Grim Warning To Clarendon Retail Tire Dealers Issued By Rationing Board For Violations of Rules

A grim warning to retail tire dealers in Clarendon who have been overcharging for casings issued under rationing act, was released this week.

In a lengthy written statement the tire board declared violation of the regulations might result in a federal penitentiary sentence.

The rationing board also disclosed that dealers had sold passenger tires and listed them as tractor tires.

"It has come to the attention of the Donley County Rationing Board that there has been some over charging for tires issued by the Rationing Board. The dealers have been charging more than the posted price. Also we find that some passenger car tires have been sold for tractors instead of tractor tires. This is a violation of the Tire Rationing Regulations and is a federal offense. Any person violating these regulations is subject to a term in Federal pen and also heavy fine.

"If any of these cases are called to the attention of the board it will be necessary to report this to the Washington Office. We would appreciate the cooperation of the tire dealers also the consumers in carrying out these regulations.

"Persons eligible for new pick-ups and new trucks will make application to the office of Defense Transportation at the following places: 553 Federal Bldg., Dallas, Texas; 103 Federal Bldg., El Paso, Texas; 1109 Electric Bldg., Fort Worth, Texas; 614 New Federal Bldg., Houston, Texas; 205 U. S. Post Office Bldg., San Antonio, Texas. "Persons buying steel wheel tractors can not change over to rubber tires."

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR THOMAS GUY GOLDSTON HELD

ENTIRE CITY PAYS TRIBUTE TO BUSINESSMAN HERE FOR ABOUT THIRTY YEARS

Hundreds of business men and friends from over the Panhandle thronged the Methodist Church here Wednesday afternoon to pay final tribute to Thomas Guy Goldston, 49-year-old member of the Goldston Brothers Jewelry firm who died at his home in Clarendon Tuesday afternoon following a lengthy illness.

The entire business section of the city was closed in honor of Mr. Goldston.

Mr. Goldston became ill several weeks ago and underwent treatments in an Amarillo hospital. At his own request he was removed to his home here after his condition failed to improve.

Services were conducted by the Rev. J. O. Quattlebaum, First Methodist Church pastor.

Interment was in the Citizens' Cemetery under the direction of the Clarendon Masonic Lodge.

A member of a pioneer family Tom Goldston moved to Donley County from McClellan County in 1902. After receiving his education in the Clarendon High School and College, he entered the jewelry business with a brother, Joe. For the past 30 years he was a member of this firm.

City Commissioners Sworn in Monday With No Hard Feelings But Reporter Checks On Salaries and Water Rates

By DICK COOKE
George Norwood and Bert Smith were sworn in as city commissioners Monday morning and despite current rumors there were no resignations and no hard feelings.

Just what the new government will do later is only a matter of conjecture for the two new commissioners aren't boasting. However, they did say this week would be spent in acquainting themselves with routine work at the city hall.

Naturally they wish to cut expenses as much as possible but they have rather a hard job ahead in this respect and readers of The News shouldn't put them on the spot by expecting too much.

In order to determine how I would go about cutting expenses if I were a newly elected official and to find out if there was any truth to the rumor that Mayor T. F. Connally was going to resign, I dropped around to the city hall to have a silent check-up on conditions.

The Mayor emphatically denied any intentions of quitting his job. "I was elected until next April and I can't see any reason for resigning," he stated. "Because there had also been many reports relative to salaries paid to certain officials I checked the records and found the following which may interest readers: Mr. James Trent was appointed

Texan made the award. The two biggest international shipments of registered Hereford bulls in history have been made from Dalhart. Culbertson & Sons who now have the Coon & Culbertson herds. Both went to the Palomas Land & Cattle Co., in the State of Chihuahua, Old Mexico. Beef cattle income in the counties of the old Dust Bowl is now $28 to $36 million yearly. Wheat payroll, next biggest, is $24 million.

EUGENE BELL PAYS HEAVILY FOR BLOCK'S AUTO RIDE

A $42 watch and a $5 bill was the price Eugene Bell, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Bell of Clarendon, paid for a block's ride in Amarillo.

FORMER RESIDENT REJOINS MARINES FOR SECOND WAR

The Devil Dogs are receiving another Amarilloan this week that will add much to the prestige of the Marines in always having the situation well in hand.

Lindsay L. Taylor is in Oklahoma City completing his induction course preparatory to being assigned with the Marines. He, Mrs. Taylor and their daughter left Amarillo April 8 for his venture into a second conflict for the soldier.

Taylor served in the first World War in Company H, 142nd Infantry under the command of Col. E. A. Simpson. He soon became a corporal and was promoted to sergeant due to his valor and good judgment. Colonel Simpson recalled, Col. Simpson paid a glowing tribute to his former World War officer and predicted Taylor would rise rapidly with his present day Marines.

"He chose the Marines," Colonel Simpson said "because he figured he would get to see action quicker and in all probability foreign action. Taylor has been anxious to get back into the fight for many months and his family was willing for him to satisfy that desire."

Lindsay L. Taylor was born and reared in Clarendon but came to Amarillo just after the first World War to accept a position he has held since that time.

Employs at the Post Office add that if Taylor does as good a job in the Marines as in the postal service the Devil Dogs will be setting the best of the bargain.

Sub-Chairmen For Donley County's Navy Relief Drive Named To Plan Work For Appreciation Week

BOOKS FOR MEN IN SERVICES ARE NEEDED HERE

Mrs. C. A. Burton, Clarendon Librarian, asked this week that all local citizens bring old books to the city library Friday in observance of book day.

In her statement Mrs. Burton said: "In a press conference President Roosevelt named Friday, April 17th as Victory Book Day. The President, asks Americans everywhere to contribute as many good books as they can spare to the men in the armed forces, the soldiers, sailors, and marines at home and overseas who, while fighting and training to fight, still have time to read, and appreciate a good book.

"It is for the morale of a fighting man to have accessible good books to give him encouragement and knowledge to fight, and how difficult it is for the average soldier to obtain good reading matter without the public at home helping — by giving books."

OVER 600 DONLEY MEN TO REGISTER IN FOURTH DRAFT

Approximately 650 Donley County men between the ages of 46 and sixty-six will register in the fourth selective service act April 27. It was estimated today by the local draft office.

As soon as the President's proclamation calling for the fourth registration has been received at State Headquarters, the Governor will issue a proclamation calling upon all men who had attained their forty-fifth birthday on or before February 16, 1942, and have not attained their sixty-fifth birthday on April 27, 1942, to register as of their home address between 7:00 a. m. and 9:00 p. m. on Monday, April 27.

General Page pointed out that although the men affected by this registration are not liable for military service under the Selective Training and Service Act of 1940, as amended, they will be registered in much the same manner as men who enrolled in previous registrations.

General Page pointed out that since registrants who were forty-five years old or over on February 16, 1942, are not liable for military service, there will be no National Lottery and no order numbers will be assigned, although the registration cards will be serially numbered by local boards.

String band members were John Turner, G. D. Shelley and L. E. Penick, with Dean Drennan playing the piano accompaniment. The quartette was the same personnel.

