Car narrowly misses homeowner Charges pending for driver

Charges are pending against a 19-year-old Clarendon man who crashed an SUV into the home of an elderly woman last Thursday, September 11.

The Donley County Sheriff's Office says Kaleb Shadle was traveling eastbound at high speed down Seventh Street after 8:30 p.m. when he crossed the bridge at City Park and apparently lost control of the vehicle on the wet road as he tried to go north on Kearney.

The 2005 white Chevrolet Tahoe Shadle was driving crashed through the west wall of Mary Harlan's home at 603 S. Kearney and imbedded itself into the guest bedroom.

Harlan, age 89, said she was asleep in the adjacent bedroom when the accident occurred. The vehicle also struck the wall separating the two bedrooms and sent objects from her dresser onto her bed, and the dresser itself tipped over against the bed.

"I went immediately and called the sheriff's office and said 'I think there has been an explosion at my house,'" Harlan said.

Harlan herself was not injured, but damage to Harlan's house was severe with bricks and debris flying way into the interior of the home and other stress related damage appearing in other parts of the structure, the family said. An official estimate was not available Monday morning.

"It's just luck that nobody was killed," Sheriff Butch Blackburn said.

The sheriff's office said it was reported at the time of the accident that Shadle did not have insurance.

Shadle managed to get out of the vehicle on his own and go to a neighbor's house. He was transported by Associate Ambulance Authority to Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo for medical treatment, and Blackburn's office obtained a blood warrant from Donley County Judge Jack Hall after officers at the scene reported detecting alcohol on Shadle.

Sheriff Blackburn said Monday his office is still waiting for the results of testing Shadle's blood.

"We're going to file either DUI or DWI depending on the results of the test," Blackburn said.

Shadle is already facing a charge of evasion after running from two Donley County deputies on August 2

City sales tax revenues increase in August

AUSTIN — Sales tax revenue for the City of Clarendon increased modestly during August.

Texas Comptroller Susan Combs made an August allocation of $22,628.61 to Clarendon, up 1.89 percent from the preceding month.

That brings the city's sales tax collections to $226,976.22 for the calendar year-to-date, an increase of 2.91 percent from the same point in 2007.

Hedley's August rebate was $271.28, down more than 33 percent from last August, but that city is still running 1.38 percent ahead for the year-to-date at $5,358.75.

Howardwick posted the biggest percentage gain at 30.27 percent with its rebate of $2,055.23 and is up 12.19 percent for the year at $10,748.41.

Statewide the comptroller collected $2 billion in sales tax in August, up 7.7 percent compared to a year ago.

"When the state's 2008 fiscal year ended Aug. 31, sales tax collections totaled $21.5 billion, 6.6 percent higher than in fiscal 2007," Combs said. "Although this was not the double-digit increases seen in 2006 and 2007, growth in state sales tax collections during fiscal 2008 continued at a steady pace."

Combs distributed $491.9 million in September sales tax payments to local governments, a 10 percent increase compared to September 2007. So far this calendar year, local sales tax allocations are up 6.7 percent compared to the same period in 2007.

Combs sent September sales tax allocations of $330.4 million to Texas cities, up 9.1 percent compared to September 2007. Calendar year-to-date, city sales tax revenues are running 5.8 percent higher than last year.

September's sales tax allocations include local sales taxes collected in July and reported to the Comptroller in August. The Comptroller's next local sales tax allocation will be made October 10.

College numbers set new record

Clarendon College is reporting higher enrollment than ever before following the 12th class day of the fall semester.

"We've gone past 1,000 full-time equivalent students (FTE) for the first time," CC President Bill Auvenshine said.

FTE is a measurement derived from the total semester hours being taken at the college and dividing by 12. A full time student takes at least 12 hours in a long semester.

This semester's FTE is 1,122; and the college's headcount is 1,243, which is also a new high.

Contact hours, which is how the college is funded by the state, grew by more than 31,500.

CC reported 407 students on the home campus, 207 at the CC Gray County Campus Pampa Center, and 39 at the Childress Center. Other numbers come from dual credit students in area high schools, online students, and other off-campus classes.

Auvenshine said growth on the home campus is now limited by available housing.

"Our dorms are full beyond capacity," he said. "If we had some affordable housing (in town) we could grow more here."

Auvenshine said Clarendon's affordability is the leading factor in the college's growth.

"The cost of going off to school is going up," Auvenshine said. "You're going to see us become the 'stay at home' choice because of rising expenses."

Despite CC's growth this year, Auvenshine said it still isn't enough to bring in more state money.

"We're still a year or two away from seeing more state funds," Auvenshine said.

Museum to host cookoff

Twelve wagons are signed up to compete in the 14th Annual Col. Charles Goodnight Chuckwagon Cookoff next Saturday, September 27, on the grounds of the Saints' Roost Museum.

The action will start Friday with a new junior cookoff that already has nine participants lined up to prepare potatoes for the cook's dinner that night.

On Saturday, the gates will open at 7:30 a.m. with breakfast and lunch concessions provided by Boy Scout Troop 433.

The tradeshow starts at 10 a.m., and museum tours by the CHS Junior Historians will be available throughout the day.

Local and area entertainers will also be performing, and relatives of Col. Charles Goodnight will also gather at the former Adair Hospital for their annual reunion.

The authentic wagons will serve at 1 p.m. with the traditional chicken fried steak dinner.

Admission to the all-day event is free. Tickets for the authentic Chuckwagon meal are $15 each and can be purchased in advance at Henson's.

