A Common Paper for Common People

Bond Sales Reports Show Poor Buying

An unofficial report on the Bond Sales for Donley County today showed that approximately $40,000 in Bonds had been sold. This is a very poor showing on our quota of $330,000 for the entire county.

Every person needs to perk up and figure out some way to buy more bonds than ever before. Our men are giving their lives in the big invasion and on the many allied fronts. We here at home are giving nothing in comparison—and in buying bonds, we are lending our money and will be paid for the use of it.

Some people have asked the question as to whether the bonds will be discounted or whether they will be worthless after the war is over. This question has been answered with powerful words: "If our government still stands after this war, you will get your money; if our government should fall, you won't have a bit of use for bonds, money or anything else, for without our present form of government, everything you have would be worthless." And again we quote—"Any person, afraid of losing a little money when a large number of men are giving their lives for them, is unfit to be an American."

Let's all plan now to do all we possibly can -- buy more Bonds -- raise our quota of $330,000 and show our boys that we are for them one hundred percent.

Several War Bond rallies have been scheduled in different sections of the county for this week and next. They are more fully explained in other articles on this page. Plan to take them in—it will do you good and others.

Lelia Lake To Have Bond Rally And Box Supper

Quinn Aten, Captain for the Lelia Lake school district in the Fifth War Loan drive, announced this week that plans had been completed to bring that community together Friday night in a big Bond Rally and box supper.

Those people around Lelia Lake are going to do their best to raise their part of the Donley county quota as soon as possible and it is hoped by captain Aten, that the quota will be raised Friday night, June 23rd. The hour for the occasion will be 9:30 p. m. at the school house. The boxes fixed up by the ladies will be auctioned off to the highest bidders on bonds.

Everyone is invited and urged to come out with these folks and help them put their quota over the top.

MRS. GEORGE HECKMAN GROWS FINE STRAWBERRIES

Mrs. George Heckman has a very prolific strawberry bed. They are of the large sweet variety and produce as many as ten large berries to the plant, and some measure in size comparable to an English walnut. If anyone wants to know the secret of growing the big ones in this section of the country, they should see Mrs. Heckman, for she must know judging by the bowl of the fine fruit she brought to the Leader office this morning.

First Wheat In Donley County Is Marketed

Wilson Grey, of the Goldston Community north of Clarendon, marketed Donley County's first load of wheat, Friday, June 18th. The wheat tested 63 and is averaging approximately twenty bushels to the acre.

Donley's entire wheat crop is much above the average and an average yield of approximately 25 bushels per acre is expected.

MOTHER OF 'NATIONAL TYPICAL AMERICAN FAMILY' CHRISTENS SHIP AT HOUSTON, TEXAS

Donley county came into national limelight for the second time Thursday through the instrumentality of the "Leathers Family", a name that became a national household expression a few years ago when Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Leathers and their children, Johnnie and Margaret, composed the family adjudged by the World's Fair contest in New York as being the "most typical American family."

It will be recalled that your Donley County Leader nominated the "Leathers Family" for entrance to this contest in which they had to win in the district, state and national contests to secure the coveted title.

The second event of national recognition came Thursday at Houston where Mrs. D. E. Leathers had been selected to christen the Liberty ship, Nathaniel Scudder, of 10,500 ton capacity. Mrs. Earl Alderson, a niece, was her maid of honor. Mrs. Leathers was presented with the regulation gold bracelet by the ship building company president, a pattern that instantly brings recognition of this signal honor to the wearer.

The ceremony was attended by company officials and their wives, and a large crowd of enthusiastic help conserve more food. This program is being sponsored by the Federal Government thru the local department of vocational agriculture in an effort to conserve as much food as possible.

Mrs. Christal has had several years of experience in canning work and only recently attended a canning clinic conducted by experts in this work. Several thousands of cans of hominy and peas and beans have been canned in the Lelia plant under her supervision in recent weeks in addition to the many cans of meat and other vegetables. She will continue to operate the Lelia Plant on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays of each week throughout the summer. Any one desiring to have their cookers tested or to secure an appointment for canning should contact Mrs. Christal by phoning 915-F4.

