BROWNWOOD, TEXAS, THURSDAY, JULY 21, 1938

NUMBER 29

PAVING PROJECT FOR CITY STREETS GETS FINAL PWA APPROVAL

Brownwood's city-wide $167,589 paving and improvement program has received final approval in the Public Works Administration according to information received by City Manager F. E. Scott.

The project will start July 25 and work will continue for 216 days. The budget and plans provide for the use of 149 men on the job. Grading, preparing and paving of the streets, the building of drainage structures, gutters, curbs and sidewalks, are the main items included in the outline of the program.

The project will be financed by the city's contribution of $79,341 and the government's which will be $88,247. Part of the funds will go to finish the present paving project and the same general arrangement in the present program will be carried with the new project.

Persons living on unpaved streets will submit petitions to the city of all property owners along the part to be paved. The petitions will be approved and paving authorized. There remains ten blocks to be paved under the old project.

W. O. Turner, supervisor of the construction work on Adams slough in the northeastern part of the city, reported that the slough has been rip rapped and drainage structures completed from a point 400 feet below the East Broadway bridge, up to the bridge. Preliminary cleaning and preparation has proceeded on past the bridge. After completion, 1300 feet of the slough will have been cleaned and a concrete and stone canal laid along the bed.

Unightly Boxes for Mail in Rural Area Are to Be Improved

"Clean Up Rural Box Week" which begins the week of August 1st is for the purpose of removing the unserviceable and unightly mail boxes. A delapidated mail box retards the delivery of the mail and distracts from the natural scenic beauty of the highways.

The carriers in this section will aid the rural patrons in connection with the cleanup campaign. Carrier Miller Crockett, Owens Route 1 has already launched his improvement campaign. "The postal laws require that all mail boxes be approved and on the right side of the road as traveled by the carriers. All rural mail patrons who wish to please their carriers, should remember these requirements and should also keep a supply of stamps for home use instead of putting pennies in the mail boxes to be used in paying postage on letters," he stated.

Santa Fe Officials Report Tracks Near Winchell Tamped

Santa Fe officials have reported that persons near the Winchell community have been placing objects on the tracks and right of way. Ernest Paschal, special agent for the Santa Fe, said that anyone apprehended placing objects or any material on the tracks or in any way obstructing traffic would be prosecuted to the full extent of the law.

Such objects as cross ties, rocks and wire strung across the tracks at one time delayed a passenger train and on another occasion a motor car struck two ties on the right-of-way.

Two youths who broke into a refrigerator car near Creason are being held in Granbury to answer charges of burglary. The youths J. J. McDonald of Stamford and A. G. Pittman of Mullin, were arrested here Sunday, according to a statement made to the county attorney.

P. M. G. Scans Political Picture

Who's that hiding behind the camera? It's none other than the postmaster general, James Aloysius Farley, who is taking a picture (of the political situation, maybe?) as he stopped off in Seattle en route to Alaska. He will return to the U. S. through the Canadian Rockies.

Special Purchases of Children's Books to Be Made by Library

As the result of a meeting of the board of directors here Tuesday night, the Carnegie Library will in the next two months buy only books for children. Lack of suitable books for boys and girls was the cause for this action, it was said.

In cooperation with the city the board is to place curbing on the Depot street side of the library lot. WPA funds are to be used.

Written applications for library will be mailed to Mrs. B. A. Fowler, 1421 Ave. D, up to Tuesday, July 26. The board will meet again next Tuesday night and a librarian will be selected from the applicants. Improvement work as recommended by the building committee will get underway at an early date.

Jury Hearing Capps Trial Is Dismissed

The jury for the Capps trial was discharged Saturday noon. They had deliberated nearly two days without reaching an agreement. Theodore Capps, 27, Brown county ranch hand, was charged with murder in connection with the killing June 14, of W. A. Gunn, oil field worker.

The case was in the hands of the jury at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Some of the jurors asked for a review of some of the testimony Friday afternoon and deliberations were resumed after this was granted. The jury could not agree over the question of malice in the killing.

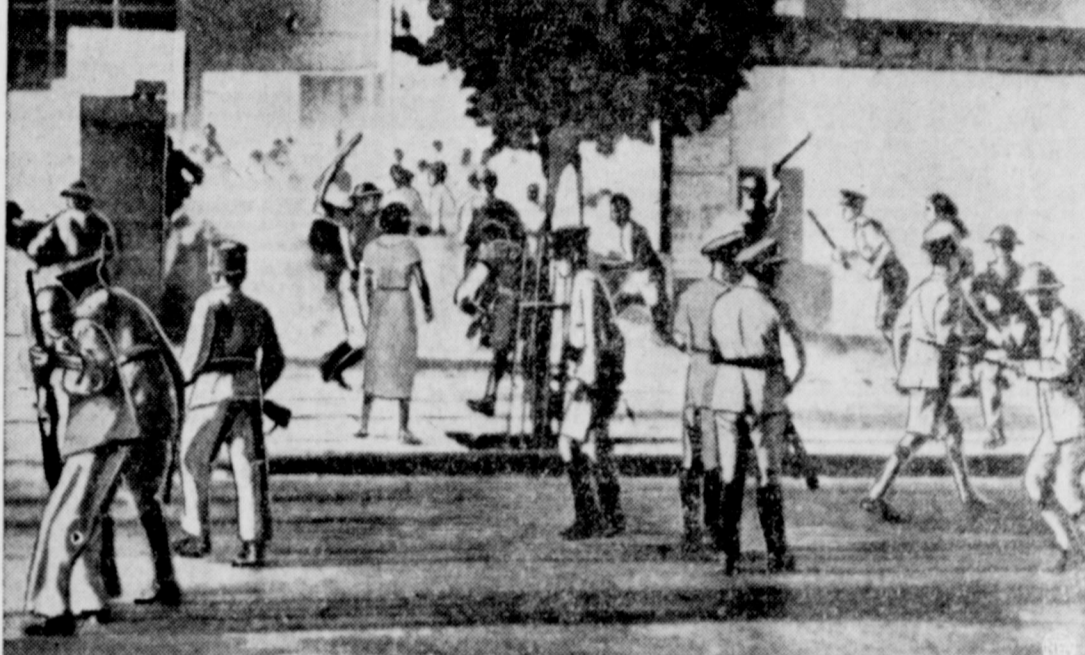

The defendant, Capps, has been held in the Brown county jail since the afternoon of the killing, when Gunn died from a shotgun wound in the head. The principal witnesses were a twelve-year old adopted son of Gunn, who was in the house at the time of the shooting and Mrs. Gunn, who had been engaged as cook and housekeeper at the place several weeks before the shooting.

A new trial is expected to be ordered in the October term of court.

Dr. Boone Speaker At Firemen's Meet

Recently named chaplain, the Rev. Leslie A. Boone, pastor of the First Methodist church spoke at the regular meeting of the Brownwood Volunteer Fire Department Tuesday night. The meeting was held at the Central Fire Station, city hall.

Palestine Again Torn by Inter-racial Strife

With unabated riots between Jews and Arabs in Palestine swelling the present casualty list of over 300, desperate British authorities were moved to threaten martial law to forestall civil war. Pictured above are police, aided by armed and steel-helmeted troops, as they break up a demonstration at Tel Aviv against the recent hanging of Solomon ben Yosef, first Jew to be executed in the Holy Land in 1900 years.

Experiment with Tenmarq Wheat Reveals Brown County Soil Ideally Adapted to Crop; Advantages of Species Stressed

An experimental crop of Tenmarq wheat produced on 109.4 acres of the Capps Pecan Farm east of Brownwood this season shows definite promise that Brown county wheat farmers may easily increase their per-acre yield by as much as ten to twelve bushels, and at the same time improve the quality and market value of their grain.

The 1938 crop, produced by Joe Hamilton and B. M. Ballard from 100 bushels of seed wheat obtained from the Kansas State experiment station, produced an average of 27.5 bushels per acre. It was seriously damaged by the April blizzard. The men said their yield would have been greater had this loss, and some leaf rust loss, not been suffered. The total yield harvested was 2763 bushels.

Requirements are simple. Hamilton said there is no secret or complexity involved in their good showing with the crop. "We studied over the practices generally followed in grain production by local farmers and tried to use horse sense in following those we thought best. We believe in moisture conservation practices, use of proper varieties, and in carrying out all operations on time. Of course good land is required for high yields but we can't see why crops grown on average land should not benefit in proportion by use of these practices."

Tenmarq is not yet widely planted in the Brownwood territory, although it has long been a choice variety in the Texas Panhandle where it is favored because of its hardiness and superior quality. The Ballard and Hamilton crop is being sold to Brown county producers for use as seed. The original 100 bushels, obtained from Kansas cost $2 per bushel, but the Brownwood men are selling their yield at $1.20 up to 50 bushels, $1.10 from 50 to 250, and at $1 for amounts over 250 bushels.

The following brief summary of the history and qualities of Tenmarq wheat has been furnished through the office of Chester Harrison, manager of the Brownwood Chamber of Commerce:

History
 Tenmarq wheat was produced by J. H. Parker of the Kansas experiment station. In 1917-18 a cross was made between Marquis, the leading spring wheat, and P-1066 a Crimean winter wheat similar to Kanred. In 1921 Parker selected the plant which he named Tenmarq from descendants of this cross. It was increased and tested by research workers until 1928 when it was distributed to farmers in small lots to be tested in comparison with other varieties under many different conditions. It was first released for commercial production in 1932. In 1934 two years later, it was officially reported as grown on 177,000 acres including over 8,000 in Texas.

Recommended for Texas
 In the 1936 Yearbook of Agriculture Tenmarq heads the list of hard wheat varieties recommended for Texas. Experiments at the Denton, Texas, Station since 1928 show the average comparable yield of Tenmarq is 31.9 bushels as compared to 28.4 for Kanred and 27.5 for Blackhull. In general Tenmarq outyields Blackhull wheat in the area from Central Texas north to Kansas. Going westward the spread declines until in the Panhandle of Texas and Western Kansas Blackhull and Tenmarq yield practically the same. However, in the Pan-

Boy Scouts at Camp Are Safe, According To Reports Thursday

Friends and relatives of 152 Boy Scouts attending camp in McCulloch county were relieved Thursday morning when information was received from the Scouts themselves that they were in no danger as a result of almost flood-stage waters in Brady creek, on which Camp Billy Gibbons is located.

A group of 120 boys and six leaders halted their trip to the camp and will remain in Richland Springs, 15 miles from Billy Gibbons, until the creek has lowered sufficiently to enable a safe crossing. Already at the camp are 32 boys and G. N. Quirk, Executive of the Comanche Trail Council Camp equipment and supplies have been moved into the hills adjacent to the camp site as a precautionary measure. Scouts expect to continue their camping program at Billy Gibbons within the next day or so.

Following is a rain report issued by the Southwest States Telephone Co. Thursday morning:

Austin, shower; Ballinger, shower; Abilene, big rain; Bangs, good rain; Brooksmith, 1.25 inches; Blanket, big rain; Brady, big rain; Coleman, big rain; Comanche, big rain; Cisco, sprinkle; Dallas, none; Dublin, big rain; Fry, big rain; Fort Worth, none; Goldthwaite, big rain; Grosvener, big rain; Lampasas, big rain; May, big rain; Mullin, big rain; Mercury, 3.5 inches; San Angelo, shower; Santa Anna, big rain; Waco, big rain.

