PANHANDLE PRESS ASSOCIATION

The United States government lost no time in making a positive statement that it was friendly to the Gil regime in Mexico insofar as the present revolt in that unfortunate nation is concerned. At the first outbreak the future looked a little gloomy for President Gil, but the federal fortunes seem to be improving at this time.

Clarendon's independent school district is nearing the thousand mark of children within the scholastic age, according to the census figures just about completed for the year. Already nine hundred and nine have been enrolled and there are prospects of a few more. These figures show a marked increase over 1928 and is an added proof of the positive growth of the population in this community.

Clarendon's reputation is extending as one of the rapidly growing towns of the Panhandle. Several hundred miles away visitors and traveling men report remarks on Clarendon's progress and future in a favorable light. The big building program of the year, the coming of the new railroad and the industries that will follow should give this busy and beautiful city a population of five thousand in the next five years. Maybe sooner.

Efforts are being made to have the public hearing on the application of the Rock Island-Frisco's new rail line, held here in Clarendon. Our city has the hotel and small auditorium facilities, it is near all the lines interested and is contiguous to all the territory interested. Clarendon is the logical place for the public hearing and The News predicts that the railroad commission will name this city when it announces the date of the hearing.

Clarendon is to have more water supply according to plans of our efficient city commission. The city "dads" are providing for a city of twice the size we now enjoy and they are making these improvements with less expense than any town in the Panhandle. In Clarendon we are enjoying practical and technical ability of ten thousand dollar a year men on the meager salary paid members of the commission. Another way in which Clarendon leads.

Fort Worth's Fat Stock Show sustained a heavy fire loss Monday of this week when the exhibit buildings for poultry, club and agricultural exhibits went up in smoke to the tune of $150,000. This is another instance where a loss may not be a loss for already the progressive leaders of this famous show are cleaning away the debris for the erection of fire-proof buildings of larger capacity and plans are being laid for enlarged grounds for the big show. Year after year the Fat Stock Show grows more and more into the life and growth of Texas.

It now appears that the proposed state road bond will not be submitted to the vote of the people by the present session of the legislature. Governor Moody will probably re-submit the question at the special session in a few weeks and saner consideration may yet pass it to the people some time this summer. There is more general demand for the state-wide bond and a unified highway building program than many legislators imagine and the impact of public opinion will certainly penetrate the opposition in the legislature as time goes on. Most everybody in the legislature favors some form or variation of a state issue, but as yet have been unable to agree on one plan. Probably the "pay as you go" plan will finally be adopted.

Down at Cleburne the other day a man under trial for murder was killed by a brother of his victim. When the News editor was a lad he knew this man who had become a murderer before he was twenty-five, and as the years have come and gone he has killed again and again, managing somehow to go scot-free of penalties. A few weeks ago he took the life of a former business associate and was on trial when the brother of his last victim shot him down on the streets of Cleburne, stopping forever his disregard of human life, and proving again the truth of the old scriptures that "he that taketh up the sword shall perish by the sword." Man may apparently escape the eternal verities of God's holy book for a period, but the end is inevitable—in-escapable.

SPEED WITH SAFETY

The next time anyone brags of 60 miles an hour, ask him how many feet his car will travel if he throws on the brakes to make the quickest possible stop. A car making 60 miles an hour will stop in one second, just about over 86 feet. If a man, or a woman, or a child, or a dog, or another car, or a blank wall, suddenly comes in view 44 feet ahead, the chap driving at 60 miles an hour has just one-half second to decide how to miss it, and carry out his decision.

How many sets of brains are snappy enough to perform such chain-lightning feat of thinking and acting? The simple duty of every motorist is to govern his car so that it may at all times and under all circumstances be within his control. A driver who needs fifty yards to avoid an emergency has no business to drive so fast as to leave himself only 50 feet. To do so is inexcusable. No speed that is unsafe is legal.—Exchange.

The Town Doctor

(The Doctor of Towns)
Says

GET SOLD ON THE PLACE WHERE YOU LIVE
Every thinking citizen wants to see his community grow, and most people are willing to "get behind and boost." But from the letters people write me, it appears that they do not know how or what to do, or what to keep from doing.

The problem that confronts every community is one of selling: you have to sell your town—sell people on your town.

It sounds simple—and it is simple—when you know how.

A few years ago I had the pleasure of conducting a campaign to sell a state. In practically every town someone would say, "That's simple and sounds like a good idea, but who'll buy it?"

The procrastinator and the fellow who was satisfied with things as they were would say, "This is a pretty good town; why sell it?"

And the knocker would chime in with, "That is a good idea, sell it and get rid of it."

Then there as the individual who said, "Wal, we been gittin' along all these years without it, why should we change now?"

Perhaps you think the same, as pertains to selling your community, but regardless of how you feel or think, the fact nevertheless remains that you must sell your community—sell people on your community—if the place where you live is to keep pace with modern times.

For a community to be modern it must keep up to and ahead of other communities. If one community makes rapid strides to the betterment of living and working conditions, becomes a more attractive and interesting place to reside in, if its people are happier, more content and more prosperous, it's up to other communities to profit by their experiences and not only do the same, but outdo them!

To keep ahead—be modern—requires constant changing. Bruce Barton says, "When we quit changing we're through," and to change requires salesmanship.

Selling a town or community is like selling anything else: First—is there a market? Second—is it marketable—suitable for sale as is, so that when sold it will stay sold? Third—to whom is it to be sold—who'll buy it? Fourth—how can it be sold? And fifth—who'll sell it—the sales force.

Answer these five questions; know the facts, and apply the knowledge to your town, and all problems of growth, progress and prosperity will come as a matter of course.

These questions can be answered—will be answered—in this column, step by step. If you will read them, study them, and do your part, you will be the one to gain. In fact, it's up to you!

