Donley Caravan To Dairy Show and Sale

Clarendon Banker Bursts Into Rhyme Extolling Hen and Cow

When a clear visioned, practical minded banker of many years experience becomes so "sold" on diversification in farming as the salvation for his country, that he turns from calculation of notes and interest to spontaneous poetry and rhyme, you can bet your last dollar that it's time for everybody to give time and attention to the value of poultry raising and dairying. That's what has happened right here in Donley County, and W. H. Patrick of the First National Bank, is the banker who has conceived the logic of "diversification" in the following sonorous measures:

"You may talk about your cotton
With the bolls all showing white,
You may talk about your corn
Growing in the stilly night,
But the hen that lays the berries
And the cow that gives the cream,
Are the things that count in farming,
Make the farmer's life a Dream."

"Diversifying Donley's" New Program Draws Former Editor's Reminiscence

JOHN E. COOKE, FORMER CLARENDON EDITOR, GETS A KICK OUT OF EVIDENT CHANGE IN FARMING AND FINANCIAL METHODS OF DONLEY COUNTY

No man has ever lived in Clarendon who ever gets away from the charm of its environment, nor forgets its colorful citizenry. When one has lived in Donley County he always holds a warm feeling for it and its people, and Editor John E. Cooke of the Rockdale Reporter, former editor of the Clarendon Banner-Stockman, is no exception to this rule. That he follows the doings of Donley and its people is evidenced by the following letter he recently wrote to the Editor of the News, and it carries so much interest and comparison that we feel it is well worth reproduction:

Sam M. Braswell,
Editor The News,
Clarendon, Texas.
Dear Sam:-

I read the News with great interest each week, and although it has been nineteen years since I left Clarendon, I still find pleasure in keeping up with the progress of Donley County, of Clarendon and of her good people. True, the names noted in your columns are now mostly strange to me, yet there are occasional references to former friends that stir me deeply.

I note with unusual interest the story in last week's News concerning my old friend, W. H. Patrick, and his interest in diversification, the poultry industry and better grade milk cows. Shades of Dick Walsh, Charlie Beverly, Jim Jeffries, Harve Norris, Tom Rush, Frank Page and Alfred Rowe! I imagine some of those old-timers were stirring over in their graves if they could see Pat acting as wet nurse to a Jersey cow or a brooding Leghorn! Yes, we called him "Pat" in those days, and I am sure he is still "Pat" to his friends and no more dignified because of his Federal Reserve and other present day honors.

When I was publishing the old Banner-Stockman back in 1899 we all thought that was a "cattle country." Well do I remember when Jim Trent swore-and-be-damned that the nesters were ruining the country by bringing in those "blamed dogies." Pat would no doubt have suffered an attack of apoplexy had somebody asked him to finance a Jersey bull nineteen years ago. He just doted on "cattle paper," but Jerseys were not cattle then.

"Tis indeed a far cry back to those good old days—much farther than the matter of the two decades actually involved. "Dear Old Diversifying Donley," as the Banner-Stockman began referring to it before I left there, has made wonderful strides toward supremacy in agriculture, and there is no more certain indication of that fact than we find in the News when it chronicles the financing by Pat of a flock of hens. And the News is doing a wonderful work in promoting the agricultural resources of its country. You are publishing a real newspaper, Sam, and it pleases me to note your very evident success. It pleases me also to note the forward strides of Dear Old Donley, for I, too, was boasting it as an agricultural country before I left there. The transition began while I was still at the helm, and we were nearly all recognizing the new order of things as far back as 1904-5, although I believe there were a few old cow punchers like Joe Horn, The Crabtree and Charley Heiser who still maintained when I left there in 1909 that the farmers were destroying their best crop when they turned under the virgin grass of the cattle range.

The late Col. T. S. Bugbee (one of the best friends I ever had) was one of the first big cattlemen to recognize the new regime. I think it must have been along about 1904 that I quoted him in the Banner-Stockman as declaring: "This country is due for wonderful changes; it has been a cattle country; it is now a stock farming country, and it will some day be known as an agricultural country"—or words to that effect. The Colonel was perhaps the first of the big ranchmen to take up stock-farming, and undoubtedly the first in the Clarendon section to begin power farming. We got quite a kick out of the novelty of watching his first tractor gang plow turn the virgin sod in wide swathes.

More power to the News, Sam; and to Pat and all his efforts for the good of his community. May he swim in Jersey cream and grow fat on thoroughbred spring chickens and have a double portion of eggs straight up for breakfast every remaining day of his life. To those of my old friends who still remember me I send greetings and regards.

Fraternally,
JOHN E. COOKE...

Childress Farmers Draw Big Gin Dividend

$53,256 RETURNED TO 294 MEMBERS OF COOPERATIVE GINNING SOCIETY

Nearly 500 farmers witnessed the issuance, last Tuesday, to 294 members of checks totalling $53,256, the amount of each check being in proportion to the number of bales each had ginned at the Farmer's Co-operative Society's big gin in Childress, which turned out 9,013 bales this season, the profit on ginning and on the sale of seed amounting to about $6 per bale.

Officers for the coming year will be the same as last year, the members unanimously re-electing them. They are: President, C. W.

Alderson; Vice-President, W. V. McFarland; Secretary-Treasurer, T. L. McFarland; Directors, B. J. Teague, A. Robinson, C. R. Austin, G. A. Moore and Frank Bailey.

The question of an additional gin plant and an increase of membership was discussed and a general committee was named to see the farmers and arrive at the approximate number who would like to join the society, so that definite plans may be made for expansion.

The co-operative fuel association, now in formation and known as the Consumers Oil Association, was presented to the membership and visitors. The association proposes to supply its members with oil, gasoline and greases on a co-operative basis, the oil and gas to be delivered to members at wholesale cost, plus handling charges only. It is said that the same plan on which the gin has been operated is likely to be adopted for the oil association, which would mean that the association would not go into any price cutting retail plan, but would return to its members, at intervals, the cash profits accumulated in selling at customary retail prices.

Sixty new members were added to the oil association roster, making a total membership at present, of 270. Leo Inman and others have been presenting the proposal to Childress county people and have been much pleased at their success.—Childress Post.

OLD POST PATH NOW WIDE ROAD

NEW YORK TO BOSTON HIGHWAY 255 YEARS OLD—IS FOUR LANES IN WIDTH

America's first lengthy highway, the Boston Post Road, is now 255 years old. The story of this ancient trail, first a post rider's path, now a smooth rigid roadway, is a history of highway building itself.

The Boston Post Road has evolved into one of America's truly modern thoroughfares. This route was one of the earliest roadways four traffic lanes wide, and is considered the longest wide highway in the country.

In the early winter of 1673, the first horseback post left New York for the other principal city of the New World, Boston. This was the earliest attempt to link together these two cities, towns then, by land. The rider left New York with messages from Governor Lovelace to Governor Winthrop of Connecticut and the governor of the Massachusetts Bay Colony. At the end of the second day the message bearer was still in the confines of the present New York City, for the trail was poorly marked.

