Farmers Meet Henry Wischkaemper Here Saturday

Round Table Discussion Of Co-Op Cotton Marketing Is Discussed

What was intended to be a public talk was turned into a question and answer forum or round table discussion Saturday afternoon when a number of farmers met with Mr. Wischkaemper, field man for the Association, at the Court-house.

John T. Sims took the lead in a discussion that lasted for over two hours bringing out a fund of information that has been desired by a number of Donley county cotton producers.

Several of those present were members of the Association and plied the visitor with questions relative to the marketing of their cotton now on hand.

S. T. Merritt, local agent for the Association was present as well as Otto Buerger of Wellington who was here at the first meeting. What this meeting lacked in numbers was made up for in interest.

Vester Smith of the Smith Bros. gin company was present and stated that he was a member and lent encouragement to the plan that is backed by the federal government.

Further effort is to be made to interest other growers in the plan that enough cotton be pooled to secure the establishment of a local branch office where cotton may be classed right here at home.

Dozier Shoots Peculiar Banded Bird

During the early summer chicken hawks were a constant menace to the poultry at the home of Chas Dozier residing seven miles south of Clarendon. At the same time two birds resembling a pigeon somewhat except that they were gray-white and larger with short feathers around the eyes somewhat like our native monkey-faced owls, had taken up the Dozier home.

In shooting hawks, Mr. Dozier killed one of the birds by mistake. A band was found on each leg of the curious bird. One band is of aluminum bearing the following characters: 2301-AU-28-V. The other band was engraved with the figures "5368" and was a plain brass or copper band.

Mr. Dozier states that the remaining bird left within a week and while he regrets his error in shooting the bird, he would like to know where it came from. No other birds of this variety have ever been seen in this section so far as can be learned.

Misses Lois Cox and Bernice Lafon visited the fair at Amarillo Wednesday.

Donley County Will Have Exhibit At State Fair

Will Join All Panhandle Counties Advertising Farm Resources

Due to the fact that West Texas has received some damaging publicity relative to stories appearing in the daily press to the effect that our section is experiencing a crop failure on account of dry weather this season, Donley County will offer proof to the contrary at the State Fair at Dallas next month.

This matter was brought before the Board of the Chamber of Commerce at a special meeting held here Friday, at which time it was agreed that such an exhibit should be made. While this county only won tenth place at the Amarillo fair last week, it is believed that a better showing can be made at Dallas by making use of some of the knowledge gained at Amarillo.

The exhibit will be placed by County Agent T. R. Broun and G. L. Boykin secretary of the Chamber of Commerce. Those having extra good agricultural specimens should communicate with either of these gentlemen at once.

Fifty-Year Couple List Continues to Grow

Could our readers look over the list, there would be a great surprise to learn the number of folks in Donley county who have actually been married more than fifty years.

These good people started out back in the days when they married "for better or for worse" and stuck to their obligations and sweetened with age. The list this week is headed with names of a highly respected couple of Hedley. Mr. and Mrs. Ben Harris of Hedley were married in Lea county Mississippi October 17, 1870 and have been fighting life's battles together almost sixty years.

The names of this venerable couple was handed us by our good friend J. R. Boston of Hedley Saturday. Who can beat that record? Bring or send the names to the Leader if you know of a Donley couple that can beat that record.

Remember the winning couple gets the Leader a year free of cost and we will print a picture of the couple in the Leader without any charge and will be glad to show them the courtesy.

Confederate Veterans Hold Meeting Here Saturday

Only three ex-Confederates attended a call meeting held at the Kerbow hardware here Saturday, these being Col. R. S. Kimberlin, T. J. Roberts and J. M. Dickson. Two others living here were unable to be present due to illness.

The meeting was called to vote upon the proposition to discontinue sending dues to the national organization, which carried by unanimous consent. This action was taken in California recently according to Col. Kimberlin.

Col. Kimberlin joined the Confederate army at Blue Springs, Missouri on May 8, 1861 in company with 136 others. He served more than four years in the army and was one of 82 of the original command to return home, and is today at the age of 87, the only living member of that body of soldiers who fought valiantly for the lost cause.

Home Demonstration Club Will Meet Friday

The Clarendon Home Demonstration Club will meet Friday afternoon of this week in the home of Mrs. O. D. Liesberg.

All members are urged to be present as this is the first meeting of the club since the new County Demonstrator arrived and it is desired that all members meet her and get acquainted.

Estelline Cubs Will Play Bronchos Here On Friday

Local Football Squad Has Won Three Victories And One Forfeited Game

As predicted by the press some weeks previous we have a championship high school team this season. The locals felt the first tinge of a hard season Friday when they were held to a 12 to 0 victory over the Price Memorial Cardinals of Amarillo. As yet the boys have not met any team near their equal in playing ability. In next Friday's game with the Estelline Cubs the Bronchos will have their first conference game with a team contending for high honors in this district. Last year the game with Estelline was battled to a 0 to 0 score on the Cub's field. This year it will be played on the local gridiron and a different story from last year. The boys are all in high spirits over the prospects of taking the visitor's hides into camp in great style. Estelline is no doubt the underdogs in this fray, but the game is not won until the last whistle is blown and the Bronchos have the larger score.

We are proud of the showing that the local boys are making both in score and in sportsmanship. We have a fine team and a winning team, but they need our support at every game. Let's do our part! Be out Friday boosting for the Bronchos.

Many Visitors Attend Rotary Club Luncheon Friday

Fred W. Rathjen Confines His Address to International Relations

One of the most interesting meetings of the local Rotary club was that of Friday from the time President B. L. Jenkins tapped the bell until the closing.

Immediately after the lunch period, the Club was favored with two piano selections by Miss Grace Sample, teacher of piano and one of the gifted artists of the city.

Mr. A. W. Simpson present as the guest of President Jenkins paid the Club his compliments in a short talk as did Rotarians Rufus Green, Jeff Bailey, Carl Throop, Wiley Orr, all of the Memphis club.

Rotarian Green stated in his remarks that he tired of looking at the faces of his fellow members of Memphis and had come up here to escape them only to be confronted by three of the same old bunch.

Rotarian Wiley Orr returned the compliments and stated that he felt that he had a prior right to visit Clarendon basing this right upon early discovery having served his apprenticeship in the photographer's art here many years ago.

Secretary C. C. Powell brought as his guest Mr. Quillen, a traveling insurance man who claimed to get all his knowledge from the papers a la Will Rodgers and had not read the papers that day consequently could not make a speech.

The regular program was in charge of Rotarian J. W. Evans as chairman of the International Relations committee.

The principal address was made by Fred W. Rathjen, president of the Lion's club, who was present as the guest of Rotarian Evans.

Mr. Rathjen is rapidly coming into prominence as an after dinner speaker and proved no disappointment to his hearers on this occasion. "The nations of the world should regard themselves as one great community" said the speaker as he pointed out the political relations of the great nations whose inhabitants are beset in many instances with intrigue on the part of their leaders who are blinded to right by greed.

