for six. Terance Wilson was able to grad a two-point conversion to help his team. McAnear also ran for two touchdowns and Zach Laroe and David Johnston each recovered a fumble.

The Colts will play their final game on the road against Wellington Thursday, November 5, at 5:00 p.m.

Drugs in the News

FDA Committee Recommends MS Drug
 An FDA committee recently recommended that Ampriva (fampridine) be approved for the treatment of multiple sclerosis (MS). According to various news reports, this new MS treatment improves the way MS damaged nerves work. Existing drugs used for this condition only slow progression of MS and target MS symptoms. In clinical trials, more than 30% of those with MS who took Ampriva experienced improvements in their walking speed compared to those in these studies who took a placebo (false drug). Researchers associated with the findings refer to the improvements observed as rather modest, but described as important to persons in the study and their family members. MS is an often debilitating condition in which the body's immune system attacks myelin, the protective fatty substance that surrounds nerve fibers in the brain and spinal cord. This disrupts messages that travel along the nerve pathways which leads to numbness and weakness, typically occurring on one side of the body. Other symptoms may include fatigue, tingling or pain in parts of the body, and visual difficulties.

 I KNOW HIM

"He who says, 'I know Him,' and does not keep His commandments, is a liar, and the truth is not in him. But whoever keeps His word, truly the love of God is perfected in him. By this we know that we are in Him." (1John 2:4-5)

Some claim to know Christ and are mistaken. Christ claimed to be the Son of God and backed that up by doing the will of God (John 9:1-5) Some claim to know Christ, yet never are truly comfortable in their salvation. John said that one could know where he or she stood spiritually speaking.

When someone can scripturally say, "I know Him," that person should be able to enjoy that blessing. It is a wonderful thing to know that my "spiritual retirement" is taken care of. John said in 1John 1:7, "If we walk in the light as He is in the light, we have the fellowship with one another, and the blood of Jesus Christ His Son cleanses us from all sin." If we walk in the footsteps of Jesus, we will continue the relationship we started with Him when we became a Christian.

The prayer life of one who knows Him is such a blessing. If we know Him, Paul said in Philippians 4:7, that we could have "the peace of God, which surpasses all understanding" and that it would "guard your hearts and minds through Christ Jesus."

If one truly knows Him, he or she should have a confidence that is reassuring while living in this troublesome world. Woe to anyone that says he knows Jesus, but doesn't live in the ways prescribed by our Savior.

Ask yourself today, "Do I truly know Him?" If you are unsure, seize the moment! If we can help, give us a call. My brethren and I would be honored to study with you or pray with you. Nobody today can go to glory without knowing our Savior Jesus Christ.

AGAPÉ CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Jude, the half brother of our Lord Jesus, earnestly warns Christ-Followers to guard against false teachers, false beliefs, and the corruption of the simple truths of the gospel.

He tells us to "contend for the faith that was once for all entrusted to the saints. (Jude 3)" This is not a warning against profane religions such as Islam, or Buddhism. It is a warning to Christians to keep the faith pure within the church!

Sadly, in this present social climate of unreasoning political correctness with its compulsory tolerance of all things evil, those in the church seem to have forgotten Jude's stern admonitions. Be reminded: As the church goes, so goes the culture! Christians are the salt and light of this world. But, in Jude's words, "godless men" have "slipped in among you." These men see God's grace as a "license for immorality and they deny Jesus Christ our only Sovereign and Lord." Corrupt leaders have led the Church and this culture astray. As a result, an almost overwhelming sense of foreboding has taken the place of peace in the land.

In unmistakable terms Jude describes the errors embroiling the Lord's church and the nation today. We have "taken the way of Cain." Cain knew the way to come to God but changed it. We may reason that it was a deliberate act of defiance. How are we to come to God? We come through Christ. We come to God only through Christ Jesus. There is no other way! If a church or a nation believes or teaches any thing different, it has "taken the way of Cain," and it is wrong.

Jude's second warning: "They have rushed for profit into Balaam's error." Balaam, an Old Testament preacher, taught God's people to be immoral, to engage in common as well as spiritual prostitution. And he did so for profit. Do you know of a church that is preaching the so-called "gospel of prosperity?" If so, that church has "rushed for profit into Balaam's error." And the culture in which we live, is it not rushing headlong into Balaam's error?

The third of Jude's warnings: "They have been destroyed in Korah's rebellion." Here Jude refers to an event recorded in Numbers 16. Korah, a prince of Israel, gathered the people of Israel to withstand the authority of Moses, God's appointed one. It was an open rebellion against God. In today's Church, Korah's rebellion has believers withstanding the authority of Jesus, God's appointed one. For example, "Christian churches" that ordain practicing homosexuals. To find yourself in a church of that brand is to find yourself in deplorable squalor and participating in Korah's rebellion against God.

In a similar fashion, this nation has allowed itself to be misguided by unprincipled people into this very same cesspool. We now call good what God calls evil! Alternate lifestyles, gay rights, gay marriage, abortion, so-called religious tolerance, and a hundred other sins that we no longer adjudged or adjudicated to be sins at all. Jude speaks of this rebellion against God as having already been destroyed. Such reasoning is sound reasoning. The fate of those who practice such rebellion, and teach others to do the same, is so certain from the outset that it may truly be spoken of in the past tense. "Woe to them!"

"But you, dear friends, build yourselves up in your most holy faith and pray in the Holy Spirit. Keep yourselves in God's love....." (Jude 20 & 21). And contend for the most holy faith!

Come worship the only true Lord and Savior, Jesus who is the Christ! We meet on East 287 in Clarendon next to the VFW.
