Producers continue boll weevil program

AUSTIN—The Texas Department of Agriculture announced today that cotton producers in the Northern High Plains Boll Weevil Eradication Zone have voted to continue program operations.

Final results were 882 "in favor of" and 129 "against" continuation.

TDA issued 2,666 ballots to cotton producers who were eligible to vote in the referendum. A total of 1,011 valid ballots were postmarked by the October 9 deadline.

Pancake Supper to be held this Friday

The Clarendon Lions Club will hold its annual Pancake Supper this Friday, October 24, beginning at 5 p.m. in the school cafeteria.

Tickets are available from any Lion or at the door and cost $5 for adults and $3 for kids age 12 and under.

Proceeds benefit the charitable activities of the Lions Club.

CHS now accepting GT nominations

Clarendon High School is currently accepting nominations for the Gifted and Talented Program.

The high school program serves students in grades 9 through 12 who perform at or show the potential for performing at a remarkably high level of accomplishment. The purpose of the GT program is to provide an educational climate in which gifted and talented students will develop mentally, socially, and emotionally.

If you wish to nominate a student for this program, contact the high school office at 874-2181. All nominations must be turned in by October 31, 2008.

Fire Department sets haunted house

The Clarendon Fire Department will host their annual Haunted House on the evenings of October 31 and November 1 at the Clarendon Fire Department, 119 S. Sully. Admission is $3.

Immunization clinic to be held Nov. 20

The Texas Department of State Health Services will hold an Immunization Clinic one Thursday, November 20, at the TDSHS office at Five Medical Drive in Clarendon.

The immunization clinic will be open from 10 to 11:30 a.m. and from 1 to 2:30 p.m.

All clinic times are subject to change or cancellation due to weather conditions or scheduling conflicts.

The Mulkey Theatre sits idle more than two decades since the last visitors watched a movie in the local landmark. Now the Clarendon Economic Development Corporation has stepped in to save the 1946 building from further decay and chart a new course for its future.

CEDC purchases Mulkey

The Clarendon Economic Development Corporation closed a $20,000 deal last week to purchase the historic Mulkey Theatre.

CEDC President Stephen Hall signed papers last Tuesday, and City Attorney James Shelton confirmed this week that all the necessary paperwork has been filed to transfer ownership of the theatre.

"This project is in keeping with the goal of the CEDC to beautify downtown," Hall said. "We hope to once again make it a jewel of Kearney Street."

The CEDC Board has been working for several years to acquire the theatre and made its $20,000 offer in July after hiring an engineer to inspect the building. The engineer concluded that the Mulkey "is in reasonably good structural condition and appears (to be) a good candidate for refurbishment."

CEDC Secretary Roger Estlack said a few things need to be addressed immediately concerning the building.

"The first priority is to get a new roof on the theatre and make sure the building is properly secured," he said. "We've also got to look at some drainage issues in the alley, which are causing some settlement in the foundation back there."

After those first issues are dealt with, the CEDC will turn its attention to the front of the building. Decisions about the interior of the building and possible uses for the theatre are far in the future at this point, Estlack said.

"We'll be looking closely at what has been done with the Ritz in Wellington and the Morley in Borger as we move forward," Estlack said. "This project is going to take a long time."

In July, the CEDC set up a $100,000 community fund with the Amarillo Area Foundation for the purpose of acquiring and rehabilitating the Mulkey. Half the fund came from the CEDC's half-cent sales tax revenue, and that money was matched dollar for dollar by the Foundation. The board also plans to pursue other grants and donations in the months to come.

The Mulkey Theatre was built in 1946 and operated as a motion picture theatre until the early 1980s.

City Hall gets new leadership

A new city administrator will be on the job at Clarendon's City Hall next Monday morning.

John Webb accepted the position Tuesday morning and is coming to Clarendon from the City of Borger where he retired after serving there as municipal judge and as assistant police chief.

"I'm really looking forward to being in Clarendon," Webb said. "I'm looking forward to citizens coming in, and I want to hear their views."

Webb has 28 years of experience with the City of Borger and recently completed 26 months of service in Afghanistan with the US Army. His military service was the subject of an October 16 article in the AMARILLO GLOBE-NEWS, which described how he helped establish the criminal intelligence section of the Afghan police force.

Webb holds an MBA from the University of Phoenix and has four grown kids, and his wife's name is Debbie.

The new administrator says his initial goals for Clarendon will be to bring the city into compliance with government and labor codes and to make the community safer for all citizens.

"Let's make Clarendon the best it can be," he said.

The city administrator's position has been vacant since 2005 following Sean Pate's resignation. The Board of Aldermen hired interim administrator Phyllis Jeffers three months ago to deal with a financial crisis at City Hall and began the search for a new full-time administrator shortly thereafter.

"I have thoroughly enjoyed being here," Jeffers told the ENTERPRISE. "I think the board has done an excellent job selecting the new administrator."

Webb also thinks highly of Jeffers. "She has done an tremendous job in a short time," Webb said.

