Ambush injures Hedley man in Iraq

A Hedley High School graduate was seriously injured in Iraq last Wednesday when the convoy he was traveling in was ambushed near Kirkuk.

Army PFC Aaron Bugg's condition had stabilized by Friday, but he was still suffering from multiple wounds and could lose part of his left leg, his mother, Connie Dalton, told the ENTERPRISE. He was scheduled to be transported from Germany to Walter Reed Army Medical Center in Virginia on Saturday.

The front of the vehicle Bugg was traveling in took the brunt of the blast, Dalton said, but her son sustained shrapnel injuries to all four extremities with his left side receiving the most damage.

Dalton said there were many people hurt in the ambush, but an army medic on the convoy was uninjured and got to Bugg quickly. He was treated in Balad, Iraq, and evacuated to Germany.

"When they called me, he was in a coma; and they weren't sure he'd make it," she said. "They replaced an artery in his left arm and saved it. He has no muscle in his left leg and just had a hole between his left knee and foot. They've transplanted bone from his thigh, but he still might lose his foot."

Dalton said Bugg later awoke from his coma. Doctors removed his ventilator Friday, and Bugg gave them the thumbs up sign.

"I'm just thanking God that he's alive, and I'm keeping my fingers crossed on that leg," she said. "I thought we were going to lose him. Now I'm just happy he's alive, and I can't wait to see him."

Dalton was leaving Saturday to be with her son at Walter Reed.

Last Christmas, Bugg proposed to Lisa Marie McCrosky of Missouri, a girl he's been friends with since the eighth grade. They are to be wed in January.

Bugg joined the Army in 2002 when he graduated from HHS at age 17. He wanted to get into law enforcement and enlisted to get money for college. The army recruiter at the time asked Dalton how she felt about his signing up.

"I said he's his own man and has to make his own decisions," Dalton recalled. "I support him in whatever he does."

Dalton's son is a member of Bravo Company, First 27th Infantry, 2nd Battalion, and was home on leave during Hedley's homecoming last month.

"I just put him on the plane to go back September 16," she said.

Bugg's mother says she understands why America went to war in Iraq, but she thinks the US doesn't have any business being there now.

"It's just senseless - all these kids dying," she said. "But as far as [my son's] service, I have a lot of respect for him and everyone over there. I'm just like every other mother."

Dalton said she's received phone calls and prayers from Hedley, Clarendon, and Memphis since receiving the news of her son's injuries.

"He's touched a lot of lives in his 20 years. He's a kid everybody likes," she said. "I just want everybody to know that God answered their prayers. There's still a lot of praying going on, and He's answering them."

Groundwater district proposes pumping floor rates

WHITE DEER - The Board of Directors of the Panhandle Groundwater Conservation District proposed well production rates last week that are a guaranteed amount of water that can be pumped annually in a management sub-area.

The Board decided that public comment on proposed Rule 15, where the floor rates were added, will be taken until October 29. A final public hearing will be held on November 10.

The customary maximum annual production rate is one acre-foot per acre. An acre-foot of water is the amount needed to cover one land-acre to a depth of one foot.

Under the proposed rule, if an area is proven to have declines over 1.25 percent per year, the Board may reduce the maximum annual production rate for that area by 0.1 acre-foot every two years until compliance is achieved. The area cannot be restricted below its production floor rate. The guaranteed floor rates range from 0.1 to 0.5 acre-foot of water per land-acre over 15 sub-areas.

The floor rate is the volume of water that can be pumped in a sub-area and still meet the District's 50/50 Management Standard if all sections were producing. The District board can review the floor rates no more often than every ten years.

Production floor rates were proposed in response to well owners' requests for more certainty in the regulatory environment.

Proposed Rule 15 sets out a 1.25 percent acceptable decline rate that will limit the annual drop in the Ogallala Aquifer to ensure compliance with the 50/50 Management Standard. The standard says that at least 50 percent of the aquifer must be left in 50 years, starting in 1998.

City aldermen okay funds for three tourism projects

The Clarendon Board of Aldermen met in regular session last Tuesday with a full agenda to discuss.

Mark C. White addressed the board on behalf of the Destination Donley County tourism council. He requested funds from the Motel Bed Tax to promote maize days and costume contest on October 30, a fall festival on November 20, and a nativity scene in December. The board approved $1,000 to help advertise these activities.

Anita Aaron of the Associated Ambulance Authority addressed the board concerning a bill for services rendered to a volunteer fireman. No action was taken.

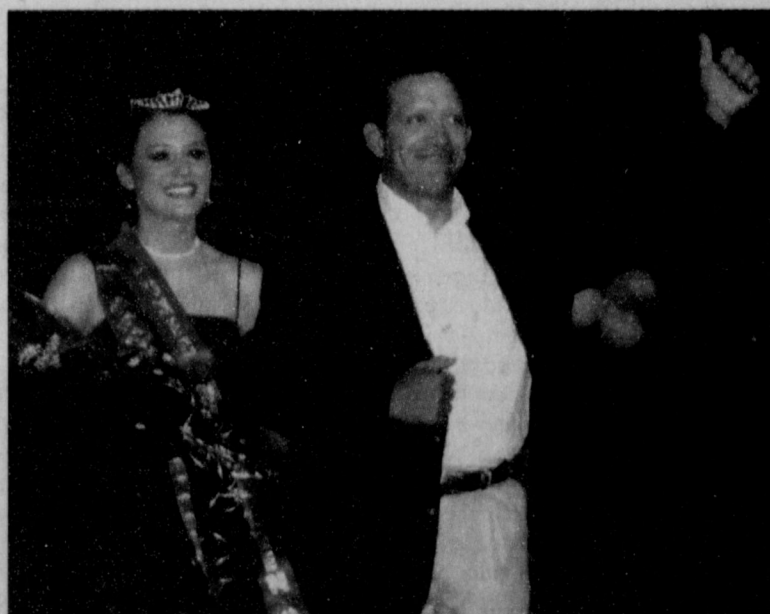

Health insurance bids were opened, but no action was taken pending the aldermen's review of all proposals.

Tarrel Dyer spoke to the board on behalf of Centramedia and discussed the possibility of leasing space on the city's radio tower to deliver high-speed Internet services. He will bring a detailed proposal to the next meeting.

The city's contract with the Donley County Sheriff's Department for law enforcement services was discussed. Approval for the contract was given when aldermen approved the 2004-2005 municipal budget. Sheriff Butch Blackburn said his department had 51 burglaries for the year-to-date and 42 of those have been solved. There have been 23 aggravated assaults and sexual assaults, all of which have been solved.

War on Fat goes global

With just weeks to go before America casts its ballots for president, an important issue – some might say the important issue of our time – is not being addressed.

It's not the aftereffects of 9/11 or terrorism or global warming or social security or high taxes. It's not kids who can't read or old folks who can't afford prescription drugs. No, dear readers, the thing that threatens the most people out there is fat.

Obesity, it turns out, is a big problem. Oh, yes.

And it's not just here at home. It's all over the place. Radio Netherlands Science Unit (gotta love the Internet) reports that 1.5 billion people are overweight or obese, around 300 million adults are obese under the United Nations' World Health Organization (WHO) guidelines, 60-70 percent of the US population is too fat, and obesity has increased from five to 25 percent in the UK.

Obesity is also a problem in Paraguay, Mexico, Indonesia, and Malaysia. In fact, the only place obesity isn't a problem is the sub-Saharan portion of the African continent where people are too busy dying from malnutrition and infectious diseases to ever worry about getting fat.

