City And School Elections Are Each Held This Week

CHASE AND SIMS ARE RE-ELECTED

UNANIMOUS VOTE RETURNS COMMISSIONERS TO OFFICE FOR COMING TERM

The City election held Tuesday of this week polled a comparatively small vote, but all voters centered their actions on returning the present commissioners to their offices. A total of 78 votes were polled, seventy-six of this number were counted and two were mutilated and had to be thrown out for that reason.

Out of the votes polled, there was one vote cast for another man, and he has asked the News to state that insofar as he was concerned that the election was unanimous for the two candidates who were in the running.

The city administration has taken on wonderful strides in the past few years under the capable management and control of the present Mayor and commissioners. As controller of the water situation, Commissioner Chase has increased the water supply and has made it possible that the city insurance rate could be cut. The examination by the State Department of Insurance has not been held to this time, but will be forthcoming in the next few weeks, since all things are ready for the inspector.

Commissioner Sims has had the management and supervision of the streets and sewers and has put the streets of the city in as good condition as the finances available would permit. Recent improvements in the City Hall to convert that building into a home for the city offices and for their allied interests has gained noteworthy praise from all those who have been interested to a sufficient extent to visit the place of business.

The votes cast Tuesday were in the order of a vote of confidence placed on these men and the work they have done. They have the affairs of the city well in hand and the coming two years will see the city placed on a sounder basis than many other towns in Texas with twice the population and a much greater valuation and higher tax rates.

VICE PRESIDENT OF INSURANCE COMPANY HERE

Henry Camp Harris, Vice President and Agency Director of the National Security Insurance Company of Wichita Falls, was in Clarendon Tuesday of this week looking after interests of his company here. Mr. Harris met with his agents here and made arrangements for his company to be represented over the Panhandle. Details of the arrangement for agencies were not made public.

SPLENDID GROUP IN DAIRY CROWD

CARAVAN LEAVES EARLY THIS MORNING FOR PLAINVIEW SHOW

One of the best delegations that has ever attended a show of any nature left Clarendon this morning shortly after seven o'clock for Plainview, where they will attend the Panhandle-Plains Dairy Show today and tomorrow. Interest has been at high pitch for the past week over this event and constant calls on the office of the Chamber of Commerce necessitated more cars to take the farmers and business men to the show from Donley County.

Late Wednesday afternoon more than thirty had signified their intention of making the trip and more than this number left the city this morning. A few business men of the city were left at home due to the fact that transportation was not available, but practically all of them were able to make the trip.

Today is especially interesting to the Donley County farmer since the sale of registered stock is to be held and a number of the local men are interested in securing stock to better their present herds. It is thought that a number of high grade cows will be returned to Donley County after the sale has been completed. The men will return to their homes Friday.

M. E. CAMPAIGN CLOSES SUNDAY

PRE EASTER ADJUSTMENT PERIOD IS PROGRESSING WITH ENTHUSIASM

The services that are being held in the Methodist Church until Sunday of this week are growing in favor with those in attendance and the crowds are gaining steadily over the first few days of the week. Rev. W. M. Murrell is preaching some very powerful sermons and is getting over very well with the personnel that has been in attendance on the services. An added feature was put into effect Tuesday evening when the Young People of the church and town were called into a meeting a short time before the evening services started. These services will be continued through this week in connection with the evening hour and will be under the direction of W. C. Craig, who is also doing the special song work for the services.

The campaign will close with the services on next Sunday, special music and other Easter features to comprise a great part of the final day's work. The services start promptly at 7:45. Everyone is extended a very cordial invitation and will receive a welcome second to none when they attend the services.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Stewart and family left the latter portion of last week for Denton, where they were joined by their daughter, who is in attendance on C. I. A., for a visit with relatives in Dallas. Fort Worth and other points in that part of the state.

M. E. CHOIR TO GIVE CANTATA

WILL PRESENT EASTER CANTATA WRITTEN BY MR. AND MRS. CHAS. DEAN

Next Sunday evening at the Methodist Church, the choir under the direction of Mr. Chas. Dean, will sing "Resurrection," a cantata based on the Biblical story of the resurrection of Christ. This cantata is the composition of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Dean, and will be presented with orchestral accompaniment.

This is an Easter cantata in three parts. Each part is preceded with Scriptural readings comprising the biblical story of Christ's death and burial and His Resurrection. The whole work is preceded by an orchestral prelude depicting the despair of mankind when Christ was crucified and buried, and when it seemed that all hope of a Redeemer was gone. The first part of the cantata represents a meeting of the disciples after the death of Christ, and the words and music portray their hopelessness. The second part portrays the rejoining of the disciples when they learn that the Lord is risen; while the third part is an adoration of the Risen Savior.

A large choir assisted by a fifteen piece orchestra will present the work. Out of town talent assisting with the presentation of the cantata will include Mr. Emil F. Myers, Miss Ruth Strite and Mr. Edward Kasl, of Amarillo. Local soloists will be Mrs. O. T. Smith, Mrs. S. M. Braswell, Mrs. Richard Wilkerson, Miss Julia Dean, and Messrs S. M. Braswell and O. T. Smith.

MRS. HARTZOG'S FATHER DIED AT SAYRE SATURDAY

Friends of Mrs. O. C. Hartzog of this city will regret to learn that her father, J. D. Clay, died in his home in Sayre, Oklahoma Friday of last week. Mr. and Mrs. Hartzog and children, made the trip to Sayre for the last time as which were held Sunday. Mr. Clay was well known in the Panhandle of Texas having come here with Wint Bairfield from Georgia. At different times he has been in the mercantile business in towns of the Panhandle and leaves many friends to mourn his going. He was 70 years of age at the time of his death.

Mrs. F. C. Baldwin and daughter of Louisville, Kentucky, are visiting in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Letts.

BREAK WALKING BEAM START AGAIN TODAY

A slight delay of about twelve hours will be caused by the breaking of the walking beam on the A-T well late Tuesday. At the time of the break, a change of towers was being made and operations had practically ceased. No injury was done to the well or any of the other equipment and work is to be resumed today. A new beam was ordered out of Pampa by telephone and was installed late Wednesday so as to be ready for operation this morning. The drillers on the well state that the cementing job was a successful stoppage and that they can expect no further trouble from that source. The bottom of the well has not been reached, but is expected within the next few days. Mr. Reynolds of Pampa was in the city again yesterday and states that he is well pleased with the reception given him.

FIDDLER'S MEET SET APRIL 17TH

ALL OLD TIME FIDDLERS ARE ASKED TO ENROLL FOR PRIZES OFFERED

The American Legion met Tuesday evening of this week and laid their final plans for the Old Fiddler's Contest that is to be staged here on the evening of April 17th. The officials of this body have the information from many sources that there are many fiddlers in Donley County who can swing a mean and wicked bow to the tunes that were all the rage before the Legion was ever considered as an organization.

Saturday, April 14th was set as the final date for the enrollment of the contestants and it is highly imperative that the names be in the hand of the Adjutant, G. L. Boykin, by that date. The reason given for that date limit has been given that the time given to each contestant must be decided and the program at the theater will be laid out accordingly.

Four prizes of cash will be given for the contest, ranging from $10.00 as first prize to $1.00 as fourth prize. It is possible that other prizes in the line of merchandise will be offered in addition to the cash prizes offered by the Legion. Judges are to be selected by a committee and will remain unknown to the contestants until after the affair has been concluded. Each member of the Legion will be sent a number of tickets for disposal and will be held responsible for the amount called for on the face of the tickets.

A membership drive is to be held in connection with the Contest, each member in the Legion at the present time being asked to bring another by the time the contest has ended. This plan would double the membership and give the Legion a fine membership with which to work.

Other matters pertaining to the future efforts of the Legion were discussed, with particular reference to the finishing and furnishing of the Legion home. Future activities of the Legion were also discussed, with special emphasis being placed on the idea that the Legion was not merely a selfish body, organized to furnish entertainment for the members, but that it had been organized to serve the community and county as they needed. One troop of the Boy Scouts is probably being sponsored by the body, as well as other civic activities that may arise from time to time.

