CLARENDON, DONLEY COUNTY TEXAS, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 30, 1907

For Equitable Distribution of Public Money.

Congressman Burleson's contention is undoubtedly sound. He insists that there is as much reason for the government to move to prevent the sacrifice of cotton as the sacrifice of stocks. "I can not see for the life of me why the treasury department should hasten to the relief of the stock gamblers and turn a deaf ear to the appeals of the cotton planter," says he.

The excuses given for a refusal to advance money on cotton were, "in the first place, the acceptance of warehouse receipts as security for government deposits world involve questions of policy on which only Secretary Cortelyou could pass, and he was in New York. In the second place, the acting secretary felt sure that the recent withdrawals of money from the treasury for deposit in banks in New York and Pittsburg had depleted the treasury to such an extent that there was now in the vaults only sufficient money for routine needs."

These excuses were met by a statement showing that the provisions of the recent law are that deposits shall be distributed by the secretary "as far as practicable equitably between the different states and sections." The attention of the acting secretary was called to the policy of the department to accept other than United States bonds as security for deposits made. Mr. Burleson contended that the $20,000,000 which he desired distributed among the banks of the south would be as fully secured by cotton warehouse receipts, to one fourth their face value as were the funds placed in other banks secured by municipal bonds.

"The treasury now has something like $201,000,000 in its vaults," said he. "About $30,000,000 of this was placed on deposit in the banks of New York in one day, so it could be loaned on proper collateral to prevent persons from sacrificing their stocks. It is a strange thing to me that not a cent is to be had to prevent the sacrifice of our cotton. I suppose that warehouse receipts of tobacco of Virginia or Kentucky would be just as safe collateral as cotton warehouse receipts. There is relief for the stock gamblers, but none for tobacco planters and cotton growers."

In the first place, there is no good excuse for the enormous balances that have been lying in the National Treasury under a policy of "protection" that extorts from the people more than enough money to pay the legitimate expenses of the Government. Confronted by the fact that millions of the people's money have been drawn into the treasury and is lying idle, there can certainly be no question that it should be distributed fairly to those to whom it rightfully belongs. To hoard it undoubtedly invites stringency and encourages the very troubles which it is now sought to prevent. To distribute it is unquestionably the proper thing to do. But it should be distributed fairly, both as to the security required and the interest or purpose to be subserved. The government should not deposit it all in New York, to keep up the price of stock, which, in some cases, should not be kept alive, thus leaving the New York bankers to enjoy all the benefits, including the interest at which they lend it to other parts of the country.

The banks situated where the cotton, wheat and tobacco are raised are entitled to a fair share in the distribution of the funds, because these interests are certainly quite as legitimate as those of the New York Stock Exchange, and the security offered is even better than the security now required.

The people of Texas, of California, of the older Southern states, have been getting from under the thumb of the Gotham manipulators and plungers, and they will not approve any partial policy on the part of the government that is calculated to maintain New York as the money center to which they must all go to secure financial assistance, taking desperate chances so often when Wall street is wild, with other fish to fry.

Mr. Cortelyou has been pouring into New York banks is the money of all the people. The man who raises cotton, who is "protected" on nothing that he sells and who must pay protection prices on all that he buys, certainly has a right to apply for a fair return of his own money as a means of avoiding slumps in the prices of his products that may come largely as a result of inexcusable accumulations in local, State or National Treasuries.—Dallas News.

Milner Says Hold Cotton.
R. T. Milner, commissioner of the Texas department of agriculture, says: "This report going the rounds of the press that great demoralization exists among the farmers and that a general rush to the markets is expected is but another instance of the wish fathering a thought. The farmers in Texas can not afford to give up the fight now and rush their cotton on the market. To do so would be backing down from a victory which they have almost won. "Within a very short time the spinners will be compelled to enter the market for spot cotton and prices are bound to rally. Let that courage assert itself in this business movement which has always characterized our people in other lines. A retreat now would mean disaster and ruin."

"Tell the farmers to stand firm. A victory greater than any yet to the credit of their organization is in sight. To raise the flag of truce now and abandon the breastworks, which they have held with true courage for two months, would be suicidal cowardice. "I don't believe that the bears with all their facilities to create sensations and false impressions will be able to frighten the farmers of the south from the righteous position they have taken."

An Indian Funeral.
There were a few Indians camping east of town last week. They were the remnants of Quana Parker's tribe who had been unable to follow him on his proposed hunting trip in King county.

