

BARS ARE UP, TRACK IS CLEAR NOW OPPORTUNITY CLUB MEMBERS HAVE RIGHT OF WAY AS BIG RACE STARTS

FIRST LIST OF ENTRIES PUBLISHED TODAY; PLENTY OF ROOM AT TOP FOR MORE REAL LIVE WIRES; NOW IS BEST TIME TO ENTER UNDER TRIPLE CREDIT OFFER.

Today is published for the first time the list of the ambitious men and women of Clarendon and the surrounding towns and communities who have entered or who have been nominated as members of The News big $3,000 Opportunity Club which is just now starting.

Opposite each name today appear the credits, these for the most part being only the entry credits and the bonus of 10,000 credits issued on the first subscription obtained.

As will be noted, there is room for more in every section, especially in the outside towns and communities, and the number who are really active in their own behalf in the city of Clarendon is surprisingly small when the tremendous value of the prize list is taken into consideration.

Room For More Your Entry Blank, good for 2,000 free starting credits, appears in today's paper. All entries received now will be credited with this 2,000 credits.

Extra Credit Offers Right now is the very best time to enter, the best time of all. Those who start this week will be able to take practically full advantage of the three big extra credit offers which do not close until 9 P. M. Monday, October 3.

1. For every new subscription turned in up to that hour, 30,000 extra credits will be issued. 2. For every book of ten subscriptions (new or old) turned in up to that hour, 50,000 extra credits will be issued.

3. For each and every $20.00 worth of subscriptions (either new or old) turned in up to that hour, 150,000 extra credits will be issued, and the proportionate share for each dollar is $3.00.

There are no "holdovers" from today's list of entries, in other words, no one is in the campaign whose name does not appear in the first list of entries. All club members must be listed. This rule will be strictly adhered to.

Just four weeks from Saturday night—twenty-four working days—and the campaign will be over. Those who are thinking about getting in should get in now, and start working while credits are highest and subscriptions count the most.

Remember it costs nothing either now or later, and there is plenty of fun in store for those who make the race as well as a number of more than worth while prizes, so see to it

FULL CREW OF WORKMEN PREPARING WAY FOR GAS IN IMMEDIATE FUTURE.

Work has been going steadily forward on the gas ditches and the welding of the lines for the gas company that is to supply this commodity to Clarendon in the coming few months.

The ditcher was out of commission the latter part of last week and some new parts were put in that will make the machine work faster and more easily.

The first line that is being worked is making its way down Front Street and will be far past Kearney Street on the western side by the time the News is off the press.

The welding crew has finished their first run over the line into the city limits and have started with the ditcher from the eastern end of the line to complete welding their line into a complete unit.

So far as we have been able to determine, the company has not secured an office in the city, although this detail will be handled in the very near future, as soon as they are able to set the date for their entrance into the city with the gas.

Ditching and laying of gas mains is the program in Clarendon now, and the operations are being watched by the local citizenship with added zest since the temperature dropped.

This week's norther and cool snap is about a week earlier than the first one last year. Holding on with as good grip as it seems to have lends some color to the prediction that we are to have an early and hard winter in 1927.

Clarendon is still building. Two substantial business houses are under construction in the last few days. Both were started after Clarendon's building boom was over—according to some less optimistic than others. Clarendon's building continues.

One of our "dog ears" on the first page for many months has been "Natural Gas for Clarendon." Since gas is coming to town at an early date, we are edgeling our brain to supply another "dog ear." Life is just one goal after another—unless we fail.

Donley County's Fair which will be held in Clarendon, October 14-15, is going to be worth coming to see. It will be purely agricultural with the attendant industries, and will mark another milestone in the progress of this county. The Chamber of Commerce asks the co-operation of every one to make this the best County Fair in this section. No carnivals, no hokum—just a real honest-to-goodness farm, poultry and women's club Fair.

Clarendon merchants are going after the business this fall and expect to extend the trade territory boundaries beyond their present limits. The News is adding hundreds of new readers to its lists and proposes to be a mighty factor in aiding Clarendon merchants and the buying public of all the territory within thirty miles of our city. The fall of 1927 will be largely what we make it.

Paved road out of Pampa is to be built out on the Pampa to Clarendon highway in the coming year. The special road district including Pampa finally got over a bond issue for the building, so from another side the paved roads are reaching out toward Clarendon. It is just a matter of months until the question of paving Donley County highways will be squarely before the people of this county. Progress is knocking at the doors of all Panhandle counties more now than ever. More next year than now.

THE SOUTH—"WHERE LARGEST DEVELOPMENT MUST TAKE PLACE"

"The South is in an economic renaissance now. It is not a question when the advance of the South will begin. It is a question of going on with it. The South began its renaissance twenty-five years ago. Industrially, the South is the section of the world where the largest development must take place in the next twenty-five years. There is no question as to the bright future of the South."—Secretary Hoover.

Plans are about complete for the resumption of drilling on the A-T wildcat north of Clarendon. Men of faith have invested more money to guarantee the sinking of the test to the four thousand foot depth, and the best geologists predict the finding of oil in the next few hundred feet. Nothing could be of greater benefit to Clarendon and Donley County from a business standpoint than the finding of oil in the A-T. Faith deserves to be rewarded.