DAVE WARREN IN ACCIDENT NEAR HERE SATURDAY

Mr. and Mrs. David Warren of Amarillo suffered a few minor bruises and considerable nervous shock last Saturday when their car was struck by a passing motorist and one wheel was torn off their car. Mr. Warren was quite seriously bruised about the chest and body, but seemed to have suffered no ill effects. He was thrown against the steering wheel of his car by the shock. Mr. Warren suffered more from the shock of the accident than from injuries received. They were en route to Childress when the accident occurred, where Mr. Warren took charge of the Childress Index for the New-Warren Company of Amarillo, Pampa and other towns of the Panhandle. The accident delayed them for a few hours and they continued the trip with no further accident.

QUICK TRIP OF COMPANY SAVES RESIDENCE HERE

Responding to an alarm about 5:50 o'clock Monday morning, the Clarendon fire department was instrumental in saving the Northern half of the old Ku Klux hall in the southern side of the city. The house was vacant at the time of the fire and signs showed that the fire had been smoldering along for a considerable time before the blaze was discovered and reported. The origin of the fire was not determined. The loss to the building will be confined to water damage and to some smoke and a little soot-birch. A part of the floor about the center of the house was burned but the quick work of the department prevented the blaze from spreading and doing further damage.

J. M. Stephens, H. J. Edington and Frank Whitlock were Pampa visitors Monday of this week.

COURT IS AGAIN MEETING TODAY

CASE SET FOR MONDAY GETS CONTINUANCE UNTIL APRIL 16TH—NEW VENIRE

The case of the State of Texas vs Will Bales on a charge of murder was set for Monday of this week and the special venire of 80 men was on the job to see that the trial was started on time. On motion of the defense, a continuance of the case was secured and the new date was set for April 16th, at which time a new special venire is to be called and the entire performance repeated.

The Grand Jury was called into session this morning with the resumption of court work and they will probably be busily engaged until the latter part of this week. To this time, the Grand Jury has returned seven bills, the most of them being for bootlegging, although a number of other cases have received some investigation.

The dates have already been changed one time and it is thought that publication of the set dates will assist in the plans for the benefit. PAMPA LIONS TO BRING PROGRAM

FULL ATTENDANCE OF PAMPA LIONS EXPECTED WITH LADIES AND PROGRAM

In return for a program presented to the Pampa Lions Club early in the year, the Pampa Lions are planning a program for Tuesday evening of next week that is certain to cap all former events of like nature that has ever been held in the Panhandle. In presenting the program to the Pampa Lions, the famous truth machine was unveiled and met the entire approval of the Pampa Club, excepting those who were tried.

Late accounts from the Pampa Club would indicate that one hundred per cent of their members will be here for the event and the Clarendon Lions are looking forward with a great deal of delight to having the Pampa club here on that date. Since attendance on the Ladies Night is to count on the attendance prize to be issued for the next three months, the Clarendon Lions are also expecting to register high in attendance on that date.

The program is to open at 8:00 o'clock in the Antro Hotel.

LOCAL MAN SELLS DAIRY COW FOR TOP FIGURE

One of the biggest prices paid for a dairy cow in Donley County was paid last week when S. B. Kutch sold a five year old cow to W. L. Butler for $165. This cow was raised in Clarendon by Mr. Kutch, was five years of age and was producing at the time of the sale, six gallons of milk per day. The cow was of a mixed strain, being three quarters Jersey and one quarter Holstein, making for quantity and quality in the same animal. According to those who saw the cow, this was the best all-around cow that has ever been in Clarendon. Others of the county have recently sold some fine cows and the farmers are forming more and more to the idea of a steady income from this source and are improving their herds by the addition of pure bred stock.

Mrs. Dannie L. McMillin left Sunday afternoon for her home in Nashville, Tennessee, after a two month's visit here in the home of her sisters, Mrs. Belle L. Smith and Mrs. McMillin. Mrs. Verna Martin arrived Tuesday morning from Norman, Oklahoma. She is a student in the University of Oklahoma.

BOARD ELECTION HERE SATURDAY

THREE MEMBERS TO BE NAMED TO FILL OUTGOING PLACES

The annual election of trustees for the Clarendon Independent School District is to be held Saturday of this week in the Old Central Ward School building. Notices have been posted on this event for the past thirty days and all plans are practically complete for the election.

Three trustees are to be elected on the board to fill the vacancies caused by the expiration of the terms of E. E. Chamberlain, President of the Board, C. C. Powell, Secretary, and W. W. Taylor. The other four, to be retained, are W. M. Montgomery, O. C. Watson, J. W. Martin and W. H. Youngblood. Popular consensus of opinion has it that there will be no change in the board this year since the present members have the work of reorganization well in hand and have the plans of the school outlined and well cared for. They know of the workings and plans for the college and have seen it through the first and hardest year of its life.

The nominating committee is working on the proposition and will in all probability suggest that the three men will be returned to the offices they now hold and be given an opportunity to keep the school going as they have planned for it to do. R. W. Talley has been named as judge of the election and has named the following to assist him in the work: Roy Clampitt and G. S. Patterson.

LIONS ATTEND CHURCH ON TUESDAY EVENING

By special invitation of Lion S. E. Allison, pastor of the Methodist Church, members of the Clarendon Lions Club and their wives, attended the Tuesday evening services at the Methodist Church, and heard Lion "Bill" Murrell, bring the message of the hour. Quite a number of the members were present and sitting in a body enjoyed the sermon on "Mending the Nets," or the "Failure of a Father".

Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Sayre returned Friday morning from the Winter's vacation spent in Corpus Christi and other points in that portion of the state.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pounds and Miss Josephine returned Wednesday of last week from Pilot Point and other points where they have been visiting relatives for some time. They will leave Wednesday for their ranch at Texline.

CITY CLEAN-UP IS COMPLETE

ALL PARTS OF CITY JOINING IN THE ANNUAL HEALTH WEEK CAMPAIGN

Falling in line with the proclamation of Mayor Taylor and with the Governor of the state of Texas, the citizens of Clarendon are making great headway in making this city the cleanest in the Panhandle. Since Tuesday Morning, the City truck has been busily engaged in carrying refuse of all sorts to the dumping ground for disposal. This is being carried from all parts of the town, with especial attention being given to the residence section in the truck's work.

Vacant lots in the business sections of the city have received their due share of attention and the refuse that has gathered over a period of months during the winter has been hauled away or burned. Contractor's supplies and their attendant refuse have been stored where they will be most out of the way and Clarendon will soon be one town that is ready for the visit of the Fire Insurance Inspector.

According to Mayor Taylor, the people of the city are complying more readily to the request this year than has been the custom in the past. The clean-up spirit is in the air and is taking the city by storm. A full report of the loads hauled will be available by the time the next issue of the News is off the press.

NATIONAL EDITORIAL ASSOCIATION — PANHANDLE PRESS ASSOCIATION

If you haven't cleaned your yards and other premises, do it now. This week is Clean Up Week.

Plans are maturing for the 1928 Donley County Fair, and full advance details will be announced in a few weeks. Given good seasons and co-operation that is promised and we'll make history in Panhandle county fairs here this fall.

Today over a score of Donley County citizens interested in the advancement of dairying in this section, are in Plainview to attend the Panhandle-Plains Dairy Show and auction sale of pure-bred and grade dairy cows. The local chamber of commerce and others have been active in promoting this adjunct to safe and profitable farming in Donley County and in securing a delegation to view the dairy show at Plainview. It is hard to contemplate a more timely or worthy undertaking.

Quanah business institutions patronized most liberally the fortieth anniversary edition of the Quanah Tribune-Chief, Tuesday of this week. Harry Koch, editor and owner of this splendid semi-weekly publication has the full confidence and respect of the business men of Quanah and they said many praise-worthy and deserved things about Editor Koch and the Tribune-Chief in their congratulatory advertisements. Here's to another forty years, Harry. Here's to another forty years, Harry.

Occasionally one hears a sermon that appeals to us as one of the "old time gospel" messages. Sometimes it is in the attitude of the hearer; sometimes it is in the message itself, but this much is certain, that no high-browed theological dissertation, or sensational exposition of modern theories, ever appeals to an audience as does the "old time gospel". It has been said that man is incurably religious, and observation forces us to believe it as a truth. Man is hungry for truths and comforts of the Christian religion. Nothing can be substituted with satisfaction or safety.

We don't know Secretary Work, but we do know Carl Estes, whom the daily press refers to as "Col. Estes", and here and now, we register our firm and unalterable belief that Secretary Work forgot himself and made himself what he called Estes. Furthermore, if Work had been out of his office, he wouldn't have gotten away with his spleen without application of a vigorous pair of Texas fists. If this is a fair sample of Republican attitude in official capacity, we opine that the nation needs less "Work" in the cabinet.

