Two Proposed Giant Panhandle Projects Are Now Attracting National Attention

A long-range soil erosion program permanent in character is being proposed by Cong. Marvin Jones of this district. He has asked for $150,000,000 to begin emergency work. This sum must be allocated by the President out of the $4,880,000,000 recently turned over to him by the national law-making bodies to be used at his discretion in the national recovery program.

A long step forward was made Tuesday when senators from Texas, New Mexico, Colorado, Oklahoma and Kansas had a conference with Secretary of Agriculture Wallace. The Secretary assured the senators that the proposed plan would have his hearty support.

Cong. Jones, chairman of the House Agricultural Committee, has arranged a conference with the President the last of the week. Congressman Dempsey of New Mexico and Ferguson of Oklahoma are also behind the movement assisting Jones.

The other big projects is a giant natural gas pipe-line extending from Gray and Wheeler and other counties of the Panhandle in the gas belt to such cities as St. Louis and Detroit, and cities and towns in between.

The gas pipe-line has long been the dream of Rep. Eugene Worley of this district. He is being assisted by Bob Alexander, representative of Childress county, R. B. Anderson, tax commissioner and attorney, has been collecting data and will have general charge of the drive for the early completion of the project.

Mr. Worley points out that the project has the objects. First, it will afford a steady market for gas produced on privately owned acreage, and will put a stop to wasting gas by shooting it into the air as is being done at casing-head plants. Second, to sell gas cheaply to the cities and towns near the pipe-line route. Third, it will afford employment to a large number and relieve the relief rolls.

"We are confident that the federal government will give us a direct grant of $18,000,000 and a loan of $42,000,000 for the pipe-line," Mr. Worley states.

"The nice thing about this project is that the State of Texas is not obligated for one penny of the loan. It is to the benefit of the State and of its citizens and yet they incur no liability for its success or failure. After the loan is repaid, the profits from the line will go into the general revenue fund of the State," Mr. Worley emphasizes.

The two projects named above will bring thousands of dollars into the Panhandle of Texas that will find lodgment in the pockets of spenders. Those backing the movement believe that construction work will mean a flow of new money from the start, and that this influence will be felt all over the southwest to help in the recovery from the prolonged drouth.

According to a statement in the Amarillo News today, a conference was held by senators and others with the President Wednesday. Lawrence Westbrook stated that $500,000.00 was now available for prosecution of soil erosion work in the Panhandle of Texas. This has been allocated for emergency work of plowing furrows and listing and terracing, he said.

EMERGENCY CROP AND FEED LOANS NOW AVAILABLE

Crop or Live Stock Taken As Security on Loans $10 to $500

Field Supervisor C. Hogan of the Emergency Crop and Feed Loan Office at Dallas, Texas, states that applications for emergency crop loans and feed loans are now being received by the Donley county Loan Committee, with offices located at J. T. Patman's office.

In accordance with the Act of Congress authorizing the loans, and regulations issued by Governor W. I. Myers of the Farm Credit Administration, loans will be made only to farmers who are unable to obtain elsewhere seed, fertilizers, supplies, feed or the necessary credit to purchase such items. Loans will not be made to applicants who can obtain credit in the amount needed from any other source, including the production credit association.

Any farmer who has the necessary security should apply to the production credit association first. If the association is unable to make him a loan in the amount needed the farmer will receive a statement to that effect and will be considered eligible to apply for a loan from the emergency fund.

The regulations provide that the largest loan to one farmer this year is $500 and the minimum $10, but no loan may be made in an amount greater than is actually needed to cover the cash cost of purchasing seed, fertilizers, supplies, feed, etc. Loans will be made for the purpose of growing and harvesting crops, for summer fallowing, for purchasing feed for livestock; but not for the purpose of purchasing livestock or machinery, or for the payment of debts or taxes.

Loans will be made only to applicant's who are cooperating with the Production Control Program of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

As in the past, the security for an emergency crop or feed loan will consist of a first lien on the crop financed or on the livestock to be fed. A tenant must also give

SEVERAL CASES DISPOSED OF IN DISTRICT COURT

Burglary Cases Take Lead Form of Crime Charged On Criminal Docket

In taking up the criminal docket Monday, Judge Fires tackled a burglary charge against three Childress county men, his home county. The parties, Bill, Earl and A. O. Fisher, brothers, and in which burglary charge a severance was asked.

Bill and Earl Fisher went to trial with District attorney John Devers prosecuting and R. H. Templeton of Wellington defending. When the state rested, the first defense witness was Bill Fisher, one of the accused. He pleaded guilty to the charge of robbery at the Wes Linders home on March 14th, denying that his brother Earl Fisher had any part in the act. He did accuse one Roy Hall of being his accomplice.

The penalty for burglary or breaking and entry, is two to twelve years. The jury acquitted Earl Fisher and gave Bill Fisher seven years.

Allen Casey entered a plea if guilty on a burglary charge in which it is alleged that he entered the Bain cafe. Judge Fires gave him a three year suspended sentence.

All of Tuesday was consumed in trying W. R. Tucker, alias Huggins, in which he was charged with possession of liquor for purpose of sale. This case originated about November 8, 1934 when Donley county officers raided the Tucker home near Bray. Tucker was captured but a woman is said to have out distanced county attorney R. Y. King and escaped. Tucker was given five years, the maximum sentence, by the jury reporting Wednesday forenoon.

The charge of chicken theft against Howard Arnett and Bob Adams was taken up just before noon Wednesday. A severance was asked for, and Arnett went to trial.

SKILLET MAKES MERRY ON SCHOOL CLOSING DATE

Picnic Dinner is Served To Neighbors and Visitors Friday Noon

The community gathered at the school building early to radiate that hospitality for which the west is noted. Children and their elders passed away the time with ball games and various sports known to the average school.

An excellent dinner was served by the ladies at the noon hour, the quality of which would in no sense indicate either drouth or depression.

Following the noon hour the winning declaimers in the county meet were given an opportunity to display their skill. Among these was Otto Reimer who won first place in junior boys declamation contest at Clarendon.