Dr. Keith Lowell presented a scientemion picture short on the discovery and battle against "germs", beginning with Louis Pasteur and down to the present.

The club ratified the recommendation of the board of directors that fines hereafter be collected in the form of a ten-cent war stamp, to be the property of the club and turned into war bonds when sufficiently accumulated.

Visitors for the day were Clifford Johnson, Harrison Hall and Dr. Cox of Hedley, where these men are members of a group considering the formation of a Lions Club. The first and last named made a brief response.

SERVICE CLUB TO ORGANIZE HERE

The wives, mothers, sisters, and sweethearts of the men from Donley County that are serving in the armed forces are urged to present at a meeting to be held at the county agent's office Thursday evening, April 23 at 8:00.

The purpose of the meeting is to organize a permanent club or auxiliary to further the best interests of the men in the service. Since it is impossible to reach everyone personally, it is urged that anyone interested attend and help in the organization of this group.

Mrs. David Caraway has been appointed as temporary chairman and will preside at the first meeting.

A HUNDRED YEARS OF SERVICE

On Saturday, April 11th, the Dallas News celebrated its hundred years of service to Texas and the Southwest by issuing a 140-page edition filled with much historical data important to citizens of this area.

It's no small thing to successfully conduct a business over a period of years, but when it is so signally done for a century it deserves more than passing mention.

The centennial achievement of the Dallas News is NEWS-NEWS capitalized, says the Clarendon News of its older contemporary.

CLARENDON FOLKS, WOULD YOU . . . ?

Suppose a case.

Suppose the shadow of an opportunity arose whereby Clarendon might get a defense industrial plant, a flying field, a re-mount station, a shell loading plant, PROVIDED this citizenship would supply the necessary land for such a project.

Would you realize its material worth to the community, and drop every small, petty engagement, and join in a wholehearted effort to meet every requirement?

Would you pledge your fullest financial backing to such a project, or be willing to vote a bond issue to put it over, gladly assuming what taxation necessary to bring it to pass?

Would you attend every meeting of the community looking to the success of the effort of landing the project?

Would you assume any committee task assigned to you and work incessantly to make a success of the job put upon you?

Would you put your hand to the plow, and never look back until victory came, or you were notified that no further effort could avail?

Would you do all these things, or would you be "too busy" to take any part? Would you refuse to put any money or effort into something that would return you a multi-fold profit? Would you criticize the fellows that were trying to get the job done, and refuse to attend any meeting to acquaint yourself of the requirements for success?

Would you do your part?

Would you?

BE FRIENDLY

A ready and sincere friendliness is the one thing we can show to every human being, whether we know him or not. The world is full of perplexed and lonely people whom even a smile or a kind look will help. Yet that which is so easy to give we too often reserve for a few, and those perhaps the least appreciative.—Bulletin, Salisbury, Maryland.

A MISTAKE IN LOCATION

Economic Highlights

Happenings That Affected the Dinner Pails, Dividend Checks and Tax Bills of Every Individual National and International Problems Inseparable From Local Welfare.

"When the history of War II is written, that page belonging to the indomitable Dutch should be illuminated with the blood of heroes. For a thousand years, free men should stand and uncover whenever the Battle of Java is mentioned. They never had a chance those Dutchmen, but they freely gave their lives in the hope that others might have a chance."

These were the opening lines of a recent dispatch from Melbourne filed by "Time" correspondent Robert Sherod. What the Dutch did in Java, other United Nations troops — English, Australian, Chinese — have done in many theatres of war. They fought against impossible odds — but they never gave up fighting. They faced an enemy who possessed sickening superiority in men, guns, planes, ships — and they faced him without flinching. Even today, Dutch guerrillas are harrying the Japs in Java, precisely as in the Balkans guerrilla bands who have disavowed their puppet governments are harrying the legions of Hitler.

These are the kind of troops of which great victorious armies are made. These troops lost their battles simply because they did not have the incredible amount of equipment that modern war demands. There were never enough planes, never enough anti-aircraft guns, never enough ships of war. Courage could not do the impossible.

The terrible series of disasters in the Pacific would have dismayed peoples who were less grimly determined on eventual victory. But correspondents universally report the highest of morale in the international army which has been placed under General MacArthur's command. The dramatic appearance of MacArthur in Australia brought new hope to all the United Nations. And great cause for hope, and certainty of victory is found in American war production. The precise statistics cannot, of course be printed. What can be told is that the instruments of war are rearing rolling out of the factories now — and that signal progress is being made in the production of ships to carry them to the battlefronts.

In the meantime, our strategy in the Pacific is clear. MacArthur's job is to hold Australia until — many months from now — he will have the equipment and the trained troops and the planes which will make a great counter-offensive possible. Today, Australia is the seat of destiny. It must not be lost.

The AEF in Australia has found it populated by a people very much like America. In size, it is a gigantic country, with great extremes of topography and climate. In population, it is small — 7,000,000. It is bisected by a vast desert, which forms a natural defensive barrier. Its Anzac troops are among the finest in the world. Today many thousands of Australians undoubtedly feel a closer kinship with America than with England. It is a significant commentary on the Australian outlook that its government asked President Roosevelt to send MacArthur, an American General, to take supreme command.

MacArthur's first words on reaching Australia indicate the temper of his thinking. "I came through. I will return." Those who know him say that he will not remain on the defensive an hour longer than necessary. He is a brilliant advocate of offensive war. His plan is to strike hard, and mercilessly at the enemy. Those generals who placed their faith in defensive strategy have disappeared into the limbo of defeat. It took us a long time to learn what Hitler's commanders understand so well — victory belongs to the daring.

In the interim before the major counter-offensive is launched, we may be certain that the American Navy and Air Force, working with other United Nations forces, will give a good account of themselves. The submarine fleet has taken a heavy toll of Jap warships and supply ships. Some important blows have been struck by American bombers. The enemy is being bled. Whenever we have had anything approaching equality in numbers and equipment, we have won the engagements.

A short time ago, Clang Kai Chek told a group of American officers that he would entertain them one day in Tokyo. The United Nations mean to take this war straight home to the enemy — with a vengeance.

It's not yet clear just what kind of a tax bill Congress will pass. But some of the provisions can be forecast now:

Income taxes will be increased, but to a lesser extent than the Treasury asked. Exemptions will probably be reduced.

There is a fair chance of a general sales tax, of about 5 per cent, being adopted. In any event, there will be many new individual sales taxes on such items as liquor, jewelry, home equipment, etc.

It is likely that the Treasury's request for enforced point-income tax returns for husband and wife will be adopted in a modified form. Separate returns probably will be allowed where the wife actually has a job, but not in other cases.

Industrial war profits will probably be limited in some way. It is not believed that any fixed limitation, such as 6 per cent, is workable. This is a very intricate problem, and it's going to be a job to work out an equitable formula.

Cynical Sam says, "Charity begins at home — but, in too many cases, it ends there, too."

