CLARENDON, DONLEY COUNTY TEXAS. WEDNESDAY SEPTEMBER 5, 1906

No 70.

Nearly a Million Texas School Children.

Saturday the Texas educational department gave out a summary of the scholastic population and apportionment of the school fund for the scholastic year, beginning Sep., 1.

The summary shows the total number of children in Texas of the scholastic age of 7 to 17 years to be 869,829, which is an increase of 71,154 over last year.

Out of the total number this year 686,865 are white and 182,964 colored children. The per capita this year is $5, the total state apportionment for the scholastic year 1906-07 is $4,349,145, against $4,192,043 for last scholastic year. This remarkable increase in children of scholastic age in Texas is due principally to the fact that the age has been made lower, 7 to 17 years, it heretofore being 8 to 17 years. The number of male children enumerated is 441,892 and female 427,937.

Discordant Democracy.

The great political and social upheaval in New York has thrown three men to the surface and on them are centered not alone the eyes of the people of that state, but to a large extent of the whole people. They all call themselves democrats, but they fight each other with as great bitterness as ever known between men of different parties. They are Hearst, Jerome and Murphy. Murphy represents the small graft that comes through the control of the city government. Jerome is opposed to the small grafters, but seems to have a fellow feeling for the predatory financial pirates who raid whole states and even the nation itself, as was shown in his hysterical defence of Perkins who stole life insurance policyholders' money and gave it to the republican campaign committee to keep in power the friends of the great trusts and tariff grabbers. Jerome will prosecute a pickpocket or a gambler with all the vigilance possible, but he will not prosecute the life insurance thieves. Then comes Hearst. He is against graft of all kinds and especially against graft and oppression of the rich. Hearst is the radical and fights not only the petty graft but the great underlying injustices upon which the looting of the multimillionaire is based. Jerome denounces the political boss ridden machine in both parties, but is a self nominated candidate of the democracy. Murphy is talking as if he would support Hearst, although no man could be more fiercely denounced than Murphy has been in the Hearst papers. Hearst says he will run for governor as an independent candidate. And there you have the whole situation. The banks and the corporations will support Jerome. The common people, or at least some of them, will support Hearst.—The Investigator.

The San Francisco board of health reports that the total lives lost during the earthquake April 18 were 425.

STATE NEWS.

Prohibition won at Athens Saturday.

Arnold Vorce was thrown and killed by his horse west of Italy Thursday.

W. B. Cosgrove was killed in a runaway accident Thursday west of Alvarado.

A. D. Nelson lost an arm and was badly mangled by a gin at Troy Saturday.

J. H. Smith, thirteen years mayor of Honey Grove, Tex., is dead. He was a resident since 1858.

J. T. Sandidge, a carpenter enroute from San Angelo to Childress, killed himself in Fort Worth Thursday by taking carbolic acid.

A. B. Norther, a young man working at York's gin, north of Hubbard city, lost his right arm in the gin Saturday and his face and breast is badly cut. His recovery is doubtful.

While flying his kite from a roof in Fort Worth, Amos Howard, aged 12, fell 50 feet to the ground. His right arm and jaw is broken, but he may recover.

Fort Worth officers believe that the death of A. S. Fitzgerald, a county jail prisoner, who was poisoned by eating candy sent him from the outside, was due to efforts of accomplices who feared he would turn states evidence.

Last Friday the driver and eight mules were knocked down by lightning on the B. N. Ferguson farm, five miles south of Iowa Park. Four valuable mules were killed. The driver, B. S. Stroder, and the four mules which were not killed will recover.

Some of the plutocratic editors have been saying that Russia's financial embarrassments have come from the government building railroads and warning the United States against such a false policy. The difference between the governments of Russia and the United States in building transcontinental lines is this: Russia built the Siberian road and the government owns it. The United States built the Union Pacific and then gave it away. In fact it donated enough land and bonds to build it twice over and gave it all away. Which policy was the best?—Investigator.

Mr. Rockefeller is having his likeness painted in oil. "And we'll have to pay for the oil," mournfully complains the Johnstown Democrat.

