CAGLE ATTENDS PIONEER REUNION

Montague County Was Home In Childhood Days 50 Years Ago

More than fifty years ago, the Cagle family located near Forestburg in Montague county. Sunday was reunion day for the old settlers and W. P. Cagle of Clarendon was one of the most interested guests.

People from all over Texas and Oklahoma were present, he said, many of them from West Texas making up an attendance of approximately fifteen hundred.

Incidents of a half century ago included Indian scares and the big drought of 1886-87 that came along later to harass the early settlers living in log houses and depending on oxen for motor power.

"It took us three days to make the round trip to Gainesville then, but now they run over for the afternoon, do their shopping and easily return home in a few hours by auto," Mr. Cagle said Tuesday.

He visited with the last real pioneer, none other than the father of R. A. Grant of Goldston. The Grant and Cagle families lived on adjoining farms near Forestburg—the town that was bigger 50 years ago than it is now. Railroads and highways both held down a good town by building other towns nearby.

The trip of 555 miles was made on the same air. Mr. Cagle was accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. Van Kennedy and her son Richard Van. They returned home Monday. They visited in Wichita Falls, St. Jo, Henrietta and other places on the round trip.

Repairs Made to Protect Highway Bridge

Workmen under the direction of Y. A. Rankin, foreman of the local highway division, have completed precautionary measures to protect the bridge just east of Lelia Lake on highway 5.

Thirty-four pieces of 6-inch casing, each 22 feet in length have been sunk to a wall level on each side of the creek bank. Heavy woven wire was placed behind the piling and rock placed behind the wire. This system of protecting embankments has proven most satisfactory, Mr. Rankin says.

JUDGE STROUD OF HEDLEY DIES

Resident of Hedley Over Twenty-Four Years Succumbs Monday

With the death of Judge L. A. Stroud at Hedley at 12:35 p. m. Monday, another pioneer citizen of Donley county and West Texas passes from active participation.

Judge Stroud pioneered at Hereford where he was engaged in representing the Stringfellow-Hume hardware interests before coming to Donley county. He had resided at Hedley for more than twenty-four years.

For the past several years, he had refrained from active pursuits due to age and health. He served that precinct as a Justice of the Peace for many years.

Until the last, he took an active interest in his nation by keeping abreast of the times. He was a politician of the old school and supported his party interests wholeheartedly. He was a native of Georgia, and very naturally a democrat.

Funeral services were conducted at Amarillo Wednesday by his Hedley pastor, Rev. E. V. Hendricks. His body was laid beside that of Mrs. Stroud who passed away in Amarillo in 1927.

Surviving are four sons. W. H. of Hedley; R. L. with the Russell Stationery store, H. D. and John L. with the Santa Fe railway, all three residing in Amarillo.

VISITORS TO SEE MUSEUM EXHIBIT

Panhandle-Plains Museum Has The Most Interesting Exhibit In Southwest

Canyon, Oct. 27.—The Panhandle Plains Historical Society Museum will be open on November 2 from 9:00 o'clock in the morning until 10:00 p. m., except during the hours of the football game, according to Professor L. F. Sheffy who is in charge of it.

November 2 is Home Coming day for the West Texas State Teachers College and new materials will be on exhibit at the museum for the occasion. A crowd of at least 3,000 people is expected to hear General Hugh S. Johnson, enjoy the barbecue and the football game, and meet old friends. The college invitation is not limited to ex-students.

The Panhandle-Plains Historical Society is waiting for directions from the Texas Centennial Commission regarding the expenditure of $25,000 which was allotted to the organization to be used in connection with the museum at this place.

Horace M. Russell of Amarillo and Dr. J. A. Hill and Professor L. F. Sheffy of Canyon represented the society at Austin when the allotment was made.

Dr. Hill said that they received help from many citizens of Northwest Texas who were in Austin at the same time, and named among these Judge Ray Johnson and Attorney Charles Keffer and Mel Davis of Pampa.

W. H. Patrick of Clarendon, President of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society and its board of directors will meet at the earliest possible time to determine just how the available money can be spent for the good of the museum.

Father of Local Woman Is Killed by Auto

Jerry Sanford Johnson, father of Mrs. Hubert Johnson residing near Clarendon, was fatally injured near Conway Sunday as he crossed Highway 66 on an errand of mercy to secure medical aid for the daughter of a neighbor.

His car was struck by a car driven by J. B. Smith of Oklahoma City.

Mr. Johnson suffered a crushed skull above the left ear, and died shortly after being removed to his home some two miles north of Conway. Funeral services were conducted at Claude Tuesday, where he resided some 15 years before moving to near Conway.

BRONCHOS BATTLE LEFORS TO 0-0 TIE

Playing a great defensive game last Friday night, the Clarendon Bronchos held the strong Lefors Pirates to a scoreless tie. The local eleven was outweighed in every position.

The first half was evenly played with the ball see-sawing up and down the field. Both teams made three first downs a piece in this half.

The second half was quite different from the first. The Bronchos only had the ball long enough to punt out of danger throughout the last half. Three times the Pirates forged their way inside the Clarendon 10 yard line. Once they lost it on a fumble, and the third and last time the ball was on the 2 foot line when the gun ending the game sounded.

There were several changes in the Clarendon line-up which proved to be of great help on the defense, but the Bronchos still lack the old punch to make yards on the offense. In this game, playing against great odds, it looks like the Bronchos have staged a strong comeback.

ASHTOLA'S FIRST IS COWBOY PLAY

Comedy Drama Depicting Wild Arizona Ranch Life Of Long Ago

Following last year's policy of presenting the best non-royalty plays obtainable, Ashtola will present a three-act Comedy Drama entitled "The Boss of the Powderhorn," on October 31st, Hellowe'en night. This play up until this year carried a fifteen dollar royalty.

