Aged Man in Blazing Auto Hurtles Off High Bluff Near Brice Tues.

Victim Suffering From Severe Burns On Face, Hands And Lower Limbs, Is Rushed To Memphis Hospital. Eli Merchant Had Visited Clarendon That Morning

E. D. Landers, 60, of Eli, was seriously burned but miraculously escaped other injuries when the car in which he was riding left the road, crashed through a wire fence, plunged over a ten foot embankment and landed in a creek, about 12-miles south of Clarendon Tuesday morning.

He was taken to a Memphis hospital by a passing motorist.

Landers' clothes were almost burned from his body, but he had walked back to the highway and hailed Joe Woods of Brice who took him to the hospital, according to Sheriff Guy Pierce, who investigated the accident.

Pierce said Landers' car caught fire while on the road and apparently the elderly man had lost control while fighting the blaze.

The automobile failed to overturn but was completely destroyed by the fire.

Landers had been to Clarendon and was returning to Eli where he is in charge of the Farmers Union Store. He left here about 11 o'clock on his return trip.

Sprints 70-Yards In Eight Seconds To Lower Old Mark

Hubert Reavis, former Clarendon Junior College one-man track team, sprinted the 70-yard low hurdles in eight seconds to win in the recent Southern Conference indoor games at the University of North Carolina.

Running for Duke University, Reavis' eight second mark was one second better than his old Clarendon College record of 9 flat.

Over 400 athletes competed in the meet at which two world records were equaled.

With Duke, Reavis will meet Dartmouth, Princeton, U. N. C. and other outstanding teams. He will wind up the year at the National Intercollegiate meet at Berkeley, California in June.

Former JA Cowboy Dies In Wichita Falls

WICHITA FALLS, March 18.—The body of Charles John Parke, former JA ranch cowboy, ranchman and commission agent of Clarendon, and a member of a noted Irish family, lay alone all of St. Patrick's day in a Wichita Falls funeral home with no immediate survivors in Texas or America. The 64-year-old man died Monday morning in a local hospital, the victim of a long illness.

Coming to Texas from Clogher house, Drumfield, Roscommon county, Ireland, in July of 1889, Mr. Parke settled in Donley county. Parke came to Clarendon in 1889 and lived here until about 10 years ago when his health failed and he went to Wichita Falls for medical treatment.

His only immediate survivor is a sister, Mrs. Emily Malley of Dublin, Ireland. But he had two famous brothers, the late Dr. W. H. Parke, staff physician on the Stanley expedition into Africa, and Maj. T. H. Parke, world war hero to whom a memorial shaft has been erected in Dublin.

Hines mortuary was awaiting word from relatives in Ireland regarding disposition of the body.

FIRE DESTROYS ASHTOLA SCHOOL

Only Benches And Piano Saved In Early Blaze

Fire of undetermined origin leveled the Ashtola High School building early Saturday morning. The blaze was first sighted by a Fort Worth and Denver train crew who sounded the alarm. Only a piano and a few benches were saved.

The brick building was erected about ten years ago at a cost of $12,000. Insurance coverage amounted to $9,000.

School is being held this week at the teachers' home. Residents of the community had remodeled the interior. Partitions were removed to accommodate the students. The principal and his family, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Estlack, are living south of Ashtola at the present.

The calves, fed from four to eleven months, sold at auction for a price ranging from 11 1/2 to 15 1/2 cents per pound.

Daily dry rations fed to each calf over 600 pounds averaged 14 pounds corn, 1 1/2 protein meal, 2, and mixed hay 6. Top calves were kept with milk cows.

Clarendon Man Finds Popular Peach Type

All of the choicest fruit varieties of today were discovered by mere chance. Some came from experimental tests, but the very best came more by accident. Some four years ago, Ollie Hommel, local plant enthusiast and flower lover, planted a quantity of peach seed. From the large number of plants, he selected the most promising as measured according to his skill of fruit tree standards.

The third year the tree came into bearing, ripening about the middle of October in the back yard of the Hommel home on East First street, Clarendon. While the peaches were uniform as to size and quality, the enormous size attracted attention. Peaches measuring eleven inches around were common in the lot. These peaches were on exhibit at the Hommel service station several days.

Last June Mr. Hommel sent a number of buds from the parent tree to a Tyler nursery that he might have a number of trees. These trees are here now, some of them showing signs of blossom buds. This indicates an early bearing since these trees are on year old or two year root stocks.

The trees measure from three to six feet in height. Those interested in trees that blossom late, bear fruit of fine quality, color and size, and that will bear next year, should see Mr. Hommel before the supply is gone. He has something like a hundred trees for sale at a reasonable price.

The Leader man planted two of these trees last season that were budded by Mr. Hommel. They are about four and a half feet tall now since low pruning last season, and they are forming fruit buds. It looks like "Hommel's October" is destined to become a peach of great reputation. It is certainly worth trying them out.

JUDGE A. S. MOSS

Judge Moss will begin his first term as district judge in Donley county next Monday. Having had previous experience in supplying for regular judges before his election, Judge Moss entered upon his duties with that experience, coupled with his knowledge of court procedure as a practitioner over a period of more than thirty years.

In the course of his duties since election, he has presided over the sessions in Childress, Hall and Collingworth counties. Though tempering with justice his treatment of criminals in the matter of punishment, he has not permitted his sympathies to interfere in the least with his duties to his people. To discharge one's duties without fear or favor, or with regard to personal feelings or public opinion, is a big job. But Judge Moss is doing that and making friends steadily—friends among those who stand for law and order.

Bonds Set At $1,000 In Swindling Charges

Bonds were set at $1,000 for Gordon Camper and Earnest Bales this week when they were arraigned in justice court on charges of swindling on a worthless check for over $50.

Both Camper and Bales were returned from Pampa where they were wanted in connection with a forgery charge.

Camper was arrested in Wichita Falls last week and Bales was arrested in Childress.