Brownwood Schools Request PWA Aid

The Brownwood public school system has filed an application to the Fort Worth offices of the Public Works Administration for a $250,700 improvement project. The notice was issued from the Fort Worth offices.

No announcement by the members of the school board has been made, but details of the project include remodeling, and improving present buildings, with additional construction.

TWO PRODUCING OIL PROPERTIES CHANGE OWNERS THIS WEEK

Two sales of two producing properties aggregating approximately $33,000, three or four new locations and prospects of a new Ranger lime producer near Byrds Store are features among the oil developments in Brown county for the past week.

In the latter part of last week a deal was closed in which Ed Selvidge and others sold to the Gilcrease Oil Company of San Antonio ten acres of the J. M. Perry lease in the Thrifty area, containing two producing wells. Contracting parties did not reveal the consideration, but reliable information places the price paid at approximately $15,000.

The transfer included the Selvidge Nos. 1 and 2 Perry, the first of which has been producing since May and the second for about four weeks, but did not include the Selvidge No. 3 (now to be known as the Selvidge 1-B Perry), now drilling.

Following almost immediately on the Selvidge deal, Gilcrease became further interested in oil operations here with the purchase from W. D. Cunningham of the 65-acre J. H. Horton lease in the Salt Creek area, eight miles northeast of Brownwood, containing the Cunningham well which was brought in on July 5, together with the Pittman and Harris 80-acre tract, which is a northeast diagonal offset to the Horton.

The San Antonio firm also made purchases of other Salt Creek acreage about the same time. It is reported to have paid $18,000 for the 65-acre Horton tract and $20 an acre for the Pittman and Harris and other nearby acreage.

Gilcrease company is starting immediate further development of both the producing properties acquired. A location has been made on the Pittman and Harris lease, 650 feet from the south and west lines of the tract and 1,250 feet from the Cunningham No. 1 Horton, on which drilling will be started soon.

Gilcrease is also rigging up for a well on the Newsum tract, a mile and a half west of the Horton well. Pearson Properties, Inc., No. 1 Cox & McNis, half a mile south of Byrds Store, is now acidizing with prospects of being a nice producer. The test has found 18 feet of saturated Ranger lime, topped at 2,320.

W. W. Port of Wichita Falls has made a location and will start drilling soon on the 667-acre Spence tract, near May. The contract is for a 3,900 foot Ranger lime test. The R. O. Moore well on the Jack Smith dairy farm near the city limits has been abandoned and plugged, after acidizing at 1,585 and also at 1,529.

H. P. Evans et al have made a deal to drill on 191-acre C. D. Stone tract in the south end of the Cross Cut field. The contract calls for drilling to begin by August 1.

Art Cox Production Company spudded a Caddo lime test last week on the M. L. Gulliver tract, E. W. McBees survey, five miles southwest of Brookesmith. The Caddo is expected at about 980 feet. J. B. Bond and R. C. McCarter have a good showing of lime on the H. R. Smith lease in Comanche county, near Sipe Springs and are preparing to acidize. They have drilled to 3,900 feet, but will acidize 50 feet of grey lime with oil showing which was picked up at 2,805.

The R. B. Byrd No. L. S. O. Looper, two and a half miles southwest of Byrds Store, is completing coring in the Ranger lime and is expected to acidize soon.

L. L. Evans and L. L. Sheard of Brownwood and J. O. Hart & Sons of Fort Worth are drilling the No. 2 W. J. Richmond, a mile west of the Byler pool, near the Coleman county line.

The Ed Selvidge No. 1-B J. M. Perry, near Thrifty, is drilling at 480 feet.

Council Forced to Hike Paving Costs

At a called meeting of the city council Wednesday afternoon, it was decided to increase to 20 cents per square yard the rate charged property owners for paving under the new WPA project which starts Monday. The present rate charged is 10 cents per square yard. The increase is made necessary by the fact that under the old charge of 10 cents, the city's part was so great that it would be impossible to continue at that rate. The new project calls for $167,000 worth of street paving.

There's Something About a Soldier

Something new for the style book. Here's Major M. L. Bain of the Sixth Cameronians attending the Birthday Honors Investiture at Buckingham Palace in London. It was something of a contest between the major's skin-tight plaid trousers and his lofty headdress.

FIRST ELECTION WAS HELD IN COUNTY 80 YEARS AGO—IN 1858

Eighty years ago the first election was held in Brown county. This was in 1858. A legislative act August 27, 1856, authorized the county to hold an election, but owing to delay in organization and errors in defining boundaries it wasn't until February 1858 that the county was finally authorized to hold an election.

An informal election was held in May of that year and on August 3, 1858, a regular election was held and the following officers were elected:

Welcome W. Chandler, chief justice; M. G. Anderson, county clerk; W. F. Brown, district clerk; B. J. Marshall, treasurer; Marion Potter, sheriff; Oliver H. P. Keese, tax assessor and collector; David Baugh, T. J. Preddy, Edmund Reynolds, and David Hanna, county commissioners.

There was quite a bit of confusion as to time and manner of holding the first election. It seems that the law creating the county authorized the chief justice of Lampasas county to order an election for organization of the county, but it was not held at the appointed time. However, the people met in May 1858, and elected officers. When the order came from the justice in Lampasas county for an election on the first Monday in August 1858, the people ratified the officials already elected.

Subsequent elections have been held biennially.

Convention Train Is Met by Local Lions

A delegation comprising members of the Brownwood Lions Club and Brownwood Chamber of Commerce met the Lions Club special Saturday morning at 7 o'clock. The special was en route to the international convention at Oakland, California.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Bell boarded the train here to attend the convention. Mr. Bell was the only delegate from the local club to go. Dr. O. N. Mayo, the other delegate, was unable to attend.

BROWNWOOD SUBMITS BID FOR LOCATION OF VET'S HOSPITAL

If plans now under way are successful Brownwood will be included on the list of Texas cities to be inspected as a possible site for a $1,485,000 general hospital for war veterans, Chester Harrison, manager of the Chamber of Commerce said Wednesday.

A tour of the state by C. H. Stratton, veterans administration engineer of Washington, D. C., will be made beginning July 29. His tour will include stops at seven other cities.

Congressman C. L. South stated in a communication to Harrison Wednesday that indications are favorable for the hospital to be located in Texas, although several other states are bidding for the location. Texas Congressmen have made a concerted effort to locate the hospital either in North or West Texas.

A local committee composed of John A. Collins, Gus J. Rosenberg, Zeno C. Ingram, Lon A. Smith and Fred Donahoe in cooperation with the Chamber of Commerce submitted Brownwood's application. They will point out to Stratton the advantages that Brownwood has for a hospital and the locations including some at Lake Brownwood will be shown. Members of the committee are members of the Brownwood Post of the American Legion.

The hospital will be a general medical institution of 350 beds and is part of the spending-lending program of the government. Stratton will submit his report of the inspection and study of sites inspected to the Federal Board of Hospitalization and they will make final decision on the location.

Houston, Sweetwater, San Angelo, Abilene, Lubbock, Amarillo, Fort Worth and Dallas were the cities originally designated for consideration.

Approval Received On WPA Project for Roads in Precinct 2

Announcement was made this week of the largest county road improvement project yet approved for Brown county by the Works Progress Administration. The work will be done in Precinct 2, of which H. I. Stapp is commissioner. The work order becomes effective July 27, and will provide for the employment of 155 men for twelve months. A total of 35 1/2 road miles will be improved.

The work involves eight different roads in the north end of the county, for improvement of mail route and school bus roads with a total cost of $110,425.75. Of this total federal funds will amount to $72,676.27 and sponsor's share will be $37,749.49. Due to the county's machinery and material facilities, actual cost to the sponsor will not be more than $8,000 or $9,000, Mr. Stapp estimates.

National Outboard Races May Be Held At Lake Brownwood

Directors of the Lake Brownwood Regatta Association Thursday morning instructed Secretary Chester Harrison to invite the National Outboard race meet to be held at Lake Brownwood in September. Already the district meet has been designated for Brownwood, and if the local association is successful in securing the national meet, the district event will be released to some other Southwestern city.

Mr. Harrison had been advised that the national meet, the largest outboard racing event in the United States, would be available for Texas waters this year. It previously had been awarded to Tulsa, Oklahoma, but that city has decided not to hold the event this year.

If the national meet is held in Brownwood, it will bring to this city the outstanding outboard motor boat racers in the nation, winners of the five divisional meets.

Game Warden Back From Conference

John Woods, district game warden, recently attended a five-day short course on game management conducted by the Texas Game, Fish and Oyster Commission at Camp Mabry, Austin.

Plans were formulated for game work for the next several years and the game wardens will start an extensive program of research work and educational studies of game conditions in their respective districts, Mr. Woods said. In the future, game wardens will wear forest green uniforms and regulation hats.

Wildlife Planning Boards will be organized in each county of the district in the next two months. Comprising these boards will be men who are interested in bettering game conditions and working with the game warden to do so.

The farmers of this district are asked to cooperate by increasing game on their farms. Game managers were appointed for each region of Texas to aid in the research and educational studies. Earl Sanders of Kerrville was appointed for this district.

The six counties under the supervision of Game Warden Wood and Deputy Game Warden Frank Etheridge are, Brown, Callahan, Coleman, Comanche, Eastland and Erath.

Are your cows switching flies or making milk?

THE SUMMER slump in milk production is not entirely a natural phenomenon. Cows that are severely aggravated by flies don't have much time to graze and chew their cud and make milk. Fly time is milk-slump time. Protect your cows from fly torture with Dr. Hess Fly Spray. This product is both a fly killer and a fly repeller. It kills flies in the stable and it protects cows from flies in the pasture. Dr. Hess Fly Spray has been tested as a fly killer and a fly repeller. Cows like to use 1 tablespoonful of milk, per test, at each milking, pays for the spray.

The MARCH OF TIME

A BANNER Feature by the Editors of TIME, The Weekly Newsmagazine

"Men At Work" . . .

WASHINGTON—Except for the Secretaries of State and Navy, the only top functionaries of the U. S. Government left in hot Washington last week were the Spenders and Lenders.

Secretary Ickes announced that all the Public Works projects he is setting afoot will ultimately provide $1,001,200,000 worth of building material orders, 14,225,000 man-months of labor, $515,600,000 in direct wages.

Administrator Stewart McDonald reported that PHA had insured $73,832,400 of construction mortgages in June, a 69% increase over June 1937.

Administrator John M. Carmody announced that REA had allotted $11,229,200 for 66 new rural electrification projects.

RPC reported it had lent $8,654,393.18 to industries and $9,264,571.51 to banks from February 29 to July 6, was now preparing to make 2,492 more loans totaling $92,656,000.

Federal Surplus Commodity Corp. got authority from Secretary of Agriculture Wallace to use its new $79,000,000 appropriation at once to buy surpluses of oranges, vegetables, peaches, flour, cereal products, to feed 2,000,000 needy families.

But the richest, smoothest, quickest of all Spenders and Lenders is, of course, the Works Progress Administration, headed by Harry Lloyd Hopkins. Because more than 3,000,000 people are getting from their toll-won bread, and because $1,425,000,000 is a lot of Government money to have to spend in an election year, Harry Hopkins has inevitably become regarded as a prime mover—and prime target—on the national political scene.

