ALASKA—THREAT TO WHOM?

The test of whether the United States has come to an appreciation of the job before it may lie in what is going on in Alaska. Just what is going on there, we don't know, and that's as it should be. But it is clear that there can be two approaches to what is going on.

Are we still thinking in terms of the "defense of Alaska" as we thought of the "defense of the Philippines" and the "defense of Hawaii"? Or are we thinking in terms of Alaska as a "jumping off place" for an attack on the heart of Japan?

Alaska was never any menace to Tokyo in the days before the war, and there is no excuse for any pretense that it was. Up to 1939, Alaska was totally undefended. The lonely few hundreds of infantrymen who garrisoned that vast land were no threat to anybody. Tokyo can never claim that the United States had done in Alaska what Nippon had been doing for 20 years in the mandated islands in the South Pacific.

Japan has chosen war. Sudden and undeclared war without a shadow of a cause. Very well. Now Alaska is something else again.

Alaska can be a threat to North America. Should the Japs succeed in the South Pacific, they might well turn to the North Pacific, and try to secure this foothold on North America within ready bombing distance of the United States' west coast. Against this we are preparing to defend Alaska and ourselves. That may be assumed.

Has not the whole course of the war thus far proved that we must do much better than that? This long series of desperate rear-guard actions beginning in Poland in the autumn of 1939—is there to be no end of them? Are we of the free nations perpetually to wait for attack and fight those long, heart-breaking rear-guard actions?

Not forever. Alaska can also be made a threat to Japan. Dutch Harbor is actually closer to San Francisco than is Hawaii, and it is closer to Japan, too. The land-based airplane strength that will keep Japanese naval force away from Alaska; the bomber strength that will at length make Japan feel at home what she has visited on a half-dozen peoples—these may be based on Alaska. Industrial Japan is not now within bombing range of the Alaskan bases. But new planes, new bases, new developments may well put it in range a little later.

Defend Alaska? Certainly. But that is not enough. We may hope that present preparations going on in Alaska are aimed at carrying the war to Japan, which is the way it will be won in the end.

Alaska, threat to whom? The way in which we answer that question may be the key to whether we have before us an endless war threatening our own U. S. territory, or a relatively short one fought on and over Japanese territory.—Pampa News

HONEST BILL SAID IT. Defending Gene Worley's action in joining the Navy, Bill Miller, Spearman newsman, writes, "The fact of the matter is that Gene Worley can be of more benefit to our country in a position of leadership in the Navy, than he could back in some camp underserving spuds. It is known that Washington officials are not the only people who have been given intensive training and placed in a position of trust in the Navy. Fact is that only a few of the officials had the guts to quit their fat salary and offer their services."

WHO'S OLD TACK, ANYHOW?

According to Old Tack, the Panhandle, especially Amarillo, is being punished by Washington for failing to re-elect Marvin Jones as Congressman. That is a pretty poor excuse. Washington knows as well as do the people of the Panhandle that Marvin Jones was angling for a Federal Judgeship and was handed the appointment by the President long before his term in Congress expired. His announcement of acceptance could have been forestalled by the President. Had Marvin Jones wished to remain in Congress he would have had no serious opposition two years ago, and none of the dozen candidates would have been running for his place had not this tempting federal job been dangled under his nose by the President. We wonder if this story of punishment being dished out at this time is not for the purpose of covering up the mistakes which have been made by the boosters of our big sister city of Amarillo? —Canyon News.

HOW WAR CHANGED GRADUATIONS

CANYON—College calendars are changing dizzily under the impact of wartime needs.

And West Texas State's commencement, originally set for June 1, will take place May 24 under a speed-up program designed to hasten the opening of a 15-week summer term decided upon by college department heads.

The baccalaureate sermon will be preached at 12 o'clock noon, War time, on May 24 and the commencement exercises will follow on the same day at 9:15 p. m., War time. The night program has been placed at a time which will permit local churches to hold their regular services before commencement exercises begin.

The shortening of the spring semester will be made possible by eliminating most holidays.

Conquering High Blood Pressure With Chiropractic

High blood pressure is a condition which usually develops in middle age or aged people. Ruling out kidney disease, it usually develops from an over-narrowing of the blood vessels, making it difficult for the blood to pass through, or from a hardening of the arterial pipes with calcareous material which makes the blood vessel lose its elasticity.

The symptoms of high blood pressure, where the systolic pressure is from 160 to 300, are dizziness, headache, giddiness, pressure sensation in the head, shortness of breath, rapid irregular pulse, and gastro-intestinal symptoms.

Chiropractic is really effective in reducing high blood pressure. For the simple reason that it presents a method to relax constricted blood vessels and remove tension. Even in cases where the blood vessels have become hardened, Chiropractic is effective, because it reaches those vessels not yet affected. Chiropractic results are so good in high blood pressure because adjustments can remove nerve irritation without the administration of harmful drugs.

