School Election Saturday Certifies Citizen Interest

Members of Old Board Again Are Re-Elected, Officers Taking Same Positions

More than usual interest was taken in the school board election here Saturday, seven desirable men having received votes with only four names having been placed on ticket by petition.

The big surprise in the results came when it was announced that C. C. Powell had received seventy votes. Mr. Powell served on the Board with distinction for a number of years and filled the position of secretary. J. T. Patman and W. Z. Borron also received complimentary votes.

Members of the Board whose terms were expiring and whose names had been filed in time to be printed on the regular ticket were Odos Caraway, E. P. Shelton, O. C. Watson and W. M. Montgomery, all of whom were re-elected.

A total of 158 votes were cast in the election. O. C. Watson receiving 158; E. P. Shelton 158; W. M. Montgomery 156; Odos Caraway 87; C. C. Powell 70.

A meeting was held Saturday night at which time the Board was reorganized. F. E. Chamberlain was again elected president; O. C. Watson, vice president; W. W. Taylor, secretary.

In compliance with the school law, places were drawn for terms of service by the members re-elected. Odos Caraway drew one year; W. M. Montgomery drew two year term and E. P. Shelton and O. C. Watson each drew three year terms.

The matter of electing teachers for the coming term was not completed at the meeting Saturday night and final results will not be announced until after the meeting Saturday night of this week.

Local Fiddler Has Musical Relic of Two Centuries

J. E. Ware of the Goldston community and who placed fifth in a contest at Amarillo Friday night entered by fiddlers of four states, brought to the Leader office Saturday his favorite fiddle bearing an ancient date which he believes to be authentic.

The fiddle on the inside is branded "Joseph Guarnerio Cremona 1736", has an excellent tone which goes a long way in enabling this crack artist in getting among the top-notchers in a melee with sixty-five as he did at Amarillo.

Quarterly Conference Will Convene Wednesday Night

Presiding Elder W. M. Murrell will conduct the Quarterly Conference at the Methodist church Wednesday night of this week.

A home coming affair has been planned, each member being asked to bring something to contribute to the supper that will be held in the church basement at 7:30.

Much Interest Is Being Taken Today In Mayoralty Race

Present Mayor has Opposition First Time Since Election Six Years Ago

The right to vote, to exercise this most important privilege of citizenship is being exercised today in the mayoralty race. This is the first time in six years that citizens of Clarendon have been privileged to vote for a choice, no opposing candidate having been in the race during that period.

Mayor H. W. Taylor, stalwart pioneer and citizen of Clarendon for some forty years is again seeking the office for the fourth term. He points to his accomplishments over the six year period as his bid for re-election.

W. F. Cagle, who filled the uncompleted term for Mr. McLean who died in office, is the opposing candidate. He was in office when the present water works project was installed and is basing his race at this time on an economy program of "progress with caution."

Citizens are taking an active interest in the campaign espousing the cause of their favorite candidate. It is believed that having a privilege of choice will bring out a large vote.

Albert Risley Died Monday In His 84th Year

Albert Risley, brother of Carlile Risley died Monday afternoon from old age. He was born in Illinois and spent most of his life there coming to Clarendon some three years ago. He was never married so far as can be learned.

He was an active member of the local lodge of Odd Fellows having been a member of the order for more than half a century. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. McPherson at the Methodist church at 2 p. m. today.

Freeze Damage is Greater Than First Estimated

Damages from the recent blizzard is mounting as time goes on, and is much greater than at first thought. Fruit trees, berry vines and shrubbery suffering most.

Fruit trees, and especially peaches and apricots are found to have been killed to the ground. Rose bushes and other shrubbery is also frozen back to the soil in most places.

All of the plants growing out in the hot beds at the T. Jones & Company plant farm were killed forcing the firm to rush orders from down state stock with which to supply customers demanding early plants.

Christian Church Members Celebrate With Supper

A large crowd was out Monday night of this week when the members of the Christian church welcomed the new members resulting from the series of meetings concluded by the pastor Sunday night.

In addition to the feast, a number of good talks were made by local people. Rev. W. E. Ferrell spoke in behalf of the church; J. R. Tucker in behalf of the church board; Roy Clappitt also spoke for the Bible class.

Jack Huppertz of Dallas was the speaker of the evening, making a fine address and bringing to the local membership an encouraging message.

Pledges were taken for the Pension Fund amounting to over six hundred dollars. The church is reported to be in excellent condition at this time and every department working harmoniously.

All Members Have Interest In Program Rotary Luncheon

Delegates Are Elected For District Meeting This Month at Plainview

Possibly no other program aroused the intense interest evidenced at the Rotary luncheon Friday. This program was in charge of the Community Service Committee of which Rotarian Cecil Alexander is chairman, and who had direct charge of the program for the hour.

Well did the program committee comply with the request of President Jenkins in preparing something worth while for the anniversary date. Each one present spoke on the two suggested subjects: "What have I done for Rotary?" and "What has Rotary done for me?". The speech of Rotarian Ann Rhoda Wiedman was the high point in the discussions.

Out of that number of talks, many new ideas were presented and much good was brought to the attention of those who have served Rotary faithfully over the past year.

Nominations were made by delegates to the District meeting of Rotary International at Plainview the 20th and 21st of this month. Those nominated were Rotarians Bryan, Powell, Alexander and Estlack, the four being elected unanimously by acclamation.

President Jenkins spoke of the system of jury selection in our courts early in the meeting without eliciting any rebuttals. Just at the close of the meeting, Rotarian Cole explained juries and their selection to the satisfaction of every one present and promised to further discuss the matter at a later date as the hour was growing late.

In the absence of Secretary Powell, Rotarian Allen J. Bryan was selected to fill that post.

Rotarian C. L. Hasie of Memphis sat in the luncheon making up his attendance record and also spoke on the same subject as other members.

"Hard Times" sung to the tune of "Turkey in the straw" was an innovation that excited and amused many who attempted to sing the familiar old tune. Rotarian Ann Rhoda Wiedman experienced no difficulty in accompanying on the piano proving that she is equal to all occasions.