To himself, he remains first and foremost the dutiful boss of "Men at Work."

While most of the 85% of U. S. citizens who still earn their livings in private industry wonder whether the remaining 15% will forever remain dependent on the Government, Harry Hopkins has long since made up his mind. Behind his immediate plans for this year's relief, is something far bigger, an economic philosophy in which work relief is not an emergency measure but a permanent program for the U. S.

But Harry Hopkins was last week running a political show second in scope and influence only to Franklin Roosevelt's personal performance. Not a politician in the same sense as Jim Farley, he is in three ways deeply and definitely in politics. He is in politics to the extent that Relievers distinguish between what they are getting from Democrats and what they might get from Republicans. He is in politics insofar as his clients, united by their status, band together to influence Administration policy. (Socialist Organizer-President David Lasser of the Workers Alliance of America last week announced: "The question of wage increases for 2,600,000 low-paid WPA workers is a major issue in the primary campaigns and the November elections. Our organization is in the political campaign with both feet.") And he is in politics as a lifetime social worker, who wants the Roosevelt Administration to succeed so that his plan for permanent work relief may be established. But Harry Hopkins is not blind to the sweet uses of WPA when political necessities arise.

WPA's assignment is to take up unemployment slack rapidly at first, then more slowly as PWA's projects get going, then at full capacely when winter comes and heavy construction slows down. Last week WPA added 60,000 workers to its rolls, two-thirds of them in the Midwest and Mid-Atlantic regions. Similar increases will be made each week during the remainder of July, to bring WPA's total to 2,935,700. The winter peak will be slightly more than 3,000,000 workers.

Besides planning and giving work in the manner to which it has become accustomed, WPA last week started buying $10,000,000 worth of men's and boys' clothes to give away. At the Manhattan office of the U. S. Treasury's Procurement Division, WPA Administrator Corliss G. Gill inspected three racks of garments including tuxedos and racy sports clothes, announced that nothing "flashy" would be accepted, that WPA would buy about 1,000,000 quiet garments—durable overcoats and one-pants suits—ranging in price up to $25. Meanwhile, as Mr. Gill inspected warehouses in Manhattan, Baltimore and Chicago to store these gifts, manufacturers of ladies' garments flocked to see what they could sell him.

If the Reorganization bill had passed, Harry Hopkins would have become an important member of the President's Cabinet. He may yet do so next session. If and when a new Department of Welfare is created, it will doubtless be staffed by Harry Hopkins' present crew.

"Answer Me" . . .

LONDON—In England where she is exploring industrial conditions for Franklin Roosevelt, Madam Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins last week replied to a British query on his third term intentions: "I don't know. I once asked Mr. Roosevelt himself. He just turned and looked out the window as if he hadn't seen me."

Rehearsing the incident in the present tense, the New York "Sun" chuckled: "The world cannot at all wish that she should not re-member she is a lady. She should shake him firmly by the shoulder and shout, 'Franklin, answer me!'"

Cotton: White & Red . . .

WASHINGTON—As decreed by the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1933, the 2,500,000 cotton growers in the U. S. can sell their yield without penalty in the open market this fall only if they have numbered identification cards, which have been duly issued and signed by AAA county committeemen.

Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace did not tell American farmers that they must take a number, must carry a card. Any farmer who wants to do so may grow all the cotton he pleases, store it in his barn and go unnumbered. Mr. Wallace simply told cotton buyers who are not a big or politically potent class, that upon them rests the burden of properly identifying the cotton, that furthermore—on pain of $500 fine—they must strictly observe an AAA color line. For AAA cards are to be white and red—white for the 96-odd percent of farmers who presumably are complying with AAA's acreage control program; red for approximately 250,000 non-complying individualists.

Vast are the differences on each side of the color line. White-card holders, in addition to selling their cotton without undue complication will receive a Government bounty of 2 1/4¢ a pound. But buyers of red-card cotton must note whether the farmer is selling cotton grown on acreage beyond an allotted quota. If so, the buyer must collect a 2-cent penalty tax on each pound bought.

Reason for the 1938 program and its attendant complexities was that cotton farmers last year cultivated 34,471,000 acres, grew the huge total of 18,945,022 bales, had to fall back on Government loans, wound up with a carry-over sufficient to depress this year's prices. So Mr. Wallace invoked the powers granted him in the new AAA instituted drastic control, got a majority of farmers to approve by referendum. Last week Mr. Wallace's analysts announced the result: a cultivated acreage of 26,904,000, lower than any since the Department of Agriculture began to keep tabs in 1909 and a prospective crop of about 12,000,000 bales.

Less pleasing news about wheat was carried to the White House. The Secretary informed the President that so big a wheat crop is coming up that the U. S. Treasury must lend growers perhaps as much as $100,000,000 to carry over their surplus. The Adjustment Act requires loans to farmers whenever prospective production rises above "normal" domestic and foreign demand (751,000,000 bushels). Official estimate announced this week: 967,412,000 bushels for the year—216,412,000 above normal.

Anniversary Declarations . . .

SHANGHAI, China—There was no talk of ending their war and no mention of compromise last week when spokesmen for China and Japan took stock of their two-month gains and losses on the first anniversary of the war.

For Japan, Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoye declared: "We are not fighting . . . with the Chinese people. Our conflict is with their leaders, civil and military, who have been assiduously inspiring the people with a hatred for the Japanese during the last ten years. We are firmly convinced that unless we uproot this underlying cause of wrong there can be no lasting peace in the Far East . . . Japan is bound with an iron determination to settle the matter once and for all, no matter how much time may be needed."

For China, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek declared: "China will not be conquered! . . . We are fighting for our existence . . . It is to survive as a nation and to guarantee peace for our people and the generations of Chinese which are to come that we are struggling and will continue to struggle . . . The Chinese will fight to the finish, even if there is only one inch of territory left and one Chinese living."

Leaving Hankow for Germany with 20 or more other German military advisors, 69-year-old General Alexander von Falkenhausen added these words to the first anniversary declarations of Premier Konoye and Generalissimo Chiang: "I feel sure of China gaining a final victory. Japan will fall both in war and peace."

No secret was it that General von Falkenhausen had no desire to leave China, that Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek had used all means to persuade him to remain, that the German military commission departed only after peremptory orders had been issued from Berlin. It was reported that in a farewell message to the Chinese troops, General von Falkenhausen had also declared undying sympathy with the Chinese Army, that Berlin had sent him a strong reprimand for saying so.

Japan is an anti-Communist ally of Adolf Hitler's Germany and Benito Mussolini's Italy. She felt that Germans should not aid China, well knowing that the Germans constituted to a considerable extent the brains of the Chinese Army. Germany obliged her Far Eastern ally by recalling the commission.

Departure of the commission ended nine years of military assistance to the German militarists and China's Central Government Under German advice. Prussian discipline—including the goosestep—was introduced into Chinese crack divisions. Most important to Germany was the fact that the mission persuaded China to buy German military equipment.

Cave Men . . .

CHICAGO—Fifty approximately one million years human beings have lived in a physiological rhythm determined by day and night—that is, a rhythm of about 24 hours. So ingrained is this habit that a daily temperature cycle occurs, body heat being lowest (among people who normally sleep at night) in the early morning, highest in the early afternoon. Some time ago Physiologist Nathaniel Kleitman of the University of Chicago determined to find out whether the human mechanism could break away from this ages-old habit, adapt itself to a cycle of different length.

On June 4, Dr. Kleitman and Graduate Student Bruce Richardson entered Kentucky's Mammoth Cave, took up residence in a snug cavern 119 feet underground where for them day and night on the surface had no meaning. There they lived a 28-hour cycle, sleeping nine hours each 28-hour "day." There were only six of their long days in a calendar week. They had a regular routine of eating, sleeping, reading, writing, walking.

After 32 calendar days underground, the two scientists emerged last week. Results: Richardson

Have you a hobby to ride? I have mine is writing letters and enjoying the answers. I have friends in the east, west, north and south—who keep me on top of the world with their inspirational letters. There is that New Jersey gal who works down on Wall Street—she tells all about New York City and the sea coast and wants to know all about us westerners. The gal from California writes the interesting facts about that golden state—tells about their wonderful climate, while the writer melts under the extreme heat. Those Alabama college folk keep you inspired with the college briefs—keep you wanting to go to college all the time. There are the Oklahoma columnists who are always surprising you with a letter or say hello to you through their writings. There are those fine Texans—on the plains west of us and in Fort Worth who love you for friendships sake. There is that little musically minded gal who has her goal set to be a master—then there is that gal who has her degree in nursing. Then there are those friends who find that traveling is a most interesting field and drop you a card now and then. There are all the college "kids" from way back when, who still write. Those who attended high school with you. The Illinois folk who work with that flowing black gold. And then there is that gal who is a natural born comedian adapted himself well to the long day, sleeping soundly at the prescribed periods and stretching his temperature cycle to one of 28 hours. Kleitman had much difficulty, his periods of wakefulness and sleepness and his temperature cycle clinging to the 24-hour rhythm, while not impossible, varies with different individuals. Perhaps age is a factor, since Kleitman is 43 and Richardson only 25.

Editorial-of-the-Week . . .

SEATTLE, Washington—From a front-page editorial in the Hearst Seattle Post-Intelligencer entitled Happy Days Are Here Again by Publisher John Boettiger, son-in-law of President Roosevelt:

"Crepehangers have been routed out by optimism in the market places of the industrial East, and the country is started back on the highway to good times . . . Some of our friends . . . may think we have had an overdose of proximity with the famous Roosevelt personality. It is fine to be able to report that the President is in great fettle, hale and hearty, imbued with confidence, cheerful and relaxed enjoying life and his big job to the fullest. We aver that our opinions are based on broad observations. But we can't deny that we are also influenced by the calm confidence of the President. He isn't selling the country short, and neither are we."

Time will not permit me to see everyone, but I want to be your next County Attorney, J. Piner Powell. Thank You. (Pol. Adv.)

Writer Says Women Are Losing Selfish Marriage Motives

By Ruth Millet

Woman's deepest reason for marriage has always been fundamentally selfish. Even though she usually gives more to a marriage than she gets in return, she has always looked to marriage for security.

Today the situation is changing. You can see it in the attitude of successful young women. They have proved that they can take care of themselves as adequately as a man could take care of them, and so have lost some of the selfish interest in marrying.

They want marriage, of course, but they want it on their own terms. If they really enjoy their work, they insist on keeping on with it. If they want children, but don't want to give years to sitting at home with them, they do the work they like and hire a trained person to do their job of child-raising.

They weigh carefully the advantages of marriage against the disadvantages—and occasionally they decide to pass marriage by.

If there is a real good in the change that is coming about, it is that women are achieving men's right to marry when they are ready to marry—and not before.

A successful woman isn't tempted, as women have always been, to marry just to be married. She isn't so afraid of becoming an old maid that she hurries into marriage with a man she doesn't love. And she doesn't bear the humiliating knowledge that marriage is a matter of economic necessity.

Such a woman will be slower to take to marriage than the woman who is pushed into it. And by the same token, she will probably be quicker to call an unsatisfactory marriage a failure.

That is why woman's personal independence and well-being can seem at first glance to be an enemy of the home.

Garner At Market

Turner Garner left Saturday for New York where he will attend openings of the fall merchandising markets. He pointed out that indications are favorable for strong demands of early fall merchandise.