The speaker stated that the press of the nations could do much to foster a better feeling, and that they and leaders should be honest and truthful with their constituents. In tracing history of some of the nations before and after the great war it was plainly evident that Mr. Rathjen is a diligent student of economics, a consistent reader and a thoughtful student weighing the subject matter carefully before arriving at conclusions.

The song service was in charge of Rotarian Robt. S. Cope with Rotary Ann Rhoads Wiedman at the piano. Adjournment was had by singing America, the closing song.

Bronco-Cardinal Game Friday Proved Great Surprise

Big Crowd Sees Amarillo Cardinals Defeated In Fast Game Friday

The Clarendon Bronchos defeated the Price Memorial College of Amarillo here Friday afternoon, 12 to 0, in a tight and hard fought tussle, with the Bronchos but very little their superior. The Bronchos displayed just as much power and brilliance as in their two previous engagements, but their foe this time was much tougher and faster.

It was the best game to be played so far this season and the boys found it to be the toughest. Both teams made sensational plays, but repeated fumbles on both sides prevented either side from becoming dangerous.

Captain Nichols of the Bronchos and Captain McAllen of the visitors, were the outstanding players for the afternoon. Both of these men thrilled the side lines several times. McAllen is a broken field runner while Nichols is mostly a line plunger, tho he is surprisingly swift in broken field running.

Clarendon's first touchdown came during the second quarter after the Bronchos had unleashed several speedy line plunges. Using one of their best aerial plays, Nichols hurled a fast one to Behrens who easily stepped over the goal line for the first touchdown. The half ended 6-0 in Clarendon's favor.

The whistle at the end of the third quarter found both teams fighting desperately with Bronchos threatening their opponent's goal line. The last quarter opened with the Bronchos fighting hard. The Bronchos began a series of line plunges and with the hefty plunges of Captain Nichols, the ball was soon in scoring distance of the visitor's goal line. One of their trick plays, Bourland quarterback, dashed unopposed across the goal line for Clarendon's second touchdown. The whistle for the final period found both teams fighting with an aerial attack which they knew was their only hope to net more points while only a few seconds lasted. The game ended, Clarendon 12, Price Memorial, 0.

Presbyterian Church Will Observe Rally Day

Next Sunday will be observed by the members of the local Presbyterian church as "Rally Day" in all departments.

During the Sunday school hour, a pageant, the title of which is "Reach Them—Teach Them", will be staged for the purpose of teaching the younger the value of religious education.

The pastor, Rev. Robt. S. McKee, will choose as the subject of his morning sermon, "Anchor Your Loyalty". There will be special music arranged by the choir of which Robt. S. Cope is director.

Many Subjects Discussed By Lions During Luncheon

Preparations to Celebrate Eighth Anniversary Will Begin Soon

The celebration of the eighth anniversary since the organization of the local Lions club will take place October 28th. This matter was called to the attention of the members at the Tuesday luncheon and plans begun for a special program.

It was also noted that the Club would present a program for the Amarillo Lions club the first Tuesday in next month.

Lions Rathjen and Murrell reported their attendance on the zone meet at Childress and stated that all the clubs of the district were represented with the exception of two. The next zone meet will be held at McLean in January.

Lion J. J. Alexander reported on his trip to Austin in an attempt to find out something about highway building in Donley county. After hearing his discouraging report of what might be considered somewhat of a delay in road work, Lion Nat S. Perrine expressed the opinion that it would take concerted action on the part of all the towns on the Denver road to secure any recognition of the needs of Highway 5.

T. R. Broun, county agent, was present and spoke of the county exhibit at the Tri-State fair at Amarillo saying the booth compared favorably with many others of Panhandle district.

Lion Homer Mulkey brought the band matter to the attention of the Club and asked for cars for transportation and mentioned the fact that the band would broadcast during Clarendon day.

Ralph Andis present as a guest gave a report on the local Legion Post winning the silver cup and expressed his appreciation to those who had assisted in its capture.

Lion W. H. Patrick gave a resume on the rainfall for the year and the results of a comparison with that of previous years.

Being the anniversary of the birth of the "Star Spangled Banner," Boss Lion Fred W. Rathjen gave a history of the author, a brief word picture of the surroundings and the influence under which the famous anthem was written. Following the eloquent address of the speaker, the last stanza of the song was sung by the Club at the close of the meeting.

Mrs. Jiggs Mosley and baby left Sunday for Borger, where Mr. and Mrs. Mosley will make their home.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Leright and small daughter, Lucy Bell and Mr. and Mrs. James Noble all ofampa visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Nobles Sunday evening.

Civic Clubs Sponsor Melon Feast For Teachers

Some thirty-eight members of the teaching faculty of the Clarendon public schools with members of the various civic clubs of the town enjoyed a melon feast on Troublesome Canyon Thursday evening.

Some of the early arrivals indulged in wading in the crystal waters of the flowing stream while others were content with climbing the steep mountain-like cliffs. After tiring of these modes of pastime and pleasure, the crowd gathered on the more level pasture ground where the Andis truck was loaded with luscious water melons.

Despite the cold breeze, J. T. Patman, G. L. Boykin and Fred W. Rathjen heroically stood the test of voracious appetites and weather cutting melons and passing them to the merry crowd. After each had eaten to the danger point, there was a generous supply left on the truck as evidence of the excellent judgment of the committee to see that no one went hungry for the famous fruit of old Donley county.

Rev. Ingram to Preach Sunday at Methodist Church

Rev. C. B. Ingram announces that he will preach at the Methodist church in this city at 2:30 p. m. next Sunday. This sermon will celebrate his 78th birthday, and will follow this observance at his home at noon.

He states that he will discuss the proposition of cultivating better church relations between the church people of the country and the town. A number of lay members, other ministers and lawyers will speak.

A special invitation is extended by Rev. Ingram to old and young folks of the country to attend this service. He requests that all local preachers and regular pastors have a report of the number of their conversions that this matter may be more fully discussed.

Little Theatre Plans Play During October

The Little Theatre management plans to stage three plays before Christmas, one of which will be presented some time during the month of October.

Several members of the organization plan to attend a tea given by the Amarillo Little Theatre this evening. Those who expect to attend from here are Mrs. U. J. Boston, Mrs. A. T. Cole, Mrs. O. T. Smith, Mrs. J. H. McMurtry, Mrs. M. M. Noble, and Mrs. Joe Goldston.

Donley County's Exhibit Takes 10th Place at Fair

Sixteen Panhandle Counties Entered Scrimmage For First Honors

Tenth place and a prize purse of $75 was won by this county in the sweepstake exhibit at the Tri-State fair at Amarillo in the judging Wednesday.

Randall county won first place for the second consecutive year and a prize of $250. Hemphill received second prize $225. Hartley won third and a prize of $200. Other counties to receive prizes in the order named were Wheeler, $175; Deaf Smith, $150; Ochiltree $125; Collinsworth, $100; Sherman, $75; Donley, $75; Parmer, $75; Armstrong, $50; Curry county, N. M., $50.