Along the Bowen route: Down at San Antonio, Frenchy's Black Cat cafe has a cash register that can ring up a ticket for $999,999.99. The machine cost $1,000 and, of course, there is no need in the restaurant of registering such a staggering sum as practically a million dollars but this high priced register had features not available in a less expensive one.

And your observer never realized that the making of a fur coat was so elaborate until a display at Joske's showed one being made and there must have been at least a thousand pins holding the material in place. That reminds me of the lady who was looking at a coat made of skunk and she asked the salesman, "Will this be injured by the rain?" He replied, "Madam, I have never seen a skunk carrying an umbrella."

"In all likelihood, Governor Coke Stevenson will not have an opponent," remarks the Clarendon News, editorially, "or if he does, the opponent will be some chap running for publicity with a scant chance of getting warm, since the Governor has made so many friends by his quiet, kindly efficiency. The Governor should be returned to office and Texas voters will see that he is returned by a landslide."

A motorist was speeding along at 90 miles an hour when he was stopped by a highway patrolman. The driver inquired, apologetically "Was I driving too fast?" The officer replied, with elaborate politeness, "Oh, No! You were flying too low."

One of the tricks of Texas loan sharks is to have the borrower sign a check for the amount he promises to pay back on a loan. It doesn't make any difference whether he has a checking account, the lender says — it's "just a matter of form." But if the borrower gets behind in his payments, the check can be waved in front of him and he is reminded of the "hot check" law, which provides stiff punishments for persons who write checks without having a checking account in a bank. Faced with a jail threat, the borrower is an easy victim for a new loan at a still higher interest rate.

"Grandfather died from a gunshot wound inflicted by an Indian arrow."

"Father died suddenly — nothing serious."

State Banking Commissioner McAdams announces that farm compliance checks hereafter will be mailed out of the regional office in Dallas direct to the farmer. This will make it unnecessary for the farmer to go to a designated town, usually the county seat, for his check — in some instances, making several trips to the AAA office to see if his check had arrived.

DICK COOKE IS AUTHOR OF STORY OF LOCAL HANGING IN DETECTIVE MAGAZINE

Donley County's only hanging was on newsstands this week in the Daring Detective Magazine. Written by Dick Cooke, assistant editor of The Clarendon News, the story tells of the capture, trial, and execution of the only man ever hung in Donley County and features such local citizens as former Sheriff J. T. Patman, F. A. White, and the late Dr. T. W. Carroll.

Preventing ordinary accidental fires is important as their results can be just as serious as fires from bombing raids.

The Low Down FROM HICKORY GROVE

Having a bear by the tail and not being able to let go, is not much different from what they have on their hands there with this Mr. Dies. Every time they begin to imagine they are rid of him, he shows up with more dynamite. He keeps 'em side stepping and explaining. You get yourself an old Texas Longhorn on your trail and you got something.

Mr. Barnum went to Africa and Borneo for his collection but our folks there on the Potomac, they pick theirs up right here.

A nudist author on the payroll is the latest addition and discovery of Mr. Dies. And they just finished telling us they cleaned house and not a single hula gal or slight of hand artist was left.

If old P. T. Barnum, himself, was still living, he would need to get up and dust, to stay in business.

Yours with the low down, JOE SERRA.

Buffalo grass famous for its palatability either green or cured on the ground, is the most extensively adapted grass in Texas.

Green, shelled soybeans are higher in protein and fat than other green beans and peas, according to the Weslaco experiment sub-station.

Mr. Joe Jones had a very serious attack Friday night and Saturday. Marvin Jones of Lubbock and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Jones and son spent the weekend with their parents.

The Midway Quilting Club met in the home of Mrs. Bob Williams Thursday afternoon and quilted a nice quilt for Mr. and Mrs. Robbie Seaton whose household things were burned. The quilt was donated by Mrs. Glen Williams, the lining by Mrs. Longan and the thread by Mrs. Higgins and the cotton was bought by the club. A miscellaneous gifts was also given them.

Those present were Mesdames W. D. Higgins, Everett Stevenson, Loyd Moreland, Edith Longan, Glenn Williams, Bingham, Luttrell, King, Tomlinson, Arthur Davis, Harlan, Donald Harlan, Arthur Seaton, and Miss Katie Meadors. Those sending gifts were Frank Hardin, Bill Hardin, Mrs. Ballew, Mrs. Potter, Mrs. W. K. Davis, Helen Chamberlain of Memphis. The Potters gift was a nice quilt, a pair of feather pillows, a pair of hand worked pillow cases, and 1-2 dozen wash cloths. The Potters are Donley County's most liberal family in every emergency.

Mrs. Tomlinson returned home Thursday after a visit with relatives.

Mrs. Gamble and sister left Thursday for a visit with andir mother near Middletown.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Chamberlain and son of Memphis visited relatives here Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Riley and Mrs. Newman and Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Riley of Shamrock, Mr. and Mrs. Milt Allen, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Taylor of Clarendon, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Davis and children were guests in the W. K. Davis home Sunday.

Mr. Gene Hester and children left Friday for Loveland to be with Mr. Hester's brother, Red Hester, who is seriously ill.

Mrs. Longan was a dinner guest in the Fred Johnson home Sunday.

Mrs. A. B. Stephens and baby came over from Matador Sunday. They are with their mother.

Mrs. Dick Tomlinson and Mrs. Longan visited Mrs. Fannie Rector in Clarendon Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Tomlinson, Sr., has rented her farm to the Charley Youngs of Goldston since her son has had to go to the army, and she is moving to Clarendon with Mrs. Ballew.

Mr. John Naylor is in Amarillo this week.

Mrs. John Naylor is visiting her sister in Pampa.

Mrs. Heffner who has been ill is some better this week.

Marvin Jones remained over several days to be with his father. Mr. Jones had another serious attack Monday.

Chester Seaton who has rheumatism is very ill.

LOCAL SUGAR RATIONING EXECUTIVES IN AMARILLO FOR MEETING TODAY

Random Reflections

By DICK COOKE

Along with everyone else that read the editorial filler about its taking seven tons of bananas to grease the runaway in launching a ship, I was amazed. It would not necessarily amaze anyone to discover that banana oil is used to grease runways, for banana oil, has greased more runways than any other known commodity.

This situation is found mostly in politics and if congress had gone ahead with their seven tons of banana oil legislation that it seemed destined to slip into, it would have taken several additional tons of banana oil compound to convince the voters, this fall, that they (the Congressmen) were right.

Anyway all this greasing of skids and runways has increased the banana price greatly. The majority of bananas in our local stores normally come from Cuba and South America, but now a great many shipments are arriving from Mexico. Just how many of our good neighbors are furnishing the bananas and how many are giving us the banana oil remains to be seen. Argentina is the only one, I hope.

While everyone admits the situation in India is deplorable inasmuch as there is more speech-making than action in uniting against the Axis, one writer slams Mahatma Gandhi for keeping a goat and living off its milk. Maybe the Gandhi is trying to show that he would be as well off under Jap rule as under any other. The Japs would only take his goat and Mahatma did a fasting trick several years ago to convince everybody that England was unfair to sarong wearers. Never-the-less if we were the Japs we'd much rather have the goat than Gandhi, if we just had to keep company with one or the other.

