CLARENDON, DONLEY COUNTY TEXAS WEDNESDAY FEBRUARY 13, 1907

No 13.

Bailey, the Petulant Idol.

The Henrietta Independent says of Bailey:

"He seems to be holy in the sight of a majority of the committee and they let him do and say what he pleases. A justice of the peace sometimes sends people to jail for contempt, but this committee never. An incident occurred Tuesday which shows how much the committee regards him as a little god. A man by the name of Metz was testifying, when Bailey abruptly broke in with 'that's a lie.' The remark was repeated twice but the committee took no notice of it. The witness may have been lying, but in any other tribunal in the state of Texas, no matter how humble or inconsequential, if a litigant should use such language he would be fined heavily or sent to jail for contempt. But Bailey seems to be holy in the eyes of the committee and whatever he does or says is all right whether he swears or prays. He has never gone so far as to swear in the presence of the committee but if he should it is probable the majority would say it is no sin to curse.

"The evidence thus far adduced, in addition to the senator's admissions show that at least some of his Pierce loans were charged to the profit and loss account of the Waters-Pierce Oil company; that he acted as the agent of Pierce in the purchase of the Southwestern Oil company, holding the stock of the company in his own name, Pierce furnishing the $156,000 with which it was purchased; that he changed positions with reference to making Port Arthur a port of entry after having been 'seen' by John W. Gates, and that he was a heavy borrower from Gates, there being testimony by Gainesville bankers of one note for $28,100. As the case now stands, Bailey appears in the attitude of having done the work for the Waters Pierce Oil company in re-establishing it in Texas and in the effort to compromise the Waco penalty suits, which he himself admits; and of having received money from the company or its president, but it is not fully established that it was a fee. He did the work, he got the money, but the proof of a fee is lacking."

Ex-Governor's Son A Forger.

At Newark, N. J., Friday Eugene E. Pinchback, son of former Gov. Pinchback of Louisiana, was arraigned before United States Commissioner Bigelow on charge of forgery. He was remanded to await the action of the Federal authorities in Brooklyn, who want him on a serious charge.

Pinchback was arrested last November for improper use of the mails in sending a series of forged checks drawn on members of his family and friends in Illinois. He is a graduate of Harvard, 1902. In that year he was admitted to the bar of Mississippi and in 1903 to the bar of Illinois. He left Chicago late in 1903 because of alleged irregularities in his practice. He says that his downfall was due to drink.

Rev. S. C. Talley, of Altus, Ok., aged 75, died Friday as a result of injuries received in a runaway. He was a Texas pioneer and one of the oldest Baptist ministers in the Southwest.

Gets Next to the Judge.

A story is told of a Nebraska farmer who had a suit for damages against a Nebraska railroad. As the case approached the day of trial the farmer man casually learned that the judge who would preside over the trial carried an annual pass over the defendant railroad lines.

This information worried the soil tiller. He thought about it by day and cogitated over it by night. He figured that the annual pass must be worth about $500 a year to the judge. He had confidence in the judge, but little in the railroad, and he pondered the query in his mind, why the railroad gave the judge $500 a year for nothing.

He finally concluded that the railroad must know what it was about, and he wrote the judge the following letter:

DEAR JUDGE: I am told that you carry an annual pass over the Burlington railroad. As near as I can figure it, this pass is worth to you about $500 a year. I don't believe this will influence you in favor of the railroads and against me in my case, but to be on an equal footing with the railroad, I enclose my check for $500. I do not do this to influence your decision in any way. I do not ask you to retain my check. But if you do return this check, please return the railroad pass. If you keep the pass, keep the check."—Eldorado Republican.

Goes Where Least Needed.

President W. A. Harris of the Northwestern University, Chicago, commenting on the donations of John D. Rockefeller to the general educational board for the purpose of promoting the cause of education throughout the country found one serious objection to the system of the board in handling the money. "Colleges that need money most cannot afford to have it because of the conditions which must be complied with," said Mr. Harris. "For instance, Beloit was offered $200,000 as one-third of an endowment on condition that the college would raise the other two-thirds or $400,000. Beloit could only raise $50,000 of the amount. The college that could raise two-thirds of such an endowment is not the college that needs the money most."

