Poultry Show Brings Out Large Crowd To See The Cream of Donley's Flocks

Thirty-Two Exhibitors Show Two Hundred And Eleven Birds Representing Fifteen Select General Utility Breeds of the Highest Values

All doubt as to the fact that Donley county has some of the best poultry to be seen anywhere was dispelled here Friday and Saturday when hundreds of visitors surged through the crowd looking at the wonderful exhibits of the kings and queens of the barnyard.

Among the many breeds shown were R. I. Reds, Buff Orpingtons, Cornish Game, Barred Rocks, Light Brahmans, Sussex, Golden Seabrights, Black Rose Comb Bantams, Japanese Silkies, Red Leghorns, Jersey White Giants, Anconas, Langshans, Shawneck Game, White Leghorn, Brown Leghorn, etc.

Upon entering the show room, one was apt to be taken in arm or tow by that enthusiastic young poultryman, Loyd Reid who hastens to show one his beauties better known as Red Leghorns—the only ones in the county. You hear him tell about his hen that laid 26 eggs in 30 days; of 70 chicks hatched from the eggs of two hens in one season, every statement of which is true of these wonderful birds. He has 35 pullets for the next season. His start came from H. H. Taylor, poultry fancier of Wichita Falls.

The showiest birds were the property of Lem B. Taylor whose Golden Seabrights reminded one of prairie chickens "all dressed up" with dabs of white paint on a variegated brown background. His black rose comb Bantams hardly larger than a blackbird attracted no little attention. One hen won first at the Dallas State Fair and a host of ribbons elsewhere. Do chickens have feathers? Hardly. Mr. Taylor's Japanese Silkies wore fur of silky white with faces of a dark color for purposes of contrast. The owner delights to tell about the many good qualities that bring them up to the par of the best breeds.

Vocational aggie teams were on hand from McLean, Panhandle, Conway, Claude and Clarendon, the home boys being in charge of G. L. Boykin, instructor of the class in high school.

Prize winners were as follows: BARRED ROCKS—Howard Gilbert 1st on cock; 1st on cockerel; 1st and 2nd on pullet receiving prizes of a sack of coal from D. O. Stallings and the Donley County Leader one year.

SUSSEX—Mrs. E. L. Kennedy 3rd on cockerel; 2nd on cockerel; 1, 2, 3rd on pullet. Received 1 gallon kill-o-mite from Lowe Grocery. CORNISH GAME—Oscar Castleberry, 2nd on cockerel; 1st on pullet; 1st on pen. Awarded one tray custom hatch by Clarendon Hatchery for best pen.

G. A. Anderson, 1st on cockerel; 1st and 2nd on pullet. Award of sack of coal from Andis Bros.

W. C. McDonald, 1st on cockerel 1st on hen, 1st and 2nd on pullet, 1st on pen, 1st on young pen. Received 100 lbs. laying mash from Clarendon Hatchery for best display.

ANCONAS—J. M. Waddell, 1st pullet. Awarded Clarendon News for best Ancona exhibit.

Lions Club Plans Benefit Minstrel Soon

At the regular luncheon hour Tuesday, the members of the Lions club laid plans for a minstrel show at the Pastime Theatre about the 24th of the month.

G. L. Boykin will have charge of the arrangements, he having been appointed a special committee of "one" to assume any authority possible, and all the blame for anything that might not suit. He has already begun plans for the success of the venture.

The minstrel will be staged following the regular picture shown the same night. The admittance will be the price of the show plus the minstrel, all funds going to the crippled children relief work. The club has three cases in charge at this time.

JURY OF VIEW BEGINS WORK ON HIGHWAY MON.

Organization Was Perfected In a Meeting Held Here Monday Morning

In perfecting the organization of the members of the Jury of View Monday, Tom F. Connally was elected as president, and W. T. Hayter was chosen as secretary. Members of this body feel greatly encouraged that matters may be soon gotten in shape to begin work on the highway since land owners have shown a decided willingness to cooperate.

The price set by the Commissioners for land payments is merely a basis from which to work, and not the maximum in every case as has been understood by some. It is said that the owners will be given fair and impartial consideration in every instance.

Highway matters are to be rushed in order to begin work as soon as possible in the belief that money expended in Donley county will have more value at this time in view of general conditions.

Members of this body met with men of the district office in Amarillo Wednesday to get more definite information relative to lands affected by right-of-way purchase. The varying width of the railway right-of-way in places has called for more information from the main office. It is the intention of the Jury to have full information that the matter may be rushed to a conclusion at the earliest possible moment.

The Jury of View composed of T. C. Johnson of Giles, A. E. Bynum of Lelia, and W. T. Hayter, Tom F. Connally and M. M. Noble of Clarendon, began work of securing right-of-way on the proposed new routing of Highway 5 across Donley county Monday.

This Jury is to pass upon claims for damages and pass the matter to the County Commissioners for final approval. In the main, thirty dollars per acre is the amount agreed upon for payment of agricultural land included in the right-of-way, and ten dollars per acre for grazing land.

COMMISSIONERS RETRENCHING ON COUNTY EXPENSES

County Commissioners Meet Monday Alloting Road And Bridge Funds

The Commissioners allotted road and bridge funds to the various precincts Monday. The division is as follows: Precinct 1 is to receive 18 percent; Precinct 2 is allotted 40 percent; Precinct 3 is to get 29 percent, and Precinct 4 will get 13 percent.

The matter of employing a janitor was taken up at the preceding meeting, A. O. Yates being re-employed with a salary reduction from $75 down to $50 per month.

An order was passed calling for the arrangement of the building of a ladies rest room on the ground floor near the east stairway. The present rest room on the second floor is to be used for a jury room here after.

The entire Board of County Commissioners has shown a disposition to retrench in expending tax money as shown by purchases, and the consideration of problems coming up that would involve any expenditure of tax money. Their actions in this regard is meeting with general approval of the public.

USEFUL CITIZEN BALLOT CONTEST ATTRACTS MANY

You Need Not Be Subscriber To Vote in This Contest Of Selection

Who was the most useful citizen in Donley county for the year 1932? That is the question that is puzzling a great many folks right now. Any citizen of the county may vote his or her choice. Fill in the ballot that appears in the Leader and mail or bring it to the Leader office.