According to Deputy Sheriff Guy Wright Camper and Bales gave the Palmer Motor Company a $100 check as down payment on an automobile.

CHILDRESS, March 17.—Earnest Bales, arrested here last Thursday on a charge of purchasing a car at McLean with a forged check, was questioned by Pampa officers in connection with a filling station robbery in Electra three weeks ago.

A. E. Ranson of Giles had business here Wednesday. He owns one of the prettiest farms in that section, the home being located on a hill east of town. Almost everything you find in and around the Ranson farm is modern, too.

CLARENDON LAD ALMOST ROBBED

Out Ran Cops and Thugs Following Assault In Amarillo

A Clarendon youth in the person of Roy Harp was accompanied down 4th street in Amarillo Thursday night by Jack Harrison. The lads were headed for the Army and the wrestling match.

Behind them came two alleged convicts silently slipping up evidently bent on robbery. One of the pair dived Harris with a tackle. It was at this point that "thwarters and nippers" came into play. Two cops who had been following the alleged thugs suddenly came upon the scene.

Just as suddenly Roy Harp left the scene. He was not quite sure which side the cop was on, and an old county boy can be depended upon using his legs at the proper time. The cop overtook young Harp eight blocks away and led him back that he might identify the holder-uppers.

As an upshot of the affair, Bill Morehead and Harold D. Shelton were held in $1,000 bonds each to answer to a charge of assault with intent to rob. Roy is a son of Finis Harp, local garage man.

CITY GOVERNMENT IMPROVES STREETS

Dump Ground Roads Cleaned And Culvert Sunk To Care For Flood Waters

City Commissioners this week began an extensive clean-up and improvement drive. Most city streets will be graded as soon as possible, T. M. Pyle said yesterday.

Highway 88 from the depot past the city dump ground was rebased, re-graded and cleaned, with the aid of the state highway department which donated one day. Mr. Pyle said trash was being cleaned from roads, circling the dump proper, to enable cars to drive in.

Another major improvement completed this week was sinking a culvert, at the Spitzer corner, to care for flood waters from the Hospital watershed. Waters which formerly flooded the north street will now be converted west to empty in the high school drain ditch, thence to the lake.

BILL TO REMIT ADVALOREM TAXES PASSED BY HOUSE

The bill as finally passed in the House provided that the electorate of several counties shall determine for what purpose the advalorem taxes shall be used, such as drainage, soil erosion conservation projects, road building, or for retirement of indebtedness.

Under the set-up, Donley county would receive $14,542.65 annually.

Car License Plates Must Be Purchased In County of Residence

Owners Are Liable To Arrest And Fine For Illegal Registering

Car owners purchasing 1937 license plates in other than the county of their residence are subject to arrest and fine, according to Joe Bownds, tax collector for Donley County.

Bownds said he was in receipt of a letter from the State Highway Commission asserting that in this manner distribution of license fees were evaded. "Counties now receive approximately two-thirds of all license fees with one hundred and eighty-two retaining all license fees," he said.

Automobile owners who purchase tags in other counties in which they do not reside are operating with illegal plates and are subject to arrest and fine for operating motor vehicles improperly registered.

DONLEY CAN GROW FRUIT.

Orchard failures in Donley county are mainly due to poor selection of varieties. This is proven by information gathered by the Iowa Park experiment station, that of Woodward, Oklahoma, and through a government census.

Only late blooming varieties of fruit trees should be planted. For instance, no section of the nation can excel the Panhandle in the production of plums of certain varieties. The list includes European plums of the Green Gage and Damson varieties. Prunes do well, though the trees do not come into bearing until four years after planting in the orchard. The choicest varieties are the Sapa, Hanska, Kaga, Kahinta, Opata, Toka, Yuteca and Waneta. These are known as the Hansen hybrids. With the exception of the Sapa, all are of excellent eating quality right from the tree. The Toka and Hanska have an apricot flavor. The Waneta is as large as the California varieties, but have a much better flavor. The above varieties will mature a crop anywhere below the Cap Rock eight out of ten seasons. They are doing it.

The sour cherries do well here, though no other fruit will stand the hot summers like the Hansen plums. Certain varieties of Apples, Pears and Peaches bear almost every year. Apples in the Alanreed country seldom fail.

Grapes are a sure crop, though the old stand-bys are best. Concord continues the best market crop. Ellen Soott is far better but too tender to haul to market.

The writer is experimenting with Jap persimmons and English walnuts. The nut trees have frozen back this winter. The persimmons should bear next year. A Jap persimmon in the yard of Crockett Taylor here has borne several years. Wild ones at the hospital bear most every year. This season the experiment is being enlarged upon by including all the plums named above. Two prune trees have borne eleven crops out of twelve seasons.

If you don't know where to get these trees, send a postal for the address of the nursery. Get Bulletin No. 535 from our A&M College, College Station, Texas. In this you will find a long report on the varieties of fruits tested in north and northwest Texas.

Donley has produced good fruit in past years. We might as well sell fruit as anything else, and Donley county can produce plums superior to most any other section if we stick to the varieties above named. They have been tested and we don't have to waste time experimenting.

ONLY A SCHOOL TEACHER

Back in the days of the Sixth century almost fifteen hundred years ago, St. Benedict, the Roman monk discovered something which began the march out of medieval gloom, ignorance, and martyrdom.

Sitting on the slippery rock of a rugged mountain side, and by dint of much hard thinking he came to the conclusion that in order to become really blessed of God we must do something good for our fellows.

But when Benedict, banishing the idea of asceticism, repression and self torture from his life, went back to the cave where he had lived and tried to teach his old associates how to read and write, they flew at him, first like scavenging jackals, and then ran away, declaring that he was "devil and monk in one."

But Benedict persisted, as did his confreres in the search of Truth, both before and after his time, and by their efforts the world has been given Education!

