GREEK AND GREASE.

The latest fanatic to break out is a Greek who proposes to make the journey from Cuba to Spain in a one foot boat. There will likely be grease upon the water before Spain is hailed.

THE REASON.

There is too many men out of a job which accounts for so much unemployment. Dozens of great financiers and even Uncle Herbie has been wondering what it is all about so we pass the information out without charge. How's that for service?

SELF PROTECTION.

"It's just going to be too dang- ed bad for the next guy that bumps into me" said a bewhisked old man recently. He was carrying a stick of dynamite in each hip pocket. If any one does hit him before he is locked up, they will likely pick up their radiator cap in bloody hunks.

When it gets to the point where a man is willing to make the supreme sacrifice in order to get his rights, we need some stringent laws rigidly enforced.

FAGING MOODY.

Governor Moody advocates releasing Raskob from Democratic party leadership if by any means he can be kicked out. The Governor evidently understands that Raskob had quite a bit to do with Texas going Republican the first time in history.

Since Raskob strayed from the folds of the Republican party and almost wrecked the Democratic party, we are passing this along that Moody may be given credit for having the courage to attack one of the big boys.

HOT SPRINGS.

While the hot springs, of Hot Springs, New Mexico are not a cure-all, some wonderful cures have been affected by the curative values of the waters. The federal government is to erect a hundred thousand dollar bath house to be operated under government control for the benefit of the public.

With the establishment of Palo Duro park, visitors may see the beauty spot of the state, visit Carlsbad Cavern and leave their rheumatism at Hot Springs all on one trip. Then too, Hot Springs is not too far from Grand Canyon to permit of a side trip over there. More scenic and tourist benefits in the Southwest is all the more reason why we should have a state park at our door.

GIVING SERVICE.

While the power was coming over the line by spurts and jerks Tuesday, we felt disposed to kick because the job of getting out the Leader was up to the big press and she refused to budge without power.

Finally the power went off altogether for some ten minutes. It looked like a tieup sure enough. Later we found out that a cyclone was in operation near Childress but even at that, our service has been so nearly perfect that we can hardly expect interruption from cyclones or earthquakes. To re-build the damage and get the "juice" over the line again within a few minutes is a feat of which any company should be proud.

CANADA AND PROHIBITION.

E. C. Drury, former premier of Ontario is authority for the statement that: "Whatever the solution of the drink problem may be, it is not government control." Those favoring a curtailment of liquor sales, have been watching the results of Canada's experiment for some time and have arrived at the conclusion that some other remedy must be found other than so-called government control as Canada has produced a bootlegging situation almost equal to the United States.

Since the Anglo-Saxon temperament will not approve of an encroachment into private affairs as is necessary under the present attempt at regulating in either nation, the present plan of educating the younger generation against the evil as is evident from the lecture delivered here Wednesday night by Mr. Upshaw, will likely prove to be the better plan.

Locally, poison liquor has done more to prohibit liquor consumption in the Panhandle than all other agencies combined since prohibition was first mentioned.

ARISTOCRATS.

Now comes the announcement that Mr. and Mrs. R. B. (Bob) Haynes, Manufacturers of the Miami, Texas Chief, are to take an extended visit with relatives in Missouri and Illinois, etc.

Pleasant trip, folks. You get out one of the very best weeklies in the state and deserve a vacation. Don't forget the pawpaws and May apples Bob. And since you have been away from that section for years let us remind you that the old bacon rind is still the best remedy for chiggers and ticks.

In the land of ham and huckleberries. Fish in every creek and mosquitoes by the million on the banks; where the tourists have resorts and the natives wear groundhog hide suspenders; highways and Hillbillies; no money but lots of moonshine and you can trade a jitney tube for a tub full; up in the Ozarks where the native fiddles and chews "old hillside" of his own raising.

Back to the land of boyhood dreams of flowers and fancy, puncheon floors and barefoot gals. Bob Haynes is driving back to the old home in a dandy good car to look over the little burg where three natives years ago had to blindfold him to get him on the train when he left. Again we say, bon voyage, and may no car troubles attend you on the way.

CRIMES AND DEADBEATS.

Clarendon has barred carnivals. If a carnival is any more noisy than a skating rink we have failed to find it out. Several fights occurred at the skating rink and it was on many occasions the gathering place for "rough-necks."

People—citizen taxpayers—residing near the rink location were kept awake nights while the ballyhoo went on. These citizens are entitled to protection from a noise nuisance.