Sloan Baker, county supt. of schools, spoke in a very complimentary manner of the task accomplished by the teachers, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Baten.

Praise was also given Tom Hunter for the care and attention given high school pupils in transporting them to and from the McLean school in the new school bus.

Trustees of the district are W. F. Burr, Dewey Wood and C. F. Weaver. The trustees, teachers and county superintendent held a meeting in the late afternoon and planned the work of the coming year.

"Every one enjoyed the occasion to the utmost," is the way one interested visitor expressed himself here Tuesday.

C. H. WISDOM CALLS ATTENTION TO SOIL EROSION

Prepares Maps and Data For Purpose of Securing Federal Action

Realizing the importance and imperative necessity of quick action to protect property from soil erosion and dust storm damage, C. H. Wisdom of this city has prepared data and letters from leading citizens which he proposes to send to the soil conservation commission.

Railroad officials are also being urged to take action to stop the holocaust of land waste in our section of Texas.

Concerted efforts are being made from several different angles at this time. Cong. Marvin Jones has asked the federal government for $150,000,000 for soil erosion work, presenting his claims Monday.

Alarming conditions is attracting property owners, railroads, utility interests as well as government authorities to the great need of quick action.

A number of Donley county men have pledged themselves to meet with authorities at Ft. Worth at any time to discuss most effective measures that may be taken.

Mr. Wisdom is of the opinion that plans should be made to include terracing and tree planting of every description wherever feasible. Forests and orchard planting have been suggested. Sowing of grass on denuded pastures is a part of the plan.

C. E. JOHNSON ELECTED MAYOR HEDLEY TUESDAY

Alderman of City and Three School Trustees Elected During the Week

An interesting election was held at Hedley Tuesday of last week in which C. E. Johnson is said to have received sixty-three votes naming his as mayor of the city.

Names written in on the ballot according to reports shows that M. W. Mosley was the choice of twenty-six, and Geo. Armstrong a favorite with twenty-nine of his fellow townsmen.

In the aldermanic race, Ray Moreman and Grover Heath tied for one place, each receiving 65 votes. This is a habit with Mr. Heath, he having tied with Mr. Birden last year. At that time a coin was flipped and Birden won. It is reported that the race will be run over on the part of these two men.

Other alderman elected were Messrs. Birden, B. L. Howard and Z. Sherman.

In the school trustee election, little interest was shown. New men on the board, though old in the service, are S. G. Adamson, Roscoe Land and Harrison Hall.

Whitefish School Board To Purchase Bus

This school bus will be used in transporting pupils to the Whitefish school, and the high school pupils to the Alanreed school.

Two teachers are to be employed for the coming term, and seven grades will be taught in the Whitefish school.

Rural school elections returns are incomplete at this time due to a failure to send in results to the county clerk.

INDIAN REMAINS BECOME PROPERTY MUSEUM FRIDAY

Lake Creek Skeleton Said To be Pueblo Preceding Comanche Indian

The Indian skeleton found on the T. E. Naylor farm recently by two small boys, T. E. Naylor Jr. and Keith Bain, on Lake Creek about 15 miles northeast of Clarendon, was taken to the Panhandle Plains Museum at Canyon Friday.

This is the best relic of an aborigine settler yet to be received by this noted institution.

C. Stuart Johnston, curator of the Museum, pronounced the Indian as being of the Pueblo tribe. His decision was based principally upon the artifacts found with the skeleton.

If it should be definitely decided that this is a Pueblo, that means that the Pueblo had this territory previous to the Comanche found here in the latter part of the 18th century. According to Indian legend, the Comanches took over this section from the Lipans about the year 1800, or 1774 according to early Spanish history now disputed. The Lipans may have taken the territory from the Pueblos who, in ancient times, are supposed to have had settlements of homes on running streams of the Panhandle.

What is thought to be Pueblo are ruins to be found near Tascosa and a number of other places in the Panhandle. A search is to be made for a Pueblo city in Donley county.

PUBLIC OWNERSHIP AND POLITICS.

Senator Wheeler is sponsoring a bill in the United States Senate that would, if passed, make the government own the public carrier systems of the nation.

We had a taste of railroad ownership during the World War. Canada has been trying this method only recently. Their government owned railway is more than two billion dollars in debt after being operated less than five years.

The Senator is to introduce a resolution calling for a study of the financing and operation of the railways. The Interstate Commerce Commission has been doing that every year. Why not study the records of this branch of the government rather than make jobs for more political pets?

Public ownership sentiment is growing. Growing because it means more jobs for the 'gimmie gang' of politicians. The utilities companies have come in for a share of public ownership sentiment. If the government can't regulate a utility concern successfully, how could it operate such a project with any more assurance of success?

With the many new functions of government being paraded before the public, one is not to be surprised at anything. History does not record the survival of a nation that hampers and retards the initiative of the individual. It would seem that the chief function of a government would be to encourage initiative, ingenuity and ability in all lines and offer training in our schools to further those measures.

On the other hand, we do need laws to properly protect the weak against the strong. We need a more faithful enforcement of the laws we now have. We certainly do not feel that a governmental agency should take over any line of business that has been built up honestly, and is owned by the thousands of individuals over the county, state or nation.

To regulate human endeavor is but a part of organized government. To destroy man's inventive for honest gain is the most drastic step toward social revolution and chaos.

When "Horse Marines" First Made History in Texas

Refugio, Texas.—During the early days of the Texas Revolution, in 1835, much of the supplies for the garrison at Goliad and the army of Gen. Edward S. Burleson, besieging Gen. Don Martin Perfecto Cos, brother-in-law of Santa Anna, at San Antonio, came thru the old port of Copano, near this place, as did at times supplies for the Mexican troops. This fact today recalls the history of the so-called "Horse Marines" of the Texas army as the State prepares to observe in 1936 the Centennial of Texas' independence.