The search for learning, knowledge, information, is man's "Noblest Discontent." Source it as you will, call it the Creative Instinct, analyze it back to the "Cosmic Urge of all life which includes all planning, purpose, desire, hope, unrest, ambition"—still you must be ready to admit that with the evolution of intellect in the soul of man, came dissatisfaction with things as they are and determination to improve them. Of all creatures, man the highest type of all, is the only one who criticizes his environment and heredity—and then proceeds, by means of Education, to master and better them.

Hence, if we but recognize it, this business of being "only a school teacher," is perhaps the most important of all the professions. As a matter of fact, don't we moderns owe practically our all to the teachers? Aren't the teachers the true scouts of present-day civilization? Isn't the schoolmaster our most implacable foe of fraud, superstition, ignorance, incompetence, deceit and crime? Is it not the pedagogue who has eternalized the Renaissance into a perpetual parade of human progress?

Just try to imagine where we would be without Education! Suppose there had been no scholars, no students, no teachers, no Pauls "brought up at the feet of Gamaliel," during the past ten or fifteen centuries. Religion would still be mythology—science and philosophy still groping and faltering—the arts unborn—commerce and industry confined to barter—government still feudal. In all the annals of mankind there is not an age, not an era, not a cycle, not a dynasty which has suppressed the urge for learning that has not obelivioned itself in the pages of history as a disastrous, dismal failure.

Let us then be thankful to God for Education, which helps us to be the masters instead of the serfs of destiny—which teaches us how to produce more than we consume—which qualifies us to meet and beat all conditions and circumstances—which brings us the capacity to understand life, its duties and its joys.

And if we are inclined to regard the teacher indifferently a necessary evil as it were, let us remember that many of the greatest souls of history were teachers—Moses, Plato, Pythagoras, Confucius, Cicero, Aurelius, Hypatia, Savonarola, Luther, Erasmus, King Alfred, Galileo, Newton, Froebel, Darwin, Rousseau, Emerson, Thorau and hosts of other mortals whose leadership helped to bring us up out of the Egypt of our ignorance.

And if deference to the memory of these all-time celebrities of learning does not provoke due appreciation of the Educator, then all we need to do, is recognize the fact that when we teach we are dealing with children. And when we are dealing with children we are dealing with "soul-stuff"—the people of the future—the boys and girls of today who are the potentialities of tomorrow and ten times more important than the most important individuals of the present. Wasn't it Thomas A. Edison who said that the "most marvelous machine of all, for greater than anything we have ever dreamed of, is the fresh, eager, still untaught, uncharted, yet-to-be-trained brain of a little child?" And to him who is "only a teacher" belongs the task and the joy of guiding, shaping and enriching that waiting mentality.

All honor then, to the teacher—artist in instruction—"and art is not a thing—it is a way, the beautiful way, the effective way," of making this world a better place in which to live.

YOU HAVE TO BELIEVE

You have to believe in happiness, Or happiness never comes.

I know that a bird chirps none the less

When all that he finds is crumbs.

You have to believe the buds will bloom—

Believe in the grass in the days of snow.

Ah that's the reason a bird can sing

On his darkest day he believes in spring.

You have to believe in happiness It isn't an outward thing.

The spring never makes the song, I guess,

As much as the song the spring.

Aye, many a heart could find content

If it saw the joy on the road it went,

The joy ahead when it had to grieve

For joy is there—but you have to believe.

SWEET GAS LAW APPROVED MON.

United States Supreme Court Approves Conservation Of Texas' Fuel Gas

The first unanimous decision in months, gives approval of Texas' law prohibiting use of sweet gas in carbon black plants of the Panhandle. The decision upheld a three judge federal decision of some months ago.

House Bill 266 provides that sweet gas may be used only for light and fuel and the manufacture of chemicals other than carbon black, and that carbon black must be produced from sour gas after it is processed for gasoline.

Bitter protests have been made by citizens of the Panhandle of Texas against the alleged waste of sweet gas for several years. It has been claimed that enough sweet gas was 'shot into the air' in one day in the Panhandle to supply the nation with heat for a whole year.

Whatever claims may have been made, the decision will meet with popular approval on the part of the consumers of sweet gas in Texas and within access to the gas pipe lines from this section that spread over the nation.

They are not getting very far with their soil and water conservation project in the Dalhart country until the folks are made to believe that "a squad of men with wheelbarrows can avert fate and postpone doomsday."

The wheelbarrows are used mostly to haul tumble weeds.

After announcing that "Christ still was on earth," the old colored parson asked of his flock if any one had seen him. Receiving no affirmative replies, the parson braced himself and yelled out: "De reason is you-all is lookin' fo' a man in a plug hat in a coar. And while we are on the subject, wouldn't it be interesting to listen to the prophet Jeremiah making a tour of Hollywood?

As between the "nipper and thwarters," just who prevents the most jail breaks? Every time you read of a bum job of escaping, there were some nippers-or thwarters right on the job.

Ugly wives are said to be far happier than good-looking ones. Their husbands don't have to worry about the temptations of the 'other' fellow running off with an ugly wife. Besides, everybody won't make a practice of stirring up the vanity of an ugly woman by lying to her. An ugly woman knows she's ugly, but at the same time she knows that she is lucky.

Any fool knows when his money is gone, but it takes a smart man to realize that his credit is gone before some other fellow calls his attention to it.

Tonight as you sit before the fire listening to your radio detailing the Spanish war for the day, you may appreciate your snug retreat. Two sides over there. Both fired to battle by religious prejudice. The war material profiteers have made a trial ground of Spain. The ignorant common people steeped in superstition, think they have to kill. They kill with modern war materials because they must be proven out.

Sunday and Monday some of our folks talked about the unusual weather. It seemed too cold for March. Then along comes J. N. "Nels" Riley to remind them that we had a big snow here on the 5th of May, 1917. That was 20 years ago, but it might happen most any time. It snowed here on July 4th 42 years ago.