Constitution is the Issue for election

By John W. Whitehead

"In America, the law is King. For as in absolute governments, the King is law, so in free countries the law ought to be king; and there ought to be no other."

— Thomas Paine

As usual, the contenders for the White House are making a lot of promises about what they will change if elected. They're singing the siren song all politicians adopt by telling us exactly what we want to hear: reduce taxes, lower gas prices, reform Social Security, and provide us with more and more benefits. In other words, they're going to give us something for our vote — maybe. But reading between the lines, it's what Barack Obama and John McCain aren't saying that should cause voters to pause.

In all their stump speeches, little to nothing has been said by either Obama or McCain about repairing the damage done to our constitutional freedoms during the Bush presidency. Yet there is no denying that these precious liberties have come under attack.

During his two terms in office, President George W. Bush has managed to subvert the Constitution at almost every turn. In the process, he has assembled an amazing toolbox of powers and greatly increased the authority of the executive branch and the reach of the federal government. Thus, the groundwork is laid for the establishment of an imperial presidency.

Claiming to possess the "inherent" authority to suspend laws as he conducts his never-ending "war on terrorism," Bush has assumed near-absolute power in the wake of the 9/11 attacks. Indeed, over the course of the past seven years, Bush has expanded presidential power to allow government agents to open the private mail of American citizens, assume control of the federal government following a "catastrophic event," declare martial law and authorize government agents to secretly, and illegally, listen in on the phone calls of American citizens and read our e-mails, among other things. Bush has also declared that if he disagrees with a law passed by Congress, he can disregard it.

Yet if the president can simply chart his own course and set his own rules, not being bound by either the Constitution or the other branches of government, he is "above the law" and becomes, in effect, a law unto himself. But in America, as Thomas Paine tells us, "the law is King." And that means the Constitution. The president cannot do whatever he wants. If so, he then becomes the law, which is precisely what the Founders intended to prevent when they drafted the Constitution. We've never tolerated that before in this country.

Unfortunately, what Americans often fail to comprehend is that the powers amassed by President Bush will not expire when he leaves office. They will be available to future presidents to use — and abuse.

Generally, history has demonstrated that presidential powers have a constant and evolving ebb and flow. Under the Bush administration, we have seen those powers steadily and dramatically augmented. It remains to be seen whether McCain or Obama will restore our constitutional government. Will they, if elected, place the executive branch back on equal footing with the other branches of government, relinquishing the powers that Bush has amassed and restoring the separation of powers? We would do well to remember that presidents don't easily relinquish power.

That is why the separation of powers, which is at the heart of our system of checks and balances, is so critical. It allows the president to have as much power as Congress and the courts, but no more than that. The importance of this constitutional principle cannot be overstated. It ensures that power does not become centralized in a single branch of government, thereby preventing our country from sliding into an authoritarian regime.

However, the history of governments is that they inevitably overreach. As the government invariably oversteps its authority, Americans are faced with the pressing need to maintain the Constitution's checks against governmental power and abuse and to ensure that, in America, the law is king — not the president.

If just one of the candidates would step up and say, "One of the first things I'm going to do if elected is restore the constitutional republic," that would be revolutionary. But it's probably not going to happen.

We cannot rely on Obama or McCain to raise these issues — their interests obviously lie elsewhere. And we certainly can't wait for the media to pose the important questions — they're too busy regurgitating talking points and spreading celebrity gossip about the candidates.

Thus, we need to become thinking people once again. This means studying the Constitution and understanding that the responsibility for raising these issues rests with "we the people."

And we certainly don't want to make the mistake of trusting another president to protect our freedoms. Thus, we shouldn't be praising the politicians, we should be examining them with extreme scrutiny.

Finally, while politicians and civil servants take an oath of office to uphold and defend the Constitution, it is we — the people, the voters, the heart and guts and sinew of this country — who are entrusted as ultimate guardians of the freedoms laid out in the Constitution. When we shirk that duty, we leave ourselves wide open for an authoritarian regime to rise to power, place restrictions on our freedoms and usurp our right to govern ourselves.

Constitutional attorney and author John W. Whitehead is founder and president of The Rutherford Institute.

'Little Angel with a great big legacy

Long before the first of the familiar six flags flew over Texas, this land was home to native peoples who developed productive, advanced cultures prior to the dawn of recorded history. And, their heritage forms an important foundation of modern Texas.

One of these societies, which settled in present-day East Texas, included a native woman who stood at the juncture between early civilizations and new ones, where east met west in the southern part of North America. Spanish explorers, who encountered her around the beginning of the 1700s, called her Angelina, which meant "little Angel."

Angelina is one of the few native women specifically remembered from the Indian culture that began in Texas centuries before the arrival of European explorers. A slim biography of Angelina, often enhanced with legends, emerges from records of Spanish and French expeditions.

Both nations sought friendly relations with the Caddos in order to secure a foothold and hinder each other in this strategic location in the "new" world. Their admiration for her is one thing they agreed on. They recognized her value as a translator and guide. The Spanish called her "a learned Indian woman" and "the sagacious Indian interpreter."

Records of a French explorer describe her as someone who spoke Spanish and "let us have some guides for hire." Another, believed to have recuperated under her care, wrote that she "served me all the best she had, and she had as much love for me as if I had been her child."

These descriptions of Angelina put a human face on a great society, the Caddo Nation, which occupied East Texas north to the Red River and parts of Oklahoma, Arkansas, and Louisiana. Angelina's people, the Hasinai, were a southern Caddo tribe settled in the valleys of rivers now known as the Neches and the Angelina around Lufkin. The Caddo word for friends produced the name Texas.