Among them were a couple of sick, seemingly both suffering with consumption. One of them, the squaw Esookomoh, about 35 years old, was dying Thursday when her father came up town to buy a coffin.

B-sides the undertaker's supplies he bought a couple of butcher knives, probably for use in the happy hunting grounds, as they went into the coffin.

Telling the inquirers that his "big pappose was heap sick," the stoical old man went about his business, and had timed his preparations so well, that when the breath left his daughter's body, she was immediately put into the coffin.

The dying woman had expressed a desire to be buried here, and accordingly she was interred in the cemetery Friday evening, only five Indians being present.—Quana Tribune.

J. A. Thomas, representative from Fannin county, has resigned as a member of the legislature. Mr. Thomas has removed to Mineola, where he is editor of the Mineola Monitor.

Texas' Great Growth—Need a Third More Railroads.

Frank Trumble, head of the Colorado Southern and other lines, during a talk with a Dallas News reporter, said: "In 1884 the agricultural products of Texas were estimated at the value of $67,000,000, while in 1906 they were about $1,400,000,000. There is to be considered all the other commerce beside. It shows a wonderful prosperity and indicates that, instead of an increase in railroad mileage from 6,000 in 1884 to 12,000 in 1906, the mileage should have increased to 18,000. Assessments on property outside of railroads in 1884 was about $550,000,000, while in 1906 it was about $1,100,000,000—just about double—whereas the agricultural products alone were multiplied by twenty. The assessment on railroads in 1884 was about $43,000,000 and in 1906 $131,000,000, say, multiplied by three. But in 1907 it jumped to $427,000,000, multiplied by three in one year and ten in 23 years. In 1905 the gross earnings of railroads were about $75,000,000, on which the dividend was about $479,000, or three-tenths of 1 per cent on what is said to be a just appraisal of the property. This small payment of dividends means that practically all the earnings of the roads, except that required for interest on bonds, have been spent in wages, material in operation, for betterment and for new equipment. Still the facilities are inadequate and business suffers in consequence. That is why I say that the railroad problem is the problem of every citizen in the state as well as the men who are trying to keep the railroads going and who have spent their whole lives in the work. Every one who has the public welfare at heart must feel some responsibility in the matter, and if all such will aid I am sure the railroads will meet them half way, so that, by showing the same thought to this as to other problems of business, we shall solve it."

THIS GENERATION'S PROBLEM.
"The transportation problem, in my opinion, is the one problem for solution by the present generation. Wages of all kinds, material, lumber and ties have all advanced in price, while every other sort of business has prospered by receiving increased prices; but railroad rates have not advanced and railroad officials have been at their wits' end to devise more economical methods of hauling freight. The only thing of moment they have been able to do has been to cheapen transportation by buying larger locomotives so as to haul more freight per train. The big increase in business in the last few years has required large additions to the number of locomotives, and the question immediately arose as to whether locomotives of the old type should be purchased or those of the new and heavier sort. As locomotives have a lifetime of 15 to 20 years or more, even intelligent railroad officials decided for the heavier type. This required changes in shops, turntables, more sidetracks on account of hauling longer trains, ballasting, etc.—Texas Tribune.

Thanksgiving Proclamation.
The president's annual Thanksgiving day proclamation was issued Saturday, selecting Thursday, Nov. 28, for the people to assemble, "to pray that they may be given the strength to so order their lives as to deserve a continuation of the manifold blessings of the past year."

He triumphantly declares that nowhere in the world is there such an opportunity as here for a free people to develop to the fullest extent all the powers of the body, mind and character. "During the last year we have been free from famine, from pestilence, from war," it declares. "Our natural resources are at least as great as those of any nation. "Much has been given us from on High, and much will rightly be expected of us in return. Into our care the ten talents have been intrusted, and we are to be pardoned neither if we squander and waste them, nor yet if we hide them in a napkin. "We should earnestly pray that the spirit of righteousness may grow greater in the hearts of all and that our souls may be inclined even more toward the virtues that tell of the gentleness, the loving kindness and forbearance one with another, for without these qualities neither nation nor individual can rise to the level of greatness."

The Eiler "King of the Cattle Ring" carries 30 people, two special cars, band and orchestra. Absolutely the largest and best dramatic show that will exhibit here this season. Under canvas, Nov. 6. More hand-painted china than you ever saw before at Stocking's store. Old newspapers for sale at this office. Only 15 cts per 100.

