Green Belt Poultry Show Opens Today For Three-Day Exhibit

Preliminary Plans Laid For Chamber Of Commerce Banquet

RECORD SHOW IS SEEN AS COOP SPACE TAKEN

TOP BIRDS EXHIBITED IN EDINGTON BUILDING NEAR PASTIME The top birds of Donley County's poultry were being allocated coops today as the aristocracy of poultry in this section was being gathered together for the annual Green Belt Poultry Exhibit which opened its doors for a three day showing in the Edington building, just south of the Pastime Theatre, this morning.

Coop space was going rapidly this morning and indications were at noon today that all former exhibit records would be shattered. Harice Green and Carl Morris have charge of receiving and placing the entries. Other FFA members will aid in banding and cooping the birds for the exhibitors. The show sponsored entirely in the hope of bettering poultry strains in this county features free entry for all standard bred birds. Exhibitors will vie for approximately $100 in ribbons, merchandise, and cash. Ribbons will be awarded the first four winners in each class of birds, in addition to other premiums. All birds must be in their places by 6 p. m. today. The exhibit will be open until nine p. m. today and Friday, and will close at noon Saturday.

DO WE DESERVE LIBERTY AND SAFETY?

When we study the cruel, calculated threat of Hitlerism to the freedom of the human race, his utter contempt for democracy, and his bold assertions of iron-heeled domination of all other races, we wonder at the complacency with which some of our leaders regard our unprepared condition.

Benjamin Franklin said: "They that give up liberty to obtain a little temporary safety, deserve neither liberty or safety". In the past two years we have seen a half dozen nations temporize for safety and liberty, and lose both.

If you doubt what Hitler and his minions intend and purpose, read these quotations:

"The pacifist humane ideal may be a very good one, if first one man has made himself master of the world."—Adolf Hitler.

"Our fight is directed against a world whose political and economic order we regard as antiquated and destined to perish. . . There will be no peace until a new national-socialist order sweeps the whole world." — Voelkische Boebachter.

"I have said it before, and I say it again, Man is a beast of prey! . . . We shall see the era of Caesars and the world wars."—Oswald Spengler.

"A new peace shall make Germany master of the globe, a peace not hanging on the palm fronds of pacifist womenfolk, but established by the victorious sword of a master-race that takes over the world."—Alfred Rosenberg.

"Two cultures cannot exist on equal footing side by side. That is out of the question, Hellenic culture could not live under Roman influence. Roman culture disappeared. . . The one in time must destroy the other."—Houston Stewart Chamberlain, Germanized Englishman to whom Hitler credits his race theory and his philosophy.

"You shall love peace as a means to new wars. . . You I advise not to work but to fight. Let your work be a fight, let your peace be a victory."—Friedrich Nietzsche.

CENSOR YOUR SPEECH, LITTLE GIRL

On a prominent street corner here this week we overheard one of a group of teen-age girls, come out bluntly with "I don't give a d—mn", which expression was seemingly accepted by the group without the bat of an eye.

Little girl, that isn't nice language, even from a big, strong man. Surely, you haven't stood before a mirror and studied your face and lips as you practiced such rough, uncouth, ungentlemanly, ungentlewomanly expressions. But to stamp your personality with bold and public use of swear-words cannot but lower your chances for a happy, serviceable life, and shows the lack of finer sensibilities and appreciation for the good, the pure and the beautiful.

True, American society owes, Little Girl, a penitent apology for so much swearing, so much lewdness, so much coarseness, in so-called literature, books and magazines, in recent years. You may not hear that apology until you are old, Little girl—more's the pity—but finally it must come in a regeneration of our literature—when our people have found that realism of the degree of coarse, lewd, blasphemous conversation and description, cannot but hurt society, and blast us in our personalities.

Don't wait for that apology, Little girl, but censor your own speech, for your own good and for the good of those about you—for the good of those to come after you. If you continue to say "I don't give a d—mn," it will come to the day when you don't, really—and that will be the saddest day you have ever known.

EFFICIENCY OR FREEDOM?

A common mistake of many people is to imagine that efficiency is more desirable than anything else. The truth is that in every hour of every day we sacrifice in order to gain privacy and comforts that we prize more highly.

A home that houses a single family is not efficient in the sense that a Pullman-car or a hotel is efficient. Half the rooms in half our homes are used only a few hours a day, and often only a few hours a month.

We pay a high price for the way we want to live because we want to live that way.

The men who drew up the Constitution of this government were thinking less of efficiency than of freedom from tyranny. Everyone knows that a dictator might give us a more efficient government, but no one with a sane mind would exchange the blessings of self-rule for the regimentation required for successful autocratic rule.

Those who occasionally become discouraged when they contemplate the inefficiency and stupidity of constitutional government should remember that the chief object of democratic rule is to insure individual freedom rather than efficiency.—Bagology.

CLASSIFY YOURSELF AND STRIVE FOR SAFETY

Did you know that: 16 year old drivers average only 2 million miles per fatal accident, and, 25 year old drivers average only 12 million miles per fatal accident, while, 48 year old drivers average 20 million miles per fatal accident?

Well, that's the record. Millions of our drivers are between the ages of 16 and 25.

Let's be alert and courteous and accidents will drop sharply.

