The Hedley Senior Citizens will be serving hamburgers, chips, and drinks throughout the day, and they will have a fundraiser with a chance to win a 27" digital color TV with DVD player.

Bingo will be put on by the Hedley Junior Class and the Hedley Senior Citizens.

Craft booths are welcome, but please no food booths.

Senior Rx seminar

Medication management is the subject of the Senior Seminar program offered at 1:30 p.m. October 11 at the Amarillo Senior Citizens Center, 1217 S. Tyler, Room 115, in Amarillo.

The program will address general medications and understanding about drugs; how to talk to your doctor, pharmacist and other health providers who might recommend medication; and tips on managing your medications safely, said Sue Church, Texas Cooperative Extension family and consumer agent in Potter County.

Andrew B. Crocker, Extension program specialist-gerontology health, will be the guest speaker.

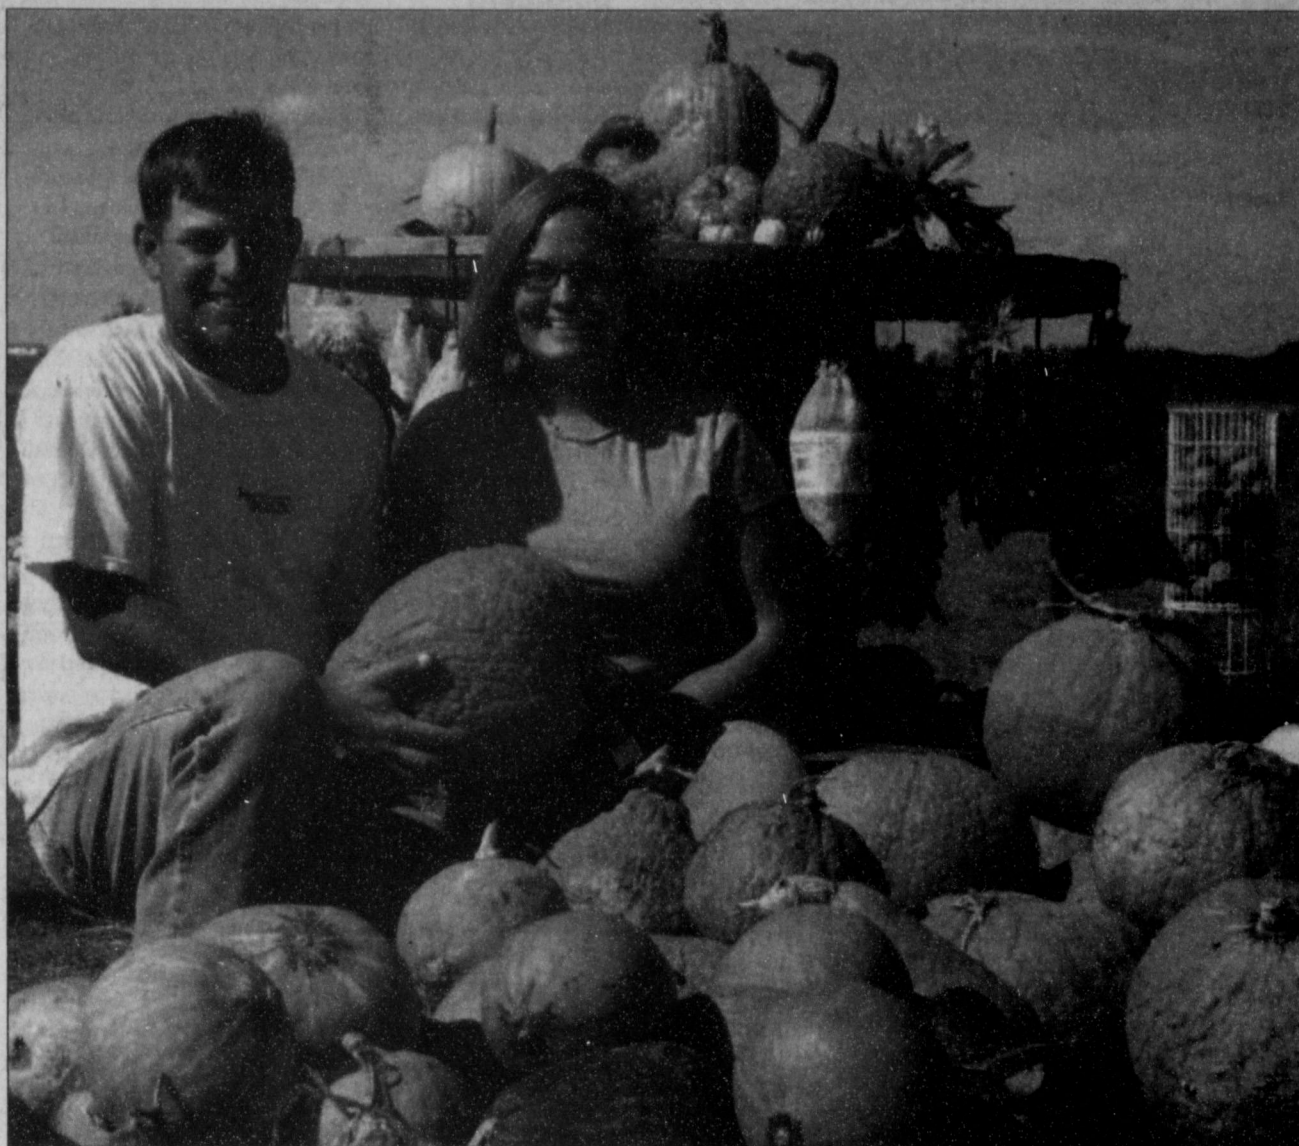

The seminars are open to the public and are free. For more information, contact Church at 373-0713.

Shot clinic planned

Texas Department of State Health Services will hold an Immunization Clinic in Clarendon October 9, 2007, at the TDSHS office at Five Medical Drive.

The immunization clinic will be open from 10 to 11:30 a.m. and from 1 to 2:30 p.m. All clinic times are subject to change or cancellation due to weather conditions or scheduling conflicts.

Harvest time

Donny and Markeeta Howard display one of their orange hubbard pumpkins at their new facility east of Clarendon. The hubbard is just one of dozens of pumpkin, squash, and gourd varieties the Howards sell locally and at locations all over the Panhandle and South Plains.

Local pumpkins going to market

Donley County pumpkins are making their way into markets and homes around the Panhandle now that fall harvest time is underway.

George Howard of Howard Farms says rains and temperatures this year have helped this year's crop.

"We're producing between 25,000 and 30,000 pounds per acre," Howard said. "At the farm (north of Lelia Lake), it's just solid pumpkins. You could walk all the way across the field and never touch the ground."

This season marks the opening of the Howards' new facility about two miles east of Clarendon on US 287, where they sell their locally grown produce.