Early voting underway thru Oct. 31

Early voting by personal appearance got underway Monday for the 2008 General Election.

Most local races are unopposed, but Donley County voters in two precincts will decide contested races for the office of county commissioner.

In Precinct 1, incumbent Ernest Johnston (D) is being challenged by Clarendon Mayor Mark White (R); and Precinct 3 incumbent Commissioner Andy Wheatly (R) is being opposed by Henry Stephens (D).

Two incumbent county officers - Sheriff Butch Blackburn (D) and Precinct 1&2 Justice of the Peace Connie Havens (D) - are running unopposed.

Linda Crump (R) is unchallenged in her bid to become the next County Tax Assessor/Collector. Incumbent Wilma Lindley is retiring at the end of her current term.

County Attorney Landon Lambert has filed as a write-in candidate to keep his current post and is the only declared candidate for that office.

Another race of local interest is that of US Rep. Mac Thornberry (R) of Clarendon challenged by Roger Waun (D) for the 13th Congressional District seat.

State Rep. Warren Chisum (R), District Judge Stuart Messer (R), and District Attorney Luke Inman (D) are all running unopposed for their offices.

Texas Secretary of State Hope Andrade is urging voters to get out and cast their ballots early.

"I encourage voters to take advantage of the convenience afforded by the early voting period," said Andrade. "By voting early you can avoid the long lines we expect to see on Election Day."

Andrade also reminds voters to bring their voter registration certificate with them to the polls to expedite the voter check-in process; however, if their registration certificate is unavailable, the voter will still be allowed to vote with a valid I.D.

Early voting continues in the Donley County Clerk's office inside the Courthouse Annex through Friday, October 31.

The General Election Day will be Tuesday, November 4.

City renews contract with sheriff's office

The Clarendon Board of Aldermen approved renewing the city's contract with the Donley County Sheriff's Department for law enforcement services, according to the minutes of the October 14 regular meeting.

Sheriff Butch Blackburn addressed the board and sought an increase in the contracted price from $130,000 to $140,000, but Mayor Mark White said the city's budget had already been set at $130,000.

Blackburn pointed out that the contract requires the mayor to meet with the sheriff and county judge in June to discuss the contract renewal, but he said that meeting never happened this year.

Alderman Ann Huey asked about the night deputy and if he was paid to watch a ballgame. Blackburn replied that he would run the sheriff's department and said the city could get a police department if it wanted to run something.

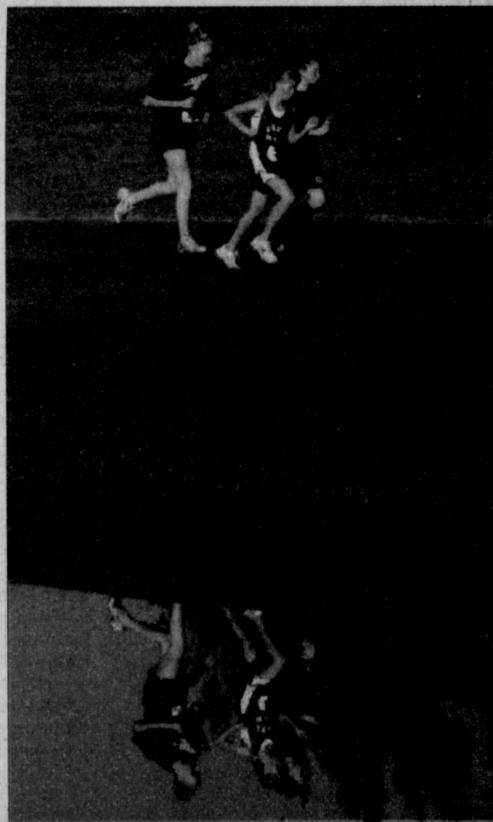

All agreed that more communication was needed, and the contract was approved.

In other city business, the board adopted a resolution calling for a public hearing on November 11 on a proposed reinvestment zone that encompasses the Community Care Center of Clarendon. That adoption of such a zone is a necessary first step in the application of a tax abatement for the nursing home.

A landfill contract with the City of Pampa was approved. Clarendon uses the Memphis landfill but maintains a contract with Pampa as a backup.

The board approved a tourism service contract with the Chamber of Commerce as required by the tax code. The contract will now be sent to the Chamber for its approval.

Is It Time for a Rebellion?

By John W. Whitehead

"50 percent 'no' and 50 percent 'hell no!'" — Rep. Jim Moran (D-Va.) on feedback received from his constituents regarding Congress' bailout package Mere days after President Bush signed into law an $810 billion bailout bill aimed at rescuing the Wall Street financiers, one of the recipients, American International Group Inc., threw a $440,000 bash for its executives at a swanky resort, complete with spa treatments, banquets and golf outings.

At the same time that AIG execs were celebrating lavishly, indirectly at taxpayer expense, nearly 12 million American taxpayers, who owed more on their mortgages than their homes are worth, were in danger of foreclosure.