At the time of the Battle of San Jacinto, El Copano was held by the Yucatan Battalion, which, however, was picked up in May, 1836, by the armies of Urrea and Filisola, retreating through Refugio County, followed closely by Gen. Thomas J. Rusk and 4,000 Texans, who took charge in turn of El Copano but soon withdrew. General Rusk, May 29, ordered Major Isaac Burton with a company of twenty Mounted Rangers to scour the coast from the Guadalupe to Mission Bay.

Following the coast until near Copano, these were advised, June 2, of a vessel being in Copano Bay. Arranging an ambush on the beach at El Copano at daybreak June 3, they signalled the vessel, which proved to be loaded with provisions for the Mexican armies, to send a boat ashore. Five Mexicans, coming in the boat, were captured and Major Burton then placed sixteen of his men in the boat and rowed out to the vessel, the "Watchman." The captain of the "Watchman" surrendered his ship without a struggle.

Major Burton decided to send his prisoners to Velasco, but was delayed in doing so by adverse winds until June 17. About that date, he was informed that two more vessels, the "Comanche" and the "Fanny Butler," laden with supplies for the Mexican troops, were anchored off the bar. He then contrived to have the captain of the "Watchman" to decoy the commander of the other vessels aboard his ship and their crafts also became prizes of the Texans.

The three vessels and their cargoes were taken to Velasco and condemned. Thereafter, the Mounted Rangers, as result of their naval victories, were accorded the soubriquet of "The Horse Marines."

Panhandle Member Byrd's Crew Returning Home

Canyon, April 5.—Joe Hill, the Panhandle's representative with the Byrd Antarctic Expedition, is returning home a hero worshiper. He writes that he still regards Admiral Byrd as one of the greatest men in the world.

For years before Joe Hill had reached his twentieth birthday and a place on the Byrd Expedition, Richard Evelyn Byrd was his hero and his explorations and prowess with airplanes were Joe's favorite reading.

During a part of the voyage toward the South Pole and back to New Zealand, Joe was Admiral Byrd's personal aide. This is one time that a man has remained a hero even to his valet.

Before leaving home young Hill had hoped that on his return he might earn enough money to continue his education by telling other young people of his experiences. Admiral Byrd has given him permission to do this and Joe thinks he will make enough to carry him through his course at the University of Texas.

TEMPLE OF TRUTH

I am for a Re-Deal. The New Deal appears to have run its course.

I call it rubbing it in on us newspaper folks when Hollywood divorcees comes so fast that we can't get them on the front page. During the month a prominent daily wedged in Jean Harlow, Eleanor Fair and Gwili Andree on the front page, but Alice White and Miss Boop a Doop skidded inside on the overflow to be parked "along side advertising of the patent medicine class." Some of these girls have been adepts at "despairing of it all" and picture themselves as drowning in cocktails. Some time I wish they would go down in old Kentucky, stick a syphon in a barrel and drink till they burst.

This department must open a "College Department", it seems. We have others equally ridiculous, then why not.

A college professor whose class in journalism uses this sheet as a text, wants our opinion. He submits an article written by a young man. The learned professor's idea is to show us the trend of thought of youth as she is today. The article starts off thusly:

"The world as we have known it lies dying. Out of this dying body will be a bitter atavism. Today we live in the last vestiges of a glorious era, an era which has been created and destroyed by the hand of man. Tomorrow will find us the regimented tools of a vamppire state." The professor wants an opinion. He has gleam in his eye indicating that his mental protege has accomplished something really big. There is nothing wrong with the young man except that he is sick. He has a dead liver as a patent medicine would describe it in a neat folder wrapped 'round the bottle—price $1, or 6 for $5. The liver makes for a morbid disposition. In that condition one dreams of bad weather as everlasting while the victim dwells in mental chaos. Try epsom salts for a quick change. It's also cheaper. He is on the high road to chronic jaundice—perhaps.

I prefer the young man who sweats like a horse, eats beefsteak smothered with onions, has a mouth like a mud cat and can swallow buttermilk by the gallon. He takes a more optimistic view of life. He does things. His eye has snap and his mind is a manufacturing plant.

A congressman from western Oklahoma has his troubles. A voter has written in to complain that trees again should be made to cover the sand hills as they once did—he thinks. He finds petrified sawlogs and wants more of them. He does not know that the trees probably grew in a swamp fanned by tropical breezes ages ago, and that they rested under several hundred feet of soil while a sea lapped waves above them for millions of years. Had he happened around in good old Oklahoma at that time, a brontosaurus would have gobbled him up and the congressman would have fallen short a vote. The "bronto" weighed around forty thousand pounds and finally lost out. Then what should be expected of a congressman weighing a mere 154 pounds.

Tom E. Naylor is using a jack plane brought to Texas from North Carolina by his father 52 years ago. It still does good work, too. Tom used it in improving his new home on Lake creek recently.

Had you heard about the "ring-worm" epidemic. Well, it is here. A lot of the little folks as well as the grown-ups have them.

A woman was heard to remark recently: "If that red-headed woman and that one with the swayed-backed nose don't quit gossiping so much I'm going to attend to their cases with a shot gun."

Aluminum ware is coming in for condemnation. It has been learned that food cooked in aluminum ware causes conditions like athlete's feet (a break out between the toes), and other eruptions on the skin. The poison comes out of the metal and mixes with the food that is eaten, is said to cause the trouble. Skin specialists are advising against the use of any aluminum ware on this account.

The only showers we have had here since September are bridal showers.