Sometimes it's awfully hard not to take an editorial punch at a sworn enemy so most writers just tackle an entire group without even naming names. There's really never any grounds for his lambasting but no one ever knows who he's talking about so no one is hurt and the author feels wonderfully revenged.

Therefore it gives me great pleasure to say that, after all, most of my enemies have a place in the war effort after all, as laboratory technicians report a shortage of guinea pigs. The war has made them very scarce and their price has risen from 60 cents to $1.75 apiece. I know a lot of people I'd sell at almost nothing and most of them would qualify, too.

The war has probably cast its gloomiest shadow on the younger generation. The Jute box will be taboo after April 30. This may surprise some but many will say, "Of course, I knew it," but a juke box contains enough metal for five light machine guns or enough brass to make 750 cartridge cases of .30 calibre. I've heard some records, though, that could contain an entire field artillery brigade. The average Juke box has seen more anguish and death than anything short of a western movie. Usually, however, the music box here gets in jail, committee suicide or crawls out on the prairie to die alone of a broken heart. The movies rarely let their cowboys die of self inflicted wounds or pains, but lets them litter up the whole landscape with villains, bodies. Carnage lovers can no longer revel in the movie hero's slayings and then go to a juke box and slay a hero on their own accord. There is no doubt about it, war is awful.

Figuratively speaking the government froze the men's feet when pants cuffs became prohibited after April 1. Of course cuffs are not needed and I can remember away back in the dim past when it was the style to go without them. The government order also put a limit on the length of men's coats.

Naturally there has been some comment about this action but the government doesn't do anything without a reason. My opinion is that without automobile tires the government don't think men will wear out their seats so much so a long coat won't be needed for covering up. Then they cut off the pants so the cuffs won't be heavy and in the way for walking.

Through November 15 a total of 389,108 loans on 664,917 bales of 1941 crop cotton were reported by the Commodity Credit Corporation. Nearly one half of it entered the loan in the Texas area, says the USDA.

Side Glances On Texas History

By CHARLES O. HUCKER
University of Texas Library

While Texas was not "in the thick" of the Civil War activity, it did see a few engagements, and at the outset of Texas' participation it became readily apparent that "business as usual" was out and the State's affairs would have to be placed on a war economy.

Details of this war effort are described by F. K. Lubbock in his memoirs, "Six Decades in Texas," a copy of which is a valued item in the University of Texas Library's extensive Texas collection. Lubbock was governor of Texas during the early stages of Texas participation.

Lubbock called for, and obtained passage of, a law under which "every able-bodied man in the state liable to military duty shall be enrolled, disciplined, and placed under command of good and efficient officers. The compulsory military service age bracket extended from 18 to 59, and only essential public service agents were exempt.

A military Board was set up, with Lubbock as its head, empowered to use for military purposes the United States bonds in the State treasury, substituting for them in equal amounts Confederate bonds, which officials of the Confederacy assured the Texas government "must be at all times at par, if not above."

In line with this program, the War Department of the Confederate states of America proposed to the Texas Military Board that a War Department agent — G. H. Giddings of Texas — purchase Mexican munitions for the Confederacy's use with Texas-held United States bonds, with the understanding that the Confederacy "will receive the arms from you at cost and charges, and pay for them in its own 8 per cent bonds."

The Texas board gave Giddings $100,000 of the bonds on his receipt, informing the War Department that "in return, we expect to receive the Confederate bonds bearing 8 per cent interest." The War Department, however, replied that it had no authority to make such an exchange, being empowered merely to "purchase" the arms from the Texas agency.

Somewhat disconcerted, the Military Board, however, permitted Giddings ample time to attempt to negotiate the bonds, but he was "without success, and finally returned them to the board and they were placed back in the treasury."

In its other enterprises, on the other hand, the Military Board encountered more encouraging results. It purchased cotton with the state's loan bonds, forwarded it to Mexico and sold it, using the proceeds to buy essential military materials and to establish factories for the manufacture of arms and other needed supplies, Lubbock wrote.

It built a small cannon factory at Austin, to use copper from Mexico. The few brass cannons that were turned out "were finished complete, thoroughly tested with double charges of powder and solid four-pound shot, and in workmanship, appearance, and excellence would compare favorably with any turned out by any cannon factory," Lubbock declared.

"We also established a cap and cartridge factory at Austin, utilizing the Supreme Court building for that purpose — It was a part of our policy to make advances in cash and cotton to private individuals, in order that they might be enabled to establish needed industries."

Stocking is the son of Mrs. Sarah Stocking of Clarendon and has been in Washington since June, 1940, on leave from his post as economic professor at the University of Texas.

He was assistant director of the Bureau of Research and Statistics in the old National Defense Advisory Commission, subsequently was an economic consultant in the Department of Justice, and left that post to join Henderson's staff.

Red Cross Volunteer Service

News that we have all been waiting for: The instructions have arrived for 68 sleeveless sweaters, the first of the knitted garments for our own armed forces. And to show that local knitters are always on the alert, nearly twenty five sweaters were issued on Monday and Tuesday afternoons with no notice in the paper. Up until Tuesday afternoon yarn was issued to the following:

Mrs. Floyd Lumpkin, Mrs. Ernest Hunt, Mrs. G. E. Norwood, Mrs. J. T. Hoy, Mrs. Hatlie Palmer, Mrs. Ruth Kennedy, Mrs. Sella Gentry, Mrs. Carl Peabody, Mrs. S. E. Griggs, Mrs. Forest Sawyer, Mrs. Bert Smith, Mrs. B. C. Antrobus, Mrs. Ed Dishman, Mrs. Vivian Taylor, Mrs. Ralph Adis, Mrs. W. G. Word, Mrs. H. B. Kerbow, Mrs. John Smith, Marilyn Maher, Mrs. Ernest Kent, and Maurice Berry. Sweaters from the last quota were turned in this week by:

Ione Wall, Mrs. Carl Peabody, Mrs. L. N. Cox, Mrs. Harold Bugbee, Mrs. C. D. McDowell, Mrs. C. E. Griggs (sox), Mrs. Carroll Knorpp, Mrs. Hecker Stark, Mrs. Ed Dishman (sox), Mrs. B. C. Antrobus, Mrs. Will Johnson, Marilyn Maher, Maurice Berry, Mrs. F. L. Goldston, Juanita Bingham (muffler), Betty Lou Naylor (muffler), Jane Melton (muffler), and Mrs. Paul Smithey (sox). Mrs. Homer Glascoe turned in a number of squares for the scarf. Charlotte Molesworth, director of the Volunteer Service in this county, has recently returned from a visit down state during which time she visited the production rooms in San Antonio and Dallas. She reports that about the same type of work is being done there, but (and here is a compliment to some of you) none of the work she examined especially the quilts, equals that that has been done by the community women and the various clubs. She also said that other chapters are in much the same situation that we are—a shortage of material.