The first journey required two weeks. Later, when provisions were made for changing horses along the route, the time was reduced to one week with 30 to 50 miles as the average daily distance.

Frail bridges that trembled under the impact of horses' hoofs were erected to eliminate the countless fords necessitated by the meandering trail. In 1713 the New York assembly established a right of way four rods wide between New York City and the Connecticut boundary. But it was not until 1772 that the first coach journey was made by Jonathan and Nicholas Brown. Riding on hard backless seats, the travel worn tourist welcomed the end of the daily 40 mile jaunt lasting from sunup to sundown.

The need for paving was evidenced even in those days but the early attempts were not so successful. The "turnpiking" process consisted in placing a layer of rock covered with sand over the roadway. This gave an excellent roadway for a time but soon rain washed away the sand and travel over the exposed rocks was more difficult than ever. Later crushed stone and planking soothed the way of the coach and four.

Motor traffic, increasing at the rate of ten per cent a year, made it mandatory that the road be widened. Even five years ago from 10,000 to 16,000 vehicles were using the road daily. For a time consideration was given the practicability of constructing a parallel route, but it was decided that it would be more economical to raise the Boston Post Road to a double width. The roadway, now concrete for the most part, is paved to a width of 36 or 40 feet.

Since the announcement of the All-Panhandle Dairy show some weeks past and the appointment of J. T. Fatman of the Clarendon Chamber of Commerce as Director from Donley County, interest has grown steadily among the dairy cow owners in the county and among those who would own this grade of stock. At the present time, quite a number of farmers in the county have signified their intention of making the trip to Plainview for at least a part of the show. The Clarendon Chamber of Commerce is working with them on this matter and those in charge are hopeful of having a fine showing in Plainview for Donley County. The following story will give some idea of the great scale on which the Show is being planned.

The Panhandle-Plains of Texas will show to the world the progress that it has made in the breeding of pure bred dairy cattle through the First Annual Panhandle-Plains Dairy Show to be staged in Plainview next week, April 3, 4, 5, and 6th.

From all over the fifty-three counties of the Texas Panhandle-Plains, come reports of entries of pure bred dairy stock, the fine grade animals that in many instances will rival in production even the pure bred stock. Secretary Bob Anglin estimates that the number of animals that will be on exhibit will run higher than had ever been anticipated when the show was launched late in 1927.

All plans for staging the show are complete. The show will be held in the big cattle barn at Plainview, known as the Overall barn and the biggest stock barn in the Panhandle. It is located on the pavement in the business section of Plainview and has been converted into a large exhibit hall for the occasion. Judges have been selected. They are among the most prominent dairy cattle men in America.

The show is to be widely attended as attested by the mass of letters that have been pouring into the offices of Assistant Manager Maury Hopkins, and Secretary Bob Anglin during the past few weeks. Letters of acceptance to invitations sent out have been received from prominent people all over the Southwest interested in dairying.

The production contest being staged in connection with the show is bringing a great number of cattle. The production contest is open to cattle of all breeds and promises to be one of the outstanding features of the exhibition.

Tuesday April 3rd will be the opening day of the show and all exhibits will be ready for free public inspection, and the production contest will be started. The second day, Wednesday, April 4th, will be Jersey cattle judging day, and Thursday, Holstein-Friesian and Guernsey day. The evening of Thursday, April 5th, will be given over to the Annual Exhibitors' Banquet in the Plainview Municipal Auditorium. The Annual Meeting of the Texas Panhandle-Plains Dairy Show Association will be held in connection with the banquet. Friday, the last day will be given over to Grade Cow judging and closing of the production contest.

Premiums totalling over five thousand dollars are being offered in all classes for Jerseys, Holsteins, and Guerneys.

KNOW TEXAS

The value of Texas' Mineral production has risen from about $1,000,000 a year in 1880 to about $300,000,000 a year today.

Texas produces about six to seven percent of the total mineral values produced in the United States.

Texas is the leading gas producing and gas consuming state. The public utility plants use more and Presidio Counties.

The crops of the United States in 1927 were valued at $676,388,000 more than they were in 1926. Of this increase, Texas provided $103,244,000, or 15.2 per cent.

Texas produced in crop values in 1927, 77.9 per cent of the total crop values of Iowa and California, the two states next in rank.

"There'll be plenty of wood to cut"

YOUR 1928 FLOCK OF PULLETS

F. W. Kazmeier, Bryan, Texas.

It is not too early to be thinking about this important thing, if you want Fall and Winter eggs. It is a mistake to keep too many old hens instead of growing pullets. It is true, that it takes time and money to grow a good flock of pullets, however, it does not cost but very little more to grow a good pullet, than a poorly bred pullet. The only difference in cost is in the initial cost of baby chicks. The cost of feed and labor is a like on both the well bred pullet as on the non-descript pullet.

Many people make a serious mistake, in keeping a too big a part of their flock, consisting of old hens or even young hens. At least 50 percent of the flock should consist of well developed pullets and some times we think that 75 percent is not too high. Pullets will lay when eggs are high in price, and that is early in Winter and Fall. They will also lay just as many later in the year. Many poultry flocks are unprofitable, because too large a number of them predominate in two and three year old hens. The mortality also is greater among old stock than among young stock. Some have said, that pullets are not desirable for breeders, this however, is not true, well matured pullets make the best of breeders. This is just another old idea that has been exploded.

We have found that the same applies to male birds. Early hatched cockerels make better breeders than two and three year old male birds. Profitable poultry keeping calls for renewing from 50 to 75 percent of the entire flock each year.

Breeds like the Rocks and all other breeds should be hatched earlier than the smaller breeds like the Leghorns and Anconas. For Fall layers Rocks and Reds and similar breeds should not be hatched much later than last of April to May 15th. There is good money in growing poultry for the broiler and fryer market. Today I was offered 38c per pound for broilers delivered and weighed in New Orleans, or 32c per pound my weight F. O. B. Bryan. On this basis a two and half pound fryer would net 80c each, which is a profitable price.

It is true, that produce men are penalizing White Leghorn broilers about 2 cents per pound, but in spite of this, our experience and observation leads us to believe that they are the most profitable from standpoint of egg production. Leghorns and other small breeds, however, should not hatch before April, if they are hatched before April, they will almost be sure to go into the early Fall moult, which of course, knocks them out as Fall and early Winter layers. Last year practically all early hatched Leghorn flocks, on account of extremely cold weather in December, were thrown into a premature moult.

As Leader In Farm Demonstration Work Texas To Celebrate In 1929

PLANS ALREADY BEING LAID TO HOLD MAMMOTH CELEBRATION OF TWENTY-FIFTH YEAR OF SUCCESSFUL FARM DEMONSTRATION WORK IN UNITED STATES. TEXAS LED THE UNITED STATES AND CONSEQUENTLY WILL RECEIVE HONORS.

The 25th anniversary of the inauguration of farm demonstration work by the United States Department of Agriculture will be observed in February, 1929, at College Station, Texas, where the Texas Agricultural and Mechanical College has already begun preparations for a celebration. The first farm demonstration of improved practices under the direction of the department were undertaken in 1904 in Texas and the activities in commemoration of the beginning of this movement will be centered in that State.

