CLARENDON, DONLEY COUNTY, TEXAS, WEDNESDAY, JULY 31, 1907.

Canadian A Division Point.

The Santa Fe has decided to divide the main line of its Panhandle division between Wellington and Amarillo, Tex., into three freight divisions. The first will be from Wellington to Waynoka, Ok., 107 miles. The second from Waynoka to Canadian, Tex., also 107 miles, and the third from Canadian to Amarillo, 102 miles. The present division point is Woodward, 143 miles west of Wellington. The change is compelled by the increasing traffic over the division and the attitude of the Interstate Commission against obliging trainmen to work extra hours. The company has bought land at Waynoka and Canadian and will build round-houses and terminal yards in both places as soon as possible.

Why Not In Every County Seat?

There is some talk of an elevator being built here. It is certain that one is needed to store the immense grain crops. Stratford, a town no larger than this, with a country around it not so well settled up, has just built one. A home elevator built by home people. Why not Claude.—Claude News.

Consumptive Cats.

A plague of tuberculosis has broken out among the cats and rats at the Los Angeles, Cal., consumptive hospital and scores of the animals have been killed to prevent a spread of the disease. Owing to the discovery that animals are likely to become inoculated by exposure to tuberculosis sputum, pet cats and dogs are no longer allowed at the hospital. Among cats the disease develops rapidly, beginning with a wheezing purr and culminating in a loss of flesh, fits and convulsions.

W. H. Hilton, who farms near Wilmer says he has looked carefully over a field of sixty acres of cotton on his farm, and that he did not find a square or bloom on the stalks. But what he did find was an abundance of boll weevils. On this same land he last year raised sixty bales of cotton. He would be willing now, he said, to accept six bales for all the field will produce this year.

United States Senator Pettus of Alabama died Saturday night at Hot Springs, N. C., from the effects of a stroke of apoplexy with which he was seized while at the breakfast table the morning before. His entire body was paralyzed and he never recovered consciousness since that time. Senator Pettus' daughter and his grandson, E. W. Pettus Jr. reached Hot Springs an hour before the senator's death, but he did not recognize them.

Railroads have announced a rate of 1 1/2 fare to the Farmers' Union State meeting in Fort Worth, date of sale, Aug 6 to 9. Convention rates are also announced for the state camp of the Seventh Day Adventists, to be held in Fort Worth from Aug. 1 to 11.

In the effort to completely nationalize the railroad system of Japan, six companies having 1,500 miles of track were acquired last year by the government. The amount involved was $120,000,000.

West Virginia should muzzle her dogs. A paper in that state says, "Henry Tutt was pursued by a dog which bit him twice on the front porch and once in the vestibule."

A woman at Paris, Ill., attempted suicide because her son-in-law bought some furniture without asking her advice on the matter.

Leaders Espouse Populism.

Time is a great arbiter—a tyrannical judge. Ten years ago a certain political party had for one of its cardinal principles the government ownership of railroads. The two great parties opposed vigorously such a doctrine, the leaders were buffeted, the rank and file were scoffed. Now comes the president from his study at Oyster Bay and proposes to recommend to congress a form of modified governmental ownership of the railroads. He is following as a model the German government. The president will propose that the government purchase stock in a number of the trunk lines of the country sufficient to gain some representation on the board of directors. This scheme is in accord with the utterances of Mr. Bryan that the government should exercise full control of the roads until the time of complete ownership arrives. This change of front on the part of both the great political parties seems strange to the friends of the departed Weaver. The bewhiskered populists have been deprived of the last plank, sill and sleeper in their platform. Time has brought this unseemly change. The study of political economics under varying conditions have brought about the change. In the next presidential campaign the populists can take their choice, whether it be Bryan or Roosevelt, and will still be in line with their platform demands. Will it not appear that the political millenium has come, to see the populists and democrats voting together in the democratic states; and the republicans and populists in the republican states? There is to be a readjustment of political lines within the next two years. The advance of the industrial, civic and political affairs of the American government has brought about the necessity of a change in the attitude of the government towards the institutions of the country. Such changes are natural in republican forms of government; it is the result of growth and development. Time is a great arbiter.—a tyrannical judge.—Hereford Brand.