The Howards grow five varieties of jack-o-lantern pumpkins, eight varieties of other pumpkins for eating or decorating, five varieties of gourds, and ten varieties of squash.

"Most of the stuff we sell are for decorating," Howard said.

Donny Howard, George's son, heads the operation and has been farming since 2001. Before that, he sold produce from other farms.

Today, the Howards sell their produce at three lots in Amarillo, one lot in Pampa, and in 21 Wal-Mart stores in the Panhandle and South Plains.

In addition to their own produce, the Howards also sell hay bales, mini-hay bales, cornstalk bundles, chili restras, and salted or roasted peanuts.

Workers toss pumpkins through the air like basketballs as they gather produce for Howard Farms north of Lelia Lake Monday. Some of the pumpkins are sold in Donley County, but most are sold elsewhere.

Extension service offers tips on pumpkin selection

AMARILLO - Selecting a jack-o-lantern is largely a matter of eye appeal and personal taste, but how do you select a pumpkin for the table?

Remember these tips from Dr. Russ Wallace, a Texas Cooperative Extension vegetable specialist based at Lubbock and a vegetable judge at the 2007 Tri-State Fair.

"Don't pick a jack-o-lantern, or carving, pumpkin for baking," Wallace said. "Jack-o-lantern varieties have tough, stringy flesh that is not as sweet. Stick with the smaller pie pumpkins, varieties such as Small Sugar or Triple Treat. They are less fibrous and have better taste and texture."

"Look for a pumpkin that is about eight inches in diameter, weighing two to six pounds. They will provide about one cup of baking puree per pound of pumpkin," Wallace said.

"Select a pie pumpkin with good orange coloring that seems heavy for its size. It should be firm and blemish-free, with the stem still intact."

Bonus! Henry Like displays an unusual five-legged frog he discovered recently on the Gunboat Mountain Ranch south of Clarendon.

'01 fire catches up with Wilson

District Judge David McCoy sentenced a former Clarendon man to 14 years in the state penitentiary Monday for an arson committed more than six years ago.

Larry Wilson of Amarillo had been on probation for burning his own house here in 2001 when he failed a random drug test and was arrested last December, according to District Attorney Stuart Messer.

A contested hearing was held August 30 at which time the defense produced an unsigned but notarized affidavit from a witness who claimed someone had put marijuana in Wilson's food without his knowledge.

Messer said the mystery witness failed to show up for Monday's court appearance, and a medical expert for the state testified that the defendant could not have eaten that much marijuana for the levels shown by the urinalysis.

Following the sentencing, Donley County Sheriff Butch Blackburn praised the district attorney.

"The citizens of Donley County need to thank Stuart Messer for prosecuting this case," he said.

Messer said he appreciated the work of the sheriff and the probation office.

"This just shows when everyone works together, we can get something done," the district attorney said.

Wilson's case began when the historic Saye House at Sixth and Kearney burned the night of February 13, 2001. Officials suspected arson as the cause of the blaze at the time and told the ENTERPRISE that the fire was suspicious because it started in the middle of the floor in an upstairs room.

Three years later, Wilson was indicted in the case. Two other local men were also previously arrested and sentenced in connection with the fire. Allen Turner, age 26, was arrested July 15, 2003, and sentenced to the Department of Corrections in December. In 2004, Jimmy Reese, age 49, also faced an arson charge in the case. He received probation on July 1 of that year.

Wilson was accused of employing Reese and Turner to burn the house for insurance money.

The historic home was built at the turn of the 20th century and was purchased by the grandparents of Tommie C. Saye in the 1920s. Five generations of the Saye family lived there during their 60-year ownership of the property. In the 1980s, the house overlooking City Park was sold to Clifford Alexander, whose family occupied the home for about 20 years before selling it.

City okays increases in water, trash rates

The Clarendon Board of Aldermen gave final approval to an increase in city water and garbage rates during their regular meeting September 25.

Water rates were increased by 50 cents per month and garbage rates will go up $1.50 per month. The rate increases went into effect October 1.

Aldermen also gave final approval to a contract with the Donley County Sheriff's Department to provide law enforcement services to the city. The city will continue to pay the county $130,000 per year with both sides agreeing to two changes in the contract.

The sheriff will now provide the city with the same monthly report of activities that he files with the commissioners' court; and the contract calls for the mayor, the county judge, and the sheriff to begin negotiations for the next year's contract in June.

The city policy and procedure manual was discussed. The board voted to amend the manual to prohibit city employees from taking city vehicles to lunch.

Aldermen discussed the need to paint City Hall and agreed to advertise for bids for this project.

City Superintendent Jim Roberts reported boring on the waterworks project was going well except for one main that had been hit. He also reported finding a truck for the city available from the Department of Public Safety for $7,000.

City Secretary Linda Smith reported on applying for new gas cards for the city. Mayor Mark White directed Smith to get three cards - one each for the sanitation, water, and street departments. Smith also reported on a bill from Price Overhead Door for insulating the fire department bay doors.

City should look for new administrator

Some folks may not like the idea; but as one who has watched the city up close, I can tell you that our city needs professional help. Clarendon needs a city administrator.

Most every other local taxing entity has one person who is responsible for the day-to-day administration of that government. The schools have superintendents, the college has a president, the county has a judge, and the hospital district has its own administrator. Each of these people are either educated in their chosen profession or have taken training to learn about the myriad of situations, problems, and responsibilities that come with their respective offices.

But at the city, we rely on a board of six people, meeting twice a month, to stay on top of everything.

When we had an administrator a few years ago, things were better. Ordinances and codes were starting to be more adhered to. People were beginning to get the same answers to the same questions, and city meetings were getting shorter. Aldermen were openly discussing the idea of holding meetings only once a month – like most other entities do.

But now we're backsliding.

Case in point: The final vote on the city's budget last month. After weeks of workshops and number crunching, the board was ready for a final vote when a discussion emerged about how the city gives raises. The consensus of the board is that raises need to be given based on merit, but that raised the sticky question of who would decide who was worthy of a raise and who would do personnel evaluations.

A good city administrator could judge for himself who was working hard for the city and who deserved a raise. He could, at the very least, make recommendations to the board, but it's a hard call for six people who aren't there in the trenches every day.

Case two: Last week's meeting. The older I get, the less tolerance I have for lengthy meetings – especially those that prove to be a colossal waste of time. That was especially true last Tuesday night. The policies and procedures manual was on the agenda, which is always a bad sign. After 10 or 15 minutes of a productive meeting, the board descended into a black hole on employee policies, taking the city secretary, the city superintendent, and me down with them.

First up was whether certain employees should use a time clock to clock in and clock out when they get to work, go on break, come off break, go to lunch, come back from lunch, go on break, come off break, go home, get called in for overtime, and go home from overtime. The debate went back and forth and forth and back until someone realized – “Well, Sister Mary Frances! This is already in the manual!”

