DINNER HONORS DR. J. T. GRISWOLD

LOCAL MEN GIVE DINNER FRI-DAY EVENING HONORING DEPARTING FRIEND.

Antro served one of the most pleasing dinners of the year, which added much to the good cheer of the occasion.

An informal program was carried out at the close of the table activities which began shortly after 7:30, following the invocation by L. O. Lewis. "Dr. Griswold as a Neighbor." was discussed by G. S. Paterson in a-most pleasing and complimentary manner. W. H. Patrick spoke on "Dr. Griswold as a Business Man," treating the subject of all. Judge J. R. Porter discussion upon questions in his practical way, to the delight of all. Judge J. R. Porter discussion the honor guest as a "Leader in Christian Education," reviewing his activities with special relation to the work of Clarendon College, paying a deserved tribute to the ideals and labors of the man. Mayor H. W. Taylor made a great hit with the assembly when he was both humorous and serious in his treatment of the subject. "Dr. Griswold as a Citizen." "Our Guest as a Religious Leader and His Influence in the Lives of Men," was portrayed by Sam M. Braswell. At this point the toak master recognized Tom F. POULTRY EXPERT TO PRESENT PLAY

FOUR ACT COMEDY TO BE FEA-TURE OF POULTRY MEET-ING DECEMBER 1.

Last Friday evening at the Antro Hotel about forty Clarendon men gathered around the festive board to do honor to Dr. J. T. Griswold who leaves this week to take up his work as pastor of the Childress Methodist Church, after six years service in Clarendon as pastor and presiding elder of the local Methodist Church and district.

The dinner was in no sense denominational, but was attended by men of all churches and of no church—a personal tribute to Dr.
Griswold as a citizen, a neighbor and a friend. O. C. Watson served as toastmaster in his usual happy manmer, and the management of the

"The Lay of a Hen," a four act comedy, will be presented at the College Auditorium Thursday evening, December 1, as a special feature of the poultry meeting to be held at that time. The play will be given under the direction of William O.
Woods, poultry expert of St. Louis, who will be in charge of the poultry meeting to be held immediately after the last act of the comedy. Mr.
Woods will play the part of Phil R.

Other characters are: Lett M. Russell, a disgusted poultry raiser who honestly believes "It doesn't pay to keep chickens;" Mrs. Russell, his wife, who still has hopes; and Red E. Serviss, a merchant who is more than a feed dealer. The hour for the play is 7:30 o'clock.

Clarendon played good defensive football throughout the entire game. Hedley made only two first downs to the Colts' seven. Clarendon also played good offensive football in mid-field, but lacked the punch to put the ball over when they reached the goal line. They were on Hedley's eight ward line on first downs and goal gain. They failed, however, to make downs each time, and Hedley punted out of danger.

William Fitzgerald was perhaps the best player of the Junior High team in the game Friday, although the entire backfield played well. Earl Carlson was the best man in the line.

A MOVEMENT WORTHY OF THE PROGRESSIVE SPIRIT OF THIS SECTION

Following up correspondence and Panhandle-wide publicity, by Col. Haines of the Amarillo Board of City Development, looking to a concerted regional movement for the advertising of the agricultural resources of the Panhandle, a meeting of representatives of the various counties and local chambers of commerce has been called to meet in Amarillo on October 8.

This movement is wholly constructive and is most worthy of the progressive spirit of the citizenship of this section of the Southwest. There is little doubt that some workable plan to send out a composite exhibit of the farm products of the Panhandle will be adopted. There has been so liberal and enthusiastic response from over the country it is patent that the meeting will show such unanimity of purpose that no great difficulty will be experienced in laying a plan that will be acceptable. It would appear that farm exhibits will be sent to the various state fairs in the North and East, or else an exhibit train will be prepared and routed through those states accompanied by a representative delegation of Panhandle citizens.

The farmers of the North and East are looking for cheaper and richer lands. The Panhandle country is the only part of the United States where cheaper and better lands can be obtained, therefore this movement challenges our immediate attention.

We need more farmers on fewer acres, and since agriculture and its by-products will continue to be the basic industry of the Panhandle, we can do no better than to use this proposed means of advertising our advantages to the world.

WE ARE THANKFUL

When Andy Gump admonished Chester in Sunday's comic Martin community west of Clarenpage that every American boy ought to celebrate at least three hundred and sixty-five Thanksgiving Days every year, he uttered a truth worthy of the wisest man in the nation.

The score in our favor mounts up to such proportions that it requires only just a little reflection to cause us to realize that we, indeed, are of all peoples the most favored. This immediately brings us to the realization that our obligations are great in the same ratio as our blessings.