As if it weren't bad enough that a fiscally irresponsible corporate America is going to be bailed out at taxpayer expense, Congress included more than $100 billion in pork barrel projects in the bill. Nothing short of congressional bribes, these so-called inducements range from an exemption from excise tax for wooden arrows designed for use by children and tax write-offs for motorsports racing track facility owners to tax rebates on rum imported from Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands, as well as imported wool.

This is not relief, it is economic slavery. It has become increasingly clear that the greatest threat to our freedoms — and our bank accounts — does not lurk outside our borders. Rather, it prowls among us, in the form of a government of wolves that is running wild and riding roughshod over our freedoms.

There was a time when such a blatant disregard for the burden being laid upon the American taxpayer would have elicited howls of outrage, protest marches and perhaps even outright rebellion. Today, however, many Americans understandably feel helpless to do anything about their plight. After all, despite the fact that calls and emails to congressional offices were overwhelmingly against the $810 billion pork-laden bailout, the legislation passed anyway.

Yet consider this: at its core, the quest for the American dream is about gaining sovereignty over one's life and property. Without it, there can be no freedom. While we have become accustomed to equating property with land ownership, the term is much more fundamental and personal. It refers to a kind of sovereignty over one's life and possessions — especially one's money. Questions about who has ultimate control over our money, how much of it can be claimed by government and how it gets spent go to the heart of the battle over property rights.

Governments generate no wealth on their own. Any resources that they have at their disposal have been appropriated from the original producers of that wealth, the citizens. This fundamental truth has largely been forgotten over the years. Yet the government's respect for and treatment of the property of its citizens often reflects its attitude regarding its citizens' rights as a whole. Conversely, a government that doesn't respect the rights of its citizens will have even less regard for their property — be it land, money or personhood.

With the Wall Street bailout, the President and Congress simply disregarded the clear will of the people. And while secret agreements were obviously made and backroom bargains struck, the Constitution and our rights were not even given a second thought.

However, those who wrote the Constitution drafted our founding document with the intention of ensuring that the power of government remained with the people. The Framers wanted citizens to know what the government is doing and how it spends taxpayer funds. And if the elected officials aren't doing their jobs or the people disagree with their performance, the Framers empowered the people to unseat their representatives. Without these safeguards, there is no representative government.

Since the country's inception, America has been synonymous with the concept that there are certain individual rights and freedoms that no one, not even government agents, can violate. As the Declaration of Independence boldly proclaims: "We hold these truths to be self-evident: that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty, and the pursuit of Happiness."

These rights were considered absolute and so precious that no government can violate them. And the early American colonists believed these principles were not only worth fighting for, they were worth dying for.

One of these was the right of the people to change or do away with a government that attempts to undermine their rights. As the Declaration concludes, "whenever any form of Government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the Right of the People to alter or abolish it, and to institute new Government, laying its foundation on such principles and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their Safety and Happiness."

Governments are brought into being to protect our rights. When they systematically violate them, the people have a right — nay, a duty — to resist. This willingness to stand and fight against corrupt government was what it meant to be an American in our nation's early years. And if we truly want to be Americans today, it will mean practicing every form of nonviolent resistance available to us as citizens — including picketing, mass protests, sit-ins, boycotts and so on.

It will certainly take more than voting for or against a particular politician. Thomas Jefferson was right: "What country can preserve its liberties, if its rulers are not warned from time to time, that this people preserve the spirit of resistance?"

Constitutional attorney and author John W. Whitehead is founder and president of The Rutherford Institute. His new book The Change Manifesto (Sourcebooks) is now available in bookstores and online.

Prickly pear fitting symbol of Texas

Ask for tuna in some parts of Texas, and you may not get fish. That's because the fruit of the prickly pear cactus also is known as tuna. This cactus, with its thorny, rounded pads and reddish purple fruit, has and continues to weave its way through Texas' history, culture, and landscape.

Texas ranks first in cacti. Arizona boasts the towering saguaro cacti, but Texas has more than 100 species and claims more than any other state. At the top of the list, by a resolution of the Texas Legislature, is the prickly pear cactus — the State Plant of Texas.

This fixture along Texas byways and countryside is uncommonly versatile, described as "a vegetable, fruit, and flower all in one." The 1995 legislative resolution refers to the prickly pear cactus as an "adaptable plant" that can "thrive in a harsh climate that few plants can bear."

The campaign to highlight the prickly pear cactus dates back more than 100 years ago. A young state legislator, John Nance Garner from Uvalde, urged his colleagues to name its blossom as the State Flower. That honor, of course, went to the bluebonnet. But Garner did not leave this effort empty handed, and his political career moved forward. "Cactus Jack," as he was called after that, would become the U.S. Vice President under Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The prickly pear cactus flourished long before the first explorers and settlers of European ancestry arrived here. Early Indians in Texas relied on it for nourishment and for other purposes — some of them quite inventive. Water was sometimes carried in large bags made of prickly pear pads encased in a netted frame. Floor coverings and sleeping mats made of prickly pear pads have been found in exploration of caves inhabited by the early Texans.

texas times
by sen. john cornyn

Texas pioneers and settlers, not dependent on cactus for sustenance, viewed the prickly pear cactus as a nuisance to farm and ranch lands, and also livestock. But even they could not deny its benefits — realizing that the cactus helped their livestock survive during droughts. Furthermore, there is growing awareness of its role in providing food and habitats for quail, deer, javelina and other wildlife.