The agricultural booth was in charge of G. L. Boykin and T. R. Broun alternating and was viewed by thousands as these booths attracted more attention than most any other attraction in the buildings it is said. Some of the exhibit will be taken to Dallas.

Mr. Hugh Brown, injured by an auto some time ago and who has been confined to Adair hospital since that time, is slowly mending.

Mrs. Ray Bush of Amarillo is visiting her father, Mr. Hugh Brown at the hospital.

S. R. Tomlinson Dies Suddenly Early Sunday Morning

Prominent Citizen of Lelia Lake Had Resided There Twenty Three Years

Death came to one of Donley county's most highly respected citizens in the person of S. R. Tomlinson aged 67 about 4 a. m. Sunday morning. Aroused by the difficult breathing of her husband, Mrs. Tomlinson arose and secured a light only to find that he had expired.

The deceased had been enjoying normal health and the shock left relatives and friends grief-stricken. Services were conducted at the home Monday afternoon in charge of Rev. Sam E. Allison, pastor of the First M. E. Church of Clarendon. The burial service was conducted by the Masonic order of which the deceased had long been an honored member.

Flowers in profusion and the large number of sorrowing friends who paid their last tribute of respect at the cemetery bespoke the high esteem in which S. R. Tomlinson was held in the community where he had resided for almost a quarter of a century.

Besides his widow, seven children remain, all of whom were here to attend the last rites. They are as follows: Mrs. H. R. King and Mrs. D. M. Cook of Lelia; Mrs. L. E. Chunn of Clarendon; Richard of Lelia; Albert Tomlinson of Rhome; and Sam and Don Tomlinson who are unmarried and live at the family home.

Hedley Lyceum Course Will Begin Next Friday

A lyceum course sponsored by the Parent-Teacher Association of the Hedley public schools will offer their first program to the public Friday evening of this week.

Each of the five clubs have arranged to put on a program at different times in which friendly competition will encourage an effort to excel. Those directly interested in the success of the movement are frank in their expressions of approval of this concerted plan.

Mrs. Farnk Kendall is chairman of the executive committee having the matter in charge. With her Mrs. E. B. Mace, Mrs. Ted Stogner, Mrs. E. F. Covey, Mrs. Lake Dishman, Mrs. J. B. Masterson, Mrs. W. B. Webb, Mrs. Clyde Bridges, Mrs. Elvin Hickey will compose the full committee upon whom devolves the duty of seeing the programs through to a successful conclusion.

Mrs. J. A. Tombs and son Mr. and Mrs. Henry Tombs attended the Tri-state Fair at Amarillo Thursday.

Legion Elects Clarence E. Miller Post Commander

Election is Held Tuesday Nite With Enthusiastic Attendance Record

The call for a full attendance that every member might have a voice in the selection of officials for the coming year, was well heeded Tuesday night when the members began to arrive early at Legion Hall.

The officials elected for the coming year were: Post Commander, Clarence E. Miller; First Vice Commander, Elba Ballew; Second Vice Commander, Joe Holland; Adjutant, G. L. Boykin; Service Officer, C. J. Douglas; Sergeant-at-Arms, Tom Tucker; Historian, H. T. Burton; Chaplain, R. W. Moore.

Dr. C. G. Stricklin was voted Post physician to succeed the former man who had resigned.

The installation of the new officers will take place Tuesday night, October 7th.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Lynch and daughter Bobbie of Amarillo are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Liesberg.

A BABY FOR SALE

Sure, babies have been sold before but we hardly expect it in this age. But we do want to tell you that one of the leading women of the county came in Saturday and plunked down the price of a renewal saying she sold four pullets in order to get the money.

That wasn't all she said. "Mr. Editor, a whole lot of folks want the paper just as badly as I do and haven't sold any more cotton than my folks and have no chickens to sell and I think you ought to advance the date to October 25th to give the cotton growers time to get the money."

Bless her heart! There's the kind of loyalty that makes the world go round. Was she right? Well, the Editor had not thought of it in that light exactly, and he promptly told her he sympathized with the folks over the low price of cotton. Now that being the case, there is nothing else to do but advance the date to October the 25th and drop from the list all those who have not paid up.

Several more have written and called in and sent word in that the date was too early. Now we have fixed the date so that every subscriber can rustle up the $1.50 and no one be disappointed. We want to be just as fair as we know how, and we don't want any one to raise a cry about "questioning my honesty" after the name is dropped from the list.

It makes a fellow mad all over to find out that he has been dropped off the list. It is also embarrassing for the newspaper man too. The only way to avoid this is to look at the figures on your wrapper and if you are behind, or if your subscription expires in the near future, get the little old dollar and a half in before October 25th.

P. S. Seven women have sold chickens to pay up their subscriptions to date. We need the money alright, but you may need the hens. Keep them and pay off with cotton money. This reduced price is made because the speculator is robbing you and we want to express our sympathy in dollars and cents—it means more right now. Thank you.

—The Editor.

Memphis Gets Publicity.

Reports emanating from Memphis are to the effect that the printers have taken to the cotton patch, the preachers are leaving town and the 'possums are putting up at the hotels.

Swiped Our Dope.

A fellow publisher refused to run a circus ad recently because it was a Sunday date and he refused to lend encouragement to a violation of the Sunday law. That's unlawful.

In the same issue he swiped over a column of live football news from this paper without giving proper credit. That's unethical.

Our Subscribers.

Yes, they are renewing now in bunches. Our position is more fully explained in our ad in this issue. The thing that pleases us most is the fact that our folks appreciate our efforts to overcome a bad condition.

Newspaper men, like others, have bills to pay and have to meet them promptly. Your renewal at this time will be greatly appreciated and will save you a fourth of the regular price. The limit is midnight of October 25th.

'Pigs is Pigs'.

Comes now one Thomas T. Waggoner, editor and owner of the Claude News, who states that one Cleve Bennett residing 15 miles southwest of his town, owns a sow that has farrowed fifty pigs.

We believe it. Far be it from us to intimate that there is any attempt being made to "hog" Memphis of any notoriety for the sow took a year and twenty-five days to do the job.

Not bad, not bad, even at that. The first litter numbered 18, the second 19 and last 13. Factory production has been curtailed all over the nation during the past few months which probably caused the sow to limit the amount to an unlucky number on the home stretch.

Auto Driver's Law.

Some states require auto owners to assume financial responsibility in the form of an insurance policy before tag license is issued. Such a law has the good points of compulsory insurance without the defects.

Such a law places the burden where it belongs in case of damage to person or property. It would encourage careful driving and penalize carelessness. It is plain to be seen that an insurance company would demand good eyesight, steady nerves and a good reputation before assuming the risk. Such restrictions would tend to further protect the public against financial loss either in accidents as the result of carelessness and those that are unavoidable.

Dallam-Hartley Counties.

With the Dalhart Texan this week the reader receives a twenty-four page magazine write-up of Dallam and Hartley counties replete with photos of buildings in the towns embraced in that productive area, and farm scenes and of agricultural and stock products.