Dates have already been fixed for a national meeting of representatives from Department of Agriculture and State extension services at Houston, Texas, during the week of February 4, 1929. The annual conference for supervisors of extension work in the Southern States for that year will also be held at Houston during the same week. Announcement has been made, too, that the Association of Southern Agricultural Workers will convene in that city February 6 to 8. Other meetings of persons engaged in work related to agriculture will probably be held at the same place during the week of February 4 with programs arranged to permit participation in sessions of the general anniversary meeting.

The plan of extending knowledge of improved methods by supervised demonstrations carried on by farmers on their own farms originated in the effort of the Federal Department to combat the cotton boll weevil. In 1903 the department stated its belief that the most practical plan would be to "arrange to meet the farmers personally and enroll as many as possible in a general cooperative demonstration in which each farmer agrees to cultivate 10 to 20 acres of cotton under instructions given by the United States Department of Agriculture."

The first field representatives of the department in cooperative farm demonstration, J. A. Evans and W. F. Procter, were appointed in February, 1904, to serve a territory in southern Texas, and the anniversary program is to mark this beginning. Mr. Evans has continued in the work and is at present in charge of cooperative extension work for the Southern States and assistant chief of the Office of Cooperative Extension Work, United States Department of Agriculture.

Because of the success of the first demonstration work in cotton growing, demonstrations in other lines of farming were added and more representatives were soon needed to carry on the work. In 1906 the first agent was employed to work exclusively in one county,

Smith County, Texas. Other States became interested, and in 1914 Congress passed the Smith-Lever Act which provided for cooperation between all of the State agricultural colleges and the United States Department of Agriculture in carrying on extensive work in agriculture and home economics throughout the United States. More than 2,000 counties now employ one or more extension agents and there are altogether more than 5,000 technically trained persons engaged in this work.

The quantity of hay, silage, and grain to feed to dairy cows will depend largely upon the condition and production of each cow. All cows do not produce the same quantity of milk and butterfat; therefore, they should not be fed the same quantity of feed. Economical feeding usually demands that cows be fed liberally. Under most circumstances during the winter when cows are in milk and largely on dry feed they should be given all the roughage that they will eat readily, and the grain rations should be adjusted according to the single cow's production.

Many sloping fields could be protected from erosion by terracing, but some types of soil wash too readily for cultivation and should never be used for any purpose other than meadow, pasture, or forest. Terracing will become more popular, engineers and soil experts of the Department of Agriculture are confident, when research has developed new methods of soil conservation and when experimental demonstrations have proved that terracing is good business and will result in direct profits to the landowners who provide such care for their fields.

CLARENDON BOY IS ONE OF WINNERS IN CONTEST

Among the great list of prize winners in the National Contest staged by the National Association of Laundry Owners appears the name of C. M. Crawford of Clarendon. The winner of the prize in Clarendon receives National distinction for having his letter taken from a group of more than one million contestants and will receive a Laundry Credit for an additional prize. The letter follows:

"Soapsuds and romance are as hard to mix as oil and water. Who ever dreams of Prince Charming gliding over the sea of matrimony in a tub paddled by a rub board or even in a washing machine. Why do people neglect that thought? Because it is not pleasant. It brings disillusion. I believe marital happiness would increase fifty percent if all home washing were left out of the picture and the modern laundry held the spotlight.

"Why? It is nothing original to say home washing is nerve-racking, back-breaking and unhealthful. Show me the woman who looks forward gladly to wash day when she has to do her own washing. It is no bright prospect. How much pleasanter it is to bundle the clothes, phone the laundry and forget it.

"We would not think of reading by candle light or going joy riding in covered wagons, but did you ever stop to think that they are just as modern as using a tub and rub board? Stow them away with other antique form of toil and move forward.

"Then the world advanced a step and overloaded our homes with all sorts of patented washing machines. A step forward, yes. Washing machines that have to be cranked by the laundress merely annihilated the rub board, not the work. Electric machines are an improvement, but there is something still better.

"The Modern Laundry. Why not have the best? It is safer. It takes the job out of the home, out of the way. It is more economical in the long run. It is less bothersome. It takes the work of washing. By scientific methods the laundry washes clothes cleaner. And isn't desire for cleanliness really what started this washing business?"

KNOW TEXAS

There are 850,000 acres of irrigated land in Texas, according to the best estimates.

More than 300,000 acres are under irrigation in the Rio Grande valley and tentative projects would add 100,000 more.

Texas has 60 cities of 5,000 or more population.

In the last three years there has been more railroad construction in Texas than in any other state. Florida ranks second.

The first railroad in Texas was started in 1851. It was the Buffalo Bayou, Brazos and Colorado, now part of the Southern Pacific System.

Agricultural products contribute about 300,000 car loads of freight annually to the railroads in Texas, wheat being one of the leading commodities.

About 4,000 "combine" wheat harvesters are in operation in the Texas wheat fields in addition to thousands of smaller harvesters.

The state of Texas distributed last year about $20,500,000 to the public schools based on an apportionment of $15 for each scholastic.

There are four state and one Federal fish hatcheries in Texas.

Texas produces about $300,000,000 worth of minerals every year.

Important Announcement to every owner of a Model T Ford

ON MAY 25, 1927, when Henry Ford first announced his plans for making a new car, he announced also that he would continue to make parts for the Model T Ford. He said:

"The Model T Ford car was a pioneer. It blazed the way for the motor industry and started the movement for good roads everywhere. It broke down the barriers of distance in rural sections, brought people in these sections closer together, and placed education within the reach of everyone. We are still proud of the Model T Ford. If we were not, we would not have continued to make it so long."

For twenty years, the Model T Ford led the automobile industry and it still serves more people than any other automobile. Over one-third of all the automobiles in use today are Model T Fords—an indication of the sturdy worth of the car and its value to people in all walks of life the world over.

The Ford Motor Company will continue to make replacement parts for these cars "until the last Model T is off the road." That is a part of Ford service. That is what Henry Ford meant when he said: "We believe that when a man buys one of our cars we should keep it running for him as long as we can and at the lowest up-keep cost."

Because of this policy a considerable part of the Ford manufacturing plants is given over to the making of parts for the Model T Ford. These replacement parts are made of the same material and in the same way as those from which your car was originally assembled.

Make it a point, therefore, to see the nearest Ford dealer and have him look over your Model T Ford. You may find that a very small expenditure will enable you to get thousands of miles of additional service, and at the same time protect the money you have invested in your car.

NO SQUEAKS OR RATTLES IN VICTORY SIX BODIES

No builder of the finest custom bodies could take greater care or devise more effective means to eliminate all likelihood of squeaks, rattles and body noises than have Dodge Brothers engineers in designing and developing the new Victory Six, declare Ballew and Noble, local dealers.

The panels of the double wall steel body, are lined with thick felt pads to insure against any possibility of drumming or of sounding board effect when the car travels over uneven pavements. Beneath the rear floor carpet, securely cemented to the floor, is a heavy pad of sound-proofing material and on the under side of the rubber mat of the driver's compartment is a similar pad. The body engineers state that over 85 per cent of the entire out-side surface of the body, exclusive of the window openings, is lined with sound-proofing felt. This felt is effective not only in sound-proofing the body but also as heat insulation, making the car warmer in winter and cooler in summer.