Tent shows within themselves are not so bad except that they take the money out of the country at a time when it is needed most at home. The worst feature in connection with a tent show is the fact that a few days preceding the "wondrous exhibition", agents, peddlers, beggars and "skinners" of many kinds arrive and harass the public.

The last tent show was here for one night only. We do not charge that the management had any connection whatever with the gang of petty thieves operating that night, but we do claim that the tent show afforded an opportunity for this gang to rob cars of their contents and to strip the cars of glass wings, casings, spare wheels and anything else that could be taken off the car with a wrench.

Clarendon should bar all these nuisances from the city limits for more reasons than one. If they see fit to operate on the outside, the sheriff's force will see that the public gets a square deal as they did when the carnival operated near the stock pens some time ago. Dozens of citizens are protesting. It is up to the City Dads to get busy and pass an ordinance before the next calamity arrives.

Uvalde Leader-News Man Makes Comment

"A widow attempts to attack killer," says a San Antonio newspaper. "He shot my husband down like a dog and they give him two years she moaned. The defendant claimed temporary insanity produced by the drinking of whiskey and smoking marihuana. He said it all seemed like a dream to him and he had never seen the dead man before. So it goes. If the jury had given him "life" his case would have been reversed because the indictment could show no malice aforethought. All a killer has to do is to drink a little bootleg or smoke some weed and claim insanity, and the wheels of justice proceed to slip a cog or two and another murderer is turned loose. In the same issue the following appeared on the front page as a news item:

"Word was received here Tuesday that the indictment found in Bandera County against District Judge L. J. Brucks, charging him with driving an auto while intoxicated, had been quashed and dismissed. Judge Joseph Jones of Del Rio was appointed to hear the charge and he sustained the motion of the defendant's attorney we understand.

MATRIMONIAL BUREAUS

Dear Tack: I want to get married now. I want to know if there is such a thing as matrimonial insurance, if so give me the full instructions how to get in touch with same and obldge.

JOE SIDWELL, Miami, Texas.

(There is matrimonial insurance but my advice to you is for you to leave it alone. Its a new form of separating fools from their money. You will be broke quick enough after you have been married awhile without hastening it by taking out matrimonial insurance. Most of these so-called matrimonial insurance companies will be busted within a few weeks or months. E. R. T.)—Amarillo News.

Local Man Owns Freak Shooting Iron

The old cap and ball was some "shootin' iron" is we are to believe anything what we hear, but Rev. W. E. Ferrell carries a weapon that is a sure enough shootin' iron in the form of a double barrel shotgun with a length over all of 10 inches and a barrel length of 5 inches. The gun is manufactured in Spain.

He gets the game with practically no kick. Shells of ordinary .410 fit this gun and the preacher gets his rabbit if he risks less than a hundred feet.

Tax Payer or Tax Burden

Out of every dollar taken in for service during 1929, the utilities companies of the United States paid approximately 10 cents for local, state and federal taxes.

The utility company pays taxes on its physical properties, it pays taxes on its revenue and the right to do business. It is required to bear a very heavy burden of the cost of government in every community.

The West Texas Utilities Company is listed among the heaviest taxpayers in every city, town and community in which it operates. It is one of the largest contributors to civic progress.

Asking Favors---

Mr. A lives on a farm but buys his meat, grease, butter, butter and canned goods. He has "no time" to fool with such "trifles" hence buys them in town. Cows kept him too close at home and chickens were simply a nuisance.

Mr. B keeps cows, sells cream and butter. His chickens are more than a side line. He sells truck from his garden and raises his meat and grease. His wife cans a big variety of vegetables and fruits.

Which of these two men do you think is compelled to ask the most favors. Which one would you consider the better financial risk.

Farmers State Bank

It was the last bit of advice a prominent retiring merchant gave to his son and successor, and it guided a sound business enterprise safely through the rough channels of trade.

"Under no circumstances," counselled the merchant, "neglect the protection which sound stock insurance affords. Keep it broad—adequate! It strengthens business credit, invites public confidence, stimulates patronage and encourages consistent progress."

Let us help you review your needs and give you sound, dependable protection.

CHEVROLET SIX

wins sensational ECONOMY TEST

averaging better than 20 miles per gallon in 200-mile run under observation of A.A.A.

Again, the new Chevrolet—A SIX—has proved itself as economical to run as any car you can buy.

In a recent 200-mile economy test, held under the observation of the American Automobile Association a 1930 Chevrolet six-cylinder Coach won first place. It averaged better than 20 miles to the gallon of gasoline! At the finish, the oil level in the crankcase was the same as at the start!

And the conditions under which the victory was won make Chevrolet's record even more amazing!

Remarkable Economy!