ENTERTAINERS.
Quite a number of our folks down this way listened in on the radio program over KPDN from 11:30 to 12 Saturday. The group of local people presented what is known as the "Christian Youth Entertainers," a national movement designed to provide clean, wholesome entertainment for the young, and it won't damage the old folks a bit to listen to it. The group going to Pampa Saturday included Misses Frankie Hommel, Callie Mae and Margaret Gunter, Rev. M. E. Hutson and G. D. and Billie Jack Shelly. The Gunter sisters and the Shelly brothers.

Quite an addition to oddities in that fact, too. Many compliments are being paid them.

Please look at the date on your paper this week, or the wrapper if it comes to you in a single wrapper, and renew at once if the expiration date is near. You don't want to miss a copy, and we don't want to stop anyone's paper either, but we have to cooperate during the 'duration' whether we like it or not.

REGULATION.
We have more regulation regarding the addresses of our boys in the service outside the states. We can't mail the paper to any address now that would give the enemy any information as to where any certain company or other designated branch of the service is in training. The parents who write the letters to our boys should give us the new addresses they receive at once. We want to give the boys the Leader, but we have to help keep the enemy off the boys at the same time.

SIDE GLANCES ON TEXAS HISTORY
By Charles O. Hucker
University of Texas Library

Why Bill Barton Lived So Long
Among the few old-time Texans who were fortunate enough to live very long lives was William Barton, after whom Barton Springs in Austin was named. Yet, like most of the others, he had his narrow escapes from death. As a matter of fact, in his last days he must have been convinced that he was still alive only because he happened to be Bill Barton.

His long life is particularly remarkable in view of the fact that he settled on the present site of Austin when it was a wilderness far out on the edge of the Texas settlements—several years before Mirabeau B. Lamar "discovered" it in 1839. J. W. Wilbarger points out that his life wasn't a perfectly secure and placid one in "Indian Depredations in Texas," which contains some of the best adventure yarns in the Texas Collection of the University of Texas Library.

Even as late as 1842, for instance, when Austin was already something of a town, Barton had a dramatic little set-to with Indians. He had sent his son to near by Bastrop on business and, the son failing to return when expected, set out on foot one afternoon to look for him among the hills lining the banks of the Colorado.

Forsaken By His Dogs
In the midst of his wanderings, a volley of shots suddenly rang out, a rifle ball gave a brisk fillip to the brim of his hat, and a company of Indians came charging down upon him from a thicket. Almost automatically he raised his rifle, fired, and brought down one of the savages; then, beginning to think, he was off for home at a hot run.

Now old man Barton, though almost seventy years old at the time, was a man of amazingly nimble feet, but he was hardly a match for his pursuers and lost ground rapidly. It was his nimble wit that he decided to rely on; so he called for his hunting dogs. To his great relief, half a dozen of them soon dashed up in a pack and gave the Indians a momentary alarm. But it was only momentary; for a deer started out of the bushes, and they were off after it with howls of delight, and Barton ran on disgusted.

"The old man's ingenuity was now taxed to the utmost," the story goes in Wilbarger. "There he was by himself, deserted by his dogs, almost within the grasp of the wily sons of the forest who were thirsty for fresh blood and another scalp to dangle at their sides. The full resources of the mind are never fully developed except in such stringent cases as this, and it was just at this critical moment when a bright idea struck the old frontiersman, and he was none too quick in availing himself of it."

Barton's Strategy
He executed his bit of strategy perfectly. When he got to the top of the last hill separating him from home—with the Indians now only a stone's throw behind—he stopped, began to wave gleefully down the homeward side of the hill and point at the Indians, and cried out loudly, "Here they are, boys! Come quick!"

It saved the day. The Indians, completely bluffed, turned tail and soon disappeared. But Barton even yet did not feel quite safe and ran the rest of the way into town. A crowd, having heard the firing in the distance, had gathered about to await developments, and he stumbled right into the midst, panting and exhausted.

"Boys," was all he could say, "it's a good thing it wasn't one of you or you'd have been killed shore!"

FEDERAL JOBS OPEN FOR STENOGRAPHERS

The Federal Government is in urgent need of Junior Stenographers for employment in Washington, D. C. The entrance salary for this position is $120 per month. The opportunities for later advancement are excellent for young men and women with ability. Applicants will be required to take an examination to receive an appointment to this position, consisting of a test in copying from plain copy and a dictation test. The shorthand speed has been reduced from 96 to 80 words a minute. Persons who are interested in employment as Jr. Stenographer in Washington should immediately contact the Secretary U. S. Civil Service Board, Post Office, Clarendon, Texas, or the Manager, Tenth U. S. Civil Service District, Customhouse Bldg., New Orleans, Louisiana.