Our good contemporary, the Hall County Herald, advocates an archway over their new paving at the county lines, so that Hall County shall have her due credit for the new roads. Editor Johnson is absolutely right. Any county that puts over a permanent highway project is entitled to a lot of credit and we are happy to see Hall County get the roads and the credit that goes with them. Hall County is entitled to a little extra credit, for several years ago she got lots of cussing on account of some poor roads just west of Memphis which really belonged to Donley County.

A corporation may spread itself over the whole world, and may employ a hundred thousand men; but the average person will usually form his judgment of it through his contact with one individual. If this person is rude or inefficient, it will take a lot of kindness and efficiency to overcome the bad impression. Every member of an organization who in any capacity comes in contact with the public is a salesman, and the impression he makes is an advertisement good or bad.—Sharon.

NOT THE "SLEEPLESS REGULATOR" BUT THE "STATESMANLIKE ADMINISTRATOR"

Glenn Frank, President of the University of Wisconsin and formerly editor of the "Century," says in a recent syndicate article: "The solution of the problem of big business does not lie with the sleepless regulator, but with the statesmanlike administrator who can see the possibility of using bigness so that wages may be increased, hours shortened, prices lowered and total profits increased by virtue of the magnitude of operation." There is no better example of this sound business philosophy than the modern railroad system. An observer of the American lines cannot fail to be impressed by their continued remarkable growth and expansion. In the newspapers of every hamlet, village and city, notice follows notice that some great road is building new stations, tracts, and opening up new territories. Ten years ago the ordinary, unimaginative business man would have considered their scope as large as could be expected. But not the "statesmanlike administrators" of the railroads. Progress, the unceasing drive forward, seems inculcated in them. Probably few persons realize that the first real railroad in the United States was built in 1830, a line of a few miles in the State of Maryland. The modern fast, comfortable trains have all come into being in less than a hundred years. A citizen of the beginning of the nineteenth century would have laughed had anyone told him that his grandchildren would be able to cross the entire continent, from any point, within five days. But the railroads would have had the last laugh.

The color of canned salmon is no indication of its quality. It indicates variety. There are several kinds of salmon and these vary in color after canning from a bright red to almost white.

Try a stuffing for green peppers made of equal parts of fresh corn, cooked macaroni (in small pieces), and tomato, seasoned with butter, salt and pepper. Any minced cooked meat on hand may be added.

In serving a vegetable plate include one food that contains some protein, as for example, green peppers or tomatoes stuffed with a meat mixture, cauliflower or potatoes scalloped with cheese, spinach with hard-boiled eggs, or sweet corn pudding made with milk and eggs.

Corn fritters may be made from left-over corn on the cob. To four tablespoons fresh corn add one teaspoon melted fat, one teaspoon baking powder, one egg, one-half cup milk, one cup flour, one-half teaspoon salt. Mix to a batter and fry in deep fat.

The nighthawk, formerly wantonly shot for sport, is really one of the most useful of birds, and an insect catcher of great value. These birds scoop their prey out of the air on the wing. Biological Survey experts have examined stomachs of nighthawks and have found more than 50 different kinds of insects, representing thousands of individuals, in a single stomach.

POULTRY HINTS AND SUGGESTIONS

By F. W. Kazmeier, Bryan, Texas. Keeping Records.

The average farm hen lays about 70 eggs per year. How many of these do you have? Even under farm conditions where the hen picks up a part of her living, such a hen is a money losing proposition. Why do you continue to keep her? Present prices of feed makes it doubly important for you to keep records, so you will know what you are doing. If you do not keep records, you are groping in the dark, you are just stumbling along, you are guessing, you don't know how much money you are losing. Farming as a business, is carried on with less system and record keeping than any other business. The first step to a profitable farming program is a system of record keeping. At least make a start by keeping a record of the number of eggs produced each day by your flock. We will furnish these record sheets free of charge, if you will write us, just to get you started on the right road. Do you believe the man that said "it is right smart trouble picking up the eggs."

A Good Example

Here are the averages of all the farm demonstration flocks studied in Ohio in 1924:

Average number of hens per farm	234
Average eggs per hen	138
Cash receipts per hen	$5.19
Feed cost per hen	2.08
Profit per hen above feed costs	3.11

In answer to the above some of you will say, why don't you show some figures applicable to Texas and Oklahoma. In reply I will come right back and say because you don't keep records, you say it is too hot and troublesome. You claim your grandfather was a success, and did not keep books or records. You believe in following in the footsteps of your grandfather 20 years ago, you don't believe we have made any progress, you don't know that Col. Lindbergh made a non-stop flight across the Atlantic Ocean. Yes, we have made progress in poultry keeping as well as in aviation.

Which Breed Is Best

Egg production is not confined to any particular breed or variety. Egg production depends more upon the strain or breeding of the breed or variety. You can breed egg-production into any breed. You cannot feed eggs into chickens any more than you can feed speed into a horse. You can breed eggs into a chicken just like you can breed speed into a horse.

At the 1925 Storrs contest: 820 Rocks, Reds and Wyandottes averaged 144 eggs per hen; 580 Leghorns averaged 159 eggs per hen.

There is no doubt that the medium weight breeds can be bred to produce good egg-production.

At the 1924 New York contest the consumption of mash and grain was:

	Pounds	Cost
Leghorns	67	$1.76
R. I. Reds	69	1.79
R. I. Whites	70	1.92
White Wyandottes	63	1.65
White Rocks	79	2.06
Barred Rocks	75	1.95

In which of these two classes do you belong?