He was accompanied by Henry Drumwright, manager of the Garner-Alvis store in Cisco.

That he would meet his Waterloo.

When Cleo was a howling brat. Women were yelling, "Buy me that!"

During politicking time a pressman applied for a job at the Tribune office and seemed to be exactly the man wanted. A deal was just about to be closed, when the boss asked if the applicant chewed tobacco. The man replied, "yes," and the boss said that he could not employ him. The pressman insisted on knowing why. To which the boss said, "Well, our presses run so fast you wouldn't have time to turn your head and spit."

J. Piner Powell will appreciate your vote for County Attorney. Thank You. (Pol. Adv.)

THIS CURIOUS WORLD By William Ferguson

JOHN TYLER AND WILLIAM HENRY HARRISON, WHO PRECEDED HIM AS PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES, WERE BORN IN THE SAME COUNTY! CHARLES CITY COUNTY, VIRGINIA.

At Saturday's election, voters will be confronted with a list of candidates unequalled in number since the primary election system of selecting Democratic nominees was inaugurated a quarter century ago. The urge to run for public office rose to new heights in 1930, the first depression election, but it has steadily increased since that time until the voter now has a wide selection of names from which to choose almost each nominee. Following a custom of long standing, The Banner will give a brief resume of the candidates for state and district office, indicating our own choice in the major offices.

The Governor's race this year, after a slow start, ends up in a maze of confusion. W. Lee O'Daniel no doubt will lead the ticket and many competent political observers predict that he will win without a run-off. Personally, we doubt it, although his strength is decidedly an unknown quantity, and such a thing is possible. Ernest O. Thompson, railroad commissioner, is a strong candidate who has many qualifications for the position. Our choice, however, is William McCraw, present attorney general, who is capable, qualified and deserving of the position. His service as district attorney of Dallas County and as Attorney General have fitted him for the State's most important elective office, and we feel that he would make a most excellent Governor. Tom F. Hunter, oil man making his fourth bid for the office, is the only other candidate who is a serious contender, but there are some nine others, including Karl A. Crowley, former solicitor general of the post-office department.

Out of six candidates for Lieutenant Governor, only two need be considered seriously, Senator G. H. Nelson of Lubbock County and Representative Coke Stevenson of Junction. Senator Nelson is our personal choice, although Stevenson is an able legislator, whom we believe has the best chance of election. Another personable and able candidate is George A. Davison, Jr., of Eastland, a member of the Legislature.

The Attorney General's race presents an unusual situation, in that five attorneys of unquestioned ability, of fine personality, are candidates. Any one of the candidates would render Texas valuable service as Attorney General, and it is unfortunate that all are entered in the same race. Walter Woodul of Houston is our choice for the office. He has served as State Senator, as Lieutenant Governor, as Chairman of the Texas Centennial Commission of Control, and in other official capacities. He will make a good Attorney General. So also, however, would that splendid young man, Robert Calvert, speaker of the House of Representatives, or Ralph Yarborough, district judge at Austin, or Gerald Mann, former Secretary of State, or Lewis Goodrich, district attorney of Wheeler County. Woodul has had greater experience than any of these, and seems a logical choice.

For Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, the incumbent, Richard Criz, should be retained in office, and undoubtedly will. The same is true of Judge Harry N. Graves, recently appointed to the Court of Criminal Appeals. Judge Graves is a candidate for the unexpired term of the late Judge O. S. Lattimore, to which he was appointed. He is a state official of much experience. For the regular term, Judge F. L. Hawkins is unopposed.

C. V. Terrell, chairman of the railroad commission and candidate for re-election, should be retired at this election. He will be more than 80 years of age at the end of the six-year term which he seeks. His service has been acceptable, but he has never been a strong member of the commission. Robert A. Stuart of Fort Worth, and John Wood of Shelby County are the leading candidates opposing Terrell. Both are younger men of ample training and experience. Our vote goes to Stuart. Three other candidates are in the race.

J. J. Biffle of Hill County, former employe in the State Comptroller's office, is capable of filling the job of Comptroller, which he seeks this year. Under other circumstances we would be glad to give him our unqualified support. But George H. Sheppard is without question one of the most capable state officials that has ever served Texas. He conducts the affairs of his office with a business-like efficiency which meets the approval of all who come in contact with this big state department. With it all, he is a modest, affable gentleman who cannot but be admired. How can you vote against such a man? We believe he should be given a splendid vote of confidence and kept on the job as long as he is willing.

For Commissioner of the General Land Office we vote for Bascom Giles of Travis County. The incumbent, William McDonald, is a candidate, but so much of criticism has been directed at his conduct of the office that we feel that a change would be for the best. Other candidates are not well enough known to secure a heavy state-wide vote.

We also favor a change in the office of State Treasurer, and our choice is E. B. Barnes of Travis County. Charley Lockhart now holds the office—too long, we believe. Barnes has served in the office and knows how to handle the affairs.

We have read with interest the report of the Legislative investigating committee relative to the Department of Education. We believe that too much political power has been built up, and that the office has not been conducted as Texas should wish it. For that reason, we favor the election of S. R. LeMay of Henderson County. Mr. LeMay is an able school man, and one who would be a credit to the department and the State.

Leonard Westfall of Haskell County is our choice for Commissioner of Agriculture, over J. E. McDonald, present commissioner. Judge J. H. Baugh of the Court of Civil Appeals, and Congressman Charles L. South have no opponents.

Senator E. M. Davis of Brownwood has rendered efficient service for the district and for Texas during his first term, and deserves a second term. Two members of the Legislature oppose him, Ross Prescott of Brownwood and Penrose B. Metcalfe of San Angelo. Senator Davis' greater experience and his undoubted energy and ability in representing this district merit his re-election to the second term. The people of this district would do well to retain his services.

W. R. Chambers is a man of wide experience, good judgment and sound principles. He seeks election as State Representative from Brown and Coleman counties, and we are for him. Mr. Chambers has been of inestimable value to the people of this section for many, many years. He is a tireless civic worker, a student of the problems of the people, an able debater. He will make a good representative.

Our admonition to the voters is not to blindly follow our own selections. Secure all the information you can about the candidates and then vote your own choice. But by all means, vote Saturday.

Brownwood Campaign Of Davis Concluded

Senator E. M. Davis, candidate for re-election, explained his attitude and record on numerous questions which have become issues in the three-way race between himself, Penrose Metcalfe of San Angelo and Ross Prescott of Brownwood here Monday night in the 35th district court room.

He was preceded by John A. Collins, chairman of the local Davi-club, who introduced Robert R. Holloway, Gib Calloway and Walter Early, all Brownwood attorneys.

He stated that he was opposed to race track gambling. "I think it is an evil and that it is wrong to put the stamp of governmental approval on it," Davis said that he and five of his colleagues in the Senate voted four times to bring the liquor-by-the-drink bill to a final vote in order to kill it from the calendar and to keep down long debates on the subject which would have killed three important bills coming after it. "Every member of the Senate knew my attitude toward that bill," the speaker declared.

Both of his opponents wanted a 10c oil tax. Senator Davis said he pointed out that oil in this county produced $700,000 income whereas cotton produced $350,000 and that he "would not vote to destroy the biggest single industry in Brown county."

The Senator voted against the "child control" amendment, which is the child labor amendment. He proposed to cut government expenses through elimination of the liquor control board and duplicating taxing agencies. On taxing the corporations, the speaker said, "the big boys have ways of passing the tax down to the little fellow fast and furious, and with interest."

Zephyr Defeats May 11-2 in Game Sunday

With another game in the winning bag Zephyr defeated May 11-2 Sunday. The game was called at the end of the fifth frame on account of rain.

Thirteen men at the plate and seven runs brought in the first inning scores for Zephyr. Bud Fisher did the mound duties for May with 11 hits, 11 runs, and 6 strikeouts.

Much interest in the Tri-County League is being shown in these two teams. The next game is scheduled at May Sunday afternoon.

Transport Agent for Penitentiary Picks Up Prisoners Here

"Uncle Bud" Russell, transport agent for the state penitentiary at Huntsville, picked up eight prisoners at the Brown county jail late Friday afternoon. A ninth prisoner, Marlon Harris, given a two-year sentence for forger and passage, will remain here until the next trip, because the prison truck was loaded.

Transferred prisoners were: Irwin McCormick, two years for theft and receiving stolen goods; J. W. Tate, two years for theft and receiving stolen goods; C. A. Newsum, one year for chicken theft; Loya Brown, two years for removing mortgaged property; Eugene Elliot, six years for theft on false pretext; Demey Knox, five years for burglary; J. R. Paulk, two years for forgery and passage.

Most tourists forget that the Romans occupied England for more than 300 years; yet every time he uses the abbreviations for English money the Englishman is under Roman influence. L stands for "librum" (pound); s. for "solidus" (shilling); and d. for "denarius" (penny).

A second term, as a reward for a deserving public servant's service, is an established custom in Texas.

Senator Davis has served one term. He has been a faithful public servant. Let's give him a second term.

He has fought valiantly for Old Age Assistance for Soil Erosion measures, for Texas Blue Sky Law, for a liberal policy favoring Public Schools and teachers. He opposes the legalizing of race horse gambling, sale of liquor by the drink, and all exorbitant tax measures. He is fair minded and deserving. Let's give him a SECOND TERM.

I Made My Promise Good

In asking for your vote two years ago, it was my promise that as your Sheriff I would give you the best PROTECTION AGAINST CRIME that an EFFICIENT SHERIFF'S DEPARTMENT could provide.

BROWN COUNTY stands today as one of the safest counties in Texas in which to live . . . Safe for all law abiding citizens . . . But a very unhealthy place for criminals.

Your cooperation with the peace officers of Brown County, who are deeply concerned with the problems facing us all has made this possible.

Our Sheriffs Office is well organized and works continuously hand in hand with city, State and national law enforcing agencies.

On the platform of doing my duty well and in enforcing the law to the best of my ability, I ask to be retained by your vote as Sheriff.

HOLLAND—Funeral services for Henry Columbus Holland, 72, were held Monday morning at the Coggin Avenue Baptist church with the Rev. J. M. Bradford, pastor, officiating. Burial was at May.

Mr. Holland died Sunday at a local hospital. He had lived in Brownwood all his life. Mr. Holland was born December 14, 1865, in Fannin county. He was a member of the Odd Fellows Lodge and a member of the Baptist church. At the time of his death he was a retired farmer.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Minnie Mae Ferguson Holland; his children, M. A. Holland, Lubbock; Carroll C. Holland, Lubbock; Myrtle May Kilgore, Brownwood; Janie Morris, Brownwood; Mrs. Dymela Kilgore, and Minnie B. Hensley; fifteen grandchildren and one great-grandchild; three brothers, and three sisters. Pallbearers were Grady Colvin, Carl Taylor, Bennie Pennell, J. M. Gray, Chester Horseman and Harvey Bynum.

OWENS—Funeral services for Phillip Jesse Owens, 80, were held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence, 1802 Avenue D, with the Rev. S. W. Williams, presiding elder of the Methodist church, officiating. Interment was in Greenleaf cemetery.

Mr. Owens died in a local hospital Sunday morning following a short illness. He was born in Alabama March 9, 1858. A short time after his father was killed in the Civil War, Mr. Owens came to Texas with his mother, settling in Limestone county. He entered the lumber business at Waco while a young man, later moving to San Antonio where he was in the same business until about three years ago. He and his wife came to Brownwood about two years ago.