The prickly pear and other cacti also are an important part of Texas horticulture. Botanical gardens and clubs cultivate and display cacti and succulent plants. They are a popular choice in cactus gardens and are increasingly common in xeriscapes where the prickly pear's heat tolerance, low water consumption, and beautiful blossoms make it a welcome plant.

The cactus has been popular in Texas kitchens for generations. In addition to the tuna, which makes prickly pear jelly and beverages, the flat pad of the cactus — the nopalito — can be used as a substitute for green beans, okra, squash and bell pepper. They are found in such recipes as nopalitos con huevos (scrambled eggs and cactus), nopales rellenos (stuffed cactus paddles), french-fried cactus, grilled cactus pads and cactus salad.

Sanderson, the county seat of Terrell County in the Big Bend region, holds the title of "Cactus Capital of Texas." The Texas Cactus Council in Benavides, southwest of Corpus Christi, is devoted to "all aspects of the development and production of prickly pear and other cacti." These include using it for dyes and cosmetics, and promoting its health benefits.

This common sight on our Texas landscape is recognized in a number of ways. The legislature's resolution described the prickly pear cactus as "rugged, versatile, and uniquely beautiful." The same could be said about the entire state. That is why the prickly pear is such a fitting symbol of Texas.

Texas leads in military technology

In his first inaugural address, President Ronald Reagan said, "Above all, we must realize that no arsenal, or no weapon in the arsenals of the world, is so formidable as the will and moral courage of free men and women. It is a weapon adversaries in today's world do not have."

Though spoken at the height of the Cold War, these words resonate today as our country wages a Global War on Terror against enemies who despise the liberties we hold dear. In his two terms as Commander in Chief, President Reagan significantly expanded U.S. military resources to ensure that our enemies did not gain a strategic advantage. Today, we are again investing in our defense infrastructure and technology to provide our Armed Forces with the tools they need to win the War on Terror.

Texas, which is home to 18 major military installations and more than 225,000 active and reserve service members, is leading the charge to design and build the technologies that will help our troops fight the forces of Islamic extremism. Many of the advanced weapons, military platforms, and communication networks that keep our troops safe, more informed, and better coordinated in combat situations are developed in our state. For example, in Iraq, improvised explosive devices (IEDs) have caused the majority of U.S. deaths.

To protect our troops, manufacturers in Sealy, Texas, are producing Mine Resistant Ambush Protected (MRAP) vehicles, designed to withstand IED attacks. There are now more than 7,700 MRAPs operating in Iraq and Afghanistan. Between May 2007 and May 2008, the number of casualties in Iraq caused by IEDs decreased by nearly 90 percent, due to the surge and enhanced by the implementation of MRAP vehicles.

At Fort Bliss in El Paso, the Army is developing the Future Combat System (FCS), a modernization program that will revolutionize the capabilities of our soldiers and their equipment in combat. The system will dramatically reduce troop casualties in combat by equipping our forces with new technologies. The FCS project is the largest development program in military history, and Texas is at the forefront of this exciting project.

In Amarillo, Texas, servicemen and engineers conduct the final assembly stages of the V-22 Osprey. The Osprey is an aircraft that performs a wide variety of functions, including amphibious assault, combat support, and long-range special operations. It takes off and lands like a helicopter, but its propellers can be rotated to convert the aircraft into a turboprop airplane, capable of high-speed, high-altitude flight. It is currently in operation in Iraq, providing valuable combat and logistical support to our troops in the field.

In Fort Worth, engineers and aviators are building a dominant 5th generation fighter fleet. The F-35 Joint Strike Fighter and F-22 Raptor will replace many of the planes in our arsenal and transform American aerial combat. These aircraft will be able to counter emerging surface-to-air threats, and they will be equipped with state of the art stealth technology. Like the V-22 Osprey, the F-35 and F-22 will expand our air superiority in Iraq, Afghanistan, and future theaters of conflict.

As a member of the Senate Defense Appropriations Subcommittee, I have worked hard to ensure that our military is prepared to defeat 21st Century adversaries. I will remain dedicated to ensuring that our Armed Forces have the resources they need to protect American lives and guard our nation's freedom.

McCain has a lifetime of service

It is amazing ACORN can register people to vote illegally or with duplicate registrations; and in all probability, nothing will be done until after the election. On the other hand, churches can not ask their people to vote for John McCain and Sarah Palin. Wake up America. We don't need a liberal, socialist society that Obama would try to lead us to.

