INDIAN DEPREDATIONS
The Shermans Patriot has news from a reliable source that the Indians are again committing depredations on the frontier. On the head of Denton and Clear Creek, several families have been murdered and most of the stock killed or carried off.

The mail rider on the route from Fort Arbuckle to Gainesville, Texas, was recently pursued by a party of Comanches, but after giving him a pretty close race for several miles, he succeeded in making his escape unhurt.

(From The Galveston Civilian)
"The Sexton's report of the city of Houston, from 1st to 9th inst., gives one third of the deaths from delirium tremens. This is no unusual proportion of the deaths from intemperance in many places. No disease kills more; but no panic is produced by this fatal malady."

YELLOW FEVER AT GALVESTON
The Galveston News reports a considerable increase in the mortality there during the last few days. For the four days ending Sept. 28, the number of bur-

'Swiss Family Robinson'
Will Be Presented On NBC-TV Sun., Oct. 12

"Swiss Family Robinson," a dramatic hour-long presentation of the classic story of a shipwrecked family, will be on NBC-TV Sunday, October 12. It is being sponsored by Bob Moss' Rexall Drug Store, along with some 10,000 Rexall druggists across the country, to celebrate the opening next morning of the Rexall original 1c Sale.

The TV version of "Swiss Family Robinson" should appeal to old and young, presenting as it does the problem of staying alive in an unknown land. The father and mother, with their four boys, only survivors of a shipwreck, build a civilized life on their tropical island in spite of weather, wild beasts and other difficulties.

Viewers will also learn what tremendous purchasing power the penny still has. During Rexall 1c Sale days, Monday, October 13 through Saturday, October 18, customers can buy two identical Rexall items for the price of one plus 1c. In addition, special Bonus Buys will also be offered at reduced prices.

As a special service to shoppers, advance shopping list order blanks will be obtainable at the store listing One-Cent Sale merchandise. These may be filled out and left at the store prior to the sale. The merchandise is then packed and reserved for the shopper and may be called for at any time during the sale.

The Rexall Fall One-Cent Sale is one of two such sales held each year by Rexall drugstores throughout the United States. It is being widely advertised in newspapers, Sunday newspaper and farm magazines, and on radio and television.

The first newspaper ever printed on a train was issued by Thomas A. Edison when he was between twelve and thirteen years old. As a newsboy on a Grand Trunk local between Port Huron and Detroit, he set up a second-hand printing press in the baggage car to print his "Weekly Herald".

Les Beaux Art Club Observes Guest Day

Les Beaux Art Club presented James Dean Howze in an art exhibit and as a guest speaker Friday afternoon, October 3, at Patching Club House.

The club president, Mrs. George Benson, made a very gracious introduction of the speaker giving a short resume of his education and experience. Mr. Howze is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Howze of Clarendon and is an instructor in the Art Department at Texas Tech. He attended Clarendon Schools and Austin College, Sherman, Texas where he received his BA degree. After attending Officer Candidate School and two and a half years in military service, he studied twelve months in the Art Center School at Los Angeles taking a Masters degree in Design. He has also worked in the Graphic Section of Training Aids at Fort Sill, Oklahoma and has studied at the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor.

In his talk, Mr. Howze used illustrations from his portfolio showing work which he had done in Advertising Art and Design. He explained how a designer or artist had done the basic work on every thing that is bought, sold, and used in our homes.

After the talk, guests were free to view the many examples of Mr. Howze's work in oils, water-colors, charcoal, chalk and other media. On tables were examples of commercial art used in advertising as well as work done in the Graphics Department of Training Aids at Fort Sill.

During the social hour guests were served refreshments in the dining area. The mahogany tea table was a shining background for the silver service. A beautiful arrangement of pyracantha flanked by avocado green tapers in silver candelabra completed the table decor. Mrs. George Benson presided at the silver service.

The entertaining rooms were decorated with very lovely arrangements of dahlias, pyracantha and castor beans with miniatures by Mrs. Forrest Sawyer. Hostesses wore corsages of pyracantha or roses. The club president, Mrs. Benson, and Mrs. J. H. Howze, mother of the speaker, were each presented corsages of roses. Approximately one hundred members and guests attended.