Negro Gets a New Trial in Moore Killing

On the plea of his attorneys that new evidence is alleged to have been found, Will Moore, Amarillo negro hotel porter convicted of the murder of Pete Moore, during the Stock Show there, has been granted a new trial.

Jim Bible of McLean is doing jury duty here this week.

Hog Shipments Are Falling Off Since January

While there is a goodly number of young stock coming on, and a fair supply of breeder stock in the county, old Donley will have to produce a hog crop before very much more shipping is done.

W. B. Mayfield, hog buyer over three counties with headquarters in Clarendon, reports having shipped nineteen cars since January 1st. He also reports that hogs are getting scarce. Most all of the hogs bought are shipped to Los Angeles.

Easter Cantata is Presented at Methodist Church

As a part of the special Easter services at the Methodist church, a Cantata "Christ Victorious" was presented Sunday evening by the choir directed by Sam M. Braswell with Miss Fray Stallings at the organ and Miss Delphia Bones at the piano.

Those taking part were Messames O. T. Smith, W. A. Clark, Jr., J. L. McMurry, Messrs. S. M. Eraswell, Irl R. Smith, Clyde Hudson and G. L. Boykin.

A large congregation was present, this being the closing of a series of sermons preached by the pastor, Rev. W. R. McPherson.

Independent Oil Company Opens For Business

A company known as the Independent Oil Company headed by Van Allan Kent and Ernest Kent and other local men began the operation of two filling stations here Saturday as their initial opening, the first of the kind in Clarendon.

The Kent brothers state that they propose to handle the products of independent refineries only, dispensing with the service of a middle man and thus be enabled to sell the products at a low price to the consumer.

Gasoline of high test was being sold at 12½ cents per gallon and oil at 25 cents a quart according to advertising circulars being distributed on the street. One station is being operated at the Clarendon Motor company and the other at the Buntin building across the street from the Buntin mortuary.

Baptist Folks Have a Big Day Over Sunday

Three additions resulted from the excellent preaching of the pastor, Rev. B. N. Shepherd, at the First Baptist church Sunday. Both Sunday school and church services were liberally attended.

The members seemed to catch the spirit and contributed $279 as a special offering to replenish the budget. During the day a total of $353.48 was contributed to the cause of furthering Christianity.

Misses Margaret and Allene Aynesworth of Waco spent the week end with their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Shelton and family.

Town Is Filled With Pedigreed Dogs For Field Trials

Dr. C. G. Stricklin, Vice President of Association Is in Charge

Early Sunday afternoon the lords and ladies of dogdom began arriving for the Northwest Texas Field Trials Association meet which began at 8 o'clock Monday morning at the Sand Creek camp in the J. A. pasture.

This is probably the first time that many have had the privilege of seeing a dog or dogs valued at several hundred dollars each. They were quartered for the most part in the Bartlett store building over night and judging from the noise made, the dogs were howling for a chance to do their stuff.

Owners are here from over the Panhandle and from out of the state. Jess Dickie of Amarillo has Panhandle Lady here, a dog that was a big winner in several trials over the winter, won 1st in the United States Derby at Holly Springs, Miss. in a contest open to the nation. She also won 2nd at Jackson, Miss. in a field trial of twenty of the best dogs in the United States.

Cecil Proctor will enter Bill's Bob, a winner of many open stakes. Boyd McMahan of Altus, Okla. and the Crossett Kennels of Amarillo is also giving Freckles a chance after winning the Tri-State derby at Wheeler last fall.

The list is too long to name all the dogs entering this trial, but with ideal weather and an unbeatable terrain for the trials, there will no doubt be some record-breaking results.

The three hundred Bob Whites were supplied by the State. Only black cartridges will be fired at the birds and they will be left to replenish a section where the dry weather played havoc with the feathered tribe the past season.

Dr. C. G. Stricklin, a vice president of the Association, has had charge of the local arrangements and in securing the grounds for the trials. G. L. Boykin, secretary of the local Chamber has also been actively interested in the success of the affair that ends this afternoon.

Mrs. M. T. Crabtree returned from a visit to Boulder, Colorado Wednesday. She was accompanied on the return by her daughter, Miss Obie, who has been attending the State University this winter.

Miss Ruby Lee Landers of Amarillo spent the week end with home folks.

Reports Show Club Work Most Effective Near Chamberlain

Members Find Profit in Work The Year Round Canning And Planning

The C. H. D. Club in the Chamberlain community is one of the most active in the entire county, profitable work being done year round.

During the past month hot beds for early plants were prepared. Twenty-one garden plots were put in prime condition. Three beehives were canned.

Plans in the making for future canning in addition to the above include the planting of a large number of fruit trees, berries, grapes, etc. Careful selections were made to secure late bloomers, and varieties that have been tried out in this section and found to be most profitable.

Apples and pears were planted out along with 39 cherries, sixty having been set out previously this season. Grapes are a decided success and one of our surest crops. A variety totaling 163 was set so selected that the vineyard will be producing ripe grapes all the season.

Of the smaller fruits, 36 currant and 211 black and dew berries were planted and to this list 24 (Continued to back page)

Four Cars Stolen Recently Are Located Leaving No Clues

Ford Sedan Stolen Thursday Night is Found in R O Pasture Stripped

In the epidemic of car thefts in the Panhandle during the past month, Donley county did not escape, two being taken from here during the past week.

The W. J. Lewis car taken Wednesday night was located on the Groom-Pampa highway where it had slid into the ear pit. Two negroes were seen in the car, and later were seen wearing a pair of rubber boots and an overcoat taken from the car. Efforts to locate them in Pampa brought no results.

Matt Noble, brother of Mrs. Rayburn Smith, and here from Lubbock on a visit suffered the loss of a Ford sedan Thursday night. Sheriff Pierce located the sedan in the R O pasture where it was found by Winks Adams Friday morning.

The sedan was stripped of wheels, cushions, magneto and practically everything of value, even to the bumpers. The front bumpers were found farther down the road where they had evidently lost off a truck according to tracks that headed for the oil field.