Mrs. U. J. Boston reports that she expects to start cutting on the hospital garments Monday. All sewed and knitted garments will be carefully inspected upon reception at the Red Cross room. If they do not come up to a standard of good workmanship worthy of the American Red Cross label, the maker will be asked to correct the errors.

The time taken in restitching a seam neatly or loosening the neck of a tightly knitted sweater, is time well spent. The gratitude of the ultimate wearer will more than repay the effort. Rumors have been flying around in nearly all the chapters that the Red Cross is going to quit issuing wool and other material. Let us correct this now by stating that there is positively no truth whatever in this rumor and let's all help to do our bit by not repeating such rumors.

The garments that were put on display for the open house last week have been left up for the benefit of those that have not yet seen them and will remain so until Monday afternoon. If you haven't seen this display, we wish to tell you that it is well worth a trip to town.

Friday afternoon Les Beaux Arts Club is giving a silver tea at the Methodist Church and all proceeds are to be given to the Red Cross. Read the announcement in this paper and make it a point to attend. Everything that is given will go to this chapter. The club will pay for their own expenses.

Your writer's thanks to Mrs. H. T. Burton who so kindly furnished the material for this column in the absence of Miss Molesworth.

LIBRARY NOTES

By MRS. C. A. BURTON

The annual meeting of the Texas Library Association will be held in Corpus Christi April 23 through the 25th. News Notes, the bulletin of the Association published quarterly at Austin, gives attractive views of this Texas city and the interesting program to be given.

And the annual meeting of the American Library Association will be held in Milwaukee June 22 to 27. The A. L. A. Bulletin for April given most attractive reports of plans for this meeting in this 13th largest city in the U. S.

Reports from the national headquarters of the Victory Book Campaign compiled for the first two months of the campaign—January 12 through March 12—show that six and a half million books were contributed, but about forty per cent of these were not suited to the needs of the armed forces. But that leaves 3,845,283 which have been or are to be distributed to camps, navy warehouses, USO clubs, and ships of the American Merchant Marines. This article in the A. L. A. bulletin says the camps in the northern part of the nation have been pretty well supplied and that the American Trucking Association is working out a plan to carry books without charge to the southern camps.

Archibald McLeish, Librarian of the Congressional Library, was recently asked what he thought of the importance of books in the present war. His answer was: "The war is unlike any other since the Middle Ages in that it is a war in which the existence of books as we know them is at stake. In order to achieve his ends the enemy we are facing has made a demonic policy of perverting and suppressing and destroying the great books that carry the light of our civilization. Until that enemy's force is destroyed we shall not be able to assure the freedom of the republic of books and collections of books are capable of opening to our citizens a knowledge of the wealth and richness of the culture which a century and a half of democratic life has produced."

So very attractive are the lists of new books for spring reading, one longs for them all. Cookesburg of Wallas has selected three for special mention—stories with a Texas setting. They are "The Autobiography of a Durable Sinner" by Owen P. White; "Longhorn Cowboy" by James H. Cooke and Howard R. Driggs; and "Star of the Wilderness" by Karl Wilson Baker. Owen P. White was born in El Paso in an early day and has been always a fighter. John Garner once said of him, "He's a Texas writer who, so far as I know, has never said an untrue or unjust thing about any man."

Karl Wilson Baker, one of the leading Texas poets, living at Nacogdoches, is known to our readers through her story of the discovery of the oil in the great Longview oil fields, "Family Style." This new story has its setting in the Redlands—and is a story of Texas history and the heroes of those days.

William Morrow and Company offer a prize of $1,000 for the best book-length manuscript by any writer or student from the class of Professional Writing at the University of Oklahoma. This is to be called the "Sooner Book Award," and the contest is open until February 1, 1943.

Harpers have extended the date for their non-fictional contest to June, 1942—a prize of $12,500. Writers in this country and in England have asked for an extension of time.

The Book and Author Luncheon, sponsored by the American Booksellers Association, held its sixth annual luncheon in the Astor Hotel, New York City, April 7th. The speakers were the widely known Joseph E. Davis whose "Mission to Moscow" we have just ordered. H. S. Mencken whose latest is "A New Dictionary of Questions" and Carl Carmer, whose latest is "Genesee Fever."

Nevil Shute's "Pied Piper," which we have just ordered, and Roderick L. Haig Brown's "Return to the River" are being transcribed into Braille by the Red Cross. We have one other splendid story by Nevil Shute, "Kindling."

The Modern Library has recently added to its 223 titles Stephen Crane's superb Civil War story, "The Red Badge of Courage." Sinclair Lewis' "Babbitt" and Richard Wright's "Native Son." All of these are on our shelves.

The friends of George Santayana have been relieved to know that this popular author who is in his seventy-seventh year, is living comfortably in Rome, completing his autobiography. Since he has never relinquished his Spanish citizenship, his residence there causes no embarrassment.

Many interesting leaflets and booklets come to the library. Among the latest is the thirty-fifth publication of the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission, giving the plans and scope of the fund, a resume of the acts that have been recognized during the past year and the names of those honored.

Another is a booklet from the General Tire and Rubber Company on "Guayule, The American Source of Rubber." This is full of interesting information to us all just now.

Others of unusual interest have been from the Pan American Union, Washington, D. C., giving much information on the other Americas.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Bryan and Dr. and Mrs. H. R. Beck were in Amarillo Tuesday. Mrs. Bryan and Mrs. Beck attended the Little Theatre Program Tuesday evening.

13,204 NEWSPAPERS

The Clarendon News is one of 13,204 newspapers published in the United States. From the smallest weekly to the largest metropolitan daily, these newspapers have but one aim, to bring the news to their readers, and each has its own particular niche to fill.

The field of news varies widely, of course. The big dailies cover news of national and international significance, gathered by vast organizations from the ends of the earth. But you will also find in the big publications many pages daily devoted to news of interest only to the people of their own cities. A resident of Amarillo will find more to interest him in the Amarillo News than in, for instance, the Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

The News, along with 10,000 other weekly and semi-weekly newspapers, strive to fulfill the demand for local news. Of all the thousands of publications throughout the nation, only local papers are concerned with local activities. So, in spite of the multiplicity of publications our readers could read each week, we feel that The News gives them something they want which they could not obtain in any other way.

This local reader interest is what makes this newspaper the ideal advertising medium for Clarendon business firms. In no other way can they reach as large a number of potential buyers as effectively.

"True friends, like ivy and the wall it props, both stand together or together fall."

With the required registration and probable draft of women evident, a great many women who have husbands in the armed forces are going to feel a great deal better about the whole thing. Not only will a great many financial problems be solved, but it will help the empty feeling that so often will creep into the heart. But more than anything it will really make us feel as if we were helping directly instead of indirectly. As for our personal self, saving papers and old tooth paste tubes and rubber heels, etc., doesn't particularly give us any sort of feeling, except maybe a silly one when we wag all that stuff down to the drug store in exchange for a few necessities.