Next up, should city employees be allowed to take their city vehicles home with them? Well, absolutely not, was the general consensus... at first. But then it was realized that only two employees are taking their vehicles home anyway – one of whom is the city superintendent and is on call 24/7 and the other is another worker, who is also basically on call 24/7. The issue seemed settled. These two guys could take their trucks home.

But then they got all tangled up in whether it was okay for the second man to take his truck to lunch. It was okay for him to take it home at five o'clock because he's on call 24/7, but it was an issue if he went downtown to lunch in it. So I guess he's really only on call 23/7. The debate raged for 45 minutes before they finally voted – voted! – that essentially this one person could not go to lunch in a city truck.

A competent city administrator could have saved all that time and energy and would let our elected city leaders get on with the business of setting broad goals for the advancement of Clarendon instead allowing them to get mired in the everyday higgledy piggledy.

Texas a leader in the energy field

For generations, Texans have taken great pride in our energy resources. Oil and gas production has fueled our state's growth and success. Yet, even in the 21st century, almost 75 percent of our electrical power is produced by burning the same fossil fuels our grandparents relied on. As alternative energy sources become more practical, we must expand our traditional leadership into these areas as well. By broadening our energy portfolio, we will strengthen our economy, safeguard our environment, and reduce our dangerous national dependence on foreign oil.

One of the most promising of these alternatives is clean, safe and cost effective nuclear power. According to the Nuclear Energy Institute, it is the least expensive method of electric production at 1.7 cents per kilowatt hour. It does not produce potentially harmful air pollutants and employs virtually unlimited fuel sources. Advances in technology have made our homegrown nuclear power safer and more efficient than ever and reduced the amount of waste they produce. More than 100 plants currently operate in 31 states.

Last week, NRG Energy, Inc., announced they had filed America's first application for a new nuclear power plant in almost 30 years. If approved by the Nuclear Regulatory Commission, NRG's planned reactors in Bay City will use some of the safest new technologies and are expected to produce at least 2700 megawatts of electricity. That's enough to power more than 2 million Texas homes! Construction of the plant is also expected to generate $9 billion in economic benefit for Bay City and Texas.

Power companies recognize the potential of nuclear technology; but for too long, the federal approval process for new plants has been prohibitively expensive and fraught with red tape. This has effectively halted the expansion of nuclear power in the United States, while other nations, like France, derive as much as 78 percent of their electricity from clean and safe nuclear plants.

NRG's announcement is the result of legislation I strongly supported, the Energy Policy Act of 2005 (EPACT). The Act streamlined the application process and provided meaningful incentives, like production credits and loan guarantees, for the construction of nuclear facilities. Since the signing of EPACT, 25 new reactors have been planned for sites all across America. Firms like NRG are stepping forward to provide new sources of safe, clean, and abundant electrical power. Their initiative demonstrates important progress but should be only the beginning of our renewed investment in nuclear energy.

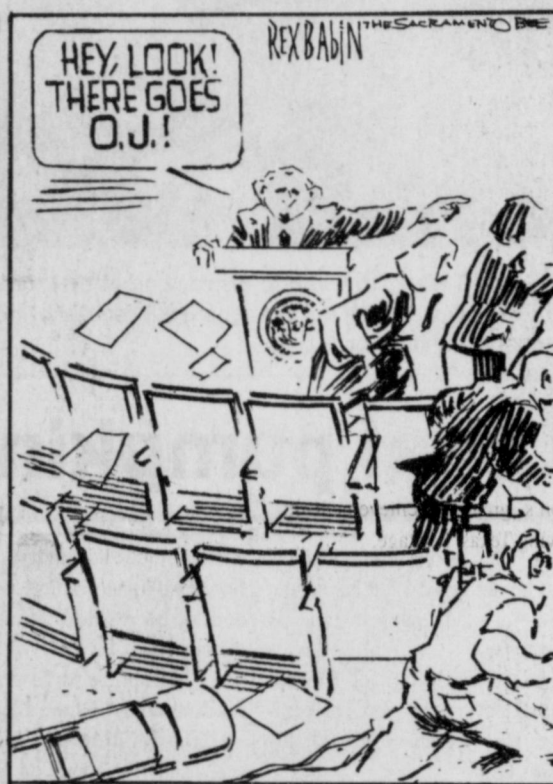

Presently, only about 10 percent of Texas' electricity comes from nuclear power. But judging by our past achievements in alternative energy, I know we can lead the way in this arena, too. Texas recently surpassed California as the top producer of wind energy in the nation. We have proven that wind generation is both practical and economically viable. Texas researchers are also taking a leading role in improving solar power, biofuels, and even wave energy sources.

These exciting technologies are driven by our most valuable natural resource—the power of American ingenuity. I introduced the Creating Renewable Energy through Science and Technology (CREST) Act of 2007 to capitalize on this asset and create a comprehensive, coordinated national research effort. Texas' research institutions are ideally situated to be leaders in this endeavor.

Oil and gas will always be vital to our state and nation, but we must also explore the vast, untapped energy potential of our other resources. I will continue to advocate for increased use of underutilized assets like nuclear power that will help maintain Texas' energy leadership and America's energy security for generations to come.

Improve current health care system

By U.S. Sen. John Cornyn

A national debate is under way on how we can improve delivery of health care, both in Texas and nationwide. It's an important debate with two distinct points of view.

One side wants to move us toward a government-run, single-payer health care system. The other side wants to retain choice and personal options, including private health insurance, as a major factor in health care delivery.

It's important to remember that at its best, American health care is the best in the world. But access to our system is uneven, and Texas has the highest rate of uninsured citizens of any state.

We have work to do. I strongly favor reforms of our system that keep patients – not government – in charge of making health care decisions. Socialized medicine has been proven to reduce quality, increase inefficiency, raise taxes, and lead to rationing of health care.

We need to build on the strengths of our current system by increasing transparency and competition. Health insurance that encourages consumer choice could be expanded and made more affordable through tax breaks and other incentives. We should allow workers to carry health insurance with them when they change jobs and small businesses to band together for better insurance rates. These steps would improve our current system, producing lower costs, greater access, and still more innovation in health care.

One current skirmish in the ongoing debate is over renewal of the State Children's Health Insurance Program (SCHIP). This program was started in 1997 to cover children whose families earn too much to qualify for Medicaid, but not enough to afford health insurance. The federal government assists states by providing three-quarters of program costs.

SCHIP has been highly successful. Some 6.6 million children have benefited. Along with virtually everyone in Congress, I strongly believe it should be renewed and even expanded. I voted for a renewal bill called Kids First that provided a $10 billion increase in funding, to $35 billion over five years, and would enroll an additional 1.3 million children.