It is the story of Tom Cardigan, the foreman of the Powderhorn Ranch in southern Arizona, allowing his pal, Billy Harper, a young easterner, to pose as the boss of the ranch to deceive some of his eastern friends and comply with the conditions of his father's will. It is a western comedy from start to finish containing a fake kidnapping, the "salting" of a small creek with oil and the final discovering of the real boss of the Powderhorn.

Two Spot and Solitaire, two eccentric cowboys, provide the laughs in the play by their comedy courtship of Marcella Tucker, an old maid secretary of Coleman's. Minnie the ranch cook, is a "whiz" and keeps things going at a lively pace.

The time of playing is three hours, with plenty of good comedy and novelty numbers between acts. The price of admission will be 15c to all comers of school age or better. The proceeds of the play will be used in carrying on the plans already under way, of providing hot lunches for the children in school.

The second unit from Clarendon to Hedley will cost $61,210.00 on a distance of 13 miles.

The third unit from Hedley to the Hall county line has been awarded Coker & Braden, and work will begin as soon as the state department issues working orders. This is being held up pending approval of the public roads department of the federal government.

CORN-HOG VOTE OCTOBER 26TH

Producers of Nation Will Say if Program Is To Continue

The date set for the election to determine whether the Corn-Hog program is to continue is Saturday, October 26th. Elections are to be held at the following places:

Skillet school building. Jericho school building. Judge Lowe's office, Clarendon. Moreman's store, Hedley. John Howard's store, Lelia Lake.

Every producer eligible to sign a contract may vote in this election whether he now holds a contract or not, county agent H. M. Breedlove stated Tuesday.

A similar election is being held all over the nation. The results will determine whether the Corn-Hog program is to continue. For that reason, all producers are urged to vote next Saturday.

Former Clarendon Man Gets Auto Accessory Patent

T. J. Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Allen of this city, has perfected a patent for expanding auto pistons that takes up the wear and also protects the ring surface.

The device, of which he had sold some ten thousand dozen, consists of a spring fitted inside the old piston. He made the machines for manufacturing the spring, the factory being located in San Antonio, his home town.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen visited here during the fore part of the week on their way home from Washington where he completed requirements for issuance of his patent which are being sold by a number of leading dealers over the state.

Students Big Canyon School Visit Relatives Here

Five students of the teachers' college at Canyon visited relatives here and at Lelia Lake over the week end.

They were Mrs. Oma Scoggins and daughter, Miss Ruby Dell. Sam King, Margaret Gerner of Lelia, and Miss Melba Johnston of Chamberlain.

Donley county is well represented in the Canyon student body each school term. Many of the teachers of this county secured their training in the higher branches in the Canyon school.

Highway Bid Is Approved

The State Highway Department announced Tuesday that a low bid was tabulated on that section of Highway 5 from Hedley to the Hall county line, a distance of 10.9 miles.

Coker & Braden of Amarillo were the low bidders, the price being $64,825. The specifications are said to be for a "caliche and limestone base."

WPA WORK ORDERS ISSUED TUESDAY

More Work Projects Will Be Authorized as Funds Become Available

Order to put 271 persons to work on seven projects have been sent from the San Antonio headquarters to A. A. Meredith, director of Works Progress Administration District 16 at Amarillo. The announcement was made from the Amarillo office Tuesday.

Federal authorities have allotted $42,295 toward these projects, and the sponsors in each place where projects are proposed, have pledged a total of $15,445.26.

Donley county is included in District 16, but no specific mention is made of any work to begin in this county at this particular time, though assurances are given that such work may begin any time.

PORTER TO SPEAK TO YOUNG DEMOS

Young Democrats announce their regular monthly meeting for next Monday night at 7 p. m. in the District Court room.

Judge J. R. Porter will speak on "What is Constitutional?" It is understood that an opportunity will be given those who wish to ask questions.

The organization has a large and enthusiastic membership, and their monthly meetings are said to draw a large and enthusiastic attendance.

Venerable Citizen Reaches Seventy-Fifth Year

It was a quiet family affair Sunday when members of the family gathered to honor Joe Holland Sr. on the occasion of his 75th birthday at the beautiful brick home of Mr. and Mrs. Holland in Clarendon.

A bountiful dinner was served at the noon hour to the honoree, Mr. Joe Holland, Sr. and Mrs. Holland. Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Leathers and son Leroy, Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Whitfield and son Earl, Mr. and Mrs. U. Z. Patterson and son Sam, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Holland Jr., Lee Holland and Miss Grace Harvey.

Mr. Holland, a native of Tennessee, came to Texas at the age of 13. He met and married Miss Dora L. Ramsay near Desdemona, Comanche county at an early age.

The family home was near Gunsight, Stevens county for a time, then the family moved to Hamlin, Jones county and to Donley county in 1912. Mr. Holland farmed practically all his active years. He has been a quiet, industrious citizen wherever he has lived. His friends are legion and the fact that he has "never been arrested or fined," is the taunt of his friends who enjoy joking with the genial character we all love as one of Donley's most highly respected citizens.

Neighbors Help Tom Naylor During His Illness

Due to the fact that Tom E. Naylor of the Fairview community is ill and away from home, his friends gladly went to his farm, picked his cotton, cut his row crop and otherwise put his business in good shape.

Tuesday, a number of his neighbors gathered his peanuts and dug his sweet potatoes.

As a further evidence of the high esteem in which the family is held in Donley county, Royce Hall and Ray Bowlin have received many donations of cash to pay toward treatment and incidental expenses of the stricken man.

During the spring, Mr. Naylor paid out some three hundred dollars for operations for his small son. Mr. Naylor is said to be at Milling's Sanatorium at Mineral Wells at present, Mrs. Naylor being with him.

Broncho-Mobeetic Game Friday Night

The Clarendon Bronchos will enter the game here tomorrow (Friday) night at 8 o'clock against the Mobeetic Hornets with an even chance to win. It is said that both teams are light and inexperienced. This will be the first time Clarendon ever played the Hornets in a conference game.

