CLARENDON, DONLEY COUNTY TEXAS, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 19, 1907.

No 47

State-Owned Industries.

The Missouri state binder-twine factory has manufactured 800,000 pounds of twine for the present year, and 500,000 pounds of this amount has already been sold to the farmers of that State. The plant is operated by convict labor, and the twine is furnished to the farmers of the state at the actual cost of production.

This year Warden Hall is disposing of the twine in lots of 1,000 pounds or more at 8 1/4 cents per pound, and in less quantities at 8 3/4 cents per pound. The object sought by the Legislature in establishing this plant was to oppose the binder-twine trust. A similar plant is operated at the Kansas Penitentiary, with the result, so it is stated, that twine can now be secured at about half of what was formerly demanded for it. When the populists of Kansas began building their plant the idea was hooted at all over the country, and we would have thought democratic Missouri would have been one of the last to have imitated them.

Texas Convicts.

The state penitentiary board held its monthly meeting Wednesday. The report of Financial Agent McMillan showed a balance of $86,745 on hand. The report of superintendent Herring showed total convicts on hand May 1 to be 3,174; new ones received, 11; recaptured and returned by sheriffs, 2; discharged, 64; pardoned, 2; escaped, 10; died, 6; delivered to sheriffs, 2; on hand June 1, 3,744, an increase of 30 over last month.

A significant item appears in the papers from Denton county. The Denton papers are among those of the lower part of the state that have been trying to discount west Texas. This is the item: "The complete scholastic census of this year of the city shows an enumeration of 1,129, as against 1,217 of last year, a decrease of 88. The county rolls are not yet complete, but it is estimated that there will also be a decrease in them of from 200 to 300. West Texas has them." Remember, too, that it was a Denton county paper that says it was a good thing that the green bugs ate the wheat crop, for if they had not, the farmers' disappointment would have been far deeper when the rain later would have drowned out the crop, or even if it had been cut it then would have rotted because of the excessive rain. We don't wonder that "West Texas has them," and more are coming.

Memphis has a graduated tax on dogs. One dollar for one dog, $2.50 for the second and $5 for the third. This should cause some limit to the number.

The editor of the McLean Herald is making himself believe McLean is to be a division point on the Choctaw.

Mad dogs are reported to have bitten several persons and quite a large number of other dogs and some valuable live stock, in various parts of the county. If about three-fourths of the dogs in the county were killed, it would be a good thing for both their owners and the public.—Decatur Messenger.

A good many times farmers are called upon to judge the weight of cattle. Usually it is more of a guess than anything else. Here is a simple rule that will help about it: If the animal girths five feet it will weigh somewhere from 700 to 750 pounds. Every added inch in girth adds 25 pounds till you get up to six feet, then add 50 pounds to the inch.—Farm Journal.

If you want Cold-tire work go to E. A. Taylor's shop.

No Error in the Bill.

An important ruling was issued from Austin Saturday by Assistant Attorney General Pollard on the Looney election contest bill, passed by the Thirtieth legislature. When the bill was signed by the governor it was given out that an error had crept into the bill. It was stated that the bill should provide that a local option election may be contested "within sixty days of the election," when the bill as signed provided instead "within sixty days from the taking effect of this act." It was contended that this was an error. Judge Pollard, however, holds that this was no error and that the legislature intended that the contest may be had "within sixty days from the taking effect of this act."

Exposition of Irrigation and Forestry.

The exposition of irrigated lands' products and forests products which will be held at Sacramento, California, in September, will no doubt be a great event. The management announces a magnificent list of handsome and valuable trophies, comprising no less than sixteen gold and silver loving cups especially designed and manufactured for the occasion and offered for interstate competition by prominent men and business houses of California and other States.

Irrigation districts are preparing to send their best in order to capture some of these handsome prizes. Farmers on irrigated land are already preparing to forward prize fruits and grain and vegetables.

Interest already manifested throughout the irrigated area indicates that this will be the finest exhibition of the products of irrigated lands ever made in this country, and Californians are preparing to celebrate the occasion with a magnificent allegorical irrigation parade, which, if carried out along the lines now contemplated, will be the finest pageant ever witnessed in the West.

When we want to read something particularly funny we pick up some "household magazine" and read an article on "how to build a modest cottage for $6,000," or peruse the "menus for the month" written especially for "workingmen." The average workingmen who tried to follow out one of these "menus for the month" would find his monthly salary exhausted about Thursday of the first week.—Maupin in Commoner.

