OPENING EXERCISES AND STUDENT REGISTRATION PLANS ANNOUNCED

All good things must come to an end, and so it is with vacations. And next Monday over 800 Clarendon school children will resume their studies after a summer-long vacation.

Opening school exercises for Senior high school, and Junior College will be held at 10:30 o'clock in the college auditorium. At this assembly, O. C. Watson vice president of the school board, will give the principle address, and the rest of the program will consist of announcements and music by the band. A crew of four men of the West Texas Utilities Company is working here this week making changes in the Clarendon street lighting system.

They have installed three more lights in the city park and have overhauled one line in the west part of town.

The men came here from Childress Monday and expect to complete the local work by today, according to the statement made by Charlie Lowry, local utility manager.

Band Parents Are Urged To Attend Meet Friday

Band parents are urged to attend a meeting Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the band house as plans for the new school year will be made.

Bandmaster Ray Robbins urges all parents to be present at the meeting.

There is an increase in the high school band enrollment, this year's number being 55 in comparison with 47 registered last year. Some 25 are taking band in the junior high division.

Superintendent

When school reopens Monday, Superintendent H. T. Burton will again direct the activities of the Clarendon public schools. Mr. Burton has been superintendent since 1927, and has lived in Clarendon since 1919, having been connected with the old Clarendon College.

College Dean

R. E. Drennan will again assume his duties as Dean of the Junior College and Principal of the High School when school reopens here Monday. Mr. Drennan has held his present school positions for the past eight years.

WPA SEWING ROOM WORK OUTLINED TO LIONS CLUB

MRS. GLADYS POWER IS CLUB PROGRAM SPEAKER TUESDAY NOON

Two new members were introduced to the Clarendon Lions Club membership Tuesday at the weekly luncheon at Hotel Clarendon, when Cub Lions Clyde Slavin and Jimmie Dykes were seated for the first time since their election.

Program Chairman Marvin Warren introduced Mrs. Gladys Power, superintendent of the Donley County WPA Sewing Room of this city, who brought a brief but interesting discussion of the set-up and work of the sewing room, where unemployed women are certified by the WPA for eighteen days work per month at wages from $28.80 to slightly higher brackets. Mrs. Power said the room here produced 3766 garments since November of last year, and was producing now with the personnel on the list about 450 garments per month. The garments made are largely for men, with a smaller per cent for women and children. Yardage used by the room and shipped here from the Amarillo division runs 700 to 800 yards of all materials each month. Mrs. Power emphasized the fact that there was room for nearly fifty per cent more workers in the local project, when and if they are certified by the proper authorities.

At present there are twelve women working at the task of providing garments for the use of local dependents, and they are not able to make all the garments locally needed. At the conclusion of the talk Mrs. Power answered a number of questions about her work asked by various members of the club.

Lion Burton announced the opening of all the Clarendon schools next Monday, with a general assembly at 10:30 a. m. to which the public is cordially invited.

Lions Breedlove announced the farmers and stockmen barbecue Thursday evening of this week at Lelia Lake.

A. A. MAYES' BACK FROM VACATION TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Mayes returned from a vacation trip which covered central Texas and Western Oklahoma. They visited relatives at Mexia, and looked after business in the Altus area on their way back home. Mr. Mayes says crops are fine in Central Texas, but hardly so good at Altus as they are in Donley.

WM. CAMERON CO. IS BURGLARIZED OF $35.09

CASH DRAWER IS RIFLED AFTER ENTRANCE INTO OFFICE FORCED

The Wm. Cameron Lumber Company here was burglarized of $35.09 in cash sometime last Friday night.

The burglar gained entrance into the Lumber company's office by breaking the glass in the east door and releasing the lock. The robber was believed to have gone through the unlocked safe first, and finding no money there used a bar to pry open a cash drawer nearby.

He then took the money drawer into the room back of the office where he rifled the contents. But in his hurry to scoop up the money he overlooked three one dollar bills which were found the next morning scattered on the floor.

Sheriff Guy Pierce said he had secured fingerprints and shoe tracks of the intruder and was conducting a thorough investigation.

Tracks left by the robber showed he entered the Lumber Yard from the rear and departed the same way, having to climb over the high fence, which surrounds the yard. He wore shoes having crepe rubber soles.

The fingerprints were taken from the broken glass door where at least four smeared prints were found.

The Cameron Co. is a local business firm to report a burglary in Clarendon in about a year, according to Sheriff Pierce.

Congressman - Elect Eugene Worley polled 30,423 votes to 23,031 for his opponent, Deskins Wells, in the run-off campaign last Saturday. Mr. Worley will succeed Marvin Jones at the Washington post.

For the present Mr. Bownds' duties will deal particularly with the sewing room projects in the district.

22 EXPECTED TO REPORT FOR FOOTBALL

BRONCHOS PLAY FIRST HOME GAME SEPT. 27 WITH CLAUDE

Under the direction of head man O. C. Warden and assistant, I. T. James, approximately 22 candidates will take the field Monday in opening drills for this fall's Clarendon High School football campaign.

Although the Bronchos can boast a starting line of eleven lettermen, only two of last year's forward wall will be in uniform. They are all-district Jimmy Lumpkin at tackle and Ray Bulls at guard.

Bud Hermesmyer, the only other 1939 fulltime man, will be in a backfield slot where he has been shifted from a line position.

Other behind-the-liners that saw action last fall are Carlton Gordon, Alton Cobb and L. B. Hartzog. Gone this year are aces Johnny Grady, Boyd Allison, Waldron Melton, Pete Morrow, Junior Spier, and Colie Huffman.

First choice for front rank positions are lettermen McCrary, left end; Lumpkin, left tackle; Reeves, left guard; Goodman, center; Bulls, right guard; Wardlow, right tackle; Kirkland, right end.

The Bronchos will open the season with Lefors at Lefors on Sept. 20 and play their first home game on Sept. 27 with Claude.

FIVE SELECTED TO OPERATE FARMS UNDER FSA

Five were selected here on Monday of this week to operate farms in Donley County under the Farm Tenant Purchase program.

Those named are A. J. Garland who lives in the Naylor community; Neely F. Hudson, Goldston; Alton "Pete" Land and L. S. Luttrell, both of Hedley; and H. H. Mann of the Chamberlain community.

The selections were made by an advisory committee made up of W. A. Poovey and Ed Hodges, assisted by farm security administration officials.

The 213 applicants were narrowed down to fifteen during the past two weeks, and the five were chosen from the 15 at the meeting Monday at the courthouse.

Homer Robbins, Farm Tenant Purchase chief, and Tom J. Finley, district farm security supervisor of Amarillo, conducted the session, explaining the program in detail, thus giving anyone an opportunity to withdraw if anything objectionable was presented during the final examination.

Under the program, loans will be made available to the above selected persons with which to purchase their own farms. The loans are made for a period of 40 years at three per cent interest.

The Farm Tenant Purchase program is one of the weapons which the Department of Agriculture is using to combat the growing problem of farm tenancy.

Farmers who receive loans are assisted by the Farm Tenant agency in the building of an adequate farm and home plans which largely insure the repayment of loans. Only farms within Donley County may be purchased by the farmers.

Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Leathers and family of Dallas and Bobby Leathers all formerly of Clarendon and Lelia Lake are here this week visiting the Leathers families of Lelia Lake and Mr. and Mrs. Allen Bryan of Clarendon.

ALL DIRECTORS OF COUNTRY CLUB REELECTED

All the present directors of the Clarendon Country Club were retained in office for another year when members met at the club last Thursday night for the annual barbecue-business session.

Approximately 250 members and guests were present for the affair.

Those reelected to serve were J. T. Patman, A. L. Chase, F. W. Taylor, W. W. Taylor, all of Clarendon and W. W. Brunals of Groom.

The business meeting at which time the directors were reelected followed the club's annual chicken barbecue.