Whether or not you personally like the tone and purpose of the President's dramatic "all out for Britain" speech, one thing can be said for it. It cleared away any doubts that may have existed concerning this Administration's war policy. It eliminated the last semblance of our theoretical neutrality. It placed us definitely beside England as an active ally, ready to give her almost anything and everything she may need to prosecute the war against the Axis powers.

Foreign response to the talk could easily have been anticipated. London called it "one of the most powerful indictments of Nazidom ever spoken" and British spokesmen, who have frankly placed much of their hope for eventual victory on U. S. aid, were jubilant. The South American press, which often speaks for the governments, was generally laudatory—the Latin Republics have apparently been looking for a strong lead in order to develop and affirm their own foreign policies.

In the meantime, it may prove that one result of the speech will be greatly increased Nazi attacks on the staunch British Isles—the purpose being to reduce England before U. S. aid can be materially increased. It is significant that even as the President read his speech from the quiet of his White House study, black-out London was being subjected by the Luftwaffe to its most severe air raid of the war. Hitler knows that if this country ever is able to push its arms drive into high gear, a practically unlimited quantity of materials of all kinds can be sent England.

Some interpreters read into the President's speech intimations that he will soon declare a "full emergency," as against the "limited emergency" he declared a year ago.

According to legal authorities, this would not give him any important additional powers. Congress must pass new laws, in other words, before the already vast Executive powers can be significantly extended. However, declaration of a full emergency, in the view of some, might help spur industry and labor to greater deeds in producing arms.

Defense officials, such as Mr. Knudson, are talking more and more of the urgency of the situation. And it is true that, while

One for the "old joke" competition:

A negro accused of theft was placed on the witness stand by his lawyer. The judge, being doubtful if the defendant understood the nature of an oath, asked him:

"Sam, do you know what will happen if you tell a lie?"

"Yas, jedge. I'll die and go to h— and burn a long time."

The judge continued, "And if you tell the truth, do you know what will happen?"

"Yas, suh; we'll lose de case."

Could it be possible that "Bits o' Nothing" in the St. Jo Tribune was twitting somebody—maybe Amarillo? Here's what that columnist wrote recently:

This little city was isolated, cut off, from the rest of the outside world for more than fifteen minutes Sunday when Mother Nature played one of her Panhandle jokes on this section. . . but did you hear us crying or bragging about it? We took it in our stride, just as every other loyal citizen of this city of 1000 did.

Electric lines went down under the added weight of ice which formed on the wires during the several hour drizzle and Saint Jo was without power and lights for at least fifteen minutes. It was an experience many of us will never forget, but the pioneering blood of the populace the general production indexes go higher and higher, our production of finished materials of war continues to lag. Both the Army and Navy have been forced time and again to revise their forecasts—and to revise them backward. The bottlenecks grow, rather than decrease.

According to some of the best authorities, the output of finished implements of war will sharply increase in a month or two—or the cause of Britain will look a great deal darker.

made it possible to prevent total hysterics.

In cases where water pipes were frozen, entire families had to go without bathing for more than three hours.

All of this happened to Saint Jo but did we call out the Texas Rangers? Did we ask for Red Cross assistance? Did we call in special AP writers? Did we broadcast appeals for sympathy? We did not. Instead, we stayed up half the night Sunday to behold the lovely sight under a full moon.

The entire city and countryside were turned into a crystal fairy land. Thousands of trees became giant crystal chandeliers, tinkling and sparkling in the gentle breeze.

Advocates of a reasonable increase in the Texas truck load limit of 7,000 pounds (which is the lowest of any State in the Union) point out that the proposal will not increase the size of the trucks but only the amount of the load. The present law, they assert, is unfair because it even prevents the United States Government from hauling in its own trucks a load that would be legal in all the other 47 States. The recent opinion of the Attorney General holding U. S. Department of Agriculture trucks can not haul more than 7,000 pounds in Texas over highways that federal funds helped to build shows that the present Texas load limit law is arbitrary, unjust and unreasonable and should be changed to permit an increase on a scientific basis, it is contended, allowing 16,000 to 18,000 pounds to the axle and 600 pounds to the inch width of tire, and even then, there would be States allowing a bigger load than Texas.

"Lindbergh Flies Alone."

Alone? Is he alone at whose right side rides courage, with skill within the cockpit and faith upon the left? Does solitude surround the brave when adventure leads the way and ambition reads the dials? Is there no company for him for whom the air is cleft by daring and the darkness is made light by emprise?

True, the fragile bodies of his fellows do not weigh down his plane; true, the fretful minds of weaker men are lacking from his crowded cabin; but as his airship keeps her course he holds communion with those rare spirits that inspire to intrepidity and by their sustaining potency give strength to man, recourse to mind, content to soul.

Alone? With what other companions would that man fly to whom the choice were given? (Written by Harold Anderson, editorial writer for the New York Sun, May 21, 1927, who died recently.)

DOES FORD PAY GOOD WAGES?

HERE ARE SOME FACTS ABOUT Ford Labor.

During the year ended November 30th, 1940, the Ford Payroll throughout the United States averaged 113,628 hourly wage earners, not including office employees, students, or executives. They were paid $185,105,639.12. On this basis, the average annual wage was $1,629.05.

According to the latest available government figures, the annual average wage of all workers in employment covered by old age insurance law was $841.00.

If the 45,000,000 workers of this country received the same average wage as Ford employs, they would have had additional wages of more than $35,000,000,000, thus increasing the national income about 50%. Think what such an increase would mean to the workers of this country and to the American farmer, whose prices are based on the national income.