A vigilant campaign against fires will result in a stronger defense at home.

The protection of life and property against fire is important at any time. It is vital in war time.

Better Cream Means More Income

Texas farmers can enhance their income by approximately $700,000 during the coming year from the sale of cream alone merely by producing butterfat of a quality that will make high grade butter, it is estimated by Dr. N. W. Hepburn, nationally-known dairy authority.

Dr. Hepburn states that not infrequently butter made from the highest quality butterfat brings three cents a pound over the price at which butter made from ordinary butterfat is sold. If it only brought two cents a pound more, this would be roughly equivalent to an added yearly income of $727,480 for the 71,877 cream producing farms in this state.

Quite apart from the fact that the farmer can benefit financially by producing better cream for butter-making, he will also be co-operating with the government in its all-out drive for the most nourishing foodstuffs for the Army, Navy and civilian population, according to Dr. Hepburn. Outdated methods of production no longer yield cream coming up to the high standards of quality set up by the revised federal food and drug act. The new regulations require government agents to seize and destroy unfit cream, to make certain that it will not be made into butter. The same regulations also place on butter-making establishments the responsibility of making no purchases of sub-standard cream, under penalty of having the finished butter condemned.

Whether butter is high grade or just ordinary or even poor depends almost entirely on the care given the original cream on the farm, Dr. Hepburn states. Just what constitutes good care is well known and may be summarized as follows: 1. Clean cows, clean milking, clean utensils. 2. Immediate cooling of the cream and then keeping it cool as long as it remains on the farm. 3. Delivery of the cream often enough to insure its arrival at the market in good condition. Farmers wishing helpful information on proper care of cream should consult their local cream buyer, creamery or state agricultural college. Dr. Hepburn gives this cold-weather hint to farmers: In order to separate cream efficiently in winter the separator bowl must be warm, and the most effective way of getting the parts warm is to run boiling water through the machine just before separating. This practice will at once prevent excessive loss of butterfat in the skimmilk and lengthen the life of the separator. Tests made by Dr. D. R. Theophilus, of the department of dairy husbandry of the University of Idaho, proved that butterfat losses in a separator unwashed for four days were 15 times as high as in a separator cleaned and sterilized after each separation.

Making a Soldier of Sugar

As we have sent men abroad to fight for America—as we have sent money—as we have drafted steel, with other commodities, into fighting-service or enlisted wheat and other fighting-foods—so we must make a soldier of sugar.

Nutriments for the nations at war is as vital to the outcome as the powder that feeds the guns. A great nutrient in time of peace—in war a veritable sinew—sugar is now called upon to play a heroic part, to supply the peoples of our Allies—whose strength is ours.

To wrap up sugar in the American flag, so to speak, and put it into the fight becomes a duty of loyalty. It will be borne cheerfully by every industry, every dealer, and every individual it falls upon. Upon certain industries it falls heavily—and especially on the workers who derive their living from them. Yet the American civilian in this war with the soldier. American business great and small, American capital from Wall Street to the remotest country bank, is with the Government at every step of the way. The U. S. means U. S. All of us are in the fight with everything we have, and everything we cherish.

This company regards it a privilege to contribute to the war effort in every way possible, to the end of conservation we pledge our efforts in every direction that opportunity may disclose, in manufacture as well as beyond the scope of our immediate interests; and in this effort generally we bespeak the co-operation of dealers and consumers everywhere.

THE COCA-COLA COMPANY
ATLANTA, GA.

WORLD WAR I 1917

The United States Government restricted the use of sugar in World War I. The response of The Coca-Cola Company was expressed in the newspaper advertisement reproduced at the left.

Again, Sugar enlists for Victory

WORLD WAR II 1942

History repeats itself in World War II. Sugar has been called to war again. Our government has restricted the use of sugar for all. Naturally, that includes Coca-Cola.

You'll continue to find Coca-Cola around the corner from anywhere, though we regret that you won't be able to enjoy the pause that refreshes as often as you might like. Our volume has been reduced. But this we pledge: the character of Coca-Cola will be unimpaired. The American people can continue to trust its quality.

As in 1917, we count upon the patience of dealers everywhere. Conserving sugar is another step toward Victory. Whatever any of us may have, or may not have, Victory we must have above all else!

Taking Brass Out of Shoe Eyelets to Save Enough For Million Shell Cases a Year

Enough brass to make a million artillery shell cases a year will be saved by using substitutes for brass in shoe eyelets, provided for in Supplement No. 1 to Copper Conservation Order M-9-c.

Manufacturers have agreed they can use japanned metal instead of brass with no loss in wear, it was explained.

The order, effective January 27, provides that between January 1 and March 31 no shoe manufacturers may make a greater number of eyelets than will be necessary to fill orders for deliveries before April 1. Use of copper during the period is also limited.

After March 31, no copper may be used in the manufacture of shoe findings.