Bond Rally To Be Held At Hedley Friday Night

The Hedley Lions Club is sponsoring a bond rally to be held at the Hedley High School Auditorium Friday night, June 23rd. They are inviting all the surrounding communities to attend and the bonds purchased by the residents of the different communities will be allotted to the quotas of their districts.

The Hedley business men have donated prizes to be auctioned to the highest bond bidder and the Childress Army Air Field is sending a Hill Billy Band and some returned overseas veterans who will speak.

This rally will be very interesting and entertaining and should give the East end of the county a good start in reaching their quotas in the Fifth War Loan Drive.

ORVILLE L. ELLIS RECEIVES MEDAL

Word has been received by his wife that Petty Officer 1/c Orville L. Ellis has received a medal as expert rifleman. He is with the Navy Seabees stationed in the Mediterranean area. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Ellis of Hereford. Mrs. Orville Ellis and three children reside here.

SCUDDER KIN HERE

By a strange coincidence, the ship launched at Houston as the Nathaniel Scudder, was named after a noted Revolutionary War hero and general. Stranger still, Gen. Scudder was the great-great-grandfather of Mrs. A. L. Chase of Clarendon, according to her family tree records.

Officials at the noted Houston country club for dinner. It was there that Mr. Leathers received an urgent telegram from Gov. Coke R. Stephenson asking the party to become his guests enroute home. They accepted this invitation and had lunch with the Governor and were escorted later through the Capitol building and saw the new vault wherein were stored some 45 million dollars.

In commenting, Mr. Leathers stated that "for once I held forty-five million dollars in my hand, but not knowing what to do with so much money, I just handed it back to the Texas state treasurer who invested it in good old United States bonds."

The party left here at 5:20 a. m. Tuesday and returned Saturday. When interviewed by a reporter of your Donley County Leader, Mrs. Leathers modestly stated that "I am most happy to have had the honor and pleasure of having even a small part in sending another weapon of war out to speed the day of victory."

The mother of the "Most Typical American Family" was voluntarily selected by the shipbuilding company. Mrs. Leathers and her party again brought honors to those to whom honor is due, and again Donley county is proud of the part her citizens play upon state and national stage.

RATIONING AT A GLANCE

By PEPPY BLOCKER

The Fifth War Bond Drive, now in progress, is the biggest and most vital one. It comes as our fighting men push the invasion to liberate Europe and smash our Nazi enemies. And it is the zero hour on the home front, too. While the battles rage, the eyes of our enemies are watching our home front. Looking for some crack in our armor. The cold hard eyes of the Japanese war lords.

They've seen, with consternation, what our front-line forces can do. But, maybe, they hope, our home front isn't so tough! Maybe we think the war's about over. Maybe we won't back up our armed forces here at home. What the Fifth War Loan drive means to the Nazis and Japs depends on what it means to us here at home.

The eyes of the Nazis, the eyes of the Japs, are watching us. And the eyes of our boys at the front are on us, too. Buy bonds, this time, with every resource you can muster, and urge everyone else to do so. Bond buying is one of the seven key points in the home front war against inflation, too!

By home canning of fruits and vegetables, you can make sure your family will have the foods it needs all winter.

Housewives are urged to take the best of care of War Ration Book IV and to keep Book III in a safe place. Most buying of rationed foods is now done from Book IV and that book will be in use about three times as long as other books. Applications are frequently received from people who want replacements for ration books that have been lost or damaged. Since no more ration books are to be printed soon, replacement may become increasingly difficult. Book III must be kept, even though it is not used for food buying, since it contains airplane stamps now good for shoes and will probably continue to be used for shoe rationing. So take good care of your ration books!

Gasoline is powering the attack! Make every drop count.

Doherty Grows Fine Peaches

The good old sandhills of Donley county still produce fine peaches as evidenced here Tuesday when Winfred (Red) Doherty of Hedley exhibited a trailer load around town.

The Doherty fruit farm is located 7 miles northeast of Hedley, and Mr. Doherty has a wide variety of peaches among his 600 bearing trees with the Red Bird Cling and Hale Haven now ripening. He really believes in his peaches, for in addition to the 600 bearing trees, he has 2,500 young trees coming on.