The edition is well printed. The illustrations are clear and carry a story that is truthful and concise. It is of the kind of advertising that counts for much "back east" where folks demand photo facts as well as the written word.

The Texan force of which John L. McCarty is editor, is entitled to all the praise that may be showered upon them. It takes a lot of money, no end of time and mountains of perspiration and worry to produce a magazine of this quality.

Free Space Grafters.

During the present epidemic of free space grafting, most of which falls flat, how do you suppose that scheme would work if carried out in all parts of the paper?

Some firms go to the expense of hiring a high-powered ad writer to get up copy, and then pay a high rate to have first-class mats made of the ads. This mat service is then carefully packed and Uncle Sam gets a rakeoff for postage for carrying the material to the publisher.

If that mat does not break into print, it is worthless. After the firm has gone to all the expense of preparing the material for publication, it falls down on the job at the last minute by asking the publisher to print the stuff free of charge. In other words, the most important part of the job is neglected and the scheme falls flat.

Students of Journalism.

We so often hear daily papers condemned for publishing lurid headlines and great stories of crime, and we just as often hear prophecies of a great change when the present crop of students of journalism enter the arena.

Those who expect any great change are doomed to disappointment. Often millions are invested in the equipment and goodwill of a daily. The stockholders expect a reasonable return on their investment.

No daily can make money without appealing to mass ignorance, mass fear, mass greed, mass indifference. The circulation and advertising departments regulate the policy of the average paper and not the editorial.

If the journalism student does not learn of the present day demands made upon the daily press while in school, he soon will, or he everlastingly looking for a job when he comes in contact with the wide open public.

Free Space Wedding.

Should we fall for free space grafters, here is probably the way a wedding would be written up if we passed the free space all-round to avoid showing any partiality:

Mr. John Blinkus, cheapest truck hauler in town, and Miss Vera Vanity, agent for Boassard corsets now at a bargain, were married Wednesday, which is special sales days for Blinstein's drygoods house each week. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. B. Helper who is also agent for corn salve, at the home of the bride constructed by Weed Brothers general contractors in 1907 and still on the job.

The bride was given away gladly by her father as his first gift in life and who deals in groceries and jitney parts, hides and poultry. Little Miss Clara Bows, daughter of the hardware merchant Bows who also runs a drug store and cafe in connection, acted as ring bearer.

Miss Prissy Proud, leading milliner and offering bargains in spring hats, played "I Hope Not" on the piano which was manufactured by Pilibrooson Piano Co. guaranteed not to get out of tune.

C. U. Later, dealer in women's shoes that are guaranteed not to fade, rip, ravel or run down at the heel in all the latest fashions, sang "Hold the Fort" as written by Batoooven and other historical characters that made the Plymouth Rock famous as a landing point.

Member Back When?

Mighty few of the old timers can remember back when a printer would slip out the back door for a shot of rot-gut at a nearby saloon. Sometimes one would get too much and we smeared his face with hot towels in order to get him back on a rush job. Fight? Sure he did. It took four to sober him.

Do you old timers remember how the gang hung around a can of beer in the back room while a customer raved for a rush job? Some of the same fellows now have sons operating typesetting machines who can roll a cigarette with one hand and keep mats falling with the other.

Do you recall the Dutch lunch Saturday evening? That was a time-honored custom. All the makings came from the saloon and only those who had a hand in the affair know the menu.

Often a bit of booze got mixed with the lunch and beer. That meant trouble for somebody. Remember how a fellow would grab a legal set-in agate and hurl it at his antagonist? Gosh! Often it took a half dozen all day Sunday to gather up the "fragments" (type not lunch) and get it back in the case before the boss got down Monday morning.

Speaking of Monday, if the boss paid off, there was no telling how many would show up on the job Monday. In those days printers frequently left unannounced taking brass rule, makeups, sticks and other articles with them. Just as often the boss went to the jail and bailed out his help who were juggled over the "weekend" for imbibing too freely.

American Tribal Luxury Routed by Oklahomans

TULSA, Okla.—The supposedly rich and fatuous Oklahoma Indian, living in luxury off the bounteous royalties from his oil lands, is scarcely consistent with the progressive type of American citizen represented by thousands of Indian farmers and business men living in this State.

Less than 3 per cent of Oklahoma's some 175,000 Indians, according to a recent estimate, gain their livelihood from oil lands. Most of them are either in agriculture or trade. The average Indian living in the rural districts of the State is a busy tiller of the soil; while his urban cousin, may be a merchant, a banker, an engineer, a lawyer, a journalist, a doctor, a realtor, a politician, or any oil company employee. The number engaging in such occupations is constantly increasing.

Ever since the Osage Indians of Oklahoma became known as the wealthiest people per capita in the world, about 15 years ago, it has been popularly supposed that the State literally abounded in rich and luxury-loving Indians. While there were, and still are, a number of wealthy Osages—as a result of the discovery of rich oil deposits beneath their lands—it by no means follows that the average Oklahoma Indian is in the leisure class, an idle which gained notoriety as a result of the reckless extravagance on the part of a few get-rich-quick Osages.

"Relatively few of Oklahoma's thousands of Indians ever became wealthy through oil or other minerals wound on their lands, and even those who did are fast passing on," said Gabe E. Parker, Tulsa business man and formerly superintendent of the five civilized tribes. "Today the red men of Oklahoma gain their livelihood in much the same way that white men do—by farming or by engaging in business and industry. The percentage of Indians in business is relatively as great as the percentage of white men in business." Other statements bear out Mr. Parker's views.

Of Oklahoma's 23 Indian tribes only the Osages were collectively enriched by oil, or by other minerals found beneath the surface of their reservations. But today even the Osages are no longer wealthy as a tribe, although certain tribal members are. A number of Osages, in fact, those who spent their oil-gotten riches recklessly, are heavily in debt and have gone into bankruptcy.

The tribal lands, furthermore, no longer produce much wealth. Oklahoma's oil activity has now moved south into the land of the Seminoles and the white pioneers around Oklahoma City. Consequently the Osages are slowly but surely going back to work—chiefly farming.

The only other Indian tribes appreciably enriched by oil are the Seminoles, Creeks, Cherokees, Chickasaws and Choctaws. In these tribes, however, certain individuals, rather than the group as a whole, benefited. Only the Osages succeeded in collectively retaining the subsurface or mineral rights to their lands. This is because the Osages, unlike most of the other tribes, were still owners of their lands when the oil was discovered.

The Seminoles are now attempting collectively to regain the mineral rights to their former lands, which several years ago constituted one of the biggest producing oil fields in the world. They have brought suit in the federal courts of eastern Oklahoma. If they win, the State may have another "richest people per capita in the world." —Christian Science Monitor.

WHAT PRICE BREAD?

That the price of flour is not the governing factor in the price of bread is revealed by General Mills, Inc., which compiled operating costs of a series of representative bakeries. For every decrease of a dollar a barrel in the price of flour, the reduction in the cost of flour to the baker is only .0033 dollars per pound loaf.

If the farmer gave away his wheat, if the miller milled his flour for nothing, if the railroad hauled the flour for nothing, bread would cost the baker 4.2 cents per loaf.