Newport, being situated upon or near the border line of Jack county, leads in more things than any other section. This we learn from Col. Ed Bull whose name was Smith before he began writing up reports from his section. With the opening of the spring season, the Colonel comes right to the point and announces that Newport has a horse that wears a natural sheep wool—no foolin', he says. The horse is owned by a Mrs. J. T. Swagerty and was trailed from Hereford by Boone Whitaker, a fact we announce to keep the record straight. While at Hereford the animal developed from a Mexican hairless dog into a Karakule sheep of customary velvety foliage in a land where "Vitamin K" produces Karakule. It no longer sports the velvety pelt of a Karakule, but has taken on a chigger protection similar to the Merino—the wooliest of wool. The foliage is controlled by climatic conditions. The Colonel says that it is a horse, 15 1/2 hands high and weighs 1500 pounds, 800 of which is probably wool. Quoting from the thesis of the learned Colonel: "The horse has a tail 20 inches in length with a bunch of wool on the tip. From behind, the animal has the appearance of an elephant. He has no mane on his neck. Just kinky wool like that on his body. Another peculiar thing is that he sheds his covering in the summer becoming slick and black." For the benefit of the author of the learned article, a local horse doctor saw the horse as he passed through here on its way to Jack county at a 60 mile auto speed, and instantly recognized the horse as a specimen Equis Sheepess Canis Jackcounasorium. If the horse puts on that elephant aspect from the rear, Elephantis could be added.

Mrs. Jim Baker

"The Path Across the Hill" is the name of the play to be presented Friday night, April 12, at the Martin school building. Mr. Earl Jones is sponsoring the play and he has used Martins best talent in putting it on so we are sure of an evening of good clean entertainment. A small admission will be charged.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Barker spent Saturday night with the lady's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elic Hatley of Goodnight.

There was no Sunday school Sunday morning due to the fact that almost every one attended the funeral services at Ashtola, of Miss Jessie Swinburn's father at that hour. The entire community grieves with Miss Swinburn in the loss of her dear father. Some of us who had worked with Mr. Swinburn in school affairs knew him to be intensely interested in school work and especially interested in teachers and their troubles. His going leaves a vacancy in his community that no one can ever fill. We are sure that his influence will live on there for many years to come.

Mineral Wells seems to be a very popular place with Donley county folks. Mr. Jim Baker and Mr. Floyd Shannon left the early part of the week for that place. We sincerely hope that their health will be greatly benefited.

Miss Lucile Polk's sister at San Antonio who has been very ill with pneumonia is reported much better. Mr. Polk was called to her bed-side Sunday.

Walter Morrow was elected as our new trustee Saturday. Mr. Morrow is an old hand at this job and we are sure that he will serve efficiently and untiringly.

Mr. George Bulman, Mrs. Richard Cannon, and Mr. and Mrs.

Rufus Poole's little girl have all had tonsillitis this week but are improving.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Wood visited Mr. and Mrs. George Bulman Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. George Kavanaugh were dinner guests in the Walter Morrow home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Speir visited Mr. and Mrs. Conda Jones Sunday afternoon.

A GOOD BANK

IS A SERVANT TO THE COMMUNITY

Stop and think what life in Clarendon would be like without a bank. You would have to carry around big amounts in cash instead of being able to pay bills by check.

But a good bank serves its community in other ways. Your banker has grown up with his fellow townspeople. He is civic minded. He knows his city and the men and women in it. In business dealings he generally knows whose judgment can be depended upon and whose is likely to be faulty. This knowledge helps him safeguard the community.

COSTLY TO NEGLECT COWS ON PASTURE, WARNS ARENDS

If any man who milks cows were to stand out in front of his place day after day and throw away dollar bills, he would soon be seized and held for observation. Crazy as that sounds, it's no more unreasonable than the deliberate practice of throwing away costly cow flesh every year—as many a sane, intelligent cow owner persists in doing when pastures come in, according to W. R. Arends, noted dairy advisor and staff member of the Purina Mills' dairy department.

"There's nothing like fresh green grass," Arends says, "to stimulate milk flow. And there's nothing like grass to 'shoot the middle' out of good cows when nothing else is fed with it. The man who turns his cows out on pasture, no matter how good it is, to let them get what they can out of it, may think he's making cheap milk on grass alone. But he's not—he's making that milk with grass plus cow flesh—a most expensive way of doing the job.

"That's not just one man's opinion. It is the voice of time-tested experience, the proven record of long scientific research. To quote one of many statements from Henry and Morrison, America's leading publication on Feeds and Feeding:

"The proper feeding of milk cows on pasture is much simpler than during the winter," say Henry and Morrison, "and doubtless this is the reason that so many farmers, busy with their crops, fail to give their herd the necessary attention in summer. Often the cows are merely turned to pasture after milking at night and in the morning with no further thought as to the supply of feed actually available for them. It is then no wonder that when the pasturage becomes scanty in midsummer, the cows run down in flesh and fall off severely in yield of milk. Even if fed liberally when barn feeding starts in the fall, quite commonly they cannot then be brought back to their usual production."

Neglect is Costly

"From the time cows go on pasture they should be fed a supplementary ration," says Arends. "For grass, no matter how good it is, takes more from the cow than it puts back into her system. Its juicy green freshness and succulence at first stimulate the cow to pour out the milk in more than normal abundance. Since grass, which is 80% water, cannot furnish all the milk-making materials for the extra heavy production it causes, the cow naturally is forced to draw on her own body to make up the deficiency. This continued withdrawal and lack of sufficient replacement material leads to the inevitable milk slump and falling off in body weight which comes later in the season—a condition which is hastened along faster by the natural decline in available pasture. When these things happen the man behind the cows discovers that the feed cost of rebuilding flesh and milk yield runs into way more money than he would have had to spend to keep the cows on a balanced, body-sustaining, supplementary ration right from the start.

"A feed to be effective in holding up milk and body weight through spring and summer must obviously be reinforced in mineral to keep a cow from drawing on her body for calcium caused by heavy milking stimulated by green pasture. It must also be highly concentrated to insure a cow getting plenty of nutrients, even in small quantities, since cows do not take readily to grain with succulent pasture available. A third requirement for such a feed is the proper blending of its ingredients to counteract the laxative condition of pasture for better health and fitness of the cows. And it is equally essential that the cost of feeding should be reasonable.

"All of these requirements are to be found in Body Cow Chow, a pasture supplement measuring fully up to these essentials and introduced last spring to the dairy world. Developed only after much research and experimentation, Body Cow Chow was accepted enthusiastically by dairymen, both large and small. Its ability to hold up flesh and hold up production was verified over and over again before the end of the pasture season."

