AUTHORITIES STATE THAT THE WELL WILL PRODUCE 150 GALLONS PER MINUTE

Work on the new well for the city of Clarendon is going forward with a fine degree of success and it is thought that the matter will be completed in a very short time.

The air method of development is being continued and the well is producing a great volume of water with a very little sand.

Although the well has not been tested with the sort of pump that will be used when the matter of development has been finished, it is thought that it will do better than at the present time.

MUD AGAIN STOPS HIGHWAY WORK

MEN ARE STOPPED FROM WORK TO ALLOW ROAD TO DRY FOR FEW DAYS.

Work that has been in progress on the western end of Donley County for the past few weeks was again halted for a short time the fore part of this week when the rains made it impossible for the men and their teams to do any work.

The workers will be stopped only a short time to allow for the road to dry sufficiently to let them go ahead with the labor in hand, when they will finish the western end of the road in short order.

When they are completed with this work, they will move their tools and equipment to that part of the road adjacent to Hedley, where they will treat the road in somewhat the same manner as the road in the western has been treated.

In addition of the work on the roads, there is to be considerable work done on the bridges and culverts of the county.

HEAVY RAIN PUTS MUD ON STREETS

BUSINESS MEN UTILIZE FIRE HOSE AND CLEAN STREETS OF SILT DEPOSIT.

Following an unusually heavy rain Tuesday of this week, there was a deposit of almost an inch of fine silt on the streets of the city.

The concreted ditch proved to be inadequate to handle the flood waters and the town was under varying depths of water for more than two hours following 1:00 o'clock Wednesday morning.

Shortly before noon, the business men of the city organized crews and borrowed two lines of fire hose from the fire company and washed the majority of the streets in the business sections of the town.

The roads of the county suffered a little, but traffic was passing through very nicely by noon Wednesday. Probably the biggest loss came in the west part of the county where some of the sides of the road were washed away, leaving the crown of the road still intact.

At the top of the flood tide, the water level lacked three inches making as much depth as it has in past years, although in some places the water was fully as high as it has been in years past.

NEARBY COUNTIES FOR DONLEY ROAD

CHILDRESS AND AMARILLO PAPERS GIVE DONLEY WIDE SPREAD PUBLICITY.

Arising from sources evidently within the county and founded on no certain facts, there has been a bit of publicity in the daily papers of the past few days that makes excellent reading but that is by no means true.

The reading of these articles brings home to the Donley County residents the fact that this sort of roads are needed more than ever before and it also shows them that three counties remain between Fort Worth and Amarillo without the hard roads.

The News and other Clarendon people regret that no move can be made at the present to facilitate matters and put this county in line for an early election on road matters.

CITY MAKING GOOD USE OF THE NEW ROAD MACHINERY

One of the newest pieces of machinery for the use of the city on the streets has been tested with good results the fore part of this week and the latter part of last week.

Mrs. J. W. Watts left the fore part of last week for Stephenville, where she will visit with her parents and other relatives for a short time.

HILLCROFT TEAM TIED SHAMROCK

TOURNAMENT AT SHAMROCK SUNDAY RESULTED IN 11 TO 11 SCORE.

The Hillcroft players met the Shamrock Golf Club at the Shamrock course, Sunday, in a tournament that was more marked by steady, consistent playing than by star playing.

The twenty-two players who went from Clarendon report that they were well entertained by their opponents in the game.

One load of counters and other equipment has been received in the City for the opening of a five, ten and fifteen cent store in the building South of the Little Mercantile Company store.

NO SERVICES AT CHURCHES SUNDAY

PASTORS OF ALL CHURCHES ANNOUNCE NO SERVICES AT DOCTORS' REQUEST

After conference together, the pastors of the city, in compliance with the request of the City Health Department, decided to call off all regular services for next Sunday.

Miss Fannie Mae Davenport of Lakeview spent Monday visiting friends here.

DISTRICT MEETING W.T.C.C. AUGUST 25

WELLINGTON TO BE HOSTESS TO CITIES OF DISTRICT IN ANNUAL CONVENTION

The News has received notice that the West Texas Chamber of Commerce District Meeting would be held in Wellington on August 25. Clarendon people will remember that this meeting was held in Clarendon last year and that Wellington won the meeting after two other towns of the Panhandle had become involved in a parliamentary wrangle.

According to advices from the city of Wellington, the town is making great plans for caring for the visitors who will attend the meeting on the date set. The Clarendon Chamber of Commerce is planning a great delegation to make Wellington on that date, the gathering to be headed by G. L. Boykin, Secretary-Manager of the local body.

S. R. Pinkston of the Wellington Chamber of Commerce states that although the entire program has not been completed that the visitors to their city may expect to be entertained in no uncertain manner when they visit Wellington. Homer D. Wade is also working on the program from the West Texas Chamber of Commerce office in Stamford and expects to have something really worth while to present when the convention is called to order.

The Clarendon Band will be present and will take part in all festivities that are engaged in on that occasion. It is thought that Collingsworth County will do their part in the entertaining of the visitors and that a part of the excellent crops of that county will be shown the visitors when they visit Wellington.

Plan to make the trip to Wellington on August 25th.

covered by insurance, but there was very little insurance on the barn and other equipment of Mr. Lott. The fire originated in the barn and the cause has not yet been determined.

Due to injury to the high line wires near the scene of the fire, the city was thrown out of lights and out of telephone service for a time during the fire. Service had been replaced in a short time and a full swing in a short time after the local plan of the light company had been started.

COUNTY FAIR TO BE OCTOBER 14-15

LATE DATE IS SET TO ALLOW FOR BEST POSSIBLE EXHIBIT OF PRODUCTS

The agricultural Committee of the Clarendon Chamber of Commerce has been in conference for the past few days and have finally decided that the dates of October 14th and 15th will be the best suited for the fair this year. Due to the late fall and rain in the county and the late condition of the crops in general, the dates have been set for October rather than in September as has been the case in years previous to this.

Secretary-Manager Boykin states that there will be a poultry show held in connection with the fair and that the poultry fanciers of the county may prepare their birds for the showing. All communities of the county are expected to enter a booth and those individuals who care to enter will make their applications to the Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce at once.

The club girls of the county are expected to enter exhibits and will make their plans immediately after the return of Miss Key from her vacation. Prizes will be offered in all the exhibits and this will be announced in the next issue of the News, or as soon thereafter as it can be prepared. For other information on the fair and the exhibits and other details, write the Chamber of Commerce, Clarendon.

kept them lively and laughing all through the time he spoke to the members. Mr. Patterson suggested that the people here not lose interest in the matter of oil development in Donley County since they take many years at times to develop a field. The matter of handling the gas situation in Clarendon was complimented as were some other items that have been done here in the past few months.

H. T. Burton, the new dean of Clarendon Junior College was the other guest of the day and spoke for a short time on the outlook for the college opening in September. He stated that everything looked good for the affiliation of the school with the full quota of students.

Some committees of the club reported at the beginning of the luncheon. The scholarship committee asked for more time to make their inquiries. The Rabies committee stated that they had met with the mayor and that an ordinance was even now being framed to carry out the requests of the committee. The free delivery committee stated that their material had been dug from the archives and that they would proceed in the very near future to do further work on the suggested route.