Next fall the Tri-State Fair at Amarillo will charge no admission to the fair grounds, and will rely on sales of privileges and exhibition space to finance the project. The argument is made that it will be possible to attract five or six times as many visitors to the annual fair with no gate charge, and therefore the work of agricultural and live-stock extension in the Panhandle will be augmented. The directors of the fair are correct and the 1928 Tri-State Fair will be the greatest event of its kind ever presented in the Southwest.

The present school board of the Clarendon Independent School District has steered our local school system through a revolutionary period, and we are just now in position to realize its full benefits and utility, which brings us to the thought that it would be unwise at this time to make any change in the personnel of the board. Saturday is the annual election and three members are to be named for the two year period. The News has heard nothing but praise for the work of the present board, and we are supposing that the three retiring members will be re-elected by as a large a vote as will be turned out with no opposition offered. They should be re-elected.

Tuesday's city election returned Commissioners Chase and Sims for another two year term and without opposition, which clearly indicates that Clarendon people are pleased with the work of the present city commission. The News has said and it now repeats that the record of the present administration is without parallel in the history of our city, and we feel that the voters did themselves and the municipality a service in re-electing the commissioners for another term. It is true that there were less votes cast than the standards of the best citizenship would demand, yet the lack of so many votes appearing at the polls is in itself a testimonial of the satisfaction of our citizens in the conduct of our government. American voters more often bestir themselves to vote against something or somebody than to vote for some measure or somebody.

Lots of trading in newspaper circles down Childress way. Last week the Nunn-Warren interests bought the Childress Index from the Hasketts, now on the heels of that trade comes the announcement of the merger of the Childress Post with the Index with Fred A. Story managing editor of the joint publications. The Post will probably be made a weekly paper, and both Index and Post will be issued from the Index plant. The job equipment of the two concerns will be operated as a separate business in the old Post location. This is a splendid arrangement and we congratulate our friend and former partner, Mr. Story on his new and enlarged responsibilities. All the Panhandle editors are going down to visit the Index and Post in a couple of weeks, and see how this combination business gets along, as we attend a few sessions of the Panhandle Press Association and try out Childress' new golf course.

Center Point is not a large place, and many motorists on the way to Kerrville or Junction from San Antonio hurry through it; but Center Point has worth-while Chamber of Commerce. For it takes a strikingly big view of a public question in contrast to the narrow, selfish viewpoint so often encountered. At a recent good roads meeting in Kerrville, to start work for completing the paved highway through Kendall and Kerr Counties, Center Point's Chamber of Commerce president said that his town is for the improvement, even if the road's route should be changed and it should be found necessary to put Center Point on a fork from the main highway—and that it would work whole-heartedly for the through road in Kerr County. A town with a viewpoint like that is worth knowing.—San Antonio Express.

 "Take which you please; you can never have both."
 "Between these, as a pendulum, man oscillates."
 "He in whom the love of repose predominates will accept the first creed, the first philosophy, the first political party he meets—most likely his father's."
 "He gets rest, commodity, and reputation; but he shuts the door of truth."
 "He in whom the love of truth predominates will keep himself aloft from all moorings, and afloat."
 "He will abstain from dogmatism, and recognize all the opposite negations between which, as walls, his being is swung."
 "He submits to the inconvenience of suspense and imperfect opinion, but he is a candidate for truth, as the other is not, and respects the highest law of his being."

DEMONSTRATION CLUBS TO FORM COUNTY FEDERATION

When the County Council of the Woman's Home Demonstration Clubs for Donley County met last Saturday in Hedley, representatives of the Pathfinder Club of Clarendon were present and proposed the organization of a County Federation to better tie the clubs into National work. Meses James Trent, C. C. Powell, W. W. Taylor and J. D. Stocking were the Clarendon women who met with the Council and explained the matter fully. Eighteen women were present from six clubs of the county and they thought favorably enough of the idea to call a meeting in Clarendon for April 14th, at which time the County Federation proposition will be further looked into and a Federation formed. Aside from the usual business transacted at the meeting of the council, nothing of general interest was attended except the talk of the formation of the County Federation.

HOUSE OF DAVID TEAM HERE WEDNESDAY MORN

The far famed House of David Baseball team was in Clarendon early Wednesday morning en route to Amarillo, where they are to play the Texans Wednesday and Today. The players on the team lived up to all expectations of the onlookers in that they all sported beards, chin whiskers and long hair. Some of the local boys stated that they thought they should have had more hair and whiskers, while others of them were well pleased with the adornment worn.

The Clean-Up

Will be of little avail if the outer parts of the houses are cleaned and the insides of the rooms are left as the smoke and dust of the winter have made them. Our wall paper will be found to make it easy for the home owner to make the inside of the home as clean and attractive as the yard about the house.

Another feature of our paper is found in the fact that you will not have to wait until the paper can come from the factory or storage warehouse.

"MANASSA MAULER'S" GIFT TO THE MRS.

Jack Dempsey—believed by millions to be the greatest ring champion of all time, and certainly one of the "fightingest" fighters that ever drew breath—gives handsome gifts to his beautiful wife, Estelle Taylor, the movie star, famed for her work in "Don Juan" with John Barrymore, and in many other notable screen successes.

Certainly he never gave her any more powerful gift than the 112-horsepower Chrysler Imperial "80" Roadster which he recently bought for her, nor anything on wheels that so well exemplifies his own little grace, speed and rugged driving power.

NORTHWEST TEXAS GINS BEST IN COOPERATIVE WORK

Improvement of cotton quality is did, but even our imaginations fell cooperative cotton gins, said James S. Hathcock, economist of the United States Department of Agriculture, addressing the School of Cooperative Marketing, College Station, Texas, March 1.

The cotton cooperatives, according to Mr. Hathcock, have accomplished much good in stimulating interest in cotton improvement, and now, with cooperative gins as possible centers for work of this kind, "they should be able to accomplish much more."

Mr. Hathcock enumerated the following services which he said may be economically performed by a centralized cooperative cotton marketing association in establishing and operating a system of cooperative gins as local economic units.

1. Opportunity for improved ginning service through standardized practices and increased operating efficiency.
 2. Maintaining constant membership contacts.
 3. The cooperative gin as a service station in the community for handling all kinds of marketing problems.
 4. Opportunity to effect considerable savings in the purchase of gin machinery and supplies.
 5. Influence of the gin, as a local subsidiary of the cotton cooperative, on the production of a better quality of cotton.
- The speaker declared that "the most signal success of independent cooperative gins has been achieved by a group of about 20 cooperative societies in northwest Texas. Georgia and Alabama have also entered the cooperative ginning field."

In 1912, Mr. Hathcock said, there were 28,358 gin plants in the United States, and by 1925 there were only 18,262, a decrease of 10,096 plants.

The total capacity of gin plants, however, has remained practically the same, the tendency being for gins to do a larger individual business. In all probability, he added, several thousand more gins may be abandoned during the next few years.

EDISON IN PROPHEMIC MOOD, SAYS ELECTRIC GROWTH ONLY BEGUN

"On one thing I am more positive than I was even forty years ago—the electrical development of America has only well begun," writes Thomas A. Edison in a foreword to a recently published book, "Aladdin U. S. A." By Ernest Greenwood.

He also declares that "great days are ahead of this nation and the world, and electricity will have a great part to play, granted only that it can be unfettered, with full opportunity for the largest possible individual initiative and energy."

Mr. Edison appears in a reminiscent, as well as a prophetic mood. Telling of the opening of his old Pearl street station in New York on September 4, 1882, the first electric central station in the world, he relates:

"The reporter from the Evening Sun, who came to interview me at the station was an alert and agreeable man, with an average degree of skepticism. It was obvious that the little station with its 'thirty balloon-shaped globes, ranged at intervals on either side of the room' and glowing 'with incandescent horseshoes,' seemed hardly more than an amusing toy to him. He could not conceive that it meant the end of the candle and oil lamp, the end of the horse and carriage, the end of one epoch in civilized life and the beginning of another."

"Some of us saw farther than he did, but our imaginations fell short of visualizing all the changes that began that night. Many minds, working together, produce progress that outruns the imagination of even the most courageous."