The social committee, composed of Mesdames Forrest Sawyer, Frank White, Jr., W. G. Word, Dick Cooke, and Miss Katherine Ross served as hostesses for the afternoon.

ASHTOLA NEEDLE CLUB

The Ashtola Needle Club met Oct. 2nd with 13 present. Willie Putman and Bernice Lamberson joined the club. After a short business session, Ruby Jewel Hardin, program leader, took charge of the tackey party. Lena Mae Graham and Veda Mahaffey won first and second place for being the tackest dressed. Several games were played.

October 16 will be a doll making program. Bring material, cotton and patterns of any doll or animal patterns you have. Lena Mae Graham will be hostess and Viola Graham leader. —Reporter.

Guest Day At Book Club

Members of the 1926 Book Club and their guests met at Patching Club House Tuesday afternoon, October 7, for a guest day program. Mrs. Lloyd Johnson was reviewer for the afternoon. Entertaining rooms were decorated with artistic arrangements of assorted fall flowers. Guests were greeted by Mrs. John Gillham and Mrs. B. C. Antrobus.

After welcoming those present, Mrs. Gillham introduced Mrs. Johnson who very ably reviewed the book, "The Gallant Mrs. Stonewall" by Harnett Kane, a story of the life of Stonewall Jackson and his wife; a story of her love and devotion thru all of his struggling during the Civil War period.

During the social hour, refreshments were served from a table carrying out the fall motif, laid with an ecru linen cloth and a centerpiece of pyracantha flanked by orange tapers. Tinted punch and cookies were served with Mrs. Gillham presiding at the table.

Hostesses for the afternoon were members of the social committee and included Mrs. B. C. Antrobus, Mrs. Clyde Hudson, Mrs. C. E. Bairfield, and Mrs. J. R. Brandon. —Reporter.

SCIENCE CLUB MEETS

The Clarendon Jr. High Science Club met last Monday night, Oct. 6th. Dr. George Smith was the guest speaker.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Danny Ray. Jerry Elmore introduced Dr. Smith who gave a very informative talk on hypnosis. We thoroughly enjoyed this very interesting talk and hope that Dr. Smith will again be our guest in the near future.

Absolute simplicity in styling is achieved with the twin "air scoop" grille housing dual headlamps and a low, cleanly styled body, topped by a slim-line roof. Vista models are also featured in the Bonneville and Star Chief series.

Chicken Every Day

The time was not too long ago when chicken was a specialty meat to be enjoyed at special times. "Chicken every Sunday" was the way one novelist put it in her book title.

Today, chicken is still special, but in other respects. Of all meats, today's chicken is unquestionably the best value in the market. In the fact of skyrocketed red meat prices, the competitive nature of the broiler business and continued progress in broiler growing have provided the housewife with a delectable alternative dish which should appear on every table several times each week.

Because more broilers are being grown and marketed each successive year (a current week's placements of chicks for broiler production in Texas alone is normally around two and a half million), and because better broilers are being produced at less cost than ever before, the food-wise shopper should head for the broiler counter regularly.

This transition in the broiler business has been phenomenal during the past seven years. In 1950, broilers were selling at 31 and 32 cents a pound, prices that would make today's broiler growers wealthy in a hurry. Cost of production at that time was about 25 cents a pound, which still left an excellent profit spread.

Today, cost of production in Texas runs about 18 cents a pound, with broilers bringing a much narrower profit margin. Since the volume of operation is also larger, however, broiler-growing is still a big and sometimes profitable business.

The housewife is still the one who profits most, however, since the poultry processor who dresses the bird for market works on an equally competitive and slim profit margin as does the grower and the food store often "specials" broilers.

Since the poultry processor who dresses the bird for market works on an equally competitive and slim profit margin as does the grower, and since the food store frequently foregoes profit to use broilers as a "special" in drawing in customers, the housewife is still the one who profits most from the booming broiler business.

Fried or Fricassee, chicken is good enough and inexpensive enough to enjoy every day.

Quail Need Ample Cover For Winter

AUSTIN—Texas' bumper crop of quail may not lead to good hunting in some areas unless sufficient winter cover has already been provided, reports the Director of Wildlife Restoration of the Game and Fish Commission.

If farmers and ranchers have not taken steps to supply the quail with some sort of permanent woody cover and food, they can expect to find fewer birds this winter than are in their areas now.