There is evident a healthy growing sentiment against the Sunday colored newspaper supplement intended to delight and calculated to debase and de-educate boys and girls. We spend millions yearly in the public schools to educate the juvenile population, to teach them correct orthography and pure English, but from a too fastidious respect for the freedom (license) of the press, we permit the Sunday supplements to fill the receptive minds and memories of school children with witless and demoralizing pictorial buffoonery explained in misspelled and ungrammatical language which indiscriminating children accept for fun. Children are naturally playful, boisterous and need no stimulation—certainly not such stimulation, and the public which is taxed millions for education, ought to take steps to stop this most immoral misconduct.—Huntington, W. Va., Herald.

Colleges are now regarded as rather undesirable insurance risks, and it is probable that the rates will be generally increased. In 18 years 784 fires have occurred in college buildings, entailing a loss of $10,500,000 in money and a heavy loss of life. This makes the average money loss over $13,000.—Ex.

Near Coweta, Ind. Ter., John Overbeck, an ex-Federal soldier, while asleep on a cot in his yard, was killed by an unknown person. His skull was crushed, presumably with a club.

Trade Balance May Go Other Way.

For the year ended June 30 last imports were $1,434,000,000, against less than half that amount eight years previous. While imports had been growing more than 100 per cent, exports had grown only 53 per cent. If this ratio of development on both sides should continue it appears that in a few more years the imports will have overtaken the exports.

A few years ago it was alleged that we were driving the European and English producers out of their own markets in all lines. Tremendous concern was said to be taking possession of the Old World mind about this American peril.

That sort of talk is not heard nowadays. Instead, in the midst of a period of unexampled prosperity the country has been wondering what is the explanation of big exports of gold this spring and summer. There has not seemed to be any reasonable or normal explanation. The New York bankers, the treasury and custom experts, the financial managers of big businesses in this country and abroad have quietly confessed their inability to explain this movement. It has occasioned apprehension in quarters so high and so authoritative that they would not confess publicity to their real feelings. The effect would be bad.

Leave the single staple, raw cotton, out of the calculation, and on the bureau's figures the balance of trade would now be against this country. In 1907 we exported $489,000,000 worth of it, against $210,000,000 worth in 1899. But it tells a poor story for the development of America's manufacturing interest that while this immense increase in raw cotton was sold abroad, our importation of cotton manufactures increased a good deal more than 100 per cent—from $32,000,000 to $75,000,000.—Ex.

Col. J. J. McAlester, one of the wealthiest men in the Indian Territory, president of a bank and founder of the town of McAlester, was flim-flamed out of $10,000 Saturday on a gold brick scheme. A stranger, giving his name as Joe Daniels, asked Colonel McAlester to loan him $10,000, saying he needed that sum to save his interest in a mine which was being contested. He offered as a security a bar of gold. Together he and Colonel McAlester went to Muskogee and had it tested at the government assayer's office. It was pronounced genuine and valued at something over $19,000. Colonel McAlester let him have the $10,000, taking the bar of gold as security. Later in the day Cashier Thomas of Colonel McAlester's bank suggested they again test the bar of gold, and on doing so it was discovered the bar had been changed for one which proved to be worthless.

Texline, Texas, has recently been discontinued as a joint agency of the Colorado & Southern and Fort Worth & Denver City railroad companies, and is now a purely local station of the Fort Worth & Denver City railroad company. The Colorado & Southern railroad company will establish its southern terminus at a point one mile north of Texline. The station thus established is to be known as Sixela.—Channing Courier.

"Hell is full of peek-a-boo waists," says a minister. Well, we don't know. But we would hardly suppose such flimsy material as they are made of would last longer than that. —Just get inside the door.