Grady Hazlewood, showing surprisingly strength in both his first and second primary races, was elected State Senator to succeed Clint Small. Hazlewood polled 26,161 votes to Max Boyer's 23,573.

CHAMBERLAIN SCHOOL TO REOPEN MONDAY

The Chamberlain school will reopen for the 1940-41 term on Monday, Sept. 2, according to Supt. Bill Todd. Approximately 40 pupils will resume their studies. There is no change in the Chamberlain school faculty this year as all teachers are returning.

DONLEY OUGHT TO RATE WELL WITH VICTORS

Based on the results in Saturday's election Donley County ought to rate well with the new congressman, and new state senator.

Both victors received a definite majority in Donley, and The News is hoping that the interests of our county will receive a little more consideration at the hands of the new state and national law makers than they have in the past.

Congratulations are due both Gene Worley and Grady Hazlewood, and their Donley supporters will feel free to call on them for services of county interests in the years to come.

SCHOOL BELLS SIGNAL A NEW OPPORTUNITY

Next Monday in Clarendon another session of school will open for hundreds of children, and one of the greatest assets of this or any other American community will be in operation for the coming nine months.

It is wishful thinking to assume that anything like a large majority of pupils in our schools will recognize the wonderful opportunity that another school year brings to them in this land of liberty, but it is definitely the obligation of parent, teacher and interested citizen to use all diligence in bringing to their youthful minds the magnitude of the opportunity that is provided in the public school today.

The school bells signal a new and intriguing opportunity to explore life in all its ramifications by the assimilation of knowledge offered in the curricula of our public school system.

May our young folk, from primary to senior entrant, recognize the opportunity and profit from it day by day.

THE SEEING EYE

Everybody knows the story of Ben Franklin and the kite, but few people remember the story of Franklin and the whiskbroom.

When he went to London, he saw his first whiskbroom, an article of refinement unknown in an America of buck-skin clothes.

Bringing one home, he noticed some small seeds clinging to the straws, and wondered whether they would grow. To find out, he planted them, and raised the first broomcorn in this country.

More than a century was to pass before Edison turned Franklin's electrical discoveries to industrial uses, but broomcorn was a quick industrial success. People planted it, and made brooms as well as whisks, and the Mohawk Valley became our first broomcorn center.

Observation of things that escape other people's notice, and practical experiments to secure new facts, are the basis of many minor industrial advances, as well as of outstanding inventions.

Whether it is the humble inventor, or the trained research man with a modern laboratory, keeping one's eyes open brings rewards.

The seeing eye is just as valuable in management progress.

—James H. Collins.

NAME-CALLING DANGEROUS

"Without self-restraint and a certain chivalry in public men the democratic system of government will crack under the fierce pressure of contemporary events," wrote Walter Lippmann recently. "Thus, one of the indubitable causes of the ruin of France was the savagery with which the politicians attacked one another and intrigued against one another. Not only did the fury of their partisanship render impossible a coherent and effective policy; the manner in which public men assassinated the honor of public men bred a cynicism and contemptuous indifference which devitalized the people."

Our nation has witnessed some distressing examples of this lately, such as the names hurled at Colonel Lindbergh for expression of his views in his recent speech on the European situation. And when General Pershing urged that we give Britain 50 destroyers to aid in her defense, he received similar treatment. These are men who have done more for their country than 999 out of 1,000 of their critics. Yet, because some did not agree with their views, they are abused unreasonably.

In contrast with this is an incident which occurred in Des Moines. Secretary Wallace, Democratic candidate for the vice-presidency, was booed and heckled while attempting to make an address. He was followed by Republican presidential candidate Wendell Willkie—who soundly rebuked the audience for its shameful treatment of his opponent. It is a cardinal principle of democracy that all sides be heard—and that the same privilege of free expression be extended to those with whom we disagree, no less than to those with whom we agree. Let that principle perish and democracy perishes. If we are to be permitted to hear only the voices of those representing one side, we will have dictatorship.

No nation can afford cheap, name-calling politics—the kind of politics that makes for hatred and disunion and which sets class against class and neighbor against neighbor.

JUST HUMANS

"PINCHED MY EYE—I BETCHA THE COP DONT KNOW HE'S THERE—"

A RECORD OF UNBOUNDED PRIDE

The News feels sure there is no one less inclined to enter into useless recriminations over the outcome of last Saturday's congressional election than Deskins Wells of Wellington. The voters have spoken in orderly American fashion, and that's all there is to it, except congratulations to Gene Worley, the genial victor.

However, The News editor should like to point out one result in the election so outstanding, that when all the disappointment of the campaign is forgotten should stand out in Deskins Wells memory until his dying day, and that is the unprecedented loyal support of the citizens of his home county of Collingsworth. Neighbors of that county gave Wells 2,289 votes to 574—more than four to one.

We doubt that there is another newspaper man in the entire Southwest able to poll four to one of his home folks—most of us would be tickled if we could poll a majority.

Deck Wells may remember the Collingsworth county vote with unbounded pride as long as he lives.

THE RIGHT TO VOTE

Strange as it may seem, it is reported that a gross misunderstanding exists in some parts of the country to the effect that if a Democrat casts a vote for a Republican candidate, the voter makes himself a Republican instead of a Democrat, and vice versa, and thereby terminates his affiliation with his own party.

If such a mistaken idea exists, it is important that voters be informed that they can vote for whom they please in general elections, without in any way changing their party affiliations or their rights to vote in primaries and other local elections.

PRICE OF LIBERTY: ETERNAL VIGILANCE

As true today as when written 150 years ago: "It is the common fate of the indolent to see their rights become a prey to the active. The condition upon which God hath given liberty to man is eternal vigilance; which condition if he break, servitude is at once the consequence of his crime and the punishment of his guilt."—John Curran, 1750-1817.

America is coming through this thing with flying colors. And the colors will be the red, the white and the blue.

Economic Highlights

Tax Bills of Every Individual. National and International Happenings That Affected the Dinner Pails, Dividend Checks and Problems Inseparable From Local Welfare.

It was a great moment for Wendell Willkie when he stood under a sweltering mid-west sun in the park in Elwood, Indiana, and formally accepted the Republican nomination for president of the United States. And it was an occasion directly in the American tradition — another small-town boy, who had started without money or position, had achieved great success. And lastly, it was a solemn moment to the thoughtful onlooker — for this is not just one more routine election. Whoever wins the presidency next November will be confronted with problems as great and as difficult as any Chief Executive has faced.

A candidate's acceptance speech necessarily deals with generalities. It is impossible for him to discuss in full detail all of the many issues on which he bases his campaign. What Mr. Willkie attempted to do was to define his position, and to lay down a philosophy of life and government. And he did just that extremely well.

The times being what they are, those portions of his address dealing with foreign policy and the preparedness program were naturally most interesting. To a certain extent, he goes along with Mr. Roosevelt's policy—he believes that the collapse of England would be a calamity, he is 100 per cent opposed to Nazism, and he favors maximum preparedness, including some form of selective military service. Where he differs strongly with the President is in the conduct of our foreign policy. He feels that the President's attacks on other powers have been "useless and dangerous." He believes that he has unjustifiably meddled in the affairs of Europe, at the expense of America's safety. The Willkie policy, as he stated in brief, is similar to that of Theodore Roosevelt—"walk softly and carry a big stick."

Highlight of the speech was where he charged the Administration with failure to have faith in the American future. It had, he said, accepted an "I pass" attitude — it refused to bet on the country. The New Deal, he continued, practices a doctrine of division, not a doctrine of growth. Instead of seeking to create more, it simply seeks to divide what we already have. That, said Mr. Willkie, is a static, backward-looking philosophy, as contrasted with the dynamic philosophy that made for this nation's epochal achievements of the past.

Also interesting are his views on agriculture and labor. He endorsed the principle of government farm aid. He said he would encourage agricultural cooperative efforts, and the extension of rural electrification. He affirmed his support of collective bargaining, and wage and hour standards. He endorsed strict Federal regulation of banking, securities markets, and interstate utilities. He said that he believes in adequate old-age pensions, and unemployment allowances.