You are to your town the same as a salesperson to a store. The store may have good goods, excellent stocks, right prices, a good manager, and everything that a first class store should have; but, if the clerks are indifferent, not interested whether they give you service or not, do not know the stock and don't sell you the way you like to be sold, sooner or later competition with salesmen and saleswomen who "know their stuff" and serve you the way you want to be served, will put that store on a back street or completely out of business, and the clerks looking for another job.

Your newspaper, service clubs, chamber of commerce, and other civic organizations can spend thousands of dollars and months of time, but in the end it depends on Y-O-U. It's not a duty alone—it's business: good business if you do—poor business if you don't.

Yours is a good town—can be made a better town—so get sold on it.

Donley County's terracing school Tuesday encountered the worst sand storm of the season, but the veteran, Dad Short, and his co-workers drove steadily ahead like good Texans they are. The federal land bank is doing a great work in demonstrating the value of terracing, and it has already been proven that more money can be made in West Texas from proper terracing of farm lands than in any other section of the state. Not only does the terracing conserve the soil, but in West Texas it conserves the rainfall as to double the crop yield in many instances. Terracing must come in Donley County and it is coming.

P. A. BUNTIN CELEBRATES 80TH BIRTHDAY

One of the most interesting events of the past week was the celebration staged last Thursday in the P. A. Buntin home. The eightieth birthday of Mr. Buntin was the cause of the meeting. Tom Buntin and family of Amarillo, Fred Buntin and family of this city were there and Mrs. Ella Cox of Fort Worth were the children who were present. Mr. Buntin states that the cake which was covered with eighty candles was the biggest thing of that kind he had ever seen. He also stated that he was the recipient of numerous congratulations, some coming by wire, by letter and in many other forms. Sufficient wearables were received to assist in making the coming summer months ones of pleasure. Mr. Buntin further stated that he did not know if he could make another eighty years, but was favorably impressed with the start as he was much stronger at the present time than he was at the beginning of the first eighty. The News adds its congratulations to those of the many friends of Mr. Buntin in wishing him a good long start on the second eighty years.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam M. Braswell returned late Monday evening from Fort Worth and Denton, where they had been for a visit to the Fat Stock Show and for a visit with Sam Junior and Clair Marie, who were there from Austin and Denton respectively.

Mrs. J. T. Patman is visiting her daughter, Mrs. William Price in Warner, Okla.

STORM TIME

March, the month of storms is here and we have all read about the terrible havoc wrought by storms in other parts of the country. Donley County may be the place they will hit next. By being careful you can some time prevent fires but there is no way to prevent storms. The only thing you can do is to be prepared by having us write you a Tornado and Hail policy on all your property. The cost is so small—only $3.00 to $4.00 per thousand.

Another coverage we urge you to buy is a gas explosion policy which costs only 50c per thousand. A dwelling was completely destroyed and an adjoining house damaged, last week in Dallas by a gas explosion.

Can you afford to go without this protection when it costs so little?

Come in and let's talk insurance. We have all kinds. We want you to feel free to consult us at any time about insurance.

LUMBER SAYINGS—

A COLUMN OF NEWS AND VIEWS FOR CLARENDON PEOPLE AND OUR FARMER FRIENDS.

We're sorry for the landlord, Who owns a couple of shacks, This month he'll have to take his rent And pay his income tax.

A great deal of study and research has been devoted to the construction of poultry houses and there is very little guess work about it any more. Let us help you plan your poultry house.

We wanted some Irish jokes for our column this week in honor of St. Patrick's day but nobody sent us any so we're outa luck.

Here is what they say about poultry houses at A. & M. College: "There is no royal road to success in poultry raising. Profits come from close observance of such fundamentals as good stocks, proper feeding, adequate housing and control of diseases and internal and external parasites. Failure to fit the poultry business to any one of these essentials may partially or completely wreck profits."

Improvement

"Why did you teach your wife to drive?"
"To get her out of the back seat."

Ever hear of CARBOLINUM? It is a paint guaranteed to kill chicken mites or fowl ticks and blue bugs in poultry houses. The purchase money will be refunded if one thorough application of Avenarius Carbolinum, either by brush or sprayer, to the interior walls, dropping boards, roosts, etc., of such buildings after a previous cleaning, and no matter whether they are of wood, tar paper or plaster, does not exterminate mites or fowl ticks and keep out these pests from poultry houses for a whole year.

FINANCIAL COUNSEL You Can Rely On

It has been said "Man learns wisdom from failure much more than from success. He often discovers what WILL do, by finding out what will not do."

True, in a certain sense of the word. Yet, when it comes to money matters, a man more often than not has himself to blame if failure falls to his lot. Especially, if he stepped right into a proposition without the good counsel of those who have had wide financial experience.

ONE CROP FARMING IS COMPARED TO RUNNING A WAGON WITH ONE WHEEL

MOBLEY CONCISELY STATES POSSIBILITIES OF FARMING WHEN THE BIG THREE ARE APPLIED AND OPERATED ON A DEFINITE PLAN. KEEP BOYS AT HOME BY MAKING THEM HAVE AN ACTIVE INTEREST IN THE FARM WORK. MILK COWS INSTEAD OF SODA FOUNTAINS AND NOTE THE RESULTS OBTAINED.

H. S. Mobley is superintendent of two farms of the International Harvester Farms and makes them pay their own way. His address on "The Dairyman's Problems" was of great interest to those who heard him Tuesday afternoon, February 12th, and a part of his address is given here for those who were unable to attend the sessions of the Short Course. The address:

Mr. H. S. Mobley, who is superintendent of the International Harvester Company's demonstration farms of Montgomery, Alabama and Deering, Missouri, began his talk on "The Dairyman's Problems" by stating that those farms are not operated by money furnished by the Harvester Company but must be so run as to pay their own expenses and make money and that they have never abandoned a farm yet.

"I am not saying the farmer has no basis for complaint," he said. "I know they have. I own a farm. My wife and boys are on the farm yet. I told my boys to stay on the farm and milk cows instead of going to town and milking soda fountains to make a living.