In early life he joined the Methodist church and was a member of the Central Methodist church of Brownwood at the time of his death.

Surviving him are his wife, Mrs. Holyce Owens; two daughters, Miss Ada Owens of Los Angeles, Calif.; and Mrs. C. H. Olson of Waco; one brother, B. W. Owens of Ft. Worth. Dr. C. C. Bullard of Brownwood is his brother-in-law.

Pallbearers were his nephews, Sam Owens of Arlington; Richard Owens, Shelby Owens of Ft. Worth; Clarence Starr, Clarence Olson, Jr., of Waco, and William Owens of Fort Worth.

Honorary pallbearers were J. D. McNeill, E. V. Johnson, Roy Anderson, Cecil Choate, H. L. Ehrke and F. E. Scott.

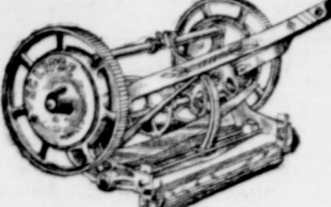

BRICE—Funeral services for Harold Dean Brice, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Brice, were held July 13 at 7 p. m. from the Austin-Morris chapel. The child died in a local hospital that day at noon. Officiating at the services was the Rev. J. M. Bradford, pastor of Coggin Avenue Baptist church. Interment was in Greenleaf cemetery. Survivors include his parents.

CURB—M. L. Curb, 89, Mullin, passed away at his home July 14. Funeral services were held Friday at 5 p. m. at Duren cemetery in Mills county.

Mr. Curb, father of Elder M. H. Curb of Brownwood, was born August 1, 1848, in Alabama and came to Texas with his parents in 1866. In 1870, he was married to Miss Mary Sanderford, who preceded him in death two years ago. He had been a member of the Methodist church since he was 25 years of age.

Survivors include his children, J.

MCKEE—Funeral services for W. A. McKee, 55, Bangs, were held Tuesday afternoon from the Bangs Baptist church, conducted by the Rev. R. Neal Greer, pastor.

Mr. McKee died in a Brownwood hospital Monday afternoon following injuries received when struck by an automobile as he walked along the Coleman-Brownwood highway near Bangs on July 15. A longtime resident of Bangs, Mr. McKee was born in Jack county, Texas, in 1883. Survivors are his mother, Mrs. Eliza McKee, Bangs; and two brothers, John McKee, Plains, and Levi McKee, Bangs.

Pallbearers were Oren Welch, Arnold Ragsdale, Tom Studdard.

John Payne, Elbert Davenport and John Ragsdale.

RICHARDSON—Last rites for Isaac Richardson, 67, who died at his home in Brookesmith Monday following a brief illness, were held at the Baptist church in Trickham Wednesday at 2 p. m. Interment was in Trickham cemetery. Mr. Richardson was born November 21, 1870.

A member of the Christian church, Mr. Richardson had lived in Brookesmith for 34 years. Survivors are his wife, Mrs. I. L. Richardson; six sons, Elmer August and David Richardson, all of Brookesmith; Walter Richardson of Dublin; John Richardson of Indian Creek; and Frank Richardson of San Angelo; four daughters, Mrs. Claude Williams of Lamesa; Mrs. H. E. Reid of Brownwood; Mrs. Clinton Holden of Doole and Miss Agnes Richardson of California.

Construction Work Is Started at Early

Notice of approval of the $8,500,000 early school bond issue was received in the office of County Superintendent F. D. Pierce Thursday afternoon and construction work started Friday afternoon on a five room brick and tile school building at Early.

Claud A. Robinson of Hardi Lumber Company was awarded the contract after four bids of local concerns were opened. Sixty working days were allowed for completion of the building and school officials believed the building could be occupied for the fall term.

The vocational agriculture and home economics building is being remodeled to conform to state requirements. This is part of the improvement plan of the school trustees launched several years ago.

Where the upper forehead is usually full or high, making a sort of dome, the subject will be over-reflective and inclined toward dreams and imagination, according to an authority.

A second term, as a reward for a deserving public servant's service, is an established custom in Texas.

Senator Davis has served one term. He has been a faithful public servant. Let's give him a second term.

He has fought valiantly for Old Age Assistance for Soil Erosion measures, for Texas Blue Sky Law, for a liberal policy favoring Public Schools and teachers. He opposes the legalizing of racetrack gambling, sale of liquor by the drink, and an exorbitant tax measure. He is fair minded and deserving. Let's give him a second term.

WE WANT C. V. TERRELL RE-ELECTED AS Railroad Commissioner

He Is Honest He Is Capable

His Mature Judgment Developed by His Experience As Railroad Commissioner Is an Invaluable Asset to the State of Texas.

As a member of the Railroad Commission, Mr. Terrell has directed the proration program, which has been the means of saving the oil fields in Brown County and Central West Texas. Without proration, stripper wells, which make up these oil fields, would have been forced out of production, and millions of dollars would have been lost to this section.

The undersigned Business Men and Independent Oil Operators endorse C. V. Terrell.

Enrollee at Veterans' Soil Camp Tells Thrilling Story of Balloon Adventure While in Training Camp

By Captain Morris U. Lively
Company 2818-V

From time to time, one reads in the newspapers very interesting stories of the exploits of members of the "Caterpillar Club," those aviators who have to bail out of planes or balloons. Again, the exploits, real or fancied, of members of that famous club form themes for good cinema plots.

Company 2818-V has an enrollee who is certainly entitled to a seat on the board of directors of that club. The gentleman will be known in this story as Enrollee X.

Prior to the Great War, Enrollee X was a telephone expert. Early in 1917, he enlisted in the army. After a period of preliminary work in the Depot Brigade, he was sent to a telephone school. From this school he was assigned to the 99th Balloon Squadron, Fort Sam Houston. He afterwards served as an observation balloonist in France.

Enrollee X has consented to a release of the following story of one of his adventures, which happened while still in training as an observation balloonist.

One morning X and Captain Y went aloft in a balloon. When an altitude of about four hundred feet had been reached, it was seen that the balloon was returning to the ground. However, when the balloon was within about 100 feet of the ground it shot up very suddenly. The sudden lunge upward broke some of the cables on the balloon.

That sudden ascent of the balloon put the bag away above the clouds. Captain Y and X made vain attempt to bring the big bag to earth. They would come near to earth when the broken cables would become entangled in trees. Other parts of the balloon were being broken. Again a sudden ascent of the balloon!

Meanwhile Captain Y was becoming fully cognizant of the gravity of the situation in which he and X were. The captain ordered all unnecessary articles thrown overboard, which included sand bags, coats and shoes.

Captain Y saw that there was but one thing for him and X to do. It was imperative that they jump. The captain turned to X and said "Get ready to jump." X says that he certainly did not relish the idea and he began to remonstrate with the captain. Something had to be done. Captain Y and X could not float forever in a wild balloon. The captain made a human catapult of himself and threw X out of the balloon. Then the captain jumped.

X can describe vividly his feeling as he felt himself hurtling through space, fearing, now knowing, in a flash—"Will my parachute open?" X states that the jump was made from an altitude of about six hundred feet. He fell some two hundred feet before the chute opened, then sailed on to earth, veritably gliding on the air.

X states that he and Captain Y landed in a corn field. It was early fall and the weather was crisp especially as the two balloonists were without shoes or coats. They walked to a farm house and were told that they were fifty miles north of Austin.

Just before Captain Y jumped he

July 17 Marks 93rd Birthday for Local Pioneer Resident

Mrs. D. M. Martin, 93, celebrated her birthday Sunday, July 17th, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John R. Stephenson, 112 North Greenleaf street.

Mrs. Martin came to Prescott Ark., with her husband by wagon and later with four children by train to Cisco, Texas. At that time Cisco was the nearest railroad point to Brownwood and they arrived in Brownwood October 20 1883. Mr. Martin died eleven years ago and Mrs. Martin has lived with her daughter, Mrs. Stephenson since that time.

Those who attended the anniversary gathering were her children W. W. Martin of Moran; Mrs. W. B. Reeves, of Gorman; Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Stephenson Sr. of Brownwood; her grandchildren, Mrs. K. F. Hopkins of Graham, Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Reeves of Gorman, Miss Alyne Stephenson of Brownwood, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Stephenson Jr. of Brownwood and a great-granddaughter, Mary Elizabeth Stephenson of Brownwood; other relatives and friends were Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Honea, Mrs. Ed Pickett and Miss Lois Honea.

WINSTON (Wink) PALMER

Says:

I wish to thank you good citizens of Brown County for what you have done for me and my family, by letting me work for you the past three and one-half years, and during that time I have tried to make you the most Humble, Courteous and Efficient servant that I knew how, to show my appreciation for my job, and tried to be worthy of your continued confidence.

Most of you have had occasion to come to this office to transact various matters while I have been your assessor-collector, and you know whether I have pleased you, whether my services have been satisfactory, and whether I have made you a good enough employee to deserve working for you any longer.

So I ask you if I have, and if I have treated you fair and square, if I have pleased you, and you think I have merited holding my job, I would appreciate any consideration you can see fit to give me when you go to the polls July 23rd.

Thanking you in advance for your consideration.

To the Voters of Precinct 2 (Ward 1 in Brownwood)

If elected Commissioner of Precinct 2 I hereby pledge myself at all times to give preference to local citizens in hiring labor and in purchasing supplies for my precinct and will insist that the Commissioners' Court give preference in the same respect.

I am in favor of modernizing the accounting system of Brown county so that any citizen of Brown County can inspect the records and determine the financial condition of the county at any time as prescribed by law. I believe that all the county business should be transacted in the open.

I believe that county indebtedness can and should be reduced. My two opponents have each served two terms as commissioners of Precinct 2 and I now ask your vote for this office, solely upon my experience and qualifications.

GOVERNOR'S RACE MOST SPECTACULAR IN A GENERATION

OBSERVERS PREDICT WOODUL TO SUCCEED ALLRED IN SEPTEMBER

Walter Woodul

By an odd twist of chance, a one-time country boy, reared in Southwest Texas, may at the end of this year step from the desk of the governor of Texas to occupy the seat of the chief law officer of the State, the attorney general.

Walter Woodul, lieutenant governor and 19 times acting governor of Texas, is slated to become governor when the new South Texas Federal judgeship is assumed by another former country boy, James V. Allred, present governor. Possibly around September 1, Governor Allred will become Judge Allred. He has not said definitely yet, but this is the political dope of the newshawks and political writers.

At any rate, Lieutenant Governor Woodul, who seeks to be Attorney General Woodul, has been driving his first primary campaign strenuously to a close this week. When and if he steps up to the governorship for the unexpired term, Mr. Woodul told newspaper men here, it will make no difference in his plans to continue serving his State.

Confident of his selection by the people as their next attorney general, the former railroad station agent's boy, who became one of the best known lawyers of Texas, is going ahead with the assumption that he will be attorney general when the ballots are counted. Serving the state in positions of responsibility is nothing new for Walter Woodul.

He has held important committee assignments in the House of Representatives and Senate, he has been president of the Senate, lieutenant governor and 19 times acting governor. He has had a hand in shaping some of the most important legislation ever enacted in Texas. This, his friends and political observers alike agree, gives him ideal background for the attorney generalship.