The polished plate glass windows slide in noiseless runways of felt and when lowered rest on rubber supports.

"So accurate are the dies used in the mammoth presses which form the double walled steel doors and the door openings in the bodies that the desired clearances at the top, bottom and sides of the doors are maintained within very close limits. The adjustable rubber stops against which the doors strike when closed are of liberal dimensions. The 'dove tails' which serve as guides when the doors are closed are padded with cushions of live rubber armored with metal to protect against wear. There is no 'tinny' sound when a Victory door is slammed. A careful examination of the car discloses the beaded edges of the fabric strips which are placed between the front and rear fenders and the frame, between the rear fenders and the body and between the body and the vertical surfaces of the side members of the frame. The body itself rests at the front on heavy fabric strips and at the rear on quarter inch thick strips of heavy felt. Although the body and the chassis frame when fastened together with the 23 body bolts act as a single unit the body can be removed if necessary as easily as any other type of body."

STATE INSPECTORS LOCATE SHORT MEASURE GAS PUMPS

Weights and Measures inspectors from the State Department of Agriculture during the month of January proved that all sleight-of-hand artists, better known as magicians, are not confined to the theatrical world—quite a number of them were found operating gasoline pumps.

It is not known to what extent the magic art had invaded the sale of gasoline until the novel plan of equipping a car with a blind tank and making purchases was devised.

Without introducing themselves, the inspectors quietly visited 112 filling stations, made a purchase of five gallons of gasoline at each station, secured a receipt from the salesman on each purchase to the effect that five gallons were bought and paid for, and out of 112 purchases eighty-five were found to be short measure. In some instances the shortage amounted to as much as a gallon and a half to the purchase. The gasoline purchasers in this state, no doubt, would like to know how the sleight-of-hand artist performs the trick of giving a gallon and a half short measure on a five gallon sale. Like all sleight-of-hand tricks, it is simple after once being revealed. The trick is performed by diverting the flow of the gasoline to the under ground storage tank at the same time the automobile is being served. This can be done on nine different types of gasoline pumps now in use in Texas.

It is not definitely known the amount lost each year in the sale of gasoline due to short measure, but a fair estimate may be had by taking the results of the purchase tests on 112 pumps. The total shortage in the purchase of 500 gallons from the 112 pumps was 3509 cubic inches, or 2.71 per cent.

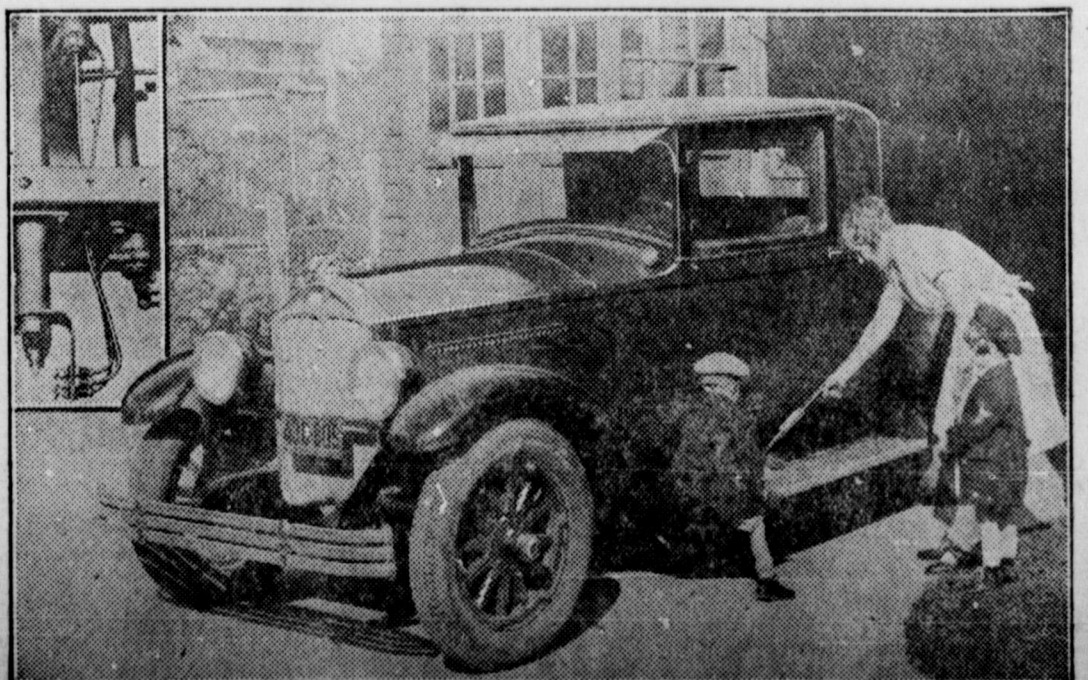

This percentage might be considered exceedingly small by some people, but, viewed in connection with the total annual sale of a few of the largest companies engaged in selling gasoline, it is not small.

For example, the record of the State Comptroller's Department show that six of the largest oil companies in Texas during the year 1927 sold 457,630,975 gallons of gasoline, 2.71 per cent of this amount is 12,401,799 gallons. Taking as an average price, 15 cents per gallon, the annual loss amounts to $1,860,269.85. Think of it, if this amount is lost on sales made by six companies, no doubt, the loss will exceed two million dollars when the total sale of gasoline for all companies doing business in the state is considered.

Developing the fact that the people of Texas are losing millions each year in the purchase of gasoline because of short measure is valuable information, but the inquiry is made, and properly so; what is being done to prevent it? Answering this question, reference is made to the court action taken against the "short measure artists" immediately following the purchase of gasoline from the 112 pumps. In the first city worked 15 complaints were filed, 14 of which pleaded guilty and paid fines in the second city seven cases were tried and a fine from $50.00 to $100.00 was assessed in each case.

For a Permanent and Prosperous Agriculture Program In Texas

Frank A. Briggs, Editor of Farm
And Ranch

There is merit in being brief. Let us get right down to the bare and outstanding facts and analyze farm practices in Texas and other Southwestern States, and then give consideration to the proposed remedy. This should interest every farmer and every business man who believes that now is the opportune time to bring into a new era of rural development and rural prosperity.

With all due respect for cotton as the South's greatest staple crop, under our practices cotton fails to compensate producers for their investment of money, time and labor.

The soils of the Southwest have and are suffering an annual depletion of fertility through the one-crop system, lack of livestock, and through washing or erosion.

Cotton, even under the most favorable marketing conditions and with all the legislative help that may be devised, under the one-crop system which brings about decreasing yields, encourages the spread of root rot and other diseases and makes more difficult the fight against insect pests, has never proved a profitable crop and will continue to decrease in acre production.

The Southwest has a variety of soils and climatic conditions. The soils are capable of improvement. A large variety of food and feed crops can be produced annually in abundance.

For many years Texas has been a producer of feeder livestock. They are shipped in trainloads to other States to consume the feedstuffs there produced.