"The natural fall shifting will account for some of the movement," Al Springs, Commission Wildlife Biologist, said, "but the first freeze will cause quail to begin searching for new places with protection from predators and the weather."

Some brush pile cover added now might help keep quail, Springs added, but attention should have been given to this phase of quail management earlier for a good fall hunt.

Reports over the state still indicate this will be the best quail season in several years. The season is from December 1 through January 16, except in special regulatory areas. The law provides a bag limit of 12 a day and not more than 36 a week or in possession.

"Proper wildlife land management is the only presently known method of keeping quail in an area," the Director said.

FARM NEWS

from the County ASC Committee

ACREAGE RESERVE

Land in the Acreage Reserve this year is not to be grazed before January 1, 1959; however, it is permissible to seed small grains any time during the fall.

CONSERVATION RESERVE

Widespread interest in the Conservation Reserve, the only Soil Bank program available in 1959, indicates that participation by farmers in Donley County may be much greater than in previous years, Chairman Cooke of the Donley County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee announced Oct. 1.

Under Conservation Reserve regulations, applications for contracts have to be accepted in accordance with a definite priority plan - - on the basis of the best offer per acre. Therefore, farmers who offer to accept contracts at a rate less than the maximum set for their farms will increase the possibility of their applications being accepted.

The Chairman explained that if this considerable interest on the part of the farmers is reflected in formal applications for Conservation Reserve contracts, the result could be that applications will exceed funds available for program payments in Donley County. Chairman Cooke explained the required order of priority in which Conservation Reserve contracts will be awarded as follows:

1. Farmers who had all of their cropland in the Acreage Reserve and the Conservation Reserve together in 1958—and are now offering to put the acreage which was in the Acreage Reserve into the Conservation Reserve.

2. Other applicants offering land at the lowest rate when compared on a percent age basic with the applicable maximum rate.

3. Applicants offering land at the lowest applicable maximum rate per acre. In case there are applications at the same percentage of the maximum applicable rate, priority will be given to them in the following order:

(a). Applications with the lower maximum payment rate per acre.
(b). Applications offering all eligible land in the farm.
(c). Applications offering land for the longest period.

If applications of equal priority under the above factors remain for considerations, the final priority will be determined by public drawing.

GRAIN SORGHUM LOANS

The Donley County loan rate for 1958 grain sorghums grading No. 2 or better and testing not more than 13% moisture is $1.75 per cwt. Terminal rate for the same type of grain is $2.35 per CWT.

Our treasured friend from up Ohio way sends us a new supply of buckeyes. She is Mrs. R. E. Boone of 2579 Berwyn Road, Columbus 21, Ohio. Mrs. Boone has not been feeling so well the last few months so will several of you please write her a letter. These new crop buckeyes were picked by her son Milton on the campus of the University. Send us a self addressed stamped envelope and we will mail you one as long as the supply lasts. Many folks like to carry one for good luck. One of my good friends will just swear that a buckeye kept good and shiny will bring as much good luck as a rabbits foot, and is a lot more kind to the rabbit.

According to a clipping we received along with the buckeyes, folks in Ohio keep them shined by rubbing them on their nose. This would also keep your nose "Scratched." Everyone carries their buckeye along to the Ohio State football games; this seems to be a must. Then there are those that claim one carried in your hip pocket will keep off warts, others swear that one will keep down rheumatism. As for myself nothing ever helps our luck. Even should we have some good luck we would be tempted to believe that it was pure accident. So send us the stamped envelope and we'll send you one, as long as they last, and as for your luck you can take your own consequences.

Something even better than luck; "The time to take advantage of the future is today." This will work for sure. "Many a man has risen because he would not let the tears blind him." Either one of the two above quotations should work better than a rabbits foot.

Newest member to our Ain't Smoking Right Now Society is Frank Dunn of Claude. He Ain't promising nothing, but he Ain't smoked in three months. We mailed the free membership, and a buckeye for good measure.

The following is from the pen of Joseph Fort Newton; "Fame is fading, wealth is fleeting, but who lives a good life creates something enduring in himself, and in the universe something that cannot die."

"And life is eternal, and love is immortal, and death is only a horizon; and a horizon is nothing save the limit of our sight."