"I've done about every ordinary thing that any farmer has done but about the first thing I learned was that a wagon cannot run on one wheel or on three wheels. A wheelbarrow can run on one wheel but a wagon can't. A lot of us try to run a four-wheeled vehicle on one wheel—that's the one crop system. We think we can make enough on one to pay for the other three. The four are: Food, clothing, shelter, and amusement. But when we try to make enough on one wheel, we are trying to run a wheelbarrow instead of a four-wheeled wagon." Mr. Mobley admitted that it meant work to keep dairy cattle but declared that hard work is necessary to make a success of any business, but that it was not a disgrace to work. "I can get as much sweat in a potato patch as any man can on a golf course," he said. "But in a potato patch it is called sweat and on a golf course it is called perspiration. That's the difference."

He quoted figures to show what it costs to properly feed, clothe, shelter and amuse the average family in America and declared that was a riddle that needed answering.

"On our farms," he said, "we try to solve that riddle. I've tried it on my farm. I know many who are working it out. I know no farmers who are following a good diversification plan and milking cows, who are going into bankruptcy and moving off their farms."

He pointed out that in the sections where diversified farming is followed we will find a high standard of living and reasonable wealth. No one is going to the bow-wows.

The cow, the sow and the hen were the "big three" of agricultural prosperity, he added. While nothing we have will do its best unless it is given attention this trio, he added, can be so managed that they will produce something every day.

"Many of us do not believe that the cow is the mother of prosperity because what the cow gives us comes a little at a time while that given by the one-crop system comes in a big lump, all at once," he said. "We think one is little, the other big, but that's a mistake."

He declared that last year the hen produced a billion dollars which is about equal to a dollar a minute since Christ was born. The hens beat all the wheat farms by over a million dollars," he added, "most of them were not well cared for."

"The cow is the mother of prosperity because she brings in a little every day," he continued. "That puts its owner on a cash basis. Cash means pay as you go. Most crops don't permit us to pay as we go, but we go in debt as we go, expecting to pay out in the end. They are credit crops. They are the beginning of credit; the continuation of credit. They pile up the debt on us. They force us to buy at retail and sell at wholesale."

Having drawn that picture of the one-crop system of finances, Mr. Mobley drew a contrasting picture of the financial conditions which prevail when the cow and the hen are given a chance.

"You feed a hen today," he said. "Tomorrow she lays an egg. You take the egg to the store and cash it in. That's a 24-hour turnover."

"There are only two cash crops known," he continued. "They are the dairy cow and the hen. All other crops are more or less credit crops. The reason the cow is the mother of prosperity is because she takes the family out of the credit class and puts it in the cash class. A little money is not to be sneezed at, if it comes in regularly.

"The cow is the mother of prosperity because she furnishes us a steady job. There are men who want to work part of the time and do nothing much of the time, and when it doesn't pay them they get mad at everybody but themselves and they are the very ones they should get mad at."

"A good, steady job is the best gift God ever gave to man and the old cow will give every farmer a good steady job. The trouble is that too many of us want to gamble on what may happen—on the weather; on the insects; even on our welfare."

Touching briefly on some of the details of raising chickens, Mr. Mobley said that a chicken house should be built on the same general principles as a palouiser. He had a palouiser. To some of the older folks in the audience the palouiser was not unfamiliar but to the younger generation it was considerable of a curiosity.

A palouiser is a home-made lantern, quite commonly used by pioneers. It is made of a large tin can or small tin bucket, one end of which is out. A handle is attached to one side of the can to carry it by, and a hole is made through the opposite side, near the closed end. Through this hole a candle is thrust. When the candle is lighted, the light is thrown out the open end by the bright walls of the palouiser.

Mr. Mobley took hold of the handle and swung the palouiser rapidly over his head, around him, back and forth and in all directions, but the burning candle was not blown out. He explained why the candle flame was not affected by the swinging of the palouiser.

"There is no draught in it," he said. "The top, bottom, sides and one end are water tight and air tight. That's the idea to employ in building a poultry house. Make the floor, roof, sides and one end air tight and water tight and there will be no draughts. It is a draught you want to prevent in chicken houses."

He declared that the farmer who milks and sells all the milk is almost running a one-crop system because he is selling so much of the fertility off his farm. "The big thing is to sell the butter fat and feed the skim milk to calves, pigs and chickens and put the manure back on the land. As the skim milk contains nearly all the fertility found in milk, this method saves practically all the fertility."

"The profit on a cow is equal to your profit on the cow's feed which you sell to yourself at retail prices, to which must be added about 30 per cent."

"When you have some cows you begin to study how to provide pasture for them, and pasturage for the cows is the biggest thing on a dairy farm—bigger than a silo," he said in closing.

As aids in producing early plants, the hotbed, the "flat" or box, and the coldframe are the gardener's best friends. Even berry baskets or paper bands or other containers can be used to start tomato, pepper, egg plant, cabbage, lima beans, melons, cucumbers and other crops indoors. As many as 30 to 50 hills of extra-early potatoes can be grown by starting the same number of seed pieces in a box in the living room or in a hotbed and later handling the plants as one would tomato plants.

Things That Make Life Worth Living

Electricity and electrical appliances are to the American home what religion is to man. They make life worth living.

Nothing is more wonderful than a comfortable chair, a good book and the soft rays of an electric lamp. For the American Home Electricity has done many things. It has placed pleasures in the house where only drudgery had existed.

The vacuum cleaner, electric range, electric washer, electric ironer, toaster and refrigerator have brought many conveniences and pleasures.

Every one should have electricity and electrical appliances in their home, for when discomfort is abolished, then Life Is Worth Living!

HIGH LIGHTS IN MOBLEY'S TALK ON THE BIG 3 IN AGRICULTURAL PROSPERITY

I told my boys to stay on the farm and milk cows instead of going to town and milking a soda fountain to make a living.

A lot of us try to run a four-wheeled vehicle with only one wheel—that's the one-crop system.

ROBERT DILLARD SLUGGED MONDAY

UNKNOWN ASSAILANT K. O'S. DILLARD AND RANSACK OFFICE.