It is obvious that Mr. Willkie approves many New Deal objectives. The great difference comes in method. Unbiased commentators feel that Mr. Roosevelt's worst failure has been in the administrative field — inexperienced men have been given big jobs, and bureaucracy has run rampant. The Republicans, Mr. Willkie's business record being what it is, can and no doubt will make a telling issue out of this. And, dealing with the less tangible factors, Mr. Willkie will make a strong case for what he regards as the true liberal doctrine — the doctrine of limited government, which serves and does not master the people. In all of his speeches and writings, long before he was even considered as presidential timber, he has expressed time and again his opposition to monopolies and to the excessive concentration of power — whether it be in industry or in government. The task that lies ahead of America is hard. And Candidate Willkie did not sugarcoat the pill. We cannot take an easy road, he said. There will be hardships, sacrifice, even suffering, before we again become secure. But, he said, difficult as the job is, it can and will be done, and be done in the democratic way, with free men working under a free system. That, he said, is what the New Deal threatens to destroy.

So the first gun in the campaign has been fired. In the weeks to come Mr. Willkie will make many speeches, and will deal more specifically with the issues. He is a strong campaigner opposed by a strong campaigner. If Mr. Roosevelt should accept his challenge, and join with him in a series of debates, it would make political history of the first water. For rarely in history have two men with such gifts of mind and personality come to grips. Both the candidates have color to spare. Both have those qualities of leadership which fill other men with high resolve. Both have the knack of making issues burn and live.

Mr. Willkie will have to work hardest — he is, of course, far less known to the people than the President.

GULF INDUSTRIAL PROGRAM GIVEN COOPERATION

Fifty-four per cent of all chammonths, W. N. Ford, manager of the company's industrial develop-

"We are meeting with the ex-the Gulf South, and to offer our assistance to such agencies in compiling data for any industry which has shown interest in those parts of Texas, Louisiana, Missis-

which comprise the Gulf South,"
Mr. Ford said.

United Gas Pipe Line Company has been active in publiciz-vertising in national publications, direct mail and personal interviews with heads of industry throughout the nation. This program has been carried on for the past twelve months.

gram will show no favoritism to one locality or community over another. Our aim will be to bring sound industry to the Gulf South and assist it in locating in the community best suited to its operations."

"Immediate results in influencing the location of industries in the Gulf South were not expected when we started our program as studies of industrial migration show that such moves of factories and industrial plants are slow, but cumulative in effect, therefore, we intend to continue this program over a long period of time."

During the five year period ending 1939, 107 new industries were connected to the lines of United Gas Pipe Line Company alone, representing a total investment of approximately $37,- 000,000 and employing more than 8000 persons. Many other industries have located in parts of the Gulf South not on the lines of United Gas Pipe Line Company, but which represent equally great benefits to the persons residing in the area because of increased tax benefits, employment and strengthening of the economic situation in the various communities.

LOANS ON COTTON CROP AVAILABLE SHORTLY

COLLEGE STATION — All Texas farmers cooperating with the AAA will be eligible to obtain Commodity Credit Corporation loans at the full loan rates of their 1940 cotton crops.

No definite time has yet been set when all the necessary forms and instructions will be available so that loan applications can be accepted, George Slaughter, chairman of the state AAA committee, said, but the material is now being printed and will be shipped to the loan agencies as soon as possible.

The loan rate will be based on 15-16 inch middling cotton, net weight basis, with differentials for grade, staple, and location instead of on 7/8 inch middling as was the case last year, the chairman pointed out. The rate in Texas for 15-16 inch middling, net weight basis, will range from 9.16 cents in West Texas to 9.80 cents at all Gulf ports. As in 1939, the net weight loan rate is placed 40 points above that for the gross weight rate to compensate for the smaller number of pounds on which the loan is extended.

The full loan rate will be available only to cooperating cotton producers who have not on any farm knowingly planted or permitted the planting of cotton in 1940 in excess of the cotton accreage allotment established for the 1940-41 marketing year. As required by law, non-cooperators will be eligible to receive a loan at 60 per cent of the rate applicable to cooperating producers, and only at 60 per cent of the rate applicable to cooperating producers, and only on that part of their production in excess of their farm marketing quotas. Noncooperators must have their loan documents approved by the AAA county committee.

Loans will be made directly by the Commodity Credit Corporation and by banks and other local lending agencies under arrangements similar to those pertaining to previous cotton loans.
The loans will bear three per cent interest and will be call-able on demand with the maturity
date fixed for July 31, 1941.
Loans will be available until May 1, 1941. All cotton to be eligible for the loan must be classified by Board of Cotton Examiners of the Agricultural Marketing Service of the Department of Agriculture.

Few loans were made in Texas in 1939, Slaughter pointed out, because the loan was not announced until most Texas cotton had been sold.

ARMY IS PUSHING CAMPAIGN FOR RECRUITS

As all signs point to congress enacting a law raising the base pay of army recruits from $21 to $30 a month interest is increasing among young men as to what the army has to offer them
it was said this week by Sergeant Andrew J. Williams, Childress recruiting officer.

In connection with the drive for recruits Sergeant Williams issued the following statement:
"The army is putting on a big drive for young men between the ages of 18 and 35
of good character, good health and who have no criminal record. If under 21 they must have the consent of their parents or legal guardian.

"I know there are many boys in this section who would join the army if they had someone to talk to them and explain the advantages the army has to offer a young man. I can't visit every young man in this section, but I am glad to talk to all young men who call at my office in the district attorney's office at the Childress county court house.

"There are literally thousands of boys in this nation roaming
the country over without jobs or prospects. The army has a job for these young men, but they must meet our standards.
They must be willing to learn,
and we prefer young men who wish to learn some trade that will support them when their term of enlistment is over, such as automobile and radio mechanics, cooks, bakers and many other trades. The army maintains many schools the ambitious recruits may attend, and when their term of enlistment is over they will find they have learned things that will make jobs much easier to find. I know most boys growing up now find it difficult to secure a good job because they are not prepared to fill them. The army will prepare them to fill good jobs. The army is not just a military machine. It is a mighty force in building and educating men. Enlist now."

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Stuart of Hot Springs, New Mexico visited in the home of Mrs. Stuart's aunt Mrs. L. B. Noble last week. Mr.
Stuart attended Clarendon College in 1923 and 1924 but is now Principal of Hot Springs
High school.

Ex-Soldiers Are Paid For Being Reserves

LUBBOCK — Former members of the United States Army under 36 years of age who served as much as one year and received an honorable discharge are eligible to receive as much as $5 per month merely for becoming members of the Regular Army Reserve under the Army's plan to keep in touch with ex-service men.

All members of the Regular Army Reserve receive $2.00 in cash per month for each month
their names are on the Reserve rolls. If they ever are called into active service, which will be only in the event of a national emergency when they would be subject to call whether members of the Reserve or not, they will receive an additional sum at the rate of $3 per month for each month they have been a member of the Reserve, not to exceed a total of $150, in cash.

Members of the Army Reserve have no formations, camps or other required meetings. In fact, their only connection with the Army is the check they receive every four months unless they are called to duty in case of a national emergency.

Since only trained ex-soldiers are eligible for membership in the Regular Army Reserve, no further training is considered necessary for them.

All ex-service men under 36 years of age with as much as one year's service in the United States Army and an honorable discharge should report to the nearest army recruiting office for full particulars and a physical examination.

Many choice vacancies still are available in the Regular Army for young men between 18 and 35 years of age without dependents and able to pass a fair mental test and physical examination. Interested young men should apply at the nearest Army

FARMERS WARNED ON BIG COTTON BALES

COLLEGE STATION — Texas
farmers who try to get too much cotton into their bales may be at least partly responsible for damage that shows up later when the bales go through the compress, F. E. Lichte, cotton gin specialist of the Texas A. and M. Extension service, points out.