Some commentators observed the other day that in every flock of poultry there were show birds and producers. Correct, and people are that way, too.

He who would do some great thing in this short life must apply himself to his work with such a concentration of his forces as, to idle spectators who live only to amuse themselves, looks like insanity.—Parkman.

When towns begin to talk about parks and play grounds, keep your eyes open and watch the progress those towns make. The town that is dead never cares whether it has a park or not. It does not care whether it improves or not. It is dead and does not mind one bit if its funeral is held in the middle of Main street on a day when other places are rushed with business. It is a hard task to bring a dead town to life. New blood in its veins is the only hope.—Higgins News.

Commerce is a game of skill, which every man can play, which few men can play well. The right merchant is one who has the just average of faculties we call common sense; a man of strong affinity for facts, makes up his decision on what he has seen. He is thoroughly persuaded of the truths of arithmetic. There is always a good reason, in the man, for his good or bad fortune; and so, in making money. Men talk as if there were some magic about this, and believe in magic, in all parts of life. He knows that all goes on the old road, pound for pound, cent for cent—for every effect a perfect cause—and that good luck is another name for tenacity of purpose.—Emerson.

THE ADVICE OF EXPERTS

When the federal department of agriculture issued a bulletin explaining the delectable art of kissing, there was reason for believing that our mighty government could scale no greater heights. We thought it had exhausted the reservoirs of acumen by explaining an art that youngsters might fail to learn and their elders might forget without this official reminder from Washington.

But a still greater height of wisdom and beneficence is attained by federal department of public health in a bulletin addressed to summer vacationists. With a wisdom that is almost supernal, the bureau advises vacationists to spend their vacation sensibly, keep good hours, retire early, wake up early, take plenty of exercise, not worry, keep happy and spend as much time as possible in the open air.

Most of these sapient suggestions are extraordinary good. The motorist changing tires in the atmosphere that scarifies should pay particular attention to the suggestion that he keep happy and refrain from worrying. But more valuable than gold from Ophir is the suggestion that vacationists spend long hours in the open air. Those who have been touring along in shaded vacuums now can open their lungs to the open breezes and appreciate the forethought of the bureaucrats who advise the 10,000-mile tourist to do as much of his driving as possible out in the open air.—Daily Oklahoman.

Hardly a day passes but what some citizen of our neighboring counties asks the question as to when Donley County is going to hard-surface the Colorado-Gulf highway through its borders. About the only answer we can give now is that we cannot even attempt an election for the hard-surfacing of the Colorado - Gulf highway until its official designation shall have been made satisfactory to the people of Donley County. Right is right, and there is no use talking about doing what we ought to do until the official designation is made to conform to the principles of simple justice. This matter is having attention and we all hope for a satisfactory solution at an early date.

AND AGAIN, WHOSE WATER?

A new element, which we must admit we hadn't thought of before, is injected in to the water rights situation by the Houston Post-Dispatch. Commenting on this paper's recent editorial "Whose Water?" the Houston paper says:—

"In view of the perennial complaint of farm surpluses, the statement that farms are more needed in West Texas than hydroelectric power in Central Texas, is open to challenge."

That, of course, puts an entirely different light on the subject. West Texas, instead of developing its resources by using what water it has, should make no effort to improve the state of its agriculture lest it create a surplus of something. Here is Texas importing most of its fruit and vegetables from California and other states, yet it ought to restrict its farm development so that it won't produce too much of anything. Yes, we'll admit we hadn't thought of that phase of the subject before.

"It is to be regretted," says the Post-Dispatch, "that West Texas interests persist in endeavoring to make a sectional issue of this matter of utilizing the waters of Texas rivers, and also of arraying the farming against the industrial interests of the state. There is no occasion for arraying section against section or interest against interest. It isn't necessary to draw comparisons as to which (farms or hydroelectric power) is most needed and as to which should have a monopoly of the water. The responsibility of the board of water engineers is to provide for an equitable division of the water. 'Whose water?' It doesn't belong to any one section, to any one interest."

West Texas hasn't sought to array section against section or interest against interest. The specific question before the board of water engineers arose from the plans of the city of Brownwood to dam a dry creek, close to that city, to get water for municipal purposes primarily and for irrigation purposes secondarily. There was nothing "sectional" about that. If there is a sectional issue in the case, it was brought into it by the objections of the hydroelectric companies claiming the water for power plants and by the rice-growers claiming it for their fields. If there is any issue of "interest against interest" West Texas didn't raise it. If the controversy is on those lines, it is because West Texas is contending for the right to use West Texas water.

The water "doesn't belong to any one section or to any one interest," says the Post-Dispatch. All right. That hints at a belief that there's enough for all. If that's the case, why should the rice growers and the power companies be objecting?

There is much more at stake in this controversy than the right of Brownwood to build a dam. Indirectly, the whole question of water rights is involved. If, begging pardon for the section allusion, East Texas and South Texas are going to have the right to say what West Texas shall do with its streams, we of West Texas want to know it now.

We can foresee where the argument may be of great benefit to West Texas. It may result in spurring West Texas communities to get busy at once and set up their claims to the water of the streams close to them. If West Texas isn't going to use the waters of the Brazos and other streams, it can't complain at other sections appropriating those waters. The present controversy emphasizes the need of taking the necessary steps right away.—Wichita Falls Times.

SAYS GENEALOGY IS MOSTLY BUNK

"Tracing one's ancestry is a rank fallacy," declares Albert Pevson Terhune, who has just completed a year's study of genealogical research for the American Magazine and is now attacking the growing fad.

"In the first place the people realize that perhaps millions of ancestors, good and bad, have intervened between themselves and the illustrious person from whom they claim to have descended," he says in summing up his studies. "Secondly, several million other people, if they took the trouble, could boast of the same lineage. Thirdly, boasting of a great ancestor is a confusion of inferiority if the descendant has not lived up to the repute of his forebear. 'The most common ancestral claim,' says Mr. Terhune, illustrates the weakness of the average case, 'is relationship to William the Conqueror. Simple arithmetic shows these facts:

"Science allows about thirty-three years to each generation, which shows that there have been twenty-six or more generations between a person living today and William the Conqueror, who was in his prime in 1066.

"The descendant had two parents, four grand parents, eight grand and so on. Continuing to double twenty-six times, it will show about forty million ancestors since 1066. So the descendant would have only a forty-millionth of the Conqueror's blood. In all Great Britain and France in 1066 there were not forty million people, so if anyone has forty million ancestors since that date, he is certainly descended from William. Also, he is descended from every robber and homicide and mendicant and genius and celebrity who happened to be alive in the conqueror's time and earlier. The common fallacy is the result of tracing one particular line and ignoring a thousand other branches of a family. I know of one New Englander who succeeded in tracing his ancestry directly to Adam with just as much accuracy as many have traced theirs back to Charlemagne or other historical figures. Another barrier to effective genealogical research is the old time system of residence or occupation. Thus John Hill, who lived on a hill and John Church who lived by the church may have been the

RHODES NEW DENVER TOWN TO BE OPENED JULY 30

Rhodes is the name of the second new town in Floyd County, on the Denver's lines that stretch across the country two ways. It was announced last week by the Roxana Townsite Company, who are the developers for H. E. (Earl) Fuqua, prominent Amarillo banker and Panhandle business man, and this week all work in connection with platting the city, dedicating its public streets and alleys, are being completed by them for the big opening announced for Saturday July 30.