WOOD IS CONCLUDING STRENUOUS CAMPAIGN FOR RR COMMISSIONER

John Wood of Shelby County candidate for Railroad Commissioner and present senior member of the Texas Highway Commission, is this week concluding one of the most strenuous hand-shaking campaigns ever staged by a Texas candidate.

His duties as Highway Commissioner delayed the start of Mr. Wood's campaign until six weeks ago. Since that time he has been in every section of Texas, has traveled an average of 1500 miles weekly and has contacted an average of 1000 persons daily.

Early in the campaign Mr. Wood found that the public had grown weary of campaign speeches, and he preferred to work by direct contacts. His few speeches were short and straight to the point, delivered with a sincerity that was impressive.

In concluding his campaign Mr. Wood points to the broad scope of his support, both geographically and politically. His candidacy for Railroad Commissioner has been endorsed by Judge W. R. Ely of Abilene and D. K. Martin of San Antonio, both former colleagues of Mr. Wood on the Highway Commission; by W. Gregory Hatcher of Dallas, former state treasurer and Senator Will Martin of Hillsboro, both withdrawn candidates who are actively campaigning for Mr. Wood; by nu-

GOVERNOR GIVES HIS SUPPORT TO LEMAY IN SUPERINTENDENT RACE

S. R. LeMay

S. R. LeMay, state superintendent candidate today had the support of Governor James V. Allred for his candidacy in a public acknowledgment of the Athens school man. Allred said that he had already voted absentee for LeMay and urged a "change in the state superintendent's office."

In supporting LeMay, Allred joined such other state notables as former Governor Dan Moody and Vann M. Kennedy, executive secretary of the State Democratic Executive Committee, in opposing the incumbent, L. A. Woods.

Allred made his support known in a letter to R. T. Craig, editor of the Athens Review, LeMay's hometown paper. Said the Governor:

"I am happy to have your testimony as to his character and ability, especially since I have already cast a vote for him by absentee. "I quite agree with you that the report of the legislative investigating committee and the State Auditor's report indicate that we ought to have a change in the State Superintendent's office. I was of the opinion at the time I cast my absentee ballot, and the committee's report, as well as that of the State Auditor, merely confirms my previous opinion."

O'DANIEL NAMED FOR SOUTH'S MOST FAMED MILITARY GENERAL

Although born in Ohio, W. Lee O'Daniel is a living tribute to the memory of Robert E. Lee. O'Daniel was given the name of Lee in compliance with the dying request of his mother's brother who found a haven of refuge instead of enmity and hatred in the South, the candidate for Governor announced today. This statement was made in answer to the criticism of his opponents who refer to him, he said, in the outworn term of "Yankee carpetbagger."

"How I received my name was a family story in my home that always brought tears to my mother's eyes," O'Daniel related. "My mother was a very young girl during the Civil War but her favorite brother was a Yankee soldier. When he was wounded and dying on the battlefield, a Southern family took him in and nursed him. Before his death he wrote to my mother and told her of their kindness. He requested her, if ever she had a son, to give him the name of Lee in memory of Southern kindness to a wounded, homesick Northern boy."

"Where a man is born is not a matter of his choice. It depends on where his mother happens to be at the time. But his love and loyalty and patriotism is a matter for his choice. Many years ago I chose Texas for my home and here I expect to make my life."

merous county courts and prominent citizens and by scores of newspapers in every section of Texas. No attack of any nature has been made on his record or his qualifications and the volume of such support has convinced Mr. Wood that next Saturday he will lead in his race.

O'Daniel Candidacy Is Headache to 12 Others Making Race

DURING the past 30 days, Texas has experienced the most unusual and spectacular campaign for Governor in a generation, eclipsing in the unusual the Ferguson campaigns of years gone by. Most of the fireworks was injected into the campaign by the late entry of W. Lee O'Daniel of Fort Worth, who has introduced a new style of campaigning which has drawn the largest crowds in the history of Texas politics. How many votes there are in the crowds, how far the O'Daniel phenomenon will carry the candidate in Saturday's election—these are the things that have the other twelve candidates worried.

Following is an able summary and comment on the developments of the past month from the State Observer of Austin:

An "Anything can happen" air hung over Texas politics as candidates moved into the final week of what may be recorded as the most unique campaign in Texas political history.

On the theory that almost everything has happened, political prognosticators, backed by dozens of "samplings" of public opinion, were ready to concede that almost anything can happen when the voters go to the polls next Saturday to select a chief executive from any even dozen aspirants for that office.

Of course, the voters also will fill numerous other offices or at least pick run-off election candidates; but the race for governor, and particularly the race being made by Wilbert Lee O'Daniel, flour salesman extraordinary from Fort Worth, stole the show.

"They Laughed"

O'Daniel's appearance in the political scene reads like a "they laughed when I sat down to play" advertisement. Unknown except as an adept radio entertainer, a bucolic sentimentalist with a hillbilly hand, O'Daniel was the object of laughter six and even four weeks ago. When he got crowds comparable to old Ku Klux Klan rallies, the other candidates began taking notice.

They looked into his antecedents found he was born in Ohio, lived in Kansas, didn't pay his poll tax. As the campaign went into its last week, every candidate in the race had recognized that O'Daniel was the man to beat; and some of them were swinging, rather wildly, at the flour merchant who had no previous knowledge of statesmanship. Issues in the campaign had narrowed down to a very few: Old age pensions, industrial growth for Texas, economy in government.

Desperate

Desperate blasts from the leading candidates against the hillbilly candidate were anticipated for the coming week; but long-time political commentators believed that the last week of a campaign a poor time to change public opinion.

Given the edge as the leader of the pack until the O'Daniel boom began, Attorney General William McCraw has been concentrating on his home territory, North Texas, where the radio stations used by O'Daniel have their largest audiences.

Likewise he has been concentrating on O'Daniel, dubbing him the "silk-shirted hillbilly."

Another formidable contender, Tom F. Hunter, had adopted the O'Daniel tactics, carried entertainers along to drum up crowds, wrote a song deriding the voteless seeker after voter.

Karl Crowley of Fort Worth claimed attention as the earliest to recognize the O'Daniel potentialities; likewise he put McCraw and O'Daniel in the same class.

Thompson Ignores

If Ernest O. Thompson has paid any attention to the hillbilly candidate, it has not been reported in press releases of his speeches, except by generalized shots at showmen in general.

Numerous newspaper polls almost invariably showed O'Daniel and McCraw leading, Thompson third, Hunter fourth.

Notable political development of the past week was the appointment of Governor James V. Allred as a Federal Judge. Regarding the current political situation, significance was in whether it would enhance the candidacy of Lt.-Gov. Walter Woodul, running for attorney general, who would become governor in the event Allred resigned.

Allred, however, announced that he certainly would not quit his office before the primaries; wanted to serve as much of his term as possible; and will serve all of it if possible. He won't even think of resignation for a few more months, he said.

The President's visit got Thompson a huge crowd for a homecoming last week and Thompson, as an official greeter for his hometown of Amarillo, shared in the President's publicity. Another Thompson stroke was a speech in his behalf by the popular highway commission chairman, Robert Lee Bobbitt.

Mrs. McCraw

Mrs. McCraw was on the air in "round table conferences," an unusual contribution to campaigning.

Bearing upon at least two races—governor and railroad commissioner—was the statewide oil and gas proration hearing in Austin Monday, with a partial promise from Railroad Commission Chairman C. V. Terrell that the Sunday shutdowns of oil fields might be lifted.

The oil industry itself was divided upon whether this will be wise and the evidence at the hearing will be watched with interest although no order is anticipated before the date of the primary election.

If some historian, interested in minutiae should in some future year study the 1938 primary elections in Texas he would see it as an unfolding panorama of circus events climaxed at the end by a series of what closely resembles the old time vodvil specialty acts.

"Vernest"

First there was Vernest. His sole claim to fame was a somewhat doubtful name of Vernest O. Thompson. It was not even a subtle resemblance to that of Ernest O. Thompson.

Then came James A. Ferguson, a copy of his more illustrious cousin, James E. Ferguson. But these attempts at stirring color into a colorless campaign failed to make a dent in the consciousness of an indifferent public.

Then came a hitherto unknown flour man, Wilbert Lee O'Daniel—unknown, that is, except to a wide rustic audience which hung on his rustic philosophies, his homesy humor and bought his flour by the carload.

Flour Man

Stepping into the campaign against the best showman that Texas had produced up to that date—Attorney General William McCraw—O'Daniel furnished the leaven that made the bread rise and in four solid weeks of hard campaigning became Texas' man of the hour—regardless of the outcome of always doubtful elections.

The political show came to its end with the attorney general abandoning his earlier pretensions of dignity. He was swinging wildly at O'Daniel and he was bringing them up from the floor.

Meanwhile O'Daniel, striking up a tune and a hillbilly ballad, promised to rid the state of "professional politicians," jibed at "Little Willie," and generally made the race into a personal McCraw-Allred feud.

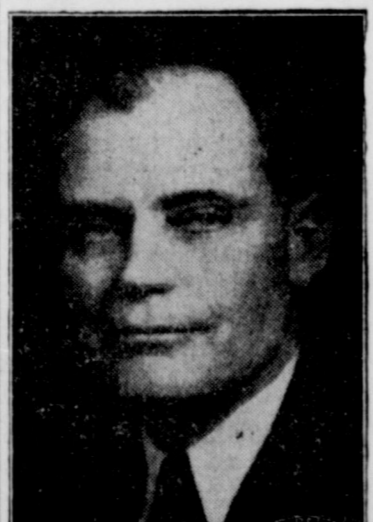

How did O'Daniel make the public eye?

By Ten Commandments, by biscuits and hillbilly songs; by platitudes and pension promises; by music and passing the collection plate or its equivalent, the flour barrel; by refusing the aid of the presumably politically wise; in general, by upsetting the precedents and in short, on his own personality. (A personality, all conceded, which was not so good off the radio as on but which had improved greatly as the campaign neared its close.)

Curious or Faithful

Flocking to his rallies were the

STEVENSON PROMISES IMPARTIALITY TO ALL PEOPLE IF ELECTED

Coke Stevenson

Coke Stevenson, candidate for Lieutenant-Governor, made speeches at Cuero and Brady recently to several thousand people stressing the fact that he is the candidate of no clique or class, but as Lieutenant-Governor he will represent all the people in a fair, square and impartial manner. He said:

"I am living in the county where I was born. I have lived all of my life among the ranch people, in a country where there are no railroads, oil fields or other giant corporations. There has never been any opportunity for me to represent corporations because they have no business in my section of the country, consequently, I am not under obligations to any special interests of any character whatsoever."

"My life has been spent among people who cherish the home school and the church. I have always been exceedingly interested in the education of the youth of the land. Perhaps that is the reason why the school fund rose from $15 to $22 per capita during my terms as Speaker of the House. I have supported every measure which would benefit the schools. When

BOB STUART TO MAKE ADDRESS OVER RADIO FRIDAY AT 7:15 P.M.

Robert A. Stuart

Bringing to a close a strenuous campaign that for several weeks has called for an average of 10 to 12 addresses a day, Robert A.

Stewart, candidate for railroad commissioner, will return to his home city to close his drive Friday night. After giving 11 talks in the day he will return to Fort Worth for the two county-wide rallies.