It's so bad that WHO has gotten serious about it and has given the problem a name – globesity. (I can't make this stuff up.)

WHO has also put forth a "Global Strategy on Diet, Physical Activity, and Health;" and an "International Obesity Task Force" is in place and is working with WHO. This, I suppose, is what has been occupying the United Nations' time instead of helping us fight terrorism. But I digress.

According to published reports about globesity, the underlying problem – if you can call it that – is that farmers are producing more food than ever before, the cost of that food is very cheap for the consumer, and the people are therefore eating more fats and sweets.

Of course in America, a great number of busybodies have been proactive in battling other people's bulges; and for better or for worse, Texas is a leader when it comes to the War on Fat. The actions of our state's top Health Nazi, Susan Combs, have gone a long way to take food out of the mouths of babes in a draconian effort to slim up our school kids.

But Texas is not alone in the War on Fat. There is a coalition in place. Yes, the Lone Star State has allies; and, frankly, at least one of them is more serious about it.

The Associated Press reported Monday that officials in Singapore are targeting fat kids and making them do more exercising. And while Combs just recently decided to restrict the feeding of young Texans in schools here, Singapore has had their special form of segregation going for about ten years.

The plan works like this. Children with high gravitational pulls are identified, separated from their classmates, and ordered to perform rigorous exercises until they lose weight.

The Singapore plan is brilliant. Arkansas may think it's really doing something by noting students' weights on their report cards, but Singapore has the better way.

How far the War on Fat will go is anybody's guess. Will governments begin taking preemptive strikes by removing children from fat homes? Should obese parents be allowed to reproduce when they have so obviously already wrecked their own lives? Will we ever get back to the good old days when most populations could look forward to dying from polio or small pox or pneumonia? Maybe we could tax the hell out of food to the point where no one can afford to buy it or, better yet, just get some good old-fashioned famines going.

I don't know what's going happen. In the meantime, I will be watching the next two presidential debates very carefully to see which candidate is most likely to help me see my belt buckle when I look down.

Soccer game provides insights on life

I had yet another life changing experience this week. I witnessed for the first time in my life an actual soccer game, and I will never be the same.

It all began Friday afternoon. I hadn't seen my boyfriend outside of play rehearsals all week. I have to do some pretty weird things to spend time with this kid. I have to get up early and meet him for breakfast or go jogging. Or I have to go to Denny's at midnight to keep him company while he studies Greek. He likes Westerns. I have seen more John Wayne in the last two months than the rest of my twenty years put together.

Anyway, I was missing him, and some of our friends are on the soccer team. So we decided to go to the game.

I told Will that I had never seen a soccer game before. He was appalled. I explained that I knew what soccer was, I had seen it on TV and played it a little in elementary phys ed, but we didn't have organized soccer where I came from.

He explained to me the basic rules and said I'd probably find it a little slow and boring.

We got there a little late, and the game was already in full swing. I sat down. My expectations were pretty low. At best, I was hoping to have some stimulating conversation with my favorite boy.

I was blown away. I watched these girls running around punching, kicking, hitting things with their heads, on fire with confidence.

See, the thing is, though they were doing these Amazonian feats, they were graceful. Their movements were fluid and strong. Besides that, they had beautiful tans, and their uniforms were cool.

I sat and watched the game in awe. Aside from the general "Oh! Go!" and "This is awesome," I didn't say a word. I couldn't.

When the game was over, I turned to Will and said, "My life thus far has been a waste." He rolled his eyes and said, "Babe, you are such a drama queen."

Be that as it may, I think that my life would have been radically different if I had played soccer as a child.

I certainly wouldn't be so non-confrontational. I think I would have learned early on that sometimes you have to step in front of moving objects to stop them.

Sometimes they still don't stop, and you get knocked down. But the clock doesn't stop. You have to get back up, and you life's lessons

by carrie helms

jump in front of another moving object. That's how the game is played.

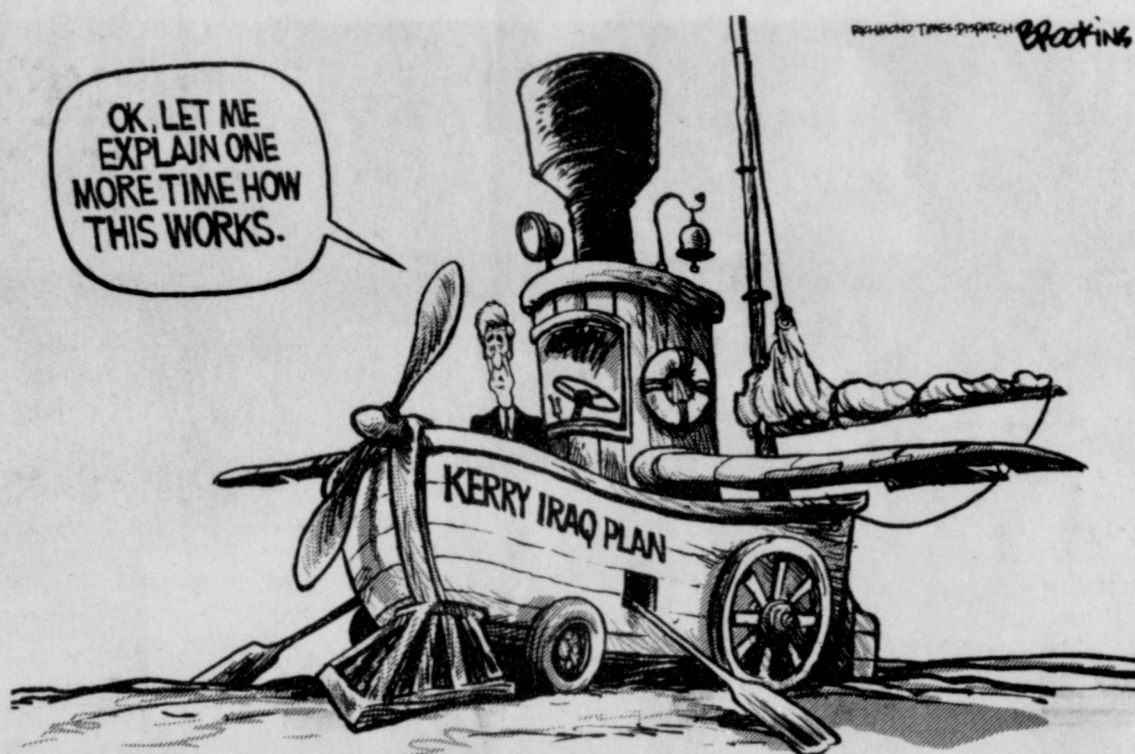

I think I would be a little more competitive and a little less apathetic. I wouldn't be afraid of a little interference. I don't think I would be so prone to giving up easily.

I wouldn't be intimidated by girls who are cooler than I am. They aren't so cool if I can beat them up. I've always wanted to beat someone up. Soccer would have afforded me that opportunity.

I think it is too late for me. I could still play intramural soccer. I could even play on a co-ed team so there would be boys around. But I know what I would do. It would be just like any other sport I've ever played.

I would stand around and pray the ball didn't come to me. I'm just so terrified of screwing up. I've been programmed to think that to make a mistake in sports is to sign your own death sentence. There is no grace, no redemption. To drop the ball is equal to eternal damnation. A fate worse than death.

Would I still feel that way if I had played soccer? Would it have made any difference? I don't know. Probably not. But I'd have really nice legs and a good tan, and I could head-butt anyone who told me differently.