STATE NEWS.

P. N. Anderson, aged 67, of Col. lin county, was killed by a street car Saturday in Dallas.

To Try Municipal Paving.
Fort Worth will this week become the first city in the southwest to own a municipal paving plant, with the completion of the one now being erected. It is expected to be ready for acceptance by the city next Saturday.

A number of cities in Indian Territory and Oklahoma are considering the establishment of municipal plants, but can take no action until after statehood and the needed legislation. Fort Worth is therefore the first municipality in the southwest, as well as the first in Texas, to have such a public utility.

New Orleans and San Francisco are said to have paving plants, operated by the municipality, but between them Fort Worth stands alone.

The process is said to be simple, consisting merely of feeding the rock asphalt into the plant, through which it is taken automatically, crushed and heated and dropped into wagons. It then has only to be spread upon the street and raked out to a level and rolled. It is ready for use as soon as cool, 12 to 14 hours being sufficient, though a day is generally given for thorough cooling to the bottom.

The worst hailstorm ever known in that section destroyed unpicked cotton in the north end of Wichita and Clay counties Friday night over an area 15 miles long and three miles wide. This crop is reported completely ruined and the loss will be many thousands of dollars. The hail was accompanied by wind, which also did considerable damage.

Eiler's Big Show.
W. A. Eiler presents Ralph R. Richardson in a new sensational five act western play, written expressly for him by the well known author, Hal Reid, entitled "King of the Cattle Ring." It is a charming story of love and adventure. The scenes are laid in the mining regions of the golden west, the play is rich in pathos and fairly bubbling over with fun, mirth and merriment. The members of the supporting company have been selected from the very best material which the dramatic market affords, and during the action of the play a number of pleasing specialties will be introduced. The scenery and all accessories are appropriate and abundant, and nothing has been neglected which may have a tendency to insure the success of the play. The "King of the Cattle Ring" will be presented at Clarendon on Wednesday, Nov. 6, under a big tent.

Boston's Cosmopolitanism.
Modern Boston is an illustration of the persistence of a civic tradition. In no city of the United States has the change of population, owing to unrestricted immigration, been so startling during the last generation. The city of the Puritans has become cosmopolitan. Were Cotton Mather to come to life again and revisit his haunts in the north end even his linguistic acquirements would be severely tested in finding his way about. And yet, though the population has so largely changed, the type remains.—Samuel M. Crother in Century.

Personal Politics—Bailey and Anti-Baileyism.

Dallas, Texas, Oct. 26. Sub- ... ded excitement follows tonight ...

Where will it end? This question is causing no little anxiety here. Senator Bailey arrived in Dallas today from Fort Worth, where he prepared his reply to Attorney General R. V. Davidson's letter calling on Bailey to make good his statement that he had proof the Standard Oil Company operated in Texas.

Pulling for the Jubilee. With the meeting of the Texas Five Million club at the state fair Monday the project for holding a Texas Diamond Jubilee exposition was fairly launched. The movement has received enthusiastic endorsement all over the state, and the principal matter yet to be definitely decided is the location of the exposition. The citizens of Dallas and Ft. Worth have joined in asking that the big fair be held at Arlington, a village midway between the two cities. San Antonio and Austin are working in double harness with the idea of having the exposition located somewhere between the state capital and the Alamo city, and El Paso, far out on the western border, is pulling alone with the greatest of confidence in ultimate success. The people of La Porte and League City have also suggested that the exposition be held at Clear Lake. Many railroads pass within a few miles of the lake, and, in addition to natural advantages, the spot is but a few miles distant from the San Jacinto battleground, one of the historic sites of Texas.

Galveston Bankers Furnish Cotton Money. A representative of the Dallas News was informed by Roy Dillon, assistant general freight agent of the Santa Fe in Galveston Sunday, that a number of consignors of cotton from up the state, who had shipped cotton to the Farmers' Union Cotton company to be held and who wished loans on the product, had requested that their shipments be diverted to Galveston because loans could not be secured in Houston. Mr. Dillon was in Houston Saturday and stated that one of the objects of his visit was to look after the diverting of cotton from Houston to Galveston.