Whisky Drummers Fined.

Two whisky drummers, representing Dallas houses, were arrested at Graham on a charge of vagrancy. They engaged in giving thirsty souls a sample nip of their booze and taking orders, when District Attorney Martin, acting as a private citizen, went before the county attorney and filed two complaints against them. The men were promptly arrested, and after being notified of the charge and some talk of trials, bonds, etc., decided to enter pleas of guilty, pay up and quit the town. Both agreed to cut Graham out of their itinerary in the future and the officers let them off with the lowest punishment, $8.70 each.

The statute upon which Mr. Martin is proceeding is as follows: "Art. 413 The following persons are vagrants within the meaning of the preceding article: Any person who strolls idly about the streets towns or cities, having no local habitation and honest business or employment."

LEGISLATIVE.

Monday a house bill was passed finally, authorizing the attorney general to examine the books of domestic and foreign corporations when he has reason to believe these corporations are operating in violation of the anti-trust laws of the state.

The house engrossed a bill to provide for the appointment of a board of state auditors, to inspect the books of the state departments and to make such recommendations as they shall deem proper to put the state on a more business-like basis.

A resolution was adopted, inviting the attorney general to draw up such measures as in his judgment will reach the trusts operating in Texas, mentioned in his recent communication to the legislature.

Representative Love of Williamson county introduced a resolution in the house providing for a sine die adjournment of the legislature March 13. It was laid on the table subject to call.

At Mangum, Ok., Thursday in a special bond election held the citizens defeated overwhelmingly the proposition to issue $30,000 in bonds for the purchase of the local electric light and decided almost unanimously to issue $15,000 sewer construction bonds.

Borrowed From Francis Too.

Gov. Francis, of St. Louis, testified Saturday in Austin that he had loaned Bailey money, that he had taken up and paid Bailey's notes for $1,500 and $3,300 held by Pierce because of his "personal friendship for Bailey." He also said he had endorsed for Bailey to the extent of $8,350 which went largely into the Grapevine ranch deal. But he denied doing this and a number of other favors to influence him as a congressman.

Frank James To Farm.

Frank James, who, with his brother, Jesse James, was once engaged in the gentle art of holding up western trains and making the passengers hand over their cash, proposes to follow the peaceful pursuits of a farmer in the future. He bid on a farm in the Big Pasture in Oklahoma, which the government auctioned off. The award of the tract to James was announced at the general land office Saturday. He paid $2,777 for the land.

Count Boni de Castellane has appealed from the decision of the courts granting a divorce to his wife.

In the dining room of the European hotel at Bonham, Tex., W. L. Derrick, night watchman, was shot and killed. R. H. Burch, a policeman, gave himself up.

Mrs. Royal A. Ferris, of Dallas, has started a movement to secure a $100,000 endowment for Buckner orphan home. The plan is that 1,000 each contribute $100.

Mrs. Stonewall Jackson refuses a pension of $100 per month that the North Carolina legislature intended voting her.

A gas blowout in the Anse, La., field threw rocks half a mile. Showers of rock and sand lasted four hours. Nobody was hurt.

Duncan's gin south of Paris burned Saturday. Loss $3,500, partly insured.

Three hundred and eighty-six poll tax receipts were issued in Wheeler county. No exemptions.

Elmer Camper, 25-year-old son of D. A. Camper, of Ennis, killed himself by taking a dose of carbolic acid Friday.

W. M. Easley's residence at Whitt, northwest of Weatherford, was destroyed by fire last week. The house and contents are a total loss of about $3,500 and no insurance carried on either.

The oratorical contest of the Texas Collegiate Association will take place Feb. 28 at Waco. Fort Worth University has won five out of nine such contests, the Telegram says.