But the Congressional majority rejected that plan as too miserly. Only in Washington, D.C., could a 40 percent increase in funding be considered a “cut.” They opted instead for a $60 billion plan that accommodates families with an income of $83,000, inviting a veto from President Bush.

The Democratic plan extends coverage from working, low-income children – the intended recipient – to parents, single adults, and middle class families.

Our state legislature recently took steps to increase enrollment in SCHIP after earlier budget cutbacks during the 2003 economic downturn. The state aims at SCHIP's original beneficiaries – children in families with incomes up to twice the poverty level. Enrollment is now rising sharply.

The majority party's plan would have confiscated $660 million in federal funds that Texas has left unspent from the last two fiscal years, and redistribute it to northern states for use outside its purpose. Kids First would preserve that money for at least two years, with extensions possible.

Three-quarters of our state's uninsured children are already eligible for either Medicaid or SCHIP, but they haven't been signed up. Texas is now attempting to do just that. Kids First provides $700 million for finding and enrolling uninsured kids, but the majority plan contains only token funds for outreach.

There is no doubt that Kids First is better for Texas. The majority plan makes sense only for those who want to see taxes increase and incremental steps toward a single-payer, government-run health care system.

I believe socialized medicine would be a major mistake for our state and our country. People from all over the world come to the U.S. for health care when it's denied, or unavailable in their socialized systems.

Still, our current system can and should be improved. Let's work together to make sure we preserve what is right with American medicine – the best in the world – even as we improve its accessibility and affordability.

Health department seeks Sept. caller

The Texas Department of State Health Services (DSHS) is trying to locate a woman who called the DSHS Canyon office on September 21 and asked to speak to someone about a bat that her child had captured in a paper cup. She was referred to the Lubbock DSHS office, but apparently she never called.

Bats are a known high-risk rabies species, meaning that they have a higher incidence of transmitting the rabies virus than other animals. If the child handled the bat, he or she could be at risk of contracting the rabies virus. It is important that either the bat be submitted for rabies testing, or the child receive treatment for rabies exposure.

If you are the woman who made the phone call, or know of someone who has had contact with a bat recently, call Karen McDonald with the Zoonosis Control Program in the Lubbock office at 806/767-0427.

Funeral home plans marker dedication

Robertson Funeral Directors, Inc., of Clarendon, cordially invites everyone to attend the dedication of their historical marker on Sunday, October 14, 2007, at 4:00 p.m. at their facility at 212 South Sully St.

In 1899, Robertson Funeral Home, Inc. was established as the first funeral home in the Texas Panhandle area, and has been in continuous operation at the same location for the past 108 years.

Recently, the Texas Historical Commission awarded the State Historical Marker in recognition of the historical contribution of the funeral home to the community and the area.

Everyone at Robertson Funeral Directors would be deeply honored if you would join them at this dedication ceremony to help commemorate this special event.

Robertson Funeral Directors plan on recognizing former associates and/or their family members at the dedication ceremony.

If you are one of these, please contact Robertson's and let them know if you will be attending by Friday, October 5, by calling 806-874-3515

College teams keeping roads hot this fall

Activities are picking up on the Hill, and there is something going on or someone is traveling somewhere every day for the next couple of weeks.

On, October 3, the Volleyball team traveled to Midland to play at 7 p.m., and the baseball team was in Lubbock at 1 p.m.

The rodeo team will head to Sul Ross on Thursday and Friday of this week, and the Livestock team will be in Dallas from Friday, October 5, to Monday, October 8, to participate at the State Fair of Texas.

The Volleyball team will return home on Saturday and take on Northern Oklahoma - Enid at noon.

The women's basketball team will travel to Warrensburg, Missouri, on Sunday, October 7, to play in the Heartland Junior College Jamboree on the campus of the University of Central Missouri.

The meats team will be in Kansas City, Missouri, from Tuesday, October 9, to Sunday, October 14, to participate in the American Royal Stock Show.

Movie Night will be held in the Harned Sisters Fine Arts Auditorium on Tuesday, October 9, and the movie will be "Ali."

A dual credit meeting will be held next Tuesday from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the Bairfield Activity Center.

The Volleyball team will play in Roswell on October 10, and will play in Ranger on October 12.

We would like to congratulate the women's rodeo team members, Caitlin Forrest, Colleen Daniels, happenings on the hill

 by ashlee estlack,
 cc marketing coordinator and Keeley Longo, for placing first in the women's division at the Weatherford College Rodeo this past weekend. These girls and the other rodeo team members did very well at the contest, and complete results from that rodeo can be found on page eight.

The livestock and meats judging teams traveled to Garden City, El Dorado, and Wichita, Kan., the last two weekends to participate in competitions and had team members place at each contest. We would like to congratulate all of the members of those teams for a job well done, and complete results are on page six.

For those of you new to the game or those of you wanting to hone your skills, "Texas Hold'em Poker" will be held on Mondays and Wednesdays from 7 to 9 p.m. beginning October 17 and ending November 19. "Introduction to Word Processing for Mature Beginners" will meet on Tuesdays from 6 to 8 p.m. starting October 23 and ending November 6.

For information about these and other continuing education classes, call at 874-3571.

Kensy Morrow and Brandon Phillips

Morrow, Phillips plan to exchange vows

Earl and Sharyn Morrow of Clarendon are proud to announce the engagement of their daughter Kensy Robyn Morrow of Clarendon, to Brandon Coye Phillips of Clarendon, son of S.J. and Latonya Johnson of Clarendon.

The wedding date has been set for October 20, 2007, and will be held at the First Baptist Church in Clarendon.

Cotton Festival now taking parade entries

Plans for the Cotton Festival are underway as local businesses and citizens are asked to enter parade entries.

Entries may include floats, cars, or walking exhibits. To register an entry, you must meet in front of Hedley ISD between 12:30 and 1:30 p.m. on October 13 for line-up. The parade will begin at 2:00 p.m.

For further information, call 856-5364. If no answer, leave a message.

A&M athletic director to speak in Amarillo

Texas A&M Director of Athletics Bill Byrne will be speaking in Amarillo on Thursday, October 11, 2007.

All Panhandle area Aggies are invited to attend. The event will be held on the 16th floor of the Amarillo National Bank Building, 410 South Taylor, in downtown Amarillo. A social hour will begin at 5:30 followed by Mr. Byrne's remarks and a question and answer session at 6:30. Cost is $10 per person and includes drinks and snacks.

Mr. Byrne came to Texas A&M in January 1993 committed to bringing athletic success to all sports at A&M. Since his arrival, A&M has won four national championships and 13 Big XII Conference titles, including seven conference titles last year.

All former students and fans of Texas A&M athletics are invited to attend. For more information, contact Scooter Harries at 358-3648.