The First Farmer (Too Much Trouble)

Question: How many hens do you have?
Answer: Ask my wife.
Eggs per hen?
Don't know.
Profit per hen?
Couldn't say.

The Second Farmer

Question: How many hens do you have?
Answer: Two hundred.
Eggs per hen?
One hundred fifty.
Profit per hen?

One dollar and seventy-five cents. The first farmer's boys play around the drug stores and other places in town every Saturday afternoon and all forenoons. The first farmer himself may be seen on the court house square playing dominoes and chewing tobacco and killing grasshoppers all at the same time. He is too smart to play secretary to any old hen and belongs to the old school, that believes, "it is right smart trouble picking up the eggs."

Save the Poultry Manure

This may sound ridiculous to many farmers, especially those that believe in burning their own straw stacks each year, to save work. A hen produces about 30 pounds of roost manure during the night each year and about 20 pounds more during the day time. These droppings contain about 13 pounds of organic nitrogen, eight pounds of phosphoric acid and five and one-half pounds of potash. Go to town and consult your dealer handling commercial fertilizer, in regard to the price of these ele-

WALTER S. ELKINS, GRADUATE OF BLIND SCHOOL, TO ATTEND CLARENDON JUNIOR COLLEGE

After finishing the Blind Institute at Austin with highest honors of in his class, Walter S. Elkins of Midland chose Clarendon Junior College as the school to continue his education. The young man in question is the brother of Mrs. L. B. Cooper and will make his home with Mr. and Mrs. Cooper while here. He is only partially blind, being able to make his way from one place to another with little difficulty, but is unable to read closely or to see sufficiently to allow him to pursue his classes in the ordinary manner.

As is found in most blind people, the young man has an excellent memory and is able to grasp his studies almost instantly when they are read to him. He is able to take notes in class by means of the point system, which consists in punching holes in the paper to make symbols that may later be read by touch. The cause of the partial blindness is due to an attack of Basal Meningitis some five years past.

The course the young man plans to pursue will be one of regular literary subjects, coupled with special studies in music and feature story writing. He is quite an accomplished musician on all wind and reed instruments, specializing on the saxophone. His intentions are to join the bar and other organizations of a like nature and will in all probability be seen in one or more of these organizations during the year that is just ahead.

His parents are Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Elkins of Midland, well known ranchers and long time residents of that part of the state.

FOR NO REASON AT ALL.

A popular magazine, catering to the multitude, in one of its recent issues ran an article tending to show the relation of physical height to success. A survey summing up the answers to a questionnaire returned by some 14,000 whose names appear in "Who's Who in America," was the basis of the magazine's opinions. The average height of the successful man, according to their survey, is 5 feet 9.5 inches—a figure somewhat above the average for the entire United States.

In the face of these figures, if they were the fact, did the real secret of an actual cross section of successful men, would be very discouraging to the man of diminutive physical proportions. By those who know, "Who's Who in America" does not include in its pages all occupations. It deals primarily with the professions and the public figures—whereas the greatest successes today are in the business world, "born to blush unseen" in the pages of that profound and perhaps, biased, volume, "Who's Who."

Also, the magazine confesses that the questions were also submitted—that some returning the questionnaires would tickle their own ribs by adding inches to their actual measurements, and quite as certainly would none falsify by recording less than their full height, plus tip-toes. So, it was more than difficult to pick out those answers which told "little lies," less of a problem to discard those committing themselves to "big lies" of several feet. Hence, besides being worthless, the report is inaccurate.

The truth of the matter, from a biological standpoint, physical proportions have nothing whatsoever to do with man's ability to succeed in life. Even the size of his brain does not determine the volume of its contents. A man's mind (although mental tests have been made which show rather conclusively whether a mentality is below average, average, or exceptional), ability and to what degree he will use these factors cannot be measured in inches, ounces or any other physical comparison. Conclusively, size one way or another is of inconsequential importance.

The survey, as made by that magazine, is actually worth less than the paper it is written on. It was only a space filler. And instead of being of some scientific value, to some who did not read clearly it might prove harmful, especially to those who possess already an inferiority complex due to small physique.

Some magazines would be sensational at any cost, and doubtless this was such an attempt. However, just as there are good and bad people, who have good and bad influence—they say it makes all kinds of people to make up the world—it must take all kinds of magazines to make a newsstand complete.—William J. Wyatt.

AMERICAN EXPRESS COMPANY ADDS AIR EXPRESS SERVICE

G. L. Green, local agent for the American Express Company, was in The News office the forepart of this week with the statement that his company had added an air service to connect with the larger cities of the country in giving fast service for valued and needed articles. The shipments will be picked up here and will be carried by rail to either Fort Worth or Dallas, where they will be picked up by plane and carried to other points where they may be destined to go. In case the planes do not make the designated point, the parcels will be carried by plane to the nearest rail station and will be relayed from there to their destination by rail. Rates will be made in proportion to the service rendered, and these will be found to be quite in line with the rates charged for air mail service. Nearly all classes of merchandise accepted for express shipment by mail will be carried by plane.

DON'T BE MISGUIDED ABOUT "COMPETITION"

Competition is a harsh word. It has to be used because no other word takes its place, but as a matter of fact those engaged in the same line of business should be the best of friends. We would much rather help our competitors than harm them.