Compared to the far-ranging Plains Indians, Caddo tribes often stayed close to home to tend their crops. They lived in beehive-shaped huts built of poles covered with thatch. At the time of the European expeditions into East Texas, the Caddo tribes depended on farming, but also hunted, fished, and gathered wild nuts, fruits, and native plants. Corn was their main crop, along with beans, squash, pumpkins, and sunflowers.

The Caddos, writes anthropologist W.W. Newcomb, Jr., "achieved a level of cultural development unsurpassed by texas times

by sen. john cornyn

other Texas Indians, possessing comparatively advanced technique, and tools for exploiting the resources of nature." Another writer describes "the prestige the Caddo Nation enjoyed among other Texas tribes."

The Caddo culture ultimately could not withstand encroachment by settlers and the new diseases that came with them. By one estimate, the Caddo population dropped as much as 95 percent after the arrival of the Europeans.

This happened so rapidly that most of Hasinai Caddos were gone from East Texas before Angelina County was named for "the Little Angel." Descendants of the Hasinai from Texas today live on Caddo lands in southwestern Oklahoma.

The legacy of the Caddo civilization in East Texas, though, lives on. Archeological research at the Caddoan Mounds State Historic Site west of the city of Nacogdoches, another Indian name, provides significant knowledge of a major Caddo community.

Exploring the history of Texas teaches us the value of the contributions of successive peoples and generations. Each has built on the knowledge and mistakes of others. We also have schools, libraries, museums, archives, archeologists and historians to uncover, preserve, and interpret our history. Everything we learn about our past is an investment in our future.

Full agenda awaiting US Senate

Over the month of August, I was privileged to travel throughout Texas to hear directly from citizens about the issues that affect them and their families. Texans shared with me their concerns about rising gas prices and the need to keep taxes low so they have more money to pay their bills.

First and foremost, we have a duty to protect Americans and to provide for those who fight to keep our homeland safe. The Senate is considering an expansive defense bill that strengthens our military by allocating resources for an additional 12,000 active duty troops for the Army and Marine Corps. This force expansion places us closer to our planned increase of 92,000 troops. The bill also gives members of the armed forces a well-deserved raise, effective January 1, 2009.

Second, Congress owes the American people a real solution to the energy crisis, which is burdening American families and small businesses with genuine hardships. I have helped lead the fight for legislation that would draw upon American resources and free-market ingenuity to produce more fuel while also tapering our consumption. The Senate Republicans have proposed a bill that would repeal the Congressional moratorium on deep-water exploration and allow us to safely tap our own resources and increase American supply. In addition to drilling on American soil and off our own coasts now, we should exploit renewable fuel sources, and expand our portfolio of clean alternatives, like wind, solar, and nuclear energy.

Third, passage of extensions for key tax provisions that are set to expire later this year is a priority. One of the most important components of this legislation would extend the state and local sales tax deduction. In 2004, I was able to get this deduction through the Senate and I will continue to try to make this deduction permanent. The tax extender bill would also prolong the renewable energy production tax credit, which gives tax incentives for energy generated by wind facilities. Texas is the foremost wind energy producer in the United States and the extension of this credit will help us maintain our national leadership in this technology. The bill includes a provision to reauthorize the Secure Rural Schools program through 2011. Because some counties in East Texas have a high proportion of federally-owned land, these communities generate less state and local tax revenue to fund their schools. The Secure Rural Schools program is essential to ensure stable payments to keep these schools operating.

capitol comment
by sen. kay bailey hutchison

Finally, Congress must replenish the Highway Trust Fund, which is the largest single source of funding for roads in Texas and across the nation. The U.S. Department of Transportation warns that the Trust Fund will be dangerously low by October, in part because of lower fuel tax receipts and needed expenditures on highway projects during the recent peak construction season. However, the insolvency is also due to Trust Fund revenues being transferred to the General Fund during times of emergency. Congress must pass a fix that discourages budgeting gimmicks that raid the Highway Trust Fund. Replenishing the fund to its projected balance means approximately $640 million will go into Texas highways that otherwise would be halted.

During the limited time remaining in this legislative session, we have a full agenda before us. I am committed to making every minute of these final days count, and I will continue to work diligently on behalf of all Texans in the U.S. Senate.

Handwritten notes hold more value, meaning

By MaryRuth Bishop, County Agent

Every week, the average person receives: 682 e-mails; 12 text messages; 10.8 pieces of junk mail; and 1.5 personal letters.

Feeling appreciated is one of the strongest human desires. There is warmth in a handwritten note; it instantly makes the message more personal, creates a more intimate feeling, and makes the recipient feel more valued.

With e-mail and instant messaging, a handwritten note is getting rarer and therefore more special.

A handwritten note costs less than a dollar to write and mail, and the relational value is priceless. The recipient can keep and reread it forever.

Select the person - a family member, friend, co-worker, or someone you haven't spoken to in a long time - whom you want to thank for what he or she brings to your life.

Choose a postcard, letter, or card. Take a few minutes to write a warm, sincere message that clearly communicates your love and appreciation for that person. Decide if you want to add any special touches like unique paper, scents, photographs, drawings on the envelope, or a specialty stamp.

Good communication takes a lot of hard work. There's an old saying that goes, "Things can go wrong all by themselves, but you have to work hard to make things go right."

I am sharing this with you because it is important that people know they are important in others' lives.