Indian heritage focus of new museum

As a fifth generation Texan, I've grown up hearing the tales of my family's heritage and their adventures in Nacogdoches and San Augustine before Texas became a state. Texas is steeped in a rich history. Throughout the Lone Star State are hidden treasures answering questions about our identity and our origins.

Today, our culture continues, and every day we write another page in Texas history books. As time goes by, we gain new insights and perspectives on that unique past, which is why preservation efforts are so imperative. Our nation recently took a major step towards advancing this important endeavor.

We have the Hispanic culture and history brought by both Spanish explorers and Mexican colonists. But even before that were Native Americans. Known as a cultural crossroad to many Indians, Texas has hosted hundreds of tribes, clans, and families over several hundred years.

They were as diverse in culture as the geography of our state. Some tribes such as the Comanche fought against the early settlers. Others like the Lipan-Apache tribe occasionally formed alliances with the Texans in campaigns against other Indians. The Tonkawa, Karankawa, Caddos, and other tribes are simply known for agriculture, fishing, and hunting. Some tribes still call Texas home.

Recently, the Smithsonian Institution helped protect this important piece of American lore by introducing its 16th museum – the National Museum of the American Indian (NMAI) – in Washington, just steps from the U.S. Capitol. The NMAI was chartered by Congress in 1989 and is dedicated to the life, languages, literature, history, and arts of the Native peoples of the Western Hemisphere – the only national museum of its kind. It is also the last museum built on the National Mall.

Its September opening was a unique cultural moment which brought together tribes and native communities from across the Western Hemisphere. There were representatives from tribes as diverse as the Chickaloon Native Village of Alaska, the San Carlos Apache tribe of Arizona, and the Tapirape of Brazil that marched along the mall in a dazzling display of elaborate, colorful native costumes and a cacophony of drums. The six-day celebration was an emotional and triumphant milestone in their long-standing quest for the national recognition they so rightly deserve.

The five-story building is made of rough limestone that evokes natural rock formations and is set in a four-acre landscaped site that includes a wetlands area and 40 boulders known as "grandfather rocks."

An electronic photo montage greets visitors in 150 Native languages, conveying the significant presence and diversity of Native peoples throughout the Americas.

The desire to protect our heritage is a value rooted deep in the hearts of Texans. The more we know about yesterday, the more we understand about today. I am committed to preserving our history to benefit this and future generations.

Local papers present unfiltered America

By Baxter Black, DVM

What is it about my local paper that I love?

It's called the NEWS-SUN and lists the communities it serves under the masthead – the largest, population 3,500, the smallest, 200, if that. It comes out every Wednesday, and high school students sell it in front of the post office. Or, you can buy it at Safeway, the only grocery store and the busiest place in town.

We subscribed the year before we moved to the community. We read about our future neighbors, the real estate ads, city politics, parades, school activities, and the antics of local characters.

"Letters to the Editor" was my favorite part of the paper then. It still is today.

Ironically it was carrying my weekly column; but when we moved here, it discontinued it! It was a relief, actually. The column is published nationally and written with a 'broad stroke.' However when your next-door neighbor or Sunday School teacher thinks it only runs locally, they suspect you of pretending grandiosity. The compensation was that the closest big-city paper (many thousands circulation) picked it up.

My local paper takes itself seriously. The bulk of the news stories from "Crash on the Highway" to "Top Grads Recognized" are done by the editor and one busy reporter. They are skilled writers and circumspect about not flavoring the news with "news analysis." "Just the facts, ma'am, just the facts."

Small town papers often thrive because CNN or THE NEW YORK TIMES are not going to scoop them for coverage of the "VFW Fish Fry," "Bridge Construction Delay," or local boys and girls playing baseball, receiving scholarships, graduating, getting married, or going off to war.

I think of local papers as the last refuge of unfiltered America. A running documentary of the warts and triumphs of real people unfettered by the spin, the bias, and the opaque polish of today's homogenized journalism.

It is the difference between homemade bread and Pop Tarts. It gives our little community a sense of place in the world. We are important to somebody. We make a difference. The paper recognizes that.

They are the glue, the mirror, the billboard, the flashlight, the semaphore, the boom box, and the microphone of small towns. It is how we hold hands. They care. They show we care. They wear our hearts on their sleeve.

Is it accurate to say that I really "love" my local paper?

Well, it's not quite the proper word, but ... I can't think of a better one.

Homecoming keeps life around town busy

Don't know about you, but last week was a busy one for some of us. For lots of us. It was Clarendon High School Homecoming last Friday - which of course extends down into the elementary school. Everybody participated, which got all the moms and dads and aunts and uncles and grandparents and everybody else in town involved.

Some built floats. Some merely opened a garage for storage space. Some baked desserts. Seems like everyone in town did something. Even if it was "just" to come and cheer the participants on. And those who benefited - our children and students - thank you. Even if they don't say it to you personally, they do appreciate everything that was done, and they thank you.

But let's start with Friday morning and move through the day. Friday was also the Art Club luncheon at Fellowship Community Church. After a lovely Italian lunch with lasagna, salad, bread (complete with olive oil dipping sauce), and sherbet, in a room decorated to match (except that the "wine" bottles with candle wax dripped down over them were really fancy schmanzy water bottles because we were, after all, at a church). Jennie Deyhle Rapp told stories about working as a flight attendant. It was an interesting talk and a fun meeting.

Immediately after the meeting, a number of the participants had to run straight to the school (or straight home to collect the float they'd helped to build and then back to the school). The parade was as cute as it could be, and I forgot my camera to take pictures. At least I got to see it. And the band even marched - junior high and high school together. Looked pretty impressive. I'm sorry a few of you out there didn't realize the parade is only around the school and waited for it too many blocks away. They'll have another one next year. You can see it then.

The Mexican Pile-On before the game was a great success. So great that they ran out of meat. The crowd was thicker and steadier than I've ever seen it, so I imagine they fed more people than ever before. Mr. Baker has assured me that anyone who bought tickets ahead of time and didn't get the meal they paid for is welcome to a refund. The Band Boosters tender a sincere and heartfelt apology to those who didn't get to eat. And next year they'll cook more than the 160 pounds of meat they cooked this year.

And the Broncos won the Homecoming Game against Booker! Lots of people sat out in the chilly wind, some of them in their flip-flops (the shoes, people) to watch it right to the very end. It was an exciting finish for an exciting day.

So rest up while you can, because some brand new excitement is just waiting to get started.

For instance, Clifford, The Big Red Dog, is coming to Clarendon on Saturday morning from 10:00 to 11:30 a.m. The prizes for the coloring contest will be awarded at the event, and Clifford will be giving out books. Anybody who reads and enjoys Clifford books ought to come out and meet that big red dog in the "flesh."

The Bronco Band is off to a contest in Amarillo this Saturday to get ready for UIL District Marching Band Contest next Saturday. They'll be marching at Dick Bivins Stadium at around 3 p.m. (a little after), if you happen to be in Amarillo on Saturday, and happen to want to watch the performance.

Lots of excitement around town. See you there.

Cotton Festival time brings back memories

We've had about an inch of rain during the last week. I haven't heard, but just by looking at the jelly jar on my patio, it looked like about that much.

You didn't miss much in "Watt's Happening" last week. Nothing much happened except Buford and Jerry Holland went to Pampa for a wedding reception for their grandson, Calvin Holland, and his new wife. I haven't met her yet and have forgotten her name. Sorry, Bubba. Anyway, the reception was held at the ranch of the Honorable Warren Chisum.

Buford and Jerry met most of their children and grandchildren there.