Howardwick couple's son heads for Iraq with Marines

Do you remember learning "In 1492, Columbus sailed the ocean blue in the Nina, Pinta, and Santa Maria and discovered America on October 12"?

We now know the Vikings were here long before Columbus; and technically, he did not discover North America because he never set foot on our soil. He was an Italian and sailed for King Ferdinand II and Queen Isabella of Spain, hoping to find a route to India in order to trade for spices. He made a total of four trips to the Caribbean and South America during the years 1492-1504.

Columbus may not have been first, but in my heart, he deserves the credit, and his day will be here next week.

Joyce Hardin was successful in doing something I have never attempted, a surprise birthday party for her husband. Marshall believed all those lies and mysterious phone calls, making this birthday a memorable one.

Family and friends met at the Lions Club for Sam Hill's BBQ and birthday cake, stories, and laughs. Those attending from Howardwick were L.D. and Mary Robinson.

Wanda and Dean Nazworth, Wayne and Carla Carter, and Peggy and Jim Cockerham. Happy Birthday, Marshall Hardin, and many more.

Our condolences to the family of Wayne Ennis of McLean who passed away September 29. He was a faithful and devoted member of the Howardwick Baptist Church and will be missed by everyone there.

US Marine Chris Johnsen, son of Debbie and Ron Chipwood, has been deployed to Iraq, so please put this family on the prayer list.

If you have someone special in the military and would like to recognize them, call me at 874-2886, and I will get their name in the paper.

Book relates story of pioneer female MD

Was she amazing? You decide.

In Burton Memorial Library's May Owen, MD, author Ted Stafford, depicts the character of a woman whose goal perseverance, against many obstacles, led her to become one of Texas' outstanding medical doctors. During a six-decade career, she experienced progress from simple fold remedies to highest technology.

May was born to immigrant parents in Falls County, Texas, in 1891. Her family farm duties began at age two when she gathered cook-stove wood. She loved and experienced almost every phase of farm life. She could break a wild horse faster than her brothers. Her mother died before May started to school, leaving more responsibility to eight children.

From the time May entered first grade, her greatest joy was learning and reading. Her family could not understand her intrigue for reading. The only book in the house was the Bible, seldom used except on special occasions. While still a young girl, she read from Genesis to Revelations several times. A teacher or neighbor occasionally loaned her a book. The County Vet furnished veterinary journals.

At age nine, May announced her desire to become a doctor at a time when women doctors were practically unheard of. Her father appreciated everything the country school offered, but never encouraged high school. He considered her dream of Medical School ridiculous.

After arrangements made by her oldest brother, May, age 21, entered Texas Christian University in Fort Worth to receive her high school diploma. During the first fall at TCU, she traveled home on weekends to help with crop harvesting. Returning to school on Monday mornings, her desire for more education never faltered.

Dr. Truman C. Terrell became a dynamic factor in May's life, assuring her of college completion, offering opportunity of work in his professional medical lab, and suggesting Medical School after graduation.

 by mary beth nelson

May received many Medical School rejections before she was finally accepted to Louisville Medical School. Assuming there would be other women students, she was surprised to find she was the only one. The male students, curious about a woman from Texas with medical aspirations, were not too pleased about her attendance there. None spoke to her after the first session. Readers will be amused at the circumstances in which they accepted May and would later, admire her as an equal.

After valuable experience at Mayo Clinic, New York's Bellevue and Scott and White Hospitals, May returned to her beloved Texas, confident that she could deal with any situation in her specialty.

First Texas Medical Association Women President and Texas Women's Hall of Fame inductee are only two of May's numerous distinguished honors.

Her life was only one of humility, modesty, determination, and generosity. Humble and modest because, always sharing credit and acknowledging others for successes, she never tried to become known because of her accomplishments. Determination showed through her love and devotion to Medical research to benefit others. Generosity was evident in her physical and financial aid willingly given to students. Almost 500 current doctors began their profession through Dr. Owen's personal efforts. The May Owen Irrevocable Trust for student loans which began decades ago is still active.

The exceptional lady Texan maintained alertness, working until the day before she died in 1988, three weeks before her 97th birthday.

Hedley Senior Citizens receive donation from singer Pat Boone

By Patsy Spier, Hedley Senior Citizens

Hedley is a small community of about 390 people in the Texas Panhandle about 80 miles SE of Amarillo. The Hedley Senior Citizen's Center has been having financial problems, and we are trying our best to keep the doors open to serve the elderly in our community. We serve approximately 50 elderly daily, plus about 20 home bound people. We also serve people from a 30-mile radius. We are trying everything we can think of to bring in some much-needed money to help with the cost of fuel, utilities and food. Everything is going up without a lot of money coming in. We are operating out of a 100-year old building that is falling apart. We have been operating in the RED from $1,500 to $2,000 a month. Our small reserve is going in a hurry.

We have tried grants, which have been declined probably due to us not knowing how to write them. We are having fundraisers, but that only goes so far in this area. We have advertised in THE CLARENDON ENTERPRISE and the HALL COUNTY HERALD newspapers, both radio stations, KEFH 99.3 FM in Clarendon and KLSR 105.3 FM in Memphis with Joe Davis. We also had KAMR-Channel 4 TV and Channel 10 TV in Amarillo come down and interview us to get our story out. We want to thank these people very much for their support. We have had some wonderful response from these avenues.

We have also been trying to contract different celebrities, and we have had one response so far from Pat Boone, who sent us $1,000. This is wonderful, and we hope to have more. Please see attached letter from Pat Boone.

We are still asking for help. If we could receive about $40,000, that would let us operate for about a year along with our fund raisers and state contract. Hopefully, we could get on everyone's automatic yearly list. That would be wonderful.

We want to take this opportunity to thank everyone who has or may help us. We also urge you to support your local Senior Citizens and Meals on Wheels programs, as they all need help. We need to take care of our elderly and disabled persons. They need us.

Dear Patsy: I've read your letter and the information about the needs of the seniors in your community and want to help. I'm sending my check and pray you're able to raise the rest of the money you need.

God bless you,
Pat Boone

The Clarendon Lions Club held their regular Tuesday noon meeting October 2, 2007, with Boss Lion Richard Sheppard in charge.

We had 22 members and four guests - Blaine Burton, guest of Lion Bill Lehman; Ashlee Estlack, guest of Lion Roger Estlack; and Laban Tubbs and Jerry Gage, who presented our program.

A committee was appointed to review applications for Club Sweetheart. A recommendation will be made to the club next week. Upcoming club events include the Pancake Supper on October 26 and the Ladies Night Banquet on October 30.

Tubbs and Gage discussed the Clarendon College Ranch & Feedlot Operations program, which has been operating for 34 years and has 18 students. The program utilizes a lot of volunteer instructors who have experience in ag-related fields to give students real world, hands on lessons.