The Southwest is a large consumer of dairy products and of meats. Inadequate home production makes it necessary to import these products. We ship cattle, hogs, and lambs North to provide a market for Northern-grown feedstuffs and ship the finished product back, paying freight both ways and from three to five commissions. Every time we make a shipment of this character, we also contribute a portion of our farms.

The fertility of the soils of Iowa is being increased at the expense of the soils of Texas and other Southwestern States.

Farmers of the Southwest are urged and even coerced to reduce cotton acreage and produce feedstuffs. But there is no market for feedstuffs except on the farm. Business men should take note of this fact.

Under our system of farming we have peaks and valleys in our man and horse hours. Farmers have productive jobs only a portion of the year. The hours available for profitable employment are not used to an advantage, nor can they be without a carefully planned farm program.

Having tried out the present system of farming for many years with such poor success as to bring us to the verge of bankruptcy, it is time that a new farm program be adopted, and Farm and Ranch offers one that has proved a success in every instance where the human factor has been equal in power and value to the physical means available. It is not a new plan. It did not originate with Farm and Ranch, for the principles of good farming have not changed in centuries. It is these principles that Farm and Ranch will emphasize during the next few months.

Farm and Ranch advocates a farm program that will give every man engaged in agriculture profitable employment during every working day in the year. It is a plan in which every hour counts just as it does with the mechanic in the city. It is a plan that includes a cropping system that will require the practice of system on the part of the farmer, but will also cut out the peaks and valleys of labor which are now common.

It has been the history of agriculture the world over that farming without livestock leads to soil depletion and poverty. It was tried in Wisconsin, in Southern Minnesota, in Illinois, and in other farming sections, North and East. It has been tried in the South with the same results.

The Southwest, and Texas in particular, has been the source of feeder stock for many years. Texas is known as the incubator for livestock. For many years we have been obsessed with the false notion that while we could produce the animals better than any other section of the country, we could not feed and finish them, therefore we have shipped them North where they have become a profitable market for Northern-grown feed. Of late years it has been demonstrated at the experimental stations and by hundreds of individual farmers that Texas steers, hogs, and sheep can be finished on Texas-grown feedstuffs.

Prior to 1910 the cities of the country furnished markets for feedstuffs. These markets decreased in value with the increase in automobiles until today it is impossible to sell hay, oats, or other forms of feedstuffs in the rough in any city market at a profit. Yet, the production of feedstuffs is necessary to the balanced farm and the upkeep of the soil. What to do with it is answered in just one word: "livestock".

Farm and Ranch is going to stress the subject of livestock as a part of a balanced farm program in every issue. We are going to call attention to the losses sustained by producing feeder stock in Texas, shipping it North and returning it for our home consumption. We are going to prove that the feedings of livestock on the farms as well as in the feeder lots is profitable in Texas and other Southwestern States. We are going to present this phase of agriculture as a part of a balanced farm program which will enrich the soil, provide a profitable market for home-produced feeds and increase the cotton yield per acre.

In addition to constructive suggestions and articles from men who know, our own field editors will tell the stories of practical farmers who are making a success with livestock as a part of their farm program. Rules for feeding home-produced feedstuffs; articles on construction of barns and sheds; self feeders, feeding racks and arrangements of lots and fences suitable to every section of the Southwest will appear in regular order. Farm and Ranch will have the cooperation of the experiment stations of the States in the Southwest; of extension services and of farmers who have already broken away from speculative farming and are now making a success with livestock which required diversification of crops and crop rotation.

It is a part of the program of Farm and Ranch to present its readers concrete examples of the value of time on the farm and now it can be profitably employed and distributed. These plans are not so complicated but what any man with a determination to help himself and provide adequately for his family can understand and follow with a little study. Naturally they will be of little value to the shiftless man or to the farmer who cannot bring himself to the point of abandoning old habits and profitably employing himself with regularity as many days and hours of the day as a worker in the city. Every hour of labor or of study should be made productive. The economic law governing agriculture is no different than the law governing any other business when it comes to calculating profit and loss.

Iowa, Wisconsin, Illinois, and other States where livestock production and feeding go hand in hand, and where the dairy industry has enriched the soils and fattened the pocketbooks of the farmers, had to work out their own problems. The change of program was entirely an experiment with them. They had to acquire a knowledge of breeding, of balanced feeding, of properly handling their product, and of marketing. It took long years of effort and experimental work to place these industries on a paying basis. All this information is available to Southwestern farmers, feeders, and dairymen. It is only necessary to apply it.

Farm and Ranch invites the cooperation of all farmers in the Southwest and of others interested in promoting and developing a prosperous and a permanent agriculture, in the work it has set out to do.

It often pays to make an investigation of the markets before selling timber from a farm woodland, says the Forest Service of the United States Department of Agriculture. As an illustration of this a Forest Service officer relates a recent experience in the South. "In one instance," he says, while riding along a road with a truck driver, it was learned that the man's father-in-law had approximately 10,000 feet of cedar lumber for sale. The owner was offered only $25 per thousand for this material, by a local buyer. Information was sent to him, through the truck driver, as to where he could sell the same lumber for $60 per thousand. This meant a saving of $35 on a thousand feet, or a total of $350."

HATCH YOUR CHICKS NOW
By F. W. Kazmeier, Bryan, Texas.

Successful people do not believe in procrastinating, when a job needs to be done at once. If you keep such breeds as Plymouth Rocks, S. C. R. I. Reds, Wyandottes and other large and medium weight breeds, March is your last chance to get chicks, that will develop into Winter layers.

Are you one of those that would like to have Winter layers, but are too indifferent to make plans ahead. Now is the time to get the chicks hatched if you want Fall and Winter eggs. Early chicks are absolutely necessary in order to get pullets that will lay this coming Fall and Winter. The past January eggs went to 45 cents per dozen and higher, and now they are down to 15 and 18 cents. It is not good business on your part, in view of these facts, to make you definite plans to get eggs when they are in high price. In the case of breeds above mentioned early hatching is absolutely necessary to get Winter layers. If you don't get the chicks in this month, you are going to pass the greatest and most important factor, necessary to get Winter and Fall layers, when eggs are high in price.

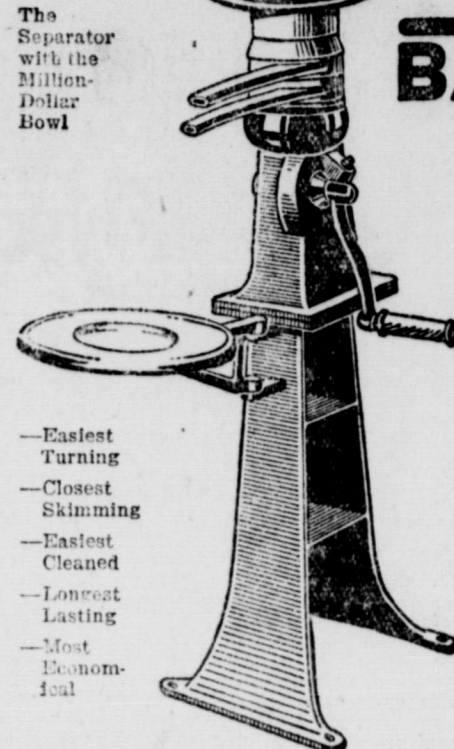

An average well bred pullet, of the medium and large breeds, hatched in March or earlier will produce at least 5 dozen eggs next November, December, and January, at an average price of 40c per dozen, will net $2.00 per pullet. This will pay her feed bill and most of the expenses the entire year. Then when eggs do go down in price you know that the feed bill already is paid, and every dollars income is net profit.