I visited for a while with Tanya Holland Burton a few days ago. I had to go to the blood lab for some blood work, and she was the person who drew the blood. You'd have thought she was going to draw all the blood in my body instead of just two drips with a needle so small you might wonder how it can be hollow enough for the blood to run through it. Anyway... I see her once in a while when I go by.

Bill Carson is under the weather, but he's out of the hospital. Juanell ran the store while he was in the hospital; and their daughter, Susan Cosby, came and stayed with him. I saw her at the Senior Citizens, and she told u he was suffering a lot of pain.

Guy and Cathy took Christian to Colorado a few days ago, but they are back now. I haven't seen them, but Su-San told me they were at her house.

Ora Pearl Farris fell a few days ago and had to be rushed to the hospital with a broken hip. Mary Farris has been with her as has Erma and Don Young. Otis and Jan have been there as well. I talked with Erma the day after her surgery, then talked with Ora Pearl. She told me she was feeling ok but didn't think she was up to picking peas yet.

By the time you read this, the Cotton Festival will be almost upon us. It gets smaller every year it seems. I can remember when the streets were so crowded you couldn't walk down them. I have a picture of Fred, Woodrow Farris, Red Hill, and Bill Martin standing at the edge of the street watching the parade.

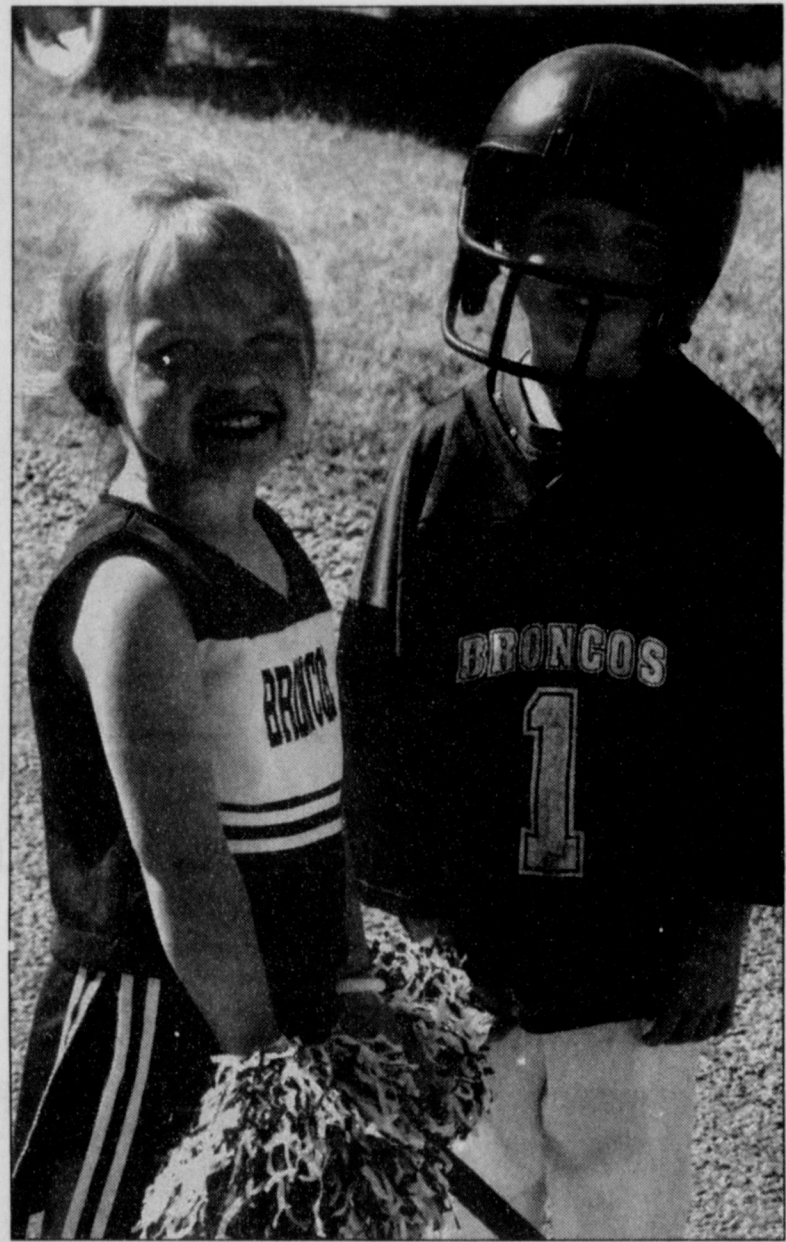

Most of the old timers who organized the Cotton Festival are gone now, but there are a lot of pictures to remember.

Every class at school had a food booth, and other organizations had food. Now only the Lions, Lioness Club, and Senior Citizens are permitted to sell food. I wonder why.

The community was shocked and saddened by the sudden death of Charlene Johnson Milton. She was the daughter of the late Charlie and Eunice Johnson. We extend our sympathy and prayers to Grady and their children and the rest of her family.

Beautification Club works to improve park

Members of the Howardwick Beautification Club spent two days last week cleaning flowerbeds and planting fall bulbs in the park. That back-bending work was done by Rose Mary Winters, Dorothy Arnold, Peggy Cockerham, Donna Murdock, and Leona Lingerfelter with lots of help from Buster Baird and Paul Winters, who ran the weed-eater and tillers for us.

The park looks so nice. It is a source of pride for the entire community with many citizens working to keep it that way. Thank you everyone for all the hard work.

Speaking of the Beautification Club, the monthly meeting will be held Monday, October 11, at noon with the Brown Bag luncheon. Sorry folks, no cute speaker this time, but we will see you there anyway.

Donna Murdock and I were among the 65 or so ladies that met for the first five-dollar quilt class Mary Ruth Bishop gave from the Extension office.

I was very surprised by the number of ladies present - young mothers, mother and daughter teams, single women,

widows, and great-grandmas like me all together with a single goal - to make that perfect quilt.

With the communities of Howardwick, Clarendon, and Hedley all represented, Donley County will be one of the warmest counties around when all these quilts are finished.

When autumn comes, can winter be far behind? With winter comes the increased danger of home fires, which leads us to the fire department and how hard they work to protect us.

Fire Chief Joe Zeyen reports there are fifteen very active members that meet the second and fourth Thursday each month at 7 p.m. at City Hall for training. The next meeting will be October 14.

Happy birthday, Jim Cockerham, and many more.

Donley 4-H members win at Tri-State Fair

By MaryRuth Bishop, FCS Agent
The Tri-State Fair was eventful and exciting for some and wet for others.

It is said that fair week is full of different things happening, but I didn't know that it would be so varied. From showing hogs in shirt sleeves and shorts to wading through the rain and puddles en route to the Arts and Crafts building to be involved in the Texas Beef Council activities, it has been exciting.

Midweek, during the downpour of rain, I waded to Amarillo and handed out Texas Beef samples of the recipe Taco Soup. Amazingly, there was very good participation and lots who stopped to take a sample and recipes.

We have some extra recipes in the County Office if you want to stop by and pick one of these up. I was also very excited to see all of the quilt entries and can see many entries for next year from Donley County!

Donley County 4-H'ers did well in their entries, and we are proud of their achievements. The following is a list of participants and their awards:

Paul Goetze: Best of Show and

Local TFU members attend DC Fly-In Texas Farmers Union (TFU) Vice President Mike Oldham, Pam Oldham, Betty Oldham, and Cole Oldham, all of Howardwick, and 190 other Farmers Union members recently walked the halls of Congress on behalf of rural America.