Any man can earn a dollar, but it takes a wise man to use it. This has been my motto from the very start of my business career. I saved the first dollar I ever earned, and from that hour I have never been in debt to a human being for a cent that was not ready when due. Society is to blame for many wasted lives.—Russell Sage.

If you have God's Word in your work you can get along without man's worry.

Bryan Stands Pat.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—Bryan holds firm to his position that federal ownership of railroads is the solution of the country's transportation problem. Enroute from Bridgeport today he read the papers and expressed surprise that his speech should be taken as dictation to the party. He said he tried to make it clear at the time that he was only expressing a personal opinion. He hadn't consulted democrats and didn't know what they thought. He refused to discuss the comment of prominent democrats. Bryan said: "I firmly believe in federal ownership of railroads. I have no desire to comment on what others say. I prefer to discuss the issues in my own way and hope in time to give my views in every section of the country."

Men Slaves to Women.

A prominent Japanese lecturer, while lecturing on the women of Japan, at the University of Minnesota, pronounced such strictures on the American girl that his words caused a sensation.

American men he obviously pitied for "being so largely at the mercy of the mistress of the situation." He said:

"People hold the view that the Japanese woman is a poor, spiritless creature because she is quiet and unobtrusive, with a shy bearing, and fans her husband when he eats, bowing to his coming and going.

"The American man carries his lady's shawl, ties her shoes, slaves from dawn to midnight that she may have a new bonnet; but do you call the men poor, spiritless creatures?"

"I feel deep sympathy with the American man and his subjugation to women. I don't wonder there are so many bachelors. American courtship is so risky an undertaking."

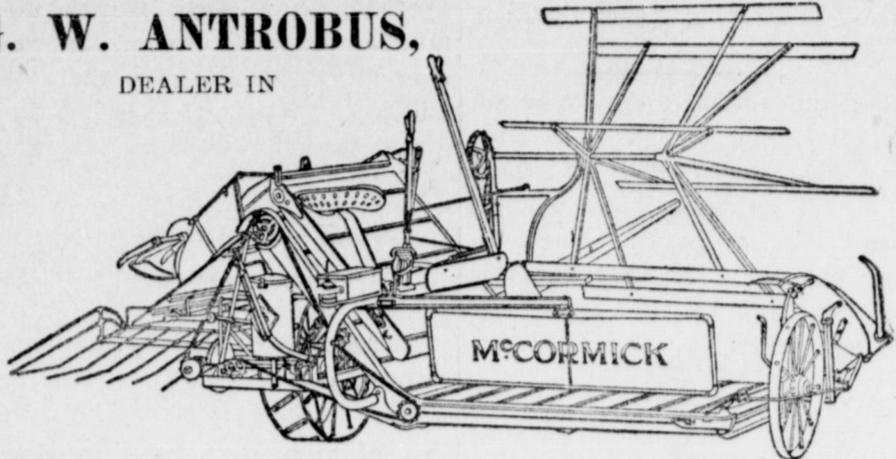

"An Emporia, Kas., boy recently concluded he wanted a job," relates the Topeka Capital. "He had read the Rollo Books and Ladies' Home Journal, so he knew just what to do; he shined his shoes, brushed his hair, put on a clean collar and started out. When he saw the proprietor of the first store he entered, he was careful to say 'Yes sir,' and 'No sir,' and talked so well that the proprietor told him to report in the morning. The boy thanked him and turned to leave. 'Hold on,' called the man, 'I've changed my mind. I don't need you.' The boy went out rather crestfallen. Know what the matter was? The boy had forgotten to tuck in the yellow strings of a sack of cigarette tobacco which he carried in his hip pocket."

Allen's Show is a large one and as been on the road so long that they are now recognized as a standard amusement attraction and includes among its members many of the most noted minstrel artists in the United States. The seating capacity of their tent is two thousand. See them Monday and Monday night.

A Wise Mother's Rule.