The Broncs played a good defensive game last Friday night to hold the Lefors Pirates to a scoreless tie. Coaches Kerby and Stults have been working the Bronchos hard all week on offensive plays. A mighty good game is promised the Clarendon fans tomorrow night. The local squad will be out to show what they can really do when given an equal chance. Come out and support the Bronchos!

MEL-ROY WILL COME THURSDAY

Noted Radio Mentalist To Stage Program in Clarendon

The magic rabbit is getting ready to make his unexpected appearance at an odd mystery program to be sponsored by the Clarendon Lions club at the College Auditorium at 7:30 p. M. Thursday night, October 31st.

"Mel-Roy The Great," former mentalist heard over XEPN will appear in person for the performance. From all newspaper accounts in other towns, Mel-Roy has proven a real entertainer. World famous wielder of the magic wand, he completely mystifies his audience.

Witnesses of his act of shooting a ribbon through the body of a lady, state that this and other acts which he will show here, is crammed full of highly mystifying feats that are real entertaining.

MEL-ROY THE GREAT

The program will be varied with humor, and is interspersed with enlightening dialogue which adds greatly to the enjoyment of the magician's baffling effects.

His antics will give you many minutes of fun and thrills, he will captivate you with his skill as he has done audiences all over the states, both over the radio and from the stage.

Some of the Oriental mysteries on Mel-Roy's program are particularly interesting. Among them he presents the bewildering and seemingly impossible mystery of shooting a steel arrow through an assistant's body, an effect which it is said more than $350,000 has been spent on trying to expose this one effect.

This is only one among the many effects too numerous to mention. Be sure to see Mel-Roy's performance at the College Auditorium next Thursday evening.

Sales of Inferior Gasoline Charged in Donley

Charges have been made against four service station men of Donley county the past week by John C. Wilson of Amarillo, tax supervisor of the State Comptroller's department.

The sale of inferior gasoline is alleged Effective on October 22, Bankhead Cotton Tax-Exemption Certificates will be sold or transferred at the price of 4 cents per pound, according to a telegram received from Washington by R. C. Land, Assistant in Cotton Adjustment, Wednesday.

These same certificates have been selling at five cents per pound.

This means that any farmer lowable under the Bankhead Act is permitted to buy tax exemption certificates from less fortunate farmers for four cents instead of five cents, as has heretofore been charged. The certificates are for sale at the office of the county agent.

These certificates will also be sold in the national cotton pool for four cents instead of the former price of five cents per pound.

The reduction in the selling price on the tax exemption sheets means a reduction of $5 per bale of 500 pounds of lint cotton to those farmers who need the certificates. This works just the reverse for those farmers who have surplus certificates for sale, which means that they will sell the sheets for $5 a bale less.

The one cent reduction became effective Wednesday following announcement yesterday by the Federal AAA that there was a reduction in the Bankhead cotton tax from six cents per pound to 5.45 cents per pound.

By buying these surplus exemption certificates in this county, producers may save 1.45 cents per pound more than they would if they went ahead and paid the government tax of 5.45 cents per pound on the cotton they have produced in excess of their allowable.

Anyone having excess certificates may transfer them to some other farmer, the only stipulation being that they be transferred in the county agent's office and that they sell for four cents per pound.

The one cent reduction in the tax exemption forms effects almost every person in the county, either directly or indirectly.

Hommel Grows Another Crop Fine Seedling Peaches

A chance seedling planted by W. Ollie Hommel four years ago came into bearing last year, the fruit ripening in October. It was noted that the late peaches were of extra size, flavor and beautiful color of the cling variety.

Last week the second crop came on. The tree bore about two bushels this season as compared with about two dozen peaches last year. The same qualities were again noted this season.

Mr. Hommel has a large nursery company budding young trees with a view of propagating the fruit stock for general sale. The name given the new peach is "Hommel's October."

Church of Christ to Hear Lelia Lake Minister

W. Wallace Layton, local pastor, announces that Bro. Robert Gully minister for the church of Christ in Lelia Lake will preach for the Church of Christ here next Wednesday evening. Bro. Gully is an ex-student of Abilene Christian College, and able speaker, of good report from those who know him and have heard him.

Visits Here Again After Absence 27 Years

Twenty-seven years ago Joe G. Ferebee of Cana, N. C. was an employee of John T. Sims. He saw ranches and wide open spaces and liked the freedom of the west.

This week he returned to visit his cousins, the Misses Minnie, Lou and Ava Naylor and other relatives and old acquaintances. Mr. Ferebee thinks the dry weather and the breaking up of the pastures has not added to the attraction of the country.

HAIL THE PATRIOTS!

To those profound educators in Lynn, Mass., we extend our congratulations, for, being unable to force eight-year-old Carleton Nichols to salute the flag once a week, they finally closed the door of the schools to this "menace."

Such diligence should be rewarded, so we suggest that as an award, the School Board should be entitled to recite the constitution of the United States to the dear children, pointing out just what portion of that document would justify such action.—Portales Daily News.

GETS THE JOB DONE.

Santa Fe has solved the carnival problem and has set an example that Carlsbad and other New Mexico cities may well pattern.

The ancient city has for years charged a license fee of $1,250 per day for carnivals to show within the city limits. Carnivals do not invade Santa Fe with their array of gyms and rackets.

Carlsbad has a license fee of $100 per day for carnivals. Although the fee is set by city ordinance, official records disclose a $75 fee is the highest that has been assessed and in some instances carnivals have been admitted on the $50 per day basis.

Listening to the sad depression pleas of high-pressure show representatives, city officials for many years past have permitted carnivals to operate at "reduced rates" and, as a result, a precedent charging fees below the amount set by ordinance has been established.

It is time to break such a precedent. Carlsbad is about to be invaded by a carnival and it's a good time to start assessing the limit. Carlsbad should follow Santa Fe's example and place the fee so high the city would be forever rid of the nuisances.

