THE AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

With this issue The News begins the publication of a series of articles on "Americanization" and the attributes of American citizenship. These articles were written by Ellwood Griscom, Jr., and are presented to the public free schools of Texas by the Scottish Rite bodies of Texas Masonry. In this day when live and burning patriotism is waning, something of this sort is needed, in our opinion, to awaken the people and bring them back to the normal thought and principles of American citizenship as experienced and practiced by the fathers and it is the good pleasure of this paper to give the series to our readers. Read them and see that the children read them. They are all founded upon important facts in national history and their sole purpose is to call to mind the glorious past and nerve our people for further advance in national and community citizenship.

Now, as we are going to say about those street lights—by golly it sure is dark, these nights, with the moonlight gone.

The Gustine Tribune says it about right when it opines that "Happiness is a flivver that has to be cranked up, but trouble always has a self-starter that never fails to work."

This week The News presents editorial opinion from a number of leading writers of the Texas Press upon the live topics of the day. Sometimes it does the reading public as much good to have a change from their regular weekly editorial pabulum, as it does for a congregation to hear an occasional sermon from someone other than the regular pastor. And then, no community ought to feel that they have the only editor in the country—there are others—as good and then some.

Speaking of sound practice in the Panhandle country the Quannah Tribune-Chief says, "The way to get into the cattle business in this country, so it will pay, is to plant a couple hundred acres to wheat, and in the fall take on twenty or forty head of good stuff and sell your wheat pasturage to the stock, and then sell your stock to the market. There is money in operating it that way, both in the cattle and in the wheat which grazing will keep down so the usual freezes will not hurt it."

Concerning the action of the lower house of the legislature the Amarillo News voices our sentiments full well when it said in a recent issue: "Today, the entire state stands aghast by reason of the fact that the proposition to cut the pay of the professors in the University of Texas, including all of the more outstanding leaders of the institution, and turns its face hopefully, prayerfully to the Senate believing that body will not concur in the brutal, unthinking that has characterized the 'balance of power' in the House."

That Texas needs a better paid and more select representation is again shown in letters of fire, so that the most strenuously engaged may see and understand, there cannot be a doubt. The state of Texas has been penalized by her legislature, for that body had as well struck a blow at the babyhood of the land, as to throttle the maturer young manhood and womanhood by lowering the standard of the institution whose proud record of achievement was a thing of honor to the entire citizenship. The University occupies a place of prominence among the leading institutions of the United States, and the mere suggestion of such a thing as was endorsed in the lower house of the Texas legislature, is positively unthinkable."

Sam Harben, secretary of the Texas Press Association, has been down to Austin recently on business for that organization. Sam never goes anywhere without keeping his eye skinned and his ear close to the ground, and this is the way he sizes up the political situation at the state capitol: "The Capitol is seething with politics, a score of men who are supposedly down there serving the state are scheming to change their mode of service and straining every point to bring this to pass. Earl Mayfield who has been a member of the railroad commission for ten years and made a good officer, wants to be United States Senator to succeed Charlie Culbertson. Charley Thomas of Lewisville, who is Speaker of the House and Hon. Clarence E. Gilmore from Van Zandt, the hardest working state official, now railroad commissioner, wants to be governor. Clarence knows the ropes and Charley is learning them mighty fast. Lee Satterwhite of west Texas, is said to have bought a large hat recently and now wants to be Speaker of the next House, with him, also, wanting to have this place, is Judge Seagler of Palestine. Lon Smith does not care much whether he is re-elected or not since the people refused to raise his salary, certainly they should have done this and Kit Robison who is a newspaper man of long experience and a state worker for years, is willing to take the place. S. M. N. Marrs who is assisting Miss Annie Webb Blanton in counting state scholastics, is willing to succeed her. It is right interesting for an 'upstate yankee' to visit Austin and be entertained by the superlatives of these folks."

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Baldwin, of Memphis visited here Sunday with the latter's parents Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Benedict.

IMPROVED HIGHWAYS

Two factors have contributed more than any other to the building of improved highways throughout the country. One of these is the automobile, especially since it has come into such general use by farmers. The other factor is the enormous tonnage being hauled over country roads.

The governor has issued a report showing the tonnage of eleven products hauled on country roads during the period of 1915-1919. The total amounted to 85,500,000 tons. The average shows twenty-seven tons of these eleven crops hauled for every 100 acres of land. The eleven crops mentioned in the report are: Corn, wheat, oats, barley, rye, flax seed, tobacco, potatoes, cotton (including seed) and cultivated hay.