In May of 1905 a tornado destroyed Bellevue, Texas killing several people. In the path of the tornado was the cemetery where some of my relatives are buried. Visiting the cemetery next day, only one stone was left standing in that section of the cemetery. It was that of Rev. Louis Hickey, an uncle of Elvin Hickey now employed by Parsons Bros. Brother Hickey, as he was known practically all over Texas and Oklahoma, was a noted Methodist minister. In after life, he became a Nazarene. He was a lovable character ever ready to help in any cause that was just.

Then there is that Bert Smith with a heart as big as a ham. When Johnnie Moss and wife had lost two children within a week, Bert knew they needed help. The neighbors had brought in food cooked and groceries. Bert got busy and collected $100.50, being the biggest donor himself though he never tells that side of the story. Then there was given friend Moss $14 which the Missionary circles of the Methodist church had kindly contributed. Mr. and Mrs. Moss are sure they live among the best people to be found.

The teachers and trustees of the Ashtola school had the help of the community in getting the school started again after the blaze. Practically every man, and a lot of the women folks got right out and helped get the teacherage in shape for a school building. Community team work counts.

LOCATE ORIGINAL TRYSTING PLACE OF DUMAS TALE

Research has unearthed at last the actual spot where the "love cottage" of Alexandre Dumas (fils) and Marie Duplessis once stood.

Marie Duplessis was the inspiration for Dumas' immortal "The Lady of the Camellias," based on a real life romance which Garbo and Robert Taylor bring to the screen in "Camille," opening Wed. at the Pastime Theatre.

Following a lengthy exchange of cables between Hollywood and Paris, Nathalie Buchhall, studio research chief, reported to Director George Cukor that extensive research revealed that Marguerite, heroine of "Camille," and Armand lived in a small house that formerly stood near the River Seine in the Province Seine at Oise.

"The place," she said, "is 16 kilometres from Versailles where the river makes a U-turn. There, the Island of Croissy is situated and the house stood directly opposite the island. The nearest small town is Bougival, mentioned in the story."

Director Cukor had requested the research department to determine if the spires of Paris could be seen from the cottage windows in 1847. Research proved they could not.

"Camille," directed by the man who made "Romeo and Juliet" boasts not only the sensational co-starring team of Garbo and Robert Taylor, but also features such screen and stage luminaries as Lionel Barrymore, Elizabeth Allan, Jessie Ralph, Henry Daniell, Lenore Ulric and Laura Hope Crews.

Weekly Sermonette From THE CHURCH OF CHRIST
W. Wallace Layton (Minister)

THE WORLD vs. THE CHURCH
There are just TWO states for mankind's existence in this life. Every responsible human being is in one or the other of these states and is heir to the final reward justly arranged by the Creator for the citizens of those respective states.

One of these is the "world." The world has its God—the Devil. "The God of this world." (2 Cor. 4:4) Has its spirit: "But we received not the spirit of this world, but the spirit, which is from God." (1 Cor. 2:12) Has its Prince: "The prince of the world cometh." (Jno. 14:30) Has its rulers: "Which none of the rulers of this world hath known." (1 Cor. 2:18) Its wisdom: "The world through its wisdom knew not God." (1 Cor. 1:21) Has its love: "The world would love its own." (Jno. 15:19) Has its Friendship: "The friendship of the world is enmity with God." (James 4:4) Its Course: "Once walked according to the course of this world." (Eph. 2:2) "The world lieth in the evil one." (1 John 5:19) These statements show that the world is a distinct spiritual kingdom under the dominion of Satan and essentially hostile to God; so much so that "whosoever would be a friend of this world maketh himself an enemy of God." (James 4:4) To be a "friend of the world" is to approve of its course by not separating oneself from that state as a mark of disapproval. Christians are "not of the world" (John 15:19) because chosen out of it—separated from it.

This second spiritual state is the Church. The church embraces everything not embraced in the world. As a kingdom, it is the exact opposite of the World. There is no intermediate state, or ground to occupy between the church and the world. A person is essentially in one or the other. The meaning of the word "church" (from the Greek, "ekklesia") is "The Called Out" ones—those who have been SEPARATED from the condemned world by the PARDON of alien sins. Such people constitute the church by virtue of the fact that they have been called out of the world. "I choose you out of the world," said Christ to His disciples. (Jno. 15:19).

GOLDSTON SCHOOL NEWS

We see by the papers that there is to be a basketball tournament at Lelia Lake, Friday and Saturday. We are looking forward to the tournament and hope it is pretty the rest of the week so that we will get a little practice.

From the looks of the "snazzy" little hats Miss Milam is making for her pupils we are going to have a well-dressed rhythm band.

Miss Skinner's room had a visitor Monday. Master Freddy Hughes of Canyon was visiting Bob Word and decided to visit the school also. Declamations and spelling are holding the interest of the pupils in the third, fourth and fifth grades.

The pupils in Miss Wisdom's room are being introduced to the substantive clause. If they are called adverbial clauses and adjective clauses they get along all right, but put another name to it and it becomes more or less a puzzle.

What with spelling, essay writing, declamations, 2R Contest, basketball, track and plays, the pupils in Mr. Smith's room are in a dither, but we are expecting them to be out of the fog in a very short while.

Chas. Summers returned from Glenrose the last of the week where he spent some time for neck treatment injured in football days.

LEAVE OIL-JITTERS BEHIND
GET CHANGED TO OIL-PLATING
Spring's here, but let's not put any loud "new suits" on all the old oil bogeymen. After all, botherless engine lubrication gets down to a few calm facts that are facts.
No. 1... You want to be certain that your engine doesn't grind every time you start, while oil is "coming up" from below. Oil-Plating, produced only by Conoco Germ Processed oil, can never lose time "coming up," because it's already there!
For the patented Germ Process creates such a powerful attraction between oil and metal that the inside of your engine becomes Oil-Plated. And you know that platings aren't runny, but stay up in place. That's the way Oil-Plating will stay up to ward off all the worst starting wear you ever heard of.
And No. 2... Whether you've got a "good old car" or the latest thing, you want to make any driving schedule without being nervous about the heat indicator and the oil level. You can easily keep them where they belong. This is exactly why: the Germ Process creates a far stronger normal type of oil film and then checks friction still further by means of modern Oil-Plating—entirely extra... exclusive to Conoco Germ Processed oil. Costs no more when you change; costs you less all season. Continental Oil Company

COLLEGES REPORT GROWING CALL FOR COURSES RELATING TO HOME

Chicago, March 8.—Conversation overheard in the University hall.