Competition has never accomplished anything worth while, has never done any permanent or constructive good for anyone. Co-operation, on the other hand, has worked wonders for industries wherever it has been practiced wholeheartedly and unselfishly.

An industry's real competition is with the other industries, not with others engaged in the same business. The automobile is in competition with the radio, the piano, with furniture, the new home, and other items and products which the public's dollar would buy in its stead, not with other makes of automobiles. Good merchandisers of automobiles are selling in their advertising the joy of the open road, the pleasure of travel, convenience, beauty, pride of ownership, speed and the like, more than they are stressing any particular automobile's advantages.

The manufacturers of oil field equipment are coming to appreciate the worth of getting together and co-operation. At the International Petroleum Exposition, to be held in Tulsa, Oklahoma, September 24 to October 1, the subject of "standardization of oil field equipment" will be an important feature. To carry out this program of standardization as designed will demand co-operation, not competition. The manufacture of oil field equipment under the urge of competition has had its weight, and been found wanting. Standardization and co-operation are now up for trial.

When competitors cut prices below the level that shows a legitimate profit, the consumer generally pays in a reduction of product quality. There will be those who challenge this statement, but when one does not follow the other it merely follows that another miracle has been performed. And the age of miracles is passed.

The only way to meet competition without doing injustice to yourself and competitor at once is to improve quality and service. Much has been said and written about "service"—a better word probably is "reliability" as expressing that something which, other things being equal, ties the buyer to the seller as does no other human qualification. Reliability embodies not only a right price and a right product, but a human interest in the customer—which outstrips the dollar involved.—William J. Wyatt.

WATCH FOR "LIGHTNING HUTCH"

PROFITS IN TREES

"Why should farmers plant trees?" is asked and answered by Alfred B. Hastings of the Forest Service, United States Department of Agriculture.

Trees set idle acres, too rough or too sterile for planting, to work growing an always marketable crop. Though trees take a number of years to reach maturity, a young plantation adds cash value to a farm, just as a young orchard does. In a few years it yields small material in the form of thinnings, such as poles and fence posts; later fuel and pulp wood; and finally tie and saw timber. It is a savings bank that pays compound interest. Timber growing is a necessary part of diversified farming, affording employment and wages for winter work. A farm wood lot is security to the banker and the farm loan board.

John Butler

This community was thrown into a gloom of sorrow when our friend and neighbor, Mr. John Butler, was stricken with paralysis on Monday evening, two weeks ago. All that loving hands and friends could do was of no avail, and on Wednesday morning, September 14, he passed away to the great beyond. His remains were taken to Garland, accompanied by Mrs. Butler, his brother, Will Butler, and Miss Eula Haley. He was laid to rest in the cemetery at Big Spring. Fastest Four in America Proves Its Claim to Title

Dodge Averages 67.35 miles per hour in Beating All Other Fours in Atlantic City A. A. A. Race

The Atlantic City (N.J.) Speedway Association, without Dodge Brothers instigation or knowledge, bought a Dodge Brothers Four and entered it in a Labor Day race for Four cylinder stock cars. Four cars of other makes also competed. All were strictly stock cars as required by the rules of the association.

The race was for 25 miles—to determine which was "The Fastest Four in America."

The Dodge won. Its average speed for the entire race, from a standing start, was 67.35 miles per hour (officially timed by A. A. A.).

Generous confirmation, to say the least, of the modest claim of "Mile-a-minute Performance!"

Even more remarkable than the speed, however, is the fact that the car had been driven only 10 days and yet was able to withstand this difficult test without once stopping.

Thus the race not only offers conclusive proof of the Dodge's superiority in speed, but stands also as a glowing tribute to the rugged materials and excellent workmanship that go to make it—

Dance at Country Club Enjoyed Tuesday Evening

One of the much enjoyed social affairs of the week was an informal dance at the Country Club Tuesday evening, at which members of the Dinner-Bridge Club and their friends were guests. A small orchestra furnished music.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Homer Ellis, Mr. and Mrs. Forest Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Phillips Gentry, Mr. and Mrs. Meredith Gentry, Dr. and Mrs. O. L. Jenkins, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Dyer, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Trent, and Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Bell. A buffet supper was served.

American Legion Auxiliary To Give Benefit Bridge

A benefit bridge will be given by the American Legion Auxiliary, Aubyn E. Clark Post, at the home of Mrs. James Trent, Saturday afternoon, September 24, for the purpose of raising funds for Christmas gifts to disabled soldiers in the government hospitals in the State.

The affair will be very similar to any other large party except for the fact that there will be no prizes. Refreshments will be served, of course. A cordial invitation is extended to everyone who is interested in bridge or in the worthy cause to which the funds will go. Table or place reservations may be made through Mrs. L. L. Swan or Mrs. Ralph Kerbow. The game begins at three thirty.