The Earliest Telegraphs.

The telegraph is only a natural evolution. Long before Morse was born the American Indians telegraphed messages by means of flapping a blanket.

The natives of central Africa likewise have a telegraph system of their own design. This consists of a number of large drums which are beaten with a heavy stick, and can be heard for surprisingly long distances. These drum signals are also used by the Bakuas and in New Guinea. The inhabitants thump away at their code of messages on these drums, and the natives often spend hours in conversing with neighboring tribes through the drum signals.—Sunday Magazine.

Gainesville has just had a contest as to who was the best cook. Only three women entered. A beauty contest will call out candidates by the hundreds. Yet folk wonder about men not marrying and about the divorce troubles.—Telegram.

Make you any kind of Shovel or Plow Shear you want.

STATE NEWS.

In a difficulty at San Angelo Saturday night Marcus Moore was killed by Bob Brashear.

The Canyon City News says the court there is reducing oftener than raising the tax renditions.

The Waco elevator and 20,000 bushels of wheat burned Saturday night, loss $30,000 mostly covered by insurance.

The scholastics of Wichita Falls have increased from 748 to 898, or 150 in the past year, 45 of the total being negroes.

A 20,000 commercial club has been organized at Hereford. A brass band has been made up of seventeen members, also.

Spencer T. Holder of Texico was held up by two footpads in that town Wednesday night and robbed of $1150 in cash and $2000 worth of notes.

W. A. Smith, a carpenter, fell to his death in Dallas Saturday while working on the Fuller Bag Co. building. His remains were interred at Paris.

Contracts amounting to $250,000 were let Saturday for the new Scottish Rite temple in Dallas, which is the headquarters of the Scottish Rite Masons of north Texas.

Bailey and Hughes, two prisoners convicted and sentenced to two years in the pen at Wichita Falls, made their escape from the jail there, but were soon recaptured.

John H. Kirby is planning an industrial village adjoining Houston on the style of Pullman, Ill. A big tract of land has been purchased and a piano factory, employing 125 men will be the first manufacturing enterprise.

Coal in what is believed to be a paying quantity has been discovered on the old Curtis land in the southern part of Weatherford. The property has been leased by G. T. Green and an associate who made the discovery.

R. G. Bowers, the man who is accused of murdering his wife and mother about two months ago at Tolar, hanged himself in the county jail at Granbury Friday morning. He made a rope by tearing up the blanket of his bed.

It was so hot down at Mineral Wells last week that a pot of paint left in a room near a window exposed to the sun was soon ablaze and if the fire boys had not soon responded the residence of Dr. Luttrell would soon have been in ashes.

Engineer John Jay of the Texas and Pacific was fined $500 at Weatherford on the charge of negligent homicide. Jay's engine ran into and killed John Clower, his wife and little girl last fall at the Fort Worth street crossing in Weatherford.

Saturday the antis carried Nevarro county by 34. All boxes gives 2,448 for prohibition and 2,482 for the antis. Corsicana gave the antis a majority of 154. The total city vote was 950. The pros carried the county by 11 votes at the last election.

Wheat is turning out much better than the majority of farmers thought it would. With present good prices, they ought to be able to keep the wolf from the door.—Quanah Tribune.

The scholastic population of Hall county according to the new census is 1206. This is an increase of nearly 300 since last year. According to the rolls Memphis has just one-third of the scholastics of the county, or 402. If there are six people to every scholastic as is usually computed this would give Memphis a population of 2400 people and Hall county 7200. This perhaps is not far from correct.—Memphis Herald.

Sterling Cattleman Commands Rain.

A commission firm on this market has received the following letter from a customer in Sterling county, just northwest of Tom Green county:

Sterling City, Tex., June 8.—Did not consider it worth while to mail you list of my shipping cattle, as we have only had three light showers of rain in this section this year, and it is very, very dry, dryer, drier. If it does not rain in ten minutes, hardly know what is going to become of this county—blow up by spontaneous combustion, probably. Notice that the calf market is pretty good, but that don't help my case a little bit, as I branded 75 head of "motherless" calves the other day—that is, they looked like calves whose mothers were gone off somewhere for the summer. I tried St. Louis on a shipment of hides last winter. What kind of a hide market is Fort Worth? In your letters you generally end with "Command us freely," so here goes: Please send Sterling county a good rain.—Ft. Worth Stock Reporter.