The mother of John Wesley and Charles Wesley and seven other children was a most remarkable woman—beautiful in person, and spiritually-minded. She gave to her son, John, this rule of life: "Whatever weakens your reason, impairs the tenderness of your conscience, obscures your sense of God, or takes off the relish of spiritual things—in short, whatever increases the strength and authority of your body over your mind—that thing is sin to you, however innocent it may be in itself."—Ram's Horn.

"The top crop is mine."—Jack Frost.

Many bad spellers will now excuse their errors by saying that they are trying to follow the latest.

The port of Galveston broke all records for the month of August with 4,000,000 bushels of wheat received and 90,000 bales of new cotton for the month. The prospect for business for September is the greatest in the history of southern ports.

Alton B. Parker made a lengthy speech at St. Paul, Minn., a few days ago in which he said with emphasis that there are too many laws. This may be true. We have heard this before from parties opposed to proposed laws. But the country is not nearly overburdened so much with laws as it is with technicalities, lawyers and law-breakers.

The Standard Oil Company stands in danger of a fine of $128,000,000 in a court in Chicago. If it should be thus punished, Chicago will have made the oil consumers of the world work over $128,000,000.—Dallas News.

Well, will the consumers be any worse off by Chicago getting it than for it to remain in John D's coffers? Chicago would spend it, and oily John does not.

All this censure of Dallas for not furnishing water for the democratic state convention is entirely unjust. A large majority of the gentlemen at that gathering were tired of water long before they left home.—Henderson Times.

The Times is a democratic paper and we suppose speaks by the card when he states water is no longer needed by them as a beverage.

The next legislature is booked to go up against Old Nepotism good and hard and also to land in the solar plexus of "the free pass evil." With a pocket full of passes and their sons as pages in the house some of the members will cut sorry figures fighting against these two evils.—Bonham Herald.

The new rate bill knocks out the free pass, thanks to Congress. It was too big a question for the Texas legislature to seriously handle. But nepotism will go on as of old, campaign pledges notwithstanding.

Alabama is making great preparations for their Home Coming week, beginning Oct. 15. There are more Alabamians in Texas than any other state outside of Alabama; there being 129,945, with Mississippi next closest with 73,284. The celebration will take place at Birmingham.

Sid Williams has just closed a meeting at Bynum in Hill county with 101 accessions to the Baptist church. Of these, forty-eight were grown men, and the number embraced many of the leading citizens of that part of the county. His next meeting is to be at Corpus Christi.

The Baptist Sanitarium management have bargained for the Stephen F. Austin school building in Dallas for $40,000. It is a large three-story structure, accommodating 850 scholars. The amount to be used for buildings and improvements for the Sanitarium is $500,000.

Edward Rosewater, founder of the Omaha Bee, a republican paper in Nebraska, and a politician of some note, died of heart failure in the Bee building Thursday night.

Banker Stensland Captured.

Paul O. Stensland, who looted the Chicago bank of which he was president, of $1,000,000, belonging to depositors has been captured and will return to face charges. He was caught at Tangier, Morocco, after a long chase by a representative of the Chicago Tribune. His whereabouts were kept secret.

Stensland was reported seen in Fort Worth, Mexico, British Columbia and Alabama. "The woman in the case" gave the clue which lead to the arrest of the fugitive banker, because she was scorned.

Trains Should Make Time.

The Childress Index says, in its railroad notes:

"The civil engineer for the state railway commission completed a thorough inspection of the road bed early this week. He informed General Superintendent Cotter his report to the commission would be that there was no reason why passenger trains should not run on schedule time. He stated that while there was some bad track, it was not sufficient to delay trains. The inspection was made because of the many reports that the road bed was in very poor condition and it was dangerous to run trains on schedule time."

A man who plays crooked politics would play crooked business if he were not afraid of the sheriff.

Claude.

Fifty-three carloads of grain have been shipped from Claude up to date.

Miss Nellie Scott left Wednesday for Mary Baldwin Seminary, Staunton, Va., where she will remain the ensuing year. She will be joined at Kansas City by Miss Lizzie Dyer, who will attend the same institution.