"Looking toward Easter," will be the sermon subject Sunday morning 10:50. The Methodist Church has a full program for Easter Sunday and we expect it to be a day of great joy even as the first Easter was, yet there are some things that must precede a joyous Easter. Our hearts must be prepared through prayer and worship for the beauty of that day. Come with us Sunday and let us begin to look toward Easter.

SANITATION BIG FACTOR IN CARE OF SOW AND PIGS

With new pig crops arriving on the way, there's something important to be said to every hog man regarding necessary sanitation measures that may help a lot in promoting the well being of the sow and the healthy growth of pigs, according to Walter Reuszer, manager of the hog unit of the Purina Experimental Farm.

"For obvious reasons, I would especially advise the thorough cleaning of farrowing quarters before the sow is brought in," says Reuszer. "These should be scrubbed and disinfected to eliminate as far as possible any danger from infection. A very powerful disinfectant for this purpose is made with a solution of one-sixth pint of Purina cresofec in a gallon of water.

"After this simple precaution, the sow should be prepared for proper farrowing by bringing her into the farrowing pen four or five days in advance. She should then be washed all over with soap and water—and her udder disinfected with the one-sixth pint cresofec solution to a gallon of water in order to remove worm eggs and disease germs which might otherwise be present to harm the young pigs. A thorough cleaning the day after farrowing is recommended, with fresh litter supplied.

Move to Pasture

Ten days to two weeks after farrowing—providing weather permits—the sow and her pigs should be hauled to clean pasture—that is, pasture which has been plowed up and sown to some cover crop since the last batch of pigs was raised there," Reuszer says. "It is advisable to keep the sow and pigs on clean pasture for at least the first four weeks, and for the entire nursing period, if possible. At five to six weeks of age all pigs should be vaccinated.

"Worm control is also an essential factor in hog sanitation. Naturally when a sow is feeding wormy pigs she's not making pork. Her feeding worms. But when a pig is kept free from worms all the feed goes to build the hog—and that's where the profit is made. Pigs should be wormed shortly after weaning—at 9 or 10 weeks of age, after they have been on solid feed for a week or two. Then they'll go back on feed quicker. For effective worming, Purina pigules are recommended. A patented water gun and jaw spreader, available at any checkerboard feed store, will make the worming job quick and easy."

is something that every boy can do. If he can not feed a calf or pig then he can get a small patch of ground and work it himself and keep a perfect record on this land, this is one of the best ways to prove the value of certified seed.

The clubs that have been organized in the last week are at Hedley, Martin, Chamberlain, and Ashtola. These clubs elected them a president and vice president and secretary which are the following:

Hedley—Pres., Joe Reed.
Vice-Pres., Lawrence Hunnicutt.
Secretary—Jimmie Alewine.

Martin—Pres., Winston Wood.
Vice-Pres., Curtis Jones.
Secretary—Raymond Shannon

Chamberlain—Pres. Floyd Guthrie.
Vice-Pres., J. H. Greene and Pete Barbee.
Secretary—Joe Frank Heathington.

Ashtola—Pres., Robert Graham.
Vice-Pres., Melvin Gregg.
Secretary—Chas. Fifer.

The other communities are being organized as fast as possible. I think that in side of two weeks that most of this county will be organized. This work must start at once. The calves should be started this month and the pigs should be farrowed after Sept. 1, to be eligible for the Amarillo show. We are planning to have a fair in Clarendon and have all of the projects on exhibit. I think that with the cooperation of the people that we can have a fair each year and make it an annual event. I wish that any boys that are not in school and have not signed up for this work but are interested in it will come to my office when they get a chance and see me and we will work out a project for them to work on.

BYRD DOGS WILL BE EXHIBITED IN AMERICAN TOUR

Huskies Made History in Antarctic Explorations.

After more than a year in the far flung, frozen wastes around the South Pole, Admiral Richard E. Byrd's Second Antarctic Expedition is on the way back to civilization, crowned with new laurels of epoch making discovery. The triumphant return started early in February, but it will be May or June before those sturdy adventurers drop anchor in Home Port, U. S. A.

Admiral Byrd, Commander of Expedition.

Returning with them on the long, homeward voyage are the vivid recollections of the vast, forbidding and previously uncharted regions that grudgingly and dangerously gave ground before the determined advance of these Polar Pioneers. With them also are more tangible reminders of their unprecedented Antarctic experiences. For if, as Napoleon said, an army marches on its stomach, a Polar expedition unquestionably moves on its dogs—those magnificent canine creatures upon which explorers in frigid lands have always depended so much for the success of their ventures—for their very lives, in fact.

A Long, Long Trail

The vital part played by those huddled and fifty huskies that accompanied Admiral Byrd in his remarkable explorations has been voiced repeatedly by radio, by letter, and by the press of the world in dispatches from Little America. The trail blazing achievements of the powerful dogs that pulled the heavy food and supply sledges over hundreds of miles of icy trek to open up immense stretches of hitherto unexplored country, have been lauded again and again by the Admiral and his hardy crew. Where the planes dared not land the dogs pushed on undaunted. When the most modern transport equipment was delayed by the rugged, treacherous topography, the dogs came through! They're coming back to America with their grateful human companions to receive their share of the plaudits for their indispensable contribution to the memorable accomplishments of the Expedition.

In all the changing temperatures and conditions of ten thousand miles of ocean travel, from the intense heat of the tropics to the extreme rigors of the Antarctic sojourn, the health and stamina of the Byrd huskies have been outstanding, according to those in charge of the dogs throughout the entire itinerary. Frequent reports have praised their fine condition and the way they have stood up to the severe tasks they have been called upon to perform.

Such strength and staying power are put there by the feed they've been getting—a ration in compressed checker form, developed by the Purina Experimental Kennels at Gray Summit, Mo. The Byrd Expedition selected this food after careful investigation of many dog rations, and took along 100,000 pounds of it to see that the huskies were well fed from the beginning to the end of the long, long trail.