Fined $100 For Killing a Man.

For the killing of R. W. Scott last March, the jury in the district court at Amarillo found Officer Harry Haden guilty of negligent homicide and assessed a fine of $100.

Regular "Pop" Doctrine.

Recently the New York Sun said: "Joy fills Nebraska and the honest farmer exults in his honesty. How would the farmer like to have the legislature reduce the price of his grain, his fruit, his potatoes?"

To this the New York World replied: "The legislature couldn't. It has not the power. The farmer does not use the right of eminent domain to raise grain, fruit and potatoes. The railroad does use it because it serves a public purpose, and is properly subject to legal regulation."

But doesn't the World know that that is regular old time populists doctrine?—Commoner.

Fortune From Advertising.

T. I. Barrett one of the chief proprietors of the Pears' soap concern, which has spent $15,000,000 in advertising, is emphatic in expressing his conviction that advertising is the best kind of commercial investment.

"I cannot understand how the question can be debated," he said. "Why, the fact that advertising pays is as clearly demonstrated every day as that the sun rises. Select the proper medium, advertise intelligently, and your fortune is made."

"You must have new ideas for the change of fashion. I spent $630,000 in advertising in one year, and it paid us well. Good goods, good advertising and plenty of it is my advice to ambitious commercial men."

The first historians gave Adam's age at 630 years, but they didn't say anything about Eve's. They didn't dare even at that early date.—Ex.

The new law by which a person in jail under conviction by a jury can give bond and go free is a law which renders it still easier for the rich man who can make bond to win out.—Dallas News.

NEGRO STEALING.—Two white men were arrested at Clarksville accused of being negro thieves. They had a negro with them, and they operated through this negro in two ways—would get him to decoy negroes out so they could steal them, and also would sell him and he would run away to be sold again. The men claimed to be from Marshall.—Clarksville Standard, 1843.

The Clarendon Chronicle

Published Twice-a-Week by
W. P. BLAKE, Editor and Proprietor.
Entered February 10, 1908, at Clarendon, Tex., as Second class matter, under Act of Congress
March 3, 1879.

CLARENDON, TEX., JUNE 19 1907.

Young man, the faster you lead your life, the less you are apt to keep up with your running expenses.

"Almost every girl in the Vassar class of 1907 was engaged before graduation," says an exchange. It is evident, then, that a literary education is not the main object in going there, and doubtless many of them do not attain it, though they graduate.

According to Washington revenue officials the number of playing cards manufactured this year over last will be 2,000,000 packs. They attribute this to women taking up the fad of bridge whist. Every pack of cards must bear a 2-cent revenue stamp, hence their manufacture can be kept up with. It might be added that the gambling habit is growing among women, also; not only in card games, but on horse races, ball games, etc.

The railroads of Missouri, Kansas, and Nebraska are refusing to observe the 2-cent fare law which went into operation Saturday. Several have been put off of trains who would only tender 2-cent fares, and the matter is now in the courts for settlement. Attorney-General Hadley, of Missouri, threatens to bring quo warranto proceedings to take away the franchises of roads for disobeying the law.

The election of T. P. Gore, the blind orator of Lawton, as democratic candidate for U. S. senator was quite a complement to the ability of a blind man.—Memphis Herald.

But you democrats did not call him brilliant, brainy or moral while he was making populist speeches in Texas. Ditto, Stump Ashby. Now one is nominated for the U. S. senate the other for the legislature.

In the past 34 years the American people have contributed $400,000,000 to schools and colleges. One million of this goes to public school teachers annually, of which there are 460,000, with an average wage of $47 per month for men and $39 for women. The value of school property in the United States is $750,000,000 and school-houses are being built at the rate of several hundred a day, yet there are not room for the pupils.

The Waters-Pierce Oil Company raced a special train from Austin to Fort Worth and back Saturday night to obtain bond in the appeal case wherein the state obtained judgment against it for $1,600,000. John H. Kirby, the particular friend of Mr. Pierce and Mr. Bailey was in Fort Worth, and it was to him the lawyer of Pierce went to go on the bond, which Mr. Kirby did for $3,275,000. This was hurried back to Austin just in time to prevent the company effects from going into the hands of a receiver.