The R. A. Williams car was located at Portales badly used. The car of Eugene Estlack was located at Wellington badly damaged. Both of these cars were taken over a week ago.

Misses Cleo and Jack Foster and Pat Blackburn of Chamberlain visited in the John H. Clark home Friday and Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Stevens of Amarillo spent the week end in the home of the lady's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Czier.

Mrs. Jordan Receives Hand Injury in Wringer

Mrs. Mollie Jordan was painfully injured Friday when she accidentally let her hand pass into an electric wringer at her home where she conducts a home laundry using electric power.

Her hand was badly crushed beyond the wrist, several stitches being necessary in order to close the wounds. She received medical aid from after the accident, and tho quite painful, it is believed that no permanent injury will result.

Mrs. Jordan conducts her laundry as her only means of supporting her aged father in feeble health, and a number of children who alone assist her in her daily work.

Walling Takes Second Place in Old Fiddlers' Contest

In the old fiddlers' contest at Amarillo Friday night, W. E. Walling of Lelia Lake took second place. He and J. E. Ware were the only entrants from this county.

Eck Robertson of Borger took first place, Margaret Robertson took second place in tap dancing.

Little Theatre Will Present Comedy Play Here Tonight

Second Play of the Season Will Be Presented At College Auditorium

The public is advised to arrive early in order to secure seats in the best locations. The curtain is scheduled to rise at 8 o'clock but the seating capacity will likely be taken long before the opening hour as is usually the case with other plays presented the past few weeks.

"The Tightwad" as described in last week's issue of the Leader is based on the reformation of a young man and is intensely interesting throughout. There has been no change in the cast as announced at that time.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Connally of Amarillo visited in the parental home here over the week end.

Starting Anew.

Now that we have another spring-like spell, we might as well start our gardens all over again. The weather man has a penchant for penalizing industry this season.

Wait a Minute!

The fellow who wrote the song, "My Baby Don't Care for Clothes" was either a liar or is going to have a rude awakening in the very near future.

Exciting Moments.

"Believe it or Not Ripley" tells us of a fellow who has refereed 11... fights in less than five years, which prompts us to believe that he has been living with a bunch of his inlaws.

Critical Moments.

Necking in grandfather's day may have been an oddity, but it was a whole lot safer. Who ever heard of a buggy crashing a phone pole about the time she got all puckered up?

Punch Board Scheme.

Dakota Filling stations are being victimized by punch board salesmen according to the Bristol, South Dakota New Era. The salesman sells a punch board. After a time another fellow comes along and punches the board, and knowing the lucky numbers, he cleans up on the owner taking off several dollars.

How About It?

The average cow hide selling at thirty-two cents will make eighteen average size pair half soles. When these half soles are sewed on to shoes they cost $1.50 a pair. In other words when the producer sells his hide for thirty-two cents, he buys it back at the rate of $27. The local shoe cobbler claims he can hardly get by half-soleing at his price of $1.50. Now who in thunder is making all the money to be made out of cow hides?

Blizzardy Blizzards.

The blizzard of Thursday night caused the temperature to drop to seven above zero in Clarendon. A similar blizzard and the last of any consequence before this one occurred on March 29th, 1926 when the thermometer dropped to four above.

The same party keeping track of the weather also records the fact that a hard freeze destroying the fruit crop struck here on April 21, 1927. Ice formed over three night periods at that time.

Home Markets.

Horse flesh has been the mainstay of the Sioux Indians of the Pine Ridge agency going on the third year. They know little if anything about arm relief but are doing their best to boost the horse market.

A traveler from darkest Africa claims to have eaten of the flesh of the black man while among cannibals, and that it tasted like veal. Only the captives in battle are so eaten, probably in eating an unconquered fighter, the going would be somewhat tougher.

Calm Horror.

Daily newspaper reports state that the citizens of Nicaragua were stricken with a calm horror following the recent quake that destroyed a city of over thirty thousand, fire consuming the debris that remained of their homes.

It is hardly possible that cheer leaders or pep squads would develop under such circumstances, but we hazard the guess that the natives are thinking about things other than revolutions right now. Some times the Almighty takes a hand in man's plaything affairs and calls a halt.

Railroad Advertising.

Years ago the newspaper man carried a pass in his pocket. Legislative members later came to the conclusion that this collusion might result in great harm to the public and banished the practice.

The railroads did less advertising under the new regime until recently. Realizing the value of publicity in the country weeklies, the roads are again to return to ask the paper read most to carry their message to the people.

F. D. Daggett, general passenger agent of the Denver was in Clarendon Thursday making arrangements to run a regular schedule of advertising provided the Railroad Commission will permit them to tell their story as they want it told.

All Gummed Up.

Even affection gets all gummed up sometimes. A Mrs. Oliver of Kansas City is suing for divorce on the grounds that her husband has fallen in love with the so-called Siamese twins, two San Antonio girls otherwise known as the Hilton girls.

The accused husband is advance-agent for the show in which the twinned girls are the star attractions. Mrs. Oliver is of the opinion that Oliver himself is also attracted unduly, and especially so since he admits as much.

Anyway, getting struck on two women living in the same vicinity, or so near each other that they are joined together by fleshy ties, is something new to say the least of it.

Improvement.

When there was nothing else that could be done to improve the Dallas News, the management at last turned their attention to a presentable photo of the "Sage of the Trinity," otherwise known as Joe J. Taylor, one of the most beloved men of newspaperdom of the state.

Yes, we like the new picture. It reminds us of "Buttermilk Jim" Lowery and the chicken barbecue at Robstown every time we look at it.

As the author of State Press comments, probably no other writer in the nation draws so much attention or has a larger daily audience of readers than Joe J. Taylor.

Democrats Did It.

In this issue of the Leader we are glad to give publicity to a letter received from Hon. Orville Bullington, a prominent lawyer of Wichita Falls and a member of the Republican State Committee.

This letter is self-explanatory. Regardless of whether friend Bullington is a "Czar" or an ordinary "bell-weather" in his party, neither he nor his Democratic brethren on that Governor's Relief Conference tour were able to obtain success from the impending ruination of Texas' leading industries.