An unknown amount of money and several checks were taken from the office of the West Texas Utilities Company here shortly after noon Monday of this week. All the force with the exception of Robert Dillard had left the place to go to lunch and he was seated at his desk in the rear of the office with his back toward the door leading to the store room. He states that he remembers hearing the back door close and later head someone tell him to "Stick 'em up and be quiet" or some such language. Thinking it one of the other members of the force he jumped from his chair and was immediately blackjacked. All the drawers of the place were thoroughly ransacked and all money and some checks were taken. Miss Davis, the cashier, had just before the noon hour and had placed the book in the drawer of the table where she does her work. This was gone along with the other negotiable money about the place.

The marauders left by the back door and jumped into the ditch a short distance from the rear of the place of business. Their tracks from there have not been traced. Officers were called in and the case was turned to them. A scattering of small change was found in the passageway through the back room, leading the men to believe that the hold-up man has passed out that way.

"For three years I was a constant sufferer from liver disorders, acid stomach, and other troubles. Sargon is the only medicine I ever found that overcame my troubles, and I wish it was so that everybody in Texas knew about this wonderful medicine. "No matter how careful I was about my eating, I suffered after every meal with gas pains and indigestion. I had no relish for even the most tempting dishes. My liver was inactive and I had to take strong laxatives continually. I felt tired and rundown, and became so nervous I would roll and toss about for hours every night before I could get to sleep. "Sargon went right to my troubles after everything else had failed. It put my stomach in perfect condition and I get real pleasure out of my meals for I eat everything I want and I have such a fine appetite I relish every bite. I even eat between meals and at night, and never have a moment's trouble from indigestion. My nerves are strong as steel again and I sleep like a top

"There is no Substitute for Safety"

UNDER THE DOME

By United Press

Austin, Texas, March 13—(UP)—The 41st Legislature which ends this week will go down in political history as one of the most hectic since reconstruction days.

No single measure or incident will make it remarkable like the impeachment of former Governor James E. Ferguson, but a half dozen incidents and measures of major interest will keep it long alive in memory.

Most spectacular of its events was the advance of Hidalgo county's motor caravan in a 400 mile drive to knock at the door of the House in a demand for recognition of the ancient "right of petition."

To West Texans the outstanding measure of the session is the river beds title bill. Almost as large a delegation as that from the Rio Grande Valley besieged the Legislature in its behalf.

Final passage over the Governor's veto rewarded their diligence. Politically the most important action was the passage of the Wirtz-Negley bill to discipline Hoovercrats. The power it gives to bar from the Democratic primaries in 1930 all who voted against Alfred E. Smith probably never will be exercised. That the state Democratic Executive committee will bar as candidates any who led the "Hoovercrats" is likely. It is more than a year until the State Executive committee meets and by that time much of the feeling engendered by the presidential campaign will have subsided.

Attempts to repeal the Search and Seizure law caused a fight almost as stubborn as that over the Negley-Wirtz bill. Backed by the W. C. T. U. and the Anti-Saloon League, the demand for repeal of this act was carried on with vehemence. The act penalizes officers for illegal search. Governor Moody is to be asked to submit its repeal at the special session of the Legislature to be held in April.

An agreement was reached between the Senate and the House by which disposition of the University oil and gas leases will be participated in by both regents of the University and the state land commissioner. The compromise provides joint handling by two regents and the land commissioner with further provision that the leases shall be executed by the land commissioner, thus giving him an opportunity to contest any lease the regents might favor.

State road bonds and state prison relocation which loomed as the major issues at the opening of the session, dwindled in importance as the session progressed and they were whittled down to little resemblance of their original form.

The prison bill went back practically to the form to which the anti-administration forces agreed two years ago. That authorized the prison board to make plans for relocation or centralization but retained right to the legislature to have a final say.

The road bond issue dwindled from a $350,000,000 proposal, backed by the state rez' estate, to one of $175,000,000 with provision that only $100,000,000 of that should be for new construction. The proposition was also altered so that the bonds could not have an ad valorem tax back of them but only a gasoline tax or other special tax.

Two measures backed directly by Governor Moody got prompt rejection. One was the proposed establishment of a state civil service which, the governor says, he will submit in April.

The other was his suggestion that the State Comptroller, State Treasurer and Commissioner of the Land Office be appointed by the Governor. Now they are elected at the same time as the Governor.

Senator W. E. Thomason's bill which would in practical effect bar Fraternities at the University of Texas was sidetracked so it had no chance to get final passage. "Like Truth" it will rise again, said Thomason.

The anti-evolution bill and the bill to legalize horse racing and contribution betting both went down to defeat in the House of Representatives without reaching the Senate.

Acts of the session will probably be longest remembered are the marriage license bill and the Sunday movie bill. The marriage license bill requires three days' notice before a marriage license is issued. The man must present physician's certificate. This bill, like others that were passed with an emergency clause, becomes effective on June 12. The Sunday movie bill legalizes the Sunday movies which have been operated in face of the "blue law" of 1871. Municipal governments can still bar Sunday movies if they desire.

People shall have to vote on many of the changes proposed by the session. It will take a popular vote to raise the Governor's salary from the present $4,000 to $10,000. The people must vote, before the legislators can get $10 a day instead of $5. Other important matters in which the legislature's part was only to determine if they should be passed on to the people included the state road bond issue proposal; permitting West Texas counties to tax University land and enlarging the list of securities in which University funds may be invested.

Governor Moody's veto of the river bed title bill was one of the high lights of the session. Though it was passed over his veto with little effort, proponents of the bill decided to play safe and offer a constitutional amendment for the same purpose. The Governor's veto was based on a ruling by the Attorney General that the validation could not be accomplished by a mere legislative act.

Another veto cut off appropriations of rural school aid and for summer schools at various institutions. The veto had to be general as the Governor had no power to change the amounts. After conferences with him the amounts were scaled down and offered in new bills.

Early in the session he vetoed bills that would have increased fees paid to sheriffs and amended the inheritance tax bill.