I heard Dr. Beverly Chiodo speak at a state conference this summer. Her topic was "Character Determines Success." Character is the qualities built into an individual's life that determine his or her response, regardless of circumstances. I learned a lot from her and am putting character traits to work.

This article is an open letter to you.

Dear Donley County Citizens,

Over the past four years of employment here I have been working on a Master's Degree. September 9th I received my diploma attesting to the completion of requirements and stating I had earned the degree. The degree is from Texas Woman's University online master's program. My earning this degree was because of several character qualities you have shown me.

Enthusiasm for the activities and programs Extension has offered. Generosity to help support programs with both your time and money. Security that you stand behind Extension and support our endeavors. And lastly Sensitivity to the personal needs and struggles in each others' lives.

Thank you very much,

Sincerely,

MaryRuth Bishop,

M.S., B.S.,

County Extension Agent - FCS.

We have had more rain, and the total for the year is 12.50. Everything is so green.

I missed us but not our son and his family in Katy. Thankfully no one was injured, but they have no electricity, no phone service, and lots of debris including a broken fence. We should put those folks in the Houston area high on the prayer list. It seems it will be a long time before they are back to normal.

Gamma Kappa holds meeting in Clarendon

The Gamma Kappa Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma Society International an honorary society for women educators, which began in the State of Texas but is now international in membership, held its September meeting Monday evening, September 9, in Clarendon.

After a wonderfully, tasty meal of stuffed baked potatoes and desserts, The League of Women Voters presented a very informative program.

Ms. Barbara Cheek shared what the league is about and does, and upcoming events. Ms. Joyce Hinsley gave updates on the studies in which the league has been involved and the results of those completed. The League is involved in several issues that affect education and educators, so this was of great interest to our members.

The chapter initiated three new members, Linda Duke and Nancy Henard from Wellington and Denese Mills from Childress, in a moving societal service. The business meeting followed, which included discussion of changes in International dues, meeting months, and by laws requiring updates.

There were 28 members present from Childress, Cottle, Collingsworth, Donley and Hall Counties including Jan Campbell, Lyndal Gillen, Tina Lacey, Allene Leathers, Melanie Shelton, and Thelma Shields, all from the Clarendon area.

Kidd, Newhouse unite in double ring ceremony

Anndria Nichole Kidd and Michael Alan Newhouse were united in marriage on September 13, 2008, in a double ring ceremony at the First United Methodist Church in Clarendon with Bright K. Newhouse II, grandfather of the groom and pastor of the Church of Christ in Hedley, officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Douglas and Nancy Kidd of Clarendon. She is the granddaughter of Bob and Joan Kidd and the late Bill and Billie Johnson, all of Clarendon.

The groom is the son of Mike and Rhonda Newhouse of Clarendon. He is the grandson of Bright and Cloe Ann Newhouse of Clarendon, Mayland and Alma Foard of Childress, and Ray and Nila Chambliss of Amarillo.

Ashlee Estlack of Clarendon, sister of the bride, served as Matron of Honor; and bridesmaids were Kaitlyn Howard of Amarillo, and Courtney Newhouse of Clarendon, sister of the groom.

Jordan King of Hedley, friend of the groom, served as Best Man; and groomsmen were Lee Stegall, Chuck Robertson, and Jerry Green, all of Clarendon.

Guests were registered by Casie

Green.

Elaina Estlack, niece of the bride, was the flower girl and was escorted by Amy Kidd, sister-in-law of the bride. Benjamin Estlack, nephew of the bride, was the ring bearer and was escorted by Aaron Kidd, brother of the bride.

Terry Lowe, pastor of the First United Methodist Church, was the organist.

The bride carried a bouquet of hot pink roses, green hydrangea, and white snapdragons. Her gown was a beaded metallic lace bodice with inverted V empire, taffeta pick-up, lace-up back, and sweep train.

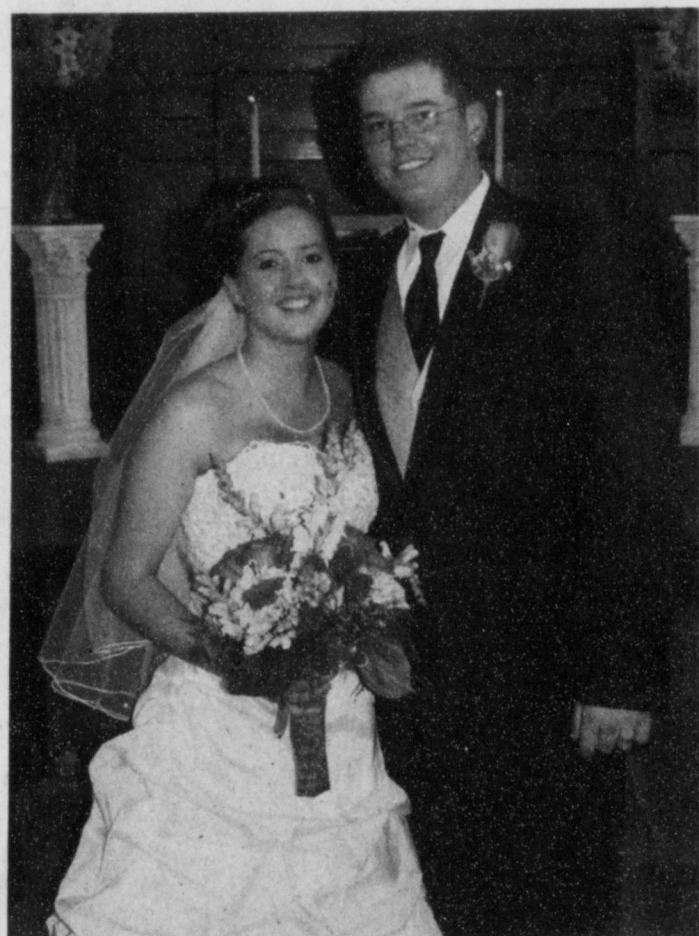

Bridal attendants wore black, t-length, sleeveless dresses, and carried bouquets that matched that of the bride.