A thief entered Walton's store Tuesday night and now Newt has to look at the sun to tell the time of day—his watch is gone. The store was entered again Wednesday night but no damage has been discovered.

The meeting of the Baptist church closed Tuesday, with an addition of six members. Rev. W. C. Garrett is quite an able preacher and had good congregations and close attention at each service. The ordinance of baptism was administered to a number of converts Tuesday.

Childress.

The Yantis trial comes up at Vernon on Monday Sep. 10.

The boiler-maker helpers have asked for an increase in pay. They now receive $1.75 and ask for $2.10 per day.

Thursday of last week Claud Dewey and Al King were arrested charged with robbing John Hayekraft. They were bound over to the grand jury in the sum of $500. King gave bond.

When the Christian rises above such small details as telling the truth and dealing honestly God is going to let him drop hard.

Aaron Burr In Prison.

Even to his jailer Burr was the grand seigneur whose rights there was none to dispute.

"I hope, sir," ventured that official at their first encounter, "that it would not be disagreeable to you if I should lock this door after dark."

"By no means," graciously returned the prisoner. "I should prefer it to keep out intruders."

"It is our custom, sir," continued the turnkey, "to extinguish all lights at 9 o'clock. I hope, sir, you will have no objection to conform to that."

"That, sir," answered Burr, "I am sorry to say is impossible, for I never go to bed until 12 and always burn two candles."

"Very well, sir—just as you please," agreed the jailer. "I should have been glad if it had been otherwise, but as you please, sir."—Frederick Trevor Hill in Harper's Magazine.

Birds' Spring Wedding Clothes.

There are a number of birds that put on fresh, bright beautiful clothes for their spring weddings. These birds, when they mate, change their sober dress of gray or brown for plumes of gold and scarlet. Thus the warrior bird of Germany puts on for the mating season a ruff of many bright hues, while the female dons a cape of white. The grebe's wedding dress is two tufts of brilliant blue feathers. They stand like horns upon his head. They enhance his beauty greatly. The gnat catcher is a dull brown bird, but in the spring his plumes turn a beautiful green. The fire weaver's wedding dress is the most splendid of all. This bird, a sober fellow in the winter, wears when he takes a wife a dress of bright red.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Diving For a Wife.

In many of the Greek islands diving for sponges forms a considerable part of the occupation of the inhabitants. The natives make it a trade to gather these, and their income from this source is far from contemptible. In one of the islands a girl is not permitted to marry until she has brought up a certain number of sponges and given proof of her skill by taking them from a certain depth. But in some of the islands this custom is reversed. The father of a marriageable daughter bestows her on the best diver among her suitors. He who can stay longest in the water and bring up the biggest cargo of sponges marries the maid.

J. E. Johnson and wife, of Caddo Mills, are here visiting their cousins, Gus and B. W. Johnson. Mrs. Johnson is a cousin of Mrs. Wm. Gray.

Another big rain Saturday night. If this keeps up cotton will have little chance to mature and open before frost, and the continued wet weather indicates early frost.

Law-breakers Justly Soaked.

Several citizens from Bray came in Monday and filed complaint against eleven youngsters in that community for disturbance of religious worship.

Reports from there are that the conduct of some of the scapegraces there is simply outrageous and a disgrace to any community. Sheriff Patman went out and brought in O. E. and Oscar Hill, Bob Lamberson, Jesse Giles, Dan, Clark and Early Latimer, Oscar, Tom and John Cooper and Oscar Youree.

O. E. Hill was first tried and was fined $100 and costs, the latter running over $60.

The boys then began to see they were up against the real thing and Ed Hill, Tom Cooper, Oscar Youree and Jess Giles plead guilty and were fined $5 each and costs, which run near $60 each.

The others proved that they were on the way home when the worst disturbance took place and were discharged.

This should break up the deviltry in that community. If it does not the punishment should be increased until it does. Hill's attorney gave notice of appeal, but at time of going to press bond had not been given.

Two new steam plowing outfits have recently been unloaded at Pampa.

Now is the time to improve. Fine line of fencing, posts, pickets, etc., at Clarendon Lumber Co.