While visiting the Leader office and incidentally not forgetting to leave a big box of fine fruit while here, Mr. Doherty stated: "and they say these sandhills won't pay off!"

Stay in there, Red, we believe as you do. Donley county is above all the rest in being the best place to live, make an honest living and have the best friends and neighbors on earth.

PVT. F. G. CROFFORD WINS TALENT CONTEST

Being an artist with the guitar is paying dividends for Pvt. F. G. Crofford, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Crofford of Martin. Twice since he entered service, Pvt. Crofford has carried away first place in talent contests, sponsored by the army camp. Pvt. Crofford is now stationed at Ft. Bliss and is enjoying a lot of popularity with his trusted guitar.

Bond Rally And School Benefit At Goldston

"We're going to do it again," says Cleo Woods, in announcing the big School Benefit and Bond Rally at the Goldston School house Friday night, June 30th. It will be remembered that Cleo got that group of fine folks together during the last Bond drive and raised their part of the county quota right on the spot, and also helped their school fund out to the tune of over a hundred dollars.

This time, he has a fine line-up of merchandise and a host of boxes that will be auctioned off to the highest bidders.

"My friends, one and all are cordially invited to come out and have a good time, and I personally guarantee a good time for all," was Mr. Woods' statement.

The purpose of this get together is to raise money for the Goldston school fund and also to put their War Bond quota over, so don't forget the time—9 p. m. Friday night, June 30th at the Goldston school house.

Four Texans Help Destroy Four Jap Ships

Lieut. Wesley A. Strawn of Clarendon, son of Mrs. W. H. Strawn of this city, together with three other Texans, participated in the June 8 aerial action off the western tip of Dutch New Guinea in which ten Mitchell medium bombers on reconnaissance sank four Japanese destroyers racing eastward toward Biak Island, where the Nipponese garrison is in trouble. Associated Press reported Tuesday. They also damaged a fifth destroyer and put a cruiser to flight.

The performance drew from Major Gen. Ennis Whitehead, commanding the Fifth Air Force Bomber Command, this commendation:

"Congratulations to you all. You men have this date performed one of the finest military feats of the war."

The attack was made in the face of 10-to-1 odds. Three of the Mitchells, including the formation's dashing leader, failed to return.

Following on the tail of the lead planes was Lt. Wesley A. Strawn, Clarendon, Texas, in Miss Cue. Strawn's navigator, Lt. Norval D. Jennings, New York City, shouted, "Wes, do you see anything you like?"

The Texan laughed as Miss Cue slammed a thousand-pound square amidship on a destroyer.

Other crewmen on General Whitehead's honor roll included Staff Sgt. John Hall of Dallas, Staff Sgt. Melvin A. Todd, Shamrock, Texas, and Tech. Sgt. John W. Walker, Levelland, Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hurn returned home Friday from a visit last week with their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Van Zandt at Tulsa.

Carlo Jo Tyree of Amarillo is visiting her grandmother, Mrs. H. Tyree this week.

WARTIME WASHINGTON

By Congressman Gene Worley

The big news this week in Washington was the bombing of the Japanese Mainland. Most officials in Washington knew that the B-29, the Super-Fortress, was in production but no one knew just how effective it would be in actual combat operation. The successful bombing of the Japanese Mainland has proved its worth and a new phase of the war against the Japanese has begun. Undoubtedly the high octane gasoline which supplied these Super-Fortresses came from Texas and perhaps from the Texas Panhandle plants. While the names of those who carried out the raid are not known at this time there's bound to be many Texans among them.

Texas' contribution to the war in every respect either equals or surpasses the contribution made by any other state in the Union. This is one reason war bond sales, scrap metal, scrap paper, waste fat, and rubber drives have always been high in the Lone Star State. Incidentally Members of Congress from other states have often expressed the fear that Texas might make a separate peace, but the Texas Congressmen have assured them such rumors were unfounded.