Last week while driving a big touring car at a high rate of speed, with a party returning to their homes at Hereford from the celebration at Canyon, Frank Tucker was crushed lifeless under the car which overturned in going through an open gate. Five other occupants of the car were slightly injured. Tucker was an expert chauffeur for the J. H. Snyder land company, and was considered one of the best in that part of the country. He had never been in an accident before. He was a young man and married but a few weeks ago.

By the explosion of a gasoline stove Saturday fire was started in the two-story residence occupied by E. E. Duncan, Oak Cliff, and before the flames were gotten under control Mrs. Duncan was badly burned about the hands and face by the explosion of the gasoline. The Duncan residence was valued at about $3,000. Three residences were destroyed. The first two were owned by H. C. Clark and valued at $1,000 each. The insurance on each was $650. C. W. At a recent meeting of the women Liberals of England one of the speakers called attention to the fact that in time of peace the country was spending 80 million pounds annually on potential war, and only 15 million pounds on education. "When we are really civilized," she said, "the figures will be reversed."

Representatives of the five express companies doing business in Nebraska offered to reduce rates 15 per cent, which offer the commission took under advisement. The railroad commission has attempted to enforce the Sibley law, cutting rates 25 per cent. The attorneys for the express companies declared they would resist a 25 per cent reduction.

Officials in Washington believe Bryan will loom up preeminently in the railroad rate conflict between North Carolina and Judge Pritchard. Bryan carried the case of the Nebraska legislature to fix a maximum rate of freight and passenger traffic in the United States supreme court. North Carolina now wants the advantage of his knowledge and experience.

The Wichita Falls Times makes a good point in the following: "It is only a very pretty courtesy that you can show your guests by seeing that their names appear in the local paper when they visit you. Should they look over the local paper and find that nearly every other name in town is mentioned and that their names are left out, is it any wonder that they feel slighted? Pay this like courtesy to your friends and see to it that we get their names when they are in the city."

An Austin item says there has been a marked increase in the number of visitors to the state house since the anti-free pass law went into effect. Just prior to July 12 the state department and particularly the governor's apartments were flooded with visitors, but now it is different. The law is affecting the official and political class more than any other, just as it should. A gentleman from one of the thickly settled counties said in our office yesterday: "Since free passes have been cut off the assessor and commissioners of my county have found fourteen miles more of railroad for taxation. It was in sidings which are taxable, but had been let go free of taxes." Now they had no passes to be taken they were ready to see that the roads paid on their full mileage, was the intimation.

Being asked if he would call an extra session of the legislature, Gov. Campbell replied: "I never submit to an interview, but you can make a good guess by stating there will be no extraordinary session of the Thirtieth legislature unless the courts knock many holes in the new laws."

Haywood "Not Guilty."

At 7:58 Sunday morning the jury returned a verdict of not guilty in the case of William D. Haywood, secretary-treasurer of the Western Federation of Miners, charged with the murder of former Governor Steunenberg.

The first ballot after the jury retired Saturday resulted in not guilty, eight; guilty, two; blank, two. The two jurors who cast the blank ballots soon went over to the majority, making the vote ten for acquittal, two for conviction. The jurors for conviction were Thomas Powell and Samuel Gelman, who surrendered Sunday morning making the vote for acquittal unanimous.

Governor Gooding and Senator Borah announced that Moyer, Pettibone, Adams and Simpkins, when apprehended, will be brought to trial, regardless of the verdict in the Haywood case.

Charles H. Moyer, president of the Western Federation of Miners and co-defendant with William D. Haywood, who was acquitted, was admitted to bail in the sum of $25,000.

At Butte, Mont., 7,000 stalwart miners and other union workers paraded the streets as an expression of gratification at the acquittal of Haywood. American flags were carried by the paraders. It was one of the greatest demonstrations ever seen there.