The groom and groomsmen wore black tuxedos with lime green vests, and black ties.

The church was decorated with lime green, pink, and white gladiolus arrangements. Hurricane glasses and candles adorned the altar.

A reception followed in the Fellowship Hall with cake, punch, and fruit. The reception was decorated with various center pieces matching that of the wedding.

The bride is a 2006 graduate of

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Newhouse

Clarendon High School and a 2008 graduate of Clarendon College. She is currently employed as the Office Director at THE CLARENDON ENTERPRISE.

The groom is a 2003 graduate of Clarendon High School. He is a peanut and cotton farmer in Donley County.

The couple is making their home in Clarendon. The wedding trip is planned for later this winter.

Hedley remembers legendary coach

City budget hearing draws one speaker

By Roger Estlack and Ashlyn Tubbs

One lone citizen spoke up last Tuesday when the City of Clarendon held a public hearing on the proposed 2008-2009 municipal budget.

"I thought that there would be a lot more people here complaining about taxes," Billie Shaffer said. "Maybe I'm the only who cares."

Shaffer went on to address the board of aldermen about cutting costs and told of five city employees taking six hours to fill three pot-holes. She also discussed dilapidated houses in her neighborhood.

Following the hearing, Alderman Tommy Hill wanted to make changes in the budget. Aldermen also discussed changing the proposed increases for utility fees, but ultimately the board voted to adopt the budget as presented.

The board will vote September 23 on four separate ordinances setting new water, sewer, trash, and airport hanger fees. Water rates are set to increase by about six percent, according to interim city administrator Phyllis Jeffers. Residential trash fees are also going up about six percent with other increases set for commercial trash and trash bins outside the city limits. Sewer fees will go up about ten percent on a residential account.

In other business last week, the board accepted the lone depository bid from the Donley County State Bank, adopted a new compensation plan with a biweekly pay period, and declared the city's voting machine as surplus equipment to be sold.

Clarendon Church of Christ UNTIL DEATH DO YOU PART

I was fortunate to witness a beautiful event Saturday as Michael Newhouse was joined to Anndria Kidd in matrimony. What a beautiful couple they make and how happy they were. A great start for a young couple as proud parents looked on. Now they are joined together by God. (Matthew 19:5-6) "and said, 'For this reason a man shall leave his father and mother and be joined to his wife, and the two shall become one flesh.' So then, they are no longer two but one flesh. Therefore what God has joined together, let not man separate."

I know for a fact that Michael and Anndria understand marriage is to last as long as they live, but sadly there are so many in our country who don't see it that way. Genesis 2:18, God said that it wasn't good for man to be alone. We see that He created Eve from Adam's rib and gave her to him. God gave a mate to man for: Companionship, procreation, and to keep him pure from sexual temptations. God never intended for people to divorce and remarry except for one cause, sexual unfaithfulness by one's spouse. (Matthew 19:9) "And I say to you, whoever divorces his wife, except for sexual immorality, and marries another, commits adultery; and whoever marries her who is divorced commits adultery."

One may go to the courthouse and receive a certificate of divorce, and in man's eyes that is good enough. In God's eyes, if the divorce was for anything other than sexual unfaithfulness, any marriage contracted afterward is sin as long as the two remain in that relationship. Matthew 19:9 brings that out when the Lord calls the new relationship "Adultery."

Every man and woman has the right to at least one marriage. If the mate dies they are free to marry. If their mate is sexually unfaithful, they are allowed to put away their mate in divorce and remarry. There are no other reasons in which a person can enter into a marriage.

My prayer is that all would honor God and His word in this subject. Michael and Anndria know this and will honor God's word. They have been taught correctly and they have seen the correct example in their own families.

Let us all honor God's word and make our marriages what they should be. Our spouses are gifts of God to help us live a full life here on earth. Let us respect our spouses and live with the understanding that our relationship is meant to be "until death do us part."

Sen. Duncan meets local citizens

By Ashlyn Tubbs, Clarendon Enterprise

State Senator Robert Duncan (R-Lubbock) held a Town Hall meeting at the Donley County Courthouse on September 11 beginning with a reception at 5:00.

Refreshments were enjoyed while Duncan shook hands and conversed with the many people present. The Town Hall began at 5:30.

Duncan grew up in Vernon, and he is very familiar with this area. He told the crowd that he wants to make West Texas a place that kids will want to come back to. He said that he wants to focus on five main things: better education, healthcare, technology, transportation, and water. He wants to make sure that rural Texas isn't left out. He also spoke about the energy crisis that we're currently in, and he talked about our options in energy conductors. He is in favor of wind energy.

"The best wind in our country is right here in our area," Duncan said.

Duncan commended Clarendon College for having their enrollment numbers up when other community colleges are down. CC President Bill Auvenshine thanked Duncan for his support.

"You have always been a friend of community colleges," Auvenshine said.

Duncan also discussed how teachers are underpaid and about the Teacher Retirement Account (TRS).