These figures show the necessity for building and maintaining country roads. Wherever the roads have been improved farms have become more valuable and made more productive. Wherever good roads are built there will be found a higher class of citizenship than in those sections where there are none or few good roads. Progressive citizens will not live in sections where the people refuse to improve their roads. It is too difficult and too expensive to haul their products to market and to bring their purchases home. The citizens that refuse to improve the public highways are not in the class of citizens who urge and contribute to the up-building of the country roads. The latter are too progressive to remain in communities where they cannot obtain the best for themselves and their children.

Tarrant county was one of the first counties in Texas to build improved highways, north, south, east and west through the county. This showed the progressive class of citizens owning property and living here. The roads are being made better, day by day, and cross roads are being improved to connect the cardinal roads with each other. More of these improved cross roads are needed, and the sooner they are built the better for the people, because of the benefits they will get from them.—Ft. Worth Record.

WHAT LIFE IS LIKE

As I write this I can look out of my window and see a Cloud, a Hill, a Spire, a House, a Wall, a Road, and a River, in just this order from top to bottom.

Life is not a cloud, for a cloud has no substance, save this mist.

Life is not a hill, for a hill is beautiful at a distance only, while life is near and dear, and its microscopic ways are as charming as its perspective.

Life is not a spire, for a spire points to happiness in another world than this; whereas happiness grows in but one place, here, and at one time, now. The kingdom of life is about us.

Life is not a house, for a house is permanent, while life is fleeting. Many lives come and go, and the house stands.

Life is not a wall, for a wall is a limitation, while life is infinite, and has no bounds.

Life is not a road, for life roams the fields and goes where other men have not gone. It flies over the hedges as a bird, it treads the forest as a deer.

Life is a river, always the same yet different; always passing, always present; fluid, yet outlasting all walls and houses; flowing yet enduring; going, yet eternal.

"The river of life" is a true symbol. The river is the one natural object that is both fleeting and permanent.—Dr. Frank Crane in Parn Life.

JOY FROM THINKING OF OTHERS

Much matter has been written of the joys of thinking of the comfort of others. Ever and anon there will loom a thought on this line, and it attracts attention. Some maintain that the world is becoming more fraternal, while at the same time there are others who hold to the contrary view. Certain it is that men and women have never found themselves the loser by being kind and considerate to and of those about them.

The following is the lead editorial of the San Angelo Standard of recent date:

"Tonight, neighbor, you'll crank up the bus and take the wife and children out for a cooling-off spin along the country roads. The chances are, you won't think about the tired-faced little neighbor woman whose husband isn't fortunate enough to own an automobile, and who sits on her front porch close to your home, night after night, rocking her baby and trying to keep it cool."

"Have you any idea how much she would appreciate a trip into the cool country with her baby on one of these blistering nights?"

"Just drop over there tonight, and ask her to ride along with you. Get a taste of the joy of giving!"

The Standards editor evidences the fact that he has given thought to humankind, and senses the appreciation of those who may be served, without materially inconveniencing those extending the courtesy.

NEW TOWNSITE LAID OUT IN HALL COUNTY

On Monday at 3:00 p. m., a new town was born in Hall County.

The town is named Tampico, and the city plat was filed for record with the County Clerk at that hour. The town is located on the junction of the Memphis-Turkey highway and the Estelline-Turkey highway, about eight miles south of the Oxbow bridge.

The plat covers 25 acres of land and is located on Section 209, Block S-5, D. & P. Survey. The Ozark Trail monument is now the only structure on the plat. It is planned, however, to erect a store building and postoffice there at once, and to secure a school building and other modern conveniences, besides several homes. The Virginia-Texas and Watchorn oil wells, both now drilling, are in close proximity.

It may not be a stretch of imagination to see Tampico, Texas, the equal of its namesake in Mexico, as an oil town, some time in the future. Anyway, its a platted city within the confines of Hall County and will some day have to be reckoned with. Who knows but some day it may be the county seat of this good county.—Hall County Herald.

Miss Irma Lewis left Sunday evening for Amarillo where she is attending a house party at the home of Miss Anna Lee Hooks. Miss Lelia Burrell joined the party Tuesday evening.