"We will hire from the Union Pacific, the same special train in which Bill Haywood was taken to Boise after being kidnapped and in this train we will bring him back to Denver," declared James Kirwin, acting secretary of the Western Federation of Miners at Denver.

Some Inducement.

A parson at Piedmont, Mo., allows men to attend church in their shirt sleeves if they will agree to keep awake during the sermon.

Ed Gray, who lives in the southwestern part of Hill county, and who was indicted for destroying wires of a telephone company in his community, pleaded guilty and was given the lowest penalty, a fine of $100 being assessed against him. The offense of which he was accused is a felony under the state law and punishable by fine or imprisonment or both.

Suggestions For Forest Planting On The Semiarid Plains.

The Forest Service has just issued a circular devoted to the interests of forest planters in the western portions of Kansas, Nebraska, and Oklahoma, northwestern Texas, eastern Colorado, and New Mexico.

This entire region is practically treeless. Here and there, of course, trees have been planted, but forest planting has in no way kept pace with agricultural development. There is real need for forest growth. By careful selection of the species, the choice of suitable sites, and proper management of plantations, enough forest can be grown to exercise a marked effect upon farm development and to supply wood for most domestic purposes. The object of the circular is to show just what it is practicable to undertake in the way of such plantations. Planting may be done for any one of three chief purposes—protection, wood supply, and shade.

A windbreak consists of one or two rows of trees planted primarily for the purpose of checking the force of the wind. The term "shelter-belt" is applied to larger groups of trees which form forest conditions and serve a protective purpose. Any species which is adapted to the region may be used for windbreaks. Where evergreens will succeed, however, they are more desirable, since they afford better winter protection than deciduous trees. A windbreak consisting of a single row should be composed of a densely growing species with branches close to the ground.

The main use of windbreaks is to shelter an orchard or residence site, to prevent hot winds from scorching field crops, and to conserve soil moisture within the protected area. They may also be planted in open pastures for the protection of stock. Incidentally, the windbreak may furnish useful material, but it must be placed where it will afford the most effective protection, without much reference to the character of the soil.

Wherever agriculture is practiced in the plains region, the farmer will find it profitable to devote a few acres of good land to trees. It is true that some time must elapse before the plantation will become productive, but by the choice of rapid growing species and by close spacing, the thinnings which will be necessary in a few years will provide material suitable for fuel, stakes and the like.

The choice of species for this purpose is naturally very limited and will depend somewhat on the location. Trees that grow rapidly and at the same time produce wood of good quality are best. If they also sprout from the stumps, the forest may be made permanent with a little care.

The circular contains suggestions as to the choice of species, with notes on their requirements, and directions for planting and care.

About School Books.

"The publishers of text books for the common schools get the biggest contracts out of Texas of any state in the Union and their second biggest customer is Indiana," said N. D. Cram, representative in Washington of a Boston book house.

"I think Kansas would come third on the list. These states have adopted the plan of having a uniform system of books in all the public schools throughout their limits.

"The most successful school book ever printed was the Webster's blue-back speller that was used by our fathers and grandfathers. Up to the time that it was bought by the book trust 20,000,000 copies of it were put out, and it is still in demand in the more isolated rural districts of the South and West. The Japanese have copied it, as they do pretty nearly every other Yankee product. Most of the middle-aged men of today studied either Davis' or Ray's arithmetic, and the books are still popular. There has been a great change, however, in geographies and histories," he said.

Government and Science.

There does not exist to-day a nation more hooligan in its attitude towards science than the British. With unequalled opportunities for advancing man's knowledge of nature and therefore combating the stealthy ravages which nature plots against him for his disregard of her conditions, the British government scarcely lifts a finger in any direction to help on the work of scientific research.—London Standard.

What Do They Cure?

The above question is often asked concerning Dr. Pierce's two leading medicines, "Golden Medical Discovery" and "Favorite Prescription."