Opening day will be made a gala affair with entertainment, refreshments, athletics and good speakers. T. C. Ward, of the firm of developers, told a reporter for the Hesperian Monday. W. A. Bergstrom is the other member of the firm. "The Fort Worth & Denver is locating extensive facilities at Rhodes—a big payroll is assured for the new city—it will be the metropolis for an immense, rich agricultural empire," Mr. Ward said, "and as the crossing point for the two important new rail lines—the line from Lubbock Northeast to Silverton by way of Lockney, and the line from Estelline to Plainview, it seems altogether reasonable to expect it to develop into a tremendous jobbing, passenger and freight transfer point and commercial city."

Rhodes is located almost exactly twenty miles north of Floydada. It is about sixty-nine miles south of Estelline, about twenty-eight miles west of Quitaque, twenty miles southwest of Silverton, eight and a half miles northeast of Lockney, and eighteen miles from Plainview. A study of the plat of the new town shows the main street, which has been named Main, to extend southward from the depot located on their line by the Denver at this point. A similar good street will run east and west parallel with the line on the north side of the land platted for the town of Rhodes.

The Roxana Townsite Company, with headquarters in the Oliver Eakle Building in Amarillo, have put on a number of townsites in the Panhandle area in the past two or three years. Their outstanding success was the town of Roxana, from which the firm took its name, Mr. Ward said Monday.—Floydada Hesperian.

PUBLIC EDUCATION

The National Commission on Cardinal Principles of Secondary Education recommends the following divisions. The system of public education, they contend, should be reorganized in accord with the nature and characteristics of the pupils in the schools.

Seven or eight years is too long a period to devote to common knowledge, skills, and attitudes, and four years is too short a period in which to discover and develop individual aptitudes.

The Commission recognized the wisdom of extending the secondary school period for even two years longer to include what is known as the "junior college", but it deferred action as to an outline for the work of these two years.

Secondary education as well as elementary education is the rightful heritage of every boy and girl in the United States. It is the task of education to call forth potential worth and equally to inculcate the essence of that individual subordination to common ideals, modes of life, and purposes where by the United States may have the most favorable conditions under which to develop her conception of democracy.

Canada Is Now Celebrating Her Diamond Jubilee

On July 1, Dominion Day, Canada began the celebration of her sixtieth birthday as a united Dominion. This Diamond Jubilee of Confederation has unique significance in modern history as being in effect a tribute to the importance of rail communication. Canada's confederation began with the passage of the British North America Act on July 1, 1867, the members at that time comprising Upper Canada, Lower Canada, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. In 1868 an Imperial Order in Council gave Rupert's Land and the North-West Territories to the fledgling Dominion.

DAVID AND TOM ALLISON, BROTHERS, DIE IN WEEK

The sympathy of the entire community is with the family of David Allison and Tom Allison, sons of Mrs. J. L. Allison, who have died within the past few days. Infantile Paralysis was the cause of both deaths, although this fact was not known until after the death of Tom and shortly before the death of David.

Tom Allison, twenty-two year old son of Mrs. J. L. Allison, died Friday evening, after an illness of only two days. News of his death came as a shock to even the closest friends of the family, most of whom had not even heard of the illness. Funeral services were held at the family home Sunday afternoon, and were conducted by the Reverend S. R. McClung, pastor of the First Baptist Church. The De Molays, Amarillo Chapter, had charge of the services at the Citizens Cemetery.

Tom Allison was born in Amarillo, June 21, 1905. The Allison family moved to Clarendon, from Bray, in 1919 and has lived here continuously since. Tom graduated from the high school with the class of 1927. He was one of the most loved and admired students in the public schools and was voted the most popular member of his class in the junior year. He was a member of the Amarillo Chapter of De Molay, a branch of the Masonic Order. While he was not a member of a church, he was a Christian, having made a profession of faith during the Fisher revival in 1922.

It may be truly said that Tom Allison's friendships were limited by his acquaintances, for he had a very winning personality. A host of friends attended the funeral services, and the floral offerings were both beautiful and profuse;

David Allison died early Wednesday morning and was laid to rest beside his brother and father, at two o'clock Wednesday afternoon. The funeral services were conducted at the cemetery, by the Reverend McClung. The service was, of course, private; but the many friends who were thus kept from attending the last rites expressed their love and esteem for David and the members of his family in offerings of beautiful flowers.

David Allison was born at Boyd, Texas, March 14, 1904. He graduated from Clarendon High School. Later, he attended Howard Payne College at Brownwood for two years and West Texas State Teachers' College, Canyon, for one term. He was popular in both colleges, as he was in High School, being possessed of both ability and character. After leaving college, he was associated with J. H. Morris and Company, Cotton Merchants, for a time. At the time of his death, he was with the Hemminger Grocery Store, having worked there several months. He was a member of the Baptist Church.

Surviving David and Tom are their mother, one sister, Miss Naomi Allison, and two brothers, Clifford and Glenn. Their father died about two years ago.

W. T. CLIFFORD DIED AT FT. WORTH, SATURDAY, 6TH

Mr. W. T. Clifford, a resident of Clarendon since 1909 and one of the most popular citizens of the town, died Saturday night, in a Ft. Worth sanitarium. He was buried in Crowley, Monday afternoon, August the eighth, following a funeral service at the First Presbyterian Church of Crowley. Rev. Cluster Q. Smith, a Methodist minister of Ft. Worth, and Reverend Collier, pastor of the Presbyterian Church of Crowley and an old friend of the Clifford family, were in charge of the last rites. Many beautiful flowers were sent by friends in Clarendon, Crowley and other towns in which the deceased had lived.

William Thomas Clifford was born in Tarrant County, Texas, February 3, 1862. He became a member of the Methodist Church when he was a boy and he took an active part in the work of the church throughout his life. He was a member of the Woodmen of the World Lodge. Mr. Clifford and Miss Flora Evans were married in Tarrant County, December 4, 1884. To their union were born seven children, six of whom survive their father.

During most of the active years of his life, Mr. Clifford was engaged in farming. However, after coming to Clarendon from Terry County, he was a merchant for a number of years and was a partner in the old Clarendon Mercantile Company. He retired several years ago. It will be remembered that Mr. Clifford often held the elections in this County. His death followed an illness of eleven weeks, ten of which were spent in the Ft. Worth hospital. While there he underwent two operations.

Those who survive the deceased are: his wife; three daughters, Mrs. Harry Copeland of Ropesville, Mrs. H. E. Spiler of Childress, and Miss Lelia Clifford of Clarendon; three sons, Walter of Clarendon, George of Houston and Will of Amarillo.

INFANT SON OF MR. AND MRS. JOHN CLEMMONS BURIED HERE

Little Bonnie Lee Clemmons, ten months old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Clemmons of Alareed, was buried in the Citizens Cemetery of this city Saturday morning. A minister of Alareed had charge of the funeral services, which were held at the cemetery.