Wage scales in the Ford Rouge plants are divided into three classifications:

- Unskilled . . . Minimum hiring wage . 75c per hour
Semi-skilled . . . Minimum hiring wage . 80c per hour
Skilled . . . Minimum hiring wage . 90c per hour
Higher wages are in consideration of ability and years of service.

Minimum wage scales for unskilled labor at the Rouge plant are the highest in the industry. Top wages for skilled labor compare favorably with, or are higher than, wages in other automobile plants.

Now some facts on Ford labor conditions:

Not only are sanitation and other health conditions the best in the industry, but Ford also leads in safety devices for the protection of employees. Proof of this is found in the following comparison of compensation insurance costs:

The national average rate in automotive manufacturing plants as computed by the National Association of Underwriters is in excess of $1.50 premium on each $100 payroll. The Ford cost of workmen's compensation is less than 50c.

This indicates that the chance of injury in a Ford plant is much less than in the average automobile plant.

The Ford Motor Company has no age limit for labor, and in fact deliberately attempts to keep older workers working. The average age of Ford workers at the Rouge and nearby plants is 38.7.

A recent check-up shows that nearly one-half the workers at these Ford plants were 40 or over, falling into these age groups:

- 25,819 between 40 and 50
14,731 between 50 and 60
3,377 between 60 and 70
417 between 70 and 80
12 between 80 and 90

In addition to the so-called regular employees, the Ford Motor Company has hired, and now has on the payroll, at the same regular hourly wage, thousands of workers who are blind, crippled or otherwise incapacitated for normal productive work. They are not selected for their ability to build cars or to maintain the plant. They are on the payroll because of Henry Ford's belief that the responsibility of a large company to labor goes beyond the point at which the unfortunate worker can no longer produce profitably.

The above are facts. They are open to anyone who really wants to deal in facts. Anyone who wants to get a job . . . buy a car . . . or piece a national defense contract on the basis of fair labor treatment must place Ford at the top of his eligible list.

 The manual training girls are having a lot of fun out in the little "dog house." If you should happen to peep in the window while the girls are taking shop; you should find them all as busy as bees. They would all be laughing over some funny joke that had been told or some silly question that one of the girls had asked Mr. Mac. There is never a quiet moment. They are always chattering to each other. From the way it sounds, you might get the opinion that the girls never work. But really they take their work very seriously. They don't play around on the job. Of course they are slow in getting their projects done, but that is because this is new to them.

Occasionally you hear some of the girls grumble, but that isn't a sign they don't enjoy their work. They just like to hear Mr. Mac say, "Your doing fine, you can't expect it to be as good as the picture." They are not sure of themselves and a word of encouragement helps them along. I think they are doing very well to start making us big thing right at the beginning. After they had learned the names of the tools they were going to use, they started right on their project.

Mamie Barker is making a what-not shelf; Virginia Carroll and Pearl Jenkins are making end tables; Anita Cook, electric table lamp; Virginia Gee Leathers, wall desk; Jophine Espey, and Imogene Wisdom, student desks. Some of these projects are almost completed.

"ISMS"
 During the last few weeks not only the public has had serious problems to think about but students have also been discussing some of them. One of the biggest ones facing us is the problem of isms, that have been formed in America. Most students say there is not much we can do about it, so why not let the government or Mr. Dies worry about it. But there is something all students could do if they realized the danger of these organizations. Not one student graduating should be unaware of what isms are doing in our country and to know what we can do to prevent their organizations. The first step is to erase any sign of it in our schools. There are so many people that may become victims who do not even know what they are getting into they are full pledged members and can not find a way out. Are you an American citizen can you afford to let ism creep and crawl in our country. If you cannot, you could afford to do a little in helping committees such as Mr. Dies which is trying to get rid of and prevent future 5th columnism.

Americans, do you want a government and country whose symbol is liberty? It is a problem for the youth of American to think about and to solve.

The Lelia teams will go to Quail Thursday night. The boys are in good shape and expect to come home with another victory to their credit.

The Lelia Lake girls were defeated for the second time last Thursday night while playing Quail here in the Lelia Lake gymnasium, by a score of 14-8. At the beginning of the game, Lelia led 2-0. In the next three minutes of playing Quail made a field goal and a free shot which made the score 3-9 at the end of the first quarter. After the next quarter of fast paying, Quail led 4-2 at the half.

The last half, the game was all be used effectively and attractively as outside wall materials in the construction of new small homes.

SOCIETY
 The senior class had a party last Friday night! Games of table tennis, shuffle board, darts and various other kinds were enjoyed by all. Refreshments of hot chocolate, cookies, and popcorn were served.

May they have more parties soon is the prayer for the seniors lips.

Although Miss Davis may not be as good a judge of cooking as she is English she says that she never tasted better cookies and believes that a homemaking boy would make someone a good wife.

If the pencil sharpener in the study hall was at the other side would it receive so much attention?

Betty Jo never goes near the senior's den anymore. I guess maybe seniors do not interest her anymore.

It seems that Imogene doesn't appreciate the old West. At least she doesn't like to hear coyotes howl.

F. G. Chester Lee and J. R. do the coyote howl very nicely so we hear.

It was taken at three feet and it will be a honey if its only good. Ask Inez for further information.