Mrs. Dorr Ellis Hostess To Club Friday Afternoon

The Friday Bridge Club was entertained last week by Mrs. Dorr Ellis. Four tables were in the game, with the following club members and special guests playing: Mrs. Homer Ellis, Mrs. Sam Dyer, Mrs. Charles Trent, Mrs. Meredith Gentry, Mrs. Park Chamberlain, Mrs. Forest Taylor, Mrs. Nat Perrine, Mrs. O. L. Jenkins, Mrs. Holman Kennedy, Mrs. James H. Morris, Mrs. Phillips Gentry, Mrs. Clarence Miller, Miss Mary Cooke, Miss Norma Rhodes, Mrs. Willette Cole, and Miss Anna Moores. Score favors went to Mrs. Trent, member, and Mrs. Phillips Gentry, guest. Mrs. Jenkins cut high for consolation. Following the award of the exquisite prizes, a two course luncheon was served.

George Watson Celebrates Fourth Birthday With Party

The fourth birthday of Master George Watson was properly celebrated Wednesday afternoon of last week in a delightful party at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Watson. Games were played on the lawn, after which the all important ceremony of cutting the birthday cake was performed in the beautifully decorated dining room. The cake was served with pink ice cream.

The little friends who enjoyed the occasion with George and added to the pleasantness of the affair by presenting gifts were the following: Ethel Wilder, Maralyn Maher, Frances Hott, Luvelle Ryan, Kathleen Ryan, Betty Jo Caraway, Joe McClung, Hermann Gattis, and Jimmie Lutson.

Mrs. James Trent Entertains Club With Lovely Party

Mrs. James Trent was hostess to her afternoon bridge club and a few other friends Tuesday afternoon. Three tables were in the game, the following playing: Mrs. G. B. Bagby, Mrs. Charles H. Bugbee, Mrs. R. A. Chamberlain, Mrs. W. H. Cooke, Mrs. Odos Caraway, Mrs. Sella Gentry, Mrs. A. R. Letts, Mrs. W. H. Martin, Mrs. L. L. Swan, Mrs. J. T. Sims, Mrs. J. D. Browder, and Mrs. Whitfield Carhart of Greenville. High score was made by Mrs. Bagby and the cut favor went to Mrs. Sims.

At the conclusion of the game, a delicious two-course luncheon was served at the prettily appointed dining table. Pink roses and pink crepe myrtle made a lovely centerpiece for the table and were used as decoration throughout the house. The menu developed the pink and white color scheme.

Miss Virginia Hundley Entertains Friends on Birthday

One of the pleasant occasions for the younger set during the past weeks was supplied by Miss Virginia Hundley when she celebrated her twelfth birthday at the home of Mrs. J. T. Griswold, Saturday afternoon, September 12. After numerous rounds of the lively game of Rook the guests repaired to the lawn, where kodak pictures were made in many interesting poses. They were then invited into the dining room, where dainty refreshments were served. A vase of pink and white rosebuds surrounded by sprays of fern made a pretty centerpiece, which gave place only to the snow white cake lighted by pink candles. At each place on a pedestal of white divinity stood a petite ballet doll in pink, whose full skirts were soon discovered to conceal a small bottle of perfume. The honoree received many lovely gifts during the afternoon.

Those present were: Dorothy Headrick, Jean Bourland, Johnnie D. Latson, Glen Curry, Teetie Carter, Mary Jo Hundley, and the

LIONS HOLD BIG MEET TUESDAY

BEST ATTENDANCE IN WEEKS MARKS OPENING OF FALL FOR LUNCHEONS.

With only three Lions absent from their places around the table at the luncheon Tuesday of this week, the Lions opened their Fall with one of the most successful luncheons of the year. Enthusiasm ran at its height all through the luncheon and every member was feeling that the year was opening auspiciously with the club.

Messrs. Bob Powell of Houston and V. Y. Scofield of Dallas were the guests of the day. Mr. Scofield told the Lions of his attendance on the Charter luncheon of the Nuevo Laredo Lions Club in Mexico and related that the event meant a great deal to the United States and to the nation of Mexico and would be an event that would be long remembered.

Lion Frank Houston was called on for a few remarks since he had been absent from the club for such a long time. He was made to feel that his presence was welcome and that he would be welcome indeed when it came time for him to be present at one of the luncheons of the Clarendon Lions.

Lion Boykin was called to the floor and was asked concerning the good done by the Donley County exhibit at the Tri-State Fair. He stated that it stood well with the others of the Panhandle and that it showed what could be done here in dry years. He stated further that the time to advertise Donley County was in times of drouth, when other parts of the state could show good products and Donley County could show some that were better even for the dry weather that had held off quantity production.

Lion Patman reported for the scholarship committee and stated that seventeen men had responded to the call and that three were lacking to make the fund complete. Four Lions came to the front with their names and asked to be put on the list to complete the loan fund for the year.

Lion Patman then stated that a proposal had been put before the Chamber of Commerce and that he would like an expression from the Lions on the matter. This matter pertains to the lack of a teacher for Vocational Agriculture and a coach for the High School. Anxious to be of service to the community, the Chamber of Commerce asks if the people would be willing for the Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce to be used in this position to a good advantage without loss to the body and with a gain to the school.

The proposition as put to the Lions Club states that the High School has been unable to locate a teacher for the above named classes and that they would ask the secretary Boykin to be put in both places. He would spend the mornings in the office of the Chamber of Commerce and would teach and coach the teams of the High School in the afternoons. This is being done in a number of towns in the state with a saving to the Chamber of Commerce. The loss of three units of affiliation to the High School would be a blow that would be hard to replace and it will possibly be best for the school and for the Chamber of Commerce that the scheme be given a thorough trial.