The baby died at the home near Alareed, Friday afternoon, after being sick only five days. He was born in Clarendon, his parents having lived near this city for a number of years. Mrs. Clemmons is a niece of Mrs. G. J. Teel. A large number of friends from Alareed and this city attended the last rites, and there were many beautiful floral offerings.

MISS NORA HEADRICK, PROMINENT CITIZEN, DIED SUNDAY

The entire citizenship of Clarendon was shocked and grieved to learn of the sudden death of Miss Nora Headrick, prominent club woman who was found dead Sunday morning. The only illness which preceded her death was a violent headache of which she complained Saturday evening, and it is thought that she died in her sleep. Funeral services were held at the First Methodist Church, Monday afternoon, and were attended by many friends and acquaintances. Beautiful floral offerings in profusion further attested to the love and esteem in which Miss Headrick and her family were held by the people of this and other cities in which they have lived. Rev. A. L. Moore, pastor of the Methodist Church, conducted the last rites. Interment was made in the Citizens Cemetery.

In the death of Miss Nora Headrick, Clarendon suffers the loss of one of her most valuable citizens. Miss Headrick's broad knowledge, her varied interests, and her social graces made her a valuable member in church, lodge, and club activities. She became a member of the Methodist Church when she was a child, and throughout the remainder of her life she devoted much thought and effort to the work of the church and the Sunday School. She was a member of the Order of Eastern Star, and in this, too, she was devoted worker. She was a Past Worthy Matron, and at the time of her death she was Esther, among the points of the Star. Miss Headrick was one of the most prominent and influential club women of the city. She had been a member of the Pathfinder Club for many years and was president of the Club at one time. She was one of the founders of Les Beaux Arts, a club which has added much to the cultural life of Clarendon during the past year.

Lenora Louisa Headrick, the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Headrick, was born in Varnell, Georgia, September 24, 1875. When she was a small child the family moved to Texas. Miss Headrick attended high school and college in Denton. She taught school in Stratford and Seymour for a number of years, and after coming to Clarendon in 1911, she acted as librarian for Clarendon College for a number of years. For the past several years she has given the greater part of her time to caring for her mother and father. With other members of her family, she has lived in various towns of West Texas, and in each of these she left many friends.

Surviving Miss Headrick are her parents; four sisters, Mrs. W. Drummond of Mission, Mrs. C. Foster of Stratford, Miss Ineva Headrick and Miss Orville Headrick of Amarillo; three brothers, C. N. in the Headrick home, Misses Mary Headrick of Amarillo, W. M. Headrick of Dallas, and J. H. Headrick of this city; and two nieces who lived in the Headrick home, Misses Mary Katherine and Dorothy Headrick.

1926 BOOK CLUB WILL NOT MEET NEXT WEEK

No meeting of the 1926 Book Club will be held at the regular date, Tuesday, August 16th, according to an announcement from the president, Miss Willette Cole. This change in the regular program of the Club is occasioned by the suggestion of City and County Health Officers that no large gatherings be held within the next few days. The date of the next meeting of the Club will be announced later.

DONLEY VOTES AGAINST ALL AMENDMENTS

Donley County, like most other counties of the State, was decidedly 'agin' the constitutional amendments in the election of August 1st. While the election was held at every box in the County, the ballots cast were comparatively few, there being only 703 cast in the entire County. The Hedley box polled the most representative vote, with 167 votes cast from a voting strength of about 350.

Votes cast on the individual amendments were as follows: For Reforming the Judiciary, 57 for and 641 against; For Raising the Governor's Salary and Fixing Salaries for County Officers, 46 for and 643 against; For Changing the Taxation System, 34 for and 665 against; For Abolishing the Fee System, 53 for and 642 against.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Hard of Ft. Worth are guests of Mrs. Hard's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Owens.

EXHIBIT OF PRINTING TO BE SHOWN PAPER HOUSES

A few weeks past, the News job printing department completed a two color job of printing for the Chamber of Commerce, printed on both sides, advertising Clarendon and Donley County. Dick Willetts of the Southwestern Paper Company of Amarillo was in the office a short time after they were finished and took 100 of them to be sent to the various branches of the company to show them what could be done on paper furnished by them in a small and well equipped shop. The sample taken was small part of 10,000 complete folders printed on both sides in two colors. Others of this job can be secured in the office of the Chamber of Commerce.

THREE QUARTER INCH RAIN BRINGS SMILES TO EVERYONE

Following closely on the wake of the rains of a little more than a week past, a rain fell Monday evening of this week that will bring the precipitation to more than four inches in the past two weeks. Reports received Tuesday morning indicated that the fall was general and that it was more in other parts of the county than in the immediate vicinity of the city. The rainfall was especially hard in the northern part of the county and will insure the ground for the wheat planting this fall. Other parts of the county report that they have sufficient rainfall to insure them a crop. Precipitation reported was .65 inch.

THRALL FARMER IN 13 YEARS PAYS $16,000 FOR FARM; LOANS $18,000

(By Victor H. Schaffelmayer, Agricultural Editor of the Semi-Weekly Farm News.)

Never coming to town except when he has something to sell, never buying any feed for his live stock or food for his family which can be grown on his farm, attending to his farming operations like a business man looks after his business, has enabled Emil J. Kautz, Williamson County farmer, to pay off a $16,000 debt on his farm in thirteen years, besides investing some $18,000 in loans. That is pretty good for a farm of 95 1-2 acres of loamy black bottom land near Thrall.

Mr. Kautz belongs to that class of farmers who waste nothing. All the manure from the barns and chicken yard, all the straw on the place, are made to give account of themselves in Mr. Kautz' plan of farming. He frequently hauls stable manure from Taylor to his home and gets it for the hauling. He knows that to make land produce profitably it must be fed in proportion to crop needs.

The distinguishing characteristics of Mr. Kautz probably is his inventive genius. He all his life has experimented not only in crop production methods, but in mechanical appliances on the farm. One of his inventions is a homemade device for mulching the cotton rows after cultivation, which he declares will keep moisture in the ground longer than perhaps any other device he has had experience with. Having lived all his life in a region of sometimes uncertain rainfall where it was necessary to conserve the moisture which happened to come at a particular time, he devised a method which would insure him a crop when others had failures.

One Half Feed and Food
"Always I plant about one-half of my farm in feed and food crops," said Mr. Kautz to the writer. "If I do that I don't have to worry about what the price of my cotton is going to be. I never could understand the farmer who raises cotton only and thinks he can get by. It just can't be done."

"The farmer who can not make a living in Texas has not learned how to manage his farm. We have always made a good living and money besides. We keep cows, hogs, a few sheep at times, a good flock of chickens and enough horses and mules to do all of our work on schedule. By watching the work we do not get behind."

"My two boys take an interest in farming and when they come home from school in Taylor every day they want to help me feed the stock, or work in the garden or do odd jobs. I can hardly keep them from cutting the oats or cultivation of something they are so wrapped up in our farm."

Of the 198 acres which compose Mr. Kautz's new farm at the edge of the city of Taylor (with thirty acres inside the city limits) only eighty acres are in cotton. There are thirty acres of oats, ten acres of redtop sorghum, six acres of Johnson grass meadow, thirty acres of pasture, two acres of Irish cobbler potatoes, one acre of garden and one acre of family orchard.