Miss Rampy says it isn't nice for girls to hold a boy's hand. Inez and Jophine have been holding each others hands lately. We wonder where the boys are?

"A character sketch of Calvin Holland"
 Louder than words spread his action
 No doubt he's Lelia's feature attraction.
 His swaying physique is used to inspire and in his bosom is a growing fire.
 Why yes, he is sophisticated and speaking of love, not second rated.
 Gracefully he strides about.
 He keeps us gazing; puts us out.
 He's quite a figure about this place.
 Filled with love and also grace.
 All his wit would fill a cup.
 Watch him, or he'll sew you up.

SPORT SIDELIGHTS
 Pearl Jenkin's ability to play ball is not surpassed by any other player on the girls' team. Her good sportmanship and her way of getting along with everybody go together to make her a highly respected girl. She is a good student in the senior class. In the years past, all students have come to know her as a girl with a very cheerful personality and this personal, plus her ability to do things, will be the victor over any hardships she may have in life.

Some of Pearl's outstanding characteristics are:
 Ambition: You'd be surprised
 Hobby: Playing basketball
 Worst habit: Talking too much
 Favorite pastime: Sleeping
 Favorite subject: Shop work
 Outstanding characteristic: Getting along with everybody
 Favorite radio program: Jack Benny
 Pet hate: Bashful boys
 Ideal boy: Tall, dark and handsome. He must be a good sport and have lots of money.

J. F. Johnson is a senior taking a few junior subjects. He has been at Lelia for five years and during that time he has made many friends. J. F. is always ready to do anything for anybody and some people really take advantage of this fact. He always notices if a girl has on a new dress and doesn't mind telling her if he thinks it looks nice, a pleasing factor to most of the girls. He is not in the least temperamental as most people are but takes things as they come and doesn't worry about it. In a personal interview I found J. F.'s likes and dislikes to be:

 Hobby: Ammiring pretty girls.
 What do you think would help the basket ball girls to play better ball? To place them in position like they were at the first of the year. Do you think the girls at Lelia should date boys and girls in neighboring towns, or do you think every one would be happier if they would stick to Lelia? Date anybody they want to as long as they are happy about it. What makes the boys rush to their English classes this year? Well it could be the teacher.
 Favorite subject: English, this year.
 Favorite radio program: Big Town.
 Ambition: Traveling salesman.

WINDOWLESS HOMES DUE TO COME SAYS RESEARCH ENGINEER
 Window-less factories and homes — the next step after perfected lighting — were seen as an architectural possibility of the future by a research engineer at a University of Texas lighting conference in Austin last week. Already some companies, such as a Dallas airplane plant, are adopting the idea to improve the efficiency of workers and machines. V. J. Graham, General Electric Company, Dallas, told illuminating experts, health officials and department store managers attending the University-sponsored meeting.

Discussing ways of eliminating poor office lighting — source of eye strain for countless American wage-earners — Graham pointed to the advantage of having all light originate from the ceiling, thereby assuring uniform intensity throughout any given room.

Al Burks of Memphis was here on business Monday.

HOMER MULKEY - - - Citizen

Selected Tributes to Clarendon's Most Beloved Citizen, From the Viewpoint of Those Who Knew Him in Varied Fields:

Col. H. A. Cole, President Texas Allied Theatre Owners' Association, Dallas, Texas.

"The funeral service for Homer Mulkey Sunday afternoon was the greatest funeral I have ever witnessed, anywhere. It was a marvelous tribute. Clarendon honored itself in thus honoring Homer Mulkey."

Wallace Walthall, Acting Chief Barker, Variety Club, Dallas, Texas.

When our friend, Homer Mulkey, of Clarendon, Texas, passed away Thursday morning at 10:30 at the Methodist Hospital, Fort Worth, Texas, his host of friends in theatre and film business were shocked and bewildered because we lost the oldest theatre operator in the State and a friend who gave generously and unselfishly to all charitable causes in or out of show business.

He was an active and faithful member of Variety Club, Tent No. 17, Dallas, Texas, and his very life and heart pulsed the Variety Creed, which is:

Good fellowship means: when accounting man's worth when his busy life ends, not by dollars and cents do we judge him but by number and worth of his friends. Variety claims you as Brother. Be loyal through thick and through thin. Then on lists of life's lasting friendship, be sure to count each number in."

Due to the illness of our Chief Barker, Mr. Paul Short, Mr. Burt King, First Assistant Chief Barker, will represent Variety Club, Tent No. 17, at the funeral of Barker Homer Mulkey, Sunday afternoon at 2:30, Clarendon, Texas. All members of Dallas Variety Club join with Homer's friends far and wide in extending sincere and heartfelt sympathy to his family.

To those who really knew him, will write him down on the tablets of memory as a distinguished gentleman — "of manners gentle, of affections mild, in wit a man, simplicity a child, and as one—

"Whose powers shed round him in the common strife, Or mild concerns of ordinary life.

A constant influence, a peculiar grace."

HOMER MULKEY, COWBOY
Ed Bishop in the Dalhart Texas "Another good cowpuncher has gone to meet his fate.

Gone, to find a resting place inside the Golden Gate. Another place is vacant on the ranch of the XIT.

It would be hard to find one as well liked as he." Perhaps as poems go the above isn't counted among the classics of the world but many an XIT cowhand feels that expresses his opinion of Homer Mulkey, 64 year old former XIT cowboy who died in a Ft. Worth hospital Thursday.