Before Duncan left, he advised everyone present to make sure and buy gas before the hurricane affects the cost. He also said he needs to plan his visits more often due to the fact that every time he visits Clarendon, it rains.

If you are interested in an issue, you can watch everything the Texas Legislator does at www.senatorduncan.com.

"You will see that we're not entirely incompetent," Duncan said.

CC joins celebration of Constitution Day

Joining Philadelphia's National Constitution Center in a national event, Clarendon College was a part of a national reading of the U.S. Constitution from the first words of the Preamble, "We the People" to the 27th Amendment.

Clarendon College President William Auvenshine kicked off the reading, joined by CC students, faculty and staff.

The event was held on September 17, 2008, in the Harned Sisters Fine Arts Auditorium, at 9 a.m.

"It is so important that we grow the American people's awareness of the Constitution," Auvenshine said. "And I am proud to be a part of this important program."

The reading is part of an effort organized by the National Constitution Center to increase the nation's awareness of our founding document and history and to help schools and federal agencies fulfill the goals of a law passed in late 2004 requiring Constitutional education on Constitution Day, September 17.

"This helped 'We the People' be a part of the celebration of the precious document which holds our nation together," Tex Buckhaults, Clarendon College Dean of Students, said.

"I was pleased to join President Auvenshine and the students in reading the Constitution's Preamble," Buckhaults said.

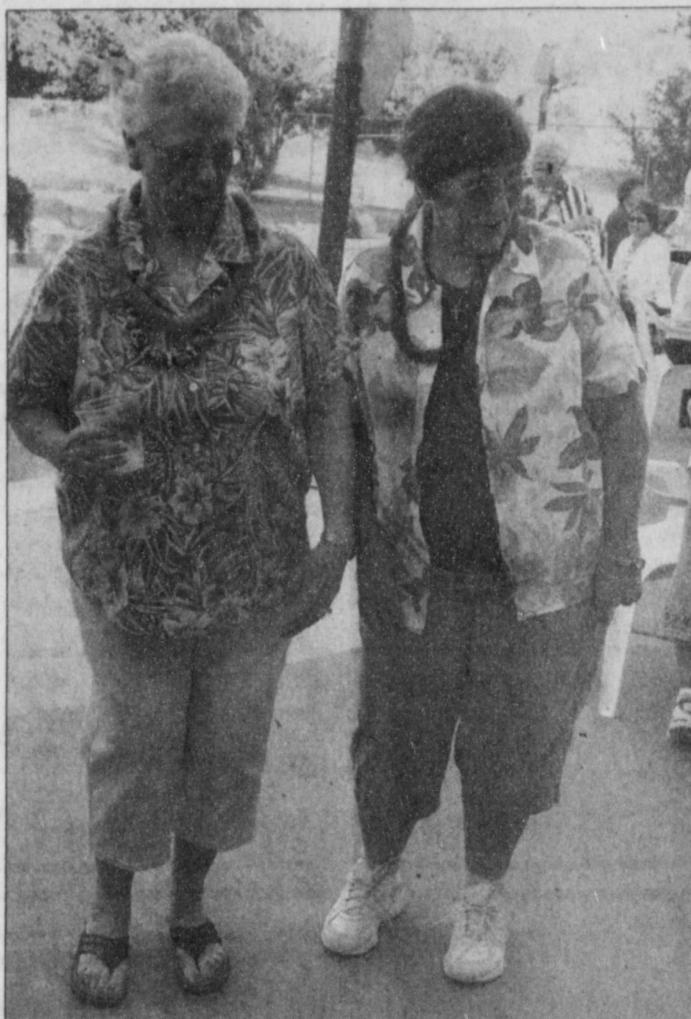

Reagan Silva, Director of Financial Aid, said that the combined assembly began the program by singing the National Anthem and that refreshments were served for all participants and guests.

"Not only was this a fulfilling educational experience," she said, "it was fun, too."

The National Constitution Center, located at 525 Arch St. on Philadelphia's Independence Mall, is an independent, nonpartisan, nonprofit organization dedicated to increasing public understanding of the U.S. Constitution and the ideas and values it represents.

Opened on July 4, 2003, the Constitution Center is an education center and a forum for debate on Constitutional issues.

The museum dramatically tells the story of the Constitution from Revolutionary times to the present through more than 100 interactive, multimedia exhibits, film, photographs, text, sculpture and artifacts; and it features the powerful, award-winning theatrical performance, "Freedom Rising."

Wind project may bring opportunities to landowners

Submitted by Mary Jon Hicks

For several months the landowners of Collingsworth County have been meeting with representatives for Florida Power and Light, Hilliard Energy (a leasing agent of FPL), and Rod Wetsel of Wetsel and Carmichael Attorneys out of Sweetwater. The firm of Wetsel and Carmichael have represented land owners on several large wind farm projects in the state. They have represented land owners in the Sweetwater wind project, one of the largest projects in the state, and we are told that the Quail Project has the potential to be even larger.

The Collingsworth County

land owners divided the county into four acres, and individuals in those areas contacted their neighbors. All landowners that were interested in leasing their land for a wind projects held meetings to determine whether to use Wetsel and Carmichael to represent them.

Because of the experience factor, it was decided to use this firm. They formed a group, and the firm presented a contract for the group to accept. It was accepted and presented to FPL. Florida Power and Light advised the group of the perimeters for their Quail Project on Tuesday, August 26. The area is a ten mile strip running East and West across Collingsworth County from Oklahoma to Donley County and extending on to Clarendon to Hwy 70.