Navajos Shrewd Buyers; Jewelry Is Bank Account

GALLUP, N. M., Feb. 10.—The Navajo Indians, whose reservation spreads over western New Mexico, are ranked by traders as shrewd buyers, despite their concept of property and value.

Traders hold that the Navajo know and appreciate quality workmanship more than most white people.

The famed Navajo jewelry serves not only for decoration but for a bank account. When he gets low on funds, the Navajo gives it as security for provisions to be held for a year without interest.

The trader may hold the jewelry for years before it is redeemed and if the owner needs it for ceremonial purposes, a loan is arranged.

The Navajo divides property into five classes: Soft goods such as cloth, blankets or hides; hard goods such as money, silver, turquoise and small jewelry; ceremonial values such as herbs, magic formulae and prayers; farm and ranch land, and livestock.

Navajo women own most of the flocks of sheep, which are the basis of the tribe's economy, while men own most of the horses and cattle. When a Navajo couple enters a trading post, the husband usually assists with the shopping in an advisory capacity with the wife rejecting his advice as often as she accepts it.

In the monetary vernacular of the Navajo, a penny is a "red," a nickel is a "yellow" and a dime is "one blue."

The Navajo values turquoise above diamonds because of its religious significance as well as the high esteem in which it is held for jewelry making.

Marine Corps parachutists release blue "cargo" chutes which carry "Tommy" guns, rifles, grenades, ammunition, and other lethal supplies.

An outstanding characteristic of the oyster is its ability to change its sex from year to year, a phenomenon known as "sex reversal." Young oysters in their first year of life are generally male. During the second year half of them will become females and a certain number will continue to alternate between one sex and the other.

This American Tire Made From This American Bush

O'Neil Jones Kloesner

Proving that manufacture of tires from the American grown guayule shrub is practical, William O'Neil, president of The General Tire & Rubber Co. has turned over to Jesse Jones, secretary of commerce, a specimen of the mature plant and a tire made entirely of guayule rubber. The tire was made in the same General Tire plant and in the same machines used in making tires from far eastern rubber. O'Neil has urged the development of guayule as an emergency rubber supply for years. A bill now before Congress calls for the immediate planting of all available guayule seed in the states of Texas, California, New Mexico and Arizona. Because it thus far is impossible to make a tire from synthetic rubber alone, O'Neil is urging the growth of guayule to supplement the 400,000 ton production of synthetic already announced by Jones. American Legion Posts in all parts of the country are supporting the O'Neil guayule program, which O'Neil discussed this week with Secretary Jones and H. J. Kloesner, president of the Rubber Reserve Corporation.

Quantity of Silage Increased

COLLEGE STATION — There was a slight decline in the number of trench silos filled on Texas farms in 1941 compared with the 1940 total. But, says E. R. Eudaly, dairyman of the A&M College Extension Service, there was an increase of 828,613 in the tonnage put into the containers over that of the preceding year.

According to Eudaly, 40,000 silos had been filled on January 1, 1941, but on January 1, 1942, the number stood at 38,054. In quantity, however, the story is different. During 1940, Texas farmers put up 4,384,785 tons of silage, but in 1941, the tonnage reached 5,213,398. The specialist attributes this to the fact that large operators not only refilled existing silos, but dug new ones. The decrease was among the smaller operators. The average capacity of all the silos in 1940 was 116 tons. The average capacity in 1941 was 137 tons.

"The decline in number does not mean that farmers think less of silos," Eudaly says. "The shortage was a result of weather and labor conditions."

Excessive rain in the spring and early summer prevented many farmers in the eastern half of the state from making feed crops. And excessive fall rains in the western half, plus a reported labor shortage, in some cases hampered many farmers in harvesting their feed, and in others in filling silos.

Eudaly says there was an increase in the number of trench silos in Bexar, Cameron, Cochran, Coke, Concho, Crosby, Dawson, Floyd, Guadalupe, Hale, Haskell, Hockley, Lynn, Martin, Wharton and Wilson counties in 1941. Twenty seven counties showed a decrease and the remainder were practically unchanged.

Defense Stamp Endless Chain Letter Scheme

The mails in all parts of the country are still being flooded with letters related to so called endless chain schemes soliciting defense saving stamps. The Bulletin of July 22, 1941, contained a notice regarding the legality of such schemes. Nevertheless, patrons of the various post offices are depositing in the mails matter relating to schemes of this nature. They should be warned that the sending of such matter thru the mails is a violation of the postal fraud and lottery statutes.

Notices are served upon such persons participating in such schemes whose names come to the attention of The Post Office Department requiring them to show cause why fraud orders should not be issued against them. Such orders forbid the delivery of any mail to persons named therein.

In order that the attention of the public be called to the illegal character of the scheme, it is suggested that local newspapers be requested to give publicity to this notice.