You need not be a subscriber to the Leader in order to be eligible to vote. This is a "selection of the fittest" and your choice may be either a woman or man as you may decide within your own mind.

This contest is not limited to Clarendon. It is more liberal. This is not a scheme to permit some one to vent a selfish spleen. It's county-wide. It is the same kind of a contest as was sponsored by the Leader last year. Open to every one alike.

Guy S. Pierce, present sheriff, was accorded the honors last year. Several other candidates were in the race including one lady. A ballot will be printed in the Leader for four consecutive issues. That will enable four members of each family to vote if they like. No individual must vote more than one time.

At the close of the voting, the one receiving the highest number of votes, will be declared "Donley's most useful citizen." This will be a distinct honor for any one to be paid that compliment by fellow citizens.

Vote your choice of a citizen of the county. Clip the ballot from the Leader and see that it gets to the Leader office now. Don't put it off to the last minute. Throughout the four weeks, the Leader will make no suggestions, offer no advice or in any manner attempt to form or change the opinion of any one. Vote the ballot in this issue, and do it now before you forget it.

M System Grocery is Moved To Latson Building

Older folks familiar with the appearance of the average grocery of several years ago, are now stopping on the sidewalk in front of the Latson building where they assume a "Stop, Look and Listen" attitude.

The object of their arrested attention is the M System grocery. They had never expected to see the day when a grocery "looked like a parlor", as some expressed it. The removal of the grocery from the Bartlett building next door to the postoffice, to the Latson building formerly occupied by the Clarendon Furniture company was completed Wednesday.

More equipment is being added, more modern arrangements installed for the convenience of the customers, and more system that will enable the firm to handle large crowds of customers with dispatch. A much larger stock will be added, Mr. Duncan stated today, and we expect to have our opening day on the 21st.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Duncan, local managers and who are due the credit for the rapid advancement of the business here, have been assisted during the week by J. W. Vallance of Memphis, owner of the M System grocery here, and a similar business in Memphis.

The management extends the public an invitation to visit the store, rest in the lobby section where seats have been provided, look over the large fresh stock, half of which can be seen from the outside through the large glassed-in sections. Mr. Duncan promises some surprises for opening day to which the purchasing public will look forward with interest.

Lee Holland and Misses Grace and Ethel Harvey attended a district meeting of Magnolia agents at Pampa Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Muse are receiving the congratulations of their many friends since the arrival of a son whom they have given the name of Sidney D. Muse.

B. & P. WOMEN ELECT OFFICERS TUESDAY NIGHT

Miss Carrie Davis is Elected President of Club For Coming Term

The Business and Professional Women's club organized here three years ago next May, held their regular election meeting at the Club Room Tuesday evening. Misses Helen Wiedman and Lela Lammons were hostesses.

In the election of new officers, Carrie Davis is to serve the club as its president the coming term. Other officers elected were: 1st vice president, Opal Pyle; 2nd vice, Beatrice Antrobus; cor. secretary, Etta Harned; recording secretary, Fannie Perry; treasurer, Julia Mae Caraway; reporter, Ruth Donnell.

Clarendon has never had the honor of a "mother and daughter" banquet. This fact was discussed at length at this meeting, and plans begun to observe such an occasion April 14th being set as a tentative date.

Other plans for the year had the attention of the membership. Refreshments were served to twelve members at the close of the meeting.

34th Anniversary Observed By Eastern Star

One of the biggest affairs in the Eastern Star lodge is the annual banquet, the 34th anniversary being observed Tuesday evening at the Masonic hall.

The program was opened with a "womanless wedding." The wedding party advanced to the altar to the tune of "I'll be down to get you in a taxi, honey." Parents of the bride were W. P. Cagle and Edley Crabtree. Parents of the groom, Nathan Cox and W. E. Hodges. Bridesmaids, Roy Beverly and Henry Toomb. Bill Greene was flower girl. Ralph Kerbow was the bride and Bill Bromley the groom. Guy Kerbow officiated as minister and joined the couple in "unholy" bonds of matrimony.

After congratulations, the "wedding party" led seventy guests and members to the dining room where a lovely banquet was served.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Bryan and son Manly visited relatives in Amarillo Tuesday.

OUR LAWMAKERS DOWN AT AUSTIN

You lawmakers representing millions of distressed Texans, are in your first week of the new session. Yours is a great task fraught with still greater responsibilities. In your hands rest the lives, happiness and security of homes of those who placed this responsibility upon you at your request.

Thousands of children of all classes will soon be deprived of school advantages that come but once in a lifetime unless some plan is evolved superior to that which we now have. Hundreds of our boys and girls fresh with youth and imbued with noble ideas are working their way through the higher institutions of learning. Should higher tuition rates be put into effect, the door of opportunity will be closed to them now, and to a majority of them forever. Our school system is in need of improvement. The cost could and should be curtailed, but our schools from the humblest rural school to the State University, are our most valuable assets maintained at public expense, and should have first consideration.

More thousands await your actions with regard to land tax relief—tax rates made intolerable because of a ruthless waste of money in the maintenance of useless departments, bureaus and commissions whose duties in many instances overlap.

Business men are distressed; prosperous families of three years ago are now stranded and some have become objects of charity. Hundreds in Texas depend upon the Red Cross, and civic bodies that are rapidly reaching their limit of endurance. Among our citizens aside from small children in rags of poverty, this most pitiable are the aged. Couples, who in the sunset of life can only hope for death before the impending foreclosure crisis shall have forced them from a home that represents their life's savings.

The citizens of Texas expect of you the seemingly impossible. You who are to maintain the honored principles laid down by those noble forefathers who gave to us Texas by making the supreme sacrifice, and made sacred with their life's blood the soil of the state you are proud to represent. Yours is an honored position of trust made possible through the confidence of your constituents. Verily today, "The Eyes of Texas Are Upon You."

Mr. Connally has not announced any speakers other than Judge Hoover and "Old Tack" but there is no question but what these two men can entertain the crowd over the full period. Judge Hoover is a fluent speaker thoroughly conversant with the Panhandle having lived in northwest Texas over forty years.