Let us, then, utilize the Thanksgiving season to calculate PLACED ON HOLLAND'S FORCE our manifold blessings, our obligations to a Bountiful Father of All, and our duty to our fellows. The results of such calculation and meditation should unfailingly result in better citizenship and a more noble life.

ANTI-CARNIVAL ORDINANCE

The passing of the anti-carnival ordinance by the Cleburne city council last evening was one of the outstanding acts of that body in the recent past.

Cleburne heretofore has been tolerant, to a fault, with such aggregations, and in nearly every instance has been left with the bag to hold either in one way or another. The shows usually come to town promising great things and leave with nothing accomplished except a depressing influence on the community and a showground resembling a dumping ground.

We are not saying that there are not carnivals and circuses that would not leave a clean show lot, but the rule of averages Our guess is that Judge W. E. Hawkins will fail to attract in the past has been such as to make the experiences very un-

"The pavements rob the country of its freshness," is the plaint of the motorist who has traveled past certain forlorn roadsides. Still, no reason is readily available as to just how the pavements are responsible for any neglected appearance of the countryside. From August to January, therefore, as the season of highest prices, and of egg production is good during that period profits in egg production are increased greatly. Unfortunately, according to the fall and early winter months that the old hens are in the process of months have not yet commenced to lay. Thousands of farmers lose large sums of money simply because they do not hatch their pullets early enough so they will begin laying in time for the high prices during the fall and winter months. They fail to realize that pullets are almost the only spaced to permit of road widening. The art of laying out the roadside has in truth reached a point where, through proper placing of trees, the traveler can drink his fill of distant fields through a frame of oak or poplar.

One county in Michigan has planted 25,000 trees along its roadsides to date. Michigan is spending $50,000 yearly for the purchase of strips of forest growth from 100 to 200 feet in width bordering the state highways. Minnesota in one year planted 30,000 trees.

Modern road building is such an art that the smooth highway often mocks the barrenness of the roadside. NATIONAL JOB

It is not too early to mate up your breeding pen. Now is the time you can readily pick the best layers in your flock, and together with a good male bird from a high record trapnested hen, constitute your breeding pen. If you have any hens that are still laying, have not started to moult, and are good individuals of the breed they represent, they are the ones to go into your breeding pen. They undoubtedly are wonderful layers, and eggs are what you want to breed for, although leidoscopic countrysides dotted the brilliant billroads, blackened side-line.

It is not too early to mate up Discouragements

Recently we visited two of the large poultry farms just being built. Both farms have not been established for more than a year. The owners of both were blessed with plenty of money, but rather short of patience. They want quick results. One is an oil operator and cannot quite realize that there is no oil money and no oil results in the poultry business. They are willing to spend money lavishly for a year, but then they expect it to come back with high interest. The poultry business is no get rich quick scheme—in no way may it be compared with the that are still laying, have any hens that are still laying, have not started to moult, and are good individuals of the breed they represent, they are the ones to go into your breeding pen. sums will be saved the taxpayer by lessening his traveling distance.

The community must readjust its viewpoint on the road which in days gone by was natural rather than man-made. The early roadway came about through constant travel over the same route. Later when population increased and vehicles were motorized, the natural beauty of the road diminished. Timber was cut for fence rails and firewood.

Most all heavily traveled thorough-

Most all heavily traveled thoroughfares of the present have lost much of their pristine glory. The up-to-the-minute farmer, unless worrying about farm relief, is tilling every bit of fertile land. He has extended the activities of the axe up to the very edge of the highway right-of-way. The blame cannot be placed entirely on the shoulders of the road builder.

Communities are recognizing that road building is one problem and roadside beautification is another problem that must also be given attention. Illustrative of the action now being taken by a good many enterprising states is the activity of Wisconsin. Illinois. Pennsylvania. ventilators on all three sides of the house. It is equally as important to keep part of the one end, preferably the south or east, at least partially open day and night. We prefer to have this opening close to the floor to keep the rain and winds from blowing too far into the interior of the house.

Epsom Salts

If you have not done so, we recompleted and some other salads.

If you have not done so, we recommend you give the entire flock a dose of epsom salts, by adding two pounds of it to 100 pounds of mash and keeping this before them for two or three days. This is a simple treatment but will do much to keep your flock healthv.