Mr. Kautz took this farm after Jan. 1, 1927, and another year will lay out the crops differently, as he inherited some crops from his predecessor. The present Kautz place lies high above Taylor and from his front porch and yard he can look down into the town. The view at night is especially fine, with the lights twinkling through the trees.

Two Years of Feedstuffs
With much pride Mr. Kautz made the writer climb up into his hay loft and look at his two years' supply of redtop sorghum hay and Sedan grass and German millet mixed hay which he had brought with him from the former home near Thrall. The hay was exceptionally clean and bright and is being fed to a herd of Jersey cows and work stock.

There were bins full of corn, enough to last a whole season. Kautz should fail this year, which is not likely, as the season in Williamson County is one of the best in years. There was a large quantity of feterita, darco and milo maize heads which were raised on the other farm and which will supplement the corn.

Some of the other items to be listed on the Kautz farm are:
Four Jersey cows, which produce a quantity of cream delivered to a Taylor creamery station; a small herd of Duroc-Jersey hogs and some Poland Chinas, four horses and five mules, a flock of 200 Brown Leghorn hens and Barred Rocks, which have been laying all winter with eggs selling as high as 50c and as low as 20c a dozen.

One year when nobody had any eggs to sell over at Thrall Mr. Kautz got 60c a dozen. He managed to have eggs because he had plenty of feed.

"My hens pick up the waste when we feed our horses and mules the millet. Millet is one of the best egg laying feeds I know of," said Mr. Kautz. "It pays to have chickens around when you feed live stock, or there will be a lot of waste."

Mr. Kautz stated that a mixture of Sudan grass and German millet of eight acres made wonderful pasture for fourteen head of cattle and that it grew six to seven feet tall and moved twice after pasturing.

High Yield of Cotton
Mr. Kautz has been in the News More Cotton on Fewer Acres contest for the last three years and again is in the contest this season. Last season he made two bales an acre on contest land and won the Central prize of $300 and the Taylor Chamber of Commerce prize of $150.

He plants quality cotton, usually Bennett, but this year has Lone Star on his five acres and on the rest of his farm.

"Oh, yes, I fertilize, but I think the best fertilizer for the black land is barnyard manure, which I save," said Mr. Kautz. "I hauled out seventy-five loads of manure which had accumulated in the barn on my present farm and put it all on the five acres I have entered in The News cotton contest."

The writer inspected this five acres and found it to be on a high ridge. The soil is quite chalky, but has been enriched with the fertilizer and is holding moisture splendidly.

Mr. Kautz was one of the first farmers in Williamson County to use commercial fertilizers and has found nitrate of soda and phosphoric acid to be profitable, especially in seasons of sufficient rainfall.

There are two sons, one 13 and another 15, in the family and three small daughters. Mrs. Kautz has a pantry full of canned vegetables and fruits off the farm. New potatoes, beans and peas out of the garden were served on the table during the writer's visit. The Kautzes live well because they manage well. They do not have to sell their cotton until the price suits them. That is the only system for them. First a "living at home," after that cotton a surplus cash crop.

It is stated that no less than 50 new attractions and features have been added to the program of the State Fair of Texas for next October's show. The new directors want to make the event "bigger and better" in every way.

The largest number of Texas counties to qualify in the $10,000 County Development Contest of the State Fair of Texas has been 45. But this year, it is announced that number will be increased to 60.

Boys and Girls Calf Clubs are being organized in all part of Texas to complete for the prizes offered for this interesting line of work by the State Fair of Texas. Jerseys and Holsteins are being featured.

Poultry men say that the exhibit to be made in that department at the State Fair of Texas, Oct. 8 to 23, will be the largest and the best ever held in the southwest. Texas is fast becoming the leading poultry state in the union.

The three largest herds of purebred Jersey cattle in America are owned in Texas. The best animals in each herd will be shown at the State Fair of Texas, Oct. 8 to 23. Many of the famous Oklahoma herds will show, also.

RESPONSIBILITY UP TO STAGE AND PRESS
There is a wholesome public awakening regarding the destructive effect on the public morals of degeneracy on the stage, in books and in the press.

Those responsible for degrading plays, obscene books and stories of crime, take shelter behind the excuse that they "have to give the people what they want."

Such statements as well as the practices complained of, offend against decency. No thoughtful parent wants the literary sewage of the stage or press to empty into his home.

Those who exercise their own narrow sphere the authority to determine "what the people want," in many instances fail to discriminate between that which is instructive, purifying and refining and that which degrades.

Whether the remedy be vigilant and unrelaxed stage and press censorship, or education of the young to avoid such plays and publications as they would avoid a poisonous reptile or plant, is an open question.

Increasing crime unites with relaxing morality to emphasize the social danger.

The stage and the press are alike powerful in molding the young mind to discriminate as between wholesome and unwholesome moral standards. Possessing this power, society has an unquestionable right in conserving public welfare to demand and command that its influence shall be exerted, not to debauch and destroy, but to purify and sustain; not to induce moral decadence, but to animate and buttress social righteousness.—The Manufacturer.

A Success Talk For Boys—

Does It Pay To Start "Taking A Drink"?

MY DEAR BOY:—

For sometime I have thought that I'd like for you to have a little talk—a little friendly, brotherly talk—about whether it pays to start "taking a drink."

It ought not to be necessary for anybody anywhere in America to talk on this subject either to boys or men, but unfortunately it is. We have our prohibition law, but we also have men who violate that law and from whom one can get whiskey. Consequently, I know that sometime or other you are going to find yourself face to face with the big question I now wish to discuss with you—the question as to whether you will or will not keep absolutely free from liquor.

Now I am not going to lecture you, and I am not going to say a word about drinking being an "awful sin" or anything of the sort. We are just going to talk about it as a business matter and find out whether it pays. That's all.

Now my conviction from a good deal of observation and study is that it does not pay to start drinking. I tell you the reason why. If you're drinking were simply a boyish prank I shouldn't have a thing to say about it, because I know that while you may play rough practical jokes and may take dare-devil risks now and then, that's just the way in you, and you are going to come out all right.

What I want to say about this drinking business, however, is that it is a very different matter from these pranks and feats and jokes in which a boy may naturally and healthfully "let off steam." They may not leave you any worse, but drinking and immorality will.

A great danger is that if you begin drinking at all, you can't keep from drinking immoderately. You are young yet, but you have seen enough to know that "I am abstain," said old Samuel Johnson, "but I can't be temperate." Start drinking at all and there are all kinds of chances that you will wind up as a common, bloated, worthless drunkard—the sort of man, as Uncle Remus says, who is "not fitten to stop a gully with."

But what I should especially like for you to remember is that even if you should be able to drink moderately, you will not live as long, you will not be so healthy, nor will you be so happy, as you will be if you don't drink at all.

In other words, no matter whether drinking is a sin or not, you want to live out a good long life, and you want a healthy body, a steady nerve, and a clear brain; and you can't expect these if you drink even moderately.