Four investigations were under way concurrently with the legislative session. Twenty-two charges against the conduct of the highway department and board of control were withdrawn after a committee had gone into them and both departments given a clean bill of health.

The State Banking department also came out of an investigation with praise instead of censure.

NEWS' WEEKLY COTTON LETTER

MARKET CONTINUES TO ADVANCE; DEMAND IMPROVED

The cotton market during the period of March 2-8 continued active and higher with prices on March 8th about 7-8 to 15-16 cent per pound above those of March 1. Domestic and foreign demand continued to improve. Domestic demand was largely centered on cottons in grades strict low middling and low middling and lower grades especially for those of tons in most cases was said to have advanced considerably. The further upward movement in the market was partly attributed to continued rather unfavorable weather conditions in the cotton belt and according to Weather Bureau during the past week was unfavorable due to persistent general wetness. Reports indicated a tendency on the part of holders of spot cotton to sell more freely at present price levels and the volume of business done in the ten designated markets for the week was again large amounting to 120,732 bales compared with 130,901 the previous week and 61,016 for the same week last season. Quotations for middling, 7-8 inch, March 8th: Norfolk, 20.56; Augusta, 20.38; Savannah, 20.55; Montgomery, 19.95; New Orleans, 20.42; Memphis, 19.90; Little Rock, 19.90; Dallas, 19.85; Houston, 20.45; Galveston, 20.60. Average for these ten markets March 8th, 20.25c per pound against 19.35c March 1st and 18.21 last year. March future contracts for week at New York advanced 94 points to 21.39c, New Orleans, 87 points to 20.49, and Chicago, 84 points to 20.54c. WOMAN'S PART IN COMMUNITY LIFE IS STRESSED BY MISS SMITH FEB. 12

WORK OF HOME DEMONSTRATION AGENT STRESSED BY TALK. NEED OF KEEPING BOYS AND GIRLS AT HOME IS GIVEN ITS DUE SHARE IN THE DISCUSSIONS TUESDAY EVENING. WOMEN ATTEND TO LITTLE JOBS IN THE COMMUNITY THAT MEN FORGET TO DO. NO WOMAN SHOULD NEGLECT DUTY TO COMMUNITY.

In her talk to women on "Women's Work in the Community," Miss Grace Marion Smith declared that woman has a part, and a very important part, in community development.

We must make life pleasant for the children of we want to keep them with us. We should study the wants and needs of our children and try and make home attractive for them.

Referring to some of the things women can accomplish in community building, Miss Smith said: "We need both women's and men's viewpoint in anything that is going on in the community. Community development requires the attention of someone whose business it is to keep up with the new and worth while things, and I think that in some ways women are just a little more qualified along that line than are men, especially in things relating to the home."

Not only are home economics needed in the schools, according to the speaker, but these subjects should be taught in the intermediate grades and not left for the high school which pupils never reach and which always has a crowded program.

Another job for the women of a community, according to Miss Smith, is to check up on the health and sanitation in their community. "Do you have more tuberculosis, typhoid, scarlet fever or other diseases than has the average county in your state?" she asked.

Do something for your community; work together for the good.

HUDSON TUNNEL TO STIMULATE OTHER PROJECTS

ENDS FIRST YEAR SUCCESSFULLY; SHOWS NEED FOR MODERN HIGHWAY STRUCTURES.

By E. E. Duffey.

One of the most striking projects of this motor age, has just completed its first year of usefulness. This is the Hudson vehicular tunnel which gives New York City a safe high speed outlet to New Jersey.

During 1928 more than eight and a half million passenger cars, trucks and buses traveled through this concrete encased tube unimpeded by the Hudson river overhead. Spaced 75 feet or more apart, these motor vehicles passed through the tunnel at speeds exceeding 30 miles an hour.

Of all the features that make the tunnel a tribute to the engineers who planned and built it, perhaps none is more significant than the ventilation.

The Hudson vehicular tunnel bears out the precept "make no little plans." In 1919 when the tunnel was planned for operation in 1924, it was courageously estimated that the traffic for that year would be 5,500,000 vehicles.

The true significance of the Hudson tunnel lies in the demonstration that cities can successfully invest in modern appliances for the accommodation of the ever prolific automobile. The jump in automobile sales within the last few years reveals that it is folly to predict when the public will have absorbed the greatest possible number of vehicles, for as one

THE BENEFIT OF THE SHORT COURSE

News' Second Prize Essay By Jessie Swinburne. The Short Course held in Clarendon, Texas, by the International Harvester Company certainly was not attended in vain. It brought us facts, not fiction. It was for the people of Donley County and we, as people of Donley County, should have enough common sense to take the advice of those who have had experience and know. The farmer, for instance, might think that he is a little below the city man, just because he is a farmer. Did H. S. Mobley not show us wherein the farmer is the root of all prosperity? Knowing this, why are the farmers not as much business men as the lawyer, the banker or the merchant?

In Mr. Mobley's splendid lecture on "Educational Use of Knowledge," he pictured to us the benefits of an education and the knowledge to use it. Is this not, after all, the most important thing in life—knowledge to use the education we have? For after all education is only the ability to fit one for one's duties in life. Education will develop our minds. God gave us our mind to use and Mr. Mobley tried to show how to use it. Did he succeed?

As for farm inconveniences, you may say that the citizens of Donley County paid no attention to the lecture and picture on that subject. If you do, suppose you get in your car, drive over the county and see the improvements that have already been made, such as patching fences, fixing gates and moving the junk pile away from the house. You might also notice the preparation that is being made for flower beds. While father and son are taking Mr. Smith's advice, mother and daughter are following Grace M. Smith's teachings. Mother is keeping the children in clean clothes, she washes Jane's face more often and daughter cleans the house more than once a month. We also notice the change when we come to the dinner table. There are fresh vegetables to eat, milk to drink, and before long we will be up to our natural weight, and by the way, we are not having that headache anymore. We are feeling better in every way. Suppose we tell our friends about Miss Smith's lecture. They will certainly be envious when they find out what they have missed.