Falling in this, there is but one recourse left to the citizens of this great state, and that is to exercise their patriotic duty in patronizing independent producers so far as is humanly possible. Party means nothing when the interests of our thousands of reputable citizens are involved.

The authentic information contained in this letter will be a revelation to the hundreds of Democratic readers of this paper of the oil belt of the Panhandle, and whose losses run into the millions because of political trickery on the part of leaders in whom they have had an unflinching trust.

Penal Educations.

The State Superintendent of Education of California and the head master of the school system in San Quentin prison have evolved an educational system that is to be put to trial in that state.

Prisoners on parole will be paroled to go to school. They are to go back to the walls when they break the parole by losing interest in their studies. Only a select few will be permitted to take advantage of the opportunity at first. Others may pursue a course in prison and finish in the state colleges should their behavior and mental development merit that consideration.

Warden Tynan of the Colorado penal system evolved the idea of working prisoners on the state highway. Very few convicts attempted to escape and still fewer actually got away. They worked without a boss or overseer and did good work glad of the opportunity to get out doors.

These prison camps, self governed, were scattered along the state highways of the state. The plan worked well enough until rotten politics removed Warden Tynan from the head job of the Colorado state penal system. Road work stopped when he was removed. They have had riots, murders, and escapes and practically everything since except profitable labor returns.

Neglected Industry.

Texas' most neglected industry today is her tourist industry. With in our borders one may see plant life from the north temperate zone to the tropics; level plains that stretch out for hundreds of miles to the highest mountains; village hamlets and great cities; ancient architecture dating back to 1582 and the modern skyscraper. Texas has the oldest church at Ysleta, built in 1582 and still in use.

Athletic Events.

There was equal opportunity for every community to indulge their pride and ambition here Friday and Saturday. Never has there been such a large crowd in attendance on a League Meet. Never before has there been such enthusiasm, all accompanied by neighborly good will that was an inspiration to all those in any way connected with the event.

Clean sports has many admirers among those not actively engaged in the contests. Clean sports has many enthusiastic backers among those who are only interested in the development of the minds and bodies of our younger generation.

Many of the elders rubbed elbows on the down town streets Friday and Saturday while the youngsters strutted their stuff on the athletic field and at the College. It partook more of the nature of a homecoming than any other event that it has ever been the writer's pleasure to witness in Clarendon.

All the folks went home satisfied. Some wore medals and some smiles, but all were satisfied, and that is the thing that counts when a big crowd gathers for contesting skill, either mental or physical, with the neighbor folks.

The members of the local Chamber of Commerce are due no little credit for contributing to the success of the affair. This Chamber made it possible for all the folks to see all events free of any admission charge. In other words, the members of the Chamber paid the bill and paid it gladly.

The money spent in this event will do more good and produce more genuine lasting effects than possibly any other project during the year because there was no discrimination—it was free to every one to take a hand and enjoy the whole show to the fullest extent.

Church Folks.

What do you suppose the preachers would think if their male members were as interested in church attendance as they are in making up their attendance in civic clubs?

In Memoriam.

Today's simile—"dropped like a Rockne." If in dying, the death of Rockne so stirs the nation that passengers will be forced to wear parachutes, he shall not have lived in vain.

Atta Boy!

The Chattanooga, Tennessee baseball club has signed up a girl pitcher. The degree of her success of course will depend upon her curves and speed.

Consternation!

Again is society greatly stirred back east when cotton gloves to match hose and frock of the same material and color is announced as the latest in milady's wardrobe.

Ben Hurr Revived.

Lew Wallace has been appointed a district judge down at Uvalde. There was no race, not even a chariot race because Judge Lew Wallace is not a general. He merely takes the place of a man who was charged with misconduct and who resigned during a legislative investigation, it is said.

The Balky Horse!

A balky horse always quit on the job in a pinch. Some human failures are due to the same reason—quitting in a pinch.

The fellow who waits on favorable weather and conditions before he begins his work, is largely a failure. The calamities in life never come at the "right time".

This bank is interested in the financial welfare of the citizens of this trade territory. We advocate a live-at-home program so far as possible. We know that Donley county offers opportunities equal to any county in the state to make this possible.

Plan your crops to this end this season. Produce more to sell the year around. A one crop idea means failure, proven many times in every section.

Polly's Pearls Were Really Genuine

By ELIZABETH BARTON

POLLY would not have gone to the dance at all if she had her own way about it, but Tommy talked her into it.

"I have nothing to wear among such swaggar people," said Polly. "Make something out of that soft pillow," advised Tommy, "and you'll look a thousand times better than the average."

And as a matter of fact, there was not a more beautiful girl in the great hall than Polly in her wisp of evening gown that she had fashioned, her gray slippers and stockings to match, and the whole topped as Tommy put it by her curly riot of curls.

"That old string of beads could be a priceless lot of pearls, for all anyone here might know," he told her as they danced.

"And it they were real," retorted Polly, "I would not be here seeking patrons for my art shop—I could have such a gorgeous shop that people would come in spite of themselves." She toyed gracefully with the long string of beads in question. "Oh, dear! Isn't that the limit—right in the middle of the ballroom!" she exclaimed, and a brilliant blush sprang swiftly to her cheeks. The string had broken and the beads were rolling everywhere at once.

Of course, she was the center of attraction, and all the dancers stopped to help rescue what they supposed to be pearls.

"Please don't bother," said Polly. "they're only beads."

Nevertheless they were nearly all restored to her and she put them carefully into her small vanity bag.

A young man, however, sitting watching the affair had picked up a few of the beads and having overheard Polly's remark about their value, looked carefully at them.

"Humph! I think I'll show these to Caruthers—look like the real thing to me. Perhaps I can do the young lady a good turn. Rather fancy her, anyway." He managed by much inquiry to find out who Polly was and that she had a wee shop where she sold lamp shades, cushions and other such trifles.

And as Polly and Tommy strolled up Park avenue to the tiny place that was Polly's home, Tommy wished with all his heart that he was anything but an impecunious artist who dared not tell the only girl how much he loved her. He had been quite ashamed to give her the old string of beads on the occasion of her birthday some few years back, but it was all he had in his scant possessions.