Take the matter of length of life. The life insurance companies have been keeping careful records of thousands and thousands of men (beginning away back years and years before you were born) to find out just how drinking affects a man's health and length of life. It concerns their business, you know. Well, when they began these records, they started out with the idea that a man was actually helped by using some whiskey—that was the belief a long time ago—and it was on this theory in England some sixty years ago that they tried to make a man named Robert Warren pay a higher premium, a higher rate per year on his life insurance, just because he was a teetotaler. So Warren started a society which has kept track of thousands and thousands of English insurance cases for over forty years; and what do you suppose the results show? They show that the death rate is over a third higher for moderate drinkers than for total abstainers.

In other words, in any given year, four men die among the drinkers for every three who die among the equal number of abstainers. Of 100 drinkers that the life insurance companies count on as probable deaths in a year, 94 of the 100 come right up to the scratch and die—only 6 per cent disappear as probabilities by living on. But of every 100 expected deaths in a year among people who don't drink at all, only 71 of the teetotalers actually die while 29 keep on living. Seventy-one deaths among abstainers to ninety-four among drinkers! That's the record.

Again, it has been proved that of every 100 persons thirty years old who drink, only 44 of the 100 will live to be seventy; but if you take 100 thirty year old persons who don't drink, 55 of the 100 will live to be seventy.

Isn't it worth something to you (even if drinking paid in other ways, as it doesn't) to have a 25 per cent better chance to live out your "three score years and ten"? And the records show that you have this 25 per cent better chance by not drinking.

These figures are based on English experience, but the figures for America sound the same sort of warning. In a public address some time ago I heard Capt. Richmond Pearson Hobson, the famous Spanish-American War hero, give the results of our American statistics. Among other things he pointed out that if you don't drink, the prospect of life when you are twenty years old is for forty-four more years of living, while the average drinking man aged twenty may expect only thirty-one years more of life. This shows that drinking reduces the average "expectancy of life" by thirteen years besides making even the shortened life more miserable and less useful than it would otherwise have been.

Or take the evidence of Mr. Edward A. Wood, a practical insurance manager, of Pittsburgh, Pa., who some years ago summarized

NEWS RECEIVES LETTER FROM REV. INGRAM IN CALIFORNIA

The following letter will be of interest to readers of the News who are well acquainted with Rev. C. B. Ingram and his family. Rev. Ingram has been in California with children in that state for the past month and states that he is doing very nicely. The letter follows: 9739 Dearborn Ave., Los Angeles, California. Editor Clarendon News.

We are in Home Gardens, you might think just a garden spot if you were to see it. You would see a lot of streets that cackle with a lot of lots are 30 feet by 140 and vary in size. You find stores scattered along and filling stations stand by the way, some of the places have wagon sheets up with an attendant selling melons and fruits besides the trucks that cackle with something to eat. I have been at fixing lawns all July, missing four days and this is the 3rd of August. Just bought 20 oranges for 25 cents and borrowed the money for a lady to pay for them. Have all fruits at my command when I come in at night.

Now your readers might say "Brother Ingram, you are too old to work." Yes, but did I not tell you about 39 or 40 years past that I asked the good Lord to get me up from a bed of affliction, and let me bless my wife and children and go and bless others, so I got up and am still at my job but my old delicate frame can hardly go but I am making a hand at work.

I fell in line with some contractors and their men and they all curse. I asked some of them where they got their diplomas.

I go to preaching, have heard the Rev. Bob Shuler, he is one of the fearless preachers of the times. His sermons are broadcast over the radio.

I have preached some, but not like I did over the hills, plains and roughs at Clarendon. I may wear my life out at work doing all I could to help the sinful world to a better life. Brother Griswold, you can report 7 professions and renewals on district and be sure and get $100 for Mission work and part supply, for I got only a few dollars before I left.

W. T. Hayter and wife are visiting in the home of Cleveland Hayter, W. T. Hayter's brother. Cleveland lives in Lynwood, a mile and one half from Home Gardens. Miss Zola Mae Logan and her friend, both from Lubbock are with them. The Hayter's and a few others and Roy and Miss Jessie Ingram went picnicking to Palm Beach a few days ago. The guest and the family of the scribe visited in the Cleveland Hayter home a few days past. Much luck to the Editor and the force.

C. B. INGRAM.

Texas is free from interruptions in fuel supplies to an extent that no other state enjoys. This is due to its fuel oil, natural gas and lignite that requires little maintenance.

Statistics about the men who have such diseased bodies, weakened nerves, etc., that they can't get life insurance at all. The figures show, he reported, that of the men rejected by insurance companies as "dangerous risks," 40 per cent—nearly half—are "for causes connected with alcohol."

There is one more very important reason why I hope you will not drink. That is because it is against the law. We need to develop and encourage among all our people more serious regard and respect for law.

Every man in this country before he casts a ballot takes an oath that he will obey, observe, and maintain the laws of his state and nation. To a man of conscience, that oath is sacred. He may wish the law were different, and he may even use every ounce of his influence to get the law changed. That is a privilege every American citizen possesses. Nevertheless, so long as it is the law, he is in honor bound to observe it.

Many a straight, clean, worthy boy has thought, "Oh, well, I can have a little sport by taking a drink illegally, but it will stop right there"—and the next scene has found him in a court-room polluting his very soul by swearing to a lie in order to "protect" the lawbreakers with whom he had dealings. And the same boy perhaps finds himself tied on and on until he becomes one of a desperate gang that goes the way of drunkenness, fighting, and robbery itself, down to the very doors of a prison-house. I shudder and shrink from even using these words in talking to as fine a boy as you are today. Still I am only showing you what many a once noble lad has found at the end of this road.

My purpose is to beg you not to start on that road at all. The boy who shuns its beginning will never have cause to shudder at its ending.

There's no use for me to discuss this subject further with you. The whole story is that I want you and every other boy to live out a long, healthy, happy life; and I want you to be a success as a farmer or a business man or a professional man, whichever you become, and I know the chances are against your having either a long life or a successful life if you drink. You want to stay in the class of sober, healthy, successful young men.

Of course, it will take some spunk to keep you in this class sometimes. You may get caught in a fix now and then when other boys are drinking and beg you to drink and it will take more genuine spunk for you to be man enough to say "No" than it takes to ride a bucking horse or swim a raging river. But if you will make up your mind, dead sure, that you are going to "stick to your stickums" and shake hands with me on the proposition, I am sure I can trust you to show a real man's spunk and moral courage—the highest sort of courage—when you need it.

Sincerely your friend,

AUTOMOBILE BUILDING AND EXHIBIT HALL PLAN NEW FREE FEATURES

Dallas, Texas—(Special)—Confronted with the fact that the attractions at the State Fair of Texas, October 8 to 23, are to be so many and varied, the exhibitors in the Automobile Building and in the Exhibit Hall, where the commercial displays are shown, have suddenly sprung into action and have organized to make their two buildings so attractive that each will get its share of the million people expected to attend the fair, regardless of the pulling power of the other shows, exhibits and entertainments.

The result of this will be a series of displays, entertainments and attractions in those two buildings which will make each one of them a fair in itself. The automobile men have planned several startling stunts devised to draw the crowds, while the commercial exhibitors claim to have up their sleeves a surprise attraction which will make their building the most popular on the grounds.