The 1941 XIT Reunion will be a greater event than ever before but as time takes its toll there is missing from the ranks of those weatherbeaten men of the range many of those who spent their youth on the greatest ranch in the world. None will be missed more than the smiling, genial cowpuncher from Clarendon, who liked nothing better than an opportunity to sit cross-legged on the curb with a group of old friends and live again the days when "the meat was scarce and so was the meal, but of love and joy we had a good deal."

Life in the great open space of the Panhandle-Plains gave Homer Mulkey an appreciation of his fellowman; an appreciation and love that he carried in his heart throughout a career of service. A leader of civic affairs in his own home town, a director of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, head of the Clarendon Red Cross and an active participant in every progressive movement in the Texas Panhandle, this former XIT cowboy gave the full measure of his devotion to the country and friends that he loved.

In the hurry and bustle of the modern day, characters like Homer Mulkey are needed to remind us that life contains much more than the constant search for financial profit; that service to mankind brings more real joy and happiness than material wealth.

Sixty-four years of life may not be considered a long time by the measurement of modern days but crowding each minute and hour of the day into time spent in the service of mankind, Homer Mulkey lived longer than many of us who will have spent four score and ten years upon this earth.

RANGE RIDIN'
Mason King in Amarillo News

Homer Mulkey, one of the Tri-State Fair's and the Panhandle's greatest friends, booster and civic leader, has ridden the trail to the last roundup of awards, although he will ride the trail of service confidence, ambition and loyalty no more. His marks on the trail will be years in fading in the memory of thousands of West Texans. Homer never sang or permitted others to sing his praises, or work in the lead harness. He preferred to work at the wheel where he could carry the burden of the load. Many have enjoyed the fruits of his work, but few realize who was responsible. For 50 years he rode in the saddle of advancement for West Texas' institutions and traditions. His portrait should hang in the memory hall of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society.

Claude Wells In Memphis Democrat

Donley County and the whole Panhandle of Texas lost a most valuable citizen and civic leader in the death of Homer Mulkey of Clarendon last week. Homer, for the past 40 years and more, was a leader and booster for his home town, county, and the Panhandle. Any movement for public good always had his endorsement, inspirational advice and action.

Deskins Wells In Wellington Leader

Homer Mulkey was buried at Clarendon Sunday. He was an XIT cowboy, an early day photographer and in later years a highly successful theatre owner. None of these explain the huge crowd that gathered to pay their respects to the memory of this man. He was friendly, he was courteous, he was kind. He was interested sincerely in the welfare of other people. Supporting his friendliness was a bedrock of principle. Homer Mulkey had a kind heart, but he also had a clear head and a resolute soul. He was an example of what Panhandle living can do with good material. This is only part of the story, but it helps explain why so many people loved Homer Mulkey.

A CITIZEN FOR HALF A CENTURY
Herbert Hilburn In The Plainview Evening Herald

The passing of Homer Mulkey of Clarendon, Texas, who for more than 50 years was a resident of the Panhandle of Texas, marks Father Time's latest scythe stroke, in the rhythmic sweeps that are thinning out a generation of pioneers in this newly developed area of the Texas Empire.

Homer Mulkey did not belong to another day, although he first came to the Panhandle in 1889, and following the trend of occupation of youth without capital, became a cowboy.

After several years as a cowboy he purchased a photographic gallery and became a traveling photographer and visited the large ranches and the most populous towns of the area. Much of the photographic record of that era is the work of Homer Mulkey.

He was a good photographer. In 1910 he entered the motion picture business in Clarendon and was, at death, the oldest independent picture theatre operator in the state of Texas. He was a good theatre operator. Homer Mulkey belonged to today. Yesterday was one, so far as he was concerned. He treasured his memories and its associations, but did not brood over its sorrows or gloat over its accomplishments.

No idly reminiscing cowboy, photographer or theatre operator was Homer Mulkey. Today was his and he did for himself, effectively and with dispatch and then had time for work for his community.

In many civic and fraternal organizations he found an opportunity for work for the common good. And, he was interested beyond his own community. As a director of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce he was active and useful.

We shall not soon forget the quiet joy he showed every time the Donley County Leathers Family, last year acclaimed West Texas typical family, was recognized. He had nominated them and had simply put forth their characteristics upon which they were selected by the area.

"That's our family," he would say, but never: "I first selected them."

A West Texan of yesterday, to whom today was all-important, Mulkey rests on his bier respected and honored in his community and in his area, a powerful influence while living, to be an inspiration to others long after spirit has soared from the flesh, while other men with broader education and infinity more opportunity failed to live and help build and share to their natural capacity.

He kept up with the times, finding industrious and unselfish habits good as a cowboy, photographer, theatre operator and being all the while a citizen in every group, whether it be cowboy camp or populous modern town.

Sam M. Braswell, Editor of The Clarendon News: I cannot in any reasonable space express my tribute to Homer Mulkey. The loss of his dynamic personality in civic and community affairs is so great that we shall all be years realizing just how much his going costs us. His uniform cheerfulness, his natural progressive bent, his eternal willingness to go forward, made up such a potent force in our community that all efforts henceforth will of necessity change in method of approach and execution. Speaking personally, we often differed, but an abiding love bridged every difference. Homer Mulkey was my great personal friend, as he was to hundreds. Clarendon will never be the same again to me. Peace to his ashes. God rest his generous soul.