Labor shortages for farms and munitions and other war plants is exceedingly tight. For the past several weeks I have urged the War Department to be as lenient as possible in granting furloughs and passes to the military personnel stationed in the Texas Panhandle in order to help in the bumper wheat harvest. They have offered every cooperation in doing this where the plan would not interfere with the war program. Their reasons for not releasing military personnel in wholesale lots is because the war training program would be delayed or seriously affected.

It is probable that civilian production will be increased 25% just as soon as the military leaders are sure the invasion liberation is successful. The military officials say the Nazis made two mistakes when (1) they failed to attack the several thousand ships which participated in the invasion and (2) failed to throw their diminishing air force against our beachheads. MacArthur is working up to a major offensive in the Pacific with the Philippine Islands as an early objective. The success of military operations will depend on unqualified support on the homefront. So back the Fighting Fifth War Loan Drive and buy an extra Bond today.

LIBRARY NOTES

By Mrs. C. A. Burton

First place among the best sellers has been taken by W. Somerset Maugham's "The Razor's Edge". Second place by "Strange Fruit" by Lillian Smith. Betty Smith's "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn" has dropped to third place, while "The Robe" is at fourth, and "The Apostle" by Sholem Asch holds eighth place.

"Under Cover" by Carlson—which we have not had until lately—continued a best seller in non-fiction.

Death removed a very colorful figure when it claimed Harold Bell Wright recently. It will be remembered that he was a preacher and he kept on preaching in twenty of the most phenomenally successful novels ever published. He died in a La Jolla, Calif. hospital—72 years old. He was born near Rome, N. Y. and when 15 years old he became a painter and decorator. When he was 20 he decided to become a minister, but pneumonia cut short his studies at Hiram College, Ohio, and he went to the Ozarks to recuperate. Here he began to write—"The Shepherd of the Hills" immortalized that Ozark home. He became famous and rich and didn't like it. He bought a ranch in the back country of California's San Diego County and here he finished his last book, "The Man Who Went Away." The critics were not kind in their comments, but his books continued to sell—and to be made into movies. In a short time his "Shepherd of the Hills" had sold 2,000,000 copies. He was not a great writer—but he reached the people with a message—and his books will continue to be read for a long while. He left a wife and two sons, Noeman and Gilbert—the latter of whom gained fame of his own a few years ago when he developed the throat microphone which has been a feature of radio advertising ever since.

"See Here Private Hargrove" is on the screen and will undoubtedly prove an uproarously good picture—judging from the story.

Richard Wright, author of "Native Son," will have his autobiography "American Hunger," published in August.

The press reports that John Steinbeck had almost finished his new book on Mexico—then didn't like it, and tore it up entirely—60,000 words.

ing novel, "Leave Her to Heaven" is the Literary Guild selection for June.

Zofia Kossak's "Blessed are the Meek" has been nominated by the Council on Books in Wartime for issuance to the armed services in a special edition.

A dual selection for the Book-of-the-Month Club for June is "Fair Stood the Wind for France" by H. E. Bates and "Los Island" by James Noemal Hall. The first is a dramatized wartime love story with the setting in France. The latter presents a little thought of side of the invasion of the islands of the Pacific—the natives who are uprooted from their peaceful homes by this global war for which they are not at all responsible, their lives torn up by the roots. James Noeman Hall was an American flier in the first World War. He went to Tahiti and there in collaboration with Charles Nordhoff he wrote the "Bounty Trilogy" which made him famous. His new book is described as very readable as well as very informative.

Lowell Thomas will do the foreword for "Dogs Fight for Us, Too," for the story of the part played by dogs in the present war which MacMillan will publish this summer. Clayton Going, the author of the book, has just returned from the Marine War Dog Training Company at Camp Lejeune, N. C., where he collected material for the section of the book dealing with marine combat dogs.

We will fire up our tanks
When we get the command;
We will drive until we reach
The streets of Japan.
We will tear up the town
Until it no longer stands;
We are the rough and tough
Tankers of the armored command.

We are a hard hitting team,
The thunderbolt crew
And we won't give up until our Work is all through
These tanks are not pretty,
But they're hell for stout,
They're tough as a boot
And hard to wear out.
We have got a tough job
That we all have got to do,
But we have got what it takes—
The Thunderbolt crew.
When the invasion is over
And the fighting is through
We will be there in person—
The Thunderbolt crew.