A number of the members of the club stated that they would be perfectly willing for the plan to be given a thorough trial and that rather than lose the credits that the secretary be given the place.

The general opinion of the Lions was that Lion Boykin should be given an opportunity to take over the work and be of still greater service to the town than he has already been in the past. Singing of "America" concluded the luncheon after all discussions were ended.

FALL WEATHER OPENS SUNDAY

COLD NORTHER AND RAIN MAKE THOUGHTS RUN TO WINTER SUPPLIES.

The opening of the Fall of 1927 was ushered in early Sunday morning by the arrival of the first real norther of the season. The fact that the weather seemed so cold was made more evident by the fact that the days of the past two weeks have been more than ordinarily hot and sultry for the time of year.

The wind hit the city early Sunday morning and was followed about noon by a steady downpour of rain, which made fifty-eight one-hundredths of an inch before the clouds ceased their outpourings. The moisture will be more than appreciated in some sections of the county, where the row crops have been suffering for lack of sufficient moisture to insure their maturing.

Tuesday morning, The News received word that the first frost of the year might be expected Wednesday morning. This failed to materialize, but many citizens began to think of their winter coal supplies and to wonder if the gas would be here in time for them to be kept warm by its heat.

The rain will insure good fall pasture for the stockman and will insure that many of the producers will have a good crop of feed for sale and for their own use. The men who are planning to plant all or part of their farms to wheat will appreciate the rain and will be assured a good stand if they can get their wheat into the ground within the next few days.

MRS. G. M. RICHARDS BURIED WEDNESDAY; DIED MONDAY

Funeral services for Mrs. G. M. Richards, who died Monday, September 20, were held Wednesday afternoon at the First Methodist Church, with the Reverend A. L. Moore in charge. The scriptures that were read and the beautiful songs sung by the church choir were favorites of the deceased, which she had requested be included in her last rites. The service was attended by a large number of friends of the late Mrs. Richards and her family, and an immense offering of flowers further attested to the love and esteem in which the deceased was held. Interment was made in the Citizens Cemetery.

Annie Propst was born in 1868 in Lamar County, Alabama. She grew to womanhood in Millfort, Alabama, where, on October 6, 1889, she was married to G. M. Richards. To them were born six children, of whom three are now living. The family moved to Clarendon in 1903. Mrs. Richards was very prominent in the work of the Methodist Church during the entire time she has lived in Clarendon. She taught a Sunday School Class for years and was one of the most valuable members of the Woman's Missionary Society. In these circles she will be very greatly missed. She became a member of the Church in early childhood.

Mrs. Richards had been in ill health for several months, but her death was unexpected. She died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Annie Lou Deering of Lakeview. She is survived by her husband, two daughters, Mrs. Deering of Lakeview and Mrs. Willie Nell Baldwin of Brownfield, and one son, Emmett Richards of Wellington.

MRS. W. A. LEWIS BURIED HERE FRIDAY, 16TH

Mrs. Lilly Lewis, wife of W. A. Lewis, died in Lubbock Thursday, September 15. The body was brought to Clarendon for burial, and the funeral service was held at the Citizens Cemetery at two o'clock Friday afternoon, September 16. The Reverend E. H. Garner of Lubbock conducted the funeral.

FRIED APPLES AND BACON

Thinly sliced bacon is delicious when browned under the flame of the broiler in a gas stove. It is then free of excess fat, crisp and appetizing. Good results can also be obtained by frying it in a heavy skillet, draining the slices and absorbing a large part of the fat with brown paper. Apples or tomatoes can then be fried in the fat and according to the Bureau of Home Economics, U. S. Department of Agriculture, make a particularly attractive breakfast dish. The following recipe is suggested for fried apples and bacon: Select good tart apples. Peel and cut them in three-fourths to one inch cubes. Fry the bacon in a heavy skillet. As soon as the slices of bacon are crisp, remove and drain them on clean, brown paper. For frying the apples you will need about one-fourth cup of the bacon fat. Put the apples in the hot bacon fat, piling them up rather high in the frying pan. Sugar to taste. Be sure you use enough sugar; apples fried this way require a little more sugar than apple fried in the ordinary way. Cover and cook slowly until tender. Then remove the cover, and turn the apples gently, so the pieces will keep their shape. Let them brown lightly; they are then almost transparent. Place them in a hot platter and surround them with the bacon.

Rubber hoof pads are not recommended for horses that work on the farm, as the soil works its way under the pad, causing lameness by extra pressure on the navicular joint. When rubber pads are used, the Bureau of Animal Industry advises that pine tar with a thin layer of oakum should be applied to the sole of the foot to keep it moist and avoid contraction.

WHAT'S DOING IN WEST TEXAS

West Texas Chamber of Commerce

Texline.—Approximately 150 tons of clay are shipped from Texline each week. The quality of the material is remarked upon wherever it is sent. Texline people are hoping to attract a clay products company here for manufacturing purposes.

Perryton.—Perryton will serve as host to the first convention held by the newly formed "Trans-Canadian" district of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. The district embraces a tier of ten counties in the North Panhandle region of Texas. Fifty towns of Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, and New Mexico have been invited to send delegates, and at least 300 are expected.

Spearman.—Tax-paying voters of Spearman have instructed their city council to invest the sum of $80,000 in public improvements. This amount will be divided as follows: $50,000 for a sewer system; $10,000 for a new city hall, and $20,000 for paying some city indebtedness.