Crowding The average farm flock is kept in overcrowded houses. Nothing is so but because trees will not grow but because no trees have been planted. Where conditions warrant, it is the job of the community to make modern pavements beautiful highways by the comparatively inexpensive work of bordering them with pensive work of bordering them with trees and shrubs.

would figure 900 square feet of floor space. A house 30x30, 20x45 or 24x38 will provide enough room for 300 hens. In the Winter, due to bad weather, the flock needs more house room. Overcrowding the flock for only a few days will cause trouble. Don't figure that the hens can get outside the house most of the time and that the days they have to spend on the inside will be only few in number, hence not cause much trouble. Experience clearly teaches overcrowding even for only a few no way may it be compared with the oil business. In the poultry business profits are made in small figures, but sure and all the year around. Discouragements come to the best of us. We have no right not to expect them and own lock. not to expect them and even look for them. The fact is discouragements are just as common in the poultry business as in any other legitimate business. The Fall and Winter are more or less hard months winter are more or less hard months for the poultry raisers. Patience, hard work, head work and study will be and are being rewarded every day. The poultry flock is capable of making a little morey every day, that when multiplied by 365 days, makes an attractive yearly income.

And the Place to Teach a Little One Is in the Home

The mothers of tomorrow are the little girls of today and we all know that they are going to be either a compromise or a success according to the much chance for domestic harmony with poorly, prepared meals and the first important, sensible and vital thing to do is to see that the range in your own home heats the oven on all six sides, then you are safeguarding both today as well as the tomorrows for that little one,

CLAIMS - OF THEMSELVES - CANNOT POSSIBLY CREATE MERIT

Merchandise, particularly stoves, is not purchased to own, but to use. It is of value to you only in proportion to its capacity to render you a definite service. Therefore, it is not what is claimed that counts—but only what it will do in the after years of service.

You Folks Are Entitled-Now-to This Radical Saving, and These Added Conveniences-Why Not Have Them?

Consider thoughtfully, please, that a good Gas Range, is just as necessary as a good saw, hammer, or plane to the carpenter—typewriter to the business man, or maps to the teacher. And when, in addition to all the "good" features you have a saving and convenience (patented) that pays for the Round Oak range—can there be any sound or sensible reason for not having it right now? It's to "show" why, this event is held.

lack of those foods which furnish calcium to build the bones properly. The diet of the growing child presents the problem of providing enough food in concentrated form for rapid growth and excessive activity. During the teens the energy needs are greater than at any other period. The adolescent boy requires 4,000 to 5,000 calories—or more, and the adolescent pirl needs 2,800 to 3,200 calories to meet her energy requirements. The appetite of the growing child should be satisfied.

The diet should contain all the essential foods; Meat, milk, vegetables, eggs, cereal grains, and fruits. It must be remembered that the growing boy or girl not only has to have food to repair the tissues worn out in the course of a day filled with activity, but food which will supply material to build new tissues. For this purpose it is essential that the protein in the diet be complete protein, or protein which will furnish all the amino acids or "building stones." The animal proteins, meat, milk, and eggs, are the best sources of tissue-building material, and these should be included in the diet each day.

MORE HOGS FOR TEXAS FARMS SEVEN MILLION MOVE EACH URGES LIVESTOCK SPECIALIST YEAR IN UNITED STATES

Austin, Nov. 22.—During the past seven years there has been a decrease of nearly fifty per cent in the number of hogs raised in Texas, according to figures, obtained by George M. Lewis, iivestock specialist in the Bureau of Business Research of the University of Texas.

Mr. Lewis states that there are now only 1,250,000 hogs on Texas farms as compared with 2,400,000 in 1920.

The importance of this industry in the State is evidenced by the returns amounting to over thirty-two million dollars which the sale of hogs brought to producers in the hogs brought to producers in the State last year, according to Mr.

Lewis.

Mr. Lewis is a firm believer that "Every farm in Texas should have a few hogs to utilize the waste products and to provide the farm families with a part of their meat supply and to add to the farm income. They require very little attention and are the most economical animal in existence. The hog is universally known as the 'mortgage lifter,' because he has contributed to the success of farming throughout the world and he is a ready source of immediate profit on any diversified or intensified farming enterprise."

It is wondered if the original intent, that it should be a day set aside to give thanks for the many blessings of the year, has not been minimized and overlooked in satiating the desire for pleasure—the god at whose shrine so many worship.

From roof to basement that's the way to buy a car

Buick welcomes this searching test

The man who buys a home goes over it thoroughly, from roof to basement, to make certain that it has the sound construction that means long and endering service.

Buy your car as you would a home. Buick welcomes this searching test, and invites critical comparisons. And Buick is willing to leave the decision to you. SEDANS *1195 to *1995 , COUPES *1195 to *1850
