RUSSO-JAPAN WAR NEWS.

Forces Are Quiet.
MUKDEN, Oct. 6.—The main forces of both armies are quiet, but scouts are active. On Tuesday a Cossack detachment had a short but a sharp brush with some of the Japanese dragoons near Yentai mines. The Japanese lost four men killed and two captured. They then fled.

Something of Tibbles.

In speaking of the populist nominee, for vice-president the Joliet, Ill., Saturday News says that: "He descended from revolutionary stock, and was born in Washington county, Ohio, May 22, 1840. His father and a long line of ancestors were pioneers.

The elder Tibbles died suddenly, leaving his son "head of the family" at the early age of nine years. For a time the young man kept the family together; but friendly neighbors interfered, the family was broken up and young Tibbles "bound out to service"—a polite term for a species of slavery in those days. This was galling, and after about a year, the man "ran away" and did his own thing.

STATE NEWS.

Howe had a $20,000 fire Wednesday, starting in Allen's drug store. Several business houses burned.

Raney's gin near Wylie burned Monday night. Five bales of cotton, a wagon and forty tons of seed burned.

Dr. A. C. Spratt, of Roanoke, aged 74, was found dead in his chair Monday when his family went to call him to dinner. He was an old ex-Confederate.

The Amarillo public schools opened Monday with an attendance of about 625, a considerable increase over last year. There are fourteen teachers this year against only eleven last year.

At Lorena the 2-year-old child of Neal Baxter, a farmer, died on being scalded with hot cabbage spilled from a dish on the table, which the little victim accidentally upset while taking its dinner.

Fort Worth Market.

Prices yesterday were:
Steers from $2.20 to $3.40.
Cows from $1.25 to $2.75.
Calves from $1.10 to $3.50.
Bulls from $1.50 to $1.75.
Hogs from 4.50 to $5.72½.

Goodnight College News.

Reported for The Chronicle.

Some important changes in the boys' boarding department are being made this week to avoid putting students so far away from the main building. Some of the cottages are being moved up and joined to the dormitory.

Two more class rooms will be added to the chapel as soon as the workmen can get to it.

There is talk of increasing the dining room capacity of the girl's building in order to accommodate the boarders and not make some wait.

Fourteen new students have matriculated this week—five girls and nine boys—from the following places: Clarendon, Britton, Anson, Paducah, Guthrie and Chickasha, I. T.

The student body as a fine a set of young men and women as you can find anywhere, all are doing good work and are well pleased with the school.

Preaching almost every Sunday by the ministers from Claude and elsewhere. There is talk of organizing a Baptist church here soon.

President C. H. Webb is proving himself master of every situation, and liked by every one. His pleasant but firm manner makes him specially suited to his position. All the teachers have their work well in hand.

Through the kindness of R. L. Moss of Clarendon, two medals have been offered. One to the girls and one to the boys for the best housekeeping.

Rev. W. L. Skinner, Bible teacher, began his work last Tuesday. He will have only one recitation a week.

Bro. Sebe Thomas is the busiest man on the place, making things happen every way that is for the advantage of the school.

We refrain from further mentioning and close with—continued.

A long face is no sign of a meek spirit.

PUBLIC SCHOOL NOTES.

Chronicle School Reporter.

Some of the teachers were put on extra duty this week adapting themselves to the increasing attendance.

Some of the new pupils this week are: Welthy McCracken, James Thompson, Marian Brown, Windom Weatherly, John McCracken, Gus Williams, Bayless Weatherly, Mary Rhoderick, Geo. Shepherd, John Morris and Oscar Coulter.

Miss Puckett is getting up her class of elocution and physical culture this week.

Too much attention can not be given proper physical culture. Anything which improves the body increases the possibilities of the soul. 'Twill never be known to what dizzy heights the world of mind could soar, unimpeded by the physical world. It behooves us then, as far as possible, to remove hindering causes.

Our new pass books, containing pupil's grades for the past month of school, were sent to the parents this week. It is considerable trouble to keep the pupil's exact standing, and we believe that parents, in proportion to their belief in the education of their children, will carefully examine the grades of their sons and daughters.

Mr. Shepherd, proprietor of the Clarendon Hotel, placed his son, George, in school Monday.

Mr. Homer Thompson also, who is ever on the lookout for bargains, placed his boy in Miss Stout's room the first of the week.

Miss Harding, in her physiology class, has an impressive way of teaching. She has her pupils picture the parts studied.

Miss Allen has two new pupils this week: Ellen McCracken and John Morris.