Abilene.—The West Texas Chamber of Commerce is protesting designation of the "Llano Estacado" of Northwest Texas and Eastern New Mexico as a "very dry and almost woodless plateau" such as was given recently by a national periodical. The organization has compiled figures which show that this area is one of the richest farming sections of the entire nation and is offering widespread refutation of the article.

San Saba.—Everything is in readiness for entertainment of delegates from the pecan-belted Hills Country District of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce here on September 22. Many prominent speakers are on the program and a special sheep and goat raisers meeting has been arranged to be held in connection with the regular convention.

Paducah.—Cottle County will have a two-day, free fair here October 4 and 5. A series of good wild trips covering 23 communities of the trade territory are being made by the Chamber of Commerce, accompanied by the Chamber of Commerce Band. The fair management is strongly favoring organized community exhibits rather than individual exhibits. The Cottle County Division of the Green Belt Poultry Association will hold their show in connection with the exhibition.

Carlsbad, N. M.—Guests at the Crawford Hotel here are entertained in a new 30-room addition to the hostelry, these rooms being arranged with new and modern furnishings.

Lockney.—Work on the $30,000 municipal water extension to industrial Lockney is finished and the water has been turned into the mains. With the present system, the city is enabled to furnish water to the residential consumer at 10 cents per thousand gallons, and to the industrial consumer at eight cents per thousand, with a minimum charge of one dollar per month.

Winters.—The annual meeting of the Winters Chamber of Commerce will be held September 19. The gathering will be a "home" affair but will be outstanding for the reason of a greatly increased outline of activity and educational campaign.

Wichita Falls.—Stimulus to the industrial and commercial life of Wichita Falls has been added greatly with the announcement that the world's largest poultry ranch and a large cheese factory are to be established here. M. Johnson of Bowie plans to have a mammoth chicken plant in operation here by January 1, 1928. The Kraft Cheese Company, a national concern, will build a branch factory here that will produce products for national consumption.

Dimmitt.—Unprecedented building activities are under way here. Among the work is construction of a new school auditorium, costing more than $3,000. Several business houses are included in the building program. Work is progressing rapidly on the Fort Worth and Denver terminal here.

Lampasas.—Ranchmen have begun fall shearing in this section. The fleece is said to be heavy and the clip unusually fine. The fall clip is expected to be the largest in the history of the county.

Muleshoe.—Construction has been started on a 25x30 foot brick and tile business house here. The work is expected to be completed within thirty days.

Hereford.—Natural gas is to be piped into Hereford not later than December 1, 1928, according to contract signed with the West Texas Gas Company. A twenty-year franchise was granted to them by the city commission.

Quitaque.—A city hall, and a jail are to be erected here at a cost of $45,000. The building will be 20x40 feet, fireproof, and of reinforced concrete.

Channing.—Mrs. Hubert Bishop has been placed on the staff of the Hartley County News, following resignation of Alvin Daves, who has returned to college for the winter term.

Lightning conductors should be attached directly to a building with metallic fasteners. Porcelain insulators are not required. A good electrical connection with the wet roof and walls of a building, says the Weather Bureau, helps to relieve the structure of its charge. When a conductor of sufficient weight per foot is used (the minimum is three ounces for copper conductors), there is no danger of the building being fired, even when a direct stroke of lightning is passing through the conductors.

TRUCK FARMING IN DONLEY GOOD PAY

CRUSE AND REYNOLDS PROVE INDUSTRY HAS BIG RETURNS; TO HAVE EXHIBIT.

Visitors to the Donley County Fair in Clarendon, October 14 and 15, will be interested and perhaps a little puzzled by one exhibit they will find among the commercial booths. This exhibit will resemble a very complete and well selected community agricultural exhibit from a prosperous neighborhood. It will contain everything that will be found in any community or club entry and then some. Nevertheless, it will represent one industry, as will other commercial exhibits at the Fair.

The exhibit under discussion is that which will come from the Cruse and Reynolds truck farm. Messrs. Reynolds and Cruse have already made reservations with the Fair committee for a booth. They will be given one of the most advantageous positions in the building, in order that all who attend the Fair may see just what can be done in the way of truck farming in Donley County. The booth will contain samples of tomatoes, beans, peas, corn, okra, several varieties of pepper, squash, turnips, watermelons, cantaloupes, pumpkins, and several kinds of fruit. It will also contain a well arranged exhibit of canned fruits and vegetables, by-products of the truck farm. Cotton and grains will form the background for the exhibit, and poultry and dairy products will be on exhibit. Fair visitors will doubtless be surprised to find so complete an exhibit from one farm in this county.

If they could know the financial story represented by this exhibit they would be even more surprised. It is hard to understand how so prosperous and thriving an industry should escape the knowledge of most of the citizens of the county, but that is exactly what has happened. This truck farm, which is located south of Lelia Lake, hardly a mile out of town, has been literally unknown to any but those who live in the Lelia Lake community and a very few others. In the meantime the farm was sending truck loads of vegetables and melons to Clarendon, Memphis, Helley, Amarillo, Pampa, Borger, Panhandle, and other points, to be sold by retail merchants.