Carnivals, in our opinion, are poor entertainment. They are generally packed with schemes to get the poor man's dollar. A crafty gambler doesn't even have a chance at the games of chance. Any merchant will tell you that poor collections always follow a carnival's visit.—Current-Argus.

WE LOSE WAR PROFITS, BUT GAIN PEACE!

The plight of the Simple Simon who wants to eat his cake and have it too is as nothing compared to the difficulties besetting a nation which wants to have both war profits and neutrality.

President Roosevelt's neutrality stand has already brought some anguished squawks. The loudest has come from the Conference on Port Development of the City of New York, Inc., an organization of shipping and exporting firms which has protested vehemently against the trade restriction as "hasty and ill-advised."

This organization declares that American trade with Italy has given jobs to thousands of citizens, especially in the New York area, through which 90 per cent of our exports to Italy flow. After asserting that the neutrality proclamation "virtually abandons America's traditional insistence on neutral trading rights and freedom of the seas," it adds:

"Our exports to Italy have exceeded those of other nations, and are now at stake unnecessarily. . . . Italy offers us a market for our surplus and she buys more than she sells us on balance."

All this is probably quite true—and it just goes to remind us that peace, like every other blessing, attainable by man, has its price.

For the one thing that ought to be clear, in any discussion of neutrality legislation, is this: We can keep our skirts clear and avoid the danger of being drawn into a foreign war, or we can make hay while the sun shines and cash in on war orders—but we cannot possibly do both.

Living up to the arms embargo will be costly; make no mistake about that. It will prevent us from selling many a bill of goods. If the present war spreads and involves such nations as England and France, our loss will be even greater.

Nations at war need to buy many things, and they are things which we are peculiarly well equipped to sell them. But self-denial of that kind is the price of peace. If we are determined not to get drawn into another European war, our one hope is to forget about the profits.

The lesson of 1917 is unmistakable. When you set yourself up as warehouse and granary for a warring nation, you are simply leading with your chin; sooner or later you find your own fortunes inextricably tied up with the fortunes of the army of your chief customer.

The anguish of these New York exporters is natural and understandable. Our embargo, even though it is incomplete, is costing them money. What we need to keep in mind is that any sound neutrality program is bound to be expensive.

But you might remember that the profits we would have lost if we had refused to sell goods to England and France during the world war would never have amounted to a tenth of the money we actually did lose by going to war on their side.—Wichita Falls Record News.

Texas Prayer Week is Set By Gov. Allred

Governor James V. Allred has designated that period from October 28th to November 3rd as "Peace Prayer Week" in the following proclamation:

"European nations are under the dark cloud of possible war. Civilization is endangered.

"Our great leader, Franklin D. Roosevelt, has issued a clarion call in the cause of peace. He has asked for public support of his peace declarations and program.

"The people of Texas unani- mously are in accord with the President in his humanitarian pro- gram for peace. They unreservedly approve his declarations, his prompt embargo on arms and munitions, the position he has taken against any American citizenship or interest imperiling the Nations' neutrality.

"Since the President's statement unquestionably represent the attitude and desires of Texas, it is but fitting that public expression and demonstration should manifest that spirit and approval.

"I urge public-spirited citizens and officials to deliver addresses on the subject and all schools, churches and synagogues to conduct appropriate programs and services so as to give fullest effect to the President's and the people's desire for the continued neutrality of this country and the peace of the world."

TEMPLE OF TRUTH By the Apostle

Had you ever stopped to think that those who criticise you are those who, in the big majority, have made a failure of life to date?

Are you one of the Jones boys? Just look at Marvin and Jessie. Those who get the most feed, don't care anything about it. The rest can't get it.

Beer first came out in an ordinary keg. Next we had bottles. A few months ago they resorted to cans as containers. Now we are faced with a waxed carton as the latest type of beer containers. Eventually, we will be able to get it in pellets.

An indelible pencil and a fountain pen are said to have provoked more soft cuss words than any other small articles. One won't write at all, and the other writes all the time.

Selfishness: 'Tm the best pal I ever had; We never have a fuss; We like to sit and talk about What's best for both of us.'

'In spite of the wonderful strides in disease prevention made in the last few decades, the problem of the common cold yet remains to be solved,' reads a portion of a mimeographed bulletin from the State Department of Health this week. No where does the bulletin suggest how to prevent colds. Your family physician would probably tell you that colds are contracted in only three ways. Through the nose, or mouth, or by a sudden change in bodily temperature. Guarding the three avenues will enable you to escape a cold any time. Keep the hands away from the nose and mouth. Avoid drafts. Keep the feet dry and above all, subject the body to no sudden changes in temperature. If you are subject to 'colds,' try these suggestions made by one cold victim of years ago who has not had a cold in 16 years.

Then there is the man whose wife gave him a bottle of hair tonic for a birthday present. He expressed his appreciation in a questioning manner. And did she cut him down when she said, 'yes dear, give it to your typist. Her hair is coming out on your coat something terrible.'

The only man ever to be seen reading a roadside signboard was in the suburbs of Memphis Friday evening. He was seated in a dilapidated flivver that had partly wrecked the signboard. TYPOGRAPHICAL ERRORS

Upon Receiving a Copy of My First Poem Published In a Village Newspaper.

(Author Unknown) Ah! here it is. I'm famous now, An author and a poet! It really is in print! Ye gods! How proud I'll be to show it! And gentle Anna! what a thrill Will animate her breast To read these ardent lines and know To whom they are addressed!

Why, bless my soul! here's something strange, What can the paper mean, By talking of the 'graceful brooks, That gander o'er the green?' And here's a T instead of R, Which makes it 'Tippling rill,' 'Will seek the shad' instead of shade, And 'hel' instead of 'hill.'

'They look so—' what? I recollect 'Twas 'sweet' and then 'twas 'kind,' And now to think the stupid fool For 'bland' has printed 'blind'! Was ever such provoking work? 'Tis curious, by and by, How anything is rendered blind By giving it an eye.

