Stock Inspectors.

Following out the policy of Gov. Campbell, the livestock sanitary board of Texas has made a clean sweep in the appointment of inspectors. The statement is advanced that this is no reflection on the old inspectors, most of whom were applicants for re-appointment, but it is the result of the new board's emulation of the actions of Gov. Campbell, who appointed them, and who made such a clean sweep in his appointments.

Not only has the new livestock board created considerable attention by naming an entire new list of inspectors, but it has cut the force to some extent, and through this means intends to practice the strictest economy and assist in making Gov. Campbell's administration as inexpensive as possible. While the former board kept on the pay roll a dozen inspectors, the present board has employed only six regular and two extra inspectors. The regulars are:

- Quanah—C. W. Hodge.
 - Crowell—J. W. Cope.
 - Stamford—H. W. Stanley.
 - Stiles—Fayette Ways.
 - Water Valley—H. B. Ernest.
 - Colorado City—J. K. Barfield.
 - Childress—E. D. Hunt (extra).
 - Clarendon—T. M. Pyle (extra).
- The men are stationed along the quarantine line, where the work is performed. The new appointees are now in the service, and all are classed as good and competent men.—Fort Worth Record.

Notice of Her Death Killed Her.

A queer story comes from Evansville, Ind. It says:

"Thrown into a state of nervous prostration by reading an account published in a newspaper of her supposed death, Mrs. Louisa Duley, aged 49 years, expired this week.

"Through an error the death of a woman of the same name was reported as having occurred at Mrs. Duley's home and as she read the story she fell from her chair to the floor. A physician was called, but was unable to learn the reason for Mrs. Duley's collapse.

"She became rational later and after talking a few minutes began to cry: 'I am dead, I am dead; I saw it in the paper,' and died in hysterics."

Negro With Forty-one Children.

Jack Wooten, a negro, just divorced at New Boston, Tex., from his third wife, is the father of 41 children by the three women, the two former being dead. Of the total number of offspring, 38 are living. The father of this family is 49 years of age, and looks much younger. He is a substantial farmer and owns the land upon which he lives, three miles north of New Boston. He has resided there the greater part of his life.

Form a Combination to Retaliate

Western railroads have definitely decided upon a date for lengthening the schedules of their fast trains and June 9 all trains will be slowed down.

Those in the agreement are the Union Pacific, Rock Island, Northwestern, Great Northern, Northern Pacific and the Burlington.

Other roads are expected to subscribe to the agreement which, it is alleged, was made necessary by the cutting of rates by legislation.

The Minnesota house of representatives Tuesday with a rising vote which the speaker declared was "nearly unanimous," passed concurrent resolutions endorsing President Roosevelt for a third term.

New alfalfa is selling in Dallas at $18 per ton, and new potatoes at $1.25 per one-third bushel box.

Roosevelt Policies Popular.

Whether sized up correctly or not, a Washington correspondent says:

"Presidential candidacy politics have been seething in Washington this week. It is quite natural for President Roosevelt to assume to dictate the nomination to the next presidency. He has been elected to his present office by an unparalleled majority and it is widely conceded that he is more popular now than when he was elected. The desire that he shall run again is well nigh universal. So great is the aspiration of the people for another term of Roosevelt that they refuse to believe his positive, oft iterated assertion that he will retire at the end of the present term. Knowing this feeling as he does, he cannot doubt its meaning and it is nothing more than reasonable for him to assume that since he cannot fulfill a universal wish by accepting the office in person he can at least name a proxy or successor. This is all there is to it, and it is certainly enough. There are millions of enthusiastic supporters of the president who long to see the policies and enterprises that are known as 'Rooseveltism' accomplished and have no hope that they will be under the sinister and abhorrent minority that is working for the old gang in support of Fairbanks, Foraker or Cannon.

"The feeling that Roosevelt must succeed himself either in person or by some one nominated by him and in accord with him amounts to a passion and is almost as broad as the country itself. If there were an election today he would doubtless carry a number of southern states and would be backed by a congress overwhelmingly in favor of nearly every measure he has advocated."