ANOTHER DAY

Editors Note — The following poem was written recently by Seabee S/1c Lewis Edward Underdown, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Underdown of this City. Lewis has been overseas for the past several months in the South Pacific around New Guinea. T'was another day, on the great Pacific. Out where the heat is most terrific. As Navy Seabees, we were all As usual right on the ball. From where I stood, it seemed to me As if the whole wide world were sea. The ship was rocking to and fro The golden sun, still held its glow. The waves grew rougher, lashing wild The helmsman gripped the wheel and smiled The sailor's usual chatter flew The talk of home, of loved ones too. The gun crew aft amidship knew Upon command just what to do. A crap game sounded near the rail The rules against it seem to fail. Though few were conscious of the fact Our ship, was soon to be attacked. For all at once we felt the blow The order rang, "All troops, below!" Full speed ahead, the ship did churn The great craft shook from aft to stern Our own guns blasted forth their fire All ears were ringing mouths ajar. The shells came whistling through the air We kept our courage, whispered a prayer,

USED CARS UNDER PRICE CONTROL

Beginning July 10, all used passenger cars come under price control, the Office of Price Administration has directed. All sellers—individual owners as well as dealers—come under the program. Ceilings will vary by model, body type and make and will cover about 6,000 models manufactured from 1937 through 1942. There will be an "as is" and a "warranty" price for each model and body type. Ceilings will drop at the rate of four per cent of the "as is" price every six months. Permissible additions to ceiling prices are provided for extra equipment. Separate prices are given for each of three geographical regions. When a sale has been completed, the buyer and seller must fill out a transfer certificate and turn this in to the buyer's local War Price and Rationing Board. Nearly four million motor vehicles went out of use in the United States in 1942 and 1943 and have not been replaced, the Federal Works Agency reports.

A Switch in Tune saved Mine...

I'll predict no-miles-an-hour.

I'll hand it to folks. They've had the patriotism to hold down their speed. But imagine war restrictions ended. Man, you'll see old cars overdoing till they can't chug another mile. You'll see every repair shop crowded for months, but I'm figuring to duck that! Of course, I couldn't see everything coming when I originally had this engine OIL-PLATED. I'd simply overheard that any engine forms dangerous corrosive acids. It made sense to try protecting the engine by OIL-PLATING it with Conoco Nth motor oil. I switched to Nth. You can suit yourself about thinking it's the only oil or not, but first read the whole label. You'll see where Conoco Nth oil's special synthetic fastens OIL-PLATING to your engine's fine inside finish. Then OIL-PLATING is really sort of a special surface to block steady acid corrosion. When repairs might be just a promise, and you can only pray for a new car, you're way ahead with your engine safely OIL-PLATED by Conoco Nth.

WORTH WHILE COMMENTS
BY COUNTY AGENT
 Charles O. Reed
Suggestions For Control of Cattle Flies

The distress which horn flies and stable flies cause to dairy cows is an old story to farmers. Their biggest interest is in ways to control or get rid of the troublesome pests.

Well, here are some helpful suggestions from E. R. Eudaly, dairyman for A&M College Extension Service. Where the water supply is controlled and its use is practical, the horn fly trap gives the most effective control, he says. Blue prints of the trap may be obtained from the county agricultural agent or by applying to the Extension Service, College Station.

The population of both species of flies can be reduced quickest by controlling or eradicating their breeding places. Scattering manure over pastures regularly every three days to break up the material and expose the fly worm to air and sunlight is about the most effective way to keep them down. In pastures which are open or intensively grazed a brush or board drag can be used for this purpose. If the manure cannot be scattered it should be stored in pits provided with fly traps, or ricked in compact piles and the edges treated with borax or hellebore.

Among other means of control, Eudaly says that a mixture of ten pounds of wettable sulphur and one pound of rotenone has given good results. It should be dusted on the cows' backs, sides, necks and polls. Some dairymen report that the mixture has kept flies off cattle for three days. Adult flies on cows at milking time can be killed with a Grade AA fly spray. It is not necessary to direct the spray at the animal's body. Developing a fine mist around the body, especially the legs and under portion, is effective.