We are still faced with extreme elements who would like to kill Americans.

We still have the problem of what to do with Social Security, when current income to Social Security is exceeded by the benefits being paid to retired folks. (Congress has spent the Social Security trust fund). We also have the issue of medical health care. Are we going to have a system like England or Canada where many people up there come to our states to have surgery? We sure don't need the government running that program. John McCain is a patriot; he has served our country all his life, beginning with his graduation from Annapolis, especially during the Vietnam War. As he has stated "Country First." He can be trusted.

Early voting began Monday the 20th; exercise your right to vote.

Duo riding horseback on way to shooting championship

A trail ride to remember will begin for two men on October 29.

Riding straight out of the pages of history and into the present, Mickey Williams and his nephew, Dusty Springfield, will start on a 20-day trail ride from Jarrell-Florence to Amarillo, for the CMSA (Cowboy Mounted Shooting Association) 2008 World Championships.

Mickey Williams is the current Men's Level 2 Texas State Champion with sights set on the world title. With the high cost of fuel, meals, boarding of horses, and lodging for himself, it was to be a struggle to get to the championships. What started as a joking statement is now a reality.

With help from some sponsors, friends, and family, a route was planned, town to town stops and layovers planned; and they are on the way. Mickey and Dusty will be taking three horses to make the trip, two for riding and one as a pack horse.

Leaving Jarrell-Florence October 29, going to Lampasas, Goldthwaite, Early, Rising Star, Cisco, Matador, Clarendon, Claude, and on into Amarillo, over 400 miles. Mickey intends to make the trip in 20 days or less depending on the weather.

Mickey said, "I always wanted to make a long ride of some kind. I turned 50 this year, and an opportunity like this may not come up again before I get too old and gray-headed. I can scratch this off my 'bucket list.' See you in Amarillo."

The duo will be riding to Clarendon and staying overnight on November 13 or after, according to the weather.

The Clarendon Lions Club held its regular Tuesday noon meeting October 21, 2008, with Boss Lion Cameron Word in charge.

We had 21 members, Club Sweetheart Audrey Jones, and three guests this week - Ashlee Estlack, guest of Lion Roger Estlack, and Clint Coley and Randy Yelverton, who presented our program.

The final sign-up sheet was passed around for this Friday's Pancake Supper at the Clarendon School Cafeteria.

Coaches Coley and Yelverton said the Bronco and Lady Bronco basketball teams are looking good this year, and they hope to build on the athletic success the school is already seeing. The basketball season starts November 11.

There being no further business, we were adjourned.

Keep your children safe this Halloween

By MaryRuth Bishop, County FCS Agent

Everyone wants to have a safe and happy Halloween for themselves and their children or grandchildren. Using safety tips and common sense can help you make the most of your Halloween season and make it as enjoyable for your kids as it is for you!

Anytime a child has an accident, it's tragic. The last thing that you want to happen is for your child to be hurt on a holiday; it would forever live in the minds of the child and the family.

There are many ways to keep your child safe at Halloween, when they are more prone to accidents and injuries. The excitement of children and adults at this time of year sometimes makes them forget to be careful. Simple common sense can do a lot to stop any tragedies from happening.

Below are just a few common sense tips for parents and children that can help.

Know the route your kids will be taking if you aren't going with them. Never let them trick-or-treat alone.

Have at least 2 buddies go along. The best bet is to make sure that an adult is going with them. If you can't take them, see if another parent or a teen-aged sibling can go along.

Know what other activities a child may be attending, such as parties, school, or church functions.

Make sure you set a time that they should be home by. Make sure they know how important it is for them to be home on time.

Explain to children the difference between tricks and vandalism. Throwing eggs at a house may seem like fun but they need to know the other side of the coin as well, clean up and damages can ruin Halloween. If they are caught vandalizing, make them clean up the mess they've made.

Explain to your kids that animal cruelty is not acceptable. Kids may know this on their own, but peer pressure can be a bad thing. Make sure that they know that harming animals is not only morally wrong but punishable by law and will not be tolerated.

Wait to eat candy until you get home and your parents or an adult can check for any problems.

Accept treats only in the doorway. Never go inside a house. Visit only houses where the lights are on.

Carry a flashlight. Wear costumes with reflective markings and bright colors. Costumes should not drag the floor.

Costumes should be made of flame-resistant material.

Don't play near lit jack-o-lanterns.

Remember the goal is to have fun and enjoy the activities. Being a responsible trick or treaters is very important.

Auvenshine honored by Hillsboro Lions

Lion Bill Auvenshine has been honored by his home club, the Hillsboro Lions Club, which made a $1,000 donation to the Lions Club International Foundation's (LCIF) Melvin Jones Fellowship.

A Melvin Jones Fellowship is the LCIF's highest honor and recognizes a person's commitment to humanitarian service.

Auvenshine, who is an associate member of the Clarendon Lions Club and president of Clarendon College, will receive the honor this Saturday and also receive his 50-year membership pin.