Governor Folk has commuted the death penalty imposed upon Mrs. Aggie Myers, convicted of killing her husband at Kansas City in 1904, and under sentence to be hanged at Liberty, April 10, to life imprisonment in the penitentiary. He also commuted the death penalty imposed upon her parolour, Frank Hottman, to a like sentence in the penitentiary. Hottman was to have been hanged April 10 also. Five times Governor Folk had granted a respite to this woman, and each time to enable her attorneys to prosecute some legal proceedings calculated to save her life. Hottman was granted a commutation solely on the ground that he was no more guilty than Mrs. Myers and that it would be an injustice to hang him and send her to prison. Seemingly, the governor entertained no doubt as to Mrs. Myers' guilt, and he was actuated entirely in the matter of saving her life because he would have considered it a disgrace to the state to have permitted her to be hanged. No woman has been hanged in Missouri since the civil war, and, in fact, it seems that but two were ever hanged in the state.

From a gasoline burner under a gluepot in a furniture store at Galveston a fire started Monday that did $110,000 damage. Losses were: Sealy building, $60,000; Santa Fe furniture and fixtures, $6,000; two buildings Hutchings estate, $25,000; Richard O'Rourke, liquor stock, $7,500; W. W. Patch stock, $1,000; Joseph Leaman stock, $6,000; electric and telephone wires, $1,000; Jewish Immigration bureau, $1,000; Union depot damage, $2,500. Santa Fe lost all records.

Thomas H. Clay, grandson of Henry Clay and many years an editor of the Youth's Companion of Boston, died this week at Lexington, Ky., aged 65 years.

LEGISLATIVE.

Platform demands were practically repudiated Tuesday in the house by a vote of 56 to 41.

The question came up when Representative Cobbs called up his resolution, introduced last week, resolving that members of the legislature need not be bound to support platform demands that were not discussed before the people.

Mr. Cobbs said that its adoption would prove an object lesson regarding platform demands and jumped up on the spur of the moment in state conventions.

A motion was made to table the resolution and this was lost by a vote of 56 to 41, which means that the majority of the members favor the resolution.

Wednesday the governor signed the anti-bucket shop bill, which suppresses the operation of bucket shops and cotton exchanges in Texas, but it does not become effective until 90 days after the adjournment of the legislature.

The house passed finally the senate bill providing for the appointment of county auditors in any city in Texas having a population of 40,000; the senate bill authorizing the land commissioner to sell Guayule shrub on school lands; the senate bill allowing the incorporation of companies to build opera houses; the senate bill requiring barbers to stand an examination before they can ply their trade.

Senator Smith's divorce bill was killed by postponing the action on the conference committee report until Friday noon, the day of adjournment.

The house passed finally the senate bill to prevent the charging of usurious rates.

The James primary election bill was passed finally in the senate, practically as it came from the house.

The senate passed to the third reading the house county supervision bill; the house bill allowing ice and gas companies to incorporate with compress companies in towns of not more than 10,000 population.

A fire at Whitewright this week caused the following losses: J. B. Pates' restaurant, $400, insurance $250; building owned by Lewis Holland, loss $800, insurance $300; building of Blakey, occupied by Roberts & Dennis' cafe, on building $400, no insurance; loss on stock $300, no insurance.

The war now being waged between the Central America Republics of Honduras and Guatemala arose, it is said over a mule. These half negro half Latin countries to the south of us are as tricky as any mule within the borders of Missouri and need the steady hand of a Porfirio Diaz or the stick of a Roosevelt to keep them down to their knitting.—Farm and Ranch.

Judge White of Woodward county, Oklahoma, held Harrison White without bail and Mrs. Ed Smith under $5,000 bond. Smith was called to his door and killed. A rope was placed around his neck and his body dragged to a canyon.

The Intercollegiate Prohibition Association, in session at Greenville Saturday, elected officers for the ensuing year as follows: J. C. Weich of the Texas Christian University at Waco, president; J. C. Boyd of the Decatur Baptist College, vice president; C. S. Pierce of Brownwood, secretary; O. M. McBride of Baylor University, treasurer; W. C. House of the Southwestern University, member of the executive committee.

Editor's Mistake.

A Missouri woman is suing an editor because he said in an obituary that her husband had gone to a happier home. It never pays for an editor to say what he thinks when writing an obituary.—Bloomington (Ill.) Pantagraph.

Couldn't Recall His Name.

Edison is one of the most absent minded of men, and a good story of him in this regard relates to the visit of the inventor to the office of the tax collector. Standing in line with a score or more of taxpayers in front of him, Edison's mind reverted to an important experiment on which he had been engaged. When his turn came at the window to which he had moved mechanically, he was aroused by a clerk asking his name. He looked at the man vacantly.