It was stated that since no money can be secured on cotton at Houston, the farmers are sending their product to Galveston, where the bankers are anxious to loan money on cotton. One of the officers of the Farmers' Union Cotton company informed a representative of The News that shipments are being diverted as fast as they arrive to Galveston where they are being handled by Mr. Moody of that city. He admitted that arrangements have been made whereby loans are advanced on cotton shipped to Galveston and that storage, warehouse charges and insurance were cheaper there than at any place in Texas where the company has established warehouses.

This gentleman states that the officers of the company were congratulating themselves on finding a solution of their difficulties and hoped that a permanent arrangement could be made.

Good Crop Prices. Secretary of Agriculture Wilson said Sunday night that the farmers will get more money for their crops this year than they got for those of last.

The total value of all farm products of 1906 was $6,794,000,000. This enormous sum not only will mean that there would be no hard times for the country but that the prosperity which has blessed it for a dozen years will continue.

Secretary Wilson is unable to see any danger in the financial situation, believing the difficulty entirely confined to New York.

Pass Mileage.

The Texas railroad commission has made public a statement of mileage traveled on passes during the year ending June 30 last. In exchange, officials and employes of other roads, 21,062,065 miles, being 17.02 per cent. of each class of total free travel and 1.99 per cent. of free travel to entirely travel; by employes, 81,307,345 miles, being 65.69 per cent. of each class of total free travel and 7.66 per cent. of free travel to entire travel. This also included members of families of employes.

Account newspaper advertising, 5,866,836 miles, being 4.73 per cent. of each class of free travel and 0.55 per cent. of free travel to entire travel.

By public officials of United States, state, county and municipal governments, 7,968,421 miles, being 6.44 per cent. of each class of free travel and 0.75 per cent. of free travel to entire travel.

By other persons, charity, religious, etc., 7,569,895 miles, being 6.12 per cent. of each class of total free travel and 0.71 per cent. of free travel to entire travel. The total mileage is 123,774,562 miles, being 11.66 per cent. of the entire travel.

STATE NEWS. One thousand bushels of peanuts were marketed at Mount Pleasant in one day recently at 85 cents per bushel.

The baby of Doc Posey, residing five miles from Wortham, was choked to death by a potato peeling a few days ago.

With both legs severed and his head bruised the body of Thomas Webb was found beside the railroad track at Rockwell a few days ago.

A great majority of sawmills in Upsher county have shut down owing to lack of orders for lumber and the bad facilities on the Texas Southern railroad for cars.

According to the weather observer, 5 1/2 inches of rain fell in Wills Point Friday night. The rain fell in torrents and there was a brilliant display of electricity during the continuance of the rain. No damage reported so far except to cotton in the field, but this was very considerable.

During a thunderstorm which prevailed Saturday morning the new brick school building at Blum was struck by lightning and is reported to have been damaged to the extent of about $2,000. It is stated that on the day previous the school trustees had taken a storm insurance policy on the building.

A crowded excursion train on the Katy, north of Dallas, collided with an engine while running at a high rate of speed Sunday, wrecking both engines and several cars. Fireman F. C. French of Denison, was instantly killed, and Will Slyden, engineer, and J. E. Dell of Denison, had both legs broken, and a number of others were injured.

A young farm hand living on J. I. Lawler's place, two miles south of Deport, had both legs badly mangled while running a stalk cutter Saturday. He lost his balance and fell backward from the seat. Holding convulsively to the lines, the horses were checked and backed the stalk cutter on him. His legs being caught and the flesh all most cut into shreds in places.

Mrs. Rufugia Flores, a Mexican, died in North Fort Worth Saturday night as a result of hydrophobia caused from a dog or wolf bite. On Sept. 2 she arose early and went into the yard, where she was attacked by the animal and one arm was badly lacerated. The wounds were so serious that a physician was called, who treated her. Friday night the physician was again summoned and it was found that hydrophobia had developed. She died in agony.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 26.— President Roosevelt returned to Washington on Wednesday afternoon and politics, finance and all sorts of subjects have kept him busy at his desk ever since his arrival. It is generally understood that he approves the action of his secretary of the treasury in going to the prompt assistance of banks of importance and standing in New York. He believes now that the crises is over and that no statement from him on the situation is necessary.

There is an abundance of third-term talk among the many White House visitors, consisting of senators, representatives and politicians in general, and the consensus of opinion among them is that the country wants no one but Roosevelt. His acceptance is a wholly different question.

It is now claimed by the railroad authorities that the public was unduly alarmed over the possibility of an increase in the price of tickets to pay for the new Union station, and that no such action on their part is contemplated—at least for the present.