Last week we got to thinking about something you the readers might have some help for us. We were thinking of all the great statesmen of our past history such as Washington, Lincoln, Jefferson, Henry, Clay, and many others. About our Texas heroes Houston, Austin, Crockett, etc. The thing that we wondered about is; do we have those same kind of statesmen who will go down in history and sung heroes? The thing that put us to thinking is this; over the last several tens of years we seem to like our leaders before they go in office but never after. We look to them with almost a worshipful hope when we elect them, but after a couple of terms even their own party seems to want to drop the subject. Wonder what is wrong? Do we expect more than any mortal can deliver. Or, has the caliber of our statesmen gotten lower and lower??? Tell us what you think.

TERRACE CONSTRUCTION

The terracing season for row crop farmers in the Donley County Soil Conservation District has arrived. Many cooperators have applied for assistance to help construct new terraces or to rebuild old terrace systems. Lee Muse of Clarendon, R. R. Partain of Ashtola, J. B. McDaniels of Hedley, Finis Hill of Hedley, and Elmer Dishman of Lelia Lake are among the many operators who have applied for assistance in rebuilding terraces.

Terraces are primarily constructed for erosion control. Terraces control the flow of water across cultivated fields by intercepting the flow at frequent intervals and diverting it to protected outlets or by holding until absorbed by the soil. Terraces also reduce the length of slope, reduce soil and water losses, permit more intensive use of the land, and act as guide lines for contour farming. To be most effective, terraces should be used along with other conservation practices such as stubble mulching, cover cropping, conservation crop rotation, as well as contour farming.

Information on the construction and maintenance of terraces may be obtained from your local Soil Conservation Service Technicians assisting your Soil Conservation District.

Texas Farms Changing Size

There are fewer farms in Texas, but, in keeping with Texas tradition, Texas farms are getting bigger, with larger farm operations taking over an increasingly bigger share of the state's total farm land.

The loss in number of farms is centered heavily in those between 50 and 99 acres in size. In 1920, farms of this size made up 27 percent of the State's farm land, but by 1954 occupied less than 16 percent. Whereas in 1920 farms of 260 acres and over occupied less than 12 percent of the state's farm land, by 1954 28 percent of Texas farm land was occupied in farms of 260 acres and over.

The Marine Corps Band was organized in 1798 and has played for every President except Geo. Washington.

Boy Scouts Launching New Explorer Program

In a revolutionary move to keep membership higher and recruit new boys, the Boy Scouts of America will unveil its brand-new Explorer Scout program about the end of October.

While Exploring is almost as old as the Boy Scout movement itself, the new program represents a real turn-about in executive policy.

First, because new Exploring—from uniform to organization—was designed by boys, many of whom have never been Scouts and may never be Explorers. And second, because membership in the new group does not require previous Scouting experience.

Faced both with the problem of Scouts leaving the movement when they entered high school, and with the grim American responsibility of undirected youth, the BSA hired the Institute for Social Research at the University of Michigan to survey adolescent boys.

JOE GOLDSTON
Optimist

The two-pronged investigation looked into the needs, interests and concerns of boys 14 to 16 years old, and into the conclusions and experience of youth leaders of all sorts.

In addition, the BSA conducted its own investigation of what its Explorers were doing, what terminology should be used in a new program and what young people preferred in uniforms.

The result was the new Exploring which, according to expert guessing at BSA headquarters in New Brunswick, should swell the program from its present 450,000 to well over a million within a year.

Gone is the required system of merit badge advancement (although it is still available to boys who want it) because the survey revealed that 14-to-16-year old boys no longer need these signs of achievement as they move into young manhood.

Gone, too, are the old Scoutmasters. In their place are advisers and consultants who will step in to keep projects from failing by teaching know-how.

And gone is the usual Explorer Scout uniform, replaced by a blue, brass-buttoned blazer bearing the new Explorer insignia, and gray slacks.

Even the BSA administration has largely taken itself from the picture of its new program. Local AUSTIN—Through the summer campaigns "economy in government" were words that rustled about as harmlessly as an evening breeze.

But with the approach of winter and down-to-the-lick-log budget-making time, the same words have the cutting edge of a blue norther.

Gov. Price Daniel stuck a pin in any last rosy hopes that "things might not be too bad." He sent back the money requests made by heads of state departments for 1959-61, saying they were "wholly unrealistic."