That was forty-five years ago. Only Well Begun

"I was a young man then. I am an old man now. I have lived to see the street car, the elevator, the electrified railroad, the automobile, the phonograph, the motion picture, the radio, the airplane, and the beginning of television. It seems today to many, as it seemed to most men and women in 1882, that no great forward steps remain to be taken which are comparable to those that have been taken."

"It may be that the next forty years will not produce inventions of such revolutionary character. Progress has been so rapid that we may require a breathing spell in which to consolidate our gains and develop present inventions to their full capacity. But of one thing I am more positive than I was even forty years ago—the electrical development of America has only well begun."

"So long as there remains a single task being done by men or women which electricity could do as well, so long will that development be incomplete. What this development will mean in comfort, in leisure, and in opportunity for the larger life of the spirit we have only begun to realize. Great days are ahead of this nation and the world. And electricity will have a great part to play, granted only that it can be unfettered, with full opportunity for the largest possible individual initiative and energy."

"I look back with happiness to that eventful afternoon forty-five years ago. What will be happening in electricity forty-five years from this evening? I wish I might be here to see."

TAKING OFF A HATCH OF BABY CHICKS

BY F. W. KAZMEIER, Bryan, Texas.

In previous articles we have discussed the care of breeding stock, care and selection of eggs for hatching so we are now ready to take up the care of the baby chick when moved from the incubator to the brooder.

Baby chicks should not be left in the incubator very long after they are hatched. Eggs that are set on Monday will begin hatching two days later and by Monday should all be hatched, and on Tuesday, or the morning of the 22nd day, should be moved to the brooder house or placed in baby chick shipping boxes.

Do Not Feed Until 72 Hours Old

The information has been pretty well distributed that chicks should not be fed until they are 72 hours old. When the eggs are set on Monday, this means their first feed is not given until Thursday morning, they may be given water or milk to drink some time Wednesday. The important point we wish to make here, is that the chicks must be handled in such a way that during the period they are not given anything to eat, they won't go to work and fill up on sand, straw, or on any other litter that may be used. Chicks at that age will eat anything they can swallow. Where sand is used on the floor for litter, they frequently eat great quantities of sand, which of course is very injurious. Where fine cut straw or hay is used they sometimes eat great quantities of this litter. This is, of course, very bad and causes a great mortality. It is necessary to handle the chicks so they cannot eat any of above named indigestible material.

Keep Chicks in Dark Place

Chicks should be kept in a dark place when moved out of incubator, up to the time they are given their first feed. If you use a regular brooder house, we recommend you darken the windows and all other openings, so the house will be so dark the chicks cannot see well enough to eat anything. At this period the baby chicks need quiet, rest and sleep. Dark quarters are more apt to bring these about than lighted quarters. We take special pains to keep it so dark in the brooder house that the chicks will not eat any litter. You can readily see in ordinarily lighted quarters, the little chicks will do something—they will be continually pecking at each other, pecking at and swallowing litter and sand.

Storing in Chick Shipping Boxes

Many chick raisers have learned about the importance of keeping chicks in dark quarters when they are 72 hours old, therefore many of those not in position to provide dark brooder houses, place the chicks in ordinary baby chick shipping boxes, until they are old enough to be given the first feed. In doing this care must be exercised, to ventilate the chick boxes properly and to stack them in such a way they will not get too cold and too hot. It takes considerable experience in packing chicks in these boxes successfully. It is well to examine them occasionally to make sure they are comfortable.

PARALYSIS RESULTS IN BUSINESS: COOLIDGE

President Coolidge, in a speech before the Union League club in Philadelphia, announced that he would not look with favor on any schemes of government ownership.

Government ownership agitation is arising in connection with discussion of a national merchant marine policy. Government ownership and operation of large power projects also is being used.

Concerning government operation of business enterprises, Mr. Coolidge said:

"We have always been very strongly to the theory that in our country, at least, more could be accomplished for human welfare through the encouragement of private initiative than through government action. We have sought to establish a system under which the people would control the government, and not the government control the people. If economic freedom vanishes, political freedom becomes nothing but a shadow. It has therefore been our wish that the people of the country should own and conduct all gainful occupations not directly connected with government service. When the government once enters a business it must occupy the field alone. No one can compete with it. The result is a paralyzing monopoly."

WALL STREET JOURNAL LAUDS THE DAIRY COW

Seldom does the Wall Street Journal give of its editorial columns except to items and problems of finance, yet a day or so ago in a prominent space on its first page it devoted near a half column to data and argument for the dairy cow as relates to the economic independence of the American farmer, using the experience of the State of Florida as the text of the article.

It is worth while to take time to read the statements as set forth by the Journal, and it means much to the country at large and Donley County in particular. Read the following:

"In the past few years Florida has done well in attracting a desirable population of people of wealth and enterprise. After consolidating those gains she is now being urged to attract to the state another class of population of which in usefulness to man, stands at the head of the list of domestic animals. Florida can find no surer foundation on which to build for prosperity than in the development of the dairy industry.

"Man's most fundamental needs are food and shelter, and the dairy cow is a large provider of the first. Under actual tests, a pure-bred dairy cow has, in a year, furnished as much food as is contained in the carcasses of four beef steers of 1,000 pounds each. The steers could be consumed but once while the cow kept on producing over a course of years. The United States Government considers the question of an adequate supply of pure, wholesome milk, produced under sanitary conditions, so vital to the health of the boys at Annapolis that it maintains its own herd of dairy cows for their use.

"In 1923 the Department of Agriculture valued our dairy products at $2,600,000,000 which is equivalent to the total value of the two last crops of cotton.

"The automobile and the production of iron and steel and rolled products, the dairy cow is the largest producer of wealth in the United States. In the days of the Moslem invasions of south-eastern Europe a saying was coined regarding the Turkish war-horses to typify the desolation that followed in their wake. But the reverse is the case with the dairy cow for wealth and prosperity follow wherever she is bred and given intelligent care."

ECONOMIC SIGNIFICANCE OF THE AMERICAN COTTON INDUSTRY—From latest volume in Manhattan Library of Popular Economics, republished in serial form through courtesy of Bank of the Manhattan Company, New York.

ARTICLE NINE MEN AND MACHINES

WHEN cotton has been picked, ginned and compressed into the standard bales of commerce, it is ready for another stage of its career. Formerly, these bales poured in two streams—northward into the textile mills of New England, or else by ships to those of England and the European continent. Now, however, in addition to these, a large percentage makes but a short journey, reaching Southern mills where it undergoes the processes of manufacture.

It is a world of whirring, clicking machinery—of machinery dominant, intent, tireless

In this manufacturing phase, everything is on a scale of impressive vastness, in which a mill of only two or three hundred feet in length would be accounted small; some are more than half a mile.

It is a world of whirring, clicking machinery—of machinery dominant, intent, tireless. Machines in long rows seize upon the cotton as it comes from the bales and with swift precision transform it into yarns and fabrics. The masses of delicate fibre are separated, drawn, twisted and woven. Pickers, carders, lappers, slubbers, winders, beamers, slashers, drawers-in, and other ingenious contrivances play their several parts upon the evolving yarn and then the intricate looms fashion it into some of the many kinds of textiles required by the markets of the world.

Some of these products are heavy enough to withstand the gales of ocean, others are as dainty as a rainbow, but all are the joint product of the soil and the machines under the guidance of human skill.

There is, however, this difference in the two great stages—the agricultural stage depends chiefly upon the body of man, the mechanical upon his mind. That is why the efforts of five or six million laborers in the cotton fields produce raw cotton to the value of only one and one-half billion dollars a year, while a tenth of that number working in the mills, backed by the amazing productivity of the machines, add approximately a billion dollars to the value of that fraction of this crop (less than half) which reaches the American mills.

However, even a half million operatives constitute an army in themselves and their wages form the living of several times that number of American citizens, while to them must be added the hundreds of thousands who "convert" dye, print, sew or otherwise change or apply the fabrics.

Manufacturers, such as those of automobiles, tires, shoes, furniture, etc., consume nearly a third of all that comes from the mills. To the dress manufacturing trade, known as the "cutters-up," goes another 26 per cent, while the sale of prints, ginghams, dress and household goods in the stores amounts to some 36 per cent of the whole.

Only about 6 per cent of the textile product is exported, which is not astonishing in view of the fact that more than one-half of America's raw cotton goes abroad in the form of bales to supply the millions of spindles and looms of the rest of the world.