G. O. Hunter, of the Sherman Democrat, who frequently visits Clarendon, has abandoned ideas of this being a drouthy, unproductive country. He remarked to us yesterday that he never visits here but what it rains, snows or storms, yet he has seen some most delightful weather.

Dr. Eby who came down and preached Sunday and Sunday night delivered two fine sermons. He is a cultured gentleman, a fine reasoner and holds the attention of his audience in a remarkable manner.

Because his sweetheart Mabel Bryan died Sunday night, Robert Wilson aged 23 shot and killed himself Monday at Ceder Hill.

Governor Campbell says he has all the speeches booked for July that he can possibly make.

Ed Mack, a negro boy, hung to the side of a train at Moscow Sunday and his head was cut off by a mail crane.

For The Parcels Post.

"An increase in the postal income derived from the average rural family of but 2c a day, says the Master of the National Grange, ex-Gov. Bachelier of New Hampshire, would place the rural mail service on a paying basis, and with a reasonable parcel post this increase in postal income would be assured from the rural grocery trade alone. We are in thorough accord with Gov. Bachelier's proposition that a general parcels service with a minimum weight of eleven pounds—rates on three-ounce parcels, 1c; pound parcels, 5c; eleven-pound parcels, 25c, and a local rural parcels service with a similar minimum weight limit and lower rates, must be established by Congress this coming winter," says Postal Progress.

The postal appropriation bill of March 2, 1907, contained, among others, these items:

"For pay of letter carriers, substitutes for carriers on annual leave, and clerks in charge of substations of rural delivery services, tolls and ferryage, $34,900,000.

"On and after July 1, 1907, letter carriers of the rural delivery service shall receive a salary of not exceeding $900 per annum." This against the old maximum rate of $720.

Congress, however, still confines the rural post wagon to city foot post traffic, four-pound parcels of sealed matter at 32c a pound; general merchandise, 16c a pound; books, seeds, etc., 8c a pound; magazines and newspapers, 4c a pound, and with this result: The total load of the average wagon, mail delivered and collected, on its average twenty-five-mile trip, visiting 125 families, weighs less than twenty pounds. Its revenue load of twenty-two pieces, twenty letters and post cards, two newspapers, circulars or parcels of merchandise, weighs less than two pounds, and brings into the Government less than 40c per day; less than $130 per year.

According to the estimates of the Postoffice Departments, there will be 41,000 rural routes in operation the coming year. The salary of the average carrier will therefore amount to about $850 for the year, as against an average salary of $600 under the old regime. The account of the service for the year ending June 30, 1908, will stand something as follows:

Cost of average route	$850
Earnings of average route	130
Loss per route	$720

Total loss to the Postoffice Department on its 41,000 routes, $29,500,000.

"But even this vast sum falls far short of the full damage to the country from the failure of the Fifty-Ninth Congress to provide for the reasonable use of our free rural service. For yet another long year, the rural public will be compelled to carry off their produce and bring home their supplies on their own backs or in their own vehicles, while day by day, a public post wagon, easily made capable of doing their entire transport business, will pass their door with its twenty-pound loads. We doubt if $100,000,000 will cover the cost of the needless labor thus imposed by Congress upon the 5,000,000 families on our rural routes during the coming year."—Dallas News.

The storm near Panhandle last week was one of the severest to take place in this section of the state. N. C. Nelson's place four miles south of town was in its path the residence being swept from the foundation and the contents scattered. Outbuildings, windmill, and machinery were all demolished. The family all more or less injured. C. E. Smoots' barn, sheds, fences, etc. demolished and residence blown from foundation. Will Pundt's place swept clean, no part of the house was left in the yard and Pundt was crippled. C. R. Berry's buildings and fences were all demolished. The railroad construction camp was blown away all except one tent. The storm was followed by a flood of rain and hail.

Returning to Coal.

Supt. Day of the public buildings at Austin, was buying oil on Sept. 1 of last year at 73c per barrel of forty-two gallons, while the last price quoted, a few weeks ago, was $1.34 per barrel. Mr. Day says it would be impossible to secure sufficient fuel under his appropriation at the latter price and that he must look elsewhere. He uses an average of 8,000 barrels every twelve months at the Capitol powerhouse which supplies the heat, light, water and power for the Capitol building and large grounds.

When the State first started the use of oil the price was ridiculously low and oil burners were installed, but the cost has mounted from time to time until it is nearly prohibitory. A return to coal seems inevitable. But one company has offered to furnish the fuel oil to the state even at the high prices and that has been another handicap, as the sole bidding company could impose any terms it saw fit.