Perhaps, above everything else, the thing that we got the most benefit out of during the Short Course was Mr. Mobley's lecture in "Communities Are Made of Folks." We can live only one life on this earth so why not enjoy it by being a benefit to others. Our community should be a place of refuge to us, the same as our home. Do not say "I can live to myself," because "No man liveth to himself alone," and it would be foolish to try.

Farmers, suppose we put our pride in our pockets for awhile and take somebody else's advice. Let's try what Mr. Smith said about fruit growing. We can follow his advice and our orchards will produce enough fruit for our own use and have some for marketing. The extra money made could be used to get mother that new dress she's been wanting or

INTERESTING DIARY IS KEPT BY DICK CHUNN

The News is indebted to Richard Chunn of this city for a diary of his term of service in the Fifth Engineers, both before they left the United States and during their stay in the field of service. Mr. Chunn also loaned us his file of copies of "The Hatchet," a daily paper issued on the George Washington at the time this ship returned with President Wilson and a load of the A. E. F. including the Fifth Engineers.

The first entries found in the diary concern the character of the country passed over en route to Corrus Christi and the kind of land seen before they left the United States. His account of the voyage across the Atlantic is brief but to the point, stating that he was deathly sick for the first few hours the ship was out. His term of service in the galley of the ship was also mentioned as was the fact that five submarines were reported sunk on August 11th while he was doing his turn of duty in the kitchen. After they had disembarked from the ship at Brest, they spent a great part of their time marching somewhere, sleeping on the ground and staying wet the greater part of the entire time spent in France. The railway travel done by the boys was had to buy that new hat he needs. We could use the money alright, couldn't we?

Folks, wonder what the next generation will find on this old earth? What changes will have taken place in the barnyard—in the kitchen? Surely we are not going to let our parents come back and find the kind of change that Martha Washington found. Let's be sensible and help Martha as well as George.

All of us want to make as much money as we can, but we do not. We stick to one crop when we could do much better by following the method of diversified farming. We could also have a few cows, chickens and pigs and do wonders with them. They will bring us extra money when we are planting our crops, which will come in pretty handy.
As citizens of Donley County we should, in some way, try to show our appreciation for what the Chamber of Commerce, The Clarendon News, the Junior Band, the International Harvester Company, and the people of Clarendon as a whole, did for us during the Short Course.

We wish that all those who helped in the course would drive over the country in about two weeks and see that their efforts have not been altogether in vain.

1,700 gallons in the same length of time. The waters are mineral or sweet as one may choose to drink.
A trip was made to the Gorges mountains from January 9th to 19th, this being the only leave enjoyed during the stay in France. Twenty-three divisions were represented at this place during the stay. A lake that rises and falls without rain and that never freezes was seen. It is located in the midst of mountains and should freeze but for the fact that it is fed by hot springs and remains at a constant temperature at all times. The burial place for Italian ruers was visited. A monastery was located nearby with fifteen monks in attendance all the time. They are paid by the King of Italy. The abbey contains portraits of the Kings of Italy from many centuries past down to the present day. Many great pieces of art and much painting is found here. Hannibal's Pass was seen where he led his men through the Alps to Italy.
On January 31st, 1919, they left for Brest, where they were loaded on the George Washington for the return trip. They loaded on the ship on the 13th of February and made a very uneventful return trip. One of the convoy ships, the New Mexico, was forced to leave them due to losing a pinion, otherwise they were unhindered in their trip across and home. The Fifth Engineers were placed at Camp Mills. This place was left on March 4th and a stop was made at Alexandria, Virginia, where a number of the members of the outfit were discharged and sent on to their homes. The camps in Virginia were left on March 22nd with the train headed for Camp Bowie at Fort Worth. Discharge was received on March 25th and the first thing bought was a civilian suit. Fort Worth was left the same day and home at Clarendon was reached on March 29, 1919.
Due to a lack of space, it is impossible for the News to give the Diary with the degree of fullness in which it is written, but we have attempted to pick out the high spots that would be of the greatest interest to our readers. A conversation with Mr. Chunn on the matter would be a great deal more interesting than any written account since there are many things that he will call to mind that could never have been written on paper.
The issues of "The Hatchet" are especially interesting since it was the only daily paper being printed at the time on the Atlantic Ocean. During the return trip made, the first birthday of the publication was celebrated with an edition containing twice the number of pages ordinarily printed. The little paper contained items on the happenings in Europe and America as they were received by radio each day. A considerable amount of space was given the Fifth Engineers in one of the issues with some of their history and the work they did while overseas.

Acidity

The common cause of digestive difficulties is excess acid. Soda cannot alter this condition, and it burns the stomach. Something that will neutralize the acidity is the sensible thing to take. That is why physicians tell the public to use Phillips Milk of Magnesia.
One spoonful of this delightful preparation can neutralize many times its volume in acid. It acts instantly; relief is quick, and very apparent. All gas is dispelled; all sourness is soon gone; the whole system is sweetened. Do try this perfect anti-acid, and remember it is just as good for children, too, and pleasant to take. SAME PRESCRIPTION HE WROTE IN 1892

When Dr. Caldwell started to practice medicine, back in 1875, the needs for a laxative were not as great as today. People lived normal lives, ate plain, wholesome food, and got plenty of fresh air. But even that early there were drastic physics and purges for the relief of constipation which Dr. Caldwell did not believe were good for human beings.
The prescription for constipation that he used early in his practice, and which he put in drug stores in 1892 under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a liquid vegetable remedy, intended for women, children and elderly people, and they need just such a mild, safe bowel stimulant.
This prescription has proven its worth and is now the largest-selling liquid laxative. It has won the confidence of people who needed it to get relief from headaches, biliousness, flatulence, indigestion, loss of appetite and sleep, bad breath, dyspepsia, colds, fevers. At your druggist, or write "Syrup Pepsin," Dept. BB, Monticello, Illinois, for free trial bottle.