All this means more entertainment for the man who enters the gates. His only difficulty will be to find the time to see all that there is to be seen. There is no longer any doubt in the minds of anyone familiar with the situation that the 1927 State Fair is to be the greatest and the best ever held. There will be better agricultural exhibits, there will be the largest and most complete livestock show ever held in the Southwest, there will be shows and entertainments galore, and now even the exhibitors are coming to the front with plans to make a good show still better.

FIVE FAST RUNNING HORSE RACES EVERY DAY EXCEPT SUNDAY

"When you come to the State Fair in October," says Otto Herold, director in charge of the Horse Department of that great show window of Texas, "if it is horse racing you like you will have your fill this year."

"There will be five fast-running races every day except Sundays. There will be whippet races every day and evening, and whippet or greyhound races are new to Texas. There will be one of the best horse shows ever produced here, with famous exhibitors from all over America. There will be polo games between fast teams from Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas cities."

Free "Ringside Seats" "And if you don't feel like taking a seat in the grandstand, you can drive your car up to the rail around the new three-quarter mile track and watch the races while seated in your own auto. If you are in the grandstand, however, you will get a clear view of the whippet races and will see the Hippodrome show, on which we will spend many thousands of dollars for your entertainment."

"There will be 10 big-time acts, all of them new to Texas. And there will be day and night fireworks, a famous band with several fine singers, plenty of clowns and everything the directors could think of to send you back home more than satisfied and with a feeling that the amusements at the State Fair were better than you had ever seen anywhere."

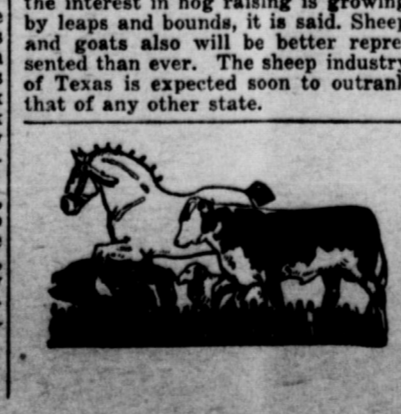

STYLES IN CATTLE CHANGE LIKE WOMENS' CLOTHES

Dallas, Tex.—(Special)—"Styles in cattle change, just as surely as do the styles in women's clothes—the old-fashioned, so suddenly," says Henry C. Barlow, superintendent of the Shorthorn Division of the cattle show at the State Fair of Texas.

"Can you remember the old-fashioned kind, that paraded the tanbark at the State Fair, 40 years ago? They were called 'Durhams' then—a long-legged, long-necked, uneven-bodied animal. But he was a vast advance upon the old Longhorn, and he filled the bill for his time and age."

"What a difference today! You modern Shorthorn is a short-legged, deep-bodied, even-fleshed beast, which matures in half the time of the older kinds and this with no sacrifice of milking qualities—the ideal 'farmers cow.'"

Shorthorns, Jerseys and all other preferred breeds of beef and dairy cattle will be shown at the State Fair, October 8 to 23. It is claimed that the Jersey show alone will be the largest ever held in the United States. Famous breeders from all over the country will show the most famous animals of their kind of all of them. The swine show will out-top anything ever held at the State Fair, as the interest in hog raising is growing by leaps and bounds, it is said. Sheep and goats also will be better represented than ever. The sheep industry of Texas is expected soon to outrank that of any other state.

IS THE FLOGGER COMING BACK

A few years ago, when there was scarcely an issue of the daily papers that did not contain a report of someone's being taken out to a creek bottom somewhere and given a lashing, the public was solemnly assured that the floggers were righteous individuals, the "best folks" of the community, actuated by the highest motives. The persons who were flogged, the public was also told, were altogether undesirable, and were always deserving of the punishment they received.

Now that the flogging business is coming back into vogue, we may expect to hear the same sort of drivel, in its defense.

Assuming that it's all true; assuming that the floggers are always "substantial citizens," seeking to raise the moral tone of their communities; assuming, also, that their victims are always guilty of everything they are unofficially charged with; and we are still just as far away as ever from even the semblance of justification of such barbarity.

It is better for a community to be literally overrun with individuals of the type we are told is represented by those flogged, than for such lawless and cowardly methods to be adopted in getting rid of them. The "best citizens" have the remedy in their hands; it may take a little courage to use it, but good citizenship may be presumed to possess courage. The way through the courts may be slower, but it is the only way that one may take if he civilization is his guide. It may be less heroic than the wielding of a lash by a masked man in a deserted pasture, but it is productive, in the long run or less evil.

Men who conduct these flogging parties are essentially cowardly. They have no strength that is not based on numbers, darkness and brutality.

Leaving out of consideration, altogether, the feelings and the rights of the victims, and assuming, for the sake of argument, that every individual flogged was richly deserving of such treatment, we find that the persons who conduct floggings have wrought evil that is far greater than the ones they undertake, in their assumed righteousness, to correct. You cannot attain justice by lawlessness. You cannot attain citizenship through organized cowardice. You cannot attain civilization by barbarity. You cannot attain civic morality by dropping to the level of the immoral.

We hope that if the flogging crew makes its appearance in Wichita County, it will be met with such official energy and sternness that will point the way to lasting relief from such things.—Wichita Falls Daily Times.

The principal dairy cattle breeders associations will have experts in booths in the dairy products sections of the State Fair of Texas, to answer all questions as to the relative merits of the indifferent breeds.

WARNING AGAINST INFANTILE PARALYSIS

In view of the fact that infantile paralysis is prevalent in certain sections of New Mexico, and that it is also reported in a few scattered sections of this state, Dr. J. C. Anderson, state health officer, has issued the following information and advice in regard to safeguards against this disease:

"Infantile paralysis is generally considered a disease of childhood," Dr. Anderson stated, "but it is possible for grownups to contract it. How it is spread is not definitely known, but probably in various ways. It is an acute, communicable disease, and has a tendency to appear every few years in epidemic form, but may be in endemic form at all times.

"The proper name of this disease is Anterior Poliomyelitis, and as the diphtheria germ chooses the tonsils and throat upon which to grow, the germ causing infantile paralysis, chooses the anterior horns of the gray substance of the spinal column, and partially or completely destroys the nerves at their origin, causing paralysis.

"Do not carry your children into sections where infantile paralysis is known to exist.

"If this disease breaks out in the section where you live, it is not best to try to run away from it, but keep your children at home, away from public places of all kinds. To not allow them to play with other children at this time would be a good rule. Let them play in the sunshine in their own yards.

"Include plenty of vegetables and milk of a safe quality in your children's diet, in order to build up their resistance to disease germs.

"Wash well all food that is eaten raw, and do not allow any food to be exposed to flies.

"Observe the rules of cleanliness in every form.

"The early symptoms of this disease are usually fever, weakness, irritability and vomiting. If your child develops any of these symptoms, call your family physician at once."

WHAT'S DOING IN WEST TEXAS

West Texas Chamber of Commerce

Abilene—The West Texas Chamber of Commerce and the Texas Conservation Association have issued a call for representatives from all sections of the state to gather at this place August 18 to discuss the question of water rights. The question at issue is: Shall power companies control the streams of Texas, or shall water rights be preserved by the people. Many business men and farmers of West Texas are expected to attend the meeting.