Three miles west of Denison Thursday the 3-year old girl of Oscar Harvey was standing before an open grate when a draft sucked her clothing into the flames, setting them on fire. She burned to death.

In district court at Canyon City last week one felony and three misdemeanor bills were returned. T. I. Logan is charged with embezzlement. T. E. Baird was given a penalty of two years in the pen for forgery.

John S. Groce, a prominent fire insurance agent, died suddenly at Dallas Sunday of apoplexy. A widow and daughter survive. Colonel T. J. Groce of Galveston, Mayor Groce of Victoria and George C. Groce of Waxahachie are brothers.

The residence of I. O. Gentry, a prominent farmer living in Cook county, was burned Monday. A little girl poured coal oil in a stove to make the fire burn and the oil can caught fire and exploded. The child was badly burned and will likely die. The loss will be $4,000, with $2,000 insurance.

While seated with his family at Navasota Sunday night, T. W. Woodward was shot and seriously wounded. The report and the shot were the first warning of the attempted assassination. The bullet was fired through the bedroom window, and immediately afterward a man was heard to remark to a companion "We've killed him." The bullet passed clean through Mr. Woodward's neck, between the windpipe and spinal column.

Entered February 10, 1908, at Clarendon, Tex., as Second class matter, under Act of Congress March 3, 1879.

CLARENDON, TEX., FEB. 13, 1907.

It is published that, assisted by T. H. Tibbles, of Omaha, Hon. Thomas E. Watson, of Georgia, will establish a chain of southern newspapers.

On account of not being able to get paper shipments through, some of the papers in south Texas have cut out much of their advertising and are getting out on the half-shell order.

If there have been any trusts knocked out of business the effects are not yet felt. The non-enforcement of the law would indicate that the courts are favorable to the trusts.

Amarillo is still sending delegations to Austin to lobby the legislature into authorizing the taking up of the Santa Fe track from Panhandle to Washburn and to build into Amarillo direct.

We wonder if the Texas railroads will stretch out their schedules each time the railway commission tells them they must run on their published schedule? If so, we had better start some other means of conveyance.

The press dispatches say that the proceedings in congress have about come to a standstill on account of the members being so absorbed in everything published concerning the Thaw case. But who would expect better of them?

A mass-meeting of women was held at the First Baptist church Sunday in Chattanooga, Tenn., for the purpose of protesting against the printing in the daily papers of the revolting details in the Thaw murder case and all other like criminal court proceedings. The postoffice department of Canada is excluding from the mails papers containing such sensational reports.

Jno. D. Rockefeller has turned over to his son, Jno. D. Rockefeller, Jr., $32,000,000 in income-bearing securities to be given to the general board of education of New York, of which, the latter says, "one-third to be added to the permanent endowment of the board, two-thirds to be applied to such specific objects within the corporate purposes of the board, as either he or I may from time to time direct. Any remainder not so designated at the death of either to be added also to the permanent endowment of the board.

The Legislature of Tennessee has just passed a bill giving to the Peabody College for Teachers, at Nashville, the sum of $250,000. Appropriations from other sources, notably one from the Peabody Education Fund of one million dollars, which had been made but depended upon the appropriation just passed by the State of Tennessee, make the total already given more than $1,000,000 which will come to the College this year. The College will have handsome buildings, new departments, additional professors, and promises to be one of the greatest Teachers' Colleges in the country.

Wichita Falls people believe the Rock Island will build from Chsttaooga I. T., to their town.

Texas railways say they will lose $3,000,000 annually in passenger fares if passenger rates are reduced to 2½c per mile, as threatened. And that means the raising of $3,000,000 in revenue in some other manner by separating it from the people.—Telegram.

Bailey's Sneer at a Democratic Platform.

In a speech delivered at Austin, Texas, January 27, Senator Bailey—as reported in the Houston Post—said:

"We made one mistake in 1896. I did not help to make it myself. I did not make a calamity campaign and I hope we will never have another one. Let us make our campaigns on governmental principles, because thus only can we fulfill the expectations of the people. If we make a campaign upon the success of the season, or the abundance of the crops, then if the seasons fail or the crop diminish we cannot fulfill the expectations of the people. Let us have the courage and the intelligence to stand and tell that all the government can do to promote the prosperity of the people is to make them just and wise and equal law. Let us pledge them that the democratic party will do that and leave all else of the salvation of the people to themselves."