Statistics are revealing that the average length of the female figure is increasing and the average breadth is decreasing. And just judging from looking around our little city, you'll find it true enough. Notice the girls walking down the street with their mammas. In three cases out of five, mamma will be short and dumpy and daughter will be tall, maybe not willowy but tall anyway.

Ruth Millett, NEA Service writer, says that housewives will remember 1942 as the year they: Rode a bicycle to the grocery without feeling silly.

Had one pair of sheer stockings at a time, and wore them only for "best."

Grudgingly let papa have most of their flower garden space for vegetables.

Had a better reason for reducing for drinking their coffee black.

Swapped "save sugar" recipes with every woman they met.

Added defense work to their other activities.

Discovered the value of old tin cans, toothpaste tubes, waste paper and so on.

Faced the possibility of a girl-less world, and determined to achieve such figures that it would not matter.

Swapped house dresses for slacks.

Someone told us that Mrs. Karl Adams makes the best caramel pies, that Mrs. Jerome Stocking cooks the most delectable French foods, that Mrs. Ralph Grady makes doughnuts that melt in your mouth, and that Mrs. George Norwood is one of the town's best all-around cooks.

An interesting fact is that in a survey taken by the Bride's Magazine it is shown that between eight and eighty-two per cent of all brides that have marched down the aisle since Pearl Harbor have chosen to wear the traditional wedding attire with only one change, shorter trains and veils. Women, no matter how rushed or how panic stricken, are always forever sentimental. In larger cities in the East, dress designing firms have set up in their shops a system to aid the rushed bride by taking care of the entire details of the wedding, even to the selection of flowers and the decoration of the church or home. All they need is a five day notice.

From the result of such changeable weather, most everybody we called up this week sounded like they were down in a well because of hoarseness. Spirits were blue, too, from too much cloudy weather.

A letter from a friend on the west coast praises the changeable weather, however. The letter states that too much perfect weather soon gets monotonous and they would like to see a good old fashioned sandstorm and a nice red sunset occasionally.

Only a few years back, bowling was a man's game only. But more and more women all over the country are turning to the game as their only means of working off excess energy and in some cases excess fat. And with best results too. We had never forget our first trial at the game. We guess it was fun but being down flat on our stomach most of the time we couldn't rightly say. Somehow, we just couldn't seem to let go of the ball.

We guess that Lily C. Riser intended to give us something to

Picnic Time Is Here

Everyone is raring to go on a picnic! One of those things that we have to bounce around on a hard truck bed to get to; wade creeks; get ducked; fall down hills; or off bluffs skinning everything that hits the ground; scramble for a sack when it is time to eat; drop the one and only wad in the ashes; spill our cake; sing as loud as possible on the way home; drag in the house too hoarse to talk and with our noses sun-burned. We are tired but happy.

Well the time has come when we all will have these exciting experiences. Our classes will have a picnic and all the other organizations will too. I guess in the spring everyone likes to get out and take a little of the rough treatment nature has to offer.

This year let's make our picnics better than they ever have been. Let's all cooperate with the committees in the planning and bringing of our picnics.

Let's not fuss if we think we are getting picked on, just grin and bear it. It isn't so bad. Don't mind if you are pitched in the creek or pushed off a cliff (if it isn't too high); it won't hurt you. Don't get angry if you don't get enough to eat. Remember you can eat all you want to when you get home. If you think you have a special seat on the truck and someone beats you to it, don't forget that they have just as much right there as you do. Even with all these reminders let's not get too rough because someone could get hurt. Then, too, the teachers don't want to have to yell at us all the time. They go for a good time too, and we do want them to have it.

SENIOR NEWS

Play a Success

Did you see the senior play? The auditorium was packed! Chairs were put in the aisles and people stood at the back. The class received about sixty dollars. After the play, the cast was entertained at the homes of Nelda Sue Burton and Annie Ree Porter. Some of the high lights were:

All the boys trying to wash the paint off their faces.
Sara having a slight motor accident.

The cat running in the house every time the door was opened.
Sue passing the napkins.
Wilson eating all of his cake in one bite.

Lesley learning to dance.
The smell of hamburgers coming from the kitchen.

G. D. having to go home early to protect his tonsils.
Lewis still chewing on his cigar.

A "hobo" day is being sponsored by the seniors. It is to take the place of the annual "kid day." This day is to be Wednesday, April 15 and all seniors are to be dressed as hobos. The penalty for not dressing hobo is the belt line for the boys and a cold water ducking for the girls. There will be a free dance at the gym Wednesday night. The whole school is invited, but everyone must be dressed "hobo" style.

The seniors have planned their all-day picnic for May the first to be held at Lake McLellan.

F. F. A. NEWS

The monthly FFA meeting was held on Thursday, April 10. At this meeting many things were discussed. Plans were made for the district encampment at Lake McLellan on May 2 and 3. Last minute plans were made for the FFA picnic, to be on Tuesday, April 14. After this meeting all members attending the meeting were honored with a free pass to the show by the Pastime Theatre.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill McConnell of Panhandle spent the weekend here with Mrs. McConnell's mother, Mrs. Sarah M. Stocking.

CHAPEL

"My Bonnie," "America, the Beautiful," and "Old Black Joe" were the group songs this time. You know, it's surprising how well male voices sound singing "Old Black Joe," — but the girls don't do bad at all.

The illustration of the senior play that was to be given by the cast, was not given because the cast was performing at Junior High. This was disappointing to many, because all were looking forward to it.

As you all know by this time, it's spring. Spring — when young people's fancy turns lightly to thoughts of love, and those dear final exams are just around the corner. As a reminder, Mr. Burton reminded the students, especially seniors, that idling and playing hookie would never gain a diploma, also, some naughty, naughties scratched their names on the study hall desks. Remember! Crime doesn't pay!

Mr. Drennan mentioned an invitation to all seniors to attend Clarendon Junior College next year. Old Alma Mater is still a good port, sailors, and a steady hand will make future sailing smoother.

FASHIONS FROM "THE VERY LIGHT BRIGADE"

In the first act, you saw Pat Grady playing the part of a typical high school girl. She was dressed in a yellow and white printed line suit with white buttons. She wore hose and tan sandals until she had to give up to cotton anklets "for the good of the cause."

Sara Lowry looked very fresh in a white sharkskin dress. She had to swear off of silk hose too.

Naomi Morris played the part of Peggy Richardson. The part called for tailored sport clothes. In the first scene while practicing with the brigade, Peggy wore a red, white, and blue cotton seersucker suit. At other times, you saw her in aqua seersucker, pink and blue gabardine and her brigade uniform.

Wasn't G. D. Shelley romantic looking in his flie's uniform? (Not leaving out Redell Henson or Billy May either!) The uniform gets 'em everytime!

Didn't Annie Ree make the perfect mother in her red and white pique dress? The red corduroy robe was attractive too.

Depend on Sue Burton to do her part for defense by wearing cotton anklets (even if Lewis did complain), and by keeping up morale with a navy sheer and pink ruffles.

Bacil Smith attracted plenty of attention in white coveralls. Iva Ruth Gibbs and La Rue Shadle both wore tailored suits. Iva Ruth's accessories were red and La Rue's were navy.