Archaeological research by Texas Technological college during the last three years has thrown considerable light upon some of the native Texans of 600 years ago according to W. C. Holden of that institution, who has contributed an article on "Recent Archaeological Discoveries in the Texas Panhandle" to the current issue of the Southwestern Social Science quarterly, published by the University of Texas social science departments.

There lived at least six centuries ago in the Panhandle of Texas a relatively advanced race, who dwelt in large substantial, communal houses, maintained a settled order of municipal life, and made various experiments in agriculture, Mr. Holden said.

300-Room Houses
These people live along the spring-fed creeks in the Canadian valley from a short distance west of New Mexico line to a point 30 to 40 miles west of the Oklahoma line," Mr. Holden said in his article "Over a hundred ruins of houses varying in size from one room to 300 rooms have been located and mapped by archaeologists."

"The existence of stone ruins in the Texas Panhandle has been known for about 40 years. However, the man who has made the most extensive explorations and has the greatest general knowledge of the Panhandle culture is Floyd V. Studer of Amarillo. Mr. Studer has been making scientific archaeological explorations and observations in this region for 23 years. It has been a hobby with him, and he has put in from one to two days at it practically every week of the year. One of his chief contributions of Mr. Studer has been to secure leases of scientific rights from the landowners along the Canadian. This last spring he turned these leases over to the Panhandle Plains Historical Society. The society created a department of archaeology and paleontology, and made Mr. Studer director. Any person or institution wishing to do work in the Canadian vicinity must now do so under the auspices of the Panhandle-Plains Historical society and under the direction of Mr. Studer.

Excavated Ruins
"Texas Technological college became interested in Panhandle archaeology three years ago. Since that time the college, cooperating with Mr. Studer, has excavated two major ruins. The A-Cruin is located approximately 45 miles northeast of Amarillo on Antelope creek, about six miles south of its confluence with the Canadian river. It contains 29 rooms, and is 163 feet long and 56 feet wide. The B. T. K. ruin is located on Saddleback mesa, about a mile and a half south of the Canadian river at Tascosa. It contains 23 rooms, and is 120 feet long and approximately 60 feet wide. Both ruins were accurately mapped by engineers. The maps, pictures, and detailed reports of both ruins, as well as several thousand artifacts, are deposited with the department of history and anthropology at Texas Technological college."

Parent-Teachers Arrange Joint Band Concerts

The band boys appear to have fallen heir to a "fairy God-mother" since the Parent-Teacher Association has kindly assumed the responsibility of sponsoring the Junior band.

The ladies of the Association have arranged for two joint band concerts with the Memphis band for next month. One concert to be held here under the direction of director Gus B. Stevenson, and the other at Memphis under the direction of Glen A. Truax, director of the band there.

The band will be shown special consideration once each month by the mothers of the band boys who expect to treat them to a "feed" or other form of social affair according to plans announced this week.

Salt of The Earth.

No truer words were ever spoken than these once said by former Gov. John M. Slaton of Georgia: "No country ever lasts long without a country people. They afford the strength of the church; they maintain the sacredness of the family tie; they supply the reverence for eternal principles not to be found in congested communities. They think for themselves and no temporary fad sweeps them from the lasting paths of truth. From them, comes the strong fresh blood that dominates and enriches commerce, industry and the professions."

Texan Goes Daily.

The Dalhart Texan, long a semi-weekly and a dandy good one, enters the daily field next Tuesday—the 16th. John L. McCarty manager, will put it over if any one could.

The better class of weeklies and semi-weeklies realize that the national advertising field has been switched altogether to the daily class of papers. The weeklies have slept on their rights. They have paid dues for nothing more than to get together once each year and listen to a bunch of corporation speakers. Men in the employ of big business who seldom give any business to the weekly class of papers. Friend McCarty no doubt realizes this fact, and enters the daily field as a last recourse. If he should succeed, many others of the class of papers of the Texan will follow suit.

Here's luck to you John. You have a plant and a staff competent to give Dalhart a real little daily. We believe they will appreciate your efforts.

Lower Phone Rates.

Dalhart is in the midst of a court battle with the company supplying telephone service to that fair city. The city dads passed an ordinance reducing the rates. The 'phone company then secured an injunction in the federal court at Amarillo to determine if the city granting a franchise had any rights left after the 'phone outfit once got a toe hold.

The injunction law manufactured expressly for fighting union labor, has been a menace to the rights of ordinary citizens ever since it was passed. If one may view the matter from a common sense viewpoint, Dalhart should have a right to demand that the 'phone rates charged comply with the rate stated in the franchise.

No publisher is permitted under the law to advocate a boycott under these circumstances, but a number of towns have gotten relief from such procedure. When enough patrons discontinue their phone service, the company will walk the chalk line. This has been the case in a number of instances, and should be tried out every place a greedy company continues their war time rates.

Banks And Bankers.

We note with a great deal of satisfaction that the American National bank of McLean is again open for business after a recess of two weeks or more. It was through the generosity and broad-minded spirit of the depositors that the bank was again permitted to open. These depositors signed an agreement to leave their deposits with the bank for a year.

That is the proper neighborly spirit.

Although it may have happened before, the writer notices for the first time that this bank talks with the neighbors through a generous advertisement in the McLean News this past week. Good idea, good idea.

There is no reason why a bank should not keep in close touch with the public by and through the use of a modest space in the local newspaper every week. It maintains a contact with those upon whom the bank must depend for existence. It inspires confidence and also permits the bank to offer valuable suggestions without "moohing" space from the publisher when they see fit to find a means to "carry a message to Garcia", as it were.

"Them Governors."

Next Tuesday will see the inauguration of Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson as governor of Texas for the second time. That her husband will be steadily on the job as advisor, goes without question. It is better for Texas that he shall. It will require all the skill, brains and experience of both ex-governors to pull us out of this mess of bad management.

It is our prediction that public opinion will be rapidly crystallized in their favor because of that intimation of Mr. Ferguson in his speech at Dallas recently in which he cast aside all hatred toward his enemies and struck out boldly in speaking of a number of measures calculated to benefit Texans as a whole.