The answer is that "Golden Medical Discovery" is a most potent alterative or blood-purifier, and tonic or invigorator and acts especially favorably in a curative way upon all the mucous lining surfaces, as of the nasal passages, throat, bronchial tubes, stomach, bowels and bladder—curing in large per cent of catarrhal cases whether the disease affects the nasal passages, the throat, larynx, bronchia, stomach (as catarrhal dyspepsia), bowels (as indigestion), bladder, uterus or other pelvic organs. Even in the chronic or ulcerative stages of these affections it is often successful in affecting a cure.

"The Favorite Prescription" is advised for the cure of one class of diseases—those peculiar weaknesses, irregularities and irregularities incident to woman only. "It is a powerful yet gently acting invigorating tonic and nerve. For weak worn-out, over-worked women—no matter what has caused the break-down, "Favorite Prescription" will be found most effective in building up the strength, regulating the womanly functions, subduing pain and bringing about a healthy, vigorous condition of the whole system.

A book of particulars wraps each bottle giving the formulae of both medicines and quoting what scores of eminent medical authors, whose works are consulted by physicians of all the schools of practice as guides in prescribing, say of each ingredient entering into these medicines. The words of praise bestowed on the several ingredients entering into Doctor Pierce's medicines by such writers should have more weight than any amount of non-professional testimonials, because such men are writing for the guidance of their medical brethren and know whereof they speak.

Both medicines are non-alcoholic, non-secret, and contain no harmful habit-forming drugs, being composed of glyceric extracts of the roots of native American medicinal forest plants. They are both sold by dealers in medicine. You can't afford to accept as a substitute for one of these medicines of known composition, any secret nostrum.

In some way the house caught fire and the two younger children were unable to get out. The eldest carried the little one to the barn where it stayed in safety. Returning to get the other one, the little hero was caught in the blazing house, which collapsed over them and both were burned to death.

Seeing Colorado.

Here we are 9,500 feet above the sea. We had our trip free of any serious mishaps. We were home two hours late and lost an hour and a half on the way. We arrived in Colorado Springs three and a half hours late. We waited one hour for the Cripple Creek train and began our climb up the mountains, arriving in Cripple Creek at 9:30 Sunday night.

From Amarillo west everything was green and fresh. Everything through to Potosi, N. M., seemed prosperous. The towns are all rapidly. When we crossed New Mexico, we came into the home-steaders' houses and dugouts on every side. We were surprised at the prosperity of Clayton bounding country. We arrived in Trinidad at 11:45 a. m. As we left Trinidad we came to a opening through the foot-hills, that gave us a fine view of a snowy range. Seventy-five miles to the west, we could see the long range of peaks covered with perpetual snow.

We arrived at Pueblo at 3:15 p. m. This city has grown like magic. It is the greatest smelting and railroad shop town in the state. It has a population of 60,000, and the monthly pay role is $1,000,000.

I will now tell you something of our trip to Cripple Creek. We began climbing mountains as soon as we were out of Colorado Springs, higher and higher. Back and forth we went for an hour, then looking down we could see the Springs, seemingly only a couple of miles below us. After we had climbed something like a thousand feet the train stopped at a tank to take water. Wife said, "What is the matter? Something has happened!" I said, "No, just letting the horse drink." With more surprise than ever she said, "Take water up here! Where do they get water away up here?" I said, "Here is where the water all comes from, that they have down in the valley."

Pulling away from the tank, we went around a sharp curve. Looking down for nearly 2,000 feet into the canyon we beheld one of the grandest scenes of our lives. Around this and the spur of the mountain we made almost a complete double loop.

Dark came upon us here, and all we could see from there on was the mining towns and mines scattered through the hills, lighted up by electricity; a beautiful sight to behold. Some of the hill sides looked as though they were covered with clusters of stars.