Clyde Douglas had the dream job of stylist and interior decorator. He played the part perfectly in a tan tropical worsted suit.

Bacil Kirtley and Lewis Chamberlain wore brown woolen suits. To top it all off "Tiny" Wardlow made the perfect sheriff in levies and ten gallon hat!

PERSONALS

Led Jay, from Fort Bliss, in El Paso, is visiting his parents, this week.

Tooter Johnson was in Amarillo and Pampa over the weekend.

Hobo day was scheduled for Wednesday. All the seniors are to come dressed as hobos.

The Chamber of Commerce is giving the band a picnic at the Country Club Saturday night.

A group of about 30 young people attended a picnic at the Country Club last Saturday. Naomi and Carl Morris, now of A. and M. College, were the host and hostess.

The Amarillo Glee Club made a big hit with all the high school students.

Mr. Lee Bell, manager of the Pastime Theatre is giving the band a free picture show Thursday.

Wilson Rector and Bacil Smith were in McLean Sunday.

G. D. Shelly underwent a tonsil operation Saturday morning. His condition is reported satisfactory.

The College Glee Club will sing at the Baptist church Sunday evening.

Johnny Turner carries a spare stick of chewing gum. If you want some, just look behind his ear—its usually there.

Tennis is the rage at the present. You have to get to the courts hours ahead of time to get one to play on. We are going to have some new ones though in the near future.

ON OTHER CAMPI

The Wants of Men and Women

Down through the ages it has been the custom for women to attract man or visa versa. From "bull-session" thither and you are the following wants of every man and woman.

Men Want—
Their admiration to come in twosomes, not in a crowd.
To be happy without doing too much about it.

To be attractive but not pursued.

To talk about themselves, but as indirectly as possible.

Women to be talkative and amusing.

Cheerfulness.

Women to be moderately assertive, but not bold, loud, or conscious.

Good nature.

A touch of bright color.

A tongue without a barb.

Women Want—

Admiration expressed in courtesy.

Compliments that are not too exaggerated.

To be wanted.

Men to confide in them.

Men to know more than they do.

Men to talk well and easily, but not orate.

Men to have a sense of humor without being clowns.

Men to be neat without being foppish.

"Sorry, madam, but licenses are issued only when your form is filled out properly."

"Why, I like your nerve, sir! We can get married no matter what I look like."

Motorist (to man he just ran over): "Hey, look out back there!"

Man he ran over: "What's the matter? Ye aren't coming back are ye?"

Some people are the type to read something like this to find out.

What it really is.

Chumps!

The Devil Resigns

There's no use for him to leave his den.

And come to earth to torture men.

Adolf Hitler is doing too well.

For the devil to leave his burning hell.

For many, many thousands of years.

He'd brought mankind to bitter tears.

And thought he had the world by the tail.

"Hi Hitler go tout of the Munich jail.

But when Adolf came upon the scene.

He made the devil look calm and serene.

Then he asked the Lord to change his name.

Because he was playing a losing game.

Adolf started a hell of his own.

So the devil became dumb and shown.

He couldn't compete with this modern brute.

So the devil became dumb and mute.

He told the Lord he would resign his job.

And turned it over to the Hitler mob.

Then he asked the Lord if he might escape.

The brutal mured and national rape.

Which Hitler decided should take the place.

Of a burning hell for the human race.

He was ashamed of the job he'd done.

Acknowledged that hell could not compare.

With tortures men were forced to bear.

Under the Hitler modern design.

So he told the Lord he'd just resign.

"HOBO DAY"

A hobo is (by Mr. Webster) a shiftless, vagrant workman or beggar. They usually travel singly, making them different from nomads. They are usually men with long whiskers and dirty, ragged clothes. (But, by the way, they usually have shoes if you'll notice. They couldn't cover much territory walking barefoot.

Hobos seem to have a fatal fascination for everyone. The reason they are so attractive to seniors is that the seniors are all working so terribly hard just now (they say) that they like to think of hobos because hobos haven't a care in the world. At

CAMPUS DUST

A large portion of the students are grieving over the loss of Mr. Warden. He left April 13, for Dallas. From there he will go to Norfolk, Virginia where he will report for duty in the United States Navy. We'll miss you terribly, Mr. Warden.

Almost all the typewriters were new this year, but they have not been given the best possible care. The other day a certain boy started being very gentle with his typewriter and even covered it up before he left the room. For an explanation of his actions he told us that he might have to use that typewriter next year. A good thought, No?

Almost all the girls have abandoned their wool suits and sloppy sweaters. Broom Sticks skirts and dainty white blouses have taken their places. (Today everyone needs on furs). This is a sure sign of the season.

Most business courses aren't especially interesting, but the one that Mr. Larimer is now conducting is very interesting. Go to the typing room the sixth period and you'll know what I mean. No foolin', he's plenty cute.

Tennis seems to be the main attraction on the campus. It must mean a lot to Gerry 'cause it got her out of bed at 7:30 the other morning and that's more than any alarm clock can do.

Wonder why the Sophs waited until last Tuesday afternoon before they let it be known that they were having a dance Tuesday night for Mr. Warden. You really should have let us know earlier so we could have made our plans to be there. Don't tell me that some of you were wanting a monopoly and was afraid of the competition.

Have you noticed the new "victory" hair styles on the campus? No? Well, do. Most of us aren't hardly patriotic enough to part with our long locks; however, there are two or three who have been willing to sacrifice them. This bobby pin shortage will enable us to let our hair string around without warning about an excuse for its appearance.

Speaking of hair styles—have you noticed Johnnie Beard's, huh?

It seems that there was some excitement over the weekend, no kidding. The story goes something like this: An ex-C. J. C. student comes home for a short visit, best friend proves to be a fake, fake has girl's boyfriend, make chases boy friend, boyfriend chases girl and everything ends up just like crazy. More fun!

The latest fad on the campus is the mumps. Well, maybe it isn't exactly a fad, but it surely isn't a style and anyway they're comin' and goin' (we hope).

The new curtains have been hung on the stage in the auditorium. Mr. Drennan explained how they are to be used. We're sure that everyone will treat them carefully because we're proud of them and they are really beautiful.

GENERAL MacARTHUR: FIGHTER FOR FREEDOM

By Frances Travelyan Miller
General Douglas MacArthur: Fighter for Freedom by Francis Travelyan Miller, is the life story of the man who has captured everyone's imagination, the man who is making history today. Everyone has read in the newspapers of his sensational journey from the Philippines to Australia; now read his whole life story, from the history of his family to his gallant stand at Bataan.

In the twenty one thrilling chapters of this book, the reader meets MacArthur face to face. Be familiar with the exciting records of his earlier exploits and those of his fighting father. Here are stories of Douglas MacArthur's days at West Point; his brilliance as a student, his good fellowship with his classmates, his humanness, and the beginning of his career. The book takes one through World War I with the amazing soldier who became a general at 38. It comes to the library so hot off the press that it contains the story at Homma, the Japanese general who committed suicide because he could not lick MacArthur.

ing "Kid Day" into "Hobo Day" this year. Everyone must come dressed as a Hobo, and the penalty for not looking like a tramp is the belt line (for the boys) or getting their heads ducked (for the girls). Most of the girls are in the dark as to what lady hobos wear, but they had better drag out something! If Hobo Day is half as successful as they're hoping, CHS may have a bunch of senior hobos on its hands from now on.