The sale tax is new, but it is necessary. The Ferguson idea relative to the welfare of our schools is well known over a long number of years. Both favor lower taxes and lower interest rates. It remains for the legislative bodies to work with "them governors" in a harmonious manner to bring that necessary relief to the citizens of the greatest state of the union. It can and will be done. Verily we might ad, "The Eyes of Texas Are Upon you."

Ferguson Sales Tax.

The principle of taxation is so generally understood that no fair-minded person objects to paying a reasonable tax, provided beneficial results are apparent. It is the duty of every citizen to support the government. Under our present system of taxation relative to land tax, the land owner must support the government while the non-land owner enjoys the same governmental privileges with little or no taxation.

The sales tax method as proposed by James E. Ferguson, as we understand it, takes the tax off of land, and places it upon every commodity that is retailed. By this method, every citizen pays tax in proportion to his ability to enjoy purchases. If the rich man lives high, he consequently pays more tax. At the same time, the poor man would make fewer purchases, and consequently pay very little tax.

Then again, taking a lesson from the state sales tax now in operation in Mississippi, it might be possible, and no doubt would not be necessary to tax everything that was bought or sold in order to secure enough revenue to maintain the state government on a reasonable basis after useless bureaus and offices had been discontinued.

Some of Ferguson's bitterest political enemies praise his idea of a sales tax. Newspapers, both daily and weekly, that opposed him in his recent campaign in behalf of Mrs. Ferguson, now see in the incoming administration, tax relief measures that mean a square deal for every citizen of the state including corporations.

Buy American. At this time there is a growing sentiment to buy nothing except goods of American manufacture. We are told to buy Texas products as far as possible. No one knows the Texas products because they have not been advertised.

Most any family has something in the home made in Japan. If it is not Japan, it is something from a European country. Those nations have cheap labor. They can pay 20 cents a day for labor; pay the import duty; allow the merchant a fair profit for retailing, and sell the article here for less than 50 cents when our home manufactured article of a similar type must be sold for 75 cents or more.

In the case of the farmer, it will be a difficult matter to convince him that he should pay a premium on his purchases simply to protect American manufacturers and workmen. This same farmer sells a cowhide for a cent a pound, and if he should buy half sole material, would pay a dollar a pound for it back. He sells corn for 20 cents a bushel and buys it back as a breakfast food at the rate of $12.60 a bushel. He sells wheat at 30 cents a bushel and buys it back in a pasteboard package at the rate of over $30 a bushel. Many other items could be cited wherein the manufacturer high-jacks the producer of the raw material.

Under those circumstances, can we expect the grower of farm products to be so patriotic that he will pay more for American made products when he can buy foreign made products just as good for far less money? There are several angles to this "buy American" movement though it would be better if some place could be found to equalize matters all-round.

History Repeats. Some thirty years ago William J. Bryan, that greatest of all American commoners, in an eloquent appeal to his people advised them that, "We are being crucified on a cross of gold." His prophetic statement is brought home to us now more forcibly than ever, and is attracting more attention at this time from men of all political faiths than ever before.

Inflation of our currency is imperative if the god of gold be dethroned. The security of our nation becomes now a responsibility resting upon our national lawmakers.

Col. E. M. House, chief advisor of the late President Wilson, and for whose knowledge of government we have the most profound respect tells us in a recent article in Liberty, that this nation is nearer a dictator than ever before. He goes farther than that by telling us that "all we lack of having a real revolution, is the lack of a leader."

Col House has never by any means been accused of thinking in fantastic terms. Neither is he of that type of learned men who would spread a false alarm. We read further in his Liberty magazine article: "But let it be remembered that when illegal means displace law and order, even temporarily, there is no telling what the end will be. On the other hand, it may result in what followed the overthrow of the French dynasty in 1792 or in Russia in 1917.

to the Texas Press Association thusly:

"The News believes one of the greatest drives ever made in Texas is now under way, and the drive is being made at the country press. The official organ of the Texas Press Association is being paid for by the large corporations and seemingly every effort is being made by the Press Association officers to place that organization in the hands of the corporations. The News may be mistaken, but appearances point in that direction, although appearance may be deceiving."

Editor and publisher Haskett is correct except that he should have stated that the dailies are the only type of papers receiving any benefits from the Association at this time. In fact the state organization was "swallowed" by the dailies and turned over to the corporations for management.

Well do we recall the November, 1932 issue of the state press organ. On page 12 of that issue appeared a number of addresses of advertising agencies who were alleged to be actually ready to place schedules. A number of weekly paper men watered at the mouth and drank in the sop handed them. Soon afterwards, they found that the schedules mentioned applied only to "dailies", and since a number of daily papers are members of the state association, they were entitled to the information.

No one should blame the daily newspaper men from taking all the business that can be had. At this time, we need a strong weekly paper association with some competent man to represent the weeklies in the advertising field. The daily papers have such an arrangement, and make it pay. We of the weekly class can do as well if we use our own thinkers and lay off corporations and forget leaders who have led us astray in the past.

National advertising for the weekly field is gone. It may never come back unless we have some representation in the advertising field; some man who can and will represent us in dealing with reputable agencies. Just what the N. E. A. will do this year remains to be seen. If it cannot render a service, it might as well die the way a number of state press associations are doing.

It was the daily paper organization that brought enough pressure to bear on the broadcasting stations to stop price quotations of commodities over the radio which had become a strong competitor of the daily paper. The weekly paper organizations knew nothing about the matter until the ruling had been made.

TEMPLE OF TRUTH
By the Apostle

Believe it or not, I know a pair that gave their lop-eared daughter the name of Mulearda. That's the dirtiest trick that has happened in ten years. She's a school girl now and the other kids tease her about that mule-eared name hanging to her.

A first-class carpenter was in this week to hit me up for a job and wait a year for his pay. That's the most liberal offer I've had in three years. We would have made a trade only I wanted him to wait 5 years.