Capt. Charles de Forrest Chandler of the Signal Corps, U. S. A., who acted as aid to J. C. McCoy of New York, in the great balloon race held under the auspices of the Aero Club of America, arrived in Washington on Wednesday from Annapolis, Md., where his balloon alighted the same day. Capt. Chandler is of the opinion that it would be much better for all contestants if the future races could be started from a point farther west than St. Louis, as such a course would permit a much longer voyage and better records, but that it would be a difficult problem to find such a place, with the proper facilities for a race, on account of the difficulty in securing an adequate amount of the proper kind of gas. It seems that the present race required 700,000 cubic feet of pure coal gas.

The War Department officials are elated over the success achieved by the McCoy-Chandler trip, although it was not the winning flight, and over the record Capt. Chandler is making an Aerial navigation. No other aeronautic voyages are contemplated in the immediate future.

Dr. Wiley of the Agricultural Department, whose name in connection with pure food and drugs has almost become a household word, declared, recently, that the sale of soft drinks should be supervised by the authorities, as the exact nature of the stuff put into these drinks and sold over the counters in drug stores to children is not generally known.

Bad Symptoms.

The woman who has periodical headaches, backache, sees imaginary dark spots or specks floating or dancing before her eyes, has gnawing distress or heavy full feeling in stomach, faint spells, dragging-down feeling in lower abdominal or pelvic region, easily started or excited, irregular or painful periods, with or without pelvic catarrh, is suffering from weakness and derangements that should have early attention. Not all of above symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.

Neglected or badly treated and such cases often run into maladies which demand the surgeon's knife if they do not result fatally.

No medicine extant has such a long and numerous record of cures in such cases as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. No medicine has such a strong professional endorsement, or such a large number of testimonials—worth more than any number of ordinary non-professional testimonials. It is the very best and most known to medical science for the cure of woman's peculiar ailments enter into its composition. No other medicine, or habit-forming drug is to be found in the list of its ingredients printed on each bottle-wrapper and attested under oath. In any condition of the female system, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription can do only good—never harm. Its whole effect is to strengthen, invigorate and regulate the whole female system and especially the pelvic organs. When these are deranged in function or affected by disease, the stomach and other organs of digestion become sympathetically deranged, the nerves are weakened, and a long list of bad, unpleasant symptoms follow. Too much must not be expected of this "Favorite Prescription." It will not perform miracles; it will not cure tumors—no medicine will. It will often prevent them, if taken in time, and thus the operating table and the surgeon's knife may be avoided.

Women suffering from diseases of long standing, are invited to consult Doctor Pierce by mail. A correspondence is held as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser (1000 pages) is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps for paper-covered, or 31 stamps for cloth-bound copy. Address as above.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

G. S. Patterson returned Sunday from a trip to the Dallas fair.

A 3 year old girl of Mr. and Mrs. Kirklin, living west of Clarendon, died Sunday after being sick for some time.

Elder C. C. Bearden has purchased 20 acres of land at Arlington, Tex., and will again make that place his home.

We ask your attention to the advertisement of J. M. Shelton, of Giles, in this issue. He has on a reduction sale.

L. W. Chase, one of the owners of the electric light and water plant, who lives in Cleburne, spent yesterday here on business.

The past two days have been cloudy, drizzly and threatening a cold spell. Fair weather would be welcomed by everybody.

Miss Susie Patterson's school at Giles is on a vacation for a month to enable the scholars to help their parents with cotton picking.

Misses Lelia Ross and Ruth Gage went to the Dallas Fair this week and the former will visit at Pilot Point and Gainesville before returning.

The B. Y. P. U. will have a social at Mrs. H. C. Brumley's tomorrow night. All members of the Union, as well as members of the Baptist church, are invited.

John Farris, of Floyd county, came in last week with 400 steers to ship to Kansas City. Like others, he could get no definite promise of cars in which to ship.

The Sells-Floto show was the best that has been in Clarendon in many years. The weather being unfavorable in the morning the crowd was not as large as it would have been otherwise.

At the depot Sunday night a son of Mrs. Boswell's threw "high life" in the face of Jack Mann's son, some of which entered his eyes, causing excruciating pain for a time. It was a dangerous thing to do, however the doctor thinks no permanent injury will result.