Still another army is engaged in the great and complicated process of distributing cotton goods. This consists of the commission men, brokers, and wholesale and retail merchants. These men are specialists in their fields. They study varieties and values; they study also the needs and the tastes of the market.

All of these manufacturing and distributing armies are dependent upon each other and all of them depend upon the cotton growers of the South. Their operations added together become cooperation, yet, for the most part, this is not voluntary, is hardly even conscious. Interdependence does not become true cooperation without volition.

True cooperation—the voluntary, purposeful kind, makes possible efficiency and mutual aid of benefit, but what shall be of this phase in a gigantic industry in which until very recent times, the "converter" has admitted to little knowledge of the problems of the weaver, and vice versa, and neither has regarded the condition of the grower except as something remote and impersonal? Associations of sub-divisions of the industry have even existed for the protection of members against other sub-divisions in the same section or of similar sub-divisions in other sections.

If progress, great and impressive, has been made under conditions of such lack of harmony, what may not the American cotton industry hope to accomplish through each of its parts becoming conscious of the whole and friction and waste motion giving way to the smoothly-working efficiency of millions of people operating under a new and inspiring sense of unity?

Such a new era now seems to be fore-shadowed although its accomplishment may be a matter of considerable time.

(Next Article, "AN IMPORTANT STEP")

"MOANS OF PNEUMONIA"

Pneumonia is characterized by coughing, in common with other throat, bronchial and lung infections, this coughing defined as, "a sudden, forced expiratory noise," expels by reason of its force not only solid or liquid matter that may be in the throat or lungs, but a fine spray as well.

This spray, from a diseased throat is poisonous, a typical "poison gas," which to breathe into your throat is about as safe an adventure as to walk forth into the hungry lion's den.

Keep away from coughing crowds, such as assembled at the movies during dark days when fresh air is excluded at the theaters.

Pneumonia is largely a seasonal disease.

Don't get overheated and go out into the cold without proper wraps.

Don't wear thin shoes and get wet feet.

Don't cultivate association with "pneumonia carriers," if you know it.

Don't cough. If it is not a bad habit, then see the doctor.

Properly use handkerchiefs, so as not to infect others.

Don't go into crowds.

Don't fail to exercise and get fresh air.

"Sleep right, eat right and live right, and get some joy out of life. Build a good resistance to disease, then you and pneumonia will very likely remain strangers."

SAGGING WIRES

Because of expansion and contraction, telephone and telegraph wires cannot be drawn taut. A standard length of telephone wire which sags sixteen inches at 100 degrees above zero will sag only five inches at ten degrees below zero.

Cold contracts with the wire. If the wire were perfectly taut in summer it would break in winter.

15,000,000 FAMILIES IN U. S. NOW USE GAS

On January 1, 1927, the total number of customers served by the combined natural and manufactured gas industry in the United States was 14,731,000. As the annual increase amounts to about 600,000 new customers, the total number now served is considerably in excess of 15,000,000, representing a population of approximately 70,000,000 people.

CANCER SIGNALS

Do you really recognize cancer signs? When you realize that 100,000 men and women were victims of cancer in 1927, you may be interested in knowing these four signs that seldom fail to indicate cancer:

"Any sore on the tongue, mouth or lips that refuses to heal."

"Any lump, however painless."

"Any irregular or unusual bleeding or discharge."

"Chronic indigestion accompanied by loss of weight."

Heed the danger signals lest you be one of this year's victims.

KNOW TEXAS

One hundred and fifty-three new enterprises in Texas were granted charters in a single month recently. This is a sign of the times.

The Democratic national convention goes to Houston. A great many persons in the North and East now realize for the first time that Texas has cities large enough to entertain a national convention.

Texas has the longest press news wire in the world. It reaches from Texarkana to El Paso and from Amarillo to Brownsville and is more than 2,400 miles long. It is operated by the Associated Press.

Texas is adapted to a wider range of wild animal life than any other state. The entire gulf area teems with wild ducks and wild geese and has been pronounced the best adapted section in the country for preserving bird life.

All wild birds, wild animals, and wild fowl are declared by law to be the property of the people of the state.

COOPERATIVE PLAN PRACTICED IN GEORGIA

Alternation of four weeks in the Georgia School of Technology, Atlanta, and four weeks of practical work in shops or engineering departments of railroads in Georgia is carried on by a number of students under a cooperative plan recently developed. The plan contemplates work continuously by the same two alternating students for five years, at the end of which time each will receive his B. S. degree in engineering. During this period the students receive their work, and advancement or increase in wages is determined by their value to the company and the length of time spent in the service of one company.

Presidents of three railroads are on the advisory board of the Georgia School of Technology. At present 86 students, 43 pairs of workers, are receiving mechanical and electrical training under the cooperative plan in the shops of the Central of Georgia Railroad. In the mechanical department of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad 32 students, 16 pairs, are employed; and 12 students, 6 pairs, are employed by the Southern system in its signal and electrical and maintenance of ways departments.—School Life.

Baptist Sunday School Class Enjoys Fine Party

One of the most enjoyable events of the week was that held on Monday evening of this week in the parlors of the First Baptist Church when the Class of Mrs. Goldston and a number of invited guests were royally entertained.

The girls came to the party well equipped to do their share of the entertaining for the evening, being dressed as flappers and jelly beans of the most ultra variety. Rolled socks and half hose graced the evening as did the dress of the ultra flapper and jelly bean.

Games of a variety seldom seen at a party were played throughout the evening, the first being an examination game in which each girl was asked catch questions similar to the ones they will have on their examinations. Autobiographies were constructed by each of the girls starting with their infancy and ending with their probable old age. An egg walk proved to be quite startling in view of the fact that real eggs were placed on the floor before the candidate was blindfolded, afterward being replaced with peanuts and crackers to make quite a startling effect when the walker encountered what was thought to be a real egg.

At a late hour in the evening, the members of the class and their invited guests departed to their several homes wishing this class many more such enjoyable occasions as this. Refreshments of ice cream cones were served to the following class members and their visitors: Members; Bernice Andis, Ruth Dunn, Ruth Nichols, Ruth Crabtree, Viola Jones, Marjorie McKillop, Virginia Wisdom, Hettie Bess Nieder, Irene Campbell, Kitty Speed, Glennie Haley and Mrs. F. WIDER STREETS PAY THEIR WAY

VALUE OF ABUTTING PROPERTY OFTEN DOUBLES, SURVEY REVEALS

When a city widens a street it is not a speculation in any sense of the word. Street widening in most instances has increased the value of abutting property to a point exceeding the cost of the project, according to a recent survey conducted by the magazine Roads and Streets.

Aside from the increased value of property along the improvement, widened streets have accomplished other noteworthy things, the survey shows. Business and residential growth has been stimulated on subdivided properties; low class residential property has been changed into high class business property and ordinary business frontage has been transformed into higher desirable property.

Property values in progressive cities of course grow greater with passing years, yet the survey indicates that widened streets have appreciated a great deal more rapidly than those unimproved. Property on Summers Street, Charleston, W. Va widened to 76 feet, was valued for tax purposes at $325 a front foot in 1919. After the widening the valuation rose to $1000 a front foot, an increase of about 207 per cent. Property along a comparable street in the same city, and which has not been improved, rose a scant third in value.

A similar case in that in Baltimore. Property on Hillen Road, widened from 33 feet to 120 feet in 1923, changed in value from $523 a front foot to $1,895 in 1927, an increase of 254 per cent. Property along a similar street, which was not widened, increased but 68 per cent in value.

Investigations in Cleveland, Milwaukee, New Haven, St. Louis and Akron further substantiated the theory that street improvements really pay for themselves, not only through freer movement of automobile traffic but through this increased value of abutting land.

Two-year old Wacker Drive, Chicago's two level street, has already expressed in dollars and cents the wisdom of widening streets and of double-decking them where traffic warrants. Wacker Drive has added considerably more to the value of downtown Chicago than its actual cost of about $22,000,000. The augmented value of abutting property is conservatively estimated at $65,000,000. Before the street was improved the square foot value ranged from $8 to $16. Unimproved property, of which there is very little, is now held at from $150 to $200 a square foot.

Such progressive steps as street widening and double-decking will ultimately conquer traffic congestion, which, say highway authorities, should yield to the highway doctor in much the same degree of success that measles and small pox succumb to the ministrations of the physician.