Tatum, N. M.—The local postoffice is undergoing a series of improvements, including painting of the building.

Goree—Forty-two cars of maize in the head have been shipped out of the Goree Grain Elevator, and during the past two weeks, 11 cars of threshed grain have been sent out. De Leon—Work is under way on the New Lester Hotel here. The building is to consist of 27 rooms, a spacious lobby and dining room, modern fixtures, and plate glass front.

Seymour—Representatives of all surrounding counties near this point are cooperating in a move for promotion of an irrigation project in this section. A preliminary survey of a canal shows that water could be impounded to irrigate between two and five hundred thousand acres. Goldwater—Dean O. Crawford has taken over secretaryship of the Mills County Chamber of Commerce and plans to start out with a live wire membership campaign.

Estelline—The Estelline Chamber of Commerce, the Childress County Commissioners, and the Childress Chamber of Commerce have cooperated in a movement to secure a good road and daily rural mail service for a district in the southwestern part of Childress County.

Ozona—T. A. Kincaid of this city is head of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Association for the fourth time, having been elected to this place at the twelfth annual convention of the association held in Kerrville recently. San Angelo won the 1928 meet.

Wellington—Delegates from some forty towns of north Texas will convene here the latter part of this month at the Panhandle-North Plains District Convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. Menard—Menard's new $100,000 hotel will be under construction here at an early date, following acceptance of plans and specifications. The building is to be four stories fireproof and of the latest design and structure.

San Saba—The annual Hills County Chamber of Commerce is scheduled to be held here on September 22. Llano was last year's host. Mineral Wells—Work on the Baker Hotel here is progressing nicely. Under the new plans for the structure, there are to be twelve stories with 28 rooms to the floor, making a total of 336 rooms with a roof garden in addition. A swimming pool is to be on the east side of the hotel.

Childress—Childress's new city hall is to be opened at an early date. It will house the city officials, fire department, and board of city development.

PRIZE WINNER WRITES LETTER

DONLEY COUNTY DELEGATE TO COLLEGE STATION TELLS OF TRIP BY LETTER

The following letter was written to the News by Miss Lavera Poovey of the Ashton community and is a story of the trip recently completed to College Station for the Short Course held there under the direction of the A. & M. College of Texas. The letter follows:

After returning from the Short Course at A. & M. College I thought perhaps that it would be of some interest to the club girls and the Chamber of Commerce who paid my expenses and made it possible for me to attend, to have an outline of my trip and I know of no better way of reaching all than to write to the News.

On July 23 Miss Key, Mrs. Estlack and I left Clarendon, traveled all night and had breakfast in Dallas next morning. Stayed there one and one-half hours then left for A. & M. on the train where there were lots of club members. We sang several songs and Mrs. Smith, an ex-Home Demonstrator of Dallas led prayer and gave us a nice talk on the Sunday School lesson.

We reached College Station and registered for rooms at 4:40 p. m. After resting a short time we had supper and were invited to preaching.

I had four roommates and Monday morning we stayed in our room till we got instruction as to what to do. We were organized into groups, which I would have been glad to hear. Miss Hall was our chaperone and we were in Goodwell Hall.

We marched to breakfast. After breakfast we marched to Guion Hall for a joint meeting of the boys and girls where we sang a number of songs and gave 15 cheers for the Short Course.

We organized and elected a Pres. and Sec. I entered the clothing contest and devoted quite a bit of time to it, so missed several lectures which I would have been glad to hear. Miss Bess Edwards gave us a lecture on music in the home. Dr. Whitacre lectured on Educating the Appetite. Dr. W. Lee Austin on Two Feet of Happiness. Mrs. Elizabeth Temple lectured on Pay it with Pullets. Miss Susan Landon lectured on Farm and Home Life in Denmark, illustrated by moving pictures. W. H. Thomas lectured on Books, a Wholesome Recreation. Miss Alta Smith lectured on What Our Groups can do. Miss Ella Bandolin lectured on Personal Hygiene. Mrs. L. P. Chamberlain talked on How to Enjoy Pictures. R. E. Watson talked on Making Old Fabrics New, and showed us how to dye. Mrs. E. B. Beckham talked on Electricity. Miss Helen Swift told us How to Entertain. All these talks and lectures I enjoyed and each night I went to an educational show, except two and one of them the Clothing Contest. Girls put on a program. The other was the night the prizes were awarded.

I entered the Clothing Contest and tried to bring back first prize to Donley County but there were 27 different girls in the same prize and I failed but I am glad to say I brought back third, an article which was a silver pencil. Donley County only had three representatives this year at the Short Course but next year we hope that we can have many more.

It was certainly an enjoyable week for me. I came back to Dallas and spent three days with my relatives in Dallas County, and arrived home at 2:15 p. m. August 2.

I want to thank the Chamber of Commerce, Miss Eula Key, and all others that in any way helped to make the trip possible for me.

Respectfully,
 LAVERA POOVEY

SECRETARIAL SCREENINGS

CLARENDON CHAMBER OF COMMERCE
 G. L. BOYKIN, Secretary

There are now 13 entries in the yard beautiful contest. One entrant has expressed the opinion that he will withdraw unless another enters and yet firmly avows that he is not superstitious. August the 15th is the last date on which entries will be taken as the yards will be judged early in September. We should not only raise the number from 13 and retain the above mentioned entrant but we should have about 15 more to enter. The prizes will be put on exhibit in a down town window at an early date. Get your names in before the 15th.

The Donley County Fair will be held the 14th and 15th of October. Premium lists will be out next week. Remember there will be a poultry show in connection this year. An agricultural fair is one of the very best ways to advertise this county to the world, as well as to some of our own people who are always surprised to note what can be produced here. This is a good time to prove to the world that we can produce, with as small amount of moisture as any land, a good crop.

The Chamber of Commerce and Clarendon citizens certainly indorse the attitude taken by the Donley County Commissioners Court in regard to voting on the paving of Donley County highways. We want improved highways but first, we want them routed so they will serve the people.

Donley County should have more pure bred dairy bulls to use on its dairy stock. A Texas Jersey Cattle Club expert estimates that one pure bred sire will be worth $24,000 to a community within a generation. The increase milk production from the use of such animals is the main item.

Clarendon continues to build and grow. One or more business structures has been under construction here for the past year not to mention the many new homes going up. Lets keep up the spirit, local interest and capital is what builds a town.

Roy Beights of Denver, Colorado visited friends in this city Monday. He will be remembered as a popular ex-student of Clarendon College. Since his graduation from the local school, he has won an enviable reputation as a singer and teacher.

BULLETIN

Inasmuch as we have one active case of Poleomyelitis, or Infantile Paralysis in town, we feel that the public should be informed concerning the precautions recommended by Public Health authorities in the presence of this disease.

Poleomyelitis is contagious, and is spread by the secretions of the nose and throat and the excreta from the body of a patient or carrier

The public may help in preventing the spread of this disease by avoiding all crowds on the streets; remaining away from picture shows, public dances or gatherings, and all church services, or all services at the churches.

The City Health Department requests that all assemblages be suspended until the danger of the spread of this disease is past.

At the present time there is no known vaccine or serum that is of any value in preventing this disease.