The 200-mile course followed a winding route, rising from sea level to an elevation of 6000 feet. Crowded city traffic, steep mountain grades, soft sandy stretches—road conditions that usually require more-than-average fuel consumption—all were encountered in the run. And the victorious Chevrolet not only took first place in its class, but won the sweepstakes for all classes as well!

A Six is Dependable!

But, as every Chevrolet owner knows, fuel mileage is only one phase of Chevrolet's sensational all-round economy. The smooth, easy power-flow of its six-cylinder motor saves the entire car from the wear-and-tear of constant vibration, prolongs its life and holds upkeep expense to a minimum. Many new factors of strength, stamina and reliability further contribute to low maintenance costs. And Chevrolet flat-rate service provides the lowest charges in the industry for many service operations.

Everything Favors a Six!

Before selecting any low-priced car—consider these all-important facts: A Six is smoother, quieter and more comfortable. A Six is more flexible in traffic, and requires less shifting of gears. A Six stays young longer, assuring extra thousands of miles of fine, dependable performance. And a Chevrolet Six, as every test and trial proves, is just as economical to operate and maintain as any car on the market.

Come in and see this Economy Champion—today! Know for yourself why it's wise to choose a Six.

A Father's Confession

Son, I came up to square myself and as you lie there asleep with your little hand thrust under your head and your freckled face turned toward me, I am saying this to you. I came up here to your bedroom alone—there are times it is better to have no one see you. Just a few minutes ago as I sat reading my paper, something happened. A feeling of hot remorse swept over me. I could not resist it. Guiltily, I came to your bedside.

I was thinking, son, I had been cross to you. All day I have scolded you—not only today but every day. This morning I scolded because you got in my way while I was dressing; I took you to task for scattering your clothes about. I spoke angrily when you did not hurry. At breakfast you buttered your bread too thickly. You smeared jelly on your face, and I told you not to gulp your food. When I left the house you waved at me and I told you not to be late for school.

This evening I started all over again. You made too much noise and I told you to sit down and keep quiet. In a little while you were annoying your sister and I threatened to spank you. Then, this afternoon while you were playing in the water I made you come into the house. I humiliated you before your friends by making you leave them while they played on.

Remember, this evening when I was reading a book and you came up quietly and looked over my shoulder and I made you get away. When you turned away you hesitated and rushed back, threw your arms around my neck and kissed me again and again. Your little arms tightened around me with an affection that God had set blooming in your heart and which even neglect could not wither. Then, as quickly, you rushed away and stumbled upstairs to bed.

This started me thinking, son. My book slipped from my hand. A heavy feeling came over me. I had an insight into the smallness of my appreciation of you. My selfishness made me sick at heart.

Habit had fastened on me its way of finding fault, complaining and taking you to task—all these were my rewards to you for being a boy instead of a man. Not that I didn't love you, son. God knows, I do. It was that I expected you to be a man—imagine that, son. You, to be a man!

You were so lovable; there was, son, much that was fine, good and true in you. You did not deserve my treatment, and you were too big to let it affect you. Your little heart was as big as the great outdoors. All this came over me when you impulsively rushed in and kissed me good night.

Nothing else matters tonight, son. I have come to your bedside and knelt here, ashamed!

This confession is a feeble atonement. I know that you would not understand these things, if I told you while you are awake.

Tomorrow will be different! I will chum with you, and suffer when you suffer, and laugh when you laugh. I shall bite my tongue when impatient words come.

From now on, I'm going to be a real daddy to you!—The Pennsylvania-Ohio Electric News.

BUTTER HAS NO SUBSTITUTE Copra, Coconut Oil and Oleomargarine

It is really the poor man's butter or the rich man's graft? "Now what is Oleomargarine? How is it made? Does any man want to feed his children on it? Let us see?"

Oleomargarines are made from skimmed milk, coconut oil or tallow, and salt. The main ingredient is skimmed milk, which has no fat or life-sustaining substances.

Now let us look into the ingredients.

"Nerve's"

Do they harass you by day and keep you awake at night?

Don't neglect them. They'll ruin your charm and beauty, alienate your friends, interfere with your business and social success.

When you're nervous, take Dr. Miles' Nerve's. It's the prescription of a successful Nerve Specialist put up in convenient form especially for people in your condition.

Many margarines are advertised as the "White Meat of the Coconut." Coconut oil such as used in American oleo is made from Copra. Copra is dried coconut meat, but let us see the condition of this stuff before it is refined.

Copra comes from the Philippine Islands. The cocoanuts fall from the trees, are broken open and the meat dried in heaps under the tropical suns. This is called Copra.