What Will you do

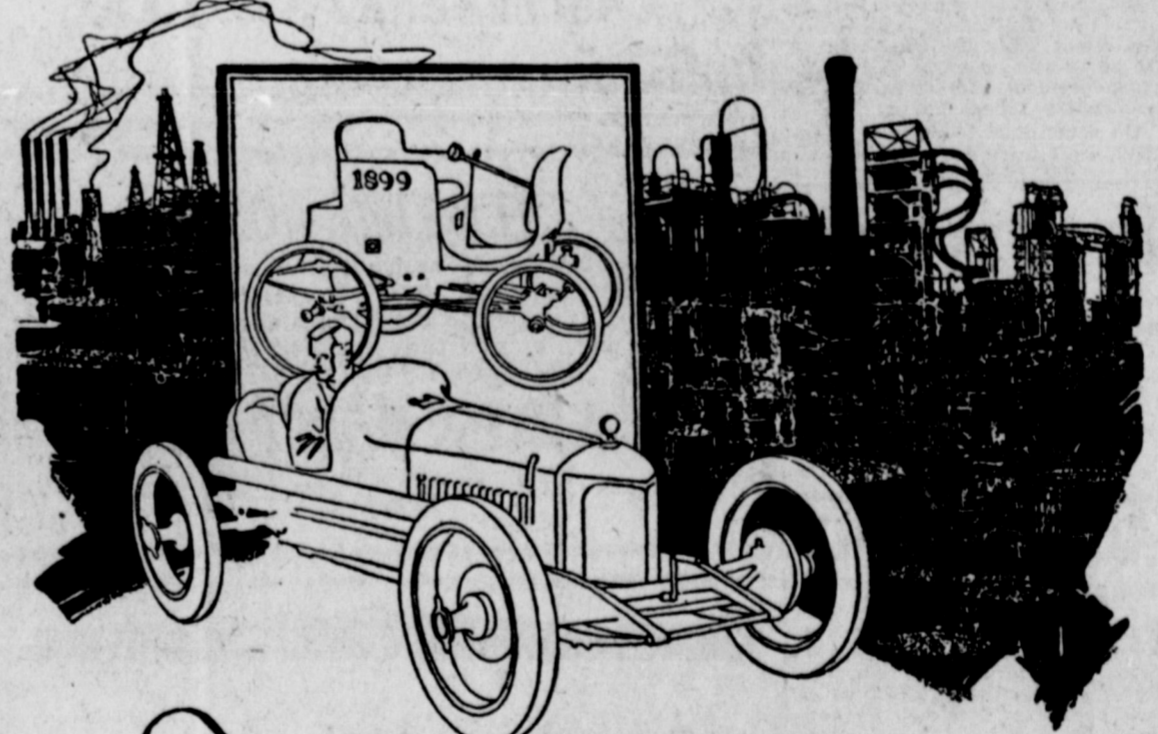

When your Children Cry for It

There is hardly a household that hasn't heard of Castoria! At least five million homes are never without it. If there are children in your family, there's almost daily need of its comfort. And any night may find you very thankful there's a bottle in the house. Just a few drops, and that colic or constipation is relieved; or diarrhea checked. A vegetable product; a baby remedy meant for young folks. Castoria is about the only thing you have ever heard doctors advise giving to infants. Stronger medicines are dangerous to a tiny baby, however harmless they may be to grown-ups. Good old Castoria! Remember the name, and remember to buy it. It may spare you a sleepless, anxious night. It is always ready, always safe to use; in emergencies, or for everyday ailments. Any hour of the day or night that Baby becomes fretful, or restless, Castoria was never more popular with mothers than it is today. Every druggist has it.

How to Raise Poultry
By Dr. L. D. LeGear, V. S., St. Louis, Mo.

Dr. LeGear is a graduate of the Ontario Veterinary College, 1892. Thirty-six years of veterinary practice on diseases of live stock and poultry. Eminent authority on poultry and stock raising. Nationally known poultry breeder. Noted author and lecturer.

LAYERS OR LIARS?

SCIENTIFIC CULLING OUT OF DRONES THE KEY TO REAL POULTRY PROFITS, SAYS DR. L. D. LeGEAR, V. S., OF ST. LOUIS, MO.

"Chicken, is you layin' or is you lyin'?" exclaimed Rastus as his one-hen poultry flock burst forth into loud acclamations of alleged performance. That's an old joke, it's true, but it suggests with graphic good humor one of the basic principles of success in poultry raising. Any poultryman who persistently eliminates the liars from his flock will increase his profits from the flock to an almost unbelievable degree.

The value of a regular, scientific culling out of drones from a poultry flock is vividly illustrated in the results of a survey conducted not long ago by the College of Agriculture of the University of Illinois and their farm advisors. The average profit on 264 flocks averaging 161 hens each was 86 cents per hen, but the average on the best two-thirds was $2.28 per hen. Of course, not all of the least productive one-third deserved to be eliminated, but there certainly must have been an astonishingly large number that were getting food and attention without giving an adequate return on what it cost to keep them. Culling out and marketing such hens can only result in a decreased expense account and a vastly increased average profit for each hen remaining.

There is nothing difficult or mysterious about culling, nothing a person of average intelligence could not learn in a short while. First of all, start with the chicks as soon as they are out of the shell. Any that are obviously deformed should be killed at once. Culling should be made a continuous process from that time on.

At least once a month the growing stock should be looked over and the undesirables removed from the flock. All thin, undersized, scrawny, "crow headed" birds should be discarded. Such pullets will eat their heads off but will never develop into profitable layers, so you are better off without them than with them. Further culling will be in order when the young birds reach laying age. Those that are backward in maturity should be discarded. Two hundred days is a fair age for a pullet of the heavy breeds or 150 to 165 days of the light breeds to start laying, but those taking much more time than that are unlikely to develop into good layers.