OBJECT OF EDUCATION

Education is more than the mastery of a number of mental tricks. Education may teach a person how to earn a living, but many pupils, often the best, cannot be persuaded that earning a living makes living itself worth while; they will turn from it to any irreligence, good or bad; while those who can be persuaded are by that very persuasion made stupid, which certainly is not the aim of education. There is in everyone a hunger of the soul, or the self, which can be satisfied only by some kind of mystical belief, and by a life in terms of it; this hunger must be expressed somehow, and education must be seen as a means of satisfying it.—London Times.

The past year Mr. and Mrs. Dodge were in Norway where Mr. Dodge was sent by the bank; the next year their home will be in Paris.

Announcing
The New

"Four"

Here is a Thoroughbred Four
Completing the Famed Buick Line

The new Four-Cylinder Buick, here announced, is a thoroughbred—a pedigreed car well worthy of its name.

Down to the very last detail, this new model possesses every quality of enduring serviceability, complete comfort, and distinctive appearance that have always characterized Buick automobiles.

The advent of this new Four makes the Buick 1922 line complete. It offers to purchasers of a car of this size all the quality and service that go to make up the name "Buick."

The Buick Valve-in-Head
Engine—A Power Plant
That Has Proved Itself

The engine, of course, is of the time-tested Buick Valve-in-Head type. The year-after-year concentration of Buick's engineering skill and experience in building Valve-in-Head motors assures the highest standard of performance obtainable today.

Every other unit is of a quality equal to the power plant. The whole assembly constitutes a perfectly balanced chassis which is of typical Buick construction. The equipment of Cord Tires is merely evidence of the quality which characterizes the entire car.

Two open and two closed body types mounted on the Buick built chassis comprise the new series.

Even the most casual inspection of the details of design and workmanship will reveal that full measure of quality which motorists have learned to associate with Buick.

A Great Car—Prices
Make It An Even Greater Value

Obviously a high grade automobile—a genuine Buick production—the prices listed below make this great Four even greater. A value such as this is possible only because of the combination of Buick engineering skill devoted to the one ideal of quality, Buick production facilities developed over nearly a quarter of a century, and Buick's nation-wide distribution and service organization.

The Buick Motor Company is proud of the Buick Four. It has the faith of long experience in this newest addition to its line. It places upon it unreservedly the Buick guarantee carried by every Buick automobile produced. That its confidence is well placed is manifested not only by the keen interest with which motorists have awaited this announcement, but also the advance orders placed by distributors, dealers, and the general public.

LOCAL DOG FANCIER MEM-BER AMERICAN KENNEL

George Reed received notice the last week of his acceptance as a member of the American Kennel Association. His acceptance has followed much work, as this is the most exclusive organization of the dog fanciers of the United States. Mr. Reed has been in the dog breeding business for the past several years, and his special favorite is the English Bull. His kennel will be known as the Panhandle Kennel.

Membership in the American Kennel Association gives the right to show at all the shows, which right can only be secured at a high price otherwise. The orders for the breed of dogs that Mr. Reed raises are always booked ahead, and his sales have been made all over this part of Texas.

With his membership he gets the Stud Book, the record of every registered dog in the United States. Mr. Reed says that he does not expect to make exhibits at any of the shows until the demand for his dogs ceases to exceed the production.

THE RED CROSS AT THE FAIR

Exhibits at 200 fairs in the southwest are planned for this summer and fall by the Southwestern Division of the American Red Cross, according to an announcement by Miss Yeager, F. H. N. of the Donley County Chapter of the Red Cross.

The local chapter will be represented in this number with a booth at the County fair held this year September 22-24th and plans are under way for a number of displays showing Red Cross service at home.

During 1920 the Southwestern Division of the Red Cross, of which the local chapter is a part, participated with exhibits and booths at more than 160 state and county fairs, with a total attendance at the various booths of 505,000. It is planned to increase this number during the fair season approaching.

Emergency hospital and first aid on the fair grounds, information service, rest rooms, weighing and measuring of babies and children of school age, advice by nurses and doctors to mothers on matters regarding child welfare, and exhibits depicting the work of the national organization are among those being considered by the local chapter for its exhibit.

BE PRETTY! TURN
GRAY HAIR DARK

Try Grandmother's Old Favorite
Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, at a small cost.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy and attractive.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire dark hair and a youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.