Mrs. Don Martin was operated upon for appendicitis at Adair hospital Tuesday. She is recovering nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Bartlett are receiving the congratulations of their many friends over the arrival of a daughter the 25th. The little lady of seven and a half pounds was given the name of Jimmy Ruth.

OUR WEEKLY CHURCH CHAT

"Assurance"
Assurance is a feeling of certainty of one's salvation. The owner of property desires a title which the brainest lawyer could not prove invalid. So the Christian desires personal possession of a clear title to heaven. Such assurance is commanded. "Make your calling and election sure" (1 Pet. 1:10).

What is the ground of such confidence? It is twofold. 1 the word of God. 2 personal consciousness. These are two joint witnesses. "The Spirit Himself heareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God" (Rom. 8:16). Here are two witnesses—God's spirit and our consciousness. If we have heard and obeyed the voice of the spirit, we know that we are the children of God, for the word of the Spirit and our consciousness are in perfect agreement. The same thought is expressed in 1st John 5:9, 19: "If we receive the witness of men, the witness of God is greater: for the witness of God is this, that he hath borne witness concerning his Son. He that believeth on the Son of God hath this witness in him." To be certain of our salvation there must be agreement between God's witness and man's consciousness. Hence the need of obeying the voice of the Spirit. "Hereby know we that we know Him, if we keep His commandments" (1 John 2:3). "Try your own selves, whether ye are in the faith: prove your own selves" (2 Cor. 13:5). Such assurance throughout one's life is a guarantee that all shall be well in the hour of death. Give your self no rest, day or night until you can read your title clear to the mansions in the skies.

Many years ago King David said to Ornan, "Nay but I will verily buy it for the full price, for I will not take that which is thine for the Lord, nor burnt offering without cost?" Using this verse as our text, we will bring a message Sunday morning on "CHRISTIANITY NOT WITHOUT COST."

By using two simple illustrations, Jesus revealed the fact that He did not come to patch with gospel teachings, the old Mosaic law and Pharisaical traditions, but to inaugurate a new system of teaching, to organize a new church, to give the world a plan of salvation. Sunday night we will deal with his problem in our sermon on, "MODERN PATCHWORK"—W. E. Ferrell, minister of First Christian church, Clarendon, Texas.

We as a people believe in God's book. The Bible as the only rule of faith and parctice but we believe in the proper diversion of his word. 2 Tim. 2:15.

The old law has served its purpose and has been abolished (Eph. 2:15—Col. 2:14.) Hence we are now to be governed by the teaching of the New Testament or the perfect law of Liberty as James says (Jas. 1:25), also Paul refers to it as the Law of the Spirit of Life in Christ Jesus (Rom. 8:2). Paul said "Follow me as I follow Christ—also Peter says "Christ left us an example that we should follow in his steps." Therefore we are not to follow Moses or his teaching. If we expect to receive the blessing of the Lord we must follow the teaching of the New Testament.

Come and hear us on various subjects in line with the above.

D. Lee Hukel, Minister.

The president, Mrs. A. T. Cole, in a very impressive manner, outlined the policies and what she hoped would be accomplished the coming year.

S. S. AND B. Y. P. U. IN CHARGE OF SERVICES SUNDAY

Due to the absence of the pastor on a much needed vacation the worship hour at both the morning and evening hours was in charge of the S. S. and B. Y. P. U. respectively. Sunday morning the hour was given to the promotion program of the Sunday school. The rostrum was decorated to represent a garden. The superintendent, Mr. S. W. Lowe, was met by the Spirit of growth. Mrs. Joe Goldston. The Spirit of Growth called the little flowers from the nursery class who were graduating into the cradle roll department into the garden of growth. They gave their part of the program and were presented with their diplomas. The graduates from each department were called to give their program showing the growth that had occurred and to receive their diplomas. A very effective program was rendered.

At the evening hour the training department had charge. Certificates of promotion were given the graduates from one department to another.

Then the installation service for the new officers was held. A rainbow theme was carried out. A beautiful rainbow of crepe paper was thrown from the "prism" of the B. Y. P. U. across the front of the rostrum. All the lights in the auditorium were turned off except a spot light which was focused on the prism and the resulting rainbow.

The account of the giving of the rainbow as a symbol of the covenant between God and man was read. The members of the B. Y. P. U. in training for service for Christ were pictured as a rainbow of promise across the sky of the Baptist church of Clarendon, as the members tried to transmit the light of Christ in their lives.

As the different groups of officers were called they came to the front and a representative of the group pledged the group to the endeavor to place a certain color in the rainbow through their work as officers. For example, the presidents pledged the addition of purple by the exaltation of Christ as King of kings, the center of the whole program. When all were in their place, they were led in a prayer of consecration by Mr. S. W. Lowe.

Mr. O. C. Watson then as chairman of the board of deacons spoke on what the church was expecting from this group of officers.

In closing the B. Y. P. U. director, Miss Ruth Thompson gave a rainbow of promises from the Word of God, that were to be the source of courage and inspiration to the new officers to fulfill the pledges made by them.

ASHTOLA SCHOOL NEWS

This issue is the second of the news items from the Ashtola school. It is hoped that this column may be continued throughout the year.

Junior Class News

The Junior class met for the purpose of electing class officers. Miss Hukel acted as temporary chairman. The following officers were elected: Lu McClellan, Jr. Pres.; Mary Graham, vice-Pres.; Geneva Collier, sec-treas.; Ima Poovey, reporter.

The class selected the American Beauty for a class flower, and red and white for class colors.

A committee of three was appointed to select the class motto. The committee consisted of Mary Graham, Geneva Collier and Tate Poovey.

The following letter is representative of some of the good work being done in the English department.

Ashtola, Texas.
Sept. 16, 1930.

Dear Grandfather:

I have heard my mother speak of you so much I think I ought to know you. From what she tells me, times have changed since your day. There are many new inventions since you lived. I wonder if you would not like to hear about the automobile? In your day, they rode in wagons, buggies, and on horseback, but today we ride in cars.

Automobiles are run by gasoline engines. They have different kind of brakes, and are guided by a little arrangement called a steering wheel. Their wheels have rubber tires that make them run very easily.

If you were here, you would be surprised, no doubt, to know that we can go fifty and seventy miles an hour in these cars.

It is true with these fast going machines, we have many accidents and lots of lives lost, but we sure do enjoy riding in them. Just think! We can visit someone fifty miles away just in an afternoon.

Very respectfully yours,
Stanley Johnson.

P. T. A. Program

The P. T. A. of Ashtola met in its second regular session on Friday night. Following the business session, a program was rendered by some of the students and teachers. A duet by Miss McMurtry and Miss Hukel preceded "Bab's Birthday", a short play by Miss King and Lu McClellan, Jr. A mixed chorus sang concluding number was "A Mere Man" by the lady members of the faculty and Miss Howard.