Exhibition Tour Planned

The Expedition has craved the makers of this dog food that upon the return to America they will be presented with a number of these fine animals as a gift for their experimental feeding kennels, in appreciation of the success of the ration in the Polar venture. These huskies will eventually find a permanent place in the Purina Kennels where, under the best of care and handling, the effects of feeding upon stamina, breeding, and condition will be studied through many canine generations. But before that is done, the dogs will go on an extended exhibition throughout the country. It is planned to display them all over the United States in the feed stores of communities where the greatest demand has developed for this same ration that Admiral Byrd carried with him for his dogs—a ration that has proved it is best for the dog under every feeding condition of house, kennel, or field.

DESCRIBES PLAN FOR STEPPING UP COWS' NET PROFIT

The "ounce of prevention" is at last being applied successfully to the control of costly cow troubles, according to D. H. Van Pelt, noted authority on Dairying. "Calving difficulties, congested udders, lost quarters—all familiar ailments existing in many herds today—can now be just as easily and economically prevented as they have heretofore been grudgingly and expensively tolerated," says Van Pelt.

"These unprofitable factors, dairymen readily admit, are the biggest reason why money is lost in handling cows," Van Pelt says. "Take, for example, any one of those trouble makers—such as retained afterbirth—and see just how that affects the condition and producing ability of the cow.

Production Off 30 to 35%

"The energy a cow expends at the time of calving, is energy that is entirely wasted as far as milk production in her lactation period is concerned. If she retains her afterbirth and has to be cleaned, she is off from 30 to 35% in her milk production. That cuts into the profits. As another example, there is udder congestion. Every time a cow has trouble with her udder a pronounced falling off in milk results. That's another loss.

"An unfortunate thing about cow troubles is that always it is the better cows which are afflicted—always the best and highest producers. The reason for this is that the loafers or boarders in the herd are not working hard enough to be afflicted with such disturbances. It's the best milkers that fall prey to them.

"The underlying cause of these cow troubles can be summed up in two words—'inside tear-down'—an untold condition which is due

Organization of 4-H Clubs in Donley County

4-H Clubs are being organized all over the county. Most of the work is being done in the rural schools at the present time as this is the best way to get in touch with all of the boys that are interested at the same time. The boys seem to be very interested in this kind of work and I believe with the support of the parents and the local communities that this county will have one of the best 4-H Clubs in this section. The boys are signing up to grow calves, pigs, poultry demonstrations and have patches of different kinds of crops. I believe that there is something that every boy can do. If he can not feed a calf or pig then he can get a small patch of ground and work it himself and keep a perfect record on this land, this is one of the best ways to prove the value of certified seed.

BOOK EXPOSES "SELECTITIS"

The time honored custom of letting chicks, pullets, and layers pick and choose their feed according to their own whims and fancies is cited by a new book on poultry as one of the most unprofitable factors in poultry raising today. Bearing the title "Quality Eggs Mean Profit", the book, which has just been published by Purina Mills, first exposes the "aberrant" weaknesses of selective feeding, called "Selectitis", and then presents a most convincing and constructive program of feeding and handling poultry so that complete control of chick growth, pullet development, and egg production is in the hands of the man behind the birds.

Copies of the new book may be secured for the asking at any store where checkerboard poultry feeds are sold.

to lack of proper handling of the cow throughout the whole cycle of production and reproduction. In every year of a cow's life there are three distinct periods—the eight weeks just before calving when she should be dry, the four weeks of adjustment after calving, and the forty weeks of maximum milking. It is now known by experience and experiment that in each of these periods, cows require different handling and feeding. When this fact is recognized and followed according to a proven program that's best adapted to each of these periods, the cows will keep in better condition, inside and out, and will not only produce milk more efficiently but will have built up within themselves a powerful resistance to the ordinary diseases and infections that are common in so many herds.

"But why a different plan for each of these periods in the year's production cycle, is the question frequently asked. The answer is simple, once the problem is stated. First of all, what must a cow do during the eight weeks just before freshening? She must build the unborn calf—over 62% of the calf is developed in those eight weeks just before freshening. Then she must get herself in condition for normal calving. And finally, she must develop a reserve on which she can draw during her following lactation period. This all means getting in shape so that she will have a strong healthy udder. These are all big jobs that must be provided for in the feeding of the cow.

"After calving a new picture is presented. The minute a cow freshens or drops her calf she must be given at least four weeks to recover from the strain of calving and get properly adjusted for milking. Her blood stream has to change its flow from the foetus to the mammary system, a major adjustment. During the adjustment period, production must not be forced by changing too quickly to a milk stimulating feed—or the cow will be thrown off her stride before her full strength has been restored and her digestive system has a chance to accept the heavier load. She needs a feed that is especially palatable because she hasn't a particular edge on her appetite and doesn't feel much like eating. The feed should also be sufficiently laxative to work the feverish condition out of her. Then, too, it must be easily digested and strengthening.

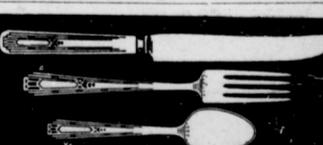

"Clearly then there is a vast difference in the cow's requirements in feed and handling between the dry and adjustment periods. By recognizing these vital distinctions and acting accordingly, any dairymen can easily put his cows in shape for the third period—40 weeks of heavy, profitable milking. In coming into the milking cycle there must be a gradual change to a milking ration. This ration must be balanced and blended to get the cow milking at her best, maintain a steady milk level, and make the most yearly net profit per cow. More than that the feed must furnish her everything necessary in proteins, carbohydrates, and mineral matter so that the cow can keep herself in good shape for many years to come. A proven cow program for accomplishing this can be secured by writing Purina Mills, Educational Division, St. Louis, Mo., and asking for their bulletins, 'Profitable Cows.'

Texans to Protest Transfer Of State Rights to Oil

Austin, Texas, April 11.—Every citizen of Texas will have a large stake in the hearings in Washington, beginning April 17, on the Thomas Bill, designed to transfer control of natural resources including oil, from the States to a Washington bureaucracy.