GOLDSTON SAVINGS CLUBS URGED TO SECURE LEGION ATTENDANCE

Bro. Williams preached Sunday at 11 and also in the evening after Sunday School. Mr. and Mrs. Dyer visited relatives at Lelia Lake Sunday. The youngsters enjoyed a party at the Eldridge home Saturday night. Mr. and Mrs. Elmore visited in the Morgan home Sunday. J. M. Shannon returned to McLean Sunday night. The Merry Maids Club enjoyed a quilting party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Stewart Wednesday of this week. Mr. and Mrs. Sayre who spent the winter at Corpus Christi returned home last week. We are glad to have them back in the community. Dick Chunn erected a new windmill last week. Mrs. Higginbotham's mother came in from Electra last week and will visit here for some time. Howard Stewart visited home-filks last Sunday.

American Legion savings clubs to save up funds for attending the national convention of the World War veteran's organization to be held here October 8 to 12 are being organized throughout the United States, Philip B. Stapp, national convention director, announced here today. The clubs are being formed in co-operation with the Save-To-Travel Association, of New York City, which is composed of railroads, banks, hotels and steamship lines, Mr. Stapp said. Similar savings clubs were organized by the Legion for the Paris convention last year. The plan, it is believed on the basis of the experience of last year, will increase the San Antonio convention attendance very materially, Mr. Stapp said. More than 100,000 persons from every part of the country are expected to come for the meet. Under the Legion savings plan, as outlined by Mr. Stapp, regular weekly or monthly deposits of fixed sums agreed upon by the Legionaire or Auxiliary member will be made. Banks members of the Save-To-Travel Association will pay interest on these deposits at their established rates. Legionaires will on opening accounts become members of the Save-To-Travel Association's vacation-travel clubs, according to Mr. Stapp. This will provide them travel information and privileges and facilities in connection with stop-overs not otherwise available.

TRI-STATE FAIR TO BE FREE TO ALL IN 1928

The 1928 Amarillo Tri-State Exposition will be free, according to a decision reached by directors of the fair in a meeting here Friday. It is believed that the fair will attract 250,000 persons from over the Southwest as a result of the elimination of an entrance fee. This innovation is undertaken in the belief that the fair will prove of much greater value in developing the agricultural possibilities of the Panhandle. Greater entertainment features for day and night have been provided, including one of the greatest grandstand musical comedy shows on fair circuits. Plans were discussed at the directors' meeting for a bigger exposition than has ever been attempted in this section—and there will be no admission charge. The fair will be held September 22 to 29.

BROOMCORN IS THEME TUESDAY

AMARILLO MAN EXPLAINS NEW CASH CROP FOR DIVERSIFYING FARMERS

Many items of great interest to the Lions of Clarendon and to the business and farmers of Donley County were discussed at the Luncheon Tuesday of this week. Time became limited and some items were barely touched in their discussion. The main item for discussion was the planting of a few acres in Donley County to broomcorn to secure the establishment of another cash crop to be added to the diversification ideas that are being planted in the minds of the people of the county.

The first matter to be brought to the attention of the club was the matter of transportation for those who plan to attend the Dairy Show in Plainview this week. Eight Lions signified their intention of making the trip and will carry their cars and take a carload of people who plan to make the trip. Others will probably join with the caravan that is to leave here on Thursday morning at 7:00 o'clock.

Lion Kemp urged that the Lions vote for the two commissions that were being elected, and that although there should come no opposition, that they should at least show that their efforts in the past had not been overlooked and that they were appreciated.

Lion Patrick read a short item from the Wall Street Journal, which brought up the subject of dairy products and stated that the value of these products for 1923 equalled the last two cotton crops. This figure in 1923 was more than two and one-half billion dollars and should have grown to a considerable extent since that time.

Guests of the day were introduced and will include: Henry Camy Harris of Wichita Falls, W. T. Hayter of Pampa and Clarendon, W. C. Craig of Dallas, Harve H. Haines of Amarillo and Geo. J. Lins also of Amarillo.

With the introduction of guests, Col. Haines introduced Mr. Lins, who took the remainder of the hour in a discussion of the broomcorn situation in the Panhandle, with especial reference to the formation of a bonded warehouse in Amarillo for the storage of the Panhandle, New Mexico and western Oklahoma crop of this staple product. He stated in the beginning that Texas used over 50 per cent imported broomcorn and that only thirty per cent of the product used in the state is raised in the state.

The idea was to implant the idea that the crop of broomcorn was not a get rich quick crop, but that it compared favorably with cotton and other crops in the production of a cash crop to be added to other crops of like nature to keep the farm wheels running. Interested farmers in the community could be prevailed upon to plant twenty acres or start on and to not plant more or less than this amount, for this will be about all that one man can handle and harvest readily. Certified seed that can be secured at a cost of $4.00 per bushel are to be preferred to that which comes directly from the field at a smaller price. Six hundred bushels of the certified seed are available and can be secured for the use of the Panhandle farmers who desire to plant this crop. One bushel will plant about twenty acres since the seed is ordinarily sowed at the rate of two to three pounds per acre.

Further questions were asked Mr. Lins during the luncheon and he was besieged after the luncheon had closed.

The Lions were invited to attend the services at the Methodist Church in a body since it was stated that a special section of seats would be reserved for them at the time and that the seat would be vacant if the Lion was absent.

The Ladies Night program for next week was announced with the Pampa Lions Club in charge of the program. The Buddies of each Lion were asked to get busy and get the members out as it would count against their attendance record if they should be absent from that meeting.

The application of A. A. Mayes was read to the club and the applicant was unanimously voted in to the organization. Adjournment by singing "The Eyes of Texas".

NEW FEATURES TO BE IN APRIL FIDDLER'S MEET

Stunt fiddlers will have an important part in the Old Fiddler's Contest which will be staged here on April 27 under the auspices of the Amarillo Tri-State Fair Association. Liberal cash prizes above the $200 offered the old fiddlers have been provided for the novelty features.

The program on April 27, which will see county champions from the Panhandle of Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico in action, will be more varied than the first held here in March.

Musicians are asked not to confine their tunes to quadrilles but to try other forms of old-time music, such as the "breakdown" tunes, schottisches, waltzes and other forms of old-time music. For the benefit of radio fans over the Southwest the program will be broadcast.

J. A. COWBOY IS VICTIM OF FALL

DEATH RESULTING FROM INJURIES RECEIVED FROM FALLING HORSE

Following closely on the death of his grandfather less than a month past, comes the accidental injuries and death of Joe Clinton Willie on Monday morning of this week. Funeral services were held yesterday morning at 10:30 from the First Baptist Church with Rev. S. P. McClung in charge of the last rites. Special music by a quartette who sang, "Rounded Up in Glory" on request and by the Baptist choir was instrumental in making the funeral more impressive.

The entire force of the J. A. Ranch was in attendance on the last rites and have been with the bereaved family since the accident early Sunday. The body of the boy was held in the funeral parlors of P. A. Buntin & Son and at all times some members of the boys were present to ease the burden. Other ranchmen of the county were well represented in the church.

Joe Clinton Willie was the oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Will Willie. He was born in Clarendon on January 5th, 1906 and was carried to the J. A. Ranch at the tender age of three weeks, when his education as a cowman was started. His entire life was spent on the ranch, his early training standing him in good stead when he started to work for the ranch at the age of seventeen. For five years he worked for the ranch, stopping for a short time a few months and again resuming his work. For the past three years he has been a faithful hand, never missing a month for any reason.

Death came after a horse had fallen over a rope the young man had thrown on a yearling last Sunday morning. The accident occurred on the head of Cherokee Creek on the ranch, and a number of the other boys were with him at the time of the accident. His head was crushed and he never regained consciousness up to the time of his death Monday morning.

Surviving the deceased are his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Will Willie of the Dr. Bagwell Camp. Two brothers, Terry and Richard Harvey and one sister, Mary are left to mourn his passing.

The Willie family has been in Clarendon and Donley County for many years, Mr. Willie having started for the ranch in 1899. The many friends of the family join with them in their grief and extend sympathy in this time of sorrow.

Interment was had in the Odd Fellows Cemetery. Pall Bearers were: Fayne Kent, Charles Bullock, Lloyd Bullock, Bernice Blackwell, Nash Blasingame and Guy Wright.