Governor Daniel had been the last major hold-out against predictions of a major money crisis. Other state officials had been crying doom and foreseeing a shortage of up to $140,000,000 for months.

Governor Daniel took note of these predictions in asking department heads to re-examine their budgets, eliminating any non-essential items. A deadline of Oct. 8 was set for the new requests.

As originally submitted, the requests would require a $272,000,000 increase in spending.

"I thin and hope this decline in state revenues is a temporary condition," said the governor, "but a realistic approach — requires that 1960-61 requests should not exceed the 1958-59 level unless absolutely essential."

DEFICIT SOON

A further glum note was the state comptroller's forecast that the general revenue fund would run dry in October.

And it probably won't be a temporary thing, according to Comptroller Robert S. Calvert. Almost every spring the state has a seasonal shortage just before the April deadline for franchise tax paying.

Calvert said this deficit may continue until September, 1959, and bring a return of some of the squeezes of the 1930's. During those years state employees had to pay a discount of from one to five per cent to cash their pay checks since the banks that cashed them had to hold them for some time waiting for the state to get the money to make them good.

Calvert said the general revenue fund began the new state fiscal year in September with a $13,000,000 balance. This is not a very big kitty for the government's billion-dollar-a-year operation.

HARD DECISION

Education Commissioner J. W. Edgar is the man in the middle on the controversy over accepting federal aid for Texas schools.

Dr. Edgar has until the end of this week to decide whether to recommend to the State Board of Education that Texas participate in a new federal school aid plan. This program, prompted by national defense concerns, is designed to help step up training of mathematicians, scientists and teachers.

Edgar's decision must be made in the light of the recent recommendation by the Hale-Aikin Committee, a group of influential citizens and lawmakers, that the state stop taking some federal funds it is already getting — for school lunches and vocational training.

On the other hand, Sen. Ralph Yarborough, a Congressional sponsor of the new aid plan, is strongly urging that Texas take advantage of it. Others who agree declare that to stay out would mean Texas schools would lose millions — some of it paid in by Texas taxpayers.

GENTLE REMINDER

Uncle Sam still wants you — to register, at least.

This reminder comes from State Selective Service Headquarters which says many young men, usually through misunderstanding, are failing to register on time.

All males must register on their eighteenth birthdays — or within five days afterward — even if they're in National Guard or have already been in service.