When Polly said good-night she apologized softly for having caused such a scene at the dance.

"I didn't want to let the crowd know how much I valued every one of those beads, Tommy, but I think we found most of them. She gave his hand an extra warm squeeze and slipped swiftly up the stairs. "Come early Sunday afternoon," she called back to him.

Sunday was the happiest day of their week, for Polly, tired of her own cooking, let Tommy get her tea and supper Sunday night.

And on Sunday evening while Polly was idly running through some music and Tommy was making something delicious in the kitchen, some one knocked at the front door. Polly hastened to see who it might be and whether her niece evening with Tommy was to be shared with a third person.

That third person happened to be the young man who had picked up three of the beads from Polly's string. After telling her his mission he was promptly invited in.

And when Polly told him that she had a string of them that would go three times around her neck the young man gasped.

"My dear young lady," he excitedly told her, "if all those beads are of the value of the three I picked up you have a set of pearls worth at least fifty thousand dollars."

"Tommy, Tommy," she shouted, "come quickly—I'm going to faint!" And when Tommy rushed from the kitchen with a pan of steaming pig-in-blankets in his hand, she stood up, braced her shoulders and decided not to faint. "No I won't," she said, and turned to the strange young man. "Tell Mr. Wakefield what you have just said."

Tommy had all he could do to keep the steaming Sunday night supper from gracing the studio floor.

"They've been in the Wakefield family for ages—I don't think their value was ever suspected," he said calmly.

"My pal says that is only a rough estimate—they may be worth double that amount."

"In that case I shall most certainly faint," laughed Polly, and invited the strange young man to stay for supper.

But something in the eyes of these two artists prevented him from accepting. The fire and hope and love lying there were not to be intruded upon. He left them to their happiness.

Kingdoms of the Past

Arnon and Jobbok are important points in the history of Israel. They mark the boundaries of two once mighty kingdoms whose monarchs, "Sihon, king of the Amonites, and Og, the king of Bashan," were overcome by the hand of wanderers from the land of Egypt, who were on their way to take possession of the land promised to their forefathers, which was to extend from the sea to the "great river," the Euphrates.

Dates Grown on The Salt River Project

A recent article in the Arizona Producer describes the date harvest on the Salt River project, which shows how this product has increased in volume and importance in the past few years. Between 80,000 and 90,000 pounds of dates were picked, ripened, processed, and packed, worth from 35 cents a pound for the lowest class, comprising bulk fruit, up to $1 or more a pound for the select grades.

The names of the different varieties recall slow-moving caravans of laden camels wending their way across the desert sands to the welcome oases where wells of sweet water and stately palms greet the traveler. Here in the Salt River Valley are grown such famous varieties as the Rhar, Itemas, Khalasas and Maktums.

The demand for these products of irrigation in the Salt River Valley is greater than the supply. Each year orders must go unfilled. It is estimated that 60 per cent of the crop is consumed in the state. The remaining 40 per cent—all choice fruit—is shipped outside to expensive hotels, fashionable clubs, railway dining cars, dealers who cater to wealthy customers, and to private individuals who have learned to appreciate the excellence of the fruit grown on the project.

Colonel Dale Bumstead, whose packing plant disposes of a large share of the crop, has issued a folder setting forth some essential facts about dates in the old and new worlds. After describing the gardens of Solomon and Tutankhamen, he says of the Salt River dates:

"These fresh dates are an entirely new gastronomical sensation in America; they bear no more relation to the dried dates of commerce than a spicy red apple bears to the dried apples of our youth."

The crop this year is the best in the history of the project, and will add materially to the income of the fortunate growers.

CHAMBERLAIN

This community was shocked Friday morning because of the death of Mrs. J. R. Self who became suddenly ill about two o'clock and passed away before medical aid could be summoned.

She had lived to the good age of seventy four, had been a consistent member of the Christian church for many years. She leaves to mourn her loss, a husband, four sons and two daughters. Her sons are Ira and Fresh of Quail, T. M. of Winters, Cal., and George of this community. Her daughters are Mrs. J. R. Atkinson of Quail and Mrs. G. G. Reeves of this community.

Mrs. Self had been in poor health for seven years but bore her affliction with patience that characterizes all true Christians. We extend sympathy to a husband in the loss of a valuable companion to the children who will miss the counsel and affection of a mother and the community in the loss of a good neighbor. A large number from this community accompanied the remains to Quail where interment was made in a large gathering of former neighbors and friends, all the children were present except T. M. of Cal.

Mrs. Townson, Roy Robinson and Lady of Clarendon visited in the Townson home Sunday.

PIONEERS---THEN AND NOW

Not so many years ago, hardy pioneers, attracted by the richness, beauty and character of West Texas, halted their ox-drawn "covered wagons" in this section of the nation's last frontier, and sensing, perhaps, its future greatness, made it their home. Wrestling their livelihood from the virgin soil, these sturdy Empire-builders laid the foundations for our present high standard of living, our progressive cities, substantial industries, beautiful homes and alert citizenry.

In a comparable manner, the West Texas Utilities Company—pioneering the widespread distribution of electric energy—has made possible, through the equalizing influence of dependable and inexpensive electric power, the intensive development of West Texas.

Just previous to the organization of the West Texas Utilities Company, the average residential cost per kilowatt-hour in this territory was 13 3/4 cents. Now, under the modern rate schedule of this company, it has been REDUCED TO 6 1/2 cents—a REDUCTION OF MORE THAN FIFTY PER CENT! During the year 1930, monthly residential consumption averaged fifty kilowatt-hours per customer. Under the present rate schedule of this company, the customer can increase his use of service to three times that amount and only increase his total bill by 10 cents a day. Before the organization of the West Texas Utilities Company, a similar increase above the normal average would have cost more than four times that amount, or more than 40 cents a day for the additional comfort or service now available for 10 cents! In other words, you can now use an abundance of service, knowing that the added comforts and conveniences possible in this manner will make only a small increase in your total cost.