"When cotton is under extreme pressure, as is the case at the compress, fibers in the oversized bales are likely to be torn and cut in such a manner that their value to the spinner is reduced," Lichte said.

Tests conducted by the U. S.
Department of Agriculture show
a larger percentage of air-cut damage in oversized bales than in normal bales.

Though the farmer does not suffer directly, except in the few cases where he is the owner of the bale at the time it is compressed, he does suffer through the lower prices brokers and mills must pay for other purchases to offset these losses.

The way to reduce this damage is to deliver only enough seed cotton to the gin to produce a bale of ginned lint weighing 500 pounds or thereabouts.

"If the tendency towards overweight does not stop, it is probable that we will see the trade put on a penalty for bales over 550 pounds just as lightweight bales are now penalized," Lichte said. The trade is beginning to reserve the right to reject bales in excess of 600 pounds. The present penalties are $1.00 for bales under 450 pounds; $2.00 for those under 400 pounds; and those under 350 pounds not acceptable.

J. T. Carroll, 2nd Lt. Inf. Res.
Ass't Recruiting Officer.

INVITATION GOLF TOURNAMENT WON BY PAMPAN

GROVER AUSTIN IS FIRST AND CARL HARRISON OF MEMPHIS IS SECOND

Disregarding a dust laden gale that sent shots straying over the course, Grover Austin, Pampa, put together three rounds of 36 each to win the Hillcroft invitation 27 medal play golf tournament with 108 even par blows.

The Pampa youth was two strokes ahead of the field after one-time tourney leader Carl Harrison of Memphis slipped two over par for 110. Harrison was one swing in front of Austin with a 35 at the end of the first round but faltered for a 39 on the second. He closed with a par 36 on the final, to take second place. Frank Foxhall, Memphis, veteran linksman and several times winner of the Greenbelt association title, was consistent with three 37s for a 111 and third place.

O. B. Smith, also of Memphis, fired a final 36 to finish in the fourth place slot with 112. Smith had 38, 38, 36. Further adding to Memphis' honors in the tourney, Noel Woody paced the second flight with a total of 121 and R. S. Greene was second man with 122.

T. M. Shaver, Clarendon, captured the third and last bracket with a total of 127. H. B. Kerbos, only other Clarendon prize winner, and John Austin, Sr., Pampa, tied for second place in the third flight.

Over The Coffee

By BILL SHEROOME

It's sure getting to be a tough old world. And it's especially tough on writers who go out on the limb predicting what'll happen in the future.

On July 11, we climbed out on that limb—and, of course crawled too far—by making a number of predictions, among them that Hitler would subdue England in thirty days.

Well, you know what has happened. England is still fighting on and doing a real job of it. And, we have been branded everything from a "fifth columnist" to a dyed-in-the-wool kraut eater. Some have even gone as far as to call us a "Hitlerite," something we've always regarded as being similar to a termite.

Well folks, we don't mind these insults, and we're going to keep right on predicting that Hitler and Germany will win the war if it's going to help the English continue the real job of fighting that they've exhibited in the past weeks. Just call us anything you like as long as the RAF (Royal Air Force of Britain) is able to blow h— out of the Jerries.

Anyway, predicting what'll happen in the future is much more safe than forecasting the weather. You've at least got one chance in a million of making one prediction come out right.

To forecast the Panhandle weather correctly a man would have to be a combination of Hitler, Mussolini, and Stalin rolled into one with a horseshoe in one hand and a four leaf clover in the other and his thoughts spirited by super-man.

And as for information for those who belittle our tireless efforts, we might inform you that we predicted that Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel would be re-elected by another landslide. Perhaps it wasn't exactly a landslide but the other gubernatorial candidates sure got buried. We also stated that Mr. Roosevelt would run a third time and would be re-elected. Well, he's running, but we'll have to wait until the dust settles until we can let you know by what margin he won.

Here's the latest story from the war front:

Perhaps you've heard a number of stories of the ill-treatment the French have been receiving at the hands of the Nazis. It seems that the fallen nation was getting a little hard up for food. The German soldiers grew sympathetic and volunteered some of their horses for meat. The French were obliged and proceeded to cook the new but welcomed dish. But just as they got it all chewed up and ready to swallow, Hitler appeared on the scene and yelled "whoa-o-o," and the meat stop. It ped in the throats of thousands of Frenchmen and everyone of them choked to death.

If we can believe some of the German and English propaganda, we surely can believe the above story.

BOYER EXPRESSES THANKS TO HIS SUPPORTERS

PERRYTON, Texas — Representative Max Boyer of Perryton, issued a statement today in which he expressed appreciation to the friends and supporters throughout the Panhandle who worked for him during the recent campaign in connection with his race for State Senator.

Boyer's statement was: "The many fine friends I became associated with in the campaign which just closed afforded me an opportunity to more clearly know the type of people who live in the Panhandle. There are no alibies or excuses which I have to make as to our defeat. I ran the kind of a race that I have always conducted and if I were running again, I would act the same way as I did in this campaign. As a citizen, I shall continue to observe closely all legislative activities in Austin. I wish I had the time and money to personally thank each friend who did his bit for me."

Mrs. Otis Rolls and baby returned to Canyon Sunday after a two weeks visit here in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Smith. Mr. Rolls came over for the day and took them home.

New Old Settlers' Officers

Officers of the Old Settlers reunion-picnic were named recently at the annual meeting at Tate Grove, near Hedley. The officers are shown in the above picture and are, left to right, Mrs. Joe Crawford, who was retained for the 10th year as secretary-treasurer, Homer Mulkey, pioneer Donley County theater man, vice-president, and Tom Tate, re-elected president of the association.

Running For County Office In Donley Costs Candidates From $34 To $201

It'll cost you all the way from $34 to $201.00 to run for county office in Donley County, according to a survey of candidates' expenses in the first and second Democratic primaries.

Miss Helen Wiedman, county clerk, spent a total of $201.50, to top the expense list, while Ben Chamberlain, defeat candidate for county commissioner, precinct four, was at the bottom with expenditures totalling but $34.

County candidates are not permitted to spend over $300 on their campaigns.

Miss Wiedman said her largest expense was $135, the cost of placing her name on the ticket. Since she was unopposed this cost came higher.

Opposed candidates have their ticket filing expense pro-rated among the number entered into the race, and according to the salary in office involved.

Campaign expenses of the various other county candidates were listed as follows:

For Sheriff - Tax Collector, Guy Wright, $173.50, Jess Adamson, $165.50; for county treasurer, Mrs. Margaret Thompson, $165.04; Mrs. Homer Glasco, $106.06; for county superintendent, Ruth Richerson, $143.00, S. W. Lowe, $107.00; for county attorney, John Knorpp, $111.23; for county judge, R. Y. King, $121.65.

For County Commissioner, precinct one, Edwin Baley, $56.30, J. H. Hermesmeier, $60.05; for county commissioner, precinct two, G. G. Reeves, $55, Pink Rogers, $65.92; for county commissioner, precinct three, J. A. Tollett, $74.90, Jay Hunt, $63.00 and W. C. Bridges, $48.50; for county commissioner, precinct four, Marvin Hall, $53.75, Ben Chamberlain, $34.00, For Justice of Peace, R. C. Weatherly, $19.80.

WORLEY RESTING, DISTRICT TOUR IS DELAYED

Eugene Worley, who piled up a surprising lead of approximately 7,500 votes over Deskins Wells of Wellington to win the Democratic nomination for Congress in the 18th district, left Monday for an undisclosed destination to recuperate from an infected foot and get a few days rest before making a swing over the 28-county district to thank voters for their support in Saturday's run-off primary.

"The credit is due my friends, not myself," he declared. "It took the united efforts of hundreds and hundreds of loyal supporters all over the district to put me over and I want them to know I shall always remember their kindness. I wish to compliment my opponent and his supporters on the clean, high-type campaign they conducted and say to him that I hold nothing but the kindest feeling for them all."