'Hast thou no tears'—the A's left out— 'Hast thou no ears' instead; 'I hope that thou art dear' is put 'I hope that thou art dead.' Who ever saw in such a space So many blunders crammed? 'Those gentle eyes bedimmed' is spelt 'Those gentle eyes be d—d!'

'The color of the rose' is 'nose,' 'Affection' is 'affliction;' I wonder if the likeness holds In fact as well as diction? 'Thou are a friend,' the R is gone; Whoever would have deemed That such a trifling thing could change A 'friend' into a 'fiend!'

'Thou art the same' is rendered 'lame,' It really is too bad; And here because an 'I' is out, My 'lovely maid' is 'mad!' They drove her blind by poking in An eye—a process new; And now they've gouged it out again, And made her crazy, too.

'Where are the muses fled, that thou Shouldst live so long unsung?' Thus read my version. Here it is, 'Shouldst live so long unhung!' I'll read no more! What shall I do? I'll never dare to send it; The paper's scattered far and wide 'Tis now too late to mend it.

Was ever such a horrid hash In poetry or prose? I've said she was a fiend, and praised The color of her nose. I wish I had that editor About a half a minute; I'd 'bang' him to his heart's content, And with an 'H' begin it. —The Kablegram.

THE NEW FORD V-8 FOR 1936

Why do we say The New Ford V-8 for 1936?

What is new about it? Of course, the newest engine in the low-price car field is still the V-8 engine. Since Ford made it available to all car users (keeping it as economical as cars with fewer cylinders) the Ford V-8 has been the newest engine on the market, and remains the newest for 1936.

You may buy a car on minor 'talking points'—some specially advertised feature 'with the car thrown in'—but after all, it is the engine you buy when you buy a car. Hence we put the engine first.

Other new points about the car make a long list.

Its lines are much more beautiful. The hood is longer and sweeps forward over the distinctive new radiator grille, giving the car a length and grace that are instantly impressive. The fenders are larger, with a wide flare. Horns are concealed behind circular grilles beneath the headlamps. New steel wheels.

Ford upholstery—always of sterling quality and excellent taste—is rich and enduring. The appointments of the car have a new touch of refinement, There is no question about the increased beauty of the Ford V-8 for 1936.

In more practical matters, many improvements have been made—Steering is made easier by a new steering gear ratio. The cooling system circulates 5 1/2 gallons of water through a new, larger radiator. Natural thermosiphon action is assisted by two centrifugal water pumps. New style hood louvres permit a rapid air-flow around the engine.

Easier, quieter shifting of Ford gears—The gear shift lever now travels a shorter distance.

The two qualities you want in brakes—Brakes that stop the car with ease and certainty. Ford Super-Safety Brakes of the long-tested, fool-proof, mechanical design.

Safety—as always—in the electrically welded genuine steel body. Safety Glass all around at no extra cost. Hundreds have written grateful letters because this glass has protected the safety of their families.

A car you can drive without strain all day, if you like, in city or country. Steady, holds the road, responds to the driver's touch like a well-trained horse. You don't have to 'push' or 'fight' the Ford V-8—driver and car easily get on terms of good understanding with each other.

An engine has much to do with the roominess of a car. Very much indeed. A long engine uses up car space. The compact V-8 engine permits much of the ordinary engine space to be used by passengers.

It really is a great car in every way, this 1936 Ford V-8—the finest, safest, most dependable Ford car ever built. Now on display by Ford dealers.

"LOVE ME FOREVER" SURPASSES PREVIOUS GRACE MOORE FILM

While no attendance figures are available, and since the picture is still establishing box office records in smaller theatres throughout the country, it is admitted that Grace Moore's first Columbia production, "One Night of Love," has been seen by more persons than any other picture of the past decade.

To the millions who witnessed Miss Moore in her first triumph and who have been impatiently awaiting her second Columbia picture, "Love Me Forever," the Pastime Theatre now announces that it has secured this picture for showing beginning Sunday, October 27th.

Preview critics and others privileged to attend private showings of "Love Me Forever" claim that the latter picture is even greater than "One Night of Love." Aside from its more powerful story, they cite its larger cast, its variety of background, and its number of beautiful and impressive sets to bear out their statements.

Many are of the opinion that Miss Moore's voice is even more beautiful than before. Columbia Studios, recipients of the award from the Society of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences for sound recording, state that new methods of recording have been employed which bring out qualities in Miss Moore's voice, not heard in "One Night of Love."

Victor Schertzing, to whom a large quota of the credit for "One Night of Love" must go, directed "Love Me Forever." The picture is an adaption of his original idea, brought to screen form by Jo Swerling, Hollywood ace scenarist, and Sidney Buchman, skilled playwright. The cast of "Love Me Forever" is larger than its predecessor; the producers and critics claim that music is used in the same powerful manner as was employed in "One Night of Love"; sets, settings and general production details are reported to excel those of the record-breaking "One Night of Love."

Leo Carrillo, excellent and noted player that he is, is said to have wept with joy when notified that he was chosen for the role of Corelli, the music loving Italian gambler and cafe operator, the leading male character of the production. Luis Alberni, remembered from "One Night of Love" as the excitable assistant to Tullio Carminati, has the role of general handy man, friend and confidant of the gambler. From the New York stage and concert halls comes Michael Bartlett, lyric tenor, distinguished in music circles here and abroad. Robert Allen, also from the New York stage and comparatively new to pictures, is seen as the "other man" in the life of the singer. The supporting cast is completed with players such as Douglas Dumbrille, Spring Byington, and Gavin Gordon.

In addition to the classical numbers, "Love Me Forever" will introduce a new song by Victor Schertzing of the same name as the title of the picture. Schertzing, it will be remembered, wrote the selection, "One Night of Love," which became instantly popular when that picture reached American screens.

Mable Mongole gave a report of conference at Amarillo. Mrs. Fred Chamberlain and Jean McDonald gave a missionary play. A lovely salad course refreshment with Halloween plate favors were served to guests Mrs. Mary Stegall and Miss Mary Howern and 27 members.