The building of a transmission line system, which links scattered communities and widely separated rural homes into one unit served from strategically located main generating plants, was a revolutionary theory when the West Texas Utilities Company first pioneered in this territory. This system—in a territory as sparsely settled and undeveloped as the West Texas area of a few short years ago—has increased the quantity and quality of service, and at the same time reduced rates. Only a sincere faith in the future development of the territory has warranted this investment of many millions of dollars.

A most interesting informational, and inspirational program has been planned. Speakers of note are Dr. W. R. White, Texas State Mission Secretary, Mr. T. C. Gardner, State B. Y. P. U. Secretary, Andrew Allen, Assistant S. S. Secretary. Several pastors from this district will bring inspirational messages.

This convention met with the Clarendon Baptist Church some ten years ago—it being one of the best sessions of the convention held up to that time. The only thing that kept Clarendon from getting the convention this year was the fact that no meeting of this nature had ever been held in the vicinity of Perryton. Clarendon wants the convention next year. Two cars of representatives from Clarendon are planning to attend this meeting for the value which it will be to them and to the church and to hear a personal invitation for the convention to come to Clarendon.

Wichita Falls Lawyer And Oil Relief Conference

April 2, 1931

Clarendon Leader, Clarendon, Texas. Gentlemen:

My attention has been called to an article in your paper, dated March 10, 1931, wherein you stated that I—"headed a committee to parley with Czar Mellon relative to proration, and more especially to protest against the importation of oil from South America, that is rapidly reducing the small producers of this nation, etc."

In this article I am referred to as a Czar. While I know your referring to me as a Czar was merely popular in character, still it is so far from the facts that I am sure you would not want to leave an erroneous impression. I am only a member of the Republican State Committee, one out of thirty-one, and act as Chairman of this Committee when the State Committee meets. It happens to be out of the state, and I am not a Czar in any sense of the word, and have no more authority than any other of the thirty-one members of the State Committee, and have no more authority than any of the thirty-one members of the Democratic State Committee has.

What I want to refer to, however, is your statement that I headed a committee to parley with Mr. Mellon. This is entirely incorrect. Governor Dan Moody appointed me as one of twenty-five delegates from Texas to the Governors' Oil Relief Conference held in Washington in January, and a great majority of the delegates from Texas were Democrats, and as I recall it, there were only two Republicans out of the twenty-five delegates. There were as many, if not more Democratic delegates to the Governors' Oil Relief Conference than Republicans. I did not see Mr. Mellon while I was in Washington, and did not head a Committee to parley with him, and the Governors' Relief Conference did not send any committee to talk to Mr. Mellon.

The Conference honored me by electing me Chairman of the Executive Committee in charge of the legislative program outlined by the Conference. I spent about six weeks in Washington trying to get the program through, but did not quite succeed in getting any relief. Our failure to succeed was due as much to the Democratic party as to the Republican party. We only secured the support of three Democratic Senators East of the Mississippi River, and we had better luck than the friends of the Oil Tariff Bill had last summer, because they did not get the vote of a single Democrat Senator East of the Mississippi. As a matter of fact, only five regular Democratic Senators voted for the oil tariff bill, and each of them were from oil producing states, including Texas' two Senators, while twenty-nine Republican Senators voted for the oil tariff bill. The two Louisiana Senators, and Senator Kendrick of Wyoming voted for the oil tariff bill in addition to the five regular Democrats above named. While these three Senators are nominally Democratic, yet it is well known that they always vote with the Republicans on tariff matters, so that the fact that our independent oil producers are now in the depths of despair because there was no tariff placed on oil is caused absolutely by the failure of the Democratic Senators to support the bill at the last session of Congress. The so called Democratic coalition defeated the oil tariff bill just as they defeated much other needed legislation.

I will thank you to publish this letter as a correction of the error contained in your article of March 10th.

Very truly yours,
Orville Bullington

GETTING EVEN

"You look like a fool," thundered the disgusted man to his son just returned from college. "More and more like a conceited, hair-brained, helpless fool, every year."

Just then an acquaintance of the old gentleman entered the office and saw the youth.

"Hello, Jack; back, eh?" exclaimed the visitor. "You're looking more and more like your father every year."

"Yes," said Jack; "that's what the governor's just been telling me."

Special Road Tax Legislation Now Under Way

Austin, Texas, April 4.—Described as the greatest tax relief measure ever placed before the state, the road bond issue amendment was a major issue on the legislature calendar this week as it drew nearer final action.

Passage of the amendment, unanimously endorsed by the Citizens Good Roads Committee meeting here, is the solution to a problem brought about by an excessive property tax burden, in the opinion of leaders of the movement, who are interested both in the tax angle and the creation of a complete system of state highways.

Under the plan, outstanding county bonds, the proceeds of which were used to build designated state highways would be refunded to the various counties. In this manner, approximately $85,000.00 would be lifted from the county books, with the resulting drop in taxation.

"The present economic crisis," said R. T. Stuart, chairman of the citizens committee, "demands that this amendment be passed. The people are struggling under such a tax burden that progress is stifled."

"Under this plan the counties will be paid back dollar for dollar all they have put into state highways since 1917, when the highway commission was created. The burden will thus be shifted from property to the shoulders of the man who actually uses the highways, including the tourist. The motor fuel tax provided for takes care of this."

Of the proposed $200,000,000 issue, half would be used to retire

Temple of Truth
By the Apostle

Speaking of autos, there is a big difference in where you buy it. A fellow who had bought a used car at auction was asked how he liked it after he had given it a trial. "Well, I can say this for the horse. When he has served his usefulness, you can expect him to go into leather, soap and fertilizer. But that blamed car has served its day and all I can get out of it is a kick back when I try to crank it."

An ant was gazing longingly at the dead carcass of a horse, and a bootlegger's car in passing jolted off a jug of liquor and broke it. The ant took a drink of the stuff and grabbed the horse by the tail and yelled: "Come on big boy, we're going home."

A Paris paper in detailing an auto wreck said: "The car turned over four times and the woman driver received several cuts in the crash." What part of the anatomy is the crash in East Texas?

We naturally feel sorry for that young man who lost out by telling his "sweetie" that he felt lucky that he had tried out Ethyl in his new Ford.