Senior Citizens plan monthly celebration

Gather with the Senior Citizens on October 28 at the Donley County Senior Citizens Center in Clarendon for the monthly birthdays/anniversaries celebration. The evening of fun will begin at 6 p.m. with a potluck meal, followed by the joyful singing of Dan Hall, Donnie Hall, and Matthew Stidham. Come join in the fellowship.

Hedley seniors plan raffle for November

The Hedley Senior Citizens needs your help. We are in the process of planning a dinner, raffle, and auction sometime in November. We will let you know. We will be raffling off ½ beef that was donated by Casey Cobb of the Hedley Feed Lot.

Friendship Club draws big October crowd

If you have been to Friendship Club, which is held on the third Friday of each month, the crowd is usually around 30.

This month the costume party and entertainment brought 80-plus to City Hall to enjoy the good food. Although there was not a costume contest, in my opinion the winners were the Poppewell Pirates and my two-year-old great-grandson, Weston Trumper of Houston, as a dragon.

Dorothy Arnold was "Hero of the Month," and birthdays were too numerous to count. Visitors were also too numerous to count but were at every table and included members of our family, Lori Allen, Gary and Candy Cockerham and Weston Trumper. Commissioner Ernie Johnston and wife Beth were guests. Ernie was asking for votes on November 4.

Now for the entertainment. Carole Goemans introduced them as "Two Halls and a Preacher" - Dan Hall, Donnie Hall, and Matt Stidham. As most people in Donley County, I had heard all three sing, but together they brought something special. Donnie played guitar, Matt was on the keyboard, and Dan hit those high notes.

With the blend of voices, they made City Hall rock. Thanks to Nelda Grider for asking them. They were a pleasure, and we hope they will return.

Our little community has many retirees who have celebrated their 50th wedding anniversaries, had

The Hedley School is having a "Community Wellness Day" on November 5.

They will have flu shots from 11:00 to 1:00. They will check blood pressure, blood sugar, cholesterol, oxygen and other things. They will also have mammograms. Please call the School Nurse, Tanya Burton, at 856-5323.

Bobby Hoggard reported to me that their family has never had a Family Reunion. They started one last year and only about 20 people attended. This year the Hoggard family had their second annual family reunion during the Cotton Festival. There were about 46 people there from Tennessee, Florida, Big Spring, Texas, Amarillo and Canyon. They all had fun during the Cotton Festival and plan on a bigger one next year. We were sorry to lose Zora Stephens this past week. She is a friend greatly missed. Uncle Bob's Convenience Store now has gas. Come on down and visit them right on Hwy 287. October is "Pastor Appreciation Month," and the Hedley Methodist Church had a Hamburger and home made ice cream dinner after services Sunday. People attending were Pastor Irvin Emmert and wife Bobbie, Bill & Juanel Carson, Helen and J.T. Lamber-son, Jim and Anita Mitchell, Patsy and Kathy Spier with visitor Don Blanks, Betty Morgan and James Edward and TimberLee Potts.

Recipe: Lemon-Orange Cake: 1 box Betty Crocker SuperMoist White cake mix, 1 ¼ cups orange juice, Vegetable oil and egg whites called for on cake mix box, 1 can (15 3/4oz) lemon pie filling, 1 container Betty Crocker whipped fluffy white frosting, grated orange peel, if desired. DIRECTIONS: Heat oven to 350. Make and cool cake as directed on box for two 8-inch or 9-inch round pans, except use 1 ¼ cups of orange juice in place of the water. Cut each cake layer horizontally in half to make 2 layers. Fill layers with generous ½ cup pie filling. Frost side and top of cake with frosting. Garnish with orange peel. Refrigerate about 1 hr. or until chilled. Store covered in refrigerator.

AAF to host area women's Power Hour

The Amarillo Area Foundation Women's Philanthropy Fund will host Power Hour with Women of the Panhandle from 5 to 7 p.m., October 23, in the home of Kay Brown, 3004 Hayden. This informational session will introduce philanthropically motivated women to the fund and the impact of giving circles.

Lesly Bosch Annen, Philanthropy Director of the Dallas Women's Foundation, will present information on the importance of lifting the community by investing in the dreams of girls and the power of women. The Dallas Women's Foundation recently launched a $30 million campaign.

"Locally, the Women's Philanthropy Fund will help each member achieve a more meaningful and personal philanthropic experience," said Sharon Oeschger, fund chair. "We hope to better address the needs of women and children in the Texas Panhandle by pooling our funds to provide grants."

The Founding Board of Advisors includes Oeschger; Susie O'Brien, Vice Chair, Amarillo; Nicki Crump, Amarillo; Geneva Shaeffer, Happy; Susan Teeple, Amarillo; and Suzanne Willis, Perryton. Amarillo Area Foundation advisors are Kay Brown, Angela Lust, Charlotte Rhodes, and Nancy Seliger.