WARREN RETURNS FROM TRIP EAST

Marvin Warren, manager of the Clarendon Furniture Store, returned home last Saturday after a week in Chicago where he said he attended the biggest furniture market ever staged.

Warren, Frank Heath, owner of the local store, and W. Bryson, employee of the Heath Furniture Store in Amarillo, motored to Chicago a week ago Saturday via Oklahoma City and St. Louis.

"The huge furniture display apparently is an indication that furniture men are expecting one of their biggest years in 1941," Warren said.

The trio visited the Furniture Mart where all kinds of furniture was displayed, the Merchandising Mart where various home furnishings were shown, and the Sherman Hotel where electrical appliances were on exhibit.

First day's registration in the Furniture Mart was a record of over 4800 persons, Warren said.

Mr. Heath and Mr. Warren bought considerable furniture for the two stores, including a number of items never before carried by either store. New furniture shipments will start arriving here and in Amarillo immediately. Warren said that the two stores could now offer their customers better quality merchandise and new lines of furniture, due to the fact many improvements have been made to better the quality of the furniture.

Mr. O. W. Latson was in Amarillo on business Friday.

Fire Damage Slight At Herman Dodson Residence Here

Fire of undetermined origin, starting in a cabinet of the kitchen of the Herman Dodson residence, located two blocks west of the city hall, did but slight damage Friday evening about 5:30 o'clock.

The Clarendon fire department extinguished the fire and only the cabinet and dishes were destroyed. Slight water damage also resulted and some electric wiring was burned.

Mrs. Dodson was in the front part of the house when the fire started and did not know of it until she went into the kitchen.

The house is a duplex, owned by H. J. Edgington. The other side of the house, rented by Lacey Nobles, was not damaged by either fire or water.

NEW YEAR'S RESOLUTIONS

If everyone has not made their New Year's resolutions it isn't too late. So how about making a few? New Year's resolutions are usually resolving to never do something that you've always wanted to do, never hope to do and some one wants you to do. But let's not make these kind. Make your resolutions for something you do that you'd like to stop, such as a bad habit. Some Comical resolutions are: A boy resolved to bathe the Fourth of July. Another resolved to change sex once a month whether they needed it or not. A certain girl resolved to start going to bed early every night in the week. There are other resolutions just as unreasonable as these. Probably you know something about them.

A JACK-RABBIT STORY

We started out early one morning when the sun was just rising, majestically, over the sage brush, Pal, my dog, and I were going jack rabbit hunting. It takes a person with great skill and a steady aim, even to think of undertaking such a perilous hunt. My hopes were high and so were my feet as Pal got in my way and knocked me head-over heels into some cacti. As soon as I was on my feet, we were off, for Pal had started the chase by finding a large jack-rabbit. We chased him for a mile or two and finally got tired of fooling around, so I ran up beside him and leaned over to see if he was fat enough. I decided he was, so I backed off and took aim. I only had three rocks and my sling shot. The first time Pal got in my way and I missed him, but the second shot hit him in the forehead. My rabbit was hit.

If you wish for particulars on this story, see Naomi Morris at the Jack Rabbit Morris Company. Ask at your local store for the best jack rabbit meat and they will send you the company's best.

WINSTON CHURCHILL

Winston Churchill is carrying the load of his second war for England. He has promoted the ability of England in war by all his efforts; he even fought in the trenches in the First World War in order to learn what was wrong with the warfare of that time. He fought in the House of Commons for a larger navy, its equipment, and an air force. He began denouncing Hitler in 1933, and telling England that Hitler was working while the rest of the world slept.

He began his fight for an enlarged air force in 1935. It caused a lowering of his reputation in the eyes of the, then sleeping public; but he did not care; he was fighting for an advancement of England. He fought over six years for an enlarged air force before he was rewarded for his efforts. He is the one to whom credit must be given for waking up the English.

For over twenty years he served in an under capacity, later to be made Prime Minister. He is often referred to as the "War Dog."

For further details about the life and works of Winston Churchill, refer to the Reader's Digest to the article "Winston Churchill," condensed from Rene Krous' book by the same title.

FADS AREN'T FASHIONS

Maria Theresa, empress of Austria was greatly disturbed when Count Mercy the Austrian Antoinette, wearing the latest fashions of the French court.

Maria Theresa often worried about her Toilette anyway. She was so young to be a queen of a great nation, far away from her family, and surrounded by ambitious lords and ladies who fawned and flattered and imitated to win favors from the crown. Maria Theresa could only pray that Toilette would remain simple and not have her pretty head turned. When the picture came she found that her daughters head was neither pretty nor little and could hardly be turned so elaborate was her head-dress. And her gown! It was decorated with yards and yards of embroidery and ruffles.

Maria Theresa sat down immediately and wrote to Toilette to talk to her about her clothes. She said, "Be in fashion to a reasonable extent, but never be too extreme or too fanciful in your dress." These words were written long ago but they still hold true. Smart women know that clothes must have an air of simplicity. If you have a dress that is too often admired, be suspicious of it. Be yourself, not a mannequin. Don't wear clothes that steal the spotlight, but clothes that make you important. -BR

MID TERM EXAMS

Phoocy - It's mid-term exam week again. No wonder all the students are going around with long faces. Though some are happy because they have a whole week's vacation.