"The Fate of a JA Cowboy."

Composed by Mike Baird

Come kind friends and listen And follow me as I go I'll tell you the fate of a Cowboy This Cowboy's name was Joe.

It was a bright April morning When Joe rode out so gay Rode out to do his duty, Not thinking it was his fatal day.

This was on Sunday morning He rode out on Trinidad This was the Cowboy's pet horse He surely was a thoroughbred.

Joe Tightened up his cinches, Uncoiled his long lasso He spied a hunk maverick That he might rope and throw.

The Cowboy's long rope tightened Around the big calf's head His horse was jerked from beneath him It crushed the Cowboy's head.

Joe is no more a Cowboy On the range of the wide JA But surely there will be large ranches Where the Cowboy has gone to stay.

If there be large ranches In the land of the Great Above There we will find the JA Cowboy The one whom we all loved.

When the cowboys are promoted It is hard to stand the test But all the cowboys have to go When God sees that it is best.

When the cow wagon pulls In the spring of twenty eight The cowboys will find that one is missing And they will think of poor Joe Willie's fate.

oe has a loving Mother and Father A sister and two brothers true But they will find their loved one waiting When they bid this land adieu.

HILLCROFT MEMBERS ARE LOSERS IN SUNDAY TILT

A return series of matches with the Memphis Golf Club was played Sunday with ill results for the members of the Hillcroft Golf Club who made the trip. Twenty of Clarendon's players were in attendance on the tournament between the two towns and nine of them won their matches, losing eleven to the Memphis players. One feature of the tournament was a splendid chicken dinner served the Clarendon and Memphis players in the newly completed clubhouse of the Memphis Country Club. The following men made the trip to Memphis, winners are listed first in the group. J. T. Patman, Phillips Gentry, R. C. Weatherly, Jr., Kenny Lane, Wesley Knorrp, Lee Casey, Walter Wilson, Selden Bagby and A. R. Casey. The losers: Meredith Gentry, Holman Kennedy, R. C. Weatherly, A. N. Wood, C. J. Douglas, Y. A. Kent, C. G. Stricklin, Rex Reeves, Nat Perrine, Ira Merchant and Forrest Taylor. There is some doubt as to part of the matches, and the Clarendon members state that they feel they at least halved the match if they did not win. A return tournament will probably be played in the near future to get the local members in condition for the Green Belt Tourney that is to be held in Memphis.

AMARILLO VETERAN'S SERVICE STATION DISCONTINUED The News is in receipt of a letter from the U. S. Veteran's Bureau in Amarillo, stating that the body in that city is to be discontinued with the date April 3rd. The Board has been operating since January 5th, as an experiment to see whether such a board was needed in the Panhandle. The experiment evidently showed that there was not sufficient business with the Amarillo office to warrant the continuation and the business will be handled through Oklahoma City, as has been the custom in the past. Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Moreman of Hedley visited with Mrs. Eula Cox Sunday.

THE DAIRY COW

The dairy cow is our best dependence for regular and frequent pay days, because she stays on the job, rainy days and fair, week days and Sunday, and will live and do her work well on feeds grown on the farm. She will furnish $2. worth of dairy products from $100 worth of feeds. The difference of $100 between feed costs and value of the products is $100 worth of labor and interest on investment, for the dairy cow furnishes a market for our labor 365 days a year. She furnishes a market for more than labor and pays a better price for it, if properly bred or selected, and is given good care and suitable feeding.

But the dairy cow does not end her usefulness when she gives up her milk. For instance, she produces the heifer calf to take her place when her life's work is done and furnishes a good market for legumes, which enrich the soil and make good manure, and these bring larger prices. The dairy cow has never been given proper credit for her support of the soil by furnishing a good market for soil-improving legume hay and grain crops.

Many Southern farmers, never having been accustomed to regularly caring for livestock, object to the dairy cow because she requires daily labor and attention, but that it is one of her strongest recommendations that entitles her to a more prominent place on Southern farms. She also demands more intelligence for her proper care and management than is required for producing field crops alone, and she demands daily attention, and because of these demands for industry and intelligence on the part of the owner she produces better citizens as well as larger incomes.—Tait Butler in the Progressive Farmer.

APPEAL TO DRY DEMOCRATS OF DONLEY CO.

The News:—Without assuming or in any way seeking leadership, yet I feel constrained to call the attention of the dry Democratic voters of Donley County, to the near approach—just one month from today May 5th, of the mass precinct meetings or conventions of voters, who will send delegates to the County conventions, which will in turn send delegates to the State convention, who will send the delegates to our National convention, bearing the instructions we give them in our national matters.

Feeling that Donley County Democratic voters will not, as always heretofore stand for the maintenance and strict enforcement of our National Prohibition Laws, which are being so vigorously assailed now, I consider it essential that every dry Democrat ic voter attend these mass conventions and vote their sentiments for maintenance and enforcement. It is the duty, as I view it, for every voter to attend conventions and primaries, and exercise their duty as good citizens, with the affairs of their government.

I especially urge our lady voters to attend these mass conventions, which I am sure that the County Chairman will call for two o'clock P. M.—and exercise their privilege as legal voting citizens, feeling sure, that nearly, if not quite all, will support affirmative action in behalf of our National Prohibition laws. Speak to your neighbors, both men and women and urge all to attend these conventions. Let nothing prevent your attendance.
A. M. BEVILLE.

A summer session at Oxford University exclusively for American students is under consideration, and a survey will be made to determine whether the response from the United States will warrant the expense involved in organizing appropriate courses. A Cleveland newspaper has offered a scholarship of $500 should the response from school people justify the undertaking.

PANHANDLE TO SHOW IN NORTH

THREE STATES IN NORTH TO SEE PANHANDLE PRODUCTS AT FAIRS

A meeting of the Finance Committee of the Panhandle Development Association was held at Amarillo, Thursday, March 29th. There were present at this meeting Mr. E. B. Black, Chairman of the General Ways and Means Committee; Mr. T. E. Seigler of Hereford, Mr. W. B. Quigley of Memphis, and Mr. O. W. H. Cooke of Canyon.

Consideration was given to the proposed plan of showing three composite exhibits of the Panhandle agricultural products; one each in the states of Kansas, Nebraska and Iowa, for six weeks during the coming fall at various fairs in those states, and calculating the cost of publicity efforts with which it is proposed to accompany these exhibits, the Committee concluded that $30,000 would comfortably take care of the entire cost for this year.

Potter County, of course, will bear by far the largest county appropriation, and the balance of the fund has been prorated among other counties interested, as in the judgment of the committee, seemed fair and equitable. It will be seen when these proportions are announced that no county will have a very large sum to raise.

The members of the Ways and Means Committee from the various counties will be asked to look after the raising of these county funds, and a method has been suggested to them by which these funds can be raised with practically no effort at all, provided the acquiescence of County Officials can be secured. They can in some counties and this may be possible in all of the counties.

This immigration movement is taking very definite shape and all will be much interested in the somewhat novel plans that have been proposed for carrying it out. These plans will be submitted at the next general conference of Panhandle interests, which will be held in the latter part of April. In the meantime, committees on publicity, on itinerary, on exhibits, on finances, on by-laws and constitutions, and available lands will have formulated their reports and the next general conference should see the final arrangements adopted for the carrying out of this comprehensive immigration program.

MICHIGAN SAYS NATION WIDE IS SPEED IS SAFE PLAN FOR ROAD

MICHIGAN REMOVES SPEED LIMIT BUT KEEPS EYE ON RECKLESS DRIVERS

Most people in this country travel faster than the ancient winged gods who, mythology says, sped as fast as the wind. Wind ordinarily travels no faster than 20 or 30 miles an hour. The American, equipped with an automobile rather than a pair of wings, can hardly confine himself to that low speed and occasionally he may pass an 80 mile gale.

Of late, this question has arisen. Are automobile manufacturers justified in advertising the speed qualities of their cars? The answer is yes. The public is demanding speed. Science and engineering have provided cars that travel fast with safety. Better roads are being built.

Roads are the most important external factor affecting automobile speeds. Before rural highway improvement became widespread, states were entirely sensible in establishing speed limits on main thoroughfares. But now that rural roads are, on the whole, much better than they were a few years ago, it is only proper to expect states that have built considerable mileages of hard pavements to raise the speed limit.