A father—"I am so eager to have my Susie educated so that she will be economically secure."

Professor—"You mean so that she can get a job?"

Father—"Yes, so that she can earn her own living and feel a certain social security."

Professor—"She has been studying a long time. Let me see she is a senior, isn't she?"

Father—"Yes, and soon she will be ready for the job."

Professor—"But I suppose she will marry some day?"

Father—"Oh, yes, she is already engaged and talking of marriage."

Professor—"Then, why don't you have her educated for the job she is going to take in her own home?"

Father—"Yes, but I want her to be ready in case she needs to take a job in industry later on."

Professor—"But later on this training will be obsolete."

Home Making Neglect

The conversation illustrates the terrific rush toward the goal of getting a job and the deplorable neglect of the most important job of all—namely making a home.

This is the opinion of Malcolm S. MacLean, director, General College, University of Minnesota, who spoke to the members of the National Council of Parents Education which met here recently in their fifth biennial conference.

"It is appalling how much is spoken of these days about 'security' in the job," declared Dr. MacLean. "Girls spend eight years or more training for a job when the supposition is that within two years beyond the graduating platform they will be married."

A movement is seen coming over the horizon now which is tending to offset this current system of training and which is considered a very significant change in attitude toward the function of education, it was learned at the conference.

Both in high schools and colleges there is a growing interest among students for courses in marriage and family living.

Course in Marriage

At the University of North Carolina men students, at their own request, were given a course in "Marriage," it was reported by Miss Ivol Spafford of the University of Minnesota, who has made a study of the present trends in the inclusion of courses in family living curricula in various parts of the country. In the State of Washington, she said, a class in "Home Relations" is required of all high school students in the State. In Tulsa, Okla., high school boys must take a course of this kind before they graduate.

For three years at the University of Iowa a course has been given in "Modern Marriage." Different members of the faculty contribute to this series of studies—a lawyer, an economist, a sociologist, a home economist, and so on—in the effort to give a well-rounded picture of the practical problems involved, Miss Spafford said. At the University of Minnesota in its Junior College education for home living has become the broad basis for many subdivisions in the courses such as renting, building and buying your own home, personal and family relations, income management, clothes selection, household buying, and business relationship for the layman.

Just last year in a high school in Albany, N. Y., a course was introduced called "Personal Regimen," Miss Spafford said, which included "How to get along with brother and sister," "How to spend money wisely," "How to be well groomed," and other topics. It was considered an experiment and some predicted that the first year would have the largest registration. But in one year the number of high school students enrolled quadrupled it was reported, an indication that this kind of education is sought by the young folks.

Efficient Agency

"The school must be brought back as an efficient social agency and correlator with the home and the community," declared Dr. MacLean. "The school has been that of as a sort of 'walled-up playground' from which pupils will some day escape after doing a number of irritating things. Bringing more into the curriculum about marriage, family living, home making and so on, will increase the value of the school, make it less sterile, and more applicable to everyday living."

In preparing for this innovation in education, Dr. MacLean urged first the training the present crop of school administrators to see its value, second, the educating of teachers to do the job well, and

EROSION TO COST U. S. 30 BILLIONS IN FIFTY YEARS

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., March 10.—Unless soil wastage is stopped immediately, losses from erosion in the next fifty years in this country will amount to $30,000,000 (billions), Hugh Bennett, chief of the Soil Conservation Service, warned the Philadelphia Forum in a special address today.

Pointing to the damage already done—100,000,000 acres have been ruined—Mr. Bennett said Americans had squandered their resources worse than any other nation, civilized or barbaric. He estimated that about 75 per cent of the farm land has been affected by erosion in some way.

He brought the matter close to home when he said that soil control is the basic remedy for floods. Pennsylvania in the last few years has had some of the worst floods in history. Gullies, he added, which are caused by erosion, become man-made tributaries which speed up the concentration of surface water in headwater streams.

Mrs. Lillian Forgy of Archer City is visiting her daughter Mrs. Paul Stalon.

Ernest Kent of Berger, J. W. Kent and A. R. Letts attended the Cattlemen's convention in Fort Worth this week.

finally the breaking down of prejudices and fanatasies of young people who somehow have the idea that "home" is in the dim and distant future.

Too many young people are planning to start out on $200 a month with the expectation of having $50,000 a year in a short time, he said. Others think that marriage is going to change everything—that suddenly all of the old is to be shuffled off and the couple become at once new people. They have many fantastic ideas which must be broken down, Dr. MacLean maintained.

"We need an organized educational attack which will turn these fantasies of youth into realizable, achievable goals," he concluded. "Many university students think in terms of theater tickets, clothes, rugs, and Sir Galahads. We must blast through some of these dreams as soon as we find wholesome and substantial ideas with which to replace the fantasies."

By Dick Cooke

Cow, Sow And Hen Idea Aids Farmer

Dust Bowl Farmers Are Successful Despite Adverse Conditions

AMARILLO, March 17.—The far-famed "cow, sow and hen" idea making a substantial foundation for a live-at-home and self-sustaining program in America's rural sections has not been left by the wayside by the rural Rehabilitation Division of the Resettlement Administration.