No, don't wait until the 4th to have your clothing and hats cleaned up, but bring them in now to the O. K. Tailors, up stairs in Borchers building. R. T. JOHNSON.

Women Who Wear Well.

It is astonishing how great a change a few years of married life often make in the appearance and disposition of many women. The freshness, the charm, the brilliance vanish like the bloom from a peach which is rudely handled. The matron is only a dim shadow, a faint echo of the charming maiden. There are two reasons for this change, ignorance and neglect. Few young women appreciate the shock to the system through the change which comes with marriage and motherhood. Many neglect to deal with the unpleasant pelvic drains and weaknesses which too often come with marriage and motherhood, not understanding that this secret drain is robbing the check of its freshness and the form of its fairness.

As surely as the general health suffers when there is derangement of the health of the delicate woman's organs, so surely when these organs are established in health the face and form at once witness to the fact in renewed comeliness. Nearly a million women have found health and happiness in the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It makes weak women strong and sick women well. Ingredients on label—contains no alcohol or harmful habit-forming drugs. Made wholly of those native, American, medicinal roots most highly recommended by leading medical authorities of all the several schools of practice for the cure of woman's peculiar ailments.

For nursing mothers, or for those broken-down in health by too frequent bearing of children, also for the expectant mother, to prepare the system for the coming of baby and making its advent easy and almost painless, there is no medicine quite so good as "Favorite Prescription." It can do no harm in any condition of the system. It is a most potent invigorating tonic and strengthening nervine nicely adapted to woman's delicate system by a physician of large experience in the treatment of woman's peculiar ailments. Dr. Pierce may be consulted by letter free of charge. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y.

Indians Want White Husbands Who Can Farm.

TISHOMINGO, I. T., June 8.—Is any man in this country looking for a wife who has property? If so, look up the train schedule and buy tickets for the Chickasaw nation. There is a lot of nice young Chickasaw girls down here who have banded together and taken a solemn oath to marry only a white man.

Only those who know how to plant corn and are handy with a cow need apply. Triflers looking for rich widows and nothing to do but to take the goldfish out for a walk and watch the butler open bottles need not write.

These Chickasaw girls are in solemn earnest. They have sent out circular letters which have been distributed broadcast through the country to agricultural schools. The first one was received by President Winstone of the State Agriculture school at Charlotte, N. C. He read the letter to his students and it was received with tumultuous cheering. The letter was signed by 12 young Indian girls of the Chickasaw nation. Here's the very note: here is what they wrote: "We, the 12 girls whose names are signed to this letter, are members of the Chickasaw Indian tribe. Under a recent act of Congress we have been allotted good farms in the Chickasaw nation. We have been educated in the common branches and in household work and domestic economy as well.

We twelve have banded together and promised each other to marry only white men. We wish to marry worthy men and those who will be contented to live on our properties and develop them. For that reason we are sending this letter to the students of agricultural schools.

"Our lands are rich and fertile and under proper management will become valuable properties. As for ourselves, we have been as well trained as, perhaps better than, the average white girl in those essentials that go to the making of good wives and housekeepers."

Now how can anybody resist that? Ho! for the Chickasaw nation! there's a wife and a nice farm, a happy little home, all ready. Chickasaw Indian girls are good looking too. They have big black eyes and glossy black hair, and they can sweep and wash and iron and make husband's trousers and do plain and fancy cooking and hitch up the horse and harvest the egg crop and even cut grass and haul water.

Altogether this opportunity ought to look good to the right persons.

The Chickasaw girls do not chew gum or wear picture hats, or buy tailor-made gowns, or put up a warwhoop for a restaurant and $5 worth of rarebit and trimmings after the theater. Neither do they sit up nights worrying about giving a bigger party than Mrs. Young-man-Who-says-boo-to-the-Rattlesnakes.

The sole ambition of the young Chickasaw women as outlined in their letter is to make a happy home. And they furnish the home at that. All the young man has to carry down is the happiness. The Chickasaw girls, however, in sending their letters to the agricultural college showed that they were not animated by the sole desire of acquiring husbands. They want men who can do things, and especially do things to a bunch of unimproved government land.

These Chickasaw girls have the pride of their race. The Chickasaws are the most advanced in civilization of all the Indian tribes. The last blank Indian disappeared from their ranks generations ago. They are very wealthy as a people and have prosperous towns and cities.