When dry, Copra looks and smells something like stable manure, or worse. When the stuff is ready for shipments, swarms of half-naked Malays load it on ships, tramping it in the holds of the vessels with bare feet. An army of naked Malays sweating under tropical heat, tramping Copra that is going to be made into the poor man's butter. Think of it!

When Copra arrives at American oil mills, it is run out of the ships with conveyors. Generally it is piled up in the open air where it attracts millions of flies and looks exactly like piles of stable manure and smells a darn sight worse.

This compost is then ground and pressed between steam heated rollers. The raw oil is the most rancid and evil-smelling thing in the world. Until recently it was used exclusively for soap grease.

Scientists discovered ways of refining it. The process is simple. First, the oil is heated to a very high degree. It is then placed in vats and large quantities of sodium injected. The rancidity attacks the sodium and is eaten away. The oil is then treated with ether, which process solidifies the oil.

And this is the stuff they advertise as the "White Meat of the Coconut."

Here is a recipe for making 1,000 pounds of Oleo: 700 pounds of coconut oil at 6½ cents, $45.50; 30 gallons of skimmed milk, $1.50; 51 pounds of salt, $1.00; total $48.00.

CAPITAL WEEKLY PRESS
Vann M. Kennedy

It is not reform that the State government needs. The present form of government is not working at anything approaching a reasonable efficiency. But your correspondent may have pointed this out before.

State Auditor and Efficiency Expert Moore Lynn illustrates the idea. He points out that there are 92 tax collectors who have failed to remit any depository interest for the past year and many years before. The State loses about $25,000 thereby. Depository interest collected from diligent officials during the last six years amounted to $327,376.62.

"The law requires that tax funds collected by county tax collectors be placed in banks on interest pending transfers to the county treasurers and the state treasurer respectively," says Lynn. "The State is to receive its proportionate share of the interest."

If you are interested in seeing what your Legislature did in its last two sessions, mail 40 cents to the Secretary of State for a copy of the general laws of the Fourth and Fifth called sessions of the 41st Legislature.

This week we were presented with the spectacle of Governor Moody waving the cudgel in one hand and flourishing the olive branch in the other. In the same statement pleading for peace in the ranks of the Democratic party, he makes a bitter attack on John J. Raskob, chairman of the National Democratic Executive Committee.

Nevertheless, the Chief Executive hits the nail on the head with the comment that, "There are important economic questions which vitally affect Texas. The vigorous enforcement of the laws is important. When barefooted women are selling newspapers on the streets, and hungry children are begging for bread, I am convinced that we need to bring to the consideration of our economic problems the united thought of those interested in the welfare of our State and in clean, moral and wholesome government."

Largest Grain Elevator;
Of interest to farmers is the news that largest grain elevator in the United States is nearing completion in Galveston. The elevator, being constructed by the Galveston Wharf Co., will have the height of an 18 story building. Its storage capacity will be 6,000,000 bushels.

That news of this great project may be broadcast, Galveston civic leaders and F. W. Parker, Manager of the Galveston Wharf Co., have arranged a junket trip of inspection for Capitol correspondents.

The erection of the elevator means the opening of new markets for Texas grain.

OUR WEEKLY CHURCH CHAT

"The Restoration Movement and the Church"

It has always been necessary to stress the fundamentals of the Christian Religion. There seems to be times when it is necessary to lay special emphasis upon the virtues of God. The world is passing through such a period at the present time. The word of God needs no defense, but the weak faith of many Christians needs strengthening. In a few weeks the Church will be celebrating her nineteenth hundredth anniversary. Our minds are carried back to the Birthday of the Church and the teaching of the first century. The Bible gives a complete history of the Church. It gives a record of the prophecies and promises concerning the beginning of this organization. This Church with its simple organization, sublime creed, divine name, and Christ-given ordinances, conquered the Roman Empire, which ruled over the civilized world. If this church had remained true to the New Testament plan, it would have succeeded in evangelizing the world long ago; but the divine plan was gradually abandoned, and the church went through what is known as the "Dark Ages." Today thousands of men and women are pleading for the Restoration of the New Testament Church. They stand for a complete restoration of the authority of the Bible as the word of God, they plead for complete restoration of the authority of Christ, the restoration of the name organization, ordinances and purpose of the New Testament Church. They plead for Christian Unity and the restoration of the mission of the Church, which was to evangelize the world. They need you.

Next Sunday the morning subject will be, "The Lord's Jewels" and the children of the Bible school will sing special songs. The evening subject will be "Rebuilding Jerusalem", in this message we will deal with the problem of the Restoration movement and the work of the Church today. Come study this question with us.