Saving money makes holidays more enjoyable

By MaryRuth Bishop, County Agent

"It's nearly October. What am I going to do?" all the while wringing her hands. I heard this statement every week as I was growing up, and the only thing that changed was the month. From October to November, then to the dreaded December. You've guessed it. My mother was terrified of not having enough money to have a "good Christmas."

The problem was, she didn't do anything about it. Sometimes we would receive a box with fabric, a pattern and a note saying "In January I will make you this dress," or sometimes we got nothing at all. No Christmas present wasn't near as large a problem as not learning how to save money for future expenditures.

Well, Christmas is coming, but so are your monthly bills, and these are two very good reasons for consciously saving money. Saving money is not a horrible thing that we "have to do." Instead it can be viewed as a choice of making wise money decisions.

Saving money can be as simple as being willing to save the money you currently have and enjoy a movie and microwave popcorn instead of going to the movies and having a great hamburger, fries, Coke, popcorn, candy bar, and Roloids and you've saved about $40-60 dollars.

Looking at your bills and obligations, you can set up a plan to help you save and pay cash for expenses that don't happen every payday but can wreck your spending plans. You will have cash for buying expensive items and won't have to buy on credit. This saves money and you will be prepared for emergencies.

Saving requires control. Pay yourself first from every paycheck.

Saving even small amounts from each paycheck can make a difference. Even small amounts of money can add up. If you purchase a soda each day for $1.05 in 30 days you will have saved $31.50. If a family of four does the same, the family will have saved $126 at the end of the month. Ask each family member to help save for something the family needs or wants. Ask each one to select what he or she is willing to give up once a week or month in order to save money.

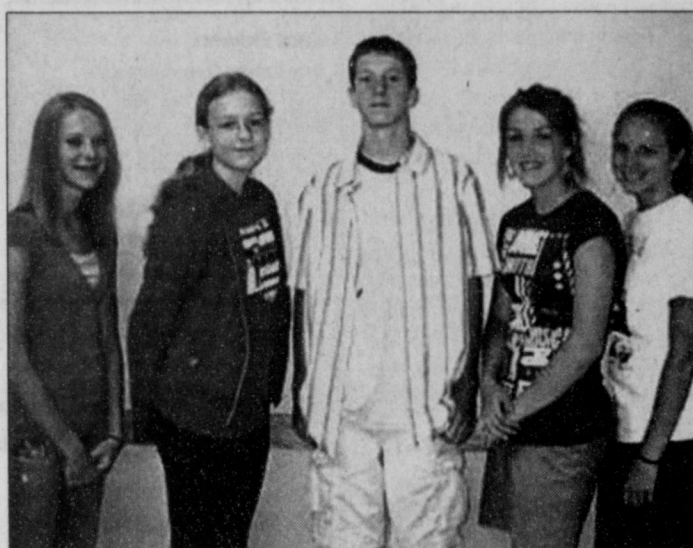

Be sure you have a true emergency before using your savings. Getting invited to go to Amarillo and shop at the mall is not a true emergency. It is a lot of fun, but make the decision to go based on money consequences. Know what you are saving for. If you are tempted to use your savings for something else, ask yourself if you are willing to give up the item you had planned to buy.

Put savings in a savings account because... Your money will be safer. You will be less tempted to use it. Your money will earn money for you.

A minimum deposit may be needed to open a savings account. Set a goal today to save the money needed to open your account. After checking with all three local banks, Herring Bank, Community Bank and Donley County Bank, I found a minimum of $100 is required to open a savings account.

Remember the example given above? A family of four would be well on their way to any goal within one month's time and after a year's worth of saving $1,512 can make a difference in any family's budget decisions.

For more information on saving for the future, contact Donley County Extension or a local bank.

CC announces continuing education classes

This fall Clarendon College will be hosting a variety of continuing education classes with everything from floral design to Texas Hold'em to basic computer skills.

"Beginning Floral Design" will be held on Mondays from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. starting October 1 and ending October 22. Learn the basic principles of floral design including use of materials, equipment, and color scheme in everyday arrangements. Chriss Clifford will teach this class in room 106 of the administration building in Clarendon, and the cost will be $30.

For those people wanting to learn more about how to use the Internet and email, "Internet and Email Workshop for Mature Beginners" will be held on Tuesday from 6 to 8 p.m. starting October 2 and ending October 16. This class is $30 and will meet in room 203 in the Administration building.

For those of you new to Texas Hold'em poker or those of you wanting to hone your skills, "Texas Hold'em Poker" will be held on Mondays and Wednesdays from 7 to 9 p.m. beginning October 17 and ending November 19. Grett Betts will teach this class in room 101 of the administration building, and the cost is $50. Texas Hold'em is an easy game to learn, just difficult to master. The "mastering" part is the costly part, especially in the traditional setting of a casino poker room. Thankfully, you can practice all you want for free in this class. Not only will you practice but you will learn how to bid and other strategies for winning.

"Introduction to Word Processing for Mature Beginners" is an 8-hour class to introduce mature beginners to Microsoft Word. Learn basic mouse concepts, computer terminology and how to organize computer files. This is an excellent class for mature adults in need of computer skills for the workplace. This class will meet on Tuesdays from 6 to 8 p.m. starting October 23 and ending November 6. Pam Denney will teach this class in room 203 of the administration building and the cost is $30.

"Introduction to Electronic Spreadsheets for Mature Beginners" is an eight-hour class that will introduce mature beginners to Microsoft Excel. Learn basic mouse concepts, computer terminology, and how to organize computer files. This class will meet Nov. 13, Nov. 27, and Dec. 4 from 6 to 8:40 p.m. in room 203 of the administration building. Pam Denney will team this class, and the cost is $30.

Chriss Clifford will teach "Advanced Floral Design—Holiday Florals," and students will take the information from beginning floral design and learn how to apply it to holiday arrangements, wreaths, and swags. The class will meet on Mondays from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. starting October 29 and ending November 19. The class will meet in room 106 of the administration building, and the cost is $30.

"Holiday Gift Wrapping" will teach you gift wrapping and bow making techniques to make your gifts look extra special for the holidays. This class will meet on Monday, December 3, and Monday, December 10, from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. in room 106 of the administration building. Chriss Clifford will teach the class, and the cost is $20.

For a copy of this schedule, visit www.clarendoncollege.edu. If you are interested in any of the classes listed here or have suggestions for classes you would like offered in the future, give us a call at 806-874-3571 or 800-687-9737.

Clarendon College Meats Team wins Garden City competition

The Clarendon College Meats Judging Team won the Beef Empire Days Contest in Garden City, Kan., this past weekend.

Derek Moore, a sophomore from Huffman, was 1st high individual; Paul Morales, a sophomore from Humble, was 2nd high individual; Jace McMath, a sophomore from Willard, New Mexico, was 4th high individual; and Josh Hasty, a sophomore from Cleburne, was 8th high individual.