If Senator Bailey doesn't make any more mistakes than the democratic party made in 1896 he will have made a fine record for sagacity. The Texas separator's description of the 1896 campaign is by no means fair. Indeed it sounds very much like a republican editorial.

The democrats did not make it "a calamity" campaign; they did not make it "a campaign upon the success or upon the failure of the seasons." They did have the courage and the intelligence to stand for the public interests and to make clear and explicit pledges of what they would do in the event they were entrusted with power.

The day has gone by when the splendid attitude taken and the good work performed by the democratic party in 1896 can be estimated by a sneer; and in proof of this we need but to cite the well established fact that the radicalism of 1896 has become the conservatism of 1907; that the Chicago platform, denounced and laughed at by many, has so grown in favor that a republican president has won his greatest popularity by the adoption of the principles and policies described in that platform. The spirit of that platform has steadily grown in favor with the American people, who, in the opinion of many well informed men throughout the country, are prepared to entrust the democratic party with power whenever the party shall show a willingness to deal frankly with the people and a determination to cut itself loose from all entangling alliances with special interest—from the entangling alliance of a corporation contribution to campaign funds; the entangling alliance of a committee organization composed of men more concerned in the welfare of the trusts than in the public interests; and from the entangling alliances of candidates, who keep the word of promise to the ear only to break it to the hope.—Bryan's Commoner.

American Consul Haynes, at Nanking, China, reports to the state department that famine conditions in China are the worst in 40 years that 10,000,000 people are affected, 4,000,000 of whom are actually starving.

Nepotism may go, but some legislative hearts will apparently be broken in the passing. There are prominent members of the state legislature who are bitterly opposed to the proposed law.—Ft. Worth Telegram.

Different Tune to That of '96.

The Wall Street Journal says: "As is well known, there was a substantial increase in the money in circulation during the year, but there is a hint of the cause of the prolonged stringency in the money market in the fact that the increase in money in circulation was only 6.3 per cent. While larger than the percentage of increase in population, so that the per capita circulation was notably expanded, yet the percentage is much less than in the case of the railway earnings, the bank clearings, the speculative transactions, and the volume of trade."

Can it be possible that even though "there was a substantial increase in the money in circulation during the year" there is need for further increase? What has become of the 1896 argument that "we have money in abundance" and "what we need in money is quality, not quantity."—Ex.

W. P. Powell has had a siege of grip this week and was knocked out of starting to the St. Louis market Monday, but will go in a day or two.

Although not unexpected, the death of Mrs. J. N. Browning, as stated in another column, will cause deep sorrow in the hearts of many Clarendon people, the friends of the Browning family, who for years lived here.

Mrs. Baker, who was burned severely in the face recently by a tight-fitting lid blowing off of a stew kettle, and it was first thought she would lose an eye in consequence, is now improving and her sight will not be destroyed.

F. M. Brown, who came here from Erath county and failed to get a house, was prevailed on to remain, after going to the train to leave, and next day unloaded his car. Then he reconsidered, and had it reloaded again Monday. Yesterday his wife came in and he rented a place and moved out south of town.

Miss Maude Harrington, the music teacher at the public school, was only indisposed and absent from her class a few days and has no thought of resigning, as reported to us and stated in Saturday's paper. Miss Fisher has a good class independent of the school, and both are getting along satisfactorily with their pupils.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Mulkey returned to Clarendon Wednesday evening. Mulkey had a fine run of business while here and thinks Claude is all right. But Mulkey would do well anywhere as he is an artist.—Claude News.

Mrs. J. N. Browning Passes Away.

After bodily weakness extending over a long period of years and after suffering for months with scarcely a moment's rest, Mrs. J. N. Browning passed away this morning, (Saturday).