W. E. Ferrell, Minister, First Christian Church, Clarendon, Tex.

Editor and Wife Picnics With Chamberlain Folks

Thursday afternoon the editor and his wife visited the Chamberlain school arriving there about two o'clock. This is one of the very best schools in the Panhandle with Jimmy Millsap as principal and Miss Maude Crawford and Miss Bettie Baker as assistants.

We visited these good friends by special invitation and the writer spoke to the pupils and several patrons present. There never was a more courteous crowd of all ages and when the last word was said the speaker was surprised to learn that he had consumed one hour and fifty-five minutes.

As a mark of appreciation, and in behalf of our good friends and pupils, Miss Louise Hughes with appropriate remarks, presented the writer with a bouquet of carnations and ferns. That got close to home folks and the writer was too full for words and only with difficulty voiced his appreciation of this beautiful gift backed up by the sincerity of some of the best friends a man ever had. Jimmy Millsap didn't help keep our tears back either when he said "Mr. Estlack, we want you to have the flowers now rather than give them to you when it's too late."

The behavior of those boys and girls spoke volumes for the training given them at home by their parents and by their teachers at school. Not a Smart Alec in the bunch. Just plain every day sensible youngsters who are going to take up our duties in a few years and beat us ten to one.

After shaking hands with all the boys and girls the crowd was rounded up, going in a body to the Word ranch headquarters where all the folks had a good old-fashioned visit until late in the evening.

Neither was that all. The good women had prepared all varieties of the best things that are good to eat and placed it on a long table and the folks just led us right up and piled it on our plate. The coffee committee had prepared camp coffee and plenty of it and words can never do justice in telling how we appreciated all the kindness shown us.

Chamberlain has a wonderful reputation for team work. They have a dandy good school, a fine union Sunday school and many forms of entertainment. It takes good citizens and lots of them to make conditions such as we found out there. We're going back because they asked us to, and we

"I find the English language bankrupt," he continued, "as I draw a sight-draft for an expression to convey my pulverizing contempt for a man who, because of bootleg dollars in his pocket, a bootleg appetite under his belt, or a bootleg vote in his ballot box, seeks to pour rotten liquor upon the flag which our children are taught, and wish, to regard as the most beautiful, and the cleanest flag on earth. A man who puts his appetite above the constitution will, nine times out of 10, defend the bootlegger who is the enemy of both your home and your constitution. For that reason, no liquor drinking man should be elected to any public office."

Referring to his own designation by politicians as "driest of the dries" Mr. Uphaw declared that there can be no comparative and superlative degrees in the present quality of "dryness."

Urges Education

"Either you are dry, or you are not," he exclaimed. "Some call me extreme, telling me they approve of prohibition, but 'don't want to be extreme.' In this case there is no such thing as an extreme view. Who of you would deposit your money with a banker who was not 'extremely honest?' How long would a teller hold his job in your bank if he said he approved of honesty, but did not want to be 'extreme' in that quality? Is it sufficient for you to say to your wife, to your community, to your government, that you believe in being reasonably decent and clean?"

Citing the expenditure of $1,600,000,000 in the past 10 years by the United States government in teaching better methods of producing better farm crops against the expenditure of $50,000 for education in support of prohibition, the speaker urged the necessity of teaching the young people of the country to practice prohibition as a result of their own moral and intellectual equipment. Children in the public schools are being pointed, Mr. Uphaw said, to the following recent declaration of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh: "I am thankful that among the thousands of gifts which have been showered upon me during the past three years, no one has presented me with a hip-flask or a cocktail shaker." The intensive education of children now being pressed by the Anti-Saloon league and allied agencies should have been started 12 years ago, he said.

The speaker was introduced by Rev. Sam E. Allison, pastor of the church. Rev. Allison announced that he also came from Georgia as well as the speaker, and that "all Georgians were great men."

Phillips Station Celebrates Opening Day Saturday

The opening of the new Phillips 66 station here Saturday established a precedent in filling station history in Clarendon. During the day 3400 gallons of gasoline was sold and 505 cars serviced. Clarendon was selected as the location for the model station of the district, and opening day approved their judgment.

The attractiveness of the station, quality of the products, local standing of Mr. Henry D. Tomb, the local distributor, backed by liberal advertising put the new station before the public properly, calling their attention to a worthwhile public necessity.

The Phillips Petroleum company has forged ahead in the general field because of a liberal advertising policy. This is a valuable lesson to the average merchant—tell them what you have and where it may be found.