Don't be knocking the produce man for not paying more for eggs, now that you are getting them, make your plans to get the eggs when he will pay you a good price. Kick yourself if you did not get a good production, this past Fall and early Winter. Kick yourself again if you let this month slip by without getting off some early chicks. Your last opportunity for early 1928 chicks, Mr. Delay, Lingerer and Puttin' off, what are you going to do about it? Don't cuss the egg market of the hens, cuss yourself, you are to blame.

There is only one time in 1928 you can get early chicks, it is now, today and not tomorrow or next month. A flock of early

DIVERSIFY TO LIVE IS PLEA

NOCONA FARMER SEES LIGHT AND FINDS MORE PROFIT IN OTHER CROPS

The idea of diversification is finding favor more and more in all parts of the state, with cotton playing a losing hand in sections where it has been the main money crop for years.

Lee Phillips of Nocona, on route No. 2, about two and one-half miles from town has quite a different view from most farmers in this section, as to "How to Make Money on the Farm."

About seven years ago, Mr. Phillips began truck farming on a 100 acre farm, and raised some cotton, but later cut out the cotton, continuing truck farming.

Among the things Phillips raises on his 100 acre farm could be mentioned nearly all kinds of vegetables, his orchards and vineyards produce peaches, apples, plums, pears, grapes, berries and he has demonstrated that figs can be raised in this locality.

It is real interesting to visit the Phillips truck farm and dairy. Besides truck, poultry, fruit, etc., plenty of feed stuff for stock is raised.

Of course Phillips raises his own hogs for the meat to supply his own table and has hogs and meat for sale, killed or on foot.

"Get away from this renting idea, but own a farm, even though small," he states that if one fourth of present acreage of cotton was planted, farmers might make a living, but then they should not depend on cotton altogether.

ATTENDANCE PRIZE IS DRAWN AMONG ENTHUSIASTIC LIONS TUESDAY.

The Lions Club received the low-down on the Boss Lion Tuesday of this week when Wm. Leo Sparks, County Attorney for Potter County and former Clarendon resident was introduced to the Lions as victor of the day. It appeared later that the visitor was brought to the club for the purpose of defending any Lion who might get into trouble in the Amarillo courts.

A report on the trip to the Quil-laque luncheon club on Thursday of last week was made by Lion Porter, who stated that he thought it probable that a club would be formed there in the near future. A delegation was to have been in attendance on the luncheon this week, but were prevented from attending at the last minute by some unforeseen happening.

In the presentation of prizes for 100 per cent attendance during the first three months of 1928, twenty-one Lions were found to be eligible to receive the award. Lion McClung was delegated to draw the names from the list since he was not eligible to win any of the prizes. Five names were drawn, the first four being disqualified. The name of A. L. Chase was the fifth name drawn from the hat and he was presented with a fountain pen that is guaranteed from now until he wears it out. All other Lions who registered full attendance were presented with an emblem for their cars.

The Governor's Health Week proclamation was read and Lion Murrell asked that the Lions all attend the Pre-Easter campaign at the Methodist Church on Clean-up day. Later in the program, the Lions voted to back the Clean-up program personally but not as a body.

W. H. Patrick stated that he had some figures that would be greatly interesting to the Lions on their diversification plans for the year. The next two weeks showed that producers in Donley County who are using the first National Bank as their bank, turned in a total of $3,144.68. With a conservative total, presuming that other banks in the city had seen an equal amount of business, this would mean a total of $150,000 per year, or twenty per cent of the value of the Donley County cotton crop.

It was suggested that the Lions could assist in this work by talking to those who were most interested in the diversification of the county.

Lion Allison announced services at the Methodist Church for the coming ten days. He also stated that it had been put to him to ask the Lions to take over the beautification of the boulevard on Fourth Street. No action was taken on this matter at this time.

Lion Boykin announced the Dairy Show at Plainview next week and asked all Lions possible to offer the use of their cars for transportation purposes only, the interested persons being responsible for their expenses during their attendance on the show.

Lion Burton announced the play at the college and urged a full attendance from the Lions.

The remainder of the hour was taken by Lion Dean Cooper of Clarendon Junior College, who exploded in a terrific blast of pedigreed papa cow that shook the club to its very foundations. His theme was such that it proved beyond a doubt that all men are sprung from a lower animal and was aptly proven in the numerous appellations that are applied to men and women in the present day lingo. The speaker was completely squelched by Lion Murrell who stated that the speech reminded him of the experiences of the ducky on his first sight of a zebra.

ADJOURNMENT AS USUAL

COLLEGE HONOR ROLL FOR THE SECOND MID-TERM

The following ten students have the highest scholastic standing for the second mid-term of Clarendon Municipal Junior College. They may be thought of as the scholastically upper ten on College hill. Six out of the ten are students from neighboring cities.

John Crain, Claude; Gertrude Osborne, Clarendon; Jewel Davis, Sunny View; Ivie Holm, Newlin; Walter Elkin, Midland; Oleta Mann, Hedley; Mable Shields, Wellington; Alfred Estel, Clarendon; Maude Bledsoe, Clarendon; and Willie Anna Garmon, Clarendon.

Late reports from the condition of Kelly Chamberlain, who withstood an operation for appendicitis last week, state that he is recovering nicely and that he is expected to return to his home here in a short time. Mrs. Chamberlain remained in Colorado Springs with him and is expected to return shortly. Mr. Chamberlain returned to his home here last Saturday.

A-T TO START WORK MONDAY

E. E. REYNOLDS IS NOW SOLE OWNER OF WELL AND ASKS LOCAL SUPPORT.

The cloud of misapprehensions that have been hovering over the A. T. Well for the past week or ten days were cleared away to a great extent Wednesday of this week when E. E. Reynolds purchased the interest of J. T. Thompson in the proposition and stated that he asked the support and good will of the people of Donley County who were interested in the well.

As is well known, the well had been stopped for the lack of funds for a considerable length of time, and a deal was closed some time past whereby operations should be started at once. A great bit of new material has been placed on the ground to facilitate operations on the project and the proposition is now ready for a quick completion. A new cable was laid and a charge was made from coal to crude oil to make things easier for the crews in charge.

Last Friday, the well was cemented by the Haliburton Cementing Company of Borger and other towns in the Panhandle, who recommended that the cement be allowed to set for five or ten days before operations should be started again. Messrs C. B. Adams and N. T. Thompson will again be in charge of operations on the well when they start up next Monday morning and Clarendon people will be glad to learn that these capable men have again been placed on the floor. By Monday, it is thought that the well will have set a sufficient amount to have the water cut off and the hole dry for active work to start.