I asked an Amarillo business man why he always hired homely girls as stenographers. I never saw a good looking in his office in my life. His reply was that, "a girl who can't look swell and wear fine clothes, must make up for it by what she knows." He's a howling success as a business man at that. Never feeds the girls as his wife hauls him to and from the office, and hangs around and reads every day. At that he may have told the truth about the girl proposition.

I knew a man once who had a folding clothes brush. When he got ready to use it, he held the thing in front of his wife and the bristles rose up. Her face would raise the dead.

Anyway, after 15 or 20 years an old maid can take her hope chest and open up a curio shop, or something.

Most fat women are twins but they forgot to divide them. (P. S. The GW will swear I meant that slam for her and—Oh you accident policy, get on the job.)

Eternal Summer in the West Indies Is a Great Lure For Northerners Who Would Elude "Old Man Winter"

MORRO CASTLE - HAVANA

DUCHESS OF BEDFORD

ST. PIERRE - MARTINIQUE

COMING ASHORE FROM EMPRESS OF AUSTRALIA

Byron wrote, "Eternal summer glides them yet," about the Isles of Greece, "where burning Sappho loved and sung," and had he known the West Indies his poetic fancy would have been as full of compliment even if no Sappho were there. The Isles of the West Indies, at the door of the United States, are so full of romance and interest that those who desire to go away from snow and cold into sunshine and summer will be more than satisfied with the experience.

As one experienced traveler says: "Why remain at home, provided the bank account will cover $10 per day on such a ship as the Duchess of Bedford 29,000 gross tons, which leaves New York Jan 7 and Feb 8, 1933, and visits 13 ports not counting New York with its unequalled skyline and its thousands of attractions? And New York," he adds, "going away and coming back! Two bites at a cherry!"

On both voyages of the Duchess to the sunny Caribbean, one sees beautiful Hamilton, Bermuda, where joy walkers are safe because there are no automobiles; then Uncle Sam's San Juan, Porto Rico; then St. Pierre, Martinique, where historic and devastating Mount Pelée is now quiescent; and Fort de France, Martinique's quaint capital; next Bridgetown, Barbados; then Trinidad with its famous asphalt Pitch Lake, and Port of Spain.

questions about France, he said the Frogs drove tacks through the web part of the feet of their geese fastening them to a board so that they would have to stay put. The goose is gorged until his liver enlarges, then they make a lot of fuss over goose liver. Why wouldn't the same scheme work on night prowling husbands—except as to his liver?

More and more doctors advocate children dancing their way to health. And believe me they do it with mighty little encouragement. Some times I think it is more harmful to play dominoes or chew gum, but all three are mighty bad.

Will the Jack county party who told me the dog story come in. He double-crossed and misrepresented the whole outfit. He said he knew a man to make a wooden leg for his dog after one leg was cut off by a mower. That dog caught more rabbits than he did with four legs. He hid behind a tree by a cow path and when the rabbits came along, he would wham them on the head with his wooden-leg. After a careful investigation, I've found out it wasn't a dog, but was a turkey gobbler. Instead of rabbits, it was bobcats. Let's keep the record straight, there is an editor of the Brownfield Herald already intimating that some near prevarications (Japanese word for lie) have appeared in this column. His name is Jack Stricklin.

Jack and I had adjoining rooms in a hotel at Corpus Christi two years ago when we were supposed to be attending a state press meet. The second morning after we had fallen out for a 9 o'clock feed, I noticed Jack looked punk, or sick or something. I knew he never touched a drop in his life and never knew one card from another. After I asked him publicly what had happened to him, he led me off as tho I was a green country boy (which I was) and said: "Estlack I could not sleep because that darn shade was up all night." "Well," I says, "Why in thunder didn't you pull it down?" Jack looked at me pathetically and said: "Well, I just couldn't reach across the darned street!" (We moved hotel locations that day like any innocent country boys should.)

Our Weekly CHURCH CHAT

Minister First Christian Church

"FILL, DRAW, BEAR."

Text: "And Jesus said unto them, Fill the waterpots," etc.—John 7:7,8.

As Christians we are also to Fill, Draw and Bear the message of the Gospel of Jesus Christ to the world.

I. "Fill." We should fill our hearts and minds, and our very lives with the love and knowledge of the Gospel of Jesus Christ. We can fill them by a careful study of the life and works and teachings of Jesus. We can fill them also by a careful observance of the ways and workings of God as seen in nature. We can fill them also by a study of the lives of great religious leaders, especially those whose history is revealed in the New Testament. But a vital personal experience is necessary to fill a life fully.

II. "Draw." Having filled the life full, we are to draw from that source of supply in order to assist in the work of evangelizing the world. We are to draw upon this source which we have filled and not upon some other source. Lives should be so filled that they shall be as rivers of living waters, and it is from these rivers we are to draw in our endeavors to propagate the kingdom.

III. "Bear." We are then to bear the good news to others. The beauty of the Sea of Galilee is that it takes and it gives, the deadness of the Dead Sea is that it takes in, and does not give out. So the life that takes in and does not give out is as dead as the Black Sea. The Christian life is not complete until it has drawn out of the source and has given it to others. To fill and draw occasionally for themselves, is not truly Christian, we become so only when we draw and bear to others. We are to bear the gospel message with our own lips, and by the living of a life consistent with the teachings of Jesus.

Patrick Henry, State Evangelist, of the Texas Christian Missionary Society will be with us next Lord's Day to assist us in our installation services and to bring messages that will help us to help others.

Wake Up Your Liver Bile—Without Calomel

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blisters. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at all stores. © 1931, C. M. Co.

COUNTY SCHOOL NEWS

When our great Democracy shall have outgrown its child era of inexperience and crude experimentalism and become sane and wise; when the children of America are rated as the nations most valuable asset, its chief source of undeveloped power, and its most fruitful field for unlimited investment; when love shall have become the law of life and service, the test and measure of greatness—then will this truth be universally recognized: Those who train and inspire and mold the young are the real leaders of the people—the Makers and Builders of the nation.

—Henry Louis Smith. The teachers of Donley County Schools are to be commended on the way they are conducting the schools in the face of difficulties. Patrons of the schools are cooperating and aiding the teacher to carry on a successful school program.