The end has been momentarily expected for several days and her husband and her children were with her for the last farewells. Mrs. Browning's cheery spirit throughout the long suffering never failed her. She has realized for some time that death was inevitable and with a soul perfectly at peace with God and man, she has patiently waited for the end.

Virginia Irene Bozeman, as Mrs. Browning was before her marriage, was born in Fort Griffin, Texas, May 20, 1860. Twenty-six years ago she was married to James N. Browning, then the young "cow-boy" lawyer, at her home in Fort Griffin. Shortly after their marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Browning moved to Mobeetie which was then, with the exception of Tascosa, the only town in the Panhandle. At Mobeetie, their three older children, J. N. Browning, Jr., J. B. and Morris, were born. With the building of the Fort Worth & Denver road through the Panhandle, the family moved to Clarendon where they lived until 1896 when they moved to Amarillo which has since been the home.

There are seven living children of the union and all are here in Amarillo. J. N. Browning, Jr., and J. B. Browning are railroad men with the Pecos Valley and reside here with their families.

For several years Mrs. Browning has been an invalid and has received every attention that skill and thought could give. During the last years the eldest daughter, Miss Mary, has devoted herself unsparingly, to the sacrifice of her student work at the university, to the care of the mother, and has accompanied her to various health resorts in the vain attempt to stay the malady. The efforts proved useless and just before the holidays, Mrs. Browning was brought back to the home where she has since remained in the care of her husband and children.

In addition to her own children, her sisters, Mrs. J. F. Carder, Mrs. B. J. Rhoderick, of Clarendon, Mrs. W. H. Sides, of Amarillo, and her brother, J. N. Bozeman, of Amarillo, are here. There are two other brothers that are not here. Her step daughter, Mrs. Mittie Stevenson, reached here from her far away home in Durango, Mexico, a short time ago, and has been here to the end.

Throughout the long and busy public life of Mr. Browning, Mrs. Browning's life has been closely knit with her husband's. She was one of the first women to bring home life into the great plains country and her influence has always been quietly but steadfastly and surely on the side of the home. In the Methodist church, in which she was a life long worker, she took a leading part in the affairs that can best be done by women. She was, up to her last illness, the president of the Mother's club and never even in the last days, lost her interest in the welfare of those about her.

The funeral services will be conducted tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock from the Methodist church by the pastor, Rev. C. N. N. Ferguson.—Amarillo Panhandle.

Mulkey Still Advancing.

Homer Mulkey left Monday for Dallas, where he will attend a three-days course in Aristo Photography, wherein lectures, practical demonstrations on lighting, operating, developing, retouching, printing, toning, enlarging, etc., will be given by the best instructors in America. He will get the latest and best in the photo line and his patrons can be assured of the strictest, up do-date work.

TRADE FOLLOWS THE FLAG WAPCO FLOUR

Is the Pride of the Wapco Line. Is milled by the latest improved process from the choicest soft Missouri Wheat. Makes the best and whitest bread, with that rich nutty flavor and containing the highest per cent of nutriment. Is always uniform and can always be depended upon. Wapco Flour costs only a little more than ordinary flour, but its use will be a revelation to you. Wapco stands for "Pure Foods." If your grocer does not keep Wapco Brand, send us his name.

During Month of February

WHEN we bought our Winter Stock of Ladies' and Gent's Furnishings we expected to have a great deal of Winter Weather, but we were fooled on that. Warm, unseasonable weather has been our luck, so now we find our stock of Winter Goods that should of moved in December and January still lingering. We do not want to be looking at this stock in March when our Spring Goods begin to arrive. So we have decided to put a move on everything in the house. It is for every garment. If you do not believe that we are going to move them, come to this store and watch us. OUT WITH 'EM on all Winter Goods,

Commencing February 2, 1907

THE Raincoat Rain-coat is a coat for all days. The only time you are aware it is a raincoat is on a rainy day. On all other days it presents the appearance of an ideal Spring Overcoat.