ETIQUETTE

The sophomore classes have been studying an etiquette book called Behave Yourself. The book was written to answer questions asked by high school girls and boys everywhere.

The book was very interesting and everyone learned something of value from it.

It gave some important points on behavior everywhere. Some of them were: Come down to breakfast neatly attired for the day; not in bathrobe and house-slippers and looking as though your hair had been combed with an egg beater. Try getting up some morning at the third call instead of the usual seventh. Girls! Don't put on the paint so that it looks like it had been dabbed on with a putty knife. Dress to suit the occasion. Imagine the amusement of on-lookers seeing you do mountain climbing in high heeled slippers.

So far this has been for girls, so here goes on the boys:

You don't have to be a sissy to dress neatly. Try it, it might help your popularity with others. Boys please shave before you get to looking like Rip Van Winkle. The girls, as well as boys will appreciate it, even if you do want to show them you have a beard.

Boys should always observe and do little things for girls.

The omission of picking up a handkerchief or carrying books is inexcusable.

There have been several opinions expressed as to the value of Behave Yourself.

Johnnie Johnson: I learned not to put your shoes in the seat beside you at the show.

Lois McCrary — Every time I did something mother warned Behave Yourself before I could do anything.

LaNell Beene — I didn't learn anything in particular.

Joe Smith — I didn't learn anything only how to behave myself.

Joe Barns — Not taking off a hat when the flag passes is inexcusable even for baldheaded men.

Dorothy Jo Endsley — I learned how to act.

Marilyn Maher — I learned not to come to breakfast with my blouse coat on.

Elizabeth Beverly — I learned a lot of things.

HOME ECONOMICS

The third year Homemaking class has been testing recipes without sugar in order to meet the sugarless demand later. Good substitutes have been found by these tests. The substitutes are corn syrup, honey, maple syrup, and molasses. Proportions have been worked out to change any plain recipe to be sugarless. To one cup of sugar, one cup of honey may be used by cutting the liquid to one half theoretical amount. To one cup of molasses used for one cup of sugar, approximately one teaspoon of soda must be used as molasses is an acid. The liquid is also reduced to one half. Use three-fourths cup corn syrup for one cup of sugar cutting the liquid one-third cup.

The sugar shortage is a great problem at this time. The realization should be established in everyone's mind that the rationing of sugar is near at hand. Many methods may be used in saving sugar. Less sugar may be used in coffee and tea in order that none will be left in the bottom of the cup. Other ways of saving sugar are by using no frosting on cakes and using prunes, dates, bananas, canned fruits and sweet fresh fruits.

Farm Notes

Walter Flynt of the ACA office today announced that 241 applications, for cotton crop insurance covering 356 Donley County farms, had been received prior to the deadline March 31. Flynt said approximately fifty additional policies would have been issued had not many producers forgotten the deadline date.

Solid building practices for summer following will be doubled this year, according to Walter Flynt of the Donley County ACA. The payments will be increased from 35 cents to 70 cents, Flynt said.

Donley County wheat growers need not plow under volunteer crops this year, ACA secretary Walter Flynt announced this week. Volunteer wheat can either be pastured throughout the crop, baled into hay or cut for grain and stored, Flynt said. No regulations regarding cutting and storing have been received to date but they are expected within the near future.

Some difficulty has been experienced in measuring wheat land but ACA officials declared today that the land would be measured as soon as possible.

Range operators have been asked to come to the local ACA office and sign applications for participation in the 1942 range program.

With most ginning over, ACA officials urge producers to make production reports of 1941 crops in order that the five year average can be computed and a basis for the normal yield in 1943 be established.

W. T. C. C. ASKS FOR TIRE SURVEY FOR FARMERS

ABILENE — The West Texas chamber of commerce has sent to Mark McGee, Texas tire administrator, a statistical brief, showing results of a survey of tire and tube needs for tractors and other farm vehicles in Texas.

In the preparation of the brief the WTCC had the collection of local chambers of commerce and rationing boards of 83 West Texas counties. Conclusions were:

The WTCC brief recommended the establishing of a separate quota basis for agricultural equipment, basing quotas on farm vehicles, giving farm vehicular applications priority rating commensurate with the need in war production; and providing sufficient flexibility in regulations to promptly care for seasonal farm mechanized needs.

THIS BUSINESS OF Living BY SUSAN THAYER

It's "Our War" Now

It's our war now and has been for three months. But the fabulous islands of the Pacific, where the boys from the U. S. A. are getting in a few weeks, are so far away it still seems like something to read about or see in the news reels.

It may soon be our turn to be bombed and any night this spring the sirens may sound in the cities along our coasts. But being an air raid warden is still like a new game and we find it almost impossible to believe we're really in danger. Of course there was Pearl Harbor. But that seems to have happened a long time ago. It's already like something in history. Even General MacArthur and his men have a legendary quality.

Of course, there's our trouble about tires and sugar and silk stockings. But these inconveniences haven't affected us seriously yet and we can't realize that there may be a really unpleasant shortage of various necessities before next winter. Meanwhile we continue to live and eat and dress much as we always have.

Only in the great army camps of the nation and in our factories, now working night and day, is there unmistakable evidence that we're in the greatest war we've ever had to fight — in it

SIXTY-FOUR CLUB BOYS SIGN FOR PIG PROJECTS

Sixty-four Donley County youths have made arrangements with J. R. Gillham, local FFA adviser, to carry swine projects this summer. A majority of the projects will be feeding demonstrations and a number will be gilt and brood sow projects. The county is well represented with boys from Hedley, Bray, Windy Valley, Lella Lake, Hudgins, Chamberlain, Martin, Ash-tola, Goldston, Sunnyview, Midway, and Clarendon enrolled in the work.

The youths will exhibit their barrows in the fall shows, and the three hundred pigs they will have on feed this summer will go a long way in helping in the "Victory Drive" for increased food production due to the war effort.

Gillham stated that any youths desiring to enter pig club work should contact him at an early date. Any youth over six years of age is eligible for pig club membership. Pigs of each of the Hampshire, Berkshire, Poland and Spotted Poland, Duroc, and Chester whites are available to Donley County youths at a reasonable price.

The Trend of Things

Casual and colorful are play clothes—and work clothes too—for the 1942 spring and summer months. In blouses emphasis is on prettiness, with many distinguished by fine tucking, draping, shirring and stitching. Tailored slacks of the easy-to-wear type with tapering lines and narrower than formerly will be popular. Dress-up slacks with soft full-sleeved shirts, overblouses, drapings and shirrings, will be high fashion. Reflecting the tenor of the times many slacks suits, specially designed to fit the work assignment of the wearer, are coming into vogue.