Prof. Silvey's Latin pupils are unravelling the mysteries of Caesar now. They think Caesar must have been a great fellow.

Mrs. Odeil and Mrs. A. W. Collins came to see us this week.

Miss Donnell has a novel way of settling disputes between "owners" of the same top. Ask her what it is.

One of the Latin scholars, who had been turning English into Latin, was heard recently to say, "I can get the right meanings to my words, but some of them have bad ends."

The eighth grade now bids compound proportion a fond adieu, having learned to like it. They wonder at what rate they will now solve percentage, hoping it will be with more profit than loss.

Bruce and Lila, son and daughter of Mr. J. B. McClelland; also Stanhope and Henry, sons of Mr. T. S. McClelland, left Tuesday night with their parents, for the World's Fair. The Public School wishes them much strength and pleasure as they view the sights of the greatest World's Fair.

Cheap Apples.

I have bought 200 bushels of apples at a bargain and propose to give my customers advantage of the low price of $1 per bushel for cooking and $1.10 for eating apples.

W. P. WAGGENER.

The bad weather and lack of lumber is interfering with the work of the new church building at Rye.

Voters of Donley County.

WANT YOUR VOTE FOR COUNTY JUDGE.

I have expected, all the while, to meet each of you face to face and plead my cause and ask you to pass sentence, but several things have hindered thus far, and I have been unable, as yet, to canvass the county as I wished. At a time when I could have made the county and visited each voter at his home, I was afflicted with old Job's troubles and lost six weeks of precious time, and since getting able to attend to matters of business, I have been so pressed that I could not leave home without neglecting important matters. However, I hope yet to see all of the voters of the county, and should I fail to call at your home, it will not be indifference or a lack of appreciation on my part and I ask that you so consider it. I will appreciate your vote at the coming election and earnestly ask that you consider me before casting your ballot. I shall attempt to make a clean race, and I have nothing to say against Mr. Morgan. I feel that my experience in the practice of law and in the business world has been such that I can fill the office satisfactorily, and if elected I shall strive to make you an efficient officer whose every effort shall be inspired by a sense of duty to the people who have elected me. My record in the courts here and in the higher courts and as a citizen of your county, is before you. I have done what I conceived my duty; hence have nothing of which I dare boast, yet I am proud to say that I fear not the searchlight and ask that you make the fullest investigation. My friend Morgan has sucked the public cow for many years; until he has grown fat and sleek; having turned loose the teat given him by the people, he smacks his lips and greedily takes hold of another and now asks the voters to continue him at the precious fount. This was his privilege, but it is now for the people to say whether there shall be a change.

Whatever the result, your verdict, I assure you, will be my verdict. The office is the people's.
Very truly, J. H. O'NEALL.

The war against labor unions goes on. Four weeks ago the Pullman shops closed down and 6000 men were thrown out of a job. This week they reopened, but would only take back 1000 of the old men.

A FEW months ago when other parts of the country were being scorched by a drouth old Donley was getting rains that kept the crops humping. Now that we are having fine weather for maturing crops, other places are having floods and washouts.

The spotted fever, which has been so prevalent in Montana, 80 per cent of the cases prove fatal. It resembles meningitis. The United States has sent an expert to investigate and find, if possible, the cause of the disease, and a remedy.

The race for the leading county in Texas in taxable values lies between Dallas and Harris counties. The rolls of Dallas county for 1904, which have just been received, show the values for the year to be $40,716,470; for 1903, $38,652,740 an increase this over previous year of $2,053,750. The values in Harris county are known to have increased, but in what sum can not be stated, for the reason the rolls have not been turned in.

Dallas has her share of thugs. A negro held up a policeman there a few nights ago and then escaped in the darkness. Fort Worth is infested with a lot equally as bad. A young man named Gardenhire, 19 years old, was choked and robbed by two negroes in east Fort Worth Thursday in broad open day light.

Barnett Gibbs, former lieutenant governor of Texas, died at his home in Dallas Tuesday. He was born in Mississippi in 1851 and came to Texas in 1873. He had been a money-maker and died worth about $350,000.

Postmaster-General Payne died Tuesday in Washington, aged 60. Mr. Cortelyou is said to be slated for his successor.

An Irish philosopher says the trouble with a man's best thoughts is that they usually remain unthought.

The towns all around are now talking Trade Monday.

Colorado Labor Troubles Affect the Denver.