Dallas Man G. O. P. Candidate Instead of Dr. Butte

Following the declination of Dr. Butte to make the race against Sterling, the Republicans of Texas have selected Col. Wm. E. Talbot of Dallas.

Col Talbot entered the World War as a private and came out a Colonel. He has probably done more as an individual for the exercise man than any other in the nation according to statements of those high in the councils of the Legion. He is in the insurance business in Dallas.

EPWORTH LEAGUE ENJOYS WATERMELON FEAST

The Epworth League enjoyed a delightful truck-riding tour over the country side last Thursday evening and afterwards administered havoc to a quintet of fine delicious watermelons.

Despite the sudden blast of sand and cold wind that blew up from the north, the frolic makers pushed their happy faces into the unsettled weather and journeyed out to the G. M. Allen farm and purchased several watermelons which afterwards proved to be real ardent body moderators.

The ludicrous little group that gathered around those five doomed watermelons gave expression to a perfect registration of happiness and satisfaction.

Owing to the unchange in weather, the crowd decided it best that they journey to an inclosure some place where it would be more comfortable. Fanny Perry, that lovable little lady whom everyone loves for the interest that she takes in the League, insisted that everyone go to her house until time for adjournment.

Clyde Hudson, that likable chap who through his kindness and generosity furnished the truck for the evening, quickly carried the Leaguers to their coveted destination.

Having put one over on the angry god of sand, the joy makers quickly re-adjusted their selves to a more calm and warmer environment and immediately re-continued their remarks of witticism and joke making.

Due to the fact that several ones in the party wanted to study for examinations coming on the following day, the members dispersed at an early hour and all expressed his sentiments for the evening's good time.

Those who enjoyed the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Hudson, Misses Fanny Perry, Bessie Lee Jackson, Carrie Davis, Helen Smith, Marie Trostle and Messers Irl Smith, Charles Summers and Eugene and Alfred Estlack.

THE GAMBLE OF LIFE

Life is but an unseen gamble, We may play it as we choose; The cards we hold, may win us gold, But sometimes we must lose. Life is but a chancing gamble, We may shuffle and deal away; But ere we turn, each card we learn, In life we have to pay. Life is but a chance of cards, We deal and play our hand; And as we deal, each card, we feel. The play of the other man. After the deck is all worn out, And the gamble of life is done; With cards decked and chips checked, May we find the gamble won. —Alfred D. Estlack.

The Electric Man Recommends Safety and Convenience Lighting

"Do you know, I think one of the most convenient uses of lighting is the garage light, the driveway light and the yard light."

"More than likely you've noticed this type of lighting equipment, and have made up your mind to install it at some future date."

"Don't deny yourself such an important convenience—when it costs so little. Under the new rate system, this lighting is possible at a cost of only 4c per kilowatt-hour—3c where service is also used for heating or cooking—and will increase your monthly bill only a few cents; not enough to counterbalance the advantages of good lighting."

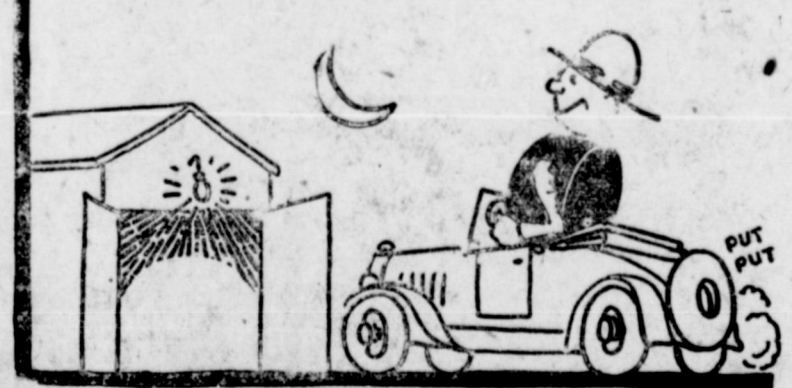

"With the new Home Comfort rate, your normal use of service should absorb the first two rates, placing all additional consumption on the low rate."

"You are sure to appreciate the many advantages that Safety and Convenience Lighting will bring you—and now at such low cost, you cannot afford to be without these advantages."

And Remember—You Can Make Your Own Average Rate

Initial rate 12c
2nd rate 7c

Temple of Truth
By the Apostle

The Apostle had never been able to make up his mind as to which was right—Barnum or Darwin. Since the tree sitting stunts of the past summer, blamed if we don't think they were both right.

Several have already complimented the photo at the head of this column last week. One lady said it plainly showed the Apostle to be a man of wisdom though he denied it. Maybe she's right, and just for that here it is again.

The lady who borrowed her neighbor's paper did not mean any harm by it at all. We merely mentioned it last week and stated that if she would pin a dollar check to the notice and mail it to us, we would send her the paper for a year.

Instead of one such woman there was four. Four dollar checks came in and what one lady had to say in her letter made the envelope sizzle. Just so they lay off the Apostle—he prefers to fight in peace.

The turnip greens will soon be here if the Apostle knows his potliker. It looks like a good fall for both. A neighbor complains that he has every thing mentioned in Lydia E. Binkums almanac. Potliker and greens will cure him.

One time the Apostle had a friend—just one—and he was thin and run down with a tender skin, falling hair, black spots all over his eyes that turned green on occasions. He found it necessary at times to take a drink of just plain water. His digestion was so bad he could not sleep and he seldom came in to go to bed before all the other boys had gone home. He hated to get up in the morning before breakfast and complained that his home brew tasted like dishwater. He had ingrowing toenails and could not wear socks.

The Apostle advised drinking potliker—nothing but potliker. Tur nip greens was recommended as a three meal diet. He got on this diet for thirty days and would you believe it, he had made wonderful changes.

His skin got so tough he shaved with a broken bottle and rubbed cayenne pepper afterwards as a face lotion. His hair quit falling out because all of it was gone before he began the diet prescribed by the Apostle. "My vision is clear and my breath is strong and my step so springy that I never fool with a gate—just jump the fence, and especially when my wife is close behind. I am first in bed and last to get up. I can drink water most any time since my wife gave my home brew to the constable. In fact I feel so well that I fear that one will make the go to work and quit living off the charity of the town."

That's what he wrote. All the readers of this column who are afflicted and those who think they may be, are asked to try potliker and greens. It will remedy any trouble except the motherinlaw variety which seems to be attracted by the diet prescribed.

As a physician, the Apostle is a dumb failure. A reader wrote in to ask what would stop bleeding of the nose and the Apostle wrote back and said: "Keep it out of other people's business". The reply received was as bad a jolt as that received while riding a stage bus from Elreno to Jericho last winter.

Publishing a newspaper is a great deal like being county agent, or a preacher, or teacher of any old job where the entire public can shoot criticism at you any old time they have nothing else to do. The Apostle does not try to please every one because that is an impossibility.

That just reminds us to say that County Agent Brown is talking about a new-fangled pea sheller that shells green peas. If you happen to be canning peas, ask him about it.

The street cleaner man refuses to put a tail light on his wagon until the city furnishes him with a cushion seat for his shovel. It ought to be done—I mean he ought to have the automatic shovel seat.