When the well shut down for the cementing operations, a considerable amount of gas was present and the drillers are trusting that more will be available when a few feet of hole have been completed. Mr. Reynolds expects to return to Clarendon before Sunday and will wish to meet more of the interested people when he returns for the next good will trip.

AMUSEMENT CLUB OPENED HERE MONDAY, THIS WEEK

The Clarendon Amusement Club, composed of those sporting fans in Clarendon who are especially interested in wrestling, boxing and their allied sports, opened its doors to the members on Monday of this week. The new organization is located in one of the Burton buildings on Sull Street, almost directly across from the Clarendon Motor Company. A ring has been built for the use of the boxers, and a mat will be provided in the very near future for the exponents of the wrestling matches. Pool and billiard tables are provided for the use of the members, no others being allowed to use this form of entertainment. Officers of the new organization are: G. A. Costley, President; H. R. Davis, Vice President and Jack Rutherford, Secretary-Treasurer. They plan for a boxing match here in the next few weeks and further announcement will be made of the dates for this affair.

Wint Bairfield left Thursday morning for Denton, where he will spend the Easter holidays with his daughter, Miss Lois.

NATIONAL EDITORIAL ASSOCIATION — PANHANDLE PRESS ASSOCIATION

An educated man is one with a universal sympathy for everything and a certain amount of knowledge about everything that is known and who still is learning to the end.—Elbert Hubbard.

Judges in the 1928 Yard Beautiful contest in Clarendon this year are in for a hard decision. There are scores of potential winners, and as the season progresses almost every block will boast of its contesting yard. Get in early—the water's fine.

No one knows exactly what turn the awakening consciousness of our direction in providing suitable memorial to the Boys who marched away in 1917, will take here in Clarendon, but something is going to be done. The rising tide of public sentiment will not be denied, even if we are nearly ten years late about it.

Increased business over the same period of last Spring is reported on every hand, and there is coming a general feeling that 1928 is to be a much more satisfactory business year than was 1927. People, generally, have "their feet on the ground" so to speak, and with the ever growing interest in poultry and dairying, Donley County bids fair to increase her income millions over last year.

On the first day of April the Childress Index passes from the Haskett family to the Nunn-Warren chain of Panhandle newspapers, marking the entrance of that organization into the lower Panhandle. The Hasketts have served Childress long and faithfully and the Index is a splendid property, which will continue its usefulness under the new regime. Success to all parties concerned.

Considerable space given to the Panhandle-Plains Dairy Show, this week may bring the query as to why The Clarendon News is so interested in the publicity and success of a show a hundred miles from Donley County. We are giving of our space and effort that this new move for better dairy cattle in the Panhandle may be advanced and we are frank to say that it is not an altogether unselfish motive that prompts us. If the Dairy Show is a success, it means that the gospel of dairying will be spread throughout the entire section. If dairying is spread over this territory it is quite likely that Donley County will receive a new impetus along the lines of this and kindred methods of farming. If so we all profit. Let us participate in the dividends of better milk cows in the Panhandle.

CLEAN UP WEEK IS HEALTH WEEK

Mayor H. W. Taylor has issued a proclamation, setting apart the week of April 1-8 as Clean Up Week in Clarendon, which is in unison and accord with a state-wide move for cleaner and more healthful cities and towns.

It is not without reason that Clean-Up Week is also designated Health Week, for there is inseparable connection between sanitation and health. No age ever realized this fact as do we in this twentieth century.

A little effort on the part of every citizen will give Clarendon the greatest cleansing of rubbish the city has ever known, and the city government is doing its full part in providing free garbage wagons to haul the accumulation away.

Clarendon has ever been known in the Panhandle country as one of the most cleanly, most attractive and most healthful cities of the section. During the week of April 1-8, we have another opportunity to make secure and extend that reputation.

Selfish interest should enlist every one of us. Clean Up Week is Health Week.

The International Sunday School lessons have dealt much in recent months with the Pharisees of the Jewish church and Jesus' unmistakable exhortation of them and their practices. Which leads one to wonder if Jesus should come today, if every church wouldn't have Pharisees coming under his attack, and just as vindictive against his gospel of brotherly love, as in the days of old. We wonder.

Outside of New York City, Al Smith has never been the choice of the people of New York state. Out of the polyglot city; out where real Americans dwell, he has always been from one to two hundred thousand votes behind. It is therefore unthinkable that any one should seriously consider him as a candidate to go before the country as a whole. Texas nor any other Southern state will support Al Smith, and we hope that Texas nor any other Southern state will support any "wet" candidate for the presidency.

When the street from the Methodist Church to the College was paved with a park-way space in the center, it was hoped that this center would be transformed into a well-planned strip of beauty making that street one of the show drives of the city. A number of the residences along the street have attempted to cultivate and beautify the space, but there has been so general and ruthless treatment of the strip at the hands of reckless motorists and horsemen, that nothing has come of their efforts and most of them have given it up as a bad job. It is to be deplored that such a condition exists, and as hard as it may seem The News believe that a few stiff fines for such trespassing would clear the atmosphere and allow the beautification of the street, giving residents and visitors a new pride in our city. In Europe people of all classes unite in the protection and enjoyment of the beautiful. We may be far ahead of them on some parts of the ground, but in this matter we must hang our heads in shame. When good citizens unite to stop this vandalism through the regular channels of city authority, we will be through with it. Will you help?

GOODNIGHT CHAMBER OF COMMERCE URGES COWS

M. V. Compton of Goodnight, Secretary of the Goodnight Chamber of Commerce and Superintendent of the Public Schools in that city, was a pleasant caller in the News office Saturday of last week. Mr. Compton is new to the Panhandle section of the state, having come to Goodnight from Brady. He has been here about one year and states that the possibilities of the state are wonderful and that a part of them have probably been overlooked.

As Secretary-Manager of the Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Compton states that the citizens of Goodnight are awakening to the fact that dairy cows, poultry and their allied products are far better than being dependent on a wheat crop occasionally to keep them on their feet and going. He states that they are working on the dairy cow project and that the sales of cream and milk are increasing rapidly. It is estimated that there will be from 6,000 to 8,000 visitors to the sister cities of the Sabine-Neches District, Beaumont, Port Arthur and Orange which are separated

HEAVY ATTENDANCE EXPECTED AT BEAUMONT

Governor Dan Moody has expressed the opinion that the State Democratic Convention to convene at Beaumont on May 22 will prove to be the largest state convention ever held in Texas. It is estimated that there will be from 6,000 to 8,000 visitors to the sister cities of the Sabine-Neches District, Beaumont, Port Arthur and Orange which are separated

DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE TO HELP SMALL BUSINESS

Queries from small merchants or citizens planning to engage in business on a limited scale comprise a substantial percentage of the 12,000 letters which have been received by the Domestic Commerce division of the Department of Commerce. Because so many problems of the small business man are unusual, it has been decided to set up a special section in the Domestic Commerce Division to deal with them.