For example there is a farmer residing in Morton county, Kansas. This Kansas farmer is mentioned in view of the fact that he lives in the very center of the Southern High Plains "dust bowl" area. His success in spite of adverse conditions is proof enough that his case is not an exception. This family has seven cows. Since June 8, 1936, the family spent $81.45 for feed to supplement that grown on the drought-stricken farm. In the period between June 8 and February 1, 1937, this family received from these seven cows:

Cream sold, $90.76; milk for home use, $73.00; Butter for home use, $15.00; Sale of one cow, $25.00; Sale of six calves, $100.00; a total of $303.76.

The family now has five small calves on hand, worth about $10.00 each.

Moreover, this family has done fairly well with the poultry flock. They bought $2.60 worth of starting mash. The rest of their chicken feed and mash was mixed at home from bran and grain on hand. Here is a record of the poultry flock of 48 hens for the past eight months:

Eggs used in home, $20.80; Eggs sold, $13.00; Friers used in home, $13.24; Hens sold, $7.49; a total of $54.53.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Griggs returned Tuesday from Wichita Falls after a visit of several days with friends and relatives.

Who Is Soil Conservation To Benefit, After All?

By Jimmie Clark
President Roosevelt's letter to concerning the administrations soil conservation program and necessary state legislation for cooperation in the program provoked anti-administration comment in Texas that revealed, perhaps one of the motives behind opposition to the federal plan for soil conservation in Texas and other states.

One of the fiery leaders of a faction seeking to block the administration plan in Texas denounced it as an attempt to bring about production control and benefit payments. Prominent agricultural members in the legislature reading that statement voiced the opinion Texas farmers would unanimously rally to the support of the administration plan on the word of its tactless critic; that nothing he could have said would bind them more tightly to Secretary Wallace's plan of cooperative legislation for soil conservation.

But our legislators should not have to guess at the farmers' reaction. A state conservation law is about to be enacted and legislators in the Texas Senate and House of Representatives should be advised right now the farmers' answer to a few questions. Next week the answers will probably be too late.

Is soil conservation to be a program for farmers, the very backbone of this commonwealth, or merely an agency to help certain state employes hold their jobs? Do farmers want federal aid on a state conservation program if it should mean production control and benefit payments, or do they want smaller conservation programs to be managed and paid for by counties? Should the legislature enact a law which would enable Texas to participate in Secretary Wallace's program for farm benefits, or should it enact a law written by disgruntled anti-new dealers?

Many of the leading farm organizations representing thousands of Texas farmers, all of the watershed district authorities interested in soil conservation and flood control, and many agricultural members of the legislature urge cooperation with the United States Department of Agriculture.

POLITICAL ANNOUNCEMENTS

For Mayor of Clarendon JOHN T. SIMS

Leaders of an opposing faction seeking to defeat administration plans with the so-called "A&M Bill", or some substitute for it, term the federal program "communism" and "dictatorship" in a fashion which benefits one of the Liberty Leaguers who was buried in a landslide of votes expressing the will of the people of this great nation. These anti-new dealers are conjuring a new hobgoblin in the form of a term called "compulsory feature."

By "compulsory feature" they mean land use regulations by which Secretary Wallace says the farmers themselves may decide on soil conservation methods in district areas, which, after all, is most democratic. Do we want the Wallace plan? Or do we want a plan of disgruntled politicians?

EDITOR'S NOTE—The above editorial on the subject has been written by Jimmie Clark, independent Austin correspondent, who has made a complete study of the situation.

John Deaver of Memphis was in Clarendon on business today. Mrs. M. R. Allensworth was called to Memphis Monday to be with her sister, Mrs. Sam Hardy, who has been quite ill.

Three little pairs of babyboots Hidden away in a drawer, Six little shabby, worn-out shoes Kept as a treasure store.

A sturdy pair of leather, black, With boy in every line, Slender sandals of soft brown kid, And slippers white and fine.

Now at home on the deck of a ship Are the feet that wore the black, And the slender sandaled ones have roamed Half of the world and back.

Texas Prison Cells Filled With Young

Burglary Again Leads With Theft a Close Second In List of Crimes

According to the last report of the Bureau of Records of our state prison system, young men between the ages of 17 and 25 lead in prison population. Of 5,948 inmates, 2,323 were under 26 years of age.

Burglary maintains a lead in the list of crimes, 994 doing time for being caught. Auto theft is a pitfall for many, 64 per cent of the thieves doing time out of 723 tried the auto route.

Murderers number 238 and forgers total 268. Rapists number 43, five of whom are serving life sentences.

Thirty-seven counties in Texas sent no prisoners to the state house during the year.

Of 801 convicts granted conditional paroles, but 38 were returned as violators of their pledges. Of 257 released on furlough, only 8 violated the confidence of the officer issuing this favor, which was the Governor at that time.

Of the 2,829 prisoners received the past year, 1,762 were in for their first time.

Claude Student is Honored At Texas A & M

College Station, Texas, March 16—Earl T. Duke, of Claude, agricultural senior at Texas A&M College, and Miss Dorothy Ehlinger, of New Braunfels, senior at Texas State College for Women, will reign as king and queen of the sixth annual cotton style show and pageant to be held at Texas A&M College April 2.

TEXAS, the nation's largest producer of oil and cotton, converts approximately 67 per cent of the crude oil it produces into manufactured products, but only three per cent of its cotton is processed and manufactured at mills within the state.

Report Shows Cotton Man's Last Frontier

An interesting survey completed by the Resettlement Administration, entitled "Cotton Man's Last Frontier," shows that sixty-one Texas and nineteen Oklahoma counties have more than 40,000 acres of land each in plowable pasture. Figures as from the 1935 census of the Department of Agriculture.

The census defines plowable pasture as "land used only for pasture in 1934 which could have been used for crops without clearing, draining or irrigating."

Several million acres formerly classified in this category are now classified otherwise. This is practically true in the Western areas, where some counties formerly shown to have more than 50,000 acres in plowable pasture have none. The cultivated acreage is practically the same as that five years ago.

In the census, which is the latest available, Texas is given 7,775,000 acres of plowable pasture, compared with 11,000,000 in 1930. Oklahoma's corresponding figures are 2,500,000 and 3,225,000.