THOROUGHLY COVERS THE TRADE TERRITORY

EDUCATIONAL DIGEST

By Gorden Gatewood

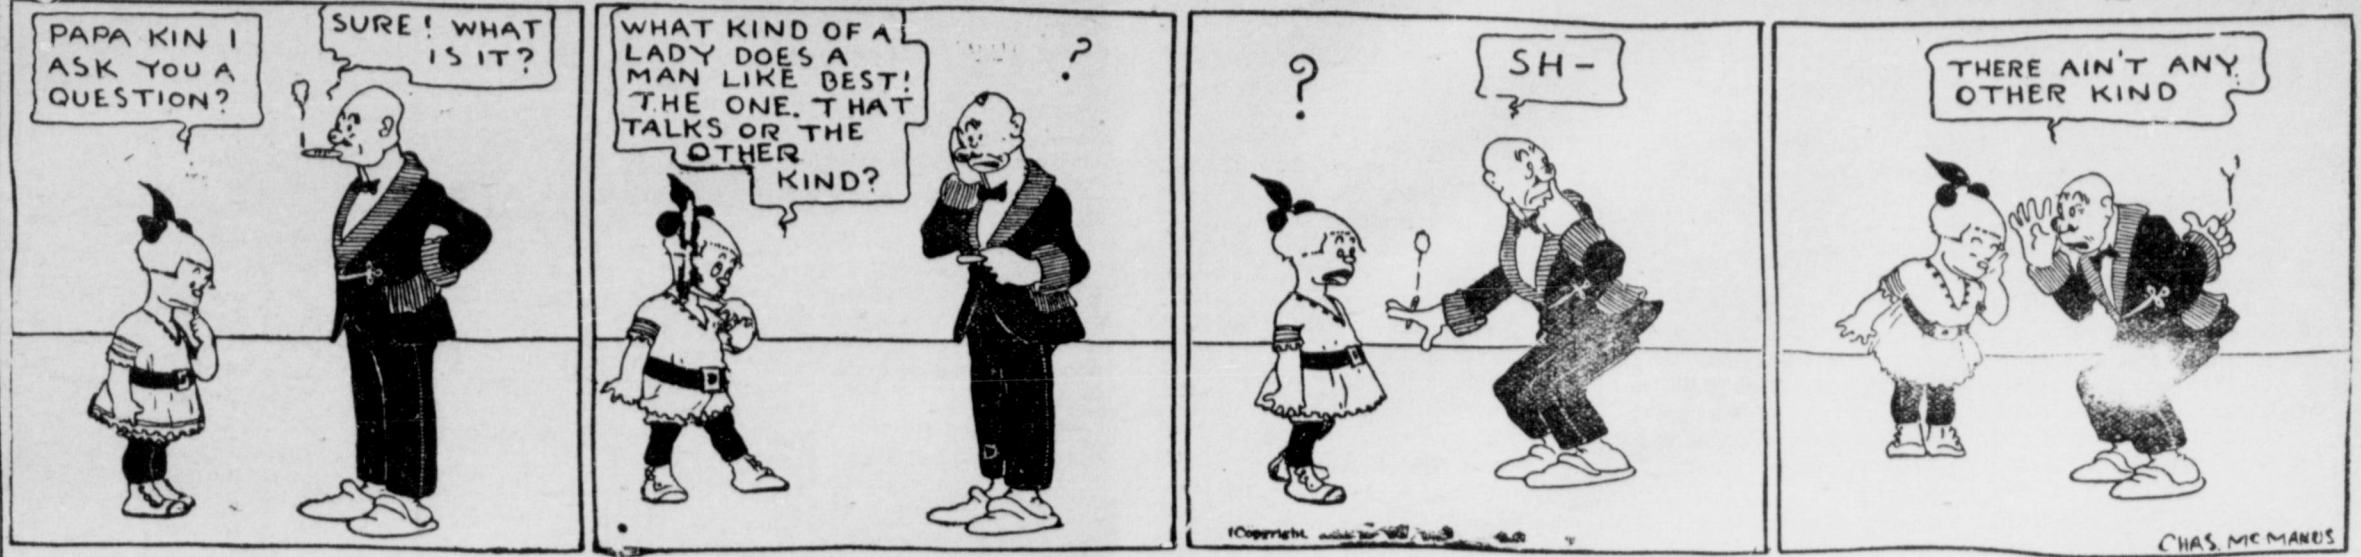

Hard times is a period in which people quit feeding the cow and then wonder why she gives less milk.

—W. T. F.

There is no better way to visualize the significance of the schools and teachers in the lives of children than to form some estimate of what schools have done in particular communities and for specific people who can be named and who are known.

LEADERSHIP—He is the best leader who most fully understands the nature of things, so that his plans are doomed to ultimate failure; who possesses an active, far-reaching imagination which can see many possibilities; who has a sense of values, so that among possibilities he is able to choose the most excellent; who has a sense of order, to give form, design, and program to the values and purposes that he selects; who has a practical sense and judgment, so that he chooses the most feasible means to accomplish his ends; and who has the energy and enthusiasm to carry his plans persistently toward their completion. —A. E. Morgan, Pres. Antioch College.

If school folk do not face soon the responsibility of learning the plain facts about the economic situation and of teaching those facts to both youth and adults, the schools may be seriously handicapped or forced to close entirely, as a result of the complete breakdown of the machinery of production and exchange. There is no time to lose.

—Journal of National Education Association.

Our schools belong to the people; they will go as far and no farther than the faith of the public in them.

The rural schools are the most effective means of helping the farmers to improve their economic and social status. Enlightenment has always been the means by which people have increased their general welfare.

—T. N. Carver.

There is no more mistaken idea prevalent than that which would require a community to exhaust itself by levying a maximum tax before receiving support from the state.

—George D. Strayer, Columbia University.