Sunday is a good time to check up on yourself. Take stock of your life and see what progress you are making in the spiritual realm. The one buried in business through the week needs to come up for a breath of different air on Sunday. Church going yields a tonic that stimulates for the tedious tasks of life through the week. Sunday is a good foundation upon which to build a six story week. If the foundation is bad the structure will crumble and fall, if it is good the house will stand. Start next week off with a good foundation by going to church Sunday.

Have people been talking about you? Have they said mean uncharitable cutting things to you and about you? Well, maybe they are so. There is usually a reason. The Bible says something about a man examining himself. How long has it been since you did that? Measure your life by the light of God's word and see if there is any justification for the harsh and reviling criticism. There is no better place to do that than in your church. You will always find a friendly, sympathetic, cordial welcome at your church on the Lord's day. One of the best places on earth to go. Be good to yourself and family and be present for the teaching and preaching services of your church next Sunday.

Mrs. Van Allen Kent and Mrs. Joe Rady of Ft. Worth and Bill Clark of Lubbock are visiting their father Mr. John Clark who is quite ill.

"COME AND HEAR."
"Come and hear all ye that fear God, and I will declare what he hath done for my soul." Psa. 66:16.

The sixty-sixth Psalms is a song of grace and providence. Praise the chief topic and God's benefits and grace the main theme. The sweet singer of Israel bursts forth with a song of praise to glorify God for His many benefits and make an appeal to other to make. "A joyful noise unto the Lord." Heart adoration never fails to seek only God's glory. Sometimes in meditation, often in melody, but always in worshipful praise the chief object is to honor God. A devout life will always seek to make known God's goodness and benefits. The Christians will always strive to be a witness for Jehovah. There are so many things that can be declared and revealed concerning God's mercy.

1. There are special blessings which God has conferred on every true Christian. 1. There is the pardon of sin. 2. There is the change of heart. 3. The victory over temptations. 4. The answers to prayers. With these major blessings bestowed by the Heavenly father upon His children for obedience to His will, the Christian can not but sing and testify for God.

Article III

Let it be kept in mind that the issue between the Church of Christ and other religious bodies, is one of Bible fact, of scriptural truth, of Christian principle, and if you are a real "truth seeker" you will hasten to investigate it thoroughly by a searching study of the Divine Word. And herein, humanly speaking, is our only hope of the ultimate settlement of all the questions belonging to and growing out of this Great Controversy.

Surely this is not an extravagant statement. The Bible plainly, describes all those specific acts of obedience and of duty which it specifically requires at our hands. Will any one dare dispute this statement? If it be true, then the Bible affords an infallible criterion by which every one may test the varying doctrines and practices challenging attention and acceptance. And the process is a very simple one—an honest and constant appeal to "the law and testimony" with a settled, prayerful purpose to accept and obey whatever of truth and of duty they may enjoin or inculcate. The result will be well nigh uniform. We will see the un-authoritative practices fall away among the great mass of seekers after the truth; otherwise the Scriptures themselves are at fault. For if we admit that the Scriptures require baptism at our hands, as they certainly do, and yet claim that it is not so defined that we can decide definitely what it is and in what action it consists, we shall find it very difficult to retain our confidence in them as the Word of God. A thousand questions will spring up in our hearts and a great host of insuperable difficulties will beset our path, confronting and confounding our faith in the Bible. If it be indeed a revelation of the Divine Will concerning us, why is it that it does not make our duty plain in those things which it requires us to do? Is it possible that inspiration cannot define baptism so that men may know just what it is? What sane man can for a moment believe a thing so absurd? But if inspiration can make it plain, why are we left in doubt about it? Is it at all probable that inspired writers gave to the world a book, purposely designed to entangle us in the meshes of a deep and binding controversy? "Think on these things."

INTERESTING FACTS REGARDING TEXAS HISTORY IN AN EARLY EXCITING EPOCH

It must not have been easy for a youth who so early in life had experienced the excitement of fighting Indian and enjoyed the enviable title—at least to present-day adventure-lovers—of Texas Ranger, to return to the arduous of the classroom and resume formal schooling. Yet that is what Andrew N. Erskine did in 1845.

In notes for a biography of this pioneer Texan, written by his son, B. H. Erskine, which now reposes in the family archives collection of the University of Texas library, the following account of Erskine's professional education is given:

"After giving up this Ranger Company, Captain (Jack) Hays returned to his previous occupation land surveying, for which he was well qualified, surveyed many thousand acres of land in South

West Texas. Andrew Erskine, probably attached to his Ranger Captain, engaged with him, assisting in the work—both, well acquainted with the country, knowledge gained their many scouts over it. Andrew remained with Hays, 1844. He gained such thirst to be a surveyor—gaining much practical field knowledge while assisting Hays. He returned to Seguin Texas by beginning 1845, fired with the determination to get the best schooling he could in order to fit himself to be what he had decided, to make every effort to be a surveyor. Up to that time he had very little schooling—for while the family lived at or near Huntsville, Alabama—and where he might have had a chance to attend a good school—he was five years old on arrival and 8 years on the family leaving Huntsville for Bolivar, Mississippi. Assuming he may have had some chance for school at Bolivar or Clinton where the family resided at times while in Miss., but that schooling was very limited at all the places, his schooling was of a very rudimental character. After reaching Texas and his father's new home 'Capote' he had no chance for any schooling for there was none available near home. Then he early engaged in the service as Ranger. Except for such practical knowledge of surveying gained by field work with Hays he knew nothing. Had all to gain by hard, persistent study with the best aid schools of Seguin might afford. Nothing daunted by lack of knowledge, especially that which directly pertained to the profession and efficient surveyor—Mathematics. He with indefatigable energy and determination to win and reach the goal set by himself, went to his hard but necessary studies. At an age when favored young men would leave off their studies as college graduates, he was just beginning on a very difficult task, the gaining accurate knowledge of higher mathematics."