During National Farmers Union's legislative fly-in, September 20-22, farmers and ranchers from across the country asked Congress to implement mandatory country-of-origin food labeling, pass agricultural disaster aid, enact fairer trade deals, and pass House Resolution 594.

"We delivered our concerns straight to our members of Congress and the administration during personal office visits," Sims explained. "This was an opportunity for us to put real, personal stories behind the natural disasters, import surges, and unfair trade negotiations that impact farmers' and rancher's livelihoods."

Fly-in participants asked Congress, again, to uphold the mandatory country-of-origin labeling (COOL) law and oppose all efforts to weaken it.

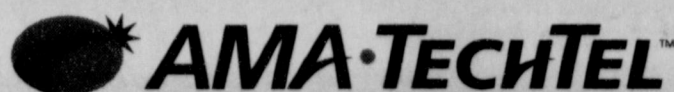

"Congress needs to keep COOL," Sims said. "Mandatory COOL is a marketing opportunity for me as a producer, and it's also an informational tool for me as a consumer."

Days before the farmers came to Washington, the US Senate approved $3 billion in emergency disaster aid for farmers and ranchers suffering weather-related losses in 2003 and 2004. The group urged their representatives to expeditiously enact the relief package to help those dealing with hurricanes, premature frost, drought, flooding, and other natural disasters in many regions of the country. Sims and others also spoke out against faulty free trade deals that have resulted in rising imports and dwindling agricultural exports. Farmers union members encouraged US trade negotiators to, instead, ratify trade deals that are profitable for domestic producers.

Also, the group voiced their support for HR594, which would correct the injustice of schoolteachers, firemen, policemen, and government employees not being eligible for Social Security that they have paid for. This bill has 300 co-sponsors (218 is the majority), but the House leader will not bring it up for a vote. There is a discharge petition, which would bring HR 594 to the floor for a vote but still needs approximately 25 signers to reach the necessary 218 signatures.

Owls fall to Valley

By Will Verstuyft
The Hedley Owls took on second ranked Valley last week.

Valley started fast scoring on Hedley, but the PAT failed, making the score 6-0. The Owls offense couldn't move the ball against Valley, so they had to punt. Valley received the punt but were soon tackled by the Owls. Valley still managed to score against the Owls, but they failed the PAT, causing the score 12-0. The Owls offense failed again and turned it over on downs again.

Valley, as usual, capitalized on the turn over and scored again. The Owls' Wes Shields and Cole Llewellyn got penetration and blocked the PAT. The score was 18-0. The Owls pushed the ball down the field on Valley, and Llewellyn attempted a 48-yard field goal, which fell short. The Owls D played strong and made Valley turn it over on downs.

The Owls tried to make something happen in the air, but it was picked off by Valley and taken back for a TD. Once again the Patriots failed the PAT with a score of 24-0. The Owls returned the ball back deep; but with an illegal block in the back, the Owls were near their own end zone. The Owls fought but turned it over on downs. Valley got the ball back and pushed it in for a TD with the PAT good this time.

The Owls used the air again, and Valley made another interception for a TD and failed the PAT. The Owls turned it over again and, as usual, Valley scored off this with a PAT good. With 21 seconds left the Owls could not score; and the half ended with a final score due to the mercy rule, 46-0.

The Owls will play again against Cotton Center Friday night, October 8, at 7:00 in Cotton Center. The Owls are 1-1 in district and 3-2 overall.

Lightning stops Hedley JV game

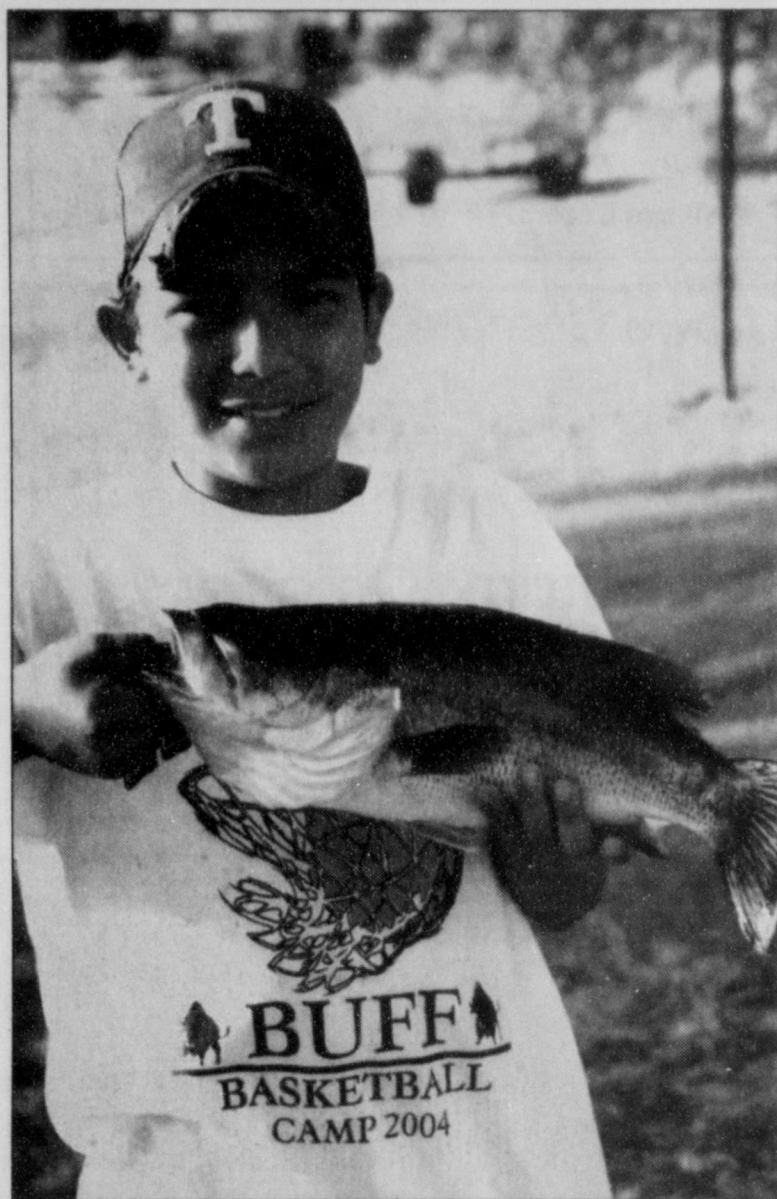

The Hedley JV Owls took on the Valley Patriots Thursday night looking for a challenge, but they got more than they bargained for.

The game was fast paced with both sides fighting hard during the whole first half. The Owls began the game in good position on the 30-yard line, but they turned the ball over on downs. The Patriots then did the same. Cody Glasgow broke the monotony of play with a good run up the middle for the Owls, followed by Brandon Montgomery, who got the first down. He ran the ball up the middle and fumbled, but Jesse Cariveau recovered the ball, giving Will Verstuyft the opportunity to connect to Deston Chambless for the 1st down. From there Glasgow took the ball and fumbled. The Patriots recovered, ending the 1st quarter of play.

The Owls' D played great, but Valley managed to score at the start of the 2nd quarter. The Owls' D blocked the field goal, making the score 6-0. The Owls turned the ball over, and Valley scored off the mistake, but the PAT was blocked again. The Owls ran it down on Valley but ended up turning it over. The Owls' defense made the Patriots fumble with Cariveau recovering again. The Owls rammed it down Valley with Glasgow scoring on a 7-yard sweep. Kolby Brandon's PAT was blocked, but a penalty gave him a chance to kick again, and it was good with a score of 12-8. The half ended, 12-8.