State in the Senate when the Federal control bill by Thomas of Oklahoma comes to the floor, if it does.

Chairman Thompson, in several recent speeches in Texas in which he was addressing consumers of petroleum and its products, has outlined the structure of the argument that he, the Governor, and the Attorney General will offer in Washington against bureaucratic control of the oil industry.

He has emphasized that it will mean higher priced gasoline in Texas. "All elements of the oil industry have their own interests to urge upon Federal and various State governments under which they operate," Thompson has said repeatedly.

"Texas produces 42 per cent of the nation's oil. It consumes 15 per cent of that production. While it is necessary for Texas producers and land owners to receive a fair price, it is primarily important that Texas and other consumers always have an adequate supply of gasoline at the lowest possible cost.

"Gasoline sells in America at about half the price prevailing throughout the world. Texas enjoys the lowest priced gasoline available anywhere. Federal control would mean higher priced gasoline in Texas, even if it were constitutional, which it isn't.

"The people of Texas through their Legislature, have adopted a policy under the State's treaty rights with the Federal government, and under our State constitution, to retain control of our natural resources. The Governor, the Railroad Commission, and the Legislature will continue to defend those rights in behalf of the State's six million citizens."

Observers here, commenting upon extensive propaganda which has been circulated in the State recently in criticism of the stand of the Governor, the Railroad Commission, and the Attorney General against Washington control of oil, and seeking to cast the inference that their stand is influenced by certain elements of the oil industry, point out that all these officials are elected by the people of Texas, and their first consideration obviously must be for the consumers—the people of the State as a whole. They further point to the $45,000,000 a year revenue which Texas is drawing from the oil industry in State Taxes, under State control, and cite this as a major reason why Texas public officials with the interest of their State and its citizenship to consider, must logically oppose any movement which threatens this source of revenue to the State.

CONCLUSION.

Thus we see that the Book of Acts give us the account of the beginning of the church, its establishment, the preaching of the apostles, the history of early conversions, how people were saved from past sins, the establishment of churches under the leadership of the Holy Spirit and the missionary and evangelistic policy and program of the Holy Spirit. When we realize that the Book of Acts serves as the divine pattern or guide in all matters pertaining to the establishment, care and activities of church as desired by God, Christ and the Holy Spirit, then we can appreciate the importance of this book. A careful study of this book will aid us in restoring the program as God would have it today.

Bray Loses a Valuable Citizen

The Bray people were grieved upon hearing that one of their most valuable citizens, Mrs. D. N. Robinson, had passed away. She had been seriously ill for several days, and had gone to stay with her daughter, Mrs. Less Hawkins, where it was hoped the more available medical aid would give her every opportunity to recover from an illness contracted while in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Dewey Griffin, of Lefors, but she steadily grew worse until at last the worst came, and she passed away on Monday afternoon of April 1st.

It could truly be said that she was a good wife, a good mother, and a good neighbor. She had reared a fine family of girls, and neighbors always found in her one who was always ready to help in time of trouble and one with a ready word of sympathy in their hour of bereavement; hence it is that the people are only too glad to extend to the family their most sincere words of sympathy in their great loss.

Mrs. Robinson was a member of the Bray Methodist church, and of a truth she was looked upon as a loyal member. She was always willing and ready to help in whatever way she could in the maintenance ongoing of her church, the Sunday school, and all institutions championing the cause for which she stood. In school matters she could always be counted on for loyal cooperation, and her most valuable help is going to be most seriously missed.

As a token of love and admiration for her, and of sympathy for the family, the Bray Sunday school, and the pupils of the Bray public school, contributed to floral offerings which so fittingly manifested the high esteem in which she is held.

Funeral services were held at the Methodist church at Hedley on Wednesday afternoon of April 3rd at 3 p. m. by Rev. Hendricks, Methodist pastor of Hedley who was assisted by Rev. M. E. Wells, pastor of the Hedley Baptist church.

WORKER'S EDUCATION CHATS

By Earle Jones

Attended an adult school rally at Estelline Friday night. To all appearances they have a program that is really worth something to Hall County and to the State of Texas.

They have string bands, group and choral singing classes, mathematics, Home Economics, etc. The High School directors have thrown open the school's doors without cost to the night school. They know that the small cost of lights and heat will be more than repaid by the benefits that the students derive from attending the classes.

Estelline alone has eight adult school teachers. Hall County as a whole has 60 teachers. There is no reason why Donley county should not have that many. The sum total of teachers under this program in Donley county is 6. We have a weekly payroll of $72.00 while Hall county has a payroll each week of $720.00.

According to the authorities of the State Plan in Emergency Education the teacher does not have to be on the Relief Roll or be in need of relief, if they do not have any income that justifies a livelihood, they are eligible to teach adult classes.

Donley county will have to wake up and soon, if we are to week up with the rest of the State.

Adult Education sponsored by the State and Government is here to stay! Some Foreign countries have had adult schools for some 58 years and the U. S. has had schools for 14 years in the larger populated centers, sponsored by the city and state. Under the New Deal, the Government is doing its best to put teachers to work all over the nation that are not regularly employed, trying to enlighten the people. We invite YOU to come to our school or invite us to meet with you, to arrange for classes. It will not do you any harm and it may do you a world of good.

Plans are being formulated whereby adult Education will be continued two more years at least, provided the people want it. It is a certainty that if this section does not take it wholeheartedly the lower part of the State will. Under the new plan the standards of teachers will be raised and a better salary will be paid.

Claude Nash, believer in the Jersey cow of the best type, came up from Hedley Monday.

W. F. Shannon, who resides on his farm west of town, is a patient at Milling Sanatorium at Mineral Wells, going down this week.

Former Bray Citizen Dies In Amarillo

Mr. Johnny Davis died in Amarillo on Saturday evening of March 31st and was buried in Amarillo on April 1st. Mr. Davis was reared in the Bray community where he had a host of friends and relatives. He had attended school a part of his school life at Bray, and it was there that friendships of his former school pals was established, which will never be forgotten.