In later notes B. H. Erskine writes: "Andrew Nelson Erskine—just a little past his 19th year. After a strenuous life as a Texas Ranger and some time spent with his Captain, Jack Hays, who had taken up his profession as surveyor locating lands through the wilds of North West Texas in 1844, had thereby become so interested in surveying as a profession, he came back home, selects Seguin, Texas, as suitable place for schooling within his means, at an age after such life as he had led for some years that would have determined most young men, with as he, so little education, from even thinking much less making the effort to acquire a scientific education, sufficient to make of themselves a professional surveyor of such attainments as would enable them to get trusted positions and profitable employment as a surveyor as would enable them to make a living.

"Mr. J. P. Hector was an eminent surveyor and engineer. We are of opinion, he was a Mississippian, was a relative of a noted character, for many years in Guadalupe County Texas. Coming to Gonzales County, Texas, quite a few years previous to the coming of Michael Erskine, father of Andrew. He seemed to have been a squatter on the Capote previous to its acquirement by Michael Erskine, for he was on the land at the time the Erskines arrived. Later French Smith secured a valuable large tract of land on north side Guadalupe River opposite the Capotes, and on which he lived for many years, the Smiths and Erskines being neighbors. No doubt Mr. J. P. Hector, a relative, came to the Smiths and became acquainted with the Erskines. He was years older than Andrew, but they must have formed a warm friendship, one for the other for he was a very warm and valuable friend of Andrew Erskine; after who's death the friendship, to a large measure, was conferred on Andrew's son. Mr. Hector lived to an old age, dying in Eagle Pass, Texas—was a friend and well known to the writer. A letter of Mr. Hector's showed the deep interest in Andrew's studying surveying at school in Seguin in 1845—showed a desire to help him, and later did help him very materially during the later half of 1846—as to which we have verbal knowledge that during the last of that year Andrew with Mr. Hector, did a great of surveying lands in many counties in Southwest Texas—Andrew, we may say, an assistant and student, putting the theoretical knowledge he had acquired by close application to his studies (often by candle light for there was no oil in those days) while going to school in Seguin—he under Mr. Hector's tutelage and direction was doing actual field work, putting all he had learned into practice, thereby learning more surveying in six months than he could have learned in years of school study.

"Andrew in acquiring knowledge to make of himself an efficient surveyor, such as would secure ample employment; in gaining a living and something of ultimately gained—he had attained one thing of much value to him as a surveyor; good penmanship, very necessary, in making neat, legible field notes that had to go to the Texas Land Office in order to secure patents on land he surveyed. During the last part of 1846, he established himself in a surveyors office in Seguin, Texas, as headquarters for his work and to transact business, keep his records, necessary in the carrying out of his engagements as a surveyor. We know he succeeded wonderful well, for so young a man, with limited actual experience. He was entrusted with and engaged to do a very large amount of surveying which showed his high standing in the opinion of his true friend J. P. Hector. He secured a valuable and extra large contract to do extensive surveying early in 1847."

Still later biographical notes reveal that:

"Perhaps in May, 1847, Andrew got an important, profitable contract with the German Emigration Company of Hamburg, Germany, who had a large colonization concession from Texas—this grant known then and to present time, as the Castro Colony lands. Knowing all we know, are surprised that a man barely 21 years old, near beginning of his first year as an independent full fledged surveyor, with but little actual experience, was able to get a contract of such value and trust one, that many old surveyors of San Antonio or Austin would have been glad to have had. We think, we have the 'key.' Mr. Otto Wurpperman, a prominent and an early day merchant of Seguin, Texas, Andrew N. Erskine's warm personal friend, was of a high prominent family of Hamburg, Germany. We knew him and family to have been Germans of a very high class, which fact made him have influence with the German Emigration Company. No doubt he procured the contract for Andrew. They were intimate friends as long as Andrew lived, and a friend to his family afterwards. In later years he went back to his old home in Hamburg—or where he formerly lived. Years later his son returned to Seguin and went into the banking business.

"Andrew after getting his survey contract, he associated himself with his brother, John P. Erskine, with a complete outfit for surveying, camping, etc., and wagons. With ten men, themselves making twelve in the party, they got out into Medina County some distance West of San Antonio, Texas, and in that section of country they commenced surveying on 24th day of May, 1847, and on 22nd of July following they completed their work, surveying in 58 working days (we assume on an expedition of that sort, and in an Indian country, that was liable to have Indians raid through it at any time, they did not stop work for Sundays) one hundred and ninety sections of land, each 640 acres, a total of 121,600 acres. If, as we think probable these sections were subdivided into two 320 acre tracts, they had to run the lines, marking them where there was timber, establishing corners for a total of 380 tracts of land. They finished a big job in 58 days. The contract price for the work was twenty dollars per section, making the total amount they had earned for the job three thousand and eight hundred dollars; a very profitable business for Andrew, and brother John (he was 7 years older than Andrew) if they had received promptly in cash what they had earned. The total cost of the expedition, footed up to $1,317. They got $400 of this pay in July, 1847, by end of the year had received about $1,000. Some time later, fifteen hundred more, or a total of twenty five hundred dollars. It was years before Andrew collected more, and that not until he had brought suit against the German Emigration Company in 1852 and got judgement against the company December 11th, 1852. He was many years later collecting on that judgement. Some of balance due him he never collected.

"Andrew N. Erskine after July, 1847, on completion of contract with German Emigration Company, did much other surveying, continuing to follow his profession as surveyor, at intervals, between doing many other things, or during the years 1848, 1850, 1852 and 1853, but he had other engagements during those years."