The annual reports of the Colorado and Southern and the Fort Worth and Denver City roads show a big decrease in the C & S. Mr. Trumbull explains in the following language:

"This decrease, as a whole, may be attributed to the labor troubles which have disturbed Colorado during a large part of the year. In fact, figures do not represent the full measures of losses to your company, for, if the wheels of industry had not been blocked your company's earnings would undoubtedly have been larger this year than ever before."

The total decrease in freight is given at $550,826. The gross earnings of the Colorado and Southern were $5,702,687, and the operating expenses $4,244,435.

See Mulkey's Samples and give him a trial order. Everything up to date.

A Plea for Prohibition in Politics.

After reading Hon. J. W. Bailey's reasons for declining to enter into a friendly public discussion of the relative merits of the Democratic and Prohibition parties I am lead to enquire as to the reason that both the Republican parties Democratic and Prohibition wish to divorce politics from politics which involves individual economy and the moral standing of this nation. Both Democrats and Republicans when they come to making a spread eagle of the July oration, pride themselves much upon the fact that ours is pre-eminently a christian nation. Why, even our degraded silver dollar is not genuine unless it bears aloft the ensignia, "In God we trust", and yet when it comes to introducing before either of the two dominant parties an issue which is believed by large proportions of the most thoughtful citizens of our noble republic paramount to any and all others, as tending to elevate humanity and curtail human misery, degradation and crime, we find the leaders of these parties declaring, even with apparent sincerity, we should keep this question out of politics. Now if, "In God we trust", as we say we do, why in the name of common sense and decency don't we act as though we spoke the truth or thought we did? We are taught in God's word that, "We who are strong ought to bear the infirmities of the weak", and help them. Now some party boss is ready to say, "You can't make men moral by law." It is equally true that you can't make men healthy by law, yet does either the Democrats or Republicans object to suitable quarantine laws to prevent the introduction and spread of contagious diseases, "sumptuary" though they be? Even in our noble state of Texas we have "sumptuary" laws governing the sale of morphine, cocaine and cigaretts, does any Democrat or Republican object? Did you ever think of that? Are not the moral interests of men of greater importance than their physical welfare? If it be the duty of the government to guard public health, is it not much more important to guard the public morals which have not only to do with this life but with that which is to come? Christ taught His disciples to pray, "Lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from all evil." Today our christian nation by licensing the manufacture and sale of this soul-destroying beverage is leading the youth of our land into temptation which is dragging them down to perdition by the hundreds of thousands every year. What is the christian citizen doing? Does he pray, "Lead us not into temptation" and continue to vote to perpetuate the evil? The Prohibition party stands for the abolition of the manufacture and sale of intoxicants; all other political parties stand for the licensing of the same. Thus throwing around this accursed traffic the protecting arm of the law, and this christian nation for a paltry sum of money paid by the manufacturers and saloon men actually enters into copartnership in the business of debauching her youth. It is estimated that for every dollar of revenue derived from the manufacture and sale of liquor, it requires an expenditure of sixteen dollars and fifty cents to punish the crimes and care for the paupers that are caused solely from the traffic. Where is our political economy? Leaving out of the consideration all the moral aspect of the question. Why seek to separate from politics a question bearing so directly upon the finance of the government? Is it economy to spend more than sixteen dollars in order that one dollar may be collected? But says the objector: We have seen prohibition tried under local option, and it does not prohibit. We grant that local prohibition labors under very grave disadvantages. The states or parts of states under prohibition are usually surrounded by license territory from which liquor can easily be smuggled in. By our present inter-state commerce laws the liquor dealers have a right to ship liquor into prohibition territory in sealed packages, when it may be sold in the original package in direct defiance of the state or county law. And those to whom the enforcement of these local laws is intrusted are usually members of a political party whose policy is to license the evil. Is it probable that such an officer will take much interest in the enforcement of a law of his own party? Again the liquor power financially strong in the accumulation of wealth; wrung from the hands of the laboring class, widows and orphans, and they will spend money freely in a determined effort to break down the local prohibition law by making it ineffective to exclude whiskey. Then our national government, to her shame be it said, will for the trifling sum of twenty-five dollars grant a United States license for liquor selling anywhere in prohibition territory, thus rendering the blind tiger dispenser free from prosecution, yet in the face of all these disadvantages who have seen local prohibition tried are convinced there is much benefit derived from the same. But if we would give it the best chance why not have a political party behind it with officers sworn to its enforcement and whose party pride would make them doubly diligent.