Mr. Davis took an active part in the community life at Bray, being a leader in the community singings, for which Bray is quite well known today. It was at the Bray school that Mr. Davis became interested in high grade farm stock, and he spent the greater part of the remainder of his life in the raising of fine stock. He was considered a good and prosperous farmer, and he owned a good farm in Eastern New Mexico, where he had lived for many years and until shortly before his death.

His father owns a farm in the Bray school district, and it was originally a part of his farm that the Bray teacherage now stands. Mr. Davis' father, in fact, gave the acre of land that now constitutes the teacherage plot.

Mr. Davis married Miss Allie Lee, sister of Mr. Homer Lee of this community and Mr. Lee, formerly of this community but who now resides in New Mexico not far from where Mr. Davis lived.

He is survived by his wife, three daughters, ages 10, 12 and 14, his father, A. G. Davis of Bray, six brothers Joe, who lives in Colorado, Vernon, Ralph and Frank, who live in the Bray community, and Robert, of McKnight, and three sisters, Mrs. Virgil Hollingsworth of Amarillo, Mrs. Emmett Hollingsworth of Turnersville, and Mrs. Joe Crawford of the Bray community.

AT THE FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

J. Perry King, Pastor

There is Always Worship Fellowship :: Service

I heard of a new kind of Christian the other day. "Lily Christians" they toll not, neither do they spin. I wonder if you are a lily christian? If so you are not worth much to your church nor your community. A religion that does nothing, gives nothing, suffers nothing, and sacrifices nothing is worth nothing. We can at least give one seventh of our time to the service of Christ. The lily was not made to toil and spin. It fulfills the purpose of its creation; it attains to its own self-realization. The ravens were not made to sow and reap. They live out the law of their being. They do the things they were made to do.

Christ in his application of this scripture, found in the sixth chapter of Matthew, teaches that christian people ought to live out their manhood and womanhood. Do the things you were made to do. Be true to the law of your being. You were not made to be lilies. You will labor six days wisely and usefully, doing all your work—it is the command of God. You will rest and aspire to higher ideals in life at least one day in seven—this, too, is the command of God. Lives thus lived, in harmony with the purpose of God for them, may live without fear and worry. Such lives may live in the sweet assurance that in the great abiding order which enfolds them, they too, will be fed and clothed. They will at least be fed with that bread which comes down from above; and that which is born from above must be fed from above, and will be clothed with that righteousness which is the righteousness of God.

Start next Sunday to do the things you were made to do. Live within the purpose of God for your life. Be a regular attendant at Sunday school and the preaching service of your church. Surely by this time you have learned that the temporal and material things of the earth will not satisfy the needs of the soul. You are only here for a little while. Life is so short at its longest. Let all of us make them count for the most by rededicating and reconsecrating them to the service of God, and the betterment of humanity.

Lelia Lake Hen Champion Producer Cackleberry

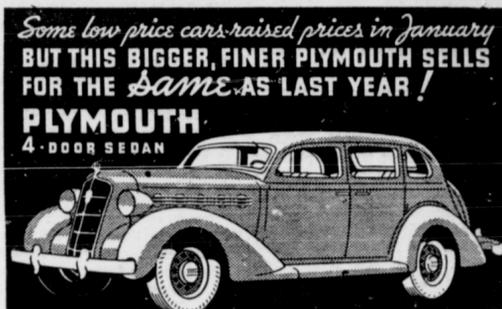

A Rhode Island hen owned by Mrs. J. A. Thompson of Lelia comes forward to contest for first honors as a champion producer of a cackleberry of ponderous dimensions.

In our issue of March 28th O. S. Anderson's hen claimed a record with an egg measuring 7 5/8th by 6 1/4th inches. That was some egg! The egg brought in by Mrs. Thompson measures 6 1/2 by 8 inches. That also is some egg to those versed in eggology. Who can beat that record and keep out of the ostrich class?

"CLIVE OF INDIA" GREAT LOVE STORY HERE APRIL 17-18

Colman and Loretta Young Score In Stiring Life Of English Hero

The most beautiful and powerful love story to reach the screen in the memory of this reviewer is being enacted at the Pastime Theatre next week. Ronald Colman and Loretta Young are the principals and "Clive of India," the first million dollar production of Darryl F. Zanuck and Joseph M. Schenck's 20th Century Pictures company.

But this true story of Robert Clive, a poor young clerk in the East India Company, who conquered an Empire at 26 and became England's greatest hero, only to see his star fall when the woman he loved had drifted from his side is more than a great love story—it is a reflection of a life of truly heroic proportions—of staggering achievement, attained because a man believed in his own destiny.

One secret of its greatness—is secret it is—certainly that "Clive of India" dares tell the whole truth about a great man, glossing over nothing—not even the man's less admirable deeds.

The seventy-odd remaining speaking roles are expertly filled by such popular and expert players as Colin Clive, Francis Lister, the brilliant English stage star who scored on Broadway last season, C. Aubrey Smith, Cesar Romero, Lumsden Hare, Ferdinand Gottschalk, Mischa Auer, Doris Lloyd and others. Directed by the brilliant Richard Boleslawski for release through United Artists,

"Clive of India", offers powerful drama, stirring spectacle, exquisite romance and perfect entertainment.

Panhandle School Director Visits Here Saturday

W. C. Darnell, Panhandle director of adult education, held a conference here at 10 a. m. Saturday with Donley county adult school teachers.

The meeting was held in the district court room. Among the teachers present were L. H. Earthman, Mrs. M. S. Millsap, Mrs. C. H. Hall, Mrs. Maurine Lackey, Miss Léone Merritt and Earl Jones.

Mr. Darnell advised the teachers as to how their work could be made more efficient. He stated that adult education would be extended for at least two years in Texas. "Illiteracy has been reduced in Texas by a great extent by the adult schools in this state", he said.

In closing the conference, Mr. Darnell complimented the teachers on the work they had done in Donley county, it comparing favorably with that of any part of the state.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Fink of Childress were week end guests of his mother, Mrs. O. L. Fink.