We are here in Cripple Creek, the richest mining camp in the state. It lies up in the top of the first range of mountains at an altitude of 9,500 feet. It is a modern city with some 25,000 population. From the bustle of street cars and trains, with its great blocks of brick business houses from one to five stories high it would do credit to any town of its size in Texas. From here we can look across almost on to the top of Pike's Peak. To look across, it looks to be about as far as from the court house to Mr. Burditt's, out on the hill. But they say it is 17 miles. From the top of the hill just above the city, we can see the snow-capped range running back into Mexico, about 100 miles.

We both stood the trip fine, and about all the difference we can tell in the altitude is we don't have as much breath as we had below. Wife is eating like a pig and sleeping like a baby.

We have not been out sight-seeing yet, but will begin in a day or so. One who has never been in the grand old Rockies has no conception of what they are. I have spent two summers in them, going back and forth over the range, and yet they are new to me.

This is the rainy season in the mountains. The sky is as clear as a mirror up till noon, when the clouds begin to float over the peaks and thunder showers here and there until toward night, when it clears up again.

We are sleeping under a sheet, blanket and two heavy comforts every night. Talk about a pure, bracing atmosphere, here is where you get it.

Thinking that what we send you in this letter may be of some interest to your readers, we will keep notes and send you more in due time.

WILSON C. ROGERS.

Claude.

Rev. T. E. Graham, of Plemmons, was in Claude Tuesday night on his way to Clarendon.

Wheat has been selling here in small lots at 90c per bushel, sacked, and oats at 50c per bushel, bulk.

Death came to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Badgley Thursday, July 25, and robbed them of their little baby.

Mrs. P. H. Lynch and the little girls are spending a fortnight with Mrs. Thad Pennington in New Mexico.

Miss Ethel Davis entertained Friday evening in honor of her Clarendon guests, who were forced to leave the next day.

Neal Collins sold his section about four miles east of town to Mr. Bentley of Leon county, on Tuesday. $18.50 per acre was the price.

Tax Assessor Grimes, in his report to State Comptroller, fixes taxable value of Armstrong county at $2,995,000, and of Claude independent school district at $595,000.

Last week Claude Brummett induced his father to sell the home place to him. Mr. Brummett agreed, but declares that he will not live anywhere else in Claude, and so he will soon move to Amarillo, where he has extensive real estate interests.

Wicked Coney Island Chastised By Fire.

Sabbath-desecrating Coney Island, the chief wicked spot of Gotham, was fire-swept Sunday and seven full blocks in the amusement zone went up in smoke and caused a loss which reached $1,000,000.

The area burned aggregated about thirty acres. Two to three hundred firms were put out of business. A cigarette stub thrown in some waste paper caused the fire. The insurance amounts to only $180,000. Steeple Chase Park and a hotel and nearly a score of smaller hotels were burned.

A little Iowa town has just had an experience with what was designated as a "white elephant" party. Each lady was invited to bring something for which they had no earthly use, and yet that was too good to throw away. The club was broken up at the first meeting, as eleven of the ladies brought their husbands.— Ex.

Cures Woman's Weaknesses.

We refer to that boon to weak, nervous, suffering women known as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

Dr. John E. Fife one of the Editorial Staff of THE BALTIMORE MEDICAL REVIEW says of Unicorn root (Holmis Dioica) which is one of the chief ingredients of the "Favorite Prescription": "A remedy which invariably acts as a uterine invigorator and makes for normal activity of the entire reproductive system." He continues "in Helomus we have a medication which more fully answers the above purposes than any other drug with which I am acquainted. In the treatment of diseases peculiar to women it is seldom that a case is seen which does not present some indication for this remedial agent." Dr. Fife further says: "The following are among the leading indications for Helomus (Unicorn root). Pain or aching in the back, with leucorrhoea; atonic (weak) condition of the reproductive organs of women, mental depression and irritability, associated with chronic diseases of the reproductive organs of women; constant sensation of heat in the region of the kidneys; menorrhagia (flooding), due to a weakened condition of the reproductive system; amenorrhoea (suppressed or absent monthly periods) resulting from or accompanying an atonic condition of the digestive organs and general (thin blood) habit; dragging sensations in the extreme lower part of the abdomen."