Another angle on the land question in these States was disclosed Monday when Resettlement Director D. P. Trent said that foreclosures on farms is continuing at a high rate. About 7,700 farm homes are threatened with foreclosure in eight counties investigated in Oklahoma, an average of nearly 1,000 a county. Three fourths of these could have been saved by payments from $100 to $1,000 on their mortgage installments, Mr. Trent said.

Since 1930 the Federal Land Bank in Houston has foreclosed on 3,286 Texas farms. The high point curiously, was not in the depression, but in the recovery year of 1935, when 1,009 were foreclosed, ten times as many as in 1930. Even last year, Mr. Trent said, the figure was 665.

In each county the resettlement committee which acts as a mediator between the debtor farmer and his creditor, frequently bringing about a settlement beneficial to both parties.

Panhandle counties included in the "Cotton Man's Last Frontier" survey with 40,000 or more acres of "plowable pasture" are:

- Bailey 147,000, Armstrong 49,000, Castro 86,000, Deaf Smith 221,000, Floyd 59,000, Hale 67,000, Lamb 46,000, Lubbock 104,000.

George W. Kavanaugh will go to Austin this week end on business.

GAY PICTURE AS THEY WORK

The new industry of bulb growing, which has sprung up in England largely since what was termed the financial depression of 1931, has given employment in the rural districts to many of those who previously were unemployed, both men and women. This work, however, is restricted to certain districts and, as far as women are concerned, is seasonal.

For Cropping and Deblossoming

Women are employed for the cropping and deblossoming. Either they pick the flowers for the market or else, in the fields where bulb and not flower culture is in progress, they nip off the flowers just below the heads. When this process is in progress, stacks of pink, mauve, red and yellow tulip heads are made in a corner of the field and later they are buried. The bulbs then, fed by their green leaves, mature until the leaves die down, when they are ready for lifting.

Some of the women are employed in bunching. That is, they tie the blooms into bunches, ready for sale in the large markets and later in the shops. This work is not as simple as it sounds, but is especially suited to women with their quickness and lightness of touch. There is great rivalry among the bunchers of the different bulb fields and last year the women of a farm in North Devon held the record over the bunchers of the older farms in Cornwall and the Scilly Isles, by averaging 140 bunches tied in an hour.

There are so far few women in executive positions in the young industry. I have, however, spoken with two women recently who hold posts of importance in the bulb and flower-growing world. One of these is Mrs. E. Snell of Braunton, who controls Sandy Lane Farm in North Devon. My chief impression of her work, after talking with her and seeing her farm, was that running such a concern was a full-time job. Besides requiring a wide knowledge of soils and climatic conditions, she must know all about such subjects as manuring, preparation of the land, rotation, planting, propagation, cultivation and care of the crop.

The work never ceases, and once or twice in a year, the day's labor may last from early morning until far into the night. During most of the year the work is more or less a matter of routine. At certain seasons the bulbs are lifted, dried, disinfected, graded and replanted. The soil also is prepared according to the bulb crop to be planted.

It is when the bulbs are in bud, however, that moments of tensely occur. There is an exact moment when the flower destined for dispatch by train to the markets, must be cropped. If the buds are too far open the bloom will not last; if not far enough open, they will not mature satisfactorily. A sudden rise of temperature in the night may bring acres of buds on to picking point in a few hours, which normally would not be due for cropping for another day or two. In this case all hands are called up at once. Lorries go around and collect the women and cropping begins and does not stop until the fields are picked and the buds are safely in the sheds.

The Marketing End Mrs. Snell's work does not cease with her work on the farm. She attends bulb sales and auctions, and flower shows at which she has business dealings with many different kinds of people. The work demands, apart from the necessary cultural knowledge, great administrative ability. The woman who owns or controls a

PENSION MATTER IS BEING RUSHED

Claim March 1st Will See Completion of Checks On Claimants

Austin—Immediate completion of all original investigations numbering nearly 214,000 was foreseen this week by W. A. "Jack" Little, assistant director and acting chief of the Texas Old Age Assistance Commission, as he declared that the pension board had passed into the second phase of its work.

"We have completed every investigation of every application in 18 of the 20 districts. Only 4,000 had not yet been investigated last week and these were in the Houston and Texarkana districts. We will complete them before March 15.

"We have rushed special investigators to Houston and Texarkana to finish the job," Little declared. "The purely mechanical process of certifying the investigators' reports will be completed soon, and by April 1 all applicants who have not yet heard from their applications will have been notified whether or not they are eligible to receive assistance," he pointed out.

"We have entered the second phase of our work. We are now ready to turn our attention to re-investigations almost entirely. Of course, about one thousand new applications will come in monthly, but this will be a small matter considering the 18,000 to 20,000 applicants that we investigated each month throughout the past year.

"We have reached the place where we can correct any inequalities that may have been caused by the previous rush of investigating thousands of applications. Now we can go back over our work and determine which grants should be raised and which lowered. We will check to see if any person previously found ineligible for assistance is now eligible," Little said.

"Practically all of those cases removed from the rolls through the deliberalization mandate of the Legislature have been studied, and the worthy ones put back on the list.

"We have had the complete and sincere cooperation of county officials throughout the 254 counties. And I wish to thank them for their interest in the deserving aged of their counties," the assistant director stated.

WHEN IGNORANCE WAS BLISS

Methuselah ate what he found on his plate
And never, as people do now,
Did he note the amount of the calorie count—
He ate because it was chow.
He wasn't disturbed as at dinner he sat
Destroying a roast or a pie,
To think it was lacking in granular fat
Or a couple of vitamins shy.
He greedily chewed all varieties of food
Untroubled by worries or fears
Lest his health might be hurt by some fancy dessert—
And he lived over nine hundred years.

bulb farm will require the gift of managing others, of orderliness, unflagging energy, and resilient temperament which is not daunted when frosts or flood suddenly spoil the work of a year and the profits budgeted therefrom.