"I could no more have given it then than I could have flown," he confessed later to an acquaintance. Luckily an official who recognized him and knew of his forgetfulness helped him out.

Needed Guidance.

Edwin A. Halsey, the assistant charge d'affaires of the senate press gallery, who hails from Virginia, is responsible for the following story:

An old dandy who had not been to church for a long time appeared one night at prayer meeting. His presence at the meeting was commented on by one of his brethren of the church. The conversation between the two was something like this:

"Say, Brother Johnson, I ain't saw you heah at de meeting house for a considerable duration."

"Dat's so," replied Brother Johnson. "It's been very busy."

"Well, how come you heah tonight, Brother Johnson?"

"Well, you see, it's like dis, Brother Jackson. I's repairing a chicken coop for some white gentlemen, and I's also got a watermelon putting a fence round a situmelon patch for another gentlemen, and I needs special guidance from temptation."—Washington Post.

The Pampa Crony is a new 6-column folio, all home print, hailing from Pampa, in Gray county. It is neatly gotten up, giving the full local news, and is edited by J. M. Smith, formerly of the Wellington Times, and an experienced newspaper man.

The president has appointed Ralph W. Tyler, a negro of Columbus, O., to be auditor of the treasury for the navy department. Tyler is the man who, it was announced, had been considered by the president for a federal position in Ohio, particularly that of surveyor of customs at Cincinnati, but such a roar was made in that city that the president gave him another job.

Some big politicians can make themselves about as ridiculous as do some jealous children. The second chapter in the interesting controversy between the president and Harriman was the statement which came from the White House that a combination had been formed to destroy Roosevelt and his policies and that it was starting out with an endowment of $5,000,000 subscribed by Hearst, Rockefeller, Harriman and a few others. It was alleged that a certain senator attending a banquet indulged too freely in the liquid refreshments and gave the game away inadvertently. No names were given and a number of anti-administration officials are busy trying to prove that they are not the guilty ones. Senator Boies Penrose, who was strongly suspected at first, appears to have proved an alibi, and Senator Scott, of West Virginia, is being named as the man, though as yet he has not felt it necessary to make a denial. Both of these men are opposed to the president and his policies, though Senator Penrose has made it appear on the surface that he was with him. There will doubtless be many more sensational developments in this episode, and everything indicates that the fight of 1908 is already beginning in earnest.

If any woman ever deserved hanging, or any other mode of capital punishment, it is Aggie Myers, whose sentence to death Governor Folk has commuted. The woman had been divorced before she married Myers. After her marriage to Myers she fell in love with Hottman, who lived in Higginville, Mo., her former home. According to a statement made by Hottman, they conspired to murder Myers so they could get married, and when all arrangements were completed she sent Hottman money to come to Kansas City. She admitted him to the house after midnight and directed him to the bedroom where Myers lay asleep. Myers arose in bed when Hottman struck him with a club made from the butt end of a billiard cue. The men clenched and wrestled into another room, when the woman came to Hottman's aid. Mrs. Myers hit her husband with a bed slat, she stabbed him with a pair of scissors as they wrestled, and as he cried to her, "Help me, honey; help me," she ran to a bureau drawer, took out his razor and slashed him nine times across the face, throat and chest. Hottman's hat and shirt were blood-soaked. She gave him her husband's shirt and hat and he went away. She stayed alone in house and burned her nightgown. At daylight she called for help and said negro burglars had committed the crime. So heinous the crime and so conclusive the evidence that on every appeal or new trial the courts have convicted every time. She is 26 and Hottman 24 years old. He was one of the principal witnesses against her, making a full confession, but she says Hottman is a liar and that she is innocent.

On a plea of guilty, of printing obscene matter and sending it through the mails, fines aggregating $16,000 were assessed against James Gordon Bennett and the New York Herald.

Hon. E. C. Lively says he voted for the anti-pass bill because it was a "platform demand." The platform did not demand the abridgement of the right of contract. Mr. Lively voted for the destruction of that right and he voted with his eyes open.—Dallas Times-Herald.

There is nothing in the democratic state platform that demands the regulation and control of the newspapers. That is a legislative innovation that will have to be wiped out by the courts of the country.—Telegram.