Members contribute a minimum of $1,000 annually with pledge funds due by August 31 of each year to ensure voting privileges for that calendar year. Each member in good standing participates in awarding grants and other fund activities. During the first three years, each new member will be asked to make a commitment of a $1,000 donation annually for three years. Members who pay their initial 2008 pledge by December 31, 2008, will be recognized as Founding Members. The fund will accept initial grant applications in 2009.

The Women's Philanthropy Fund considers organizations in the areas of arts, education, environment, health, and social services which focus on the needs of women and children. Our vision is to transform the lives of women and children in the Texas Panhandle through fundraising, grantmaking, and advocacy.

For additional information, contact Charlotte Rhodes by calling (806) 376-4521.

Don't Forget the Knee-ology

By Mary Beth Nelson

The young minister grinned as he warmly greeted congregation members leaving Sunday morning service. He had just completed his sermon at the church to which he had been newly appointed three weeks previously. A well-respected elderly lady stood among those waiting to shake the preacher's hand.

"Young man," regarded the wise 81-year-old, "where did you go to school?" Slightly straightening his shoulders, he proudly answered her question concerning attendance at a theological college.

The twinkle in her eye combined with a friendly smile as she advised, "Well that's fine, but while you're practicing Theology, don't forget to use some knee-ology!"

I've come to realize that using more "knee-ology", or developing a prayer life, is one of the most important things I can do for myself. Learning to commune with God and depending on His loving care is the first step toward serenity on this earth.

The elements of prayer: acceptance of God's control of the entire universe, acknowledgment of His blessing, and faith in His promise can only lead to more abundant living, even during the most devastating conditions.

A great 19th century statesman once said, "I have been driven many times to my knees by the overwhelming conviction that I had nowhere else to go. Who was the statesman? Abraham Lincoln.

Bible thought: "Come, let us bow down in worship, let us kneel before the Lord, our Maker..." Psalms 95:6 (NIV).

Broncos slam Indians, 62-7

By Sandy Anderberg

The first half of play was a scoring frenzy for the Broncos as they completely dominated the Quannah Indians in their second District game.

The 62-7 annihilation of Quannah put the Broncos at 6-1 overall and 2-0 in District play.

"It was a pretty impressive game," head coach Gary Jack said. "It was a solid game all the way around."

Clarendon put up 34 points before Quannah could even score six, which came on a 35-yard run. Glenn Weatherton got things rolling right out of the gate and was the first to get the Broncos on the board with an 85-yard kick off return with the extra point added by Aaron Gordon. The two other Bronco scores came from senior Alton Gaines on a 36-yard run and a 99-yard run.

"We got everything going our direction early," Jack said.

The second half continued right where the first half ended. Quarterback Johnny Gaines took it in from 23 yards out for six; and Chris Crump got in next on a 13-yard run. Gordon returned a punt for a 42-yard touchdown, and Weatherton struck again for the last score on a 30-yard run. Gordon kicked the ball well and accounted for eight bonus points.

Defensively, the Broncos were on fire, and several players racked up good numbers for their effort. Stephino McCampbell had 13 tackles and one sack, and A. Gaines and Johnny Ballard helped with 10 tackles each. Gaines also was credited with one quarterback sack. Derrick Shelton, Tré Brown, and Mike Crump each had eight tackles, and Johnny Gaines had seven.

Danzel Wilson, Jesus Hernandez, and Ryan Hill wrapped up the Quannah offense with six tackles each. Brayden Phillips had three tackles and one interception, and Gordon had two tackles.

"Our line manhandled theirs," Jack said. "Our defense played well."

The Broncos held Quannah to just over 200 yards and only seven first downs while racking up over 500 total yards.

"The guys knew we had to go in and play hard," Jack said. "And that's what we did. We took care of business."

The Broncos will have a tough test at home Friday night when Wheeler comes to town, but Jack said his team is ready.

"We're set up for a big game with Wheeler, and we're glad we have them at home. It will be very exciting and has playoff implications for us. We're hitting a stride, and I am proud of the kids for what they're doing."

The Broncos will take on the 2-0 Mustangs at Bronco Stadium Friday night beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Runners make good showing in Shamrock

By Sandy Anderberg

Seventeen Lady Colts and five Colts participated in the Shamrock Cross-Country Meet Saturday, October 18, and finished with favorable results.

The Lady Colts finished third out of 10 teams, and the Colts were second out of seven teams. Four Lady Broncos also participated in the meet.

Maci White topped the Lady Colt team over the two-mile course finishing 22nd with a time of 15:22, and Jentry Shadle was 24th at 15:32. Haley Ferguson ran 25th with a time of 15:41, Jenci Burton was 26th at 15:44, and Jessica Ceniceros came in 27th with a time of 15:45. Audrey Shelton 35th-16:15, Jaci Hill 43rd-16:55, Phara Berry 44th-16:58, Elizabeth O'Rear 47th-17:20, Ryann Starnes 49th-17:30, Bryce McCrary 55th 18:20, Sarah Luttrell 56th-18:27, Samantha Sanderson 57th-18:32, Savannah Topper 58th-18:52, Minnie Buckhaults 59th-18:57, McKayla King 60th-19:04, and Audra Thomas 61st-19:20.