This is a fast age and people are becoming more helpless every day. Back in Arkansas they are trying to starve. Why, when the Apostle was a kid back there, he often woke up hungry and his paw would handed him a club and showed him a rabbit track and no one ever had any thought about starvation.

Airplanes are not any safer than autos. When a local jellybean skidded into the barbit coming down from Amarillo during the ice age last week, he limped to a phone box and called a garage. Here is the conversation: "Hello! I've turned turtle out here. Can you do anything for me right now?" The feminine voice in the office replied "You have the wrong number. What you want is the zoo."

Speaking of airplanes, some of us have flyfroid fever, influenza, aerospelas or skiatia, and the only thing that will save a fellow's life under such circumstances is a first-class parachute that never fails to open.

The College Hill widow says that ambitious wives with sorry husbands are the greatest knockers of all and that she does not mean to be a knocker in her next matrimonial venture if she can help it.

To set a good example and promote local business, the Apostle has decided to make the supreme sacrifice and spend his vacation in this country instead of Europe as he had planned. (P. S. This will also be good news to bill collectors.)

Some husbands lead a dog's life. They track mud over the rugs and lie around waiting for some one to feed them. The only time he doesn't lead a dog's life is when he snaps at his wife after she has done her dead level best to please him.

A lady wrote in and "bawled me out about an article in the paper. No such article as she mentioned appeared in the Leader and the next day I got a letter from her saying she had made a mistake and mailed her complaint to the wrong paper. Well, somebody had to be the goat.

mansion. Banging shutters and creaking doors accompanied the moaning of the wind through cracks. Suddenly a shot rang out, a scream gurgling with blood settling down until only the distant howl of coyotes could be heard. A secret door opened and from it crept an ape-like figure with red eyes and fangs of a snake. With a thud a headless body came rolling down the stairway. A skelton walked forth from the hall clock. From the basement came dismal sounds of finger nails scratching on coffins. The beams of an auto light shown suddenly through the window upon a hideous face and a blood spattered chandelier fell from the ceiling through the floor. Thank goodness, the last act in the new picture play was completed.

Oratory of Temple Houston Well Known to Many

Very few old timers of the Panhandle but who can remember the golden-tongued orator of Oklahoma, Hon. Temple Houston son of Sam Houston of early Texas history.

Below is a reprint of his appeal to a jury in defense of a woman, the effort in her behalf is said to have been typical of the big-hearted western who was always true to his client.

After listening to his impassioned plea checked only by the emotions of the speaker, the jury filed out and returned a verdict of "not guilty" on the first ballot.

"Your honor! gentlemen of the jury! You have heard with what cruelty the prosecution has referred to the sins of this woman, as if her condition was of her own preference. A dreadful—a vicious—a revolting picture has been painted for you of her life and surroundings. Tell me—tell me—do you really think that she willingly embraced a life so repellent, so horrible? No, gentlemen! A thousand times, no! This girl was bred in such luxury, such refinement, as few of us have known. And just as the young girl was budding into womanhood, cruel fate snatched all this from her, bereft her of her dear ones, took from her, one by one, with a terrible and fierce rapidity, those upon whom she had come to look for love and support. And then, in that moment of darkest terror and loneliness, came one of our sex, gentlemen. A wolf in sheep's clothing. A fiend in the guise of a human. False promises. Lie. Deceit so palpable that it would have deceived no one but a young girl as innocent, as pure, as starry eyed as was this woman you now see white and trembling before you. One of our sex was the author of her ruin, more to blame than she. What could be more pathetic than the spectacle she presents? An immortal soul in ruin. A moment ago you heard her reviled, in the lowest terms a man can employ toward a woman, for the depths to which she has sunk, for the company she keeps, for the life she leads. Yet where can she go that her sin does not pursue her? You would drive her out. But where? Gentlemen, the very promises of God are denied her. Who was it said, "Come unto me all ye that are heavy laden, and I will give you rest"? She is indeed heavy laden, this trampled flower of the South, but if at this instant she were to kneel down before us all and confess her Redeemer, where is the church that would receive her, where the community that would take her in? Our sex wrecked her once pure life. Her own sex shrinks from her as from a pestilence. Society has reared its relentless walls against her. Only in the friendly shelter of the grave can her betrayed and broken heart ever find the Redeemer's promised rest. The gentleman who so eloquently spoke before me told you of her assumed names, of her sins, of her habits. He never, for all his eloquence, told you of her sorrows her agonies, her hopes, her despair. But I could tell you. I could tell you of the desperate day—the red letter day in the banner of the great Oklahoma country—when she tried to win a home for herself where she could live in decency and quiet—When the remembered voices of father and mother and sisters and brothers fall like music on her erring ears—who shall tell what this heavy heart, sinful though it may seem to you and to me—understanding, pity, help, like music on her erring soul—oh, gentlemen—gentlemen."

Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Allen spent the week end at Wichita Falls.

CHURCHES

OUR WEEKLY CHURCH CHAT

"Truth" Lamentable indifference to the truths of religion is prevalent among professing Christians, as well as men of the world. How often do men expers themselves thus: "What a man believes doesn't count: it is what a man is!" Again we often hear it said, "It doesn't matter what church you belong to: all are bound for the same place." Such folks should logically plead for idolatry, for it "doesn't matter" so long as the worshippers are sincere.

Our Lord shows that it does matter, and that indifference to revealed truth is sinful, for all could know the truth if they sought for it.

Jesus said: "To this end have I been born, and to this end am I come into the world, that I should bear witness unto the truth. Every one that is of truth, heareth my voice," (John 18:37). "When he, the Spirit of truth is come, he shall guide you in all truth" (John 16:13). "If ye abide in my word, then are ye truly my disciples: and ye shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free," (John 8:31,32). "Sanctify them in truth, thy word is truth."

There is no nobler pursuits than that of truth. Our Lord shows that it is worth searching for and maintaining.

To speak the "truth in love" is the best means in striving to win the world to Christ. Truth and love should go hand in hand as the two most powerful agencies for good. The one is useless without the other. The best way to oppose error is to lovingly and simply speak the truth. It will do the work.