For mature birds, the time of the molt is an important indication of laying habits, although other factors should also be considered. Generally speaking, hens that molt late in the fall are the best layers. The poor layer exhausts her energies early and may start molting anytime during June, July or August. The hen that is just beginning to molt late in August, early in September or later is usually the one to keep. All small sized hens for the breed should be discarded. The eggs they lay are usually small, and they should never be used as breeders.

During the normal laying season, there are a number of points by which the laying capacity of hens may be judged more or less accurately. The eye of a good layer is prominent, bold, bright, snappy, set in an oval socket. The comb and wattles will be large, full, smooth, waxy to the touch and bright red in color. Poor layers will show exactly opposite characteristics in these respects.

The state of the vent is another important indication of laying condition. The laying hen has a large, moist, dilated vent. That of the non-layer is small, hard and puckered.

The back of the good layer will be long and broad all the way out. In the poor layer, it will be narrow near the tail. On either side of the vent may be felt the points of the pelvic, pubic, pin or lay bones. In the good layers these bones are thin, straight and flexible. In the poor layer they are curved, thick, with layers of fat and rigid. The measurement of these bones is taken at the terminal or extreme end and includes also the skin, fat and gristle over them. If the spread between the pelvic bones is two fingers or less, the hen is probably not laying. If it is two fingers or more, it generally indicates that she is laying.

To accommodate the extra food a good laying hen must eat and the expansion of the laying organs, the rear of the keel bone of the good layer will be a greater distance from the pelvic bones than it will be in the poor layer. This shows abdominal capacity, which is very important and measured by the number of fingers that can be placed between the keel bone and the pelvic bones. With small breeds like Leghorns, a spread of three or more fingers indicates laying condition. With larger breeds, the spread should be four fingers or more. Other things being equal, a long bodied fowl measuring three fingers, is equal to a short bodied fowl measuring four.

Absence of yellow color around the vent and a whitish or pinkish color of the skin indicates that the hen is laying. If we also find a bleached eye ring, white bleached legs and beak she has been laying for some time.

I have discussed in as great detail as space permits, some of the more important points by which to be guided in culling. (Further information will be gladly given to anyone writing to me in care of this newspaper.) Do not depend on any one factor in judging your hens, but from an opinion based on all considered together. Cull carefully, persistently and relentlessly, and before long you will have a flock of real dividend payers. It takes time and patience to be sure, but the reward is well worthy of the effort.

Canned vegetables may be dressed up or combined to make them more interesting. A little onion juice or celery salt, or a bit of green pepper or celery tops, or a small piece of bay leaf improves the flavor of many canned vegetables. Good combinations are string beans and canned tomatoes; canned peas and fresh carrots; canned corn and canned tomatoes. Canned okra is a good addition to a mixed vegetable soup.

It is believed Texas can reach a population of 10,000,000 without becoming predominantly urban.

CARL BENNETT VISITS IN AUTO LAUNDRIES ON TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bennett and son, Carl Marcellus, and Mrs. C. W. Bennett returned Tuesday evening from a trip through the central and southern part of the state. They visited in the home of Mrs. Bennett's mother in New Braunfels for a time during their vacation trip. Carl was making the trip serve a dual purpose, he is visiting in numerous automobile laundries while on his trip. The things he saw on his trip will be of great benefit to him as he plans to open this sort of a business here in a short time, just as soon as his building can be completed on Sully Street.

part of the discussion had during the day was had on ways and means used to raise funds to take their delegations to the Short Course this summer. The Lelia Lake representatives stated that they had made a start by selling candy at a play recently held in their school and that they had already placed a starter in the treasury.

The meeting was adjourned that the individual members of the clubs present might receive assistance on some of their projects. The proposed visit to the hatchery was called off until Saturday, April 13th, at which time there will be a hatch coming off and the girls may see for themselves just how the machine works.

CLUB NOTES

The Ashtola Girls' Club met Wednesday, March 6th, in the school house with 26 girls present and taking an active part in the discussions and work entered into. The demonstration was given on gardening with special emphasis placed on hotbeds and means used to start tomatoes, cabbage and other plants of like nature that need to be started early in the year and later root. The culture of various vegetables was given with special force being applied to tomatoes, peppers, cucumbers, okra, beans and peas being those with whom the greater part of the time was spent.

All of the club members were urged to plant the purest seeds available. The names of some being given that are best suited to their particular needs in the tomato line, the beefsteak was advised for canning, the Morgan Globe for wilt resistant and the McGee Stone for a dual purpose tomato. White Velvet Okra, Early or Boston Pickling cucumbers, Detroit Dark Red or Cross-bred Egyptian Beets were urged due to the fact that they never get woody or fibrous. Peas to be planted are Black-eye, Crowder and Lady, while Burpee's Stringless Green Pod beans were urged. Sweet White Bermuda Onions were mentioned as the variety best suited to garden culture.

The clothing work of the club members was discussed as was their progress with the poultry projects.

The Womens' Home Demonstration Club met at Chamberlain on the 7th. Eighteen women were present for the meeting which was held in the home of Miss Mamie Dingler. The discussion for the day was had on the points to look for in choosing a dairy cow. How and when to cool milk and cream for it to keep sweet and the use of the butter score card were also given their due share of the part of the discussion. Following the meeting, the women and seven men of the community visited the Knight Dairy and saw the large equipment necessary in the successful handling of milk for the market.

The meeting held with the Giles Home Demonstration Club was similar to that one held earlier in the week with the Ashtola club. Due to a play being practiced in the school at the same time the meeting was being held, there was a short attendance, only seven girls being present for the discussions. The demonstrations and discussions followed the same lines as those found at Ashtola.

On the afternoon of March 8th, a new Home Demonstration Club for the county was organized in the Gray community at the home of Mrs. Bell. Nine women were present and were enrolled as charter members of the organization and heard the demonstration. The next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Adamson a short distance north of Hedley and the subject up for discussion will be gardening. The second and fourth Fridays were set as the meeting dates of this new organization.

On Saturday, the Girls' Home Demonstration Council met in the office of the Home Demonstrator in the City Hall. The greater