When a man drove up to a gin at Memphis recently, the ginners asked him how much he had on his wagon. "Oh about 80 acres."

the farmer replied. "Well what did it cost you to get it picked?" And the farmer said: "Two-bits a mile."

Tree Planting Makes Oases of Nebraska Farms

Women's Forestry Campaign Beautifies Homesteads and Rural Schools

What is said to be the biggest and most successful campaign of county forestry work ever carried on in the United States has just closed here for the season. Since early spring 250,000 trees and shrubs have been set in farm premises and in rural school grounds.

So carefully has this work been done that 95 per cent of the plants are thriving. Thus, where not long ago were barren, wind-swept stretches, little trees stand sturdy and fit to meet the winter, and the shrubby promises comfort to many a cold stone and cement foundation. Already the farm yards are more beautiful and so are the schoolhouse playgrounds; and this beauty will be enhanced with each new season.

The enthusiasm for tree setting came as an outgrowth of the project work begun by M. L. Gould, county agent, and Miss Leona Davis, home demonstration agent.

These two solicited the interest of Harry Weekly, county superintendent of schools, and eventually 700 farm women and hundreds of children were busy in the work of active promotion.

After the announcement was made that home beautification and farm forestry would be the chief subject for study in the Custer County extension program, some 50 women, acting as delegates from their home communities came from time to time to Broken Bow to receive lessons. What these women learned they carried back for presentation before meetings at home.

In this way the 700 women were instructed and each one pledged herself to put the lessons into practice around the home grounds and to promote interest in the rural schools. School children then took it up, as also did the men, without whom, the women say, the campaign could never have succeeded.

"When you get the women interested in a project it is sure to go," says Mr. Gould the county agent, "for what these women desire the men will take pains to supply. So it is not surprising at all to see the men taking a big interest in tree setting and expressing as much enthusiasm in landscaping as the women do themselves. We realized in the beginning that if we could get the women to talk the project at home and to make it a live issue in all their meetings, that there would be no lack of support from the men of the farms."

Trees were obtained in two ways. Big delegations went into the local canyons and dug trees that cost nothing more than the labor, and others were procured from the stateforestry reserve at the cost of one cent each. By an arrangement of the county agent with the forestry department these trees were shipped directly to the individuals in each case rather than to a central location in big lots as is usually done. This made it possible to shorten the time between the digging at the nursery and the setting of the tree in its permanent home. This rapidity of movement of the little trees from one place to another is responsible for the high percentage of growth, says Mr. Gould.

Education of the people as to the proper setting and the subsequent care of the plants has been a great care part of this campaign. Almost any one can plant a tree or a shrub after a fashion, but unless the planter has some knowledge of the tree's needs both in the setting and in the care afterward, the losses will be many, the discouragement great. So care was taken here at Broken Bow to impart the whole lesson beforehand. While it was still winter the county agent, the home demonstration agent, the county superintendent of schools were at work planting in the public mind the desire for things beautiful, and telling how they could be obtained.

During the campaign placards were posted to drive home certain facts. Some of them read as follows:

Windbreaks protect live stock. Cultivated trees grow. Unsightly rows can be hidden with shrubs.

Alternated rows of trees make better windbreaks. Place your walks where they are needed. An attractive driveway bids your friends welcome.

Flowers in the back yard keep you happy while you work. "So many of the projects one must enter into last only for the time being," says Mr. Gould. "But this one with the trees will be going years and years from now. For trees grow."—Christian Science Monitor.

The change in the bitter, dreary outlook of convicts was exemplified recently by the writing of a long-term prisoner. This man, victim of environment and associations in early years and lacking in education, was one of the first to gain something from the study courses. Persuaded to take up elementary English, he finally added arithmetic, algebra, composition and later short story writing. The first money he received from the sale of a magazine story was turned over to the Gillin inmate scholarship fund, established in the sociology department of the state university, to aid other prisoners in obtaining advantages similar to those by which he benefited. The pen picture he drew of prison life before the advantage of study came to brighten his life is graphic.

"No work," he writes, "Nothing to do. Pace! Pace! Three steps forward, three steps back in the narrow confines of a whitewashed cell. My mind goes blank when it contemplates the unending days ahead. My hopes are gone. My ambitions have long since died. My whole brain becomes obsessed with the grotesque and unnatural sameness as the days pass slowly one by one."

The prisoners, Mr. Allen explained, value the courses all the more by reason of the fact that they are required to pay for them. The work is not entirely done by correspondence, however, for they the additional advantage of personal contact with their instructors. Regular visits are paid to the prison at stated intervals by two field workers.

The entire list of correspondence study courses of the university extension division is offered to the inmates. Since few of the men are high school graduates most of the requests Mr. Allen reported, are for elementary vocational and high school grade courses. Show card drawing, architectural and mechanical drafting, mathematics, music and English courses are much in demand.

1360 Convicts Offered Chance For Education

Courses Arranged by the University of Wisconsin for Waupun Prisoners

Education by correspondence is opening new vistas of hope for more than 10 per cent of the 1360 convicts now incarcerated in the Wisconsin state penitentiary at Waupun.

Courses of study through the University of Wisconsin Extension Division are available to any prisoner who may wish to apply for them and each year sees an increase in the number of students. declares Chester Allen, director of field organization.

Success of the system, Mr. Allen explains, has been built upon the application of two plans. First, the requirement that each inmate shall pay for education. Second, the individual instruction of each prisoner is made possible by the required completion of written lessons.

The average cost of a study course is $10 and inmates are enabled to meet the nominal fee under the prison system by doing piece work in excess of their allotted tasks and the requirement bears out the prison rule that "a man must pay for what he gets."

156 Convicts Study
During the last year 156 convicts were enrolled in study courses and 131 others availed themselves of reading courses supplied through the state free library commission. The total enrollment was 91 per cent greater than that of the year before.

Thus, Mr. Allen pointed out, "during the past year 367 inmates have been able to remove the bitterness of spirit by breaking the monotony of long hours enforced leisure."

"While there is work in the prison for many inmates so that the hours of leisure are not so long for all," he explained, "still there is a period from 5 to 10 at night wherein all inmates must remain idle unless some occupation for their minds is provided. And here lies one of the great problems of prison administration.

"Through the gradual development, based upon the experience over a number of year, the service has changed from class instruction to correspondence study," Mr. Allen said, "These correspondence courses fitted each individual so much better and permitted each inmate to work along alone in his cell during the dreary evening hours. Prisoners are usually individualists. That is why the service has grown so rapidly.

"But this plan was not instituted rapidly, easily nor simply," he added, "for it was necessary to convince a doubting set of prison officials of its adequacy. A plan could have been successful without faithful effort on the part of the convicts. And that faithful effort could not be secured unless prisoners believed in the honesty and sincerity of its purpose. The plan, however, became effective because a warden believed it a necessity and because prisoners sincerely desired to go straight."