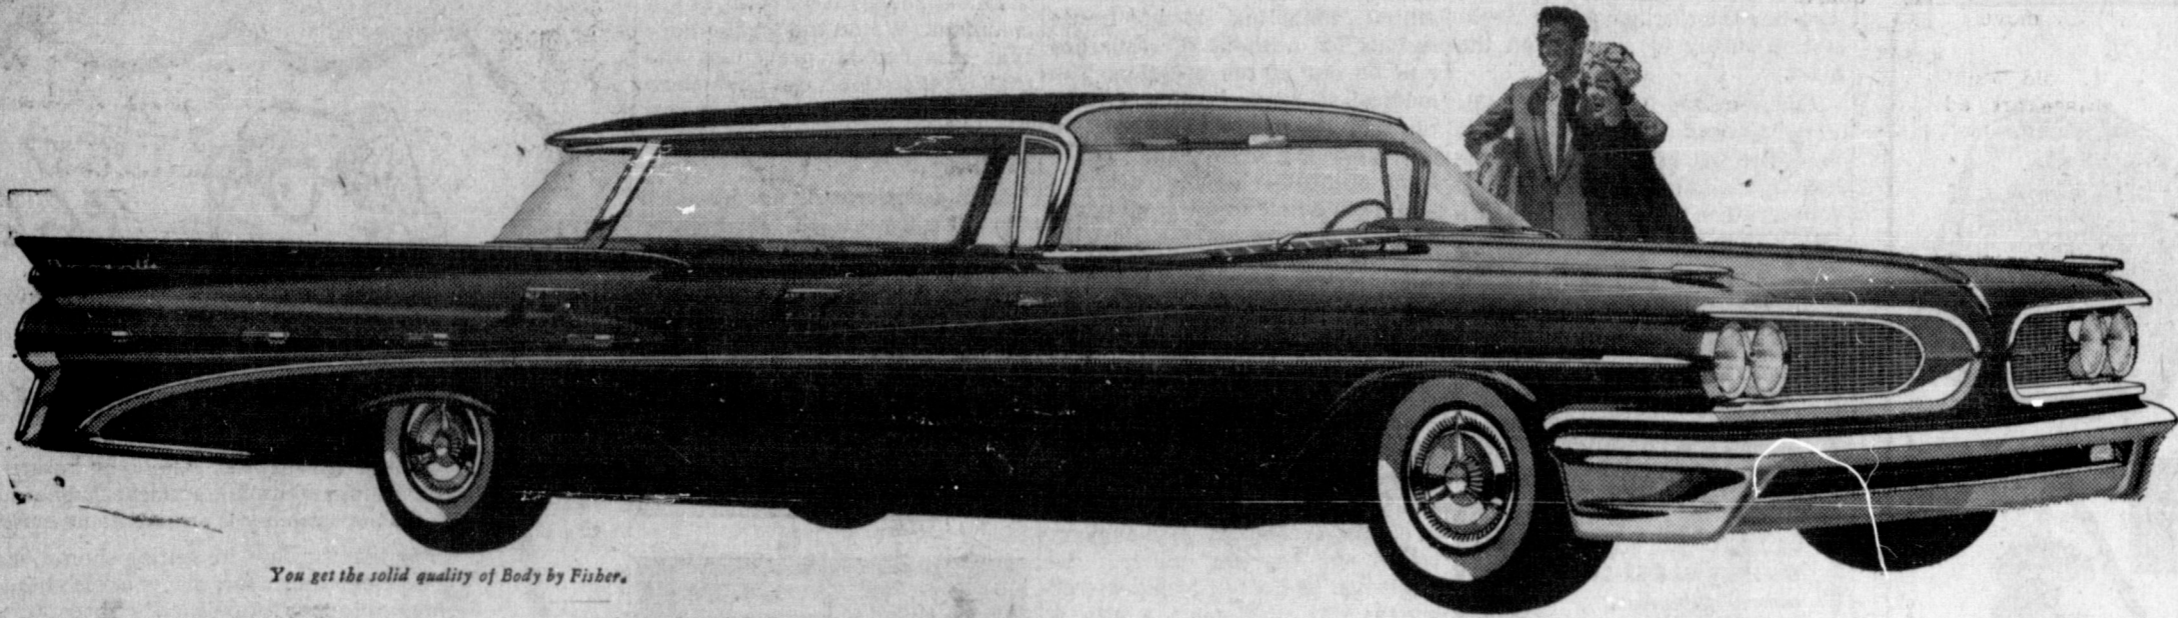

Texas draft quota for November will be 556 men, according to the state director, Col. Morris S. Schwartz.

ADVERTISING

Proposal to use tax money to advertise Texas got a boost from one of the state's best-known economists, the director of the University Bureau of Business Research.

Dr. John R. Stockton called the advertising plan a "major step in a program to promote the continued growth of the state." Continued industrial expansion is essential, said Dr. Stockton, since Texas no longer enjoys its position of world leadership in oil production.

Of the recent recession, the BBR director called it "V-shaped" — a quick, sharp rise, just "a gap between rising trends."

Who in the world built this beauty . . .
the only car with wide-track wheels?

EXCLUSIVELY YOURS — WIDE-TRACK WHEELS

Wheels moved out 5 inches for the widest, steadiest stance in America — better cooling for engine and brakes — lower center of gravity for better grip on the road, safer cornering, smoother ride, easier handling. You get the most beautiful roadability you've ever known — in America's Number 1 Road Car!

PONTIAC! America's Number 1 Road Car!

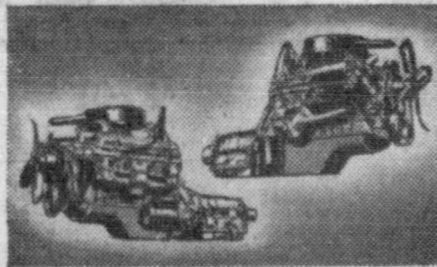

Those exclusive Wide-Track Wheels sparked a chain reaction of wonderful new ideas: You can see the trim, tailored new look . . . it's inches lower without sacrificing roominess or road clearance. You'll discover this beauty handles city corners and clings to country curves in a way conventional narrow-gauge cars can't hope to imitate. And the ride . . . the miraculous freedom from sway, dive and bounce . . . this is an experience in buoyant travel that you won't believe — until you try it.