Valley managed to score, but their PAT failed. The game ended after Valley scored due to lightning coming too close. The final score was 18-8.

The Owls will play Samnorwood October 7 at 7:00 p.m. at Hedley's Memorial Field after the junior high game.

Fish story

HJH loses to Valley

The Hedley Junior High Owls traveled to Valley to take on the Patriots on Thursday night. The boys were outsized, but they showed from the very beginning that they were not afraid to step in and take the challenge.

The Owls received the kickoff and started off in good position. Peter Howard ran the ball up the middle for a TD, and Isaias Rameriz ran the ball in for the extra point. With the score of 7-0, the Owls' defense played hard but was unable to hold the Patriots as they scored. Archie Sharp then came back for the Owls, connecting to Will Monroe for a first down. The boys could not hold their momentum and turned the ball over on downs. The Patriots scored once again, gaining the lead with a score of 13 to 7.

Second quarter the Patriots scored two more times, and the Owls were unable to penetrate. The score at half time was 26 to 7.

The second half of play had the Owls coming out determined not to allow the Patriots to score. At the same time, the Patriots defense held the Owls' offense. The Owls lost the game 26 to 7.

The Owls will face Samnorwood on October 7, at 5:00 at home.

Broncos score homecoming victory

By Sandy Anderberg
Bronco head coach Gary Jack called for a new tradition in Clarendon, and that is exactly what he got. His plea to the Broncos was to begin a new tradition and to "win your Homecoming game."

The Broncos came through and answered Jack's request and did so by completely controlling Booker on the field at Bronco Stadium. The Broncos racked up 254 total yards, bested their opponent in every stat category, and achieved the 27-6 win.

"This was quite a Homecoming game," Jack said. "This was the first homecoming win for these players, and it was before a big crowd and a great football atmosphere."

According to Jack, the Bronco defense set the tone early for the win.

"The defense played well early on until the offense got their feet on the ground," Jack said.

Junior Chase Thornberry was instrumental in adding to that tone as he got things rolling with a huge interception and a 44-yard return for a score. In the second quarter, Brad Sell stole a pass from the Booker QB and ran it back 31 yards for a score to put the Broncos up 13-6 at the break.

"Those were two really big plays for us in the first half," Jack said.

Senior Tim Sanchez added the next score, and Thornberry added one more in the fourth period for the Broncos. Jack credited the defense with making things happen.

"A lot of good things happened on the defensive side of the ball in the first half. They did several things well. Our offense made a few mistakes early but finally got going for us."

The Bronco offense did get things rolling in the second half as Sanchez scored off a short run in the third period.

"Tim ran extremely hard again," Jack said. "He scored one touchdown and got us going."

Thornberry added the final score for the Broncos.

"Chase had two interceptions, one returned fumble, one touchdown pass from Quentin West, and several other catches. It was a big night for that young man," Jack said.

Jack also cited the line as having a good game against the Kiowas.

"Will Drackley, Cody Scrivner, Michael Henderson, Tyler Lewis, and Ty White did a really good job blocking up front in the second half and helped us get going," Jack said.

"Brad had 10 tackles, a recovered fumble, caused a turnover, and had an interception for a score," Jack said.

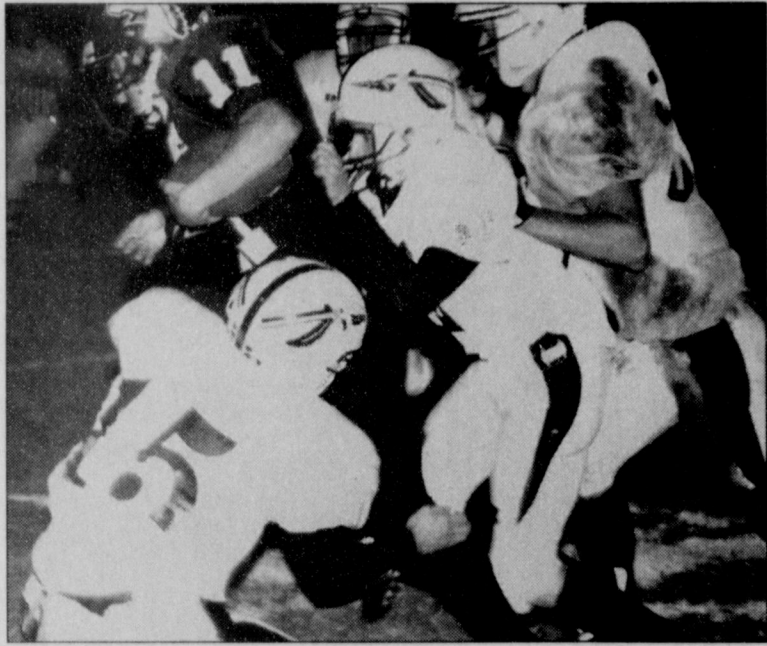

"Chase had two interceptions, one recovered fumble, and one touchdown pass. Will Betts had 15 tackles, one quarterback sack, and one caused turnover. Tyler Lewis had 11 tackles and one quarterback sack. Sanchez had seven tackles, one sack, and one caused turnover."

"This was a big win for us going into District," Jack said. "We are a better team now; we have a lot of momentum."

Jack felt like many good things happened on both sides of the ball and feels things are coming together.

"We have set things up for us to be very competitive in District play," Jack said. "I want to give my coaching staff credit as well. Everybody did a great job."

The Broncos were encouraged by the excitement of the crowd, and Jack hopes to see that continue.

"It was a good night and a great crowd. That is what the guys need, and we urge everybody to come out and support the Broncos against Wellington. We appreciate the fan support and want you to come out early, stay late, and be loud at Wellington. It will help us get things going."

The Broncos will take on the Skyrockets at Wellington beginning at 7:30 p.m.

CHS cross-country runners attack Canadian course

By Sandy Anderberg
Several Lady Bronco runners took part in the Wildcat meet held at Canadian October 2.

Sophomore Shelby Watson finished 26th with a 12:32, and Abby Patten came in 38th with a time of 13:05. Shanna Shelton turned in a 13:49 for 54th, and Kaitlyn Howard came in 61st with a time of 14:17. Haley Shelton finished the two-mile course at 14:39 and 66th place.

Lone Bronco runner Jon McGlaun ran the three-mile course in 17:16. Junior varsity runners competed as well and finished in 6th place as a team with 141 points. Trisha Hewitt was 32nd with a time of 15:19, and Haley Carter came in 33rd at 15:20.

Anndria Kidd ran 38th with a 15:29, and Caitlin Hall ran a 15:54 for 46th place. Casey Phillips ran the course in 17:05, which was good enough for 57th place.

The Broncos and Lady Broncos will continue to work hard as they prepare for the District contest to be held October 25 in Amarillo.

The next meet will be held October 9 at WTAMU.

Clarendon Colts stop Claude, 16-6

The Clarendon Jr. High Colts grabbed the early lead in their game with Claude September 30 and walked away with the 16-6 win.

The game was stopped early due to the weather, but the Colts had the upper hand against their opponent.

After a scoreless first quarter, the Colts put six points on the board as Devin Noble scored on a 53-yard run early in the second period, and Johnny Ballard added the conversion, giving Clarendon the lead. It was Noble again on a 3-yard run with four minutes left in that period. The extra point was good, and the Colts went up 16-0. With only seconds left in the 2nd quarter, the Claude Colts crossed the goal line but failed to convert the extra point making the score 16-6.

Coach Kerry Teafatiller was pleased with his team's play and credited the defense with setting the tone of the game.

