He was little more than a boy when the war broke out, but answered the first call of the president for volunteers and served with the ninety day men at the beginning of the strug gle. He was in the First Maryland cavalry and participated in twenty-one battles and skirmishes. When the first enlistment was out he went in again and served for the full three years service wounded, but not disabled.

Growth of a Great Department. He came to Washington at that time and entered the service of the government in the then bureau of agriculture. He has letters now from Andrew Jacksen and President Lincoln commending him for the place. It was a little bureau at the time, and little was thought of it. Captain Cooke's appointment was under the first commissioner of agriculture, Isaac Newton, who was appointed July 1, 1862. Cooke went into the service in 1864, serving continuously under J. W. Stokes, Horace Capron, Frederick Watts, William G. Le Duc, George Loring and Norman Colman. On the second appointment of Colman to office in 1889 the bureau was made a department. and soon realized that it was dif- be known until the arrival of a Then came Uncle Jerry Rusk, J. Sterling Morton and finally the present secretary, James Wilson. The department had been growing ever since it was created a department, but under Wilson, who proved a splendid exexecutive, the department went forward by strides. Its employees increased by the hundred and when the forest service was created by the

The Jefferson Bible.

A few years ago congress authorized the publication of a facsimile of Thomas Jefferson's Bible. Jefferson had this Bible in the form of a scrap book in which the life of the Saviour was set order of congress was carried out the publishers were given leave to print additional copies, which were put on the market at $2.50 a volume. Recently there has been an overproduction, and the price is now quoted at $1.25. A few days ago a constituent of Representative Walter Brownlow of Tennessee heard about the decrease in the price and rushed in to tell the con gressman, who had more requests for the Bible than he could fill.

"It's going for $1.25," said the caller. "Well, what of it?" replied Brownlow "I can buy a whole Bible for 25 cents."

A Texan Defines a Vice. Washington hasn't seen much recent ly of that distinguished son of the south, the Hon. Colonel Cecil Lyon, Republican national committeeman of Texas. He hasn't been here since his friend Theodore Roosevelt went to Africa. Colonel Lyon is always sure of an audience when he arrives in town, for his brand of stories is the best on the national capitol market since Bill Sterrett retired from the newspaper field and became a Lone Star farmer.

Colonel Lyon was talking about a man down in Texas who, he declared, didn't have a single, solitary vice. "What would you call a vice in a man?" somebody inquired. This stumped the Texan. He pondered for a long time, trying to think, but it was no use. Then his face brightened.

"I don't know what you would call a vice," he said, "unless it was chew-

No Electric Fans In Capitol. The sawmill noise that grates on th ears of statesmen when the electric fans in the houses of congress are in action has been stilled and will be for all time if the edict of Elliott Woods endeat of the capitol, is no superintendeat of the capitol, is not revoked. Senators and representatives may sweiter and perspire, but the orator must be heard, and he will have his way in eliminating what has been termed a disturbing factor to the

During the consideration of the Ding-ley tariff bill electric fans sent their cooling breezes throughout the cham-bers. Trouble developed, however, for when some long winded orator obtain ed the floor mischlevous members turn on the current, and the resounding disturbance was akin to the operation of a foundry. The experience of that session was so unpleasant to the speakers that the officials at the capitol will avoid a repetition of it by

The Daylight Saving Movement. The movement in Great Britain to secure a "daylight saving" law appears to be making headway, though it may still be far from enactment. The question of a uniform time standard is worth considering in connection with the efforts to conserve the natural resources of the United States and office building to a department with to improve its industrial affairs. A 14,000 employees, including the forest great advance was made when standervice, a secretary in the cabinet and | ard time was changed at the ninetieth, one hundred and fifth and one hundred and twentieth meridians by exactly one hour when going from New York to San Francisco. This was done to benefit railroads and has proved to be a great blessing. But if present eastern time (that of the seventy-fifth meridian) were adopted as a uniform standard for the whole country uniformity in regard to the clock time would prevail in every part of the United States.

The benefits of a single time standard to the bulk of the American people using it-that portion which now keeps central and mountain timewould be enormous. At least 60,-000,000 people would thus save the use of artificial light one hour every day in the year. This saving would be 1 cent a day, or a total of $600,000 daily for all the people, and in one year this saving would amount to 365 times that sum, or $219,000,000, more than enough to maintain a navy of forty-eight battleships with the accessories of three fleets, including their bases and naval coast defenders.-Commodore Beeble

It will be to learn that the leading medical writers and teachers of all the several schools of practice recommend, in the strongest terms possible, each and every ingredient entering into the composition ingredient entering into the composition of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for the cure of weak stomach, dyspepsia, catarrh of stomach, "liver complaint," torpid liver, or biliousness, chronic bowei affections, and all catarrhal diseases of whatever region, name or nature. It is also a specific remedy for all such chronic or long standing cases of catarrhal affections and their resultants, as bronchial, throat and lung disease (except consumption) accompanied with severe coughs. It is not so good for acute colds and coughs, but for lingering, or chronic cases it is especially efficacious in producing perfect cures. It contains Black Cherrybark, Golden Seal root, Bloodroot, Stone root, Mandrake root and Queen's root—all of which are highly praised as remedies for all the above mentioned affections by such minent medical writers and teachers as Prof. Bartholow, of Nefferson Med. College; Prof. Hare, of the Univ. of Pa.; Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., of Bennett Med. College, Chicago; Prof. John King, M. H., of Cincinnati; Prof. John M. Scudder M. D., of Cincinnati; Prof. Edwin M. flade, M. D., of Hahnemann Med. College, Chicago, and scores of others conaily eminent in their several schools of processional endorsement—worth more than any number of ordinary testimonials. Open publicity of its formula is the best possible guaranty of its merits. A glance at this published formula will show that "Golden Medical Discovery" tontains no poisonous, harmful or habitorming drugs and no alcohol—chemically oure, triple-refined glycerine being used instead. Glycerine is entirely unobjectionable and besides is a most useful agent in the cure of all stomach as well as bronchial, throat and lung affections. There is the highest medical authority for its use in all such cases. The "Discovery" is a concentrated glyceric extract of native, medicinal rots and is safe and reliable.