So long as the public permits extravagance in road building for the benefit of railroad busters and pleasure-seeking autoists, so long as it bases school support on tangible property alone, reserving for political purposes the taxes collected from the vast intangible forms of modern wealth and income, so long as it is unwilling to forego ten-million-dollar courthouses erected as monuments to vote getting politicians while little children nearby attend school in ramshackle shanties, so long as corporate bond merchandizers are permitted to clear themselves in tiny type of all responsibility for the goods they sell, so long as graft is tolerated in municipal government, so long as the trustees named in bond indentures are selected by the debtors and after defaults tend to act as attorneys for the debtors, so long as the public permits federal payrolls to care for the relatives of the congressmen, and so long as most elected officials are unwilling to accept salary reductions—the time is scarcely opportune for indiscriminate slashing of the school budgets.

Donley County Leader "A COMMON PAPER FOR COMMON PEOPLE"

How Old?

He doesn't look a day over fifty. And feels like forty.

At the age of 62.

That's the happy state of health a man enjoys when he gives his vital organs a little stimulant!

When your system is stagnant you feel sluggish, headachy, listless—don't waste money on "pills" or "regulators" or similar patent medicines. Stimulate the bowels. Use a famous physician's prescription every drug dealer keeps. Just ask them for Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin.

This appetizing syrup is made of fresh laxative herbs, active salts, and pure pepsin. One dose clears up almost any case of indigestion, biliousness, constipation.

But if you want to keep in fine shape, feel fit the year 'round, take a spoonful of Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin every few days. You'll eat better, sleep better and feel better. You will never need another laxative.

Give the children a little of this delicious syrup two or three times a week. A gentle, natural stimulant that makes them eat and keeps the bowels from clogging. And saves them from so many sick spells and colds.

Have a sound stomach, active liver and strong bowel muscles that expel every bit of waste and poison every day! Just keep a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin on hand; take a stimulating spoonful every now and then. See if you don't feel new vigor in every way.

SCHOOL FINANCE IS DISCUSSED AT LUNCHEON HOUR

Mixed Speech Program Has Attention of Rotarians Friday's Meeting

Curry Powell in charge of the program during luncheon hour of the Rotary club Friday invited "some speaker" to air his views on any subject. This was an invitation for a number of eager men to air their views on a number of subjects.

The first speaker was Dr. B. L. Jenkins who summed up the financial situation as it is affecting our schools. He explained the relation of highways to schools and paid his respects to the proposed law transferring highway fund taxes to the school fund.

F. E. Chamberlain chose an entirely different subject in speaking of idle money in the East, and how best to secure a freer circulation. He mentioned the fact that the future held brighter hopes, and that the next few months would bring a change for the better.

Judge A. T. Cole summed up the free silver question and gave it as his opinion that the value of the dollar would have to be deflated before much change in financial matters could be expected. He also spoke of incidents in connection with his recent trip to Washington.

Dr. O. L. Jenkins, president of the Club, protested reports emanating from Amarillo to the effect that contagious diseases were prevalent in Clarendon. He cited more than one instance wherein this county was given a "black eye" without apparent motive behind the statement of a party living at a distance.

F. E. Chamberlain as chairman of the Vocational Service committee will have charge of the program next Friday. He will be assisted by Dr. J. W. Evans and D. R. Davis.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Rogers of Texline visited with Mrs. Cap Lane and Mrs. Joe Cluck here this week on their return from Jacksboro. Mrs. Rogers will be remembered here as Miss Josephine Pounds.

Mrs. L. M. Cousins and Christeen of Canyon were guests of Mrs. C. A. Burton over the week.

A large group of P. T. A. workers gathered in the band room of the Central Ward building Thursday afternoon where they were delightfully entertained for fifteen minutes by Mr. Stephenson and the Clarendon Junior Band boys.

This splendid program was followed by a short business meeting in which the P. T. A. set aside eight dollars as a fund to purchase music for the Junior band, and fifteen dollars was presented to the South Ward for the purpose of buying books.

Plans for joint concerts of the Clarendon and Memphis Junior bands were made, one concert to be given at Clarendon and one at Memphis. Announcements concerning the concerts will be made at a later date.

An announcement to the effect that the Mothers of the band boys were planning to entertain them at least once a month, was very enthusiastically received by the boys.

Miss Pauline Fox's room won the honor of having the largest number of representatives present.

INDIAN STORY—

logical college. The masonry in both ruins of three types, slab-stone, horizontal and horizontal. The flint work of the Panhandlers was superb. Their source of material was the Alibates flint mine north of Amarillo. They made small, exquisitely fashioned arrow points which contrast vividly with the larger, cruder point of later Plains Indians. We infer the cruder points were of Plains origin in that they are ones most commonly found on the surface throughout Northwest Texas.

Oddly Shaped Knives
"The Panhandlers made many double-beveled knives with four edges, shaped something like an aeroplane propeller. These knives varied in length from three to five inches. Such knives are not peculiar to this culture. Professor J. E. Pearce of the University of Texas reports that they are found on the surface in Central Texas and in the top stratum of the kitchen middens of that region. These people had numerous microrappers of Alibates flint varying in size and shape. The dominant type differs from the snub-nose scraper of the Plains Indians in that it is thin and finished with a fine process. In the Plains flint collection of Dr. Cyrus N. Ray and E. B. Sayles of Abilene the snub-nose scraper is dominant, while the thin Panhandle type is rare.

"Artifacts of bone are plentiful, the most dominant type being bone awls. These were made mostly from the thin bones of antelope, the leg bones of turkeys, and the rib bones of large animals. A considerable number of decorated bone with grooves cut cross-wise have been found. Several stag-horn pressure flakers with which they fashioned their flint implements were excavated. They made spades from buffalo femurs to use in the cultivation of their corn patches.

Used ornaments
"The Panhandlers used distinctly Plains methods in their pottery construction. Plains pottery is usually recognized by its color and decoration. The pots were made of a grey material and carried textile impressions. The impressions were commonly made 'hammer and anvil' method, the 'hammer' or mallet, having a piece of glass fabric stretched over it. In some cases an orange color was obtained as a result of the firing process. In rarer instances a red color was obtained by the use of a red wash. But whether grey, orange, or red, every piece had fabric impressions. The pottery was tempered with coarse sand and mica, and an analysis shows it to be harder than Pueblo pottery.