The Dallas fair special train out of Amarillo Saturday morning was wrecked just this side of Goodnight by the engine and three coaches jumping the track. No one hurt. They arrived in Dallas Sunday morning, about 14 hours late. There were about 150 Amarilloites aboard.

Married.

Mr. June Taylor, son of H. W. Taylor, and a member of the hardware firm of H. W. Taylor & Sons, and Miss Knoxie Boles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Boles, were married at the home of the bride's parents in Clarendon Sunday, Rev. Hilburn of the Methodist church performing the ceremony. The happy young couple left the same evening for the Dallas fair under a shower of rice and with the good wishes of their many friends. We extend congratulations.

Bob McMurtry has fitted up his meat market just north of the new Seamon building.—Silverton Enterprise.

Marital Misfits.

The government is preparing to publish the most sensational book ever turned out from its printing office. It might be entitled "A Plea for Trial Marriages," but it will probably have the prosaic title "Divorce Statistics as Collected and Compiled by the Census Bureau." Although it will not be issued until spring, the astounding fact was disclosed that a stupendous total of 1,300,000 married couples applied for divorce in the ten years ending 1906.

Sunday Sightseers.

Stationmaster Deems of Fort Worth says that more people passed through Fort Worth on roads touching at the Texas & Pacific depot Sunday than on any other day of the year. Excursions were run to Dallas on every line through there, and every train was crowded to its fullest capacity.

Six cars were run both ways over the interurban every hour and all were crowded to the standing room limit.

HOME CIRCLE DEPARTMENT
Thoughts and pleasant evening recreations for the fireside by UNCLE GEORGE

FARM POETRY.
UNCLE NED: Will you kindly give space in your Home Circle department to a farmer's wife to "speak her piece?" To begin with we all enjoy your Home Circle column and find much in it that is useful as well as interesting. Of late, however, while we fully agree with most that appears in this department, we have read a few items regarding the beauties of life on the farm with which we differ. Where is the poetry of farming? "Tell me, ye winged winds," or any one else who can, for information on the subject. We have heard of a person living all his life in sight of a most beautiful landscape, but he never saw the beauty nor dream'd of such a thing, till his attention was called to the fact by another. It may be so with us; we may be living in the very midst of poetry and pleasure of rural life, and our dulled senses fail to realize the fact. Therefore please, who can, point us to the bright way. But please don't mention, among the attractions of country life the "woodland dells, where leaflets clap their merry hands and all nature smiles in serene happiness," nor say anything about the "pure, fresh country air." We have a nice grove on our farm, and often when we run out for an armful of wood or a pail of water, we look at the grove and think how pleasant it would be to sit there and rest; but the kettle waits for the water, the fire for the wood, and back we go. And when the work is done, there is the baby—she cannot be left alone, and we think we prefer rest indoors to an enjoyment of nature's beauties under such circumstances.

As to the "pure, fresh air," we have breathed quite as pure air in cities as that which is wafted from the neighboring pig-yard. And when the wind sweeps from our big marsh, it is most too fresh for comfort or the well being of the clothes switching on the clothes-line.

We should never have thought so much about this were there not so much written about the beauty and poetry of farm life, by those who know least about it. There are charming rural retreats, we know, but charming rural life is a thing. A party may spend a hot summer day in the cool woods and be delighted; but let them pass the same day over the cook stove or ironing board, or in the hay field, they will find a difference. The former is the ideal rural life; the latter the real.

There are many pleasures in the farmer's life, but plenty of hard work to destroy all idea of poetry, and bring one down to very common prose. Is there poetry in butchering, sausage making, lard frying? Is there, oh, is there poetry in picking potato bugs?

Every parent is like a looking-glass for children to dress themselves by. Therefore parents should keep the glass clear and bright, not dull and spotted, as their example is a rich inheritance for the rising generation.

Easy Killing of Johnson Grass
Elmer Stovall, a well known farmer, has astonished his neighbors by completely killing a farm of Johnson grass in two years, and now has a fine crop of cotton growing on 50 acres of land recently set thick in this dread pest. He has not missed a crop, either. Mr. Stovall accomplished his task by breaking the ground in July and August last year and turning the grass land back and forth, and grazing sheep on it. As the roots kept coming nearer the surface the sheep nipped it, and the pest was soon under control, at light expense. The task was accomplished in two years at an estimated cost of $1 per acre. The land was thoroughly sodded in Johnson grass, and this year not a single blade of grass is to be seen.—Rice Rustler.