In the days of long ago, there was a kink that wanted a prophet that would propcey good for him when he knew he was violating God's laws. This event from the life of a king will furnish the background for our Sunday morning sermon, "Wanted—A Liar." The plan of salvation is often presented under the figure of a great harbor. Outside the winds are heaving and the sea tossing and rolling, inside the harbor the waters are calm and peaceful and the wind soft and gentle. But there is a great danger and our evening subject will deal with this problem, under the title of "The Danger of Drifting." Try to be with us at both services.

A nutritious ration is absolutely necessary for the health and strong development of your baby chicks. MERIT STARTING MASH is pulverized and mixed to give the exact proportions of food elements - oat groats, dried buttermilk, cod liver oil, charcoal, alfalfa leaf meal, and every other essential ingredient.

Loss during the first few days of life is often very great because of improper feeding. MERIT STARTING MASH reduces this to a minimum. Once you have your chicks well started, MERIT GROWING MASH will maintain that steady, profitable growth that prepares them for early market or quick production.

gooseberries will be given a trial. Each variety is known to be producing here, the currant being a native to this section.

Foultry is one of the prime local sources of income in that section and rapidly coming to the front as one of the leading money crops. The club ladies report the hatch of 523 chicks for the month which would indicate that the poultry crop will be larger than last season.

Quilting may be a lost art in some sections, but 17 were quilted in that community over the month. Twelve garments were renovated showing the practical instruction received through C. H. D. club work. Four rugs were made during the same period.

Yard improvement is receiving a share of attention, some 18 shade trees being planted out. Ladies from that section take an active interest in the flower exchanges and actively cooperate for better flower gardens.

The illness of Grandpa Payne led to his death. He was called away early Monday morning. Grandpa had been a resident of this community for the past five years. CHAMBERLAIN SCHOOL NEWS

Representatives of the Chamberlain school emerged from the track meet all covered in glory, having won fifteen medals for their excellent fetes in the athletic meet.

Each boy and girl is thrilled because so large a number of the trophies came our way and especially are we proud of our junior arithmetic team who won the loving cup. This team not only was in competition with the rural schools of the county but Clarendon, Lelia Lake and Hedley figured in this contest. Rah rah rah, Kiddies you are great.

Owen Hott received eighteen out of twenty votes cast in Saturday's Trustee Election, when one member of the board was to be chosen. Mr. Jacobs received twenty votes for county board member for Precinct Two, and Mr. Burton captured one hundred percent of the votes cast for chairman of the County Board.

WE THANK YOU

We take this method of thanking the Chamber of Commerce for their generosity in not only making it possible for the large gathering to witness all events of the track meet free, but for so liberally furnishing the medals for the boys and girls who excelled at this meet. Some one has said to reach a man's heart you must first touch his purse, if that be true we know the more than two hundred dollars contributed by your organization for this worthy cause speak in audible tones and tell us your heart is with the youth of your country.

Each boy and girl of the Chamberlain community join me in thanking you for the trophy contributed to them and assuring you that they shall retain them as a valued treasure, and shall ever cherish the memory of you gentlemen as a friend of the youth who is working to succeed.

Sincerely yours,
Jimmie Millsap,

Historical Society in Meeting At Canyon Friday

Canyon, April 4.—The Panhandle-Plains Historical Society, which will hold its annual meeting at the headquarters here on April 10, has been in existence since 1921, when, through the efforts of Miss Hattie M. Anderson of the history department of the West Texas State Teachers' College, the first organization was begun to save and interpret the life of a great section of Texas.

The society began with 40 charter members, Miss Anderson demonstrating her faith in the young society by paying the first life membership fee of $25. Since that small beginning nearly 600 persons have been members of the society, and twice that number have shown their interest in it by gifts of relics, photographs, mounted specimens or other museum material.

At present there are 90 life members. Among the first of these was Mrs. Olive K. Dixon, widow of Billy Dixon, scout of Adobe Walls fame. Another early life member was Thomas F. Turner, Panhandle lawyer, who became the first president of the society and served it for four years. Judge O. H. Nelson, late of Romero, the man who brought the first pure bred Herefords to the Panhandle ranches, was another early life member, and he became the second president. T. D. Hobart, who has just retired from the presidency of the Southwestern Cattle Raisers' Association, is a life member, and is the present president, there having been only three to hold this office.

Through the careful work of Miss Anderson during the first years of the society's life, followed by the field work of J. Evetts Haley, and the building promotion of Prof. L. F. Sheffy of the history department of the Canyon College, the society has grown in prestige and in its wealth of materials until it has taken a definite and valuable place in the cultural life of the country.

Its museum is said to contain more material and a greater variety of articles than any other in Texas. Although difficult of access and inadequately housed, the museum was visited during the past 11 months by 2,784 persons, who came not only from all parts of Texas, but from 19 other States ranging from Atlantic to Pacific and from one foreign country. Marion Bailey found interesting ballad material here. Ex-Governor Pat Neff found the place one in which to extend his acquaintance with a State he knows so well, and hundreds of people from every walk of life have widened their horizons and renewed the faith and knowledge of Texas through seeing such objects as the perfect miniature chuck wagon outfit, made by the men of the J. A. Ranca, the dining table around which guests gathered through many years in the home of Col. and Mrs. Charles Goodnight, the great buffalo head or the eight-foot long horns, once typical of outdoor Texas.

In 1923 the annual meeting of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society was attended by 43 persons, and the officers were delighted that so many were interested. In 1930, 208 sat at the annual dinner and half as many more had been present at the business sessions during the day.

Mrs. Bridges is Honored by Neighbors

A large number of neighbor friends of Mrs. W. C. Bridges of Hedley honored her Thursday with a birthday dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Hobart opens the annual session, it is expected that the attendance will be larger than ever before. This amazing growth has justified the vision caught by Miss Anderson and the splendid co-operation of hundreds of people who can not be named, but who have appreciated and are now working to develop the cultural resources of this region which was so recently frontier, and is so rapidly becoming agricultural and industrialized.