Friday night at 7:15 o'clock he will give a radio talk in Dallas which will be carried by KRLD, Dallas; KTRH, Houston and KTSA, San Antonio.

His complete schedule for the last two days of the campaign, just announced, follows:

Thursday: Trinity 8:30 a. m., Groveton 9:30, Grapeland 10:00, Palestine 11:00, Jacksonville, 1:00 p. m., Troup 2:00, Arp 3:00, Overton 4:00 and Gladewater 8:30 p. m.

Hundreds Pay for This Broadcast

Hundreds of Texas citizens are taking a personal part in W. Lee O'Daniel's campaign for governor by contributing nickels, dimes and quarters toward his campaign expense. This pile of contributions which Mrs. O'Daniel, campaign manager for her husband, is pouring out to H. C. Southard, radio executive, will pay for one of O'Daniel's noon broadcasts in which he pledges a business administration for Texas. The coins are collected in little red barrels at O'Daniel's political rallies over the state.

O'Daniel—

 curious and the faithful. How many were curious, how many faithful—that was indeed a question which every other candidate in the race and lots of other citizens would like to answer.

Speaking at Waco, he drew an all-time record crowd for a political meeting at Austin, San Angelo, Abilene, he blocked traffic. In one small town the citizens blocked the highway for the sole purpose of stopping O'Daniel on his way through.

He became an issue in local races. At Palestine, a campaigner complained that voters wanted to know how he stood on O'Daniel. Larry Mills, candidate for land commissioner preceded him into town and took advantage of his crowds. At local gatherings (Austin a notable example) when speakers for other candidates criticized O'Daniel they were roundly booed. (It's been a good many years since honest-to-gosh boos have resounded in Texas' political gatherings). Heckling became a spiritual experience for the O'Daniel supporters. At San Marcos, unprinted reports were that two women pulled hair at an O'Daniel rally.

Streamlined

He inspired a fine fire of invective in other candidates. Karl Crowley termed his rise to popularity "a humbug and travesty." But others replied that Texans apparently wanted him. They compared him to a streamlined Jim Ferguson—a new day politician with more instruments of ballyhoo at his command than Ferguson, in '17, ever dreamed.

His poll tax was unpaid, it was discovered, but it dimmed his supporters only temporarily. That he was born in Ohio was seized upon by the other candidates, and they promptly lost the support of many a Texas emigre. O'Daniel told a sob-story of how he was named for Robert E. Lee; he recalled that Sidney Sherman from Ohio brought an army to help win Texas independence, that the people of Ohio presented the famous "Twin sisters" cannon to win that same war. "McCraw wouldn't know about the twin sisters," jibed O'Daniel. "If you mentioned them to him he would ask their telephone number."

O'Daniel forgot to mention that Sherman was from Massachusetts, his army from Kentucky, that the twin sisters had been lost for years and the cannon at the statehouse were mere show pieces.

Davey & Brinkley

Texas sought vainly for parallels. There was Davey, the tree surgeon of Ohio, as perhaps the nearest forerunner of O'Daniel. Davey used sentiment, by way of poems about trees; he used the radio, and he used organ music to get elected governor of the state of Daniel's nativity. Dr. John Brinkley—whose Mexican radio station now relays Crowley recordings—almost was elected governor of Kansas by a similar show. But neither is an exact parallel. So far he is unique—a candidate who can't vote for himself, an entertainer with lambent political ambitions, a man who answers questions about the affairs of state by calling for a tune from his hillbilly band—but paramount, a man who appears to have sold his personality to the people of Texas.

SERVICE TO ALL AND FAVOR TO NONE MOTTO OF TERRELL IN RACE

Having traveled 7000 miles carrying his re-election campaign from Pecos to Port Arthur, from Brownham to Brownsville, C. V. Terrell, railroad commission chairman, was winding up his vote-getting drive in North Central Texas around Cleburne Friday.

Judge Terrell made more than 100 speeches as he dashed over the state like a modern Paul Revere. Instead of the "British are coming," Judge Terrell stuck to the theme he hit as a keynote at his Corsicana opening—"service to all favor to none."

In one of his closing talks, he summarized his 14-year career then boiled it down to three outstanding services which, in the order of their importance, he listed as follows:

1. Conservation of oil and gas—Judge Terrell called this a concrete tax relief, pointing out that the comptroller's office reports gross production taxes on oil for the last 10 months amounted to $13,502,378.47. "If I had not enforced conservation strictly, going even so far as to shutdown all fields of the state two days a week in one crisis, our tax collections might have fallen off to nothing because the oil producers would have been unable to pay and the legislature couldn't have assessed the percentage tax not collected. Judge Terrell also points out that oil conservation has added $16,000,000 to the permanent school fund, $22,000,000 to the funds of Texas University and Texas A. & M. He lists oil conservation as his greatest achievement because he wrote and signed the first oil conservation order 10 years ago.

2. Creating precedent of advising Interstate Commerce Commission on attitude of commission in Texas transportation matters—Judge Terrell did this when he individually secured a permit for the Southern Pacific Railroad to enter the Rio Grande Valley in 1928 over the ICC Examiner's adverse report.

I will fairly and honestly serve you as County Attorney. Vote for J. Piner Powell. Thank You.

(Pol. Adv.)

Later this precedent enabled Judge Terrell to avert a raise in grain rates which saved all Texas $2,000,000 annually.

3. Issuing orders to lower gas rates in 200 Texas cities, saving nearly $2,000,000 annually if these orders are sustained, and laying a predicate on which the commission can eventually lower gas rates to nearly all Texas homes and factories—Judge Terrell calls this his greatest fight, says he will accept no compromises in it, feels that the first to lower gas rates can be completely won in the next two years.

Stevenson—

 I introduced my land bill, H. R. 579, I sought to create a school land board to lease the state-owned school lands. I provided that the Board should fix the royalties on school and at any amount which they might determine to be for the best interest of the school fund, but in no case to be less than 1-8 of the oil and gas, and $1.00 per ton on sulphur. This royalty on sulphur is double the amount which private land owners customarily contract to receive.

"Perhaps my life in the ranch country accounts for the remarkable record which I made for attendance in the Legislature. During the one thousand times I opened sessions of the Legislature I was never one minute late.

"Several attempts have been made lately to besmirch my record by those who would engage in a mud-slinging campaign. This does not alarm me. It is one of the penalties which a man in public life must endure. Consolation is derived, however, from the fact that the great majority of people appreciate the honest, constructive, progressive measures enacted during my administration such as Old Age Assistance, Teachers' Retirement, State Auditor's Law, State Budget Law, State Bond Assumption Law, Farm-to-Market Road Law, reorganization of Comptroller and Treasurer's departments, exemption of all homesteads from state taxation, and many other beneficial measures."

'Hamburger Campaign'

Dist. Judge Ralph Yarborough of Austin—on leave of absence without pay while making the race for attorney general—won a million dollars in cash for the state in one case as assistant attorney general. Friends describe his present race as a "hamburger campaign" as he has no elaborately-financed organization with an army of paid workers but is carrying his candidacy direct to the people—shaking hands with a thousand or more daily between his six to 10 speeches to large crowds, as he walks, talks and travels 18 out of each 24 hours. Born in East Texas near Tyler, he waited on tables in a student boarding house, worked as a harvest hand in the wheat fields and as a tank builder in the West Texas oil fields to earn his law education. Here Yarborough is seen eating a typical campaign "dinner"—one hamburger!

FOR
Commissioner Precinct No. 3
 (WARD 3 IN BROWNWOOD)

The time is at hand when all candidates are making their last minute appeals to the voters of Brown County. In voting for commissioner of precinct No. 3 you should first consider:

CHARACTER—My life is an open book and I would be glad for the voters to ask about my moral standing in the community in which I live—See if I am the kind of a man that you would want to trust this important public office to.

QUALIFIED—I was born and reared in Precinct 3. Graduated from Blanket High School. Graduated from a Business College, and have been a close follower of the needs of our precinct and county. I know the needs of our county roads and feel that our school and mail routes should be taken care of first.

In entering this race I was determined that it should be free of mud slinging and back biting and my opponent has helped me to do this.

I feel that the citizens of the county should be better informed as to the financial status of their county and precinct and if elected I will at all times endeavor to make it possible for everyone to know what has been done with the Taxpayers Money.

If elected I shall endeavor to put forth every effort to serve you courteously and economically. My wife and daughter and two boys together with myself will be grateful for your vote.

Respectfully,

To the Voters of Brown County:

First, I wish to express my sincere thanks for your past support. As you all know on July 16th we closed eight week of District Court, which was one of the heaviest terms we have had, and necessitated my being on the job practically all the time, thus preventing me from making a very active campaign, and I have consequently failed to see many of you.

It has been a pleasure to act as your district clerk for the time I have been in office, and I have endeavored to at all times render courteous, efficient service to every one alike.

CANDIDATE FOR ATTORNEY-GENERAL

THOMPSON TO HAVE VOTES TO SPARE, IS SUPPORTERS' CLAIM

Candidate for Governor Ernest Thompson and his supporters, on the eve of the first Democratic primary election Saturday, are confident that well-distributed strength all over the state will shove Thompson into the run-off with votes to spare.

They base their predictions on reports from all over Texas that Thompson has been gaining rapidly in the last two weeks while one of his chief opponents has been fading, and that Thompson will go into the runoff with the "flour man," W. Lee O'Daniel. It is believed Thompson will receive up to 75 per cent of the total votes in his native Panhandle.

Thompson himself is definitely confident of victory. He has met with encouraging response everywhere he has campaigned—which has been in just about all the counties of Texas.

Starting out last week from Amarillo, where his home town people named him "Amarillo's first citizen" to greet Pres. Roosevelt—and where the President told Thompson: "You did a great job at the World Petroleum Congress in Paris to which I sent you last year"—the hard-campaigning candidate swept down through the South Plains, jumped to the far southeast tip of Texas and worked up through East Texas. He wound up with a big rally at Marshall Saturday night, which was attended by one of the largest political crowds that city had seen in many years.

This week he is hitting the big population centers, with brief stops at points between, Monday night he spoke at Austin, Tuesday night at Houston and Wednesday night at Dallas.

He will be at Tyler Thursday night, and Friday night he will fire his final first-primary blast at Greenville, where he concluded his successful race for the railroad commissioner'ship two years ago.

Everywhere Thompson has "stuck to his knitting." He opened the race discussing the issues that face Texas, and in the last week of the first primary he was still discussing issues. He has steadfastly refused to indulge in the "mud-slinging" that has featured the campaigns of his opponents. From every part of Texas have come letters and telegrams of appreciation for the clean, constructive campaign he is carrying on.

Thompson this week continued discussing his vast industrial expansion program, pointing out that new factories in Texas mean new payrolls for Texas workers and new markets for Texas farm and ranch products.

He bore down heavily on utility regulation, urging a state commission to control utility rates in fairness to the consumer.

He enlarged last week on his stand regarding organized labor. He has always been on record as favoring organized labor in all its reasonable demands, and last Saturday night at Marshall were read a number of telegrams from labor leaders in his home town of Amarillo, commending him to their fellow workers throughout Texas and vouching that his labor record is entirely clear.

Thompson emphatically stated that Texas should not attempt to entice new factories here by offering cheap labor—that Texas labor should and must receive standard wages.

At Beaumont he issued a statement endorsing the policies of the American Federation of Labor and the Texas Federation of Labor, and adding that as governor he would not tolerate the "sit-down strikes" for which another labor organization has become notorious.