Leading the Colts was Diego Santos who finished fourth with a time of 12:31, and Forrest Yelverton at 13:36 for eighth place. Jonah Sell finished 11th with a time of 13:47. Cole Ward was 12th at 13:49, and J.D. Baxter finished 15th with a time of 14:26.

"I was very pleased with our junior high runners, boys and girls," coach Randy Yelverton said. "I thought they gave a great effort, and it showed in our scoring and with the girls getting third place and our boys getting second with only five runners. The schools that came in ahead of us all had seven runners each."

Holly Phillips ran 39th with a time of 15:06 for the Lady Broncos, and Trevela Dronzek was 51st at 16:25. Morgan Wood was 56th with a time of 18:19, and Haley Hall finished with an 18:25 for 57th place.

"There were 65 high school girl runners," Yelverton said. "I thought the kids ran hard and was pleased with their effort."

The next cross-country meet will be the District Meet at Plainview on October 27.

Drugs in the News

Bone Strengthening Drug Useful In Men

One of the side effects suffered by men with prostate cancer who undergo ADT (Androgen Deprivation Therapy) is the loss of bone structure. ADT, which is a well-established approach to prostate cancer, lowers levels of natural androgen testosterone. The lowering of testosterone from ADT causes cancer cells in the prostate to shrink or grow more slowly. However, a significant side effect of ADT is the loss of bone density, and if not treated, can progress to osteoporosis and/or broken bones.

A number of drugs have been used and newer ones tested in their ability to prevent or reverse bone loss that occurs during ADT. According to the results of a study published recently in the Journal of Clinical Oncology, men who received alendronate (Fosamax) over a period of two years experienced an improvement in the density of their bones, especially in the spine and hip. The study involved 112 men less than 85 years old who had been diagnosed with advanced prostate cancer. Those conducting the study concluded that the drug be prescribed at the same time for men with prostate cancer are also undergoing ADT.

Large scholarship open to CC students, grads

The Jack Kent Cooke Foundation has opened the nominations process for the largest scholarships available to students and recent alumni from community colleges.

Through the initiative, called the Undergraduate Transfer Scholarship Program, the private foundation will award up to $30,000 annually per recipient to help students and recent alumni from community and two-year institutions pursue four-year degrees at any accredited college or university in the United States and abroad. Last year, the Foundation received over 600 nominations for these awards.

While 45 percent of all college students in the US attend community colleges, few private funds are available to help top community college students transfer to four-year institutions, in spite of their high levels of ability and need. The Jack Kent Cooke Foundation scholarships can provide funding for tuition, room and board, required fees, and books for the length of the undergraduate degree, generally two years. Each award can total up to $30,000 annually, though the amounts will vary based on such factors as the cost of the institution each recipient attends.

The Foundation plans to award approximately 50 scholarships through this program in spring, 2009. It will renew awards each year based upon student performance. Current students are eligible, as are alumni who earned a degree from a community or two-year institution since spring 2004 and have not since transferred to a four-year college. The application deadline is January 20, 2009.

All candidates for the scholarship must be nominated by the faculty representative at their community or two-year institution. The deadline for nominations is January 26, 2009. The list of faculty representatives and application materials are available on the Foundation's website, www.jkcf.org.

Colts score blowout over Quanah

It did not take long for the Colts to determine whether they would gain a victory at home against the Indians, but the only thing they did not know was what the final score would be.
 The 44-0 shut out was basically determined after the first period of play when the Colts were up by 30 points.
 Diego Santos connected on two scores and an extra point as did Forest Yelverton. Trajen Johnson also made good on two touchdowns and a two-point conversion.
 "The game was pretty much decided in the first quarter," coach Alton Gaines said. "We executed well; and right now, the guys are playing well, too. The seventh graders got to play a lot, and they played well, too. I'm proud of their effort."
 The Colts will travel to Wheeler Thursday, October 23, at 5:00 p.m.

Workers' Compensation session to be Nov. 14

AUSTIN - The Amarillo Field Office of the Texas Department of Insurance, Division of Workers' Compensation (TDI-DWC) is hosting a brown bag educational session for health care providers, employers, human resource managers, claims adjusters, case managers and employee organizations on Friday, November 14, 2008.
 The topic is Required Medical Examinations: the Issues and the Answers. This free session will be held from noon to 1 p.m. at the Amarillo Field Office located at 7112 IH-40 West, Building D. Following a presentation this session is an open forum in which participants may ask questions.

On Customer Service from Stanley:

"I started at this dealership in 1996 and have always helped customers in their purchase of a new vehicle. Now I can handle a sale from start to finish. It's important that a customer get the car or truck they want; and if we don't have it on the lot, we can find it at one of the 25 dealerships in the Stanley family. We can get practically anything new or used and usually get it here the next day. Customer service is our top priority, and I very much believe in that."