Greer Cottingham Begins Coaching At Dodsonville School

Greer Cottingham of Lelia Lake has been selected to finish the remainder of this year as coach and teacher in the Dodsonville schools.

The announcement followed a special meeting of the Dodsonville School Board held Tuesday, Feb. 23rd.

Cottingham is a graduate of Panhandle A&M of Goodwell, Oklahoma, receiving his degree in August 1936. He completed his high school work at Clarendon and is a long time Donley County resident.

While in college, Mr. Cottingham was an outstanding athlete. He lettered in three sports for three years. In addition, he was active in the work of his major subject, Agriculture, and he has served on various judging teams over the county.

Other than his coaching duties, he will teach general science and two seventh grade subjects. Plans are already being made to begin spring football practice this week. Mr. Cottingham, who fills the vacancy left by the resignation of Curtis Clement, is well known in this county as a referee in ball games.

CARD OF THANKS

During the past month when illness took from our home two of our precious children, our grief seemed over-whelming. The good Lord placed us among the best people living when grief came. Nothing that human hands could do was left undone to aid our family. You ministered to our sick, brought cooked food and groceries; you gave us money. Above all, you gave us an abundance of human sympathy and exemplified the spirit of Christ's teachings. We cannot find words to express our deep sense of appreciation. We shall ever strive to pass on to others that beautiful example set for us.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Moss.

Northwest Texas Women Beautify Farm Yards

Yard improvement work carried on by Northwest Texas home demonstration club women has resulted in the beautification of many farm grounds in this territory, according to the reports of county home demonstration agents under whose supervision the women carried out their plans.

A straw mulch is credited by Mrs. Sam T. Davis, yard improvement demonstrator for the Newcomb demonstration club in Shackelford county, with being the major factor in the splendid growth of her trees and shrubs planted in December of 1935. Chinese elm trees three feet in height have developed into 10 foot trees with trunks three inches in diameter; 18 in Arizona cypress now have a height of six feet and a spread of three feet; an eight inch live oak now stands 32 inches high; and 12 inch privet seedling have a height of four feet and are large enough to serve their purpose of screen plantings.

The lawn of Mrs. W. C. Rogers, Howard county yard improvement demonstrator, was sodded a year ago last September, and has been a means of relieving her of much house cleaning by cutting down dust eddies. Her back yard has been filled with gravel to keep out mud and to help keep down the sand.

A number of pomegranates have been rooted and planted on the west side of the Rogers' home, where they serve the double purpose of a windbreak and a screen planting between the house and barn.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Wayne Estlack were in Amarillo Thursday night and Friday on business and visited her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Whitlock.

Terrace lines have been run on 16,622 acres of farm land by National Youth Administration workers in the Wichita Falls district, H. A. Zeigler, assistant district supervisor, has reported to Lyndon B. Johnson, state director.

1937 Licenses May Be Placed On Cars Now

It became permissible this week to place 1937 license tags on automobiles, although registrations which the licenses represent do not become effective until April 1st.

Under state law all vehicles must be registered by April 1. Glenn Churchma, deputy county tax collector said today that 72 passenger and 6 truck licenses have been sold here since the tags went on sale Feb. 1st.

Licenses for all types of cars may be obtained at the tax collector's office on the first floor of the court house here.

Colors of the different license plates are:

Passenger cars—cream numbers on black.

Commercial vehicles—black numbers on orange.

Farm trucks—orange numbers on black.

Automobile dealers' plates—cream on maroon.

Buses—gray on black.

Trailers—black on gray.

Motorcycles—yellow on black.

Sidecars—black on yellow.

New cars bought in March must be registered for one month with a 1936 license. The license fees are charged on a monthly basis, one-twelfth of the annual fee for each month the license will be used.

We have looked forward to the coming of the District Convention to our church as an epochal occasion. We will not only have some of the best Sunday school and B. T. U. talent in District 10, with us, we will have some of the best preachers and workers in the state leading and preaching in an effort to help us as well as the entire District which covers five Associations.

I am expressing the hope that our church shall realize the opportunity that is ours in these two days, March 24, and 25, Wednesday and Thursday of next week, and take advantage of every hour of the sessions of this meeting. Surely you will not be too busy to come, nor will you be inclined to deprive yourself of the benefits derived from such gatherings.

Many of the visitors will remain over night. We greatly appreciate the response of the entire community, as well as the membership of the Baptist Church, in offering their homes to these messengers and workers. Bed and breakfast is to be given for only one night, dinner and supper being served at the Hotels and Cafes.

The public is cordially invited to all of the sessions of this Convention. If you are interested in Young People's Work, Sunday school work, in any of the grades and ages, the work of financing your church, or if you enjoy good preaching, we believe you will enjoy and be helped by attending these services.

District Missionary J. C. McKenzie will preach at the Baptist Church Sunday evening at 7:45. Otherwise the services will be as usual.

Mrs. Curtis Cryer, the district sec. of the womans missionary of the Methodist Church, and Mrs. Rippie of McLean attended the African Tea given by the Methodist Missionary society Wednesday afternoon.

Road And Bridge Fund Overdrafts Are Legal

WICHITA FALLS, March 16.—Creation of overdrafts in the precinct road and bridge funds is legal, according to an opinion written by County Attorney Ned McDaniel in response to an inquiry from County Judge H. W. Fillmore.

Road and bridge funds of the Wichita Falls, Iowa Park and Electrica precincts have been in the red for many months.

McDaniel closes his opinion on the question with the following statement:

"You are therefore advised that the county does have the right, acting through the county commissioners, to create overdrafts in various road and bridge funds and pay interest thereon out of such funds; and also if the expenditures do not exceed revenues for the current year, no further action need be taken by the court."

The boys are also playing for three places and those still in competition are Pat Slavin Jesse Cornell, Billie Cooke, John Gilbert, J. D. Swift, Neal Thompson and Marti Kelly.