A map representing the area of Donley County that Florida Power and Light is interested in leasing covers a strip generally north of Clarendon to the Salt Fork Red River, bounded by Hwy. 70 on the west and extending beyond the eastern county line. At the August 26 meeting the Collingsworth County land owners became aware the entire County would not be in the initial Quail Project lease offering.

Those in the perimeters set out for the project have been contacting Attorney Keith Davis, the attorney in Collingsworth County representing Wetsel and Carmichael for the Quail Project, to advise him of their intent to lease FPL. He had been assisting the land owners' group working on the final contract arrangements.

Not only will this wind project be beneficial to land owner, but also to the counties involved. There will be jobs created and an increase in the tax base. The land owners in Donley County that are in the perimeters set out by FPL, need to be aware of the work that has already been accomplished in Collingsworth County and can contact Attorney Keith Davis at 806-227-2518.

County budget to be voted on this Thursday

Donley County Commissioners will consider a $2 million budget for fiscal year 2008-2009 when they meet in called session today.

The proposed budget reflects an overall increase in expenditures of $129,367.02, which includes a three percent increase in salaries.

The budget shows that the taxable value of ad valorem property in the county has increased approximately $16.4 million, and commissioners are proposing a total tax rate of $0.507721 per $100 valuation, which is down from last year's rate of $0.511214.

County Judge Jack Hall said no one from the public showed up during the county's budget hearings. Final approval of the budget is expected during Thursday's called meeting.

In other county business, the commissioners' court had a busy session during their regular meeting last Monday, September 8. The court approved the sheriff's contract with the city at $140,000 up from $130,000 last year. The city has not yet agreed to the new figure.

Commissioners also approved moving the Precinct 401 polling place from the city library to the Church of Christ Family Life Center, set the county's mileage reimbursement rate at 58.5 cents, and approved $500 to assist the American Legion with a display of the old Forty & Eights banner.

The court accepted a bid of $1,800 on a drug dog from Tony Sellars and authorized sponsoring the Col. Goodnight Chuckwagon Cookoff with $500.

CHS runners compete in Amarillo CC meet

By Sandy Anderberg

Several Broncos and Lady Broncos participated in the cross-country meet held in Amarillo at Thompson Park.

Matt Henderson was the lone Bronco to run and finished 33rd with a time of 20:11 (3 miles) out of a field of 107 runners.

There were 174 runners in the varsity girls' division and six Lady Broncos participated. Holly Phillips finished at 16:01 and was 131st in the field. Kae Hewett ran a 16:54, and Krista Reynolds ran 17:01. Ashlyn Tubbs finished at 17:23, Trevela Dronzek came in at 17:59, and Morgan Wood was 167th with a time of 18:38.

The next cross-country meet will be held September 20 at Groom and will be for high school and junior high.

Four under par wins

By Sandy Anderberg

The team of Audie Watson, Dee Bischel, Robert Middleton, and Kevin Robertson turned in 32 to take the number one spot at the Friday night nine-hole scramble at the Clarendon Country Club.

The other two teams came in at three and one under par.

The CCC hosted the Women's Lone Star Senior Ladies Golf Association this week with match-play rounds played each day. The final results will be reported in next week's issue of THE CLARENDON ENTERPRISE.

JV hits Quanah hard

The Bronco junior varsity let off to a great start this year as they added another big win over Quanah. They posted a 22-0 shut out over the Indians on the road.

The Broncos persevered and were able to score in the second quarter when Wesley Williams made good on a 10-yard run after Brayden Phillips hit John Levario on a 30-yard pass with Phillips adding the bonus. Phillips then added a 20-yard run to score a touchdown and hit Bradley Watson for the two-point conversion to go up 16-0 at halftime. Later Williams was able to scamper 50 yards for another Bronco touchdown in the third quarter to increase their lead by 22. Elam was pleased with the overall effort and praised the defense.

The Broncos will take on Wheeler at home September 18 beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Colts crush Quanah

The Colts stormed into the first game of the season and grabbed two big wins over the Indians in Quanah Thursday night.

The 7th grade Colts played a scrimmage-type game and earned three scores over their opponent. The Colts' defense did not allow the Indians to crack the scoreboard throughout the scrimmage. Quarterback Chance McAnear crossed the goal line twice with runs of 30 and 25 yards. Jonathon Cartwright picked up another six points for the Colts on a 10-yard romp.

The 8th grade Colts followed suit with a huge 50-6 win on the road. Trevor Cobb commanded his team while adding the extra points. Forrest Yelverton pushed through to the end zone twice as did Trajen Johnston. Diego Santos earned one score, and other Colts got in on the scoring frenzy, also.

The Colts first home game will be Thursday, September 18, against Wheeler beginning at 5:00 p.m.

Broncos open Deer season

By Sandy Anderberg

The Broncos bagged their limit Friday night at home against the White Deer Bucks and left no doubt as to the caliber of team they are this season.

They put everything they could into making this one of the best seasons CHS has seen in a while, and their dominance over White Deer Friday night was impressive as they breezed to a 42-12 win.

The Broncos, who were picked to lose by one point, played with determination and heart from the start of the game until the final tick of the clock. They were on their game on both sides of the ball and caused WD to make several mistakes throughout.

"It was a physical game," head coach Gary Jack said. "We played really well but the score didn't show how just how much we really dominated the game."

The first half was good for the Broncos but could have been much better, Jack noted. They held a 14-6 lead at the break, but could have easily been 21-0, according to Jack.