But there's still more to the new Pontiac to stamp it as the big change for '59:

Vista-lounge interiors with full 360-degree visibility . . . seats actually wider than a sofa . . . Air-Cooled True-Contour Brakes for smooth, effortless control, stop after stop after stop.

The industry's most advanced V-8, Pontiac's Tempest 420, gives you spectacular new responsiveness. And there's a new companion power plant, the Tempest 420E, that delivers phenomenal extra mileage — and does it on regular octane gas!

Come in and see why no other car can possibly be so new as the new Pontiac — three great series: the magnificent Bonneville, the dramatic Star Chief and the brilliant new Catalina.

2 Great New Engines

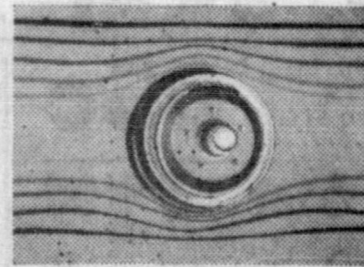

If you love action — you get the liveliest on wheels with the new Tempest 420 V-8, acclaimed by automotive experts as America's most advanced power plant.

If you want the accent on economy, choose Pontiac's revolutionary new Tempest 420E. This new V-8 actually delivers better mileage than many smaller cars with so-called "economy engines" . . . and it uses regular octane fuel for further savings!

Seats Wider than a Sofa

Plus plenty of leg and head room. Pontiac's living-room comfort lets you change position naturally . . . choose the way you like to sit — not the way you have to! Pontiac seats offer still other new comfort advantages over the average sofa. They're wider, have higher backs and slant downward at the rear for maximum support under the knees for safer, more comfortable driving.

Air-Cooled True-Contour Brakes

High efficiency cooling flanges in the air stream dissipate heat far faster . . . 35% bigger drums absorb quick-stop heat . . . 25% thicker lining lasts far longer . . . 10% greater lining contact plus true-contour fit of lining and drum mean precision action, less pedal effort. The industry's largest front cylinders give better front and rear brake balance for smoother high speed stops.

GABIE BETTS BURTON LIBRARY NOTES

By May L. Prewitt

The August issue Vol. IV of the American Heritage has been received. It is issued 6 times per year and of Historical value to us. This is our second year to receive it as it was given in memory of Mr. Frank Phelan Sr. The binding is attractive and the articles illustrated colorfully.

Our Book of the Month is John Marquand's, "Women and Thomas Harrow." This has recently appeared in the Journal. It is the first he has written since "Sincerely Willis Wade," and may rank with his "Point of No Return."

In memory of Mr. John Hunt we have two useful books. "Middle East Pilgrimage" by R. Park Johnson will prove worthwhile to the churches and clubs who are studying "The Middle East." The other is "The Staked Plain" by Frank X. Tolbert. He is an Amarillo native, finished High School in Abilene and went to Texas Tech. He writes a column for Dallas News called "Tolbert's Texas."

The current Geographic has a section on "The Middle East" and has maps and plates.

We were given a series of New Mexico Highway, or rather entitled New Mexico Magazine including copies from March thru September 1958. They are practically as attractive as Arizona Highways and are bright and new. We are indeed happy that Mr. Vaughn gave them to us.

The college students are coming here for their reference material almost every day. Our Library is small and I know almost all the material we possess so can find it readily. We do not possess a reader's guide and the necessary reference work, but they state that there is more here than they can obtain elsewhere. There is no clipping file, and our sections are crudely divided as material and space is limited. However, we possess a wonderful Library when you consider how we secure the cash we purchase with and the numerous gifts of friends.

When Queen Liliuokalani of the Kingdom of Hawaii was deposed and a provisional government formed in 1893, Marines were sent ashore to maintain order.

TO THE PEOPLE OF THE 18TH DISTRICT

By Congressman Walter Rogers

HOW DANGEROUS IS AN ATOM BOMB?