Who invented mid-term exams anyway? Let's mob him! Students only take these exams to flunk them. They are just a bother and a waste of time and those who are exempt - well they only get an extra day or week vacation.

What, besides studying hard so they can be exempt can the students do so they will not have to take the exams?

If anyone knows the remedy please write any high school student and the fact will be passed around and appreciated much. -BR

Popsie Dear! I had the craziest dream Sunday night. You should have been there. It was about you (oh! what a dream). That evening Peanut Pete and I saw your pickup go to the hospital. Then that night I dreamed you got hurt and was taken to the hospital and just as I stepped in the door of your room you died - sniff, sniff. I was one of your flower girls. Mr. James and Mr. Warden were two of your pallbearers. Don't take it like it sounds! It was only a dream. I'll tell the rest in between the lines sometime. I hadn't hardly got up when Kenneth came over Sunday morning telling me what he did Saturday night. He went to Hedley and got Joan and they came back and got Betty Jo and then they went to Memphis to the skating rink. You should have gone on and went with your little Betty Jo. She told me what you said to her at the door Friday night. Joan fell and hurt her arm. Kenneth said it had two great big knots and was all swollen up. I'd give anything if we'd went on to Memphis. He told me everything they did. He asked me where we went. I said Oh! We went to Groom and Brice!

I had the awfulest time yesterday. I didn't have enough material to finish my dress and they had sold out and what I'll do? I don't know.

Herman's girl went with Kermit Sloan Sunday night. Do not say anything to him about it because I'm not supposed to know it, see?

I had the whole family on pins last night. I told mother your pickup was at the hospital and then she got me scared. She said maybe you got hurt Saturday. Mother asked Daddy if he heard about anyone being in the hospital. You really could smell the ether at our house. I asked O. A. this morning if you were coming to school. He said no you had to do up the work.

When I saw you at noon my heart was in my throat. You can believe it or leave it. You can't fool a fool all the time.

Are you coming to town tomorrow? Yours forever, Momi. -BR

COW HAS ALTO VOICE. COLLABORATES WITH PUMP TO PRODUCE LIQUID MILK

The cow is a female quadruped with an alto voice and a countenance in which is no guile. She collaborates with pump in the production of a liquid called milk, provides the filler for hush, and at last is skinned by those she benefitted as mortals commonly are called.

The young cow is called a calf, and is used in the manufacture of chicken salad.

The cows tail is mounted aft and has a universal joint. It is used to disturb marauding flies, and the tassel on the end has unique educational value. Persons who milk cows and come often in contact with the tassel have vocabularies of peculiar impressive force.

The cow has two stomachs. The one on the ground floor is used as a warehouse and has no other function. When this one is filled the cow retires to a quiet place where her ill manners will occasion no comment and devotes herself to belching. The raw material thus conveyed to the second time to the interior of her face is pulverized and delivered to the auxiliary stomach where it is converted into cow.

All of her teeth are parked in the lower part of her face. This arrangement was perfected by an efficiency expert to keep her from gumming things up. As a result she bites up and gums down.

A male cow is called a bull and is lassoed along the Colorado, fought south of the Rio Grande and is thrown in the vicinity of the Potomac and Red Atchley's barber shop.

A slice of cow is worth eight cents in the cow, 14 cents in the hands of the packers and $2.40 in a restaurant that specializes in atmosphere. -The Tullia Hornet.

Important Changes Made In Filing Of Individuals Federal Income Tax Return, Notice Says

Amount of gross income—not net income—determines liability, in individuals federal income tax return, a notice to the local postal authorities states.

The Revenue Act of 1940 has made important changes with respect to the liability of individuals for the filing of income tax returns. Individuals under the following circumstances are required to file returns covering the calendar year 1940:

Single individuals, or married individuals not living with husband or wife, having a gross income of $800.00 or more.

Married individuals living together having a combined gross income of $2,000.00 or more.

The net income is no longer to be used in determining the liability for the filing of a Federal income tax return. The liability of a citizen or resident of the United States will be required to file a return for the taxable year 1940 if his gross income in 1940, regardless of the amount of his net income, comes within the amount specified above for his particular status. A return must be filed even though, by reason of allowable deductions from gross income and of allowable credits against net income, it develops that no tax is due.

Form 1040A should be used for gross income of not more than $5,000 derived from salaries, wages, interest, dividends, and annuities. Form 1040 should be used for gross income from salaries, wages, interest, dividends, and annuities of more than $5,000; or if any part of your income is derived from other than salaries, wages, interest, dividends, or annuities, Form 1040 should be used regardless of the amount of your income.

While returns must be filed on or before March 15, 1941, with the collector of internal revenue for the district in which you reside, it is urged that they be filed as soon as possible after Jan. 1.

If in doubt as to your liability for the filing of a return and if your employer has no blank return forms available, make request of the collector of internal revenue for the district in which you reside, or of any deputy collector stationed in your vicinity, for the 1940 individual income tax return and the printed instructions accompanying the form.

Failure of individuals, under the circumstances outlined above, to file returns will subject them to the imposition of the penalties prescribed by law.

Income tax forms can be secured at the local postoffice, according to Postmaster Forest Taylor.