Several states, among them Indiana, North Carolina, Maryland, New Hampshire, Oregon and Washington, now permit motorists to travel ten to twenty miles Michigan with a vast mileage of concrete roads, has gone a step farther by making no limitation beyond that of stipulating penalties for reckless driving, a reservation which still gives that state a definite check on those who endanger the lives and property of others. Michigan's new law states that a car shall not be driven at a speed more or less than is reasonable and proper. Thus the slow-poke is remembered.

With all the potential speed automobile manufacturers are making available to the individual, it is folly not to take full advantage of it. As railroad engines were bettered, tracks were built more substantially. Light rails replaced the strap iron, heavier steel replaced the light rails, and now on railroad trunk lines rails are used weighing 130 pounds per yard which safely carry 60-mile an hour trains. Experiments with concrete roadbeds give promise of still faster trains at no sacrifice of safety.

The same principle must be applied to roads so that the automobile's greatest efficiency can be attained. Automobiles are now designed in such a manner that the gasoline consumption approaches a minimum at about 45 miles an hour. At this speed also, even though the motorist is driving one of the cheaper cars, will be found motor smoothness. The vibrations of old, that caused back seat occupants to grip top supports with terror, have vanished.

Danger in some degree is always present in automobile driving. On smooth, hard surfaced roads, equipped with well banked curves, conspicuously marked railroad crossings and highway intersections, the accident likelihood is reduced to a minimum. With confidence in the road surface, and with complete visibility, the motorist can select his own speed. But in traveling at a high speed the motorist is charged with being doubly alert, for 336 feet are required in which to stop a car traveling 50 miles an hour.

After all, it makes little difference to accident records whether automobiles are designed to travel 50 or 90 miles an hour, for there are those incapable drivers who will have accidents at 20 miles an hour. A number of states have at least weeded out most of the unfitted drivers by requiring examinations and tests.

The age of personal speed is here. The day is not far distant when one will travel from coast to coast in six or seven days. This can be done now, but not altogether comfortably or entirely safely.

BY E. E. DUFFY.

When will it be possible for the Maine motorist to jump into his car and journey to California or Washington without once leaving a paved road?

Faint rumblings heard in the present session of Congress indicate that transcontinental travel may come to pass, not today perhaps, but within say a decade.

The Holaday bill, introduced by the Illinois representative, which calls for a three billion dollar United States bond issue, has gone through the mazes of the House Ways and Means committee, and will doubtless receive some early attention from Congress. This bill, which may be termed both visionary and practical, calls for a comprehensive system of hard-surfaced roads to be built and maintained by the United States, so that highway comforts may be enjoyed to quote the author's summary, "right now, while we live."

Congress has also listened to a proposal that a complete nationwide system of pavements be established by private concerns and operated by the toll method. This assuredly progressive desire is also being carefully considered and in some quarters the opinion is expressed that a congressional commission will be selected to study the practicability of this suggestion.

Is there a need for transcontinental roadways, is a query that can be answered only in the affirmative. Many take it for granted that the automobile and the bus are desirable only for short journeys. Some railroads have declared that they are altogether willing to wipe their hands of short haul business as it was never very profitable. Still, it must be admitted that with the increase in good roads there is a growing tendency for the automobile to extend its radius. For instance, a bus company maintaining transcontinental schedules has issued the statement that the average mileage per passenger out of San Francisco in 1927 was 1,711 miles.

Farmers have increased their marketing radius from ten miles to 50 miles. Week end pleasure seekers may now scurry 100 to 300 miles away from home. The vacationist with two or three weeks at his disposal may wander from 2,000 to 6,000 miles in his car and not be late for work. The population of this country is growing. At the present rate 210,000,000 will be seeking a livelihood at the conclusion of the twentieth century. If the automobile manufacturers attain their goal, where will these cars travel?

In the fact of all this, it is apparent that the United States cannot build roads too rapidly, particularly if the people of today wish the comforts that are pre-arranged for the present generation's descendants.

The whole nation is now in a receptive mood for more and better highways. Nothing that Congress can do in the way of progressive road legislation will fail for lack of nation-wide support.

CORRESPONDENCE SCHOOL SYSTEM IN CANADA

To meet educational needs of families living in remote parts of Manitoba, and of children unable on account of physical handicap to attend school, a system of correspondence instruction has been inaugurated by the provincial department of education. It is estimated that about every fourth person in the Province of Manitoba is seeking by study to reach a higher educational standard.

In Saskatchewan, where an outpost's correspondence school has been maintained for two and a half years, enrollment has reached 247. It is believed that about 20 per cent of the students are of foreign extraction.

More water will be available for users this year according to a plan to be announced by the city commission at an early date. It is hoped this will enable more entries to enter the yard contest and that Clarendon will be the best kept city in the Panhandle in the fall. Phone your entry to the Chamber of Commerce and give your division.

The Chamber of Commerce is pleased with the numbers that took the Plainview trip. The business men of Clarendon are to be thanked for furnishing their cars for the trip. West Texas is fast becoming a great dairying section and Donley will get her part. A balanced system of farming will mean well for any county.

Clarendon should have her houses numbered and the streets named. It will be done some day and let us hope not long in the future.

Word from Amarillo has it that a broom factory will be established there. This will be another market for Donley county products and one close at home. The diversifying farmer will win.

LAYING OF DENVER RAILS COMPLETED INTO PLAINVIEW

PLAINVIEW, April 3.—This city is jubilant tonight with activities of a double celebration. The first Panhandle-Plains Dairy show opened here this morning, with indications that the attempt will be a big success.

But local citizens are more jubilant, if possible, over the building into the city limits this afternoon of the South Plains branch of the Fort Worth and Denver railway.

The building of this line into Plainview from this section of the country has been looked forward to by local citizens for many years and eagerly anticipated for more than a year, since the Denver announced that the branch line would be built out of Estelline.

F. E. Clarity, vice-president and general manager of the company, is in Plainview tonight, together with other officials, to participate in the celebration.

Work on the line will be continued on past the city to Dimmitt, near the New Mexico line, without any delay officials stated. More than 100 men are employed on the construction of the road.

Local citizens believe that the building of the Denver into this city marks the beginning of a new era of development for this section of the Plains.—Amarillo Daily News.

FIND BEAUTIFUL SCENERY

E. C. Pilcher and a party of friends went to the Quitaque country Sunday with the intention of visiting the famed tunnel on the Denver-South Plains railroad. But they found the gate into the pasture road leading to it padlocked and a "No Trespassing" sign. Keenly disappointed, they drove to Silverton, coming back from that little city via the Silverton-Clarendon road and found the scenery entrancingly beautiful. "That trip is well worth the time of any one," said Mr. Pilcher.—Childress Index.

HALL COUNTY HAS SHOWING OF OIL

MEMPHIS, April 3.—The finding of a distinctive showing of oil and gas in a 200 foot water well being drilled on the Dick Hut-hinson farm a few miles southeast of Memphis, has created quite a bit of interest in the local oil fraternity, and a number of big companies have had scouts inspecting the well.

The oil and gas indications were struck Saturday, just after the bit had passed through a thick strata of hard rock into one of sand. A distinct rainbow of oil is readily seen upon slush brought up in the hauler, and the roaring and bubbling of gas can be heard several feet from the mouth of the well, while some claim that they can smell gas faintly. Scores of local citizens visited the well Sunday, and a number of oil men and scouts from the Amarillo field drove down to inspect it. Others were expected Monday to pass judgement on the find.

Another strata of hard rock was encountered just under the sand, and drilling operations have been suspended, pending an examination of the well by experts. Quite a bit of acreage around the well has been leased by oil men of Memphis.

LOCAL MEN PULL A MONUMENTAL BONE

There are bones and bones that have gone down in History to the mortification of those most vitally connected, but none of them will compare favorably in size to the one now on display in the window of the H. C. Kerbow Hardware store. Judging from the size of the knee joint, the animal that carried this as a part of his bony structure must have been a monstrous creature of truly ancient lines. Ralph Kerbow had seen the bone in a sand bank on the river south of here for the past three or four years, but had paid little attention other than to look at it on passing that way when on a hunting trip. A short time past he cast all discretion to the winds and undertook the task of unearthing the specimen. More than fourteen feet of the bone was uncovered, and that part brought to town is all that could be carried to the city. The remainder of the bone was left buried in the bank and seemed to be in a perfect state of preservation in spite of the fact that it must have lain covered for many hundreds of years.