The Congressional nominee thanked persons who have called and written, saying he would answer all correspondence immediately on his return from a short rest. The long strenuous days of the run-off campaign left him in need of rest and on the advice of physicians he decided to take a few days off, before making his "thank you" tour of the large district. Worley plans to make a speaking itinerary which will carry him into each county early in September.

He has issued the following statement to the voters of the 18th district:

"To say that I am grateful to the people of Donley County for their loyal support would be putting it mildly. I shall devote my full time from now until Congress convenes in thoroughly familiarizing myself with all pending legislation. I also plan a trip over the entire district before January and will appreciate the people calling my attention to any local problems they might have. In short, I hope to be of any possible service to the people of this district and want, more than anything, their full and complete cooperation because the hardest part of being a good Congressman is yet to come.

"Our mutual friend, Marvin Jones, has offered his complete cooperation and my other friends in Congress with whom I served

Former Reunion Head Honored

In this photo are Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Rains, who were honored at the picnic. Rains settled near Hedley in 1891 and was president of the picnic organization from its very beginning 10 years ago up until last year when he asked not to be reelected.

DONLEY COUNTIANS ARE THANKED BY 'DECK' WELLS

Deskins Wells expressed his thanks to the people of Donley County for their help in the congressional race.

"I wish to take this means of thanking my friends who stood by me so loyally during the congressional campaign. Due to the fact that I have spent all the money I had saved and still have bills to pay, it will be impossible for me to even write you a personal letter at the present time. I take this means of thanking you, and I want each and every one of you to know that even in defeat, it warms my heart to think of your consideration and your steadfast friendship. To those who voted for me whom I had never met personally, I also extend my thanks for your confidence in me and your confidence in those who do know me. I will always be grateful to you."

Garden Glances Presented weekly by the Garden Club

"America the beautiful lies in the hands of the gardeners"

That time of year is at hand when our garden dreams begin to come true, when the long months of anticipation are over. The new things we bought or grew from seed are giving their first bloom.

The rose, Gruss and Teplitz, keeps on with the production of fragrant scarlet roses — it continues to be a joyous cavalier.

You will discover an attractive block if you drive by Bryan's, Heath's, Powell's and Boston's. These places have green turf, gay blooming flowers, bright lawn furniture and many assets that help make an attractive home.

The John and Carroll Knorpp's lawns with their closely clopped grass and blooming annuals are quite pretty. Bright blossoms and well kept lawn at Miss Charlotte Molesworth's home denote many hours of work. The Tom Helton's, Brazille's, and Marvin Warren's yards show remarkable development for only one year of planting.

Ralph Waldo Emerson, in 1843, wrote in his journal: "I think it will soon become the pride of the country to make gardens. A garden has this advantage, that it makes it indif-

Remodeling Transforms Thornberry Residence Into Beautiful Dwelling

The Fairy and her magic wand had nothing on the skilled workmen of today who remodel homes and transform them into dwellings of unbelievable beauty.

One would uphold this statement right here in our own community if he could have viewed the Martin Thornberry farm home, located about a mile due south of the air field, before and after the remodeling job.

The interior of the Thornberry residence has been completely done over. The walls have been finished with knotted pine, and an attractive fireplace with a built-in heat-lator adds to inside beauty.

The outside chimney is constructed of natural stone and the house has been stuccoed and painted all over.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Thornberry have been married but a short time and have been residing in Wichita Falls. They expect to move into their home sometime within the next month.

The remodeling was done by Wm. Cameron Lumber Co. Another home that is also being remodeled is the U. Z. Patterson residence, located across the street from Wm. Cameron Co. The house is being redecorated both inside and outside, repainted and given a new roof.

Patman Car Damaged When Sideswiped By Truck

Bill Patman and family escaped injuries last Friday night when their car was sideswiped by a truck south of Quanah.

three children, Allen, Billy and Ruth, failed to realize the extent of the damage until the car was stopped and examined.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Warren went to Lefors Sunday for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Walter Higler and Mrs. Warren's father, Mr. Walter Smith. Mr. Warren returned to Clarendon Sunday but Mrs. Warren remained in Lefors for a few days.

Allen Bryan and family were in Amarillo Thursday.

UNION SERVICES ARE TERMED A SUCCESS

MINISTERS THANK THOSE WHO CONTRIBUTED TIME AND SERVICES

On eight successive Sunday evenings during July and August, under the auspices of the Clarendon Ministerial Alliance, the people of this City and surrounding communities have united in a common worship of God the Father of all mankind and in an acknowledgment of Christ Jesus as the common Saviour.

The Union Services have demonstrated the fact that while each church may worship and conduct its services according to its own rites there is a unity of purpose and a united belief in One Lord the Father of Mankind.

At this time the Alliance wishes to express sincere appreciation to the people as a whole for their whole hearted acceptance of the Union Services, and in particular to those persons and groups who gave freely of their time and talents to aid in making the services a success. They are indebted to the City of Clarendon for the loud speakers, to the school trustees for the use of the Football Stadium, to the High School Band and its conductor, Ray Robbins for their music, to the newspapers for their generous publicity and kindly editorials, to John Bass for the use of his truck, used not only as a platform, but also, to support the piano and other equipment, to the T. E. L. Class of the Baptist Church for the piano, to Roy Clayton and those who assisted in the receiving of the offerings, to Mrs. Allen Bryan and the wives of the city ministers who presided at the piano, to all who assisted with the singing, and to those clergy, who not members of the Alliance, came gladly to bring a message. To all a hearty thank you from your ministers and the Churches of Clarendon. You have helped in a community wide Christian service to God and your fellow man. It is the plan of the Alliance to renew the services next year and in the mean time to present other united efforts on the part of the whole of Christ's Church in this city.

Science Tells Why Lemonade Is Cooling

By BETTY BARCLAY

Frosty glasses of lemonade, garnished with lemon slices and mint! What simpler or better refreshments are available for a summer afternoon or evening? A tray of crisp crackers and an assortment of vegetable snacks completes a garden-fresh menu that's both cool and cooling.

Science now explains that the popularity of lemonade on warm summer days has an excellent basis in the fact that vitamin C, of which it is a generous source, actually mitigates the effects of heat. Only recently scientists at the University of Milan discovered that exposure to high temperature caused a 50 per cent loss of vitamin C from the body tissues — and lowered vitamin C reserves go hand-in-hand with the tired feeling we get when the weather is hot.

That's why lemonade is so refreshing. In fact, if you would keep cool in warm weather, it's a pretty good rule to have one or more drinks every day of lemonade or orange juice, which is another rich source of vitamin C. These citrus fruit beverages are healthful in other ways, too.

To Make Lemonade

For each person served, extract the juice from 1 lemon. Sweeten to taste with 1 to 3 tablespoons sugar or honey. Stir until this is dissolved. Add 1 cup cold water and ice to chill. Garnish with mint sprigs and slices of lemon, placing a slice of lemon on rim of each glass.

Lemon Fizz: Make lemonade with carbonated water.

Lemon Ice Berge: Top glasses of lemonade with generous spoonfuls of Lemon Sherbet.

Vegetable Snacks

Wash and clean thoroughly the following vegetables:

Cauliflower: Break apart flowerlets in a small head of uncooked cauliflower.

Radishes: With a sharp knife cut back outer skin to make roses.

Carrots: Scrape and cut in lengthwise slices. Cut each slice into strips, retaining an uncut piece at top to hold strips together.

Celery: Stuff several stalks of celery with pimiento cream cheese, which has been thinned with a little lemon juice. Fit these together. Roll in waxed paper and chill in refrigerator.

Put cauliflower, radishes and carrots in ice water to crisp. Drain when ready to serve. Cut celery in slices. Arrange vegetables in serving dishes and garnish with mint and parsley.