Worley Seeks Grain Workers

War Department officials informed Rep. Eugene Worley (D-Texas) and J. D. Prewit, acting director of the Texas Extension Service, yesterday that all farmers needing help in harvesting wheat should make their wishes known to their county agents, who in turn will certify the data to proper army officials.

Seeking to prevent a shortage of harvest hands in the Texas Panhandle wheat fields, Rep. Worley and J. D. Prewit conferred with federal authorities on the utilization of war prisoners and furloughed American soldiers in farm work.

Rep. Worley expressed a hope that sufficient help would be available by the time harvesting in Texas gets well underway sometime late this month.

Soldiers at posts in the Panhandle may apply for furloughs and work in the fields so long as there is no conflict with their military duties, Worley said he was told.

CPL. EDGAR REYNOLDS SERVING WITH NINTH AIR FORCE COMMAND

Cpl. Edgar Reynolds, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Oliver Reynolds of Clarendon, is serving overseas somewhere in Great Britain with an Advanced Air Depot Area of the Ninth Air Force Service Command.

Cpl. Reynolds worked as an oiler on a rock crusher for two years prior to entering the service in October 1942. His present job in the station complement section of this headquarters keeps him busy on vital work of the Ninth Air Force Service Command, that Command that keeps the Ninth Air Force in combat condition.

Mrs. Tom Horton of Ft. Worth arrived here last week for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Lane. Mrs. Horton and Mrs. Lane left Sunday to visit their son and brother, Marvin Lane and family at Kim, Colorado.

Large Food Crops Needed In 1944

Charles Reed, Donley County Agent, states that one million victory gardens in Texas must be seen through to harvest. J. F. Rosborough, horticulturist for the A & M College Extension Service says this means not only cultivation and control of harmful insects, but planting of heat-resistant vegetables as quickly as the early plantings have been harvested. No part of a garden should be allowed to be idle this year.

Last year's gardens taught a very useful lesson. They prevented a shortage of fresh vegetables and made possible lower ration points on many varieties on grocers' shelves. With more production in 1944, gardens can play an equally important part in preventing a shortage of canned vegetables.

Rosborough says that our present food situation is good because people last year did a record job of growing, conserving and sharing their food. Farmers topped all previous food production. Housewives canned, dried, stored, or froze a record amount of fruits, vegetables and juices. Large numbers of men, women and children left their normal work to help out on farms. The results are that our armed forces are the best fed in the world and, on top of that, we fared well at home.

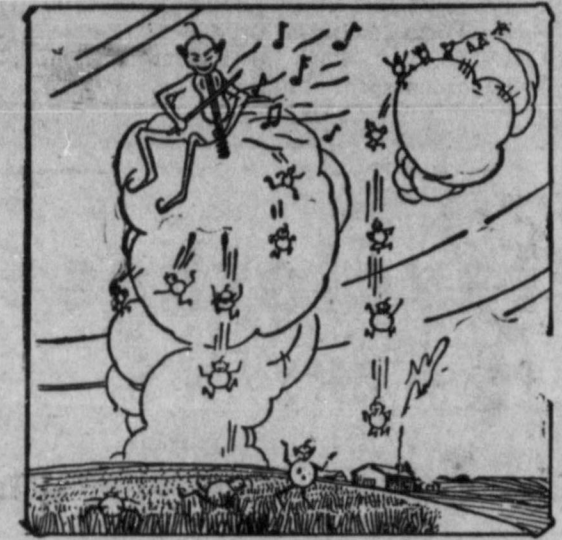

winter will depend largely on what they do in their gardens and kitchens this summer. In 1944-45 the civilian supply of commercial canned goods will be the smallest in years.

If all of these things continue to be done with the zeal which has been shown since the war began we will be able to say that the food battle will be won.

J. T. Hoy and his father-in-law, Mr. Knight, were over from Pampa Monday doing repair work on Mr. Hoy's duplex, 201-205 East 4th St., and attending to other business matters.

Mr. and Mrs. Buck Roberts, Mr. Ed Hodges and Miss Della Wood spent Sunday in the J. D. Wood home.