The Soviet Union has the capability of attacking any target within the United States with nuclear weapons. Initial attacks will probably include sufficient nuclear weapons to hit all of our critical target areas, and less heavy raids will follow. Any of our cities can be substantially destroyed by one explosion from a bomb or missile. The enemy will probably aim its attack at the daytime centers of population within each city. Any city attacked will need a substantial amount of outside aid to meet the emergency. A warning time of only one hour is expected in case of an attack from bombers. In event of an attack by missiles the warning time will be reduced to only a fraction of an hour.

Studies on civil defense in the United States have identified 92 critical target areas with a population of 68 million people. Our air defense officials have described 170 standard metropolitan areas, each with a population of 50,000 or more. These areas contain 55 per cent of the industry of this country. An attack on the most important 50 of these 170 metropolitan areas would bring under fire 50 per cent of the population, 50 per cent of the facilities, and 60 per cent of the industry of the United States.

The magnitude of such a catastrophe is obvious. For example, a 10 megaton bomb—a weapon of only one half the explosive power detonated by the United States at Eniwetok in 1954—exploded over the middle of New York City would include in its three mile radius of total destruction a day time working population of at least four million. Within this three mile radius all buildings would be totally destroyed, and an expected mortality rate of 75 per cent would produce three million deaths. The remainder would be so severely injured that they could survive only if hospitalized immediately, a doubtful contingency when we consider the disruption and devastation surely to result from the blast.

Furthermore, within an additional seven mile radius of the explosion all buildings would be heavily damaged, and the most conservative estimates indicate a mortality rate of 30 per cent, with at least 40 per cent of the remainder injured to varying degrees of severity. In New York City—to use this example again—there would be 900,000 additional dead and at least 600,000 injured.

A successful attack on the 50 most important urban centers in this country, containing 50 per cent of the population of the United States, would cause 15 or 20 million dead and 20 to 25 million injured. Such a casualty would produce unsurpassable medical problems. Under normal conditions a hospital requires five persons to care for one patient. But most hospitals and most doctor will be within the target area and will, therefore, suffer the same damage and casualties as the rest of the population. Essential lifegiving blood transfusions for millions of casualties will be out of the question. The medical situation is further complicated by the almost certain disappearance of hygienic conditions of life—leaving survivors open to a whole range of epidemic diseases caused by the destruction of water purifying apparatus, the breakdown of sanitary disposal systems, and the spoilage of food from lack of refrigeration. A city without electricity, without fuel, without a pure water supply, without telephone exchanges, without hospitals, without an effective government and police force, without a coordinate system of exchange of goods and services, without the operation of trained technical and managerial skill—such a city is not a city at all. It is only a rubble of concrete and steel, a jungle in which there is only the slightest chance for survival.

I do not claim the apocalyptic wisdom to predict the outcome of a nuclear war between the Communist bloc and the free world. Given the refusal of the Soviet Union to agree to an effective system for controlling atomic weapons and the determination

Class of 1933 To Be Honored At WTSC Homecoming, Oct. 11

CANYON — Honored class for West Texas State College's annual Homecoming celebration Oct. 11, will be the Class of 1933, due to mark observance of its 25th anniversary.

Plans for the reunion have been completed, and a special program will be held during the morning before Homecoming activities for all ex-students of of the non-Communist world to defend its freedom and independence, we have had no alternative but to arm ourselves with the most powerful weapons at our command. We do this in the hope that war can be prevented and that civilization can somehow continue to balance two weights of terror on the precipice of survival.

This newsletter is not intended for the purpose of frightening anyone out of their wits. It is for the purpose of furnishing factual information established after very careful calculation. It must be remembered that even though the Soviet Union does have the power first mentioned in this newsletter, the United States has equal power, if not more, and the Russians know it.

Don't be a statistic!

According to highway safety authorities, most serious automobile accidents happen at night. Poor visibility is an important cause.

Now that the days are getting shorter, it's a good idea to make sure that your car's headlights are properly focused and bright enough, and that your taillights and turn indicators are functioning properly. Your Phillips 66 Dealer will be glad to help you keep the lighting equipment on your car in top condition. Also, he has the fuses and sealed-beam units to fit your car.

If you possibly can, try to arrange your trips so that night-driving is kept to a minimum. When driving is unavoidable, take it easy, and the first time your eyelids get heavy, pull over to the side and get some rest. The life you save may be your own!