"We had lots of chances early to put the game away," Jack said. "But we didn't capitalize on them and we had too many penalties. We will work all of that out in practice."

White Deer tried hard to muster something up but ran into the Bronco defense at every turn.

"We stuffed them on defense," Jack said. "Our defense caused them to fumble five times and held them to a short field all night. They only had two big plays, and they were able to score on them."

White Deer only had 187 total yards, and the two touchdowns accounted for 111 of those yards, according to Jack.

It was not only the Bronco defense that was on fire, the offense proved why they are 3-0 as well. The Broncos racked up 400 yards plus on the night, and quarterback Nathan Gribble was 8 for 14 for 189 yards and two touchdowns. He also added one rushing touchdown as he went 18 yards to score. Johnny Gaines accounted for one of the scores as he snatched a 47-yard pass from Gribble. Aaron Gordon grabbed two catches for 46 yards and two TDs. Alton Gaines also connected with Gordon on a 30-yard pass for the second score.

The Broncos' rushing yards added up as well. Alton Gaines had 111 yards rushing and scored twice from 24 and six yards out. Jack noted he also played hard defensively with two recovered fumbles and one caused fumble.

"Several guys had big nights for us," Jack said. "Johnny Ballard, Dylan Wright, Danzel Wilson, Derrick Shelton, Stephino McCampbell, Mike and Chris Crump, and Johnny Gaines all played very well and had big games."

The Broncos will host Gruver next week at Bronco Stadium in their homecoming game at 7:30.

"We lost to Gruver last year at 6-12," Jack said. "They are much the same kind of team this year as they were last. But we came out flat against them last year and could never get anything going. It will be different this year. We'll be ready for them."

Drugs in the News

New Treatment for CF Shows Promise

The results of early tests involving a new treatment for cystic fibrosis (CF), is being reported as promising. The treatment involves a drug with the chemical name PCT124. According to news releases, PCT124, when given to a person with CF, appears to bypass a specific genetic defect that causes CF. Researchers indicate that the presence of PCT124 allows functional proteins to form in the body which produce a thin, freely flowing mucus in contrast to the thick, sticky mucus that builds up and clogs the lungs. Recently researchers at the Hadassah Hebrew University Hospital, Jerusalem, reported that in their study of 23 individuals with CF, those who received PCT124 experienced positive changes in cell membrane function and modest and yet significant changes in lung function.

CF is a life-threatening genetic disorder that affects approximately 30,000 children and adults in the United States. Currently all the drugs approved for this condition are designed to alleviate CF symptoms. PCT124 represents a new, and hopefully important advancement in the way CF will be treated in the future.

Hedley Owls fall to McLean, 44-2

By Tangela Copelin

The Hedley Owls traveled to McLean on Friday night to play the McLean Tigers. The Owls got off to a rocky start allowing the Tigers to dominate the whole first half.

With the half time score being 0 to 32, the Owls came out trying to recover the deficit they faced. Isaiah Rameriz pushed the ball up the middle with Jacob Widener doing some tough hitting, but the Owls fumbled on the eight-yard line turning the ball over. This near touchdown got the Owls fired up and determined not to go down without a fight.

Steven Siatta made a big play tackling the Tiger RB in the end zone for a safety for the Owls. From there, Siatta received for the Owls putting them in good field position. Daniel West made a 20-yard pass to Reid Copelin, but the Owls were still stopped short. Evan Thompson once again punted for the Owls.

The Tigers scored twice more, but their PAT attempts were blocked by Dylan Pettit. They continued to try to get in the game with several passes being made to Danny Garcia for short gains, but to no avail.

The Owls lost the game 2 to 44.

The Owls will be on the road this week traveling to Plainview Christian Academy on Friday, September 19. The game time will be at 4:00.

Musgrove wins Volunteer of Year award

The annual Volunteer Appreciation Banquet was held, Tuesday, September 9, 2008, at the Donley County Senior Citizens Center.

The members of the center nominated Al Musgrove for the "Volunteer of the Year" award. Al was hailed as a wonderful volunteer. He works two days a week delivering over forty meals a day to home-bound individuals. He is also willing to substitute as needed.

One of the attributes that makes Al unique is that he is older than most of the people that he delivers to. He takes the time necessary to visit and encourage and be involved in the lives of those he provides for. He even knows the names of the person's pets.

Al grew up in Memphis and has two grown children. Al attributes his good health to his hobbies of walking, discovering with his metal detector, and solving jigsaw puzzles. Since 1995, when Al officially became a volunteer, he has volunteered over 1,308 hours. Al is a "Sure Bet of a Volunteer!"

The event was hosted by the RSVP volunteer network, sponsored by the Panhandle Community Services of Amarillo. Humana is the corporate sponsor for the RSVP program.

Humana Market Point provides insurance services, including: Medicare supplements, Medicare Advantage, Medicare PPO, Humana Choice, and Medicare applications.

The Clarendon Lions Club held its regular Tuesday noon meeting September 16 with Boss Lion Cameron Word in charge.

We had 22 members, Lion Sweetheart Audrey Jones, and two guests this week - Ashlee Estlack, guest of Lion Roger Estlack, and Gene T. Miller of the Texas Parks & Wildlife Department, who presented our program.

The Boss Lion discussed upcoming projects, and pancake supper tickets were distributed to the members.

Miller discussed the historic role of fire in replenishing the Great Plains and the importance of controlled and natural burns in the ecosystem. Man has played a major influence in keeping the natural burn process from occurring, which makes prescribed burns that much more important to replenish the land.

There being no further business, we were adjourned.