"These Indians were fastidious about their ornaments. They had to have turquoise pendants, necklaces and inlaid turquoise objects, materials for which could be had only from the Cerrillos mines near Santa Fe, also, certain kinds of shell beads, materials for which came from the Pacific coast. The shell in the beads was identified as having come from the Pacific coast by the staff of the laboratory of anthropology at Santa Fe. The Panhandlers used homemade objects of decorated bone, rattles made by placing small, polished black pebbles in terrapin shells, and necklaces of bone beads.

In Ruins by 1540
"Inasmuch as the Panhandle houses were in such a state of ruin by 1540 that the Spaniards under Coronado passing through the region at that time made no mention of them, it is probable that the houses had been deserted for a considerable length of time. We may deduce, therefore, that the sedentary Panhandle culture flourished in Texas approximately from 1350 to 1400 A. D. The fact that neither of these two larger ruins was built much earlier, if any, than 1350 does not necessarily prove, however, that the inhabitants had just arrived in the Canadian valley. They could have been there for generations before they begin building permanent homes. The discovery of the comparatively recent date of the ruins was a greater surprise to most of us who have been working in the Panhandle, and it completely upset our previous theories.

"Some of us had formerly thought that the Canadian culture was eastern expansion of an early Pueblo people shortly after the Christian era. The discovery, however, that they are contemporary with a late Pueblo period puts them in an entirely different light. Their distinctive type of pottery indicates they are non-Pueblo. It is highly probable that they were a people of plains or eastern origin.

They wandered into the Canadian valley, and found conditions there conducive to sedentary life. The broken country and the fresh water creeks of the Canadian valley made the vicinity ideal for buffalo at all seasons of the year. With a permanent meat supply, the newcomers could settle down. They either brought knowledge of corn culture with them or borrowed it from the Pueblos to the west. With corn to cultivate there was all the more reason why they should stay in one place, as they had constantly to guard their corn fields against buffalo, antelope, and deer from the time the corn was planted until it was harvested.

Progressed Rapidly
"They began to think of permanent homes. If they came from the East, they probably brought a notion of permanent homes, pottery-making, and corn culture with them. A sedentary life encourages an accumulative culture. Once they settled down, they began to make rapid strides towards civilized life. A brisk trade sprang up with the civilized people to the west. Buffalo hides were traded for turquoise and pottery. Among other things the Panhandlers borrowed from the Pueblos was Pueblo architecture. The Panhandlers were cruder artisans, but they were learning fast during the relatively short period they were here. A ruin with almost 300 rooms within 14 miles of the B. T. K. ruin indicates the progress they were making.

"It is highly probable that the Panhandlers borrowed social institutions from the Pueblos. Several hundred people living in a communal house could not have gotten along very well without rather high governmental and economic systems. As community life became more and more complicated it was natural for the people to turn to the existing systems not so far away to the west for models. No doubt before they left the Canadian valley the Panhandlers were becoming 'puebloized.' The word 'Pueblo' has a cultural significance, as is evidenced by the fact that the Pueblos today are descendants of four distinct linguistic groups. Two adjacent Pueblo peoples may not be able to talk to each other except through the common medium of Spanish.

Where did They Go?
"The question still remains as to what became of the Panhandlers. After they evolved such a civilization, what caused them to completely disappear? In time we may be able to answer that, but at the present we can only guess. There are two probable causes—drouths and hostile pressure. The cyclic, erratic nature of Texas weather may have caused them to starve out and to start wandering again. With the return to nomadic life they left behind the inventions they had accumulated, and no longer had need of the recently acquired social institutions. On the other hand, pressure from more warlike neighbors may have caused the Panhandlers to leave the Canadian valley. They may have retreated westward and become amalgamated with the Pueblos of the Rio Grande area, or they may have been forced in some other direction, and once out of the region where they could obtain a livelihood in a sedentary manner, they lost those traits which had made them distinctive. Years of careful work may be necessary to determine what became of the people, and again we may never know."

Chester Mayo, best trio of Reds, awarded 25 chicks by E. V. Quattlebaum.

J. L. Cobbs, best R. I. Red cockerel, grand champion cockerel. Prizes of $2 in cash.

The exhibit of E. V. Quattlebaum, leading Rhode Island Red poultryman of the county came up to all expectations. He was awarded $3 in cash, tray of custom hatch by Clarendon Hatchery, and $2.50 barber card by Whitlock's barber shop for exhibiting grand champions cockerel, pullet, young pen, old pen, also best pullet in the entire show.

One very noticeable feature of the exhibit was the fact that poultry growers have evidently changed their opinions from that of a few years ago. The birds shown this year ran to dark colors, only a few specimens of the lighter breeds being shown. The favorite White Leghorn was represented by only 11 birds out of a total of 211. Brahmans, White Giants and White Cornish were much in evidence. Rhode Island Reds were in the majority.

Those who take an interest in poultry and have attended the shows here the past several years, are of the opinion that the quality this year was above any previous attempt. The show was sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce. E. V. Quattlebaum was a prime factor in the success of the affair with the Clarendon Hatchery man, Frank White Jr., a strong running mate. Several others contributed of their skill and Mr. Boykin and his aggie class are due a great deal of credit for arranging the exhibit.

Loses Shotgun in Guarding Coal From Thieves

Depending upon his own ability to guard his coal pile without calling upon the "law" for protection, Ora Liesberg armed himself with an automatic shotgun Friday night and hid himself to his place of business to guard his stock of coal against thieves who had been making depredations at intervals for some time.

Having occasion to step into his office for a few moments, Ora left his shotgun on the outside. When he returned, the shotgun had disappeared. Officers were trying to locate his stolen shotgun Saturday.

Roy Bartlett Buys Armstrong Grocery This Week

Roy Bartlett of Childress becomes owner of the Armstrong grocery, the stock being moved to the Bartlett building next door to the postoffice and formerly occupied by the M System grocery. Carl Allmond of Childress, formerly local Chevrolet agent here, will have charge of the store.

Mr. Bartlett operated a photo studio here for many years, was active in Chamber of Commerce work and a prominent member of the Lions club. It is not known at this time if he will return to live here as he is owner of a photo studio at Childress.

Mr. Armstrong has made no announcement as to what business he will follow for the present.