Don't You Gamble GET LIFE-SAVER GOLDEN PLY BLOW-OUT PROTECTION

Today's high speeds place a terrific strain on tires. The inside of the tire often gets as hot as boiling water. Rubber and fabric separate. A tiny blister forms. Bigger and BIGGER it grows, until, sooner or later, BANG! a blow-out! And you're lucky if you keep off the accident list. By resisting heat the Life-Saver Golden Ply that's built into every Goodrich Safety Silvertown keeps rubber and fabric from separating. High-speed blow-outs don't even get a start. Remember, Silvertowns are safer—they'll give you months of extra mileage—yet they cost no more than other standard tires.

LIESBURG TRIAL ON FOURTH DAY

The trial of Ora D. Liesburg got under way Monday morning with the selection of a jury from a special venire of seventy-five men. Eight jurors were selected Monday, four more Tuesday forenoon. With only fifteen remaining from which to pick a juror, the twelfth man was secured about noon Tuesday.

Five jurors were chosen from the Hedley section of the county. They are H. H. Hall, J. A. Tollett, W. W. Wiggins, W. H. Moffitt and Frank Jones. Other jurors are G. A. Davis, Lelia Lake; H. Hunt who resides near the Skillet school in the northeast part of the county; F. R. Crisp of near Alanreed; Paul Reeves of Jericho; D. F. Randall of Ashtola; W. E. Hodges of the Martin community west of town and W. B. Fowler of near McLean.

District attorney John Dever is assisted in the prosecution by Judge W. T. Link. The defendant is represented by the law firm of Cole & Porter.

Liesburg is charged with first degree murder by the Grand Jury in session this month. He is alleged to have fatally stabbed R. A. Cox on the street in front of the Farmers Exchange grocery October 2nd. Cox died in Adair hospital with in an hour after receiving three stab wounds.

Cox was a lessee residing on the farm of Liesburg's mother about three miles northeast of town. The fatal dispute is said to have arisen over the division of pasturage.

The state rested late Wednesday morning and the defense witnesses were being heard over the afternoon. The defendant testified on a self-defense plea Wednesday. His attorneys sought to strengthen his evidence with that of his wife and granddaughter.

Defense witnesses are being heard today, the trend taking a different slant in that witnesses are being questioned as to any change that they may have noticed in the health of the defendant over the past few years. No insanity plea had been injected into the case up to noon today, Thursday.

Bulldogs Defeated Saturday Night 15-0

Battling against great odds, the Clarendon Junior College Bulldogs entered the game against the Wayland Baptist College Jackrabbits last Saturday night and came off of the game with the little end of a 15-0 score. The Bulldogs went in to the game with high spirits and turned in one of the best football games played against Wayland this year.

In the first quarter, very few first downs were made with the ball see-sawing up and down the gridiron.

After a hard march down the field, the Jackrabbits lost the ball on the Bulldog's one yard line. It was at this time that a punt was blocked, and Wayland made a safety. Clarendon kicked out of danger only to be met with a hard drive which ended in a touchdown for Wayland only a very short time before the half. The Jackrabbits completed a pass for the extra point. The half ended 9-0 in favor of the Jackrabbits.

The Bulldogs came back in the second half with more determination than ever. The Jackrabbits were held at all times and neither team scored in the third quarter.

The Jackrabbits last score came in the fourth quarter, and the try for extra point was no good. Thus making a total score of 15-0 in favor of Wayland College.

The Bulldog squad is composed mostly of ex-Bronchos. The team as a whole turned in a mighty good defensive game, but lacked the power to gain yards on the offense. The Bulldogs will journey to Lefors tonight (Thursday) to play the Lefors Pirates. The Pirates were held to a 0-0 score by the Bronchos last Friday night.

The starting line-up for the Bulldogs: F. L. Behrens le, T. Behrens lt, Bulls lg, Barrow c, Gorman rg, Linders rt, McDaniels re, Word hb, Stewart lb, Watson f, Holtzclaw q. Eighteen players made the trip.

District Attorney Chas. Dean and family of Plainview spent the week end visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Lane.

COZY THEATRE OPENS FRIDAY

Packed House More Than Meets Expectation of Builder

As the opening hour neared at the Cozy Theatre, crowds began to arrive to be among the "first to visit the new theatre." By the time the first picture was being reeled off, the house was well filled. The second show was up to expectations, and the Cozy Theatre took its position among the substantial business institutions of the little city.

Standing on either side of the main entrance were Mr. and Mrs. Homer Mulkey welcoming the throng that entered. Employees busied themselves seeing that no hitch occurred to mar the "opening night," an event that had kept more than one interested party on their "nerves" for days.

The beautiful building presented an inviting appearance in the splendor of lights and gay colors in keeping with the scheme of late builders of theatres of a similar nature in larger towns where new ideas are being put constantly into use.

Many expressions of a complimentary nature were heard. Large numbers congratulated both Mr. and Mrs. Mulkey on their achievement.

The building of this theatre has enlisted interest in the same block to the extent that a number of business buildings were rented, and business has already increased.

McCracken Takes Time Out For Annual Deer Hunt

Leaving here Monday bound for the Magdalena mountains of New Mexico, Mart M. McCracken felt sure of his annual success on his annual deer hunt. He was accompanied by his cousin, Elmer Smith of Collinsville, Alabama.

Each time this intrepid hunter brings home a deer tied to the running board of his trusty flivver. He may take a pot shot at turkeys this time, too. In fact he might tackle a bear in a pinch, he said, as he had oiled up a rifle that Mussini would be proud to train against any part of Ethiopia.

Your Personal Appearance

Careless, slovenly, or indifferent habits of dress have come to be synonymous with similar habits of thought and character. None of us can afford that. Competition is too keen in the race for business, social, and financial success. Clothes may not make the person, but what they say about them, carry a lot of weight.

Advantages of Dri-Sheen Cleaning

The Dri-Sheen process of cleaning employed in our plant does more than just remove the spots. Dri-Sheen removes the imbedded dirt which stubbornly resists ordinary solvents; it restores life, lustrous sheen, and is positively odorless. The finishing restores the original size and shape of the garment giving your clothes a shapeliness, a tailored effect, a character, even though they may be far from new.