Retired Boiler Maker Says Hoyt's Compound Helped Digestion and Elimination And Eased Kidney Misery

"For ten years I had a bad stomach," states Mr. Oscar Ragland of Hotel Angelus, Amarillo. "Indigestion, constipation and kidney distress, sour stomach, and gas bloating made me miserable. My sleep was often broken, so I was always worn out. There were pains in my neck, back, shoulders and feet. I had no appetite, and lost weight.

"After the fourth day of Hoyt's Compound, I seemed to be all right all at once. The pains and swelling disappeared, I now have proper elimination, I eat and sleep well. Hoyt's is honest medicine!" Hoyt's Compound is recom-

PAY CITY TAXES

Penalties Added Feb. 1

Taxes for 1940 in the City of Clarendon are due and must be paid before February 1, 1941, to escape the burden of additional penalties and interest charges.

Pay your 1940 taxes before February 1, 1941 and avoid the addition of extra penalties and interest charges. Remember that penalties on 1940 unpaid taxes are added at the rate of one per cent per month, until July 1, 1941, when the penalty is increased to eight per cent and interest charges at the rate of one-half per cent per month are charged.

HOMER MULKEY—

Clampitt, Earl Eudy, J. T. Patman, G. L. Green, C. E. Killough, H. O. Wooten, Hollis Boren, Rufus Layton, a Mr. Bridges, W. W. Taylor, W. T. Hayter, Tom Connally, Frank Hardin, Luther Skelton, Lon Rundell, John Gill-ham, J. C. Estlack, Odos Caraway, Heckle Stark, Glenn Thompson, M. W. Durham, Homer Tucker and Sam M. Braswell.

Full Masonic rites were accorded Mr. Mulkey. The Masons formed at the hall, and then marched to the home, accompanied by an escort of Knight Templars in full dress uniform. At the church the Masons took full charge and conducted the interment in the familiar Masonic manner. A long time friend, Phil Farley of Groom, was Worshipful Master in the ceremonies and gave the impressive ritualistic oration.

Mr. Mulkey was born in Gama-lieil, Kentucky, December 14, 1875, and died January 9, 1941. The family moved to near Chillicothe, Texas, in Wilbarger County where Homer spent his boyhood days. His first employment was as an XIT cowboy near Dalhart and he was attached to the camp east of town where he saved enough money to buy a photographers outfit to enable him to take a short course at Ewing-ton, Illinois.

Mr. Mulkey came to Clarendon in 1904 and became one of the outstanding photographers in this part of the country, and won honors for his skill in this line of work. In 1910, he sold his art gallery and bought the Pastime Theatre here, thereby becoming the oldest exhibitor in the Pan-handle and Texas.

During his residence in Clarendon, Mulkey became interested in almost every kind of civic movement, and his civic pride is reflected in the various positions which he held, such as past president of the Clarendon Chamber of Commerce, past president of the Lions Club, former chairman of the Donley County Red Cross chapter, a director of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, and a leader in various progressive movements of Clarendon and Donley County.

He was a 32nd degree Mason and acquired most of the high honors of that order, including Knight Templar and Shriner. Not only was he a man of large sympathies and generousities, but he was never too busy to give aid to the sick and unfortunate and no human was too humble to receive his help in times of sorrow and death.

Homer was a member of the First Christian Church, and attended both church and Sunday School regularly. He was an Elder of his church.

Surviving beside his wife, are two brothers, Willie Mulkey of San Bernardino, California and James H. of Wewoka, Oklahoma; and three sisters, Mrs. Verna Morris of Rush Springs, Oklahoma, Mrs. R. L. Spears of Chickasha, Oklahoma, and Mrs. Hershall Cole of Bokchito, Oklahoma, the former three coming here for the services.

Other relatives attending the funeral were Mrs. Mulkey's brother, C. M. Duke and wife of Wichita Falls, Ralph Homer Duke of Electra, Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Palmer of Wichita Falls, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Hindman, of Chillicothe, Lucile Duke Palmer of Wichita Falls, Alga Roberts of Wellington, U. J. Hindman, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Pruitt of Ardmore, Oklahoma, James and Bill Moorhead of Ardmore, Oklahoma, and Ira Jewell Hindman.

Out-of-town Masons here for the funeral were J. P. Devine, W. C. Payne, T. W. Bain, W. C. Bridges and Roy Jewell, all of Hedley, R. H. Vanderplas, Medicine Valley; H. Thigpen, Childress; A. C. Hallmark, Shamrock, N. W. Durham, G. L. Thompson, A. S. Moss, C. Land, Rufus Bain, S. Jonsey, T. M. Poole, Geo. Greenhow, and B. E. Davenport, Jr., all of Memphis.

Phil Farley, W. W. Brunas, R. G. Fields, W. J. Williams, all of Groom; James R. Christian of Claude; W. W. Simmons, E. E. Minter, and F. J. Travis, all of White Deer.

CARD OF APPRECIATION

In this dark hour I must express my deep gratitude and appreciation for the hundreds of friends who ministered to us in the sickness and passing of my beloved husband. As a sweet perfume the fragrance of these deeds and flowers abide with me and shall ever remain fresh in memory. It would be impossible to name them all, and we haven't the names of many who sought to ease our burden, even those friends on Route one who had Mr. Beard bring flowers for them. To one and all, my heart goes out in thanks. May a Kind Father provide and direct such friends to you in a like hour.

Sincerely, Mrs. Homer Mulkey.