The statement was issued in connection with Thompson's expression of gratitude to Clarence R. Miller, Dallas industrialist and candidate for governor, who withdrew from the race and threw his support to Thompson.

Miller had been running on a platform of industrial expansion similar to Thompson's, and which included a plank of bitter opposition to the C.I.O.

CONSTANT STRIVING BRINGS M'CRAW TO HIGH LAW OFFICE

By Buck Hood

Let's take a human interest look at Attorney General William M'Craw, candidate for Governor.

Texas political writers have run short of words to describe M'Craw, a man who has risen from a printer's devil in a country newspaper office to become the highest law officer of the state and is now bidding for the highest office—the governorship.

A study of his program reveals that he is a realist. As one veteran capitol correspondent puts it, Bill M'Craw is not "promising the world with a fence around it." He believes that reasonable changes can be made for the better in state government; that the state's social welfare program can be broadened, yet made simpler, more human and less expensive. He knows this will cost money, but does not propose to "soak" any group or section of the people to pay for it.

M'Craw, born in Arlington on August 15, 1896, has struggled all his life, just trying to "get ahead." When he was in school, he carried a newspaper route and worked as a printer's devil to pay expenses. He could not afford to go to college but was determined to get some place so he studied law at home. He struggled, studying at night, to learn law and pass his bar examinations at 19. As a young lawyer, he at first found it hard to make both ends meet. However, he kept working and studying and achieved some of his aims and is still climbing.

The philosophies which have guided him through his struggles have been these: "I never have thought that a scowl or wry face were necessarily the certificates of wisdom and honesty. You get off the main track when you take time hating someone."

These ideas, together with a driving ambition to "get ahead," account for his remarkable successes. The only man to serve three terms as district attorney of Dallas county, he was elected attorney general as a comparative unknown over a man with a long record of public service. His many legal victories as attorney general have set all kinds of records—more cases tried.

SULPHUR SPRINGS, TEXAS.—Gerald C. Left to right: Mrs. Gerald C. Mann, Jerry, Jr., Mann, and Lola Ann. In his opening address Mann flayed some of his opponents who he said have resorted to the age-old criticism of "he's too young," promised a relentless battle on political racketeers and a constructive administration as attorney general.

most cases won, most cases carried to the Supreme Court of the United States, most cases won in the highest court, most money collected for the school fund, and on down the list.

Always ready to take the unprecedented sort of action, M'Craw's legal work for the state has been in some fields untouched by previous attorneys general. In the Green tax case, he chose to carry his plea directly to the U. S. Supreme Court, rather than to wait for it to get there through the long line of courts. That it had never been done before was no drawback to Bill M'Craw.

Big, ruddy, and red-headed, M'Craw's personal appearance is one of power. He gives a visitor a sense that "here is a man who does things," and they're right. Friendly almost to a fault, if that is possible, M'Craw makes friends by the score wherever he goes. And the friends he makes are lifelong ones.

Will Appreciate Your Support

While I am doing my very best to see everyone personally, still, the present duties of the office and court work may prevent me from seeing some, I take this method of presenting my candidacy for re-election, and hope you will consider this a personal request for your support. My wife, four children and myself sincerely appreciate the many good things done for us in the past, and to show our appreciation, I have done my very best to give courteous and efficient service. I feel that the people are entitled to know some of the things that have been accomplished in the past. There have been 319 fines assessed in criminal cases with fines and costs amounting to $15,032.30. Of this number 112 were for violations of liquor laws, with fines and costs amounting to $11,369.10. I have disposed of 298 civil cases, held 49 lunacy trials, committed 102 persons to the tuberculosis sanatorium, entered 1017 orders in probate matters, presided at 182 sessions of the Commissioners' Court, and in addition, hundreds of people have come to the office each year for information and advice which has been cheerfully given.

The Atlantic Pipe Line Company sued Brown County in the Federal District Court at Dallas, seeking to prevent the collection of its taxes, claiming that it was being taxed at a higher value on its property than other citizens of the County. The Dallas Court held in favor of the Pipe Line Company. We then appealed to the Circuit Court of Appeals at New Orleans and this Court held in favor of Brown County. The Pipe Line Company then appealed to the Supreme Court of the United States and this Court also held in favor of Brown County, ending the suit. This suit was in the courts three years and there had accumulated in pipe line taxes approximately $30,000.00, which were paid, and it means the collection of these taxes each year in the future. By enlisting the help of all other counties having pipe lines, this entire suit cost Brown County only $22.50.

I have worked hard for better roads and to bring to Brown County all outside money possible to improve roads and to furnish work for our people. Have rendered all the assistance possible to our old people in presenting their claims for pensions to the proper authorities; have endeavored to be helpful to the most humble citizens and give to them a courteous hearing. I have handled your business affairs in a business-like and economical manner; have worked agreeably and in harmony with all other officers and departments, and have tried to be fair and impartial in all my dealings.

Your careful consideration of my official record is requested and if you feel that it merits another term, we shall appreciate your vote and support.

"GIVE A YOUNG MAN A CHANCE," IS PLEA OF CANDIDATE J. SADLER

"Young men can get things done," said Jerry Sadler, 30-year old Longview candidate for State Railroad Commissioner, as he entered the final week of campaigning against his "ex-men" opponents. "Howard Hughes, one of these young Texans, girded the globe in less than four days," Sadler said. "The people of Texas can accomplish a bloodless revolution in one day."

"That one day is July 23," the young candidate told audiences. "With the opening of the polls next Saturday morning falls the deadline and the zero hour for the forces of independence. You can elect me without a runoff and purge the Railroad Commission of Texas of monopoly control just by scratching the names of these ex-men and putting new blood, red fighting blood, to work against the white corpses of festering fraud and the running sores of plunder and special privileges."

"The people in my camp are the sober, loyal, conscientious, thoughtful and patriotic people who know that a candidate with the taint of double dealing, the brand of corporate control or the scars of past political fights cannot be free to serve the plain people of Texas with all his heart and all his soul."

Ballot Shows Heavy List of Candidates For Commissioner

Brown county voters will scratch a long list of candidates for precinct commissioners in the primary election Saturday.

Voters residing in Ward 1 will vote for Commissioner in county precinct 2. The candidates in that race are H. I. Stapp, James W. Phillips, and Mayfield Gibbs, which is identically the same field from which they had to choose in the primary in 1936.

Ward 2 voters will cast ballots for the commissioner from precinct 4. In the race are John H. Schulze, Charles H. Butler, and J. H. Browder.

Ward 3 citizens will vote for a commissioner from county precinct 3. Candidates are Butler Damron and Ben F. Hunt.

Voters in ward 4 will vote for commissioner in county precinct 1. Those in the race are A. L. Polk, E. S. Thompson, C. L. Norman, G. M. Allen, Bradley Cannon and R. L. Wise.

A man worthy of your vote Bill Brogdon, for Constable Precinct 1.

Voters - Attention!

As your present County Attorney, I have at all times taken care of the work of this office in a competent and efficient manner, and it is upon such a record that I ask you to re-elect me to this office. There have been more cases contested and appealed in the County Court during the time I have been county attorney than for many years prior thereto, due to various changes in the law, and this added work will continue. I have been successful in the prosecution of such cases and feel better qualified to continue such service for you.

I have been unable to leave my office and campaign as vigorously as I would like to, but I want you to know that I earnestly solicit your vote and support. I have conducted a clean and fair campaign, and I now leave it up to you for a final verdict, and I feel confident that the results will be favorable to me.

FINAL EXPENSES OF COUNTY CANDIDATES ARE FILED RECENTLY

In the current campaign for Democratic nomination, forty county and precinct candidates have spent a total of $4,584.75, according to figures compiled Saturday morning from County Clerk Vernon Green's records. Friday was the last day for candidates to file their second statements of expense for the July 23 primary. The figures include the regular fee assessed by the county Democratic organization. Total expense recorded in the first statement was $2,915.63. Candidates filed expense accounts as follows:

Winston Palmer, tax assessor-collector, $206.50; Jack Hallmark, sheriff, $163.86; J. E. Murray, constable, $18.50; C. D. WILLIAM M'DONALD CONFIDENT OF WIN IN FIRST PRIMARY

Having completed campaign trips into every part of the state, Land Commissioner William H. McDonald is "more cheerful than ever" about his prospects, he said this week.

McDonald stated he found strong support in North and East Texas, where he traveled last week; he is confident that he will be elected in the first primary.

This conviction is based not only on the encouragement of friends, $205.50; James W. Phillips, commissioner precinct 2, $59; J. M. Bowman, justice of peace, $49.17; Mayfield Gibbs, commissioner precinct 2, $68.10; J. Piner Powell, county attorney, $161.88; Grady Colvin, assessor-collector, $278.59; E. S. Thompson, commissioner precinct 1, $67; G. M. Allen, commissioner precinct 1, $67.25; Charles Mandelbaum, sheriff, $117.

but on the result of a state-wide poll, being taken in Dallas, which is giving him a longer lead with every new report.

"Texas voters are apparently paying little heed to my opponent," McDonald said. "He has unsuccessfully attempted to find flaws in my record."

The commissioner stated that such criticism has not been effective.

"It fails to impress the citizens of Texas," he said, "because they know I have collected more money for the schools than any of my predecessors and that I have conscientiously carried out the duties of my office as required by law."

To Voters of Commissioner's Precinct No. 2

(Ward One in Brownwood)

I want to thank you for the honor of serving you the past three and a half years as your commissioner. I have tried to show you my appreciation by giving all my time in doing the job well. I have worked hard, keeping in mind at all times, the welfare of the County. It has been a pleasure to me to serve you, and to give you a courteous and considerate hearing about your problems. I have helped handle the affairs of our County as economically and efficiently as the conditions under which we have had to work would permit and shall continue the same policy if you re-elect me to the commissioner's office again.

As for the work done on the roads, I wish to say that during the three and a half years I have built approximately 100 miles of road, about 80 of which has been made all-weather roads, 8 miles have been paved (the road from Brownwood to the Lake Brownwood Dam), while the other has been properly graded and drainage structures built. This road work has been done on funds that has been paid since I have been Commissioner. All the funds of the County are in as good condition, if not better, than when I took office. This has been done without raising your tax rate, although valuations of the County have been considerably lowered. I think the property tax payer is now paying enough taxes. If re-elected your Commissioner, I shall do my best to keep tax rates as low as possible and carry on the government of the County in an efficient manner.

In asking you for your support, I promise to make you as good Commissioner as possible. Having had the experience that I have, I believe I can do better another term.

I shall appreciate your serious consideration and shall ever be grateful to you for your support next Saturday.

Respectfully,

H. I. STAPP

FOR RE-ELECTION

(Pol. Adv.)

To the Voters of Brown County:

I take this method of soliciting the consideration and support of each of you. Obviously it has been impossible for me to see each voter personally, however, I need and will appreciate your vote and influence for

County Superintendent

I present the following qualifications: B. A. Degree, Graduate study toward M. A. Degree. For experience I have had fourteen years as Principal or Superintendent in rural schools, ten of these were spent in this county.

I was born, reared and educated in your county. I have been a resident of Brownwood, Ward 4, for over two years.

If elected I shall strive to render fair, cooperative, and efficient service.

Thank you again for your kind consideration.