The average newspaper man does not, nor has for years, rode on railroad passes. They usually use mileage, as do commercial men, or trip tickets fully paid for and an "anti-free pass demand" in no way applies to the right of contract, which the legislature has interfered with. We have always, and do yet, contend for the wiping out of free passes.

Gifts of the Rich vs. the Service of the Poor.

"The gift of a Rockefeller or Carnegie has value only as it is a measure of love." So said Rev. Dr. W. J. Williamson, at the Third Baptist church in St. Louis Sunday. He said in part: "The world is loud in its recognition of princely gifts. Jesus does not fail to notice even the smallest. Society forgets its failures and defies its successes. God is not unmindful of the inconspicuous. His love and strength are for all. We are most Christlike when we can love the men of low estate and render unselfish service to God's poor."

"Jesus and his disciples were sitting in the Temple near the treasury. The Jews from all lands returning to the great feast had brought their rich gifts. It was a day of splendor. The shrewd traders from the various parts of the world had brought a generous portion of their increase to devote to the temple worship.

"In the midst of the throng comes a poor widow, shrinking and fearful lest her presence should be scarcely welcome. Her offering was but a fraction of a cent, in strange contrast to the large gifts of the rich. Jesus says this offering was greater than all the vast sums cast that day into the treasury. Let us discover some reasons for our Lord's words of praise.

"The widow's motive was pure. She loved the temple and its worship. The smallness of the gift made it impossible for her to desire the praise of men. At this time worship had become formal and it was doubtless one of the spectacular things of the feast to watch the rich pilgrims wearing the dress of other nations, ostentatiously offering their treasures. No gift of money or service is pleasing to God unless the giver be free from selfish aims. Here was a gift of love. She hoped that God's eye might rest upon it and that he might be pleased.

"Jesus says that there will be an element of surprise at the judgment. It is ever the mark of true humility that it does not recognize the greatness of the service. Many shall be surprised when the Lord shall say, 'Come, ye blessed, but Jesus shall reply, 'Inasmuch as ye did it unto me.'"

"At that day, and not till then, will humanity meet its just reward. There all human distinctions fade away utterly and character alone is valued. Christ's judgment of this woman's worth has not changed. He is still looking for those who are willing to serve him with un-mixed motives.

"We are dealing today with the same Christ. In the homes of poverty are being written some of the noblest epics. When all the secret struggles and sufferings shall be known, they will furnish many themes for the songs of the angels.

"The widow gave what she could, and no one can do more. Her fame will last as long as time and her place in eternity will be measured, not by the amount of the gift, but rather by the love which prompted it."

The citations on tax suits in this paper are a reminder that property owners had better keep their taxes paid up to avoid loss and expense.

STATE NEWS.

The Virginia Land and Cattle company's pasture of 10,000 acres near Baird has been sold to parties who will at once cut the same up into small bodies and sell it.

W. M. Mash, a well known citizen at Corsicana, was sandbagged and robbed Monday night by two unknown men, the thieves getting $43. Mr. Mash had been to the lodge of Macabees and was on his way home.

Sheriff Rogers has arrested Dr. W. B. Jackson of Alvarado, charged with murder. A few days ago Miss May Carden, a Cleburne resident, died there and it is charged death was the result of an operation performed by the physician mentioned. Jackson has furnished bond in the sum of $5,000.

LEGISLATIVE.

By a vote of 21 to 10, the senate Wednesday afternoon passed the Santa Fe merger bill over the governor's veto. Governor Campbell was very much displeased at the action of the upper branch and so intimated to a member of the senate who called on him during the afternoon after the bill had passed.

The bill by Senators Terrell, Chambers and Smith providing for teaching of kindergarten subjects in the public free schools of the state was passed to the third reading.

The senate killed the bill which originated in the house, providing that Confederate veterans in making application for pensions shall not need to take the pauper's oath.

The house passed a bill prohibiting betting on baseball and football games. This latter bill carries the emergency clause, also a bill, regulating the speed of automobiles to eighteen miles an hour on county roads and eight miles in cities and towns.

Senator Culberson made a very able speech before the state legislature at Austin and expounded some very straight democratic gospel. His also took occasion to effectually puncture the scheme of the anti-Bryan forces, who are trying to inveigle him into becoming a candidate for the presidency.—Telegram.

Tax measures have been laid aside at Austin, and the state legislature will proceed to reveal in another 30 days' session at $5 per day. Action taken in this matter insures an extra session and people, as usual, will pay the freight.—Telegram.