Say what we will about keeping the question out of politics. The liquor question is in politics and strongly entrenched behind political fortifications. The liquor men took the issue into politics in 1867, when they met in the city of Chicago in national convention to devise plans for the extension of their business. This was prior to any political prohibition organization. In that convention they "Resolved that we will use all means to stay the progress of this fanatical party (the temperance people) and to secure our rights as individual citizens, and that we will not sustain any candidate, of whatever party, in any election, who shall be in any way disposed toward the total abstinence cause." Does not this resolution coming from a financially strong national convention sound as though they were taking the issue into politics? Yes gentlemen, as we stated, the whiskey power is strongly entrenched politically, having both the old parties as their allies, and if ever they are dislodged the work must be done by a political party vote.

Many very exemplary christian voters in both the old parties are troubled over this matter but dislike to break away from old political environments. We frequently hear them say, "yes prohibition is right and if my influence would make it win I would vote with the Prohibition party, but it is too small. I'd be throwing away my vote." All great reforms have been in the minority at the beginning, and have grown by winning the adherence of those who held different views at first. If everyone who admits that Prohibition is right would cast their ballot for the right, its success would be swift and sure. There are statistics about fifteen million voters in the United States, over five million of

The southern part is fortunate in that the stockmen there are not compelled to sell, and I hope when the movement from that section begins it will be when a higher range of prices are assured fact."

The young men at the dormitory have been putting up stoves past week, and making the preparations for the general assembly of "Jack Frost," appearing Messrs. D. B. D... Micken and Bak, W. P. McSunday and McElreath spent V. H. Trammell and D. B. Doak city, stopping in checking up the tax collector's receipts.

The College Library is not being so extensively used since Bro. Burkhead made a talk in chapel discouraging reading outside of school work. Some however, being desirous of more than a "text book" education, continue to avail themselves of the advantages offered through the library, and still manifest their love for reading by selecting only the best books.

All are looking forward with hearts of welcome for the return of Bro. Hardy and wife.

Our Bible class, organized some three weeks ago, is a "thing of beauty and a joy forever." Great interest is being taken by the young "Theologs." Bro. Burkhead is giving lesson outlines, which we expect to be of much use to us in subsequent life. The numbers of the class are as follows: V. H. Trammell, W. E. Garrison, J. D. Sherman, Will McMicken, G. L. Gilbert, G. L. Pipkin, D. B. Doak, J. F. Isbell, J. H. Collard, T. E. Graham, Misses Clara Teague, Mary Anthony, Eula Lilwall, Mollie and Julia Hunt.

Principal Burkhead declares that he is in the saddle when it comes to controlling the college. This some of the boys recognized when a contemplated trip to Goodnight was defeated.

The college team expects to score a victory over Memphis today. Come out and enjoy the game.

WAGE EARNERS AT THE FAIR

Prominent Men Planning to Help Workers See the Great Exposition.

Wage earners of America are to see the World's Fair by tens of thousands under the auspices of the National Civic Federation. A new bureau of the Federation has just been established at St. Louis upon the World's Fair grounds. Back of the movement are Grover Cleveland, David R. Francis, Andrew Carnegie, Cornelius N. Bliss and others. Plans are making to have a vast number of the wage earners of the United States see the World's Fair, the most glorious spectacle of the age and the most influential factor in the education of the American citizen.

The bureau is in charge of Miss Gertrude Beeks, secretary of the Federation's welfare department, of which Mr. H. H. Vreeland, head of the street railway system of New York city, is chairman. The bureau headquarters is in the east end of the Palace of Transportation, on the ground floor. The Exposition management is in hearty accord with this movement on the part of the Federation to induce the large manufacturers and other employers of labor to provide ways and means for the wage earners of America to visit the Exposition. President Francis is displaying personal interest in the undertaking by affording the Federation every facility for the consummation of its efforts, and in this connection he has directed Theodore Hardee, assistant to the secretary, to co-operate with Miss Beeks and Ralph M. Ensley, chairman of the Federation's executive council, in every possible way.

The Exposition management has also equipped this bureau with clerical assistance and a full supply of World's Fair literature. The bureau will be used as headquarters for all wage earners coming to the Exposition under its auspices. The aim of the Federation is to make it feasible for the largest possible proportion of wage earners to visit St. Louis and see the World's Fair. It will see that they are met at the depot by responsible persons and conducted to suitable lodgings, where they will be treated fairly.

There will also be furnished, free of charge, appropriate itineraries indicating the points of interest to be seen within a limit of one week, which is about the average time each party will spend here. It will also indicate the objects of special interest to various craftsmen in their particular lines, so that they may devote as much time as possible to the objects of peculiar interest to them. These and many other efforts will be made to help all wage earners to enjoy the benefits of this great Exposition comfortably and at an expense within their means.