Other Team Members were Francisco Perez, a freshman from Quemado, Kelli Mock, a freshman from Adkins, and Henry Ruiz, a sophomore from Eagle Pass.

Twenty-eight members of the Clarendon College Livestock Judging Team traveled to El Dorado, Kan., and Wichita, Kan., on the weekend of September 21 and 22 and placed in the top ten as teams in both contests.

At the El Dorado contest, the freshmen placed third out of 17 teams. Caleb Crosswhite from McKinney was 1st high individual; Corey Taylor from Humble was 8th high individual; and Angie French from Panhandle was 10th high individual.

The sophomore team placed 8th out of 17 teams at the contest. Corey Fischbacher from Amarillo was 7th high individual, and Becca Polomski from Silver City, New Mexico, was 1st high individual sheep.

At the Wichita contest the freshmen placed 2nd out of 18 teams and Angie French from Panhandle was 8th high individual. The sophomores placed 8th out of 18 teams, and Melanie Hall from Blum was 7th high individual.

CC-Childress Center taking applications for diesel technology

The Diesel Technology Program at the Clarendon College - Childress Center will be getting underway again this October.

The Texas Panhandle has an increasing need for entry-level technicians who can provide service for heavy trucks, construction, agriculture, power generation, or oil production.

The Diesel Technology Technician Certificate Program at Clarendon College - Childress Center, offers a broad overview of major diesel engine technology. The estimated time for a full-time time, prepared student to complete the certificate program is one year.

Applications are available on the web at www.ClarendonCollege.edu, or you can pick one up one at locations in Clarendon, Childress, or Pampa. Financial aid is available, and you are encouraged to contact the Director of the Clarendon College - Childress Center as soon as possible if you are interested in order to get the needed paperwork filled out.

If you think this is the career for you and you want to know more about the Diesel Technology Program, contact the Director of the Clarendon College - Childress Center directly by calling 1-940-937-2001.

FFA shows at Fair

Clarendon Church of Christ DID YOU KNOW?

There is a list of 7 things that God hates. He hates a proud, look; a lying tongue; hands that shed innocent blood; a heart that devises wicked plans; feet that are swift in running to evil; a false witness that speaks lies; and one who sows discord among brethren. (Prov. 6:16-19)

The shedding of innocent blood is the one we will look at. Did you know that 47 million babies were killed in abortions in the U.S. since 1973? Did you know that 1.3 million of those lives were taken just last year? Did you know that 1/3 of the generation born in the 33 years from 1973-2006 is missing because of abortion?

It is so sad that we have lost over 3,000 men in the present war in Iraq. Did you know the abortions everyday surpass that number? Did you know that more babies have died from abortions than all the troops that died in the Civil War, both World Wars, the Korean War, the Vietnam War, the Persian Gulf War, and the current war? There are more abortion deaths each year as there are caused by heart disease and cancer combined? Where is the outrage? 3,600 babies die every day—that's 150 per hour, and a baby every 2 1/2 minutes!

(Isaiah 5:20) Woe to those who call evil good, and good evil; Who put darkness for light, and light for darkness; Who put bitter for sweet, and sweet for bitter! Changing the term or name for something doesn't change anything. Calling a murder an abortion or termination or pregnancy doesn't change the fact in God's sight. Our country spends billions of dollars every year to fight diseases that take people's lives. If everyone stood up, the source of the largest loss of life would be stamped out! Think about it! Sunray Bobcats hand defeat to Broncos

By Sandy Anderberg

It was a disappointing loss for the Broncos as they took on the state-ranked Sunray Bobcats at Bronco Stadium Friday night.

The Bobcats put up 29 points in the first quarter to only one touchdown for the Broncos. The maroon and white added six more before the break, but they fell 43-13.

The Broncos matched up to Sunray's passing game but could not stop the Bobcats' game on the ground. Quarterback Nathan Gribble threw for 166 yards, which included two strikes to receiver TJ Brown. Both catches resulted in scores for the Broncos. Brown's first touchdown was a 45-yard catch, and the second was for 33 yards. Aaron Gordon added the extra point after the Broncos' first score.

Penalties plagued the Broncos as they were set back 80 yards in 9 penalties. Head coach Gary Jack knew Sunray would be tough.

"There is no doubt they (Sunray) are a good team," Jack said. "They took advantage of our mistakes, and just that quick we were trying to dig out of a hole. We had two blown coverages and one fumble that they took advantage of."

Despite the loss, Jack noted everyone kept playing pretty hard and there were some Broncos who played good games.

"Alton and Johnny Gaines, Johnny Ballard all had good games," Jack said. "Some good things happened, but we just got behind early."

Alton Gaines had 18 tackles, one sack, and caused one turnover; Johnny Ballard had 15 tackles; Johnny Gaines had 10 tackles; and Stephino McCampbell had 10 tackles.

The Broncos will have next week off as it is zero week for several teams around the Panhandle.

"We will use our week off to get rested up. We are hoping to regroup and try to get a little freshness back into our game. We really need to start playing like we did the first three games of the season. It's all about mental preparation and believing in ourselves and ability."

The Broncos will begin District play October 12 at home against Memphis at 7:30 p.m.

CCC holds last scramble of '07

By Sandy Anderberg

The last nine-hole scramble was held Friday night at the Clarendon Country Club and was won by the team of Jarad Lax, S.J. Johnson, Gary Royce, and Bob Kelly at six under par. Two other teams participated and came in at four under.

Bubba Linquist won the weekly men's game with a 66, and Mike Santos and Ellis Knight tied for third with a 77. Maxine McLaughlin won the women's game with a net 67, and Wanda Nazworth and Sherol Johnston finished with a 67 also and tied for second place.

A fall Black and White Tournament was hosted by Kenny Black and Randy and Bret White on Sunday, September 30, with 22 participants. The two-man teams played nine holes in a scramble format and nine holes of low ball.

The team of Bret White and Wayne Gordon took first with a 66. There was a three-way tie for second and was played off on the card with second place going to Jarad Lax and Gary Bohr with a 70. Third place was won by Redell Johnston and Gene Rogers. The other team to tie was Doug and Bobbie Kidd.

CC women win first at rodeo

The Clarendon College Rodeo Team traveled to Weatherford, Texas, September 27-29 to participate in the Weatherford College Rodeo, and the women's team won first overall in the women's division.

The women's team members were Caitlin Forrest, a sophomore from Paxton, Nebraska; Colleen Daniels, a sophomore from Roy, New Mexico; and Keeley Longo, a freshman from Pampa.

Joseph Podskoc, a freshman from Rockmart, Georgia, went 3 in the first round, one in the short round, and one in the average in the Team roping.