"Claude brought a good team to town, and our kids really played well," Coach T said. "The defense made a terrific goal line stand at the beginning of the game, which really helped to set the tone for the rest of the game. We need to keep getting better week after week, and if we do, these kids can have a really successful year."

The Colts will play Wellington at home October 7 at 5:00 p.m.

Breedlove, Dodson win weekly games

By Sandy Anderberg
As fall makes its debut once again, the golfers at the Clarendon Country Club continue to enjoy the weather and the opportunity to get outside to play their favorite game, which was apparent in the weekly men's and women's game at the CCC.

Bobby Dodson bested the field of twelve players on Wednesday with his 65, which included his handicap. Redell Johnston and Wendol Miller tied for second place shooting a 68, and Dan Ashford turned in a 69 that was good enough for fourth.

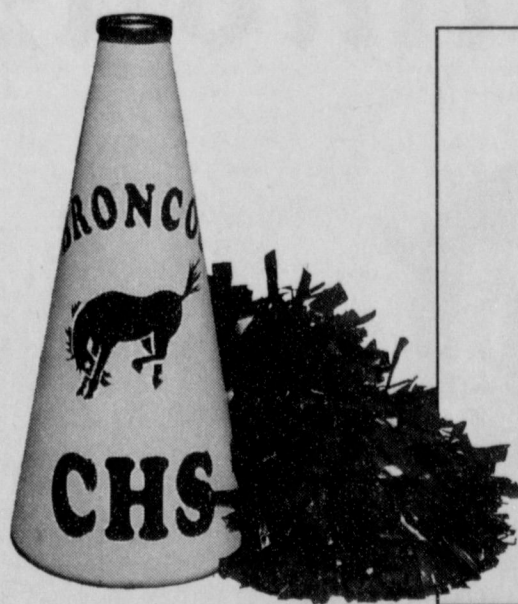

Ashford also shot his age before the handicap was figured in as he finished with an 84 for the 18 holes. Dorothy Breedlove was the big winner of the women's game, shooting a 67; and Bonnie Crofford was second with a 69.

Just a reminder that October 10 is the date for the fall Six-Person Scramble at 1:00 p.m. Cost for the tournament is $240 per team plus the price of a cart. Enter by calling the Pro Shop at 874-2166. Nine-hole scrambles are still being held each Friday night at 5:30 p.m. Remember to call in early to enter the scramble.

Thornberry to serve on Intelligence Committee

House Speaker J. Dennis Hastert announced last week his appointment of Congressman Mac Thornberry (R-Clarendon) to the Permanent Select Committee on Intelligence.

Thornberry replaces former Congressman Porter Goss, who left Congress to become the new Director of the Central Intelligence Agency.

Thornberry has served for ten years on the House Armed Services Committee. He is also a member of the Budget Committee and the Select Committee on Homeland Security, where he chairs the subcommittee on Cybersecurity, Science, Research, and Development.

"Mac Thornberry has valuable experience in reform of national security-related organizations," said Hastert. "He was the primary House author of legislation creating the National Nuclear Security Administration. He was also the first Member of Congress to introduce a bill to create a Department of Homeland Security, six months before September 11, 2001, and worked with a bipartisan group of House and Senate Members on the legislation. I know he will do a great job as a member of the Intelligence Committee."

"I am honored and grateful for the confidence that the Speaker has shown in me by this assignment," Thornberry said.

"I look forward to working with Chairman Hoekstra and the other members of the committee as we work to improve US intelligence capability. Winning the Global War on Terror is the defining mission of our generation; and good, sound intelligence is essential to our efforts."

Abused, neglected children need foster parents

When abuse and neglect occur and children are no longer able to safely remain in their own homes, we are fortunate to have individuals willing to provide care and support to them in licensed foster homes.

There is an urgent need for more families to open their hearts and homes by becoming foster and adoptive parents. To learn more about fostering and adoption, attend an informational meeting the second Tuesday of each month at 7:00 p.m. Meetings are held at the CPS office located at 6200 I-40 West in Amarillo.

Foster care provides a temporary safe haven for children as Child Protective Services (CPS) caseworkers and foster parents work toward uniting children with their families. These children, through no fault of their own, were placed in abusive or neglectful situations by their biological parents. In some situations, they are not able to return home and deserve a chance for a new life with adoptive parents who can teach them that family can be a safe place.

Local TxDOT workers participate in rodeo

The Texas Department of Transportation (TxDOT) recently sponsored the annual Truck Rodeo at the Childress Airport.

TxDOT drivers participated in an obstacle course as part of their fleet safety training.

This simulates day-to-day situations encountered during a normal workday. The driver with the top score in each work group was eligible to compete in the finals. The additional high scoring TxDOT drivers also returned to participate in the finals.

Donley County TxDOT drivers had three employees returning for the finals. Brian Miller was the driver with the highest overall score. Mike Ritchie and Roy Bertrand also had scores high enough to earn a trip back to the finals.

City: Alderman questions administrator's contract

Aldermen considered audit proposals from Doshier, Pickens, & Francis PC and from Gordon Maddox. The board voted to hire Doshier, Pickens, & Francis to conduct the audit of the city and the Clarendon Economic Development Corporation for 2003-2004.

The board discussed paying for the city administrator's dues in professional and civic organizations, an issue that had come up at a previous meeting.

Alderman Janice Knorpp said the matter was a moot point since paying such dues was spelled out in the administrator's contract. Other aldermen seemed satisfied with her position, but Alderman Tommy Hill was not. He said he had never seen the administrator's contract. Other board members insisted that the entire board had reviewed the contract prior to hiring City Administrator Sean Pate and noted that it was a benefit to the city for Pate to belong to professional organizations, which offer meetings, trainings, and information.

Hill still had questions. "What would the taxpayers think of this?" Hill asked regarding the professional dues.

"Do they want someone who's incompetent?" Pate responded.

Hill said the city had bills it wasn't paying and vehicles it wasn't repairing but was paying for Pate's dues. Pate and members of the board asked Hill what he was talking about, but Hill never gave any specific examples.

Building permit fees were discussed. Aldermen agreed that Ordinance 143 should be amended to charge $10 for a permit for construction valued at $250 to $1,000 and to charge an additional $1 for every additional $1,000 or fraction thereof. A public hearing on this will be held October 12.

In his administrator's report, Pate said the city was making progress in tearing down dilapidated houses, and he reported that the old North Ward School building is scheduled for demolition.

4-H Spotlight

By Ashlyn Tubbs, Club Reporter

This week's 4-H Spotlight is on 14-year-old Paul Goetze.

Paul has been in 4-H for seven years and has participated in many of the events it has to offer.

"4-H has a lot of different contests to participate in," Goetze said. "You can't really do any of them anywhere else."

Some of the many 4-H events that he has participated in include livestock judging; livestock shows; photography; plant identification; crafts, food, and nutrition; and clothing and textiles.

"I like photography the best because you get to go to a lot of different places and take pictures of things," said Goetze.

Paul has recently won an award in 4-H called the "I Dare You Award." The award is given to junior 4-H members who show outstanding potential leadership skills, possess personal integrity, and are at least 14 years of age.

"I've met a lot of new people in 4-H," he said. "A lot of the events I have participated in have taught me good sportsmanship."

Some of Paul's interests include band, theater, science, reading, and playing video games. In his spare time, he enjoys golfing and hunting with his family. He is active in school, where he participates in Junior Historians, FFA, Clarendon High School Band, and UIL events including science, speech, and current events. He also attends the Beautiful Savior Lutheran Church.

The 4-H members and county agents appreciate Paul for always staying in 4-H and supporting it. They would also like to congratulate him for all his achievements he has made in 4-H.