According to Dr. Frank M. Surface, Assistant Director of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, who supervises that Bureau's service facilities applying to market problems in the United States, "the smaller business men's" questions have ranged over a great variety of subjects related to the profitable operation of retail stores but the meat and grocery trades have argu-ated the largest share.

A prospective business man in the west, for example, asked for "data on the average cost of a meat market, the per cent of profit, salary, rent, light and power costs which prevail in that business.

Full information regarding retail grocery stores and statistics on the average cost of clerk hire was requested by a resident of a small town in Ohio.

The frequency of turnover among small grocers, the average volume of business and the amount which should be spent for advertising were the leading questions in a query from New England.

Among the other queries were requests for information concerning the wearing apparel business, selling jewelry on the installment plan, the battery service station, the retail furniture business, management of a millinery store, and so on throughout the range of business which might be carried on successfully by a citizen with more or less limited means.

In explaining the functions and facilities of the Domestic Commerce Division, Dr. Surface points out that the battery service station, the retail furniture business, management of a millinery store, and so on throughout the range of business which might be carried on successfully by a citizen with more or less limited means.

Over 18 per cent of the retailers reported from all eleven cities did from $5,000 to $10,000 worth of business a year and over 28 per cent did from $10,000 to $25,000 annual business.

The information collected indicated that perhaps 79 per cent of all the retailers might be termed "small business establishments."

Dr. Surface points out that the prime purpose of the new unit is to cooperate with these merchants in helping them help themselves.

He said that much information has already been collected by the department which may be had upon request dealing with a very wide range of retail store problems, such as store location and planning, education of a retail sales force, budgetary control in retail store management, department leasing of retail stores, vehicular traffic congestion and retail business, measuring a retail market, etc.

In the opinion of Dr. Surface, "it is the so-called little fellow in business," who can often profit to a greater advantage from governmental assistance of the type outlined and as a result special efforts are made to provide detailed answers to all requests of this kind. He said as the Department's work develops a much greater range of information will be available to the business man to assist him in avoiding the mistakes and pitfalls which have wrecked so many small businesses in the past. An examination of the records of the morgue of business failures, according to Dr. Surface, shows that mis-management is the cause of the greater percentage of commercial deaths.

Miss Marjorie McKillop was the honoree of a delightful surprise birthday dinner-party Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Goldston.

Earlier in the week Mrs. Goldston had invited Marjorie to dinner that evening since she and Mr. Goldston's birthday were on the same date but Marjorie was not prepared for the surprise that greeted her on arriving at the Goldston home. As she entered the door small tables, artistically decorated first met her eye then a group of girl friends who had secreted themselves in another room made their appearance which made the surprise complete.

At the completion of the meal a huge birthday cake was brought in and was cut by the guests each vying with the other for the good luck piece.

Games suggestive of Easter were enjoyed, then the girls were given crepe paper, scissors and glue and requested to make their Easter bonnets. Some exquisite models were created and with the announcement that an April shower was about to fall a large umbrella was placed over Miss McKillop to protect her from the rain and she was quite taken aback with the shower of beautiful handkerchiefs which fell about her.

CHESTERFIELDS SHOW A 300 PER CENT GAIN IN 5 YEARS

From seven billion smoked in 1922 to twenty-eight billion smoked in 1927—sales doubled and redoubled within five years. These are the startling figures announced by the Liggett & Myers Tobacco Company for their everpopular Chesterfield Cigarette.

This amazing growth, representing a gain of 300 percent, signifies not only the universal preference for the cigarette as the smokers' choice, but the acceptance of this one particular brand as the popular favorite.

It is conservatively estimated that Chesterfield has acquired at least a million new users in a little over a year—certainly convincing proof that finer quality and better taste is substantially recognized by the cigarette smoking public.

This genuine testimonial for good tobacco and good blending is based largely on Chesterfield's particularly pleasing flavor and taste. As it is stated in the advertisements, Chesterfields are "mild and yet they satisfy"; in other words, the flavor has been so skillfully balanced as to eliminate any suggestion of harshness or bite, and yet leave enough richness and body to "let a smoker know he is smoking".

Nor is Chesterfield's rapid growth limited to the boundaries of the United States. Sales reports have revealed that this brand is world-wide in its acceptance, as shown by the fact that in practically all the principal cities of the world it is found to be among the leading sellers.

In fact, Chesterfield's world-wide recognition has given rise to another new advertising slogan which truthfully asserts that "the sun never sets on Chesterfield's popularity"—with the added distinction that "Such popularity must be deserved" because of a

NEWSPAPERS ARE BEST ADVERTISING MEDIUM

The newspaper is the best advertising medium, states J. C. McQuiston, advertising manager of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, in addressing the advertising council of the Chicago Association of Commerce recently.

"One great advantage of newspaper advertising is reader interest," he said. "We have grown into a nation of newspaper readers until today nearly every worthwhile American buys and reads his daily newspaper. As a result, any message in the paper comes to the reader fresh and welcome and secures immediate attention."

"We believe that you can make a sale with a newspaper advertisement today that it will take you a month or a year to get in any other medium, if you get it at all," said Mr. McQuiston in explaining why his company has centralized the bulk of its advertising in the newspaper.

STAGE PRODUCTION COMING TO PASTIME

Introducing a new feature into his regular Wednesday night program, Manager Mulkey of the Pastime Theater, is bringing the Pierce Murdock Players here next Wednesday night in a stage production of Zane Grey's novel, "The Lone Star Ranger." Clarendon people will remember this story dramatized for the screen under the title of "The Last of the Duanes", starring Tom Mix, one of Zane Grey's best stories of love and life on the Western border, when there was no law west of the Pecos.

Under existing contracts the Pastime Theater is showing a splendid line-up of Metro-Goldwin and Paramount special screen plays, and the stage play next Wednesday evening with vaudeville features is in addition to the regular picture program. Manager Mulkey plans to book occasional tsage plays and vaudeville if the show-going public approves of the change as evidenced by the patronage. The Pierce Murdock Players come recommended as a high class organization and are proving popular in neighboring towns of the Panhandle.

First comes CHRYSLER "72"

.....all others trail

Chrysler "72" performance makes all other performance in its field seem as out-of-date as last year's license plates. All you have to do is to ride in a "72," and drive it to appreciate the difference.

Only Chrysler's great engineering staff and precision manufacturing organization could have developed 75 smooth horse power from an engine of such moderate size. You can, at will, do 72 miles an hour and more—velvety, easy miles—due to this unique and vibrationless engine with counterweighted seven-bearing crankshaft.

It takes mountain grades at constant acceleration. In traffic, the "72" flashes to the fore with characteristic Chrysler get-away.

Only a demonstration can prove to you just how much better the "72" performs.

Illustrious New Chrysler "72" Prices—Two-passenger Coupe (with rumble seat), $1545; Royal Sedan, $1595; Sport Roadster (with rumble seat), $1595; Four-passenger Coupe, $1595; Town Sedan, $1695; Convertible Coupe (with rumble seat), $1745; Crown Sedan, $1795. All prices f.o.b. Detroit, subject to current Federal excise tax. Chrysler dealers are in position to extend the convenience of time payments.