Kye Fuston, a freshman from Turkey, and Colter Hampton, a sophomore from Dalhart, split 4/5 in the first round and qualified to the short round in the team roping.

Keeley Longo split 2/3 in the first round, split 1/4 in the short go, and split 1/2 in the average in the breakaway roping.

Colleen Daniels went five in the first round, six in the short round, and three in the average of the barrel racing.

The team also traveled to Portales on September 20-22 to participate in the Eastern New Mexico University Rodeo; and Jaytin McRight, a sophomore from Amarillo, split 2/3 in the first round, three in the Short go, and three in the average in the team roping.

Lady Owls run in cross country meets

By Tangelia Copell

The 2007 Lady Owl Cross Country team has competed in several meets in the last few weeks.

The team competed in the Groom meet on September 22. Haley Chambliss finished 11th, Kailie Shields placed 19th, and Marlee Sargent finished 21st. These girls, along with other team members Jennifer Allen, Brittney Netteville, and Tamra Burnam, finished 6th overall as a team.

Coach Mike Prescott said he felt that the girls had done a good job and were improving every week.

His comments proved to be true as the girls competed in the Shamrock Cross Country meet last week and improved their times to place 5th overall. Chambliss placed 8th, and Shields placed 14th. Others running were Allen, Burnam, and Netteville.

The next meet for Hedley will be at Canadian October 6. The junior high girls will run at 9:00, junior high boys will run at 9:30, and varsity girls will run at 10:30 followed by the varsity boys at 11:00.

Colts shatter Claude

The seventh and eighth grade Colts combined for one team that totally annihilated the Claude Colts at home Thursday night. Clarendon did not allow Claude to gain any yards or momentum in their 56-0 win.

Charleston Harris set the tempo on the first play of the game when he went 35 yards to put the first six points on the board for the Colts. The two-point conversion was good from Devonte Hardaway to Chris Blackburn.

Wes Williams earned the next two TD's on a 55-yard punt return and a 40-yard run. Harris claimed two more touchdowns on a 60-yard run and a 25-yard scamper. Hardaway made good on the two-point conversion. He also opened the second half with a 70-yard run for a touchdown; and Harris took it in for the bonus.

Forrest Yelverton added six on a 60-yard punt return, and Diego Santos got the two-point conversion. Yelverton put the final six on the board on a 40-yard run.

The Colts will play at Quanah Thursday, October 4, beginning at 5:00 p.m.

Bronc JV wins, 22-14

Two weeks ago the Wheeler Mustangs bested the Broncos 29-0 but were unable to go two for two as the Broncos showed their determination and perseverance in their 22-14 win at home Thursday night.

Mike Crump made the Broncos' opening statement when he went 60 yards for the first Clarendon score. Matthew Thomas added the two-point bonus. Wheeler then answered with six of their own, but Chris Crump took the kick-off 80 yards for an apparent score, but it was called back.

The Broncos got back on track when Thomas hit Quincy Harris on a 50-yard bomb to set up the next score. John Levario ran it in from two yards out, and Chris Crump made good on the extra points.

The Bronco JV will play Sunray on Thursday, October 4 in Claude at 7 p.m.

Drugs in the News

Some AIDS Drugs Show Promise Against Cancer

Researchers at the National Cancer Institute have evaluated prescription drugs for AIDS called protease inhibitors as to their ability to work against different types of cancer. These particular drugs were chosen because of their effect on a protein that is involved with many types of cancer. In the medical journal Clinical Cancer Research, these scientists report the results of their evaluation in test animals. Of the six protease inhibitors studied, three inhibited cancer cell growth. According to a Reuters report, the scientists have started a clinical trial in humans that will involve Viracept (nelfinavir), one of the protease inhibitors that performed well in the test animal trials.

Other protease inhibitors include Agenerase, Lexiva, Crixivan, Kaletra, Norvir, and Fortovase. They all block an enzyme in the body called protease. This enzyme is responsible for producing long protein strands that are needed to assemble new viruses. When the enzyme is blocked by these drugs, new virus particles cannot mature. In such instances the HIV (human immunodeficiency virus) cannot infect new cells.

USDA awards housing preservation grant to PCS

AMARILLO - USDA Rural Development Housing Programs Director, Scooter Brockette, has announced Panhandle Community Services was awarded a $188,674 Housing Preservation Grant (HPG).

USDA Rural Development Housing Programs are designed to strengthen the economy and infrastructure of rural areas. Through its support of the growth and development of communities, the agency works to improve the quality of life in rural America.

"USDA Rural Development is very pleased to be able to provide housing rehabilitation funding for rural Texans," said Brockette. "It is our goal to ensure rural residents are afforded an opportunity to live in decent housing that meets health and safety standards and provides the benefits of energy efficient features."

USDA Rural Development funds will be used to rehabilitate 34 individual houses, owned and occupied by very-low and low-income individuals in 26 Panhandle counties. The repairs will correct health and safety hazards and improve living conditions if the homes. Funds may also be used for structural additions to eliminate overcrowding or to remove health hazards, painting and siding to inhibit deterioration, and modifications if necessary to insure handicapped accessibility.

In fiscal year 2006, a total of $757,104 in Housing Preservation Grants was obligated in Texas. The purpose of the HPG Program is to promote continued economic development in rural communities by making grants to sponsoring organizations for the repair or rehabilitation of low and very-low income housing. Grants are competitive and are made available in areas where there is a concentration of need.

For more information regarding USDA Rural Development Programs, contact the Amarillo Local Office at (806) 468-8600, Extension 4, or visit our website at <http://rurdev.usda.gov/tx/>.

Livestock risk workshop set for Vernon

VERNON - Drought, mad cow disease, market volatility, and higher input costs have increased risk levels for cattle and forage producers during the last decade, in spite of relatively good market prices, said a Texas Cooperative Extension economist.

"We will host a livestock risk management workshop at the Texas A&M University System Agricultural Research and Extension Center at Vernon on October 22," said Stan Bevers, Extension economist at Vernon. "The workshop is designed to help producers improve their risk management skills."

The event is co-sponsored by Extension, the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Risk Management Agency and the National Cattlemen's Beef Association.

Speakers will provide an overview of risk management tools approved by the Risk Management Agency, available through local crop insurance agents. Risk management programs provided by Extension will also be covered, Bevers said.

"We'll take a look at pasture, rangeland and forage insurance, risk protection for feeder and fed cattle, livestock gross margin, and the current market situation and outlook," he said.

The program will run from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. The workshop is free, but those who plan to attend should call ahead to reserve a space, Bevers said.

The number to call is 940-552-9941, extension 231 (Bevers) or 238 (Janet Case). Bevers and Case can also be contacted by email at s-bevers@tamu.edu or jcase@ag.tamu.edu. Reservations can also be made online at <http://agrisk.tamu.edu>.