Lemon Sherbet

Another delicious form in which lemons bring coolness to a warm day is Lemon Sherbet. Boil 2 cups sugar and 1 cup water together for 5 minutes. Fold this syrup slowly into 2 stiffly beaten egg whites. Add 1 cup lemon juice and 1 cup water. Beat well. Pour into freezing tray and set cold control at fast freezing. Freeze stiff and beat or stir thoroughly. Return to freezing compartment and finish freezing; or freeze in crank-type freezer. (Makes about 1 quart. Serves 6-8.)

Jesse S. Wynne, One Of Panhandle's Most Colorful Figures, Dies

Death claimed one of the Panhandle's most colorful figures when Jesse S. Wynne, pioneer resident of the Texas Panhandle and Old Clarendon passed away last Friday noon at the family residence in Pampa.

Mr. Wynne came to this country in 1880 and through his unique personality won the love and respect of thousands in this section of the country. He was cowboy, sheriff, merchant, cattleman and rancher during his long residence in the Panhandle.

Funeral services for Mr. Wynne were held at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon in the Pampa high school auditorium, with the Rev. Robert Boshen, pastor of the Presbyterian church, officiating and assisted by the Rev. B. A. Norris, pastor of the First Christian Church, and the Rev. C. Gordon Bayless, pastor of the First Baptist Church. Burial was in the Fairview cemetery.

He was survived by his wife, Mrs. Minna Wynne; two daughters, Mrs. James Crawford of Amarillo, and Mrs. DeLea Vickers of Pampa; two grandchildren, Mrs. Elizabeth Livermore, Toledo, Ohio, and Wynne Crawford of Amarillo.

Mr. Wynne was born July 24, 1861, in Rusk county. He was left an orphan at an early age. He started supporting himself at the age of nine. He first worked for a supply house and later became a horse wrangler, cowboy, cattleman, hardware store clerk and owner, and rancher.

At the age of 18 years he developed malaria fever and doctors despaired for his life. Given only 60 days to live, he was told to leave the climate. He started west as a horse wrangler and arrived on McClellan creek in Gray county in November, 1880, weighing only 76 pounds although 19 years old. The horse herd was pastured on McClellan creek during a hard winter and in the spring Mr. Wynne was strong. It was then he decided to make the Panhandle his home.

He was the first sheriff of Carson county. He made runs into Oklahoma. He was a cowboy on various ranches. He acquired land and became a rancher. In 1906 he moved to Pampa.

In 1907 Mr. Wynne was made president of the Gray County State bank. He retired from that office in 1919.

He was a tireless civic worker, active in all affairs for the good of the Panhandle.

He had a part in some of the most interesting episodes of the old west. He did not make the 'run' of '89 into Oklahoma, but he did make the run into "the strip" and into the Cheyenne-Archie country. He saw Moberly in its hey-day. He rode the trail to Dodge for three years. He knew the colorful characters who populated the Panhandle when it was "cow country." When he came here piles of buffalo bones were bleaching on the prairie, and a few of the shaggy animals hovered near water-holes in the "breaks." He saw the great ranches take shape and then break up into smaller ranches and then finally into farms.

Mr. Wynne was a southerner from a long way back. He was a native Texan, but his father was a Mississippian. Mr. Wynne was born six miles west of Henderson in Rusk county, July 24, 1861.

At the age of nine years, he went to work for one Bobby Ferrell who supplied west Texas forts — Fort Griffin, Fort Belknap, Fort McCavit and others — with beef cattle. Despite his youth, the wiry boy made Mr. Ferrell a good hand. Each delivery of cattle contained about 2,200 head. He worked for Mr. Ferrell six years. During that time the boy performed the usual tasks of a cowboy on the trail. From 12 to 15 men were required to make a delivery of cattle to the forts.

Those who knew Mr. Wynne when he was growing up will tell you that his knowledge of horses was uncanny. He knew them and how to handle them as only the experts did. About the time he quit working for Mr. Ferrell there was a certain Judge Irvin at Kaufman who was "a terrible man for horses." For several years Mr. Wynne worked for the judge.

In the fall of 1880, Barton and Rockwell, both northern men, bought up a thousand head of horses in northeast and north central Texas. Mr. Wynne was employed to help Mr. Barton, the aforesaid Jarvis and the negro bring them to the Panhandle. They planned to take the horses up on Wolf creek and winter them in Hansford county but they stopped at McClellan creek on the way. It was Nov. 14, 1880. Snow was on the ground. Mr. Wynne rode down the divide a short distance and found a crossing. He told Mr. Barton, "You're hunting a place to winter the horses—well, you won't find a better place than right here." The grass was the best Mr. Wynne had ever seen. It was high and covered with snow but underneath the luxuriant growth green grass was growing. "I believe you're right," said Mr. Barton and they wintered the horses on McClellan creek. When the herd was sold, Mr. Barton brought up another herd in '81 and wintered them in the same spot.

Soon after they camped that first night, Mr. Barton happened to mention that he owned nine sections of land somewhere in that territory. He had acquired it by carrying a surveyor's chain in the Panhandle before he went into the horse business. Mr. Barton got out his maps and discovered he was camped on his own land. They constructed dirt sheds and dug-outs. In '81 Mr. Barton sold the land and the second herd of horses to the Clarendon Land, Investment and Agency company, owners of the Quarter-Circle Heart ranch. Mr. Barton went back to Kaufman with his pockets full of money and married the daughter of Judge Irvin.

Mr. Wynne worked as a cowboy on the Quarter-Circle Heart ranch for five years. The headquarters of "the heart" was near the present town of Clarendon. In '83, '84 and '85 Mr. Wynne helped drive cattle to Dodge City over the trail. He was next manager of a hardware store at Moberly which up until the coming of the railroads was the metropolis of the Panhandle. In '87 Mr. Wynne took a stock of hardware to Panhandle and opened up and became manager of a store there for McKinney & Huffman. The store building was a combination tent and shed — a ramshackle affair at best. About the same time Ed Carhart opened up a mercantile store there.

Mr. Wynne was the first sheriff of Carson county. Other first officers were O. H. Nelson, county clerk; Cole Bright, county clerk; J. C. Paul, treasurer. The county was organized in May, 1888. Mr. Paul came from Wichita, Kansas, in '88 and established the Panhandle bank at Panhandle, the oldest financial institution in the Panhandle. It is now being operated by Frank Paul, son of J. C. Paul. The latter was one of the passengers to travel on the first passenger plane from California to the Panhandle.

As sheriff of Carson county, Mr. Wynne was called upon to perform what would be strange duties for a present-day sheriff but the most unusual official act he ever consummated was to serve an attachment upon himself. That was in '88 and he ceased to be manager of the hardware store because it did not exist any longer.

In '89, Mr. Carhart and Mr. Wynne bought a hardware store for themselves, and then in '90 Mr. Wynne bought out Mr. Carhart. He kept the store until '91. That was the year of the big Indian scare. There are a dozen versions of the story, and perhaps each one has elements of fact and fiction. The Indian scare is beginning to be like the location of the Chisholm trail. No one can agree upon it. Anyway, a rumor spread from Childress to the Oklahoma line in the Panhandle that the Indians were coming, and were burning, killing and scalping as they came. One report has it that the rumor started when a green telegraph operator on the Denver who had listened too sincerely and intently to the hair-raising tales of some cowboys who said they saw Indians scalping cowboys. The legend has it that the operator burned the telegraph wires for hours. The whole Panhandle believed the tale, but of course there were the usual exceptions. On the day of the scare, Mr. Wynne did a big business. He sold all the guns and ammunition he had in stock. Some of the nest-birds came into Panhandle and barricaded themselves in the courthouse. The scare was a great source of amusement to those who did not believe the rumor.