LEGAL NOTICES

NOTICE TO TAXPAYER

Pursuant to Texas Transportation Code Chapter 258, the Commissioners Court of Donley County, Texas, intends to consider the adoption of an official county road map.

The purpose of this action is to clarify the public versus private status of the existing rural road network. After adoption, the official county road map will serve as conclusive evidence of the public's right of access over roads shown on the map and of the county's authority to spend public money to maintain the roads included on the map.

The Commissioners Court of Donley County will hold a public meeting on Monday, November 8, 2004, at 1:30 p.m. in the Commissioner's Courtroom, at which a citizen has the right to protest the county's claim of a public interest in a road included on the map. A person may also file a written protest to the County Judge at any time prior to the public meeting. 42-5tc

PUBLIC NOTICE

CITY OF CLARENDON AMENDMENT OF ORDINANCE NO. 143 INCREASING BUILDING PERMIT RATES IN THE CITY OF CLARENDON

The City of Clarendon is giving notice of a Public Hearing to be held October 12, 2004, in the Board Room at City Hall to amend Ordinance No. 143, increasing building permit rates. The amended rates would be $10.00 for all buildings costing $1,000.00 or less, and $1.00 for each additional $1,000.00 or fraction thereof. The Ordinance is available for review at City Hall during regular business hours. 42-1tc

NOTICE OF RECEIPT OF APPLICATION AND INTENT TO OBTAIN AIR PERMIT PROPOSED AIR QUALITY PERMIT NO. 73081L001

APPLICATION: Pampa Concrete Co., Inc., has applied to the Texas Commission on Environmental Quality (TCEQ) for issuance of Air Quality Permit No. 73081L001 which would authorize construction of their Portable Concrete Plant located at 1602 East 2nd, Clarendon, Donley County, Texas. The facility will emit the following air contaminants: particulate matter (aggregate, cement, and road dust).

This application was submitted to the TCEQ on August 17, 2004. The application is available for viewing and copying at the TCEQ central office, the TCEQ Amarillo regional office, and the Donley County Library, 201 East 3rd, Clarendon, Texas. The facility's compliance file, if any exists, is available for public review in the Amarillo regional office of the TCEQ.

The TCEQ executive director has determined the application is administratively complete and will conduct a technical review of the application.

PUBLIC COMMENT/PUBLIC MEETING: You may submit public comments, a request for a public meeting, or request a contested case hearing to the Office of the Chief Clerk at the address below. The TCEQ will consider all public comments in developing a final decision on the application. The deadline to submit public comments is 30 days after newspaper notice is published.

The purpose of a public meeting is to provide the opportunity to submit comments or ask questions about the application. A public meeting about the application may be held if the executive director determines that there is a significant degree of public interest in the application or if requested by a local legislator. A public meeting is not a contested case hearing.

If only comments are received on the application, the response to comments, along with notice of the executive director's action on the application, will be mailed to everyone who submitted comments or is on the mailing list for this application.

If a hearing request is timely filed, the executive director will complete the technical review, issue a preliminary decision on the application, and a Notice of Application and Preliminary Decision will be published and mailed to those who are on the mailing list for this application. That notice will contain the final deadline for submitting public comments.

After the final deadline for public comments following any required Notice of Application and Preliminary Decision, the executive director will consider the comments and prepare a response to all relevant and material, or significant public comments. If comments are received, the response to comments, along with the executive director's decision on the application, will then be mailed to everyone who submitted public comments or is on a mailing list for this application.

OPPORTUNITY FOR A CONTESTED CASE HEARING: You may request a contested case hearing. A contested case hearing is a legal proceeding similar to a civil trial in state district court. Unless a written request for a contested case hearing is filed within 30 days from this notice, the executive director may approve this application. If no hearing request is received within this 30-day period, no further opportunity for hearing will be provided. A contested case hearing will only be granted based on disputed issues of fact that are relevant and material to the Commission's decision on the application. Further, the Commission will only grant a hearing on those issues raised during the public comment period and not withdrawn.

A person who may be affected by emissions of air contaminants from the facility is entitled to request a hearing. If requesting a contested case hearing, you must submit the following: (1) your name (or for a group or association, an official representation), mailing address, daytime phone number, and fax number, if any; (2) applicant's name and permit number; (3) the statement "[w]e request a contested case hearing;" (4) a specific description of how you use the property which may be impacted by the facility. If the request is made by a group or an association, the one or more members who have standing to request a hearing, and the interests which the group or association seeks to protect, must also be identified. You may also submit your proposed adjustments to the application/permit which would satisfy your concerns. Requests for a contested case hearing must be submitted in writing within 30 days following this notice to the Office of the Chief Clerk, at the address below.

If a hearing request is timely filed, additional notice may be provided. Following the close of all applicable comment and request periods, the executive director will forward the application and any requests for contested case hearing to the TCEQ Commissioners for their consideration at a scheduled Commission meeting. If a hearing is granted, the subject of a hearing will be limited to disputed issues of fact relating to relevant and material air quality concerns raised during the comment period. Issues such as property values, noise, traffic safety, and zoning are outside of the Commission's jurisdiction to address in this proceeding. MAILING LIST: In addition to submitting public comments, you may ask to be placed on a mailing list to receive future public notices for this specific application mailed by the Office of the Chief Clerk by sending a written request to the TCEQ Office of the Chief Clerk at the address below.

INFORMATION: Written public comments or requests for a public meeting or contested case hearing should be submitted to the Office of the Chief Clerk, MC-105, TCEQ, PO Box 13087, Austin, Texas 78711-3087. THANK YOU

On behalf of the Rick Gage Go Tell Ministries and the Go Tell Greenbelt Crusade steering committee, we would like to thank everyone who had a part in the preparation, planning, and the crusade itself. We know that if we listed every name of every person who helped in some way, we would run out of room and we would probably miss some one very important. Rest assured that we shall never forget the sacrifice of so many, even when trials stood in our path. The differences that have been made and will be made in our community will have eternal consequences. God opened His Heavens and poured blessings out on us in a way that we have never seen before in our community. Each night as we looked up and saw the numbers of lives that were being changed, it was such an awesome feeling to be a part of God's plan to touch the hearts and lives of hundreds of people. On Wednesday night as we looked to see three hundred and five people moving into the counseling area, it burned an image into our minds that will never fade. All of this would not have been possible without the help and support of many.

A special thank you to Rick Gage Go Tell Ministries for their vision to take their ministry to "No Town too Small". We would also like to thank Clarendon Consolidated Independent School District for their support and the use of their facilities.

Thank you, Go Tell Greenbelt Crusade Steering Committee

I would like to express my heart-felt appreciation to those who served on the steering committee of the Go Tell Greenbelt crusade. Your sacrifices and hard work have blessed me and all of the Greenbelt area. God has poured out His spirit on our community because of your commitment and dedication.

The work of Bill Stavenhagen, Lori Howard, Steve Cook, Truman Ledbetter, Shirley Osburn, Debbie Roberts, Britt Patton, James Thomas, Kelly and Linda Hill, Marva Thomas, Barbara Helms, Jewell Houston, Valerie Ashcraft, Edwin Campbell, Ann Hommel, Bruce Howard, Anthony Knowles, Shirley Osburn, Joburta Helms, and the many members of each of these committees, has accomplished what only God had envisioned for our community. Thank you for sharing the vision.

Will Rogers used the newspapers to reach millions of Americans. His witty and profound observations in his regular newspaper columns made Will Rogers a leading journalist of the early 20th Century.