Tri-State Fair Is Financial Success Says President

Visitors From Three States Creates Record-Breaking Attendance

Wilbur C. Hawk, president of the Amarillo Fair Association, who this season safely guided the big show through with a profit of approximately ten thousand dollars in the treasury, is entitled to a great deal of praise.

With his thirty-eight assistants, work has been going on for many months leaving nothing undone that would in the least jeopardize the success of the undertaking. Not only did individuals approve of the Fair, but they helped in a manner that meant success.

Newspapers were asked to help and space was bought and paid for by the management. At no time was there an inclination shown that the management desired to ride the daily or weekly press.

Instead of attempting to trade "chips and whetstones" for space in the papers, the advertising was turned over to the McCormick Advertising Agency of Amarillo and the advertising placed on a cash basis.

The publicity given the Fair is one of several reasons why the attendance broke the records. This is all the more remarkable when one takes into consideration that the weather was most unpropitious half of the days the big show remained open.

The show went off without a hitch in every department. Awards were made on a fair and square basis resulting in satisfaction to the exhibitors. The general exhibits were better than in former years. This is probably due to the courteous treatment accorded exhibitors from other sections.

In addition to the work done by the men and women of Amarillo, citizens of the other towns in the Panhandle and Northeast New Mexico gave most liberally of their time and means in assuring the success of the project. Here again in being able to merit this cooperation.

Donley county people who visited the fair are loud in its praise. They expect to return for the fair next season and are just as confident that it will be bigger and better than that of this year.

Thousands from other states viewing the wonderful exhibits exploiting the natural resources of this section, will return and make their home in the Panhandle. All the information spread over the nation to the effect that the drought had played havoc with this section has been disproved. The Fair of 1930 is a matter of history, but the good it has done will live for years.

Club Ladies Raising Funds to Furnish Club Room

Through an arrangement with the West Texas Utilities company of this city, the club ladies of the town are selling light globes in order to raise funds to more completely furnish the club room.

A discount of ten percent is given the customer on the globes according to Mrs. Joe Goldston, president of the Little Theatre, and those who desire to assist in this manner are asked to call any of the ladies of either of the clubs when their wants will be supplied.

This arrangement was made through the finance committee of the organization of the presidents of all the clubs of the town and the plan is meeting with success.

Traffic Conditions Continue to Improve Says Marshall

City Marshal Flop Pyle states that the people are to be complimented for the manner in which they have observed the traffic rules the past several days, and that conditions are constantly growing better.

There is little disposition shown to run over stop signals or to cut corners which the Marshall states were the chief offenders began the tightening up of enforcement recently.

The present regulations do not in any sense partake of the "blue laws" but do permit any one to travel the streets with safety. It is also noted that no collisions have occurred since the rules are being more rigidly enforced.

The Marshall expresses his appreciation of the kind cooperation given him in this matter and asks that all citizens do their utmost to observe the rules at all times that accidents may be avoided.

Park Gateway Speeds Hopes of Youngsters

With dreams of wading ponds and bath pools the coming summer, dozens of youngsters have viewed the rustic cobble stone posts placed at the gateway to the embryo park near the South Ward school the past few days.

There is little that can be done further to improve the grounds until funds are made available for that purpose. The grounds have been made fairly level by the City force with machinery ditching and grading.

Various ladies' clubs through their membership have expressed a wish that something tangible may be done that flowers and shrubbery can be planted out during the dormant period, and this will like be possible according to plans under consideration by the City dads at this time.

Denver May Discontinue Two Passenger Trains

Because of a curtailment of passenger business evidently due to bus lines, the Denver road now seeks to discontinue the operation of two passenger trains. No. 5 northbound arriving here at 5:58 a. m. and No. 6 southbound arriving here at 10:47 p. m. are the trains that will likely be discontinued.

F. D. Doggett, general passenger agent for the road, met with the Directors of the local Chamber of Commerce here Friday afternoon to secure their cooperation with other towns in approving the measure which will effect a saving of a quarter of million dollars a year to the corporation according to Mr. Doggett.

After the discontinuance of these two trains, there will remain two through trains operating from Dallas to Denver which it is believed will be ample to handle passenger traffic for the time being.

In view of the fact that the road has given Clarendon a first-class depot, and will soon have to expend quite a sum for ditch paving in continuing the city ditch across the right-of-way, the Directors readily assured Mr. Doggett that there would be no opposition from this source.

Mrs. J. D. Stocking was in Moore county Wednesday and Thursday end Friday attending to business.

Hale Center Farmer Gives it his Endorsement

ARGOTANE HAS MADE A NEW MAN OF ME AND RESTORED MY HEALTH," SAYS STRANGER.

To the large number of men whose statements have been published in the press of the country is now added the name of Fred H. Springer, of Hale Center, Texas, living on rural route 2, and who is a very prominent and well known farmer, while talking with the Argotane representative, at South Plains Drug Store, Plainview, Texas, recently.

"Argotane has made a new man of me and restored my health," he said, "and I am more than glad to recommend it. I was in a very run down condition, and was very weak and nervous. I had the flu and then my condition got worse. When I got up from the flu I wasn't able to do my work. I was bothered with stomach trouble, and food did not agree with me, but the attack I had of the flu made it worse, and I was surely in a bad shape. I got to where I didn't eat anything. I had a distressing feeling, caused by the gas that formed on my stomach and anything I ate would not digest.

"I have only taken one half bottle of Argotane, and it certainly has improved my case in every way. All my stomach trouble has left me, and I eat and sleep just fine. I am gaining in weight and strength every day, and do not have those restless spells. Argotane has restored my health after nothing I took seemed to do me any good, and I know from my own experience that it is a good medicine."

Genuine Argotane may be bought in Clarendon at the Stocking's Drug Store.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Connally of Amarillo visited the week end in Clarendon.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Chamberlain left for Kansas City Sunday on business.

Pep Squad Wears New Uniforms Friday

The Pep Squad of the high school were out for the game Friday in their new uniforms. The uniforms of the leaders, Ruth Price, Ruth Nichols and Esma Keener, are white with a maroon megaphone on the front and maroon collars and cuffs. The uniforms of the pep squad girls are maroon and white made in princely style with the colors displayed in a very attractive manner. The girls are proud of their new uniforms which add much to the attractiveness of the pep squad.

The girls have been working hard getting new yells from different schools and learning them. They helped the football team win by their continuous cheering. They have one new song that is especially pretty and very beautifully sung. "We Are Loyal to You, Clarendon Broncs", is the name and first line of this song.

Every girl in the school that meets the requirements of the school board in grades can be on the squad.

Brit Melton has a position as salesman with the Plains Chevrolet company of Amarillo.

HEATER TIME

We have just received a large shipment of Gas Heaters, ranging in price from the cheapest to the best.

CLOSED GAS HEATERS

We are featuring closed heaters. These heaters eliminate the sweat and fumes so common with the average stove. We all remember how the sweat almost run us out of our homes last winter, but this won't happen if you have a closed heater properly vented and connected. We are making liberal allowances on used heaters so there isn't any reason why every one should not have a warm, dry heat this winter instead of fumes and sweat.