Mr. Wynne married Anna Minna Davis, May 18, 1890. She was born in Wales and came to the Panhandle county to visit the daughter of O. H. Nelson in 1889. He sold the hardware store in 1891 and in 1892-93 he worked for the N-Bar-N outfit, with headquarters near the present town of White Deer. In '93 Mr. Wynne and Judge J. L. Gray of Panhandle made the run to the strip boundary in a buckboard. The run was made on Saturday. Thousands of prospectors, adventurers, settlers—all kinds of people — were crowded up against the line, elbowing each other for positions which would enable them to get a good start. The soldiers were stationed every so often to keep the crowd pushed back. The pistol shot which would be the signal for the run to begin was to have been fired at noon, but six minutes before a soldier accidentally fired his gun and the stampede was on. Mr. Wynne made the run into the strip on horse back. He rode 22 miles in about two hours and stuck up his flag in a beautiful location near a water hole. He was immensely pleased with it, and so was another "stripper" who came along about dusk with a wagon and several fine mules.

The new-comer wanted to trade his wagon and teams for Mr. Wynne's claim — the settler's whole outfit. The deal likely would have gone through if Mr. Wynne hadn't discovered the next day that he had staked his claim on school land which was not subject to filing. He lacked 44 feet getting far enough. The following Monday Mr. Wynne retraced his steps and passed thousands of dead horses and mules which had been run to death by over-zealous "strikers."

When a chair one hundred and eighty years old sells for $33,000 — that's news. When this is a mahogany chair — that's proof of the durability of this attractive wood. If more proof is needed, you might visit the Cathedral of St. Domingo. This Cathedral, completed in 1550, has much carved mahogany woodwork, some of it considered the finest in the world, still in splendid condition after nearly four centuries in the tropics. A rough hewn mahogany cross preserved in this Cathedral, dates back to 1514 — four hundred and twenty-six years ago. Surely this is proof that your choice of mahogany furniture for your home or office will assure you of something that will outlive you and yours for many generations.

The golden age of mahogany was the 15th century and the first quarter of the 19th. During this period furniture became modern in size and proportion. Chippendale, Brothers Adam, Hepplewhite, Shearer, Sheraton, Duncan Phyfe and others developed styles of sheer beauty that have never been surpassed. The Georgian eventually gave way to the Empire or Classic styles, which merged into the Victorian with mahogany always the first choice for good furniture. This wood has been supreme, without a serious rival for over two centuries down to the present time.

REPRODUCTION of the famous Van Pelt Chippendale Mahogany Highboy. This piece brought $44,000 at the Reifsnyder Sale in 1929 — an all-time record. At the same sale a Chippendale Mahogany Wing Chair made by Benjamin Randolph of Philadelphia, about 1760, brought $33,000 — the highest price ever paid for a chair.

Thomas Jefferson wrote the Declaration of Independence on a mahogany desk. Independence Hall preserves the mahogany of our early Congress. The Supreme Court has never handed down a decision except in a mahogany furnished court room. George Washington, Patrick Henry, Abraham Lincoln, General Grant, Robert E. Lee and Slocum are but a few of our great whose homes were made beautiful with mahogany furniture.

If solid genuine mahogany could be obtained only by those able to purchase antiques, few of us would enjoy it. But new sources of supply have been opened up since tractors blossomed in the wilderness, and solid mahogany furniture is to be found in the better furniture stores of today — in the medium price range. Solid mahogany furniture, as always, is made of plain, straight-grained lumber. When you seek the highly figured mahogany, such as crotch, swirl or mottle, you will choose furniture with the larger surfaces of plywood panels.

bag-worms. And if they are, immediate precaution will save a lot of grief, as well as a lot of foliage.

"The bagworm seems to prefer to feed on aborvitales and cedars," according to Sadie Hatfield, specialist in landscape gardening for the A. and M. College Extension Service. This pest carries with it a spindle-shaped case or bag about two inches long, made of silk and scraps of twigs and foliage. The head of the caterpillar protrudes from the bag at feeding time, but when disturbed the worm retreats inside the bag and draws the opening shut.

Recommendations of the Extension Service for control of the bagworms place handpicking and burning as the most effective method of control.

The bags which contain large masses of eggs, should be gathered and placed in a box covered with screen. Parasitic insects which are present in the nests will destroy any bagworms which ordinarily would hatch in the spring. Boxes or barrels in which the collected nests are placed should be protected from the rain to prevent drowning of the parasites.

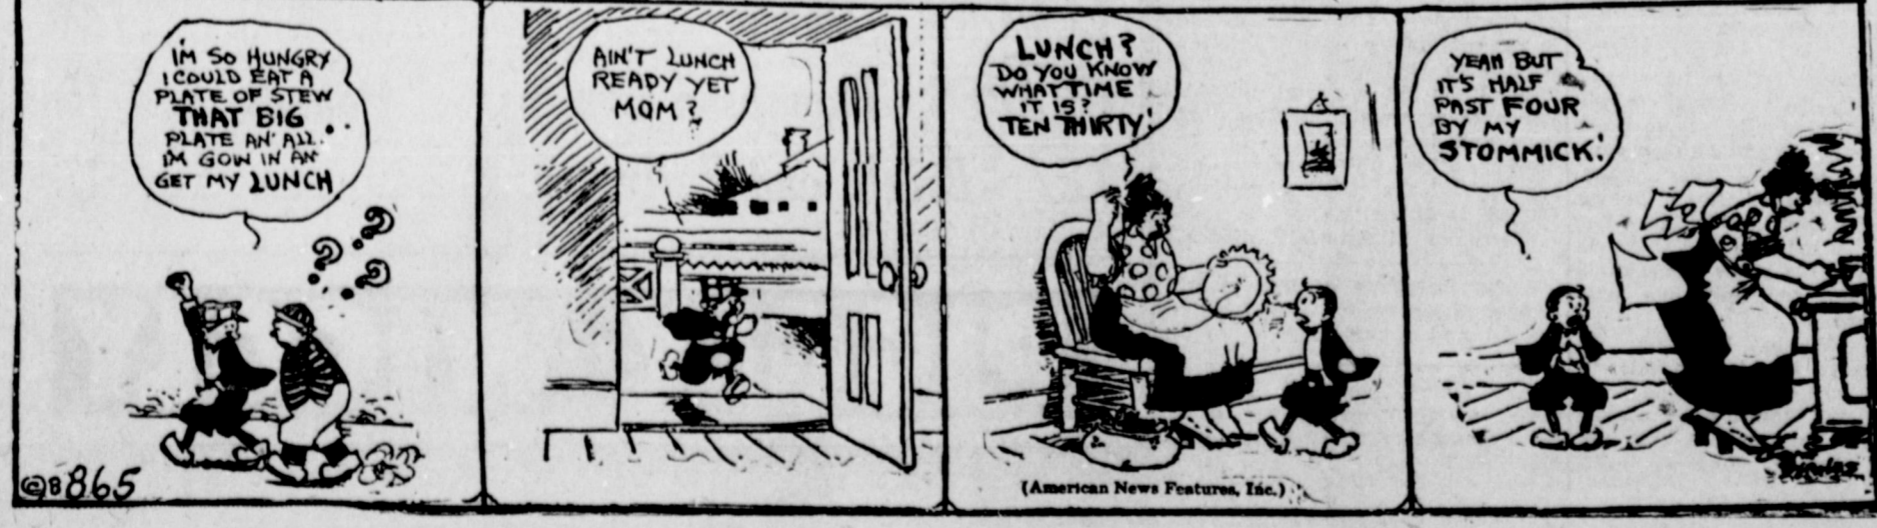

The specialist also points out that the damage which bagworms are going to do this year is already done, but these precautions should be taken for next year.

Since the pests eat the foliage a spray of arsenate of lead can be applied with good results when they first hatch. Two to three level teaspoonfuls to one gallon of water is recommended. "Be sure to spray thoroughly," Miss Hatfield warns. "Careless spraying is like applying salt with a spoon instead of a shaker."

COLLEGE AND SPEND OR BUSINESS AND EARN?

YOUNG FOLKS: HERE IS THE ANSWER One of America's Best Known College Presidents, Dr. Glenn Frank, has endorsed the educational program of the private business school for those not preparing for a professional career.