If more or less of the above symptoms are present, no invalid woman can do better than take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, one of the leading ingredients of which is Unicorn root, or Helomus, and the medical properties of which it most faithfully represents.

Of Golden Seal root, another prominent ingredient of "Favorite Prescription," Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., of Bennett Medical College, Chicago, says: "It is an important remedy in disorders of the womb. In all catarrhal conditions and general enfeeblement, it is useful."

Prof. John M. Scudder, M. D., of Cincinnati, says of Golden Seal root: "In relation to its general effects on the system, there is no medicine in use abroad which is so generally regarded as the tonic useful in all debilitated states."

Prof. B. Bartholow, M. D., of Jefferson Medical College, says of Golden Seal: "Valuable in uterine hemorrhage, menorrhagia (flooding) and congestive dysmenorrhoea (painful menstruation)."

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription faithfully represents all the above named ingredients and cures the diseases for which they are recommended.

Mrs. Bryan's System.

Mrs. W. J. Bryan can swim a mile. She is a splendid walker. She rides a bicycle with ease. She can drive mettlesome horses, put them in the barn, come into the house and bake, cook and sew. She knows how to keep house, and all her home expenses are recorded, so that she knows from day to day, and week to week, how matters stand. She is well read, not only in current literature, but in the good things of the past. She believes in the Sunday school and the church and in a religion that works.— Ex.

Prosperous.

An Irishman just from the old country chanced to pass through one of our thriving cities, and of course Pat was very curious, as most Irishmen are.

As he was passing an attorney's office he poked his head through the open window and said, "And what do you kape here for sale?"

"Blockheads," said the smart young lawyer.

"And you must have a foime trade," said Pat. "I see you have only the one left."

SEEK HOMES FOR IMMIGRANTS.

Government Officials Ask States to Cooperate in Finding Them Work.

Washington.— Inquiry into the needs of the various states and territories for immigrant labor have been instituted by T. V. Powderly, chief of the division of information, recently established in connection with the bureau of immigration. Mr. Powderly has directed letters to the governors of the various states and territories requesting them to furnish him such information as will aid in the proper distribution of immigrants. Mr. Powderly asks a series of questions, the principal ones of which are as follows:

Where is the demand for workmen most urgent?

What class of labor is needed?

What nationalities or races would be preferred?

Does your state (or territory) offer inducements to settlers on lands?

If strikes, lockouts or other difficulties exist, state fully the cause of the same.

Mr. Powderly also has written to the secretaries of the various labor organizations in the United States, enclosing a copy of the letter which he has sent to the governors, calling special attention to the inquiry about labor difficulties and asking them to keep the division of information fully informed as to any variations or fluctuations in the labor market that may affect the employment of their members or of immigrants who may seek to settle in this country.

SEVERED SPINAL CORD IS CURED

Alexander Adrehi Recovers After a Remarkable Operation.

New York.— Alexander Adrehi, whose spinal cord was severed by a bullet about four years ago, will soon be discharged from the city hospital on Blackwell's Island, entirely well. This case has attracted the attention of the medical fraternity, owing to the remarkable success of the operation, which was performed by Dr. George Ryerson Fowler, since deceased, on May 9, 1908. The ends of the severed cords were drawn together.

Adrehi was shot in the back during a street fight in Brooklyn. When he was taken to the hospital the lower part of the body was completely paralyzed. The bullet passed between the tenth and eleventh vertebrae, which were both badly shattered.

Less than a month after the operation the patient could move his toes and the following November he was able to sit up. Electricity and massage treatment were then used. After a while Adrehi was rigged up in a cage chair, something like that used by babies when learning to walk, and from then he progressed to crutches.

If you read THE CHRONICLER you are always abreast of the times and know what is doing. You don't have to wait until its contents are too old to be of interest. Twice-a-week and only $1.00 per year.