Many Chickasaw families count their wealth up in the six figures and some of the girls who have signed the letter to the agricultural schools are worth over $50,000 besides their government lands and the money they will acquire by future inheritance.

Come and see our new stock of hats and caps. E. DUBBS & SONS.

Wedding Gossip.

"Good morning. How are you my dear?"

"I'm quite surprised to see you here."

"Why, Mrs. Brown! How do you do? I never dreamed of seeing you."

"I hear there'll be an awful crowd."

"They say he dresses awful loud."

"For goodness sake! Look over there—"

"That creature with the blondined hair!"

"S-sh! That's his aunt from Bunker-ville—"

"They say he's mentioned in her will."

"The bridal party must be late."

"My hat feels like it's not on straight."

"How long were they acquainted?"

"Oh, But for the last two months or so."

"I thought as much. He's not aware that she has temper, and to spare."

"Oh well, I've heard folks say he drinks"

"And stays out late and cut high jinks."

"Just so. I've said, time and again, You never know about the men."

"Hush! Here they come. Look at her waist!"

"My gracious! but that girl is laced."

"Her mother's nonsense—you might guess"

"That girl is trained to overdress."

"Well, for this once she looks real sweet."

"Yes, but she has tremendous feet."

"Ah, here he comes. There is the groom."

"He looks like going to his tomb."

"I wonder who the best man is?"

"They say some sporty friend of his."

"There. Now it's over. Let us rush and wish them joy. Just see her blush!"

"My dear, dear girl! I am so glad."

"You've won the sweetest girl we had."

"Well, wasn't he an awkward lout?"

"Here, throw this shoe. They're going out."

—Nesbit in Republic.

Tin Filled Teeth.

"Do you know that tooth is filled with tin?" asked the dentist, tapping one of his patient's molars with his little pick.

"Indeed I do. That was filled years ago by a country dentist, and it is the best filling I have ever had put in a tooth."

"Of course it is. It is a pity more people do not know that fact. The only trouble is that tin is so hard to manipulate it costs more than gold filling, and people will not pay the price for anything which sounds so cheap as tin. I have one customer, though, who is educated. He is a Wall street broker, and he will not let me put any other kind of filling into his teeth except tin. He pays me $20 an hour and lets me take all the time that is necessary. It is not so expensive as it seems at first, however, for once in a tin filling never has to be renewed, whereas gold often does."

—New York Press.

The Boat For the Missouri.

The eccentric and variable Missouri river has "a personal friend" in George Fitch, who declares in the American Magazine that the stream is navigable enough if only the steamboats would conform to its peculiarities. "The Missouri river steamboat," says Mr. Fitch, "should be shallow, lithe, deep chested and exceedingly strong in the stern wheel. It should be hinged in the middle and should be fitted with a suction dredge, so that when it cannot climb over a sand bar it can assimilate it. The Missouri river steamboat should be able to make use of a channel, but should not have to depend upon it. A steamer that cannot on occasion climb a steep clay bank, go across a cornfield and corner a river that is trying to get away has little excuse for trying to navigate the Missouri."

The Oldest Book.

The oldest book in the world to which a positive date can be assigned is an assortment of proverbs somewhat after the style of the proverbs collected by Solomon. The work is accredited to Ptah-hotep, an Egyptian king, and Egyptologists assign to it an antiquity of at least 300 B. C. Abraham was called to leave his home in Ur of the Chaldees 1623 B. C., so that this volume was written 1,100 years before the beginning of Jewish history. The deluge is placed by most chronologists at B. C. 2348, so the book, if its dating is correct, must have been written before the flood. Methuselah was born B. C. 8317, so that this papyrus was prepared and these proverbs were collected when the oldest man on record was a lively young fellow of 300 years.

She Got Wise.

A Laramie woman went to the theater the other night with some friends, but when they were seated she was separated from her friends by a man and woman who seemed to pay no attention to each other. The woman figured out that if the two people would sit over a seat she could sit with her friends. Bracing up her nerve, she said sweetly to the man, "Beg pardon, are you here alone?" The man stared at the curtain as if he were drawing a salary for it. "I beg pardon," the woman said a little louder, "are you alone?" "Get wise," whispered the man, hearsely through the extreme corner of his mouth; "this is my wife."—Laramie Boomerang.