Roger Babson Says, "One of the great tragedies of American life is our common belief that everyone is suited to college training. There are hundreds in our colleges without desire, taste or capacity for what college has to offer.

Employers Are Agreed that the traditional liberal arts education alone is not preparation for business. Unless his liberal arts education has been strengthened with a technical training the academic graduate may be passed up by those whose business education enables them to offer specific service.

Dr. Liak Psychologist, author and educator, says, "It is a waste of time and money for a girl or boy to go to college unless they have a good reason for going. To get an education is not a good reason for going. He says, "A very good test of education is: Will or can the student ever pay or help to pay for his education? If not should the parent pay for it?" Yet every boy and girl in the country should be made self-supporting. Especially the girl for there is no telling how early in life she may be thrown on her own resources.

The United States Bureau of Education reveals the startling fact that seven out of every ten young people who will hopefully launch themselves on a four-year college course this fall will never finish. The matter of health, or economic status, or lack of interest, of unfortunate choice of subjects — and many other reasons account for the fact that 70 per cent of the students drop out of our institutions of higher learning unprepared to earn a living. How, then, can one guard against this situation? The answer lies in attending a good Commercial College.

M. L. Frederick Says, "My work for many years has been the employing and training of young folks for business. During this time I have observed that one can attract the attention of influential executives and learn about business from them much more promptly and effectively by beginning on a secretarial or stenographic assignment than by any other approach to a business career."

No School will give this practical training in a more thorough manner or in so short a time or at such low cost or on such liberal terms as the BYRNE COLLEGE AND SCHOOL OF COMMERCE, Dallas, Texas.

LIBRARY NOTES

The big fiction prize of the year, the 1940 Atlantic Novel Prize of $10,000 was awarded to Mrs. Antonina Riasanovsky, of Eugene, Oregon. It is a story plucked from a chapter of her own life — the tale of an exiled White Russian family, set against the background of Tientsin, China. It is a Russian story, "The Family," and the author will use her maiden name, Nina Fedorova. The judges announced that the story just did get under the wire; it was one of the last manuscripts received, while four serious contenders for the prize had turned up long before. It is her first novel, and will be published next month. The author is an exile, so presumably not a communist.

John Steinbeck took the $1,000 Pulitzer Prize which he received for "Grapes of Wrath" and started a revolving fund with it as a means of aiding young authors. The first recipient of the $1,000 was Pitcher Lovejoy, a young Californian who is working on a novel. The loan makes it possible for him to give his full time to it instead of only his spare time. When Lovejoy has made a success, he is to turn the $1,000 over to another promising young author and this keeps the fund in circulation.

Steinbeck made the gift as a perpetual memorial to his father who was County Treasurer of Monterey County for many years. His father had let him have $1,000 to be able to complete "Forsyte's Flat," his first success. Before Steinbeck had been able to repay the debt his father died, and he has chosen this method of repaying it. Steinbeck is in Mexico working on the script of a documentary film, "Lights Out Over Europe," and also a book of scientific data obtained on his recent yachting trip in Mexican waters.

Recently Columbia University Press requested bookmen with whom they were in contact to suggest the ten books which above all others they thought a candidate for the presidency should read and be familiar with. A total of 249 were mentioned, and these are the top ten: the Bible, Steinbeck's "Grapes of Wrath," Hitler's "Mein Kampf," Beard's "Rise of American Civilization," Sandburg's "Abraham Lincoln," Emerson's "Essays," Marx's "Capital," Plato's "Republic," Shakespeare's Works, and Whitman's "Leaves of Grass." The most striking thing about the list is the absence of "technical" books. The most favored his home on the Riviera. Jan Strither, the author of "Mrs. Miniver," has recently arrived from England with her two children. Her husband is serving with the British army and a sixteen-year-old son also remained abroad in school at Eton. Nevil Shute, author of "Kindling" and "An Old Captivity" is working in England in the Admiralty.

Stephan Zweig, who is a now British citizen, having been exiled from Germany, came to New York lately on his way to South America where he is scheduled to lecture.

Felix Salten, author of "Bambi," is in exile from his native home in Austria and is now living and writing in Zurich, Switzerland. He is to have a new book ready for the press this fall.

Bruce Marshall, author of "Father Malachy's Miracle" has gotten out safely from France and is in Scotland.

Phyllis Bottome picketed Whitehall last summer with a huge placard around her neck marked "Churchill." She cut short her lecture tour here in May and returned to London where she is doing war work and writing a sequel to "The Mortal Storm."

Lion Feuchtwanger was reported to have been released from a concentration camp but the report seems to have been premature. The latest report is that he is in a camp at Nines.

Houghton Mifflin report that Rafael Sabatini, several of whose books are on our shelves, is at his home in Herefordshire, England.

Other writers who have recently come to this country are Jules Romains, Emil Ludwig, Andre Malraux, Stefan Zweig, Julian Green Maurice Maeterlinck and Henri Barbusse. Erich Maria Remarque, A. J. Cronin and C. S. Forester have been here for some time. Remarque will be remembered for his "All Quiet on the Western Front," and "The Road Back," and Cronin for "The Citadel," and Cronin for writers are represented on our shelves.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Larimer returned last week from a six thousand mile trip which took them into ten states, including New Mexico, Colorado, Wyoming, South Dakota, Minnesota, Missouri, Iowa, Arkansas, Oklahoma and Southern part of Texas.

Yvonne Smith is in Canyon or a few days visit with her sister, Mrs. Ottis Rolls.

Miss Eula Joyce Burleson left Monday night on her vacation to visit in Georgetown, Texas.

YOU see, I work for the electric company and so the other night at a little party I got to sounding off about the way electric rates have been steadily reduced to about half what they were twelve or fifteen years ago.

Boy, did I get the horselaugh! "Sure," says one of the fellows, "I suppose that's why my electric bill is higher than it ever was."

"Hold on," I said. "I know what's bothering you. Your bill is as big as it ever was. Maybe bigger. So is mine. But you forget we're using more juice. We didn't always have radios, refrigerators, clocks, and percolators, and irons, and maybe a dozen other things."

"That's not all," I said. "You not only get twice as much juice for your money. You get better service than you ever got. And what does it cost?" I ask. "For most of our customers it's less than a dime a day. Light, music, refrigeration, cool breezes, good coffee, hot toast, cool ironing, and it costs about a dime a day. It's the biggest bargain there is, and it's getting bigger all the time."

When we were saying goodbye on the porch I gave them one more shot.

"You not only get twice as much electricity for your money," I said, "but you cut your own rate every time you use more. The way modern electric rates are now, the more you use, the lower the price." So I say good night and what a good time I had.

P.S. It sure was a swell party! They asked me to come again.

brate the occasion. Wide-awake little Americans who teased him sometimes about coming from a country where they boss people around and believe that machine guns are more important than automobiles.

But he loved America more than they did. Naturally. He knew what Americanism really means. Besides, he had sacrificed for this adopted country of his and sacrifice breeds love. As the clouds gathered and it became clear that America must prepare for any eventuality he was troubled. He wanted to play a part this time as he had 23 years before when the country had prepared for that other war. But he was younger then, at work in a factory that stopped making typewriters to turn out shell cases for 75 MM guns and he had sons. Three of them went overseas with the American army and only one came back.

Now everything was different. He had been retired 10 years before and nobody thought he could do anything this time. Besides, there was the question of his nationality.

Then came the call for skilled workmen. Men who had the training and experience that enabled them to handle machine tools with the precision necessary to turn out the fine parts of an airplane. Hope stirred in the old heart.

He started out from his daughter's house one early morning to apply for a job. But would they take him? Or would they say he was too old? People said old men weren't wanted any more. And would they question his devotion to the United States because he had been born in a village in Europe eighty years before?

He needn't have worried. He got the job. American industry today is looking for skill and hiring it. The age of a workman isn't so important if he can do the job and hundreds of men who had retired are going back to work. Industry also recognizes the fact that today devotion to the American way of life is not a matter of nationality but of the individual's own love of freedom!