The farm is two years old and has prospered since its beginning. In fact, its success was practically assured before it was started. There is always a ready market for the truck farmer's products. It is not but there was (and still is, say Cruse and Reynolds) an exceptionally fine opportunity in the Panhandle for the market is anything but crowded with home-grown produce. Mr. Reynolds says that he and Mr. Cruse had truck farming in mind from the first, and that Mrs. Reynolds is largely responsible. It seems that Mrs. Reynolds decided to plant tomatoes on some land that had previously been left to Johnson grass because it was frequently flooded. The few plants she set out did so well and bore such fine tomatoes that she determined to plant enough the next year "to sell a few." This she did and the crop exceeded all expectations. In fact, "the few to sell" brought the neat sum of $500. That was three years ago. The following year the truck farming business was begun in earnest by Mr. Reynolds and Mr. Cruse. Choosing eight acres of sub-irrigated land between their two farms, they planted tomatoes and many other vegetables which would be easily raised and easily marketed. Before the season was over they found that they could sell everything they could raise, most of it at their very door. The rest they shipped to ready markets in the Panhandle.

Neither Mr. Reynolds nor Mr. Cruse claims that truck farming is an easy road to riches or a get-rich-quick scheme. They admit that there is much hard work connected with it, but the work is no harder, they say, than the work they formerly did in raising cotton crops. The difference, they say, is that returns are certain in the case of truck farming. It does not take an entire season to raise a tomato plant, and a late season is not stark tragedy to the truck farmer. Food crops have a faster turn-over and are certainly less affected by the queer turns of the stock market. The whole business is less complicated and much more satisfactory than depending entirely on one crop. The easiest way to describe the success of the venture is to tell the story in dollars and cents, just as it is found on the systematically kept books of the business firm. Last year's record shows that one acre of beans brought $200; one acre and a half of tomatoes, $99.17; one-eighth acre of okra, $35.34; one acre of cantaloupes, $69.65; three acres of watermelons, $99; one-eighth acre of peppers, $45.88. The total amount is $1,439.04, of which about $50 was spent for labor for the summer.

It must be remembered that this amount was the return on eight acres of vegetables and that the truck farm was considered a sideline by the two farmers. The grain and cotton crops were made as usual on each farm. It will be remembered that cotton and grain prices of 1926 were nothing to cheer the heart of the man who took truck farming seriously. Mr. Cruse says that his cotton crop barely paid the rent on the land and that Mr. Reynolds' crop would have done little more. Whereas the cotton crop, and it was a good one so far as yield was concerned, netted them no profit, the returns from the truck farm were practically all profit.

Compared with other seasons, this year has been a bad one for gardeners. The fall gardens are much larger and better than the earlier ones, and just what the year's profit from the Cruse and Reynolds truck farm will be is still a question. The books show the following sales up to September 1: Peppers, $59.99; tomatoes, $394.42; okra, $41.53; cantaloupes, $25.63; cucumbers, $12.57; beans, $56.29. The total is $590.43, and again the expenditure for labor will be about $50. The season is young.

This record does not take into consideration the several hundred jars and cans of vegetables that have been put up from the farm produce. Some of this will be sold, as it was last year, and there will still be more than enough left to last the two families a year. Mr. Reynolds and Mr. Cruse invested in a huge pressure canner and sealer when they entered the truck farming business, and they have found the investment a most profitable one. Another item not shown in the record is the tons of beans, peas, and corn that have been dried and stored.

Mr. Cruse and Mr. Reynolds are most enthusiastic on the subject of diversified farming and they are much interested in seeing their neighbors and farmers throughout the country try the plan. They have adopted the same system in regard to other farm work that they have in raising vegetables—to have more than enough for home use. Each sells chickens, turkeys, eggs, cream, butter, milk, a little meat and occasionally some lard, and a few fruits. They also raise more than enough feed for their own stock, and they have always made a practice of doing this, they can easily observe the great difference in living at home and in buying most of their food supplies from a grocery store and a grain dealer. One of the most attractive features of the truck farming plan, they say, is that the farm is adding to the bank account all the year round, instead of forming a drain upon the bank fund as it did when the farm had one main crop.

JAMES PRATT HARRIS BURIED IN HEDLEY, 14TH

The mortal remains of Pratt Harris, who died at Lakeview, Oregon, on September 2, arrived in Hedley Tuesday night.

A huge crowd of sorrowing and sympathizing friends assembled at the B. E. Harris home at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, where the funeral services were held, conducted by Rev. Joseph E. Eldridge, under the direction of the American Legion. The American Legion boys of Charles E. Simmons Post of Memphis were here to assist the local boys in paying the last tribute to their comrade of the World War. Twelve shots were fired as a salute over the grave, after which "taps" were sounded. Mr. Harris served in the 348th Field Artillery, and he saw eighteen months of service.

The throng of friends attending these last solemn rites included a large number from out of town, and the floral offerings were profuse and beautiful. James Pratt Harris was born November 15, 1892, at Sherman, Minn., the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Harris. He is survived by his parents, one sister, Miss Mary, and three brothers, Sid, of Clarendon, and John and Will, of McLean.

A host of friends offer loving sympathy to the family in their sad bereavement.—Hedley Informer.

TRI-STATE EXHIBIT FINE ADVERTISING

BOYKIN SAYS EXHIBIT OFFSETS EFFECT OF CROP FAILURE PROPAGANDA.

"My general impression is that Donley's exhibit at the Tri-State Fair in Amarillo last week was the very best kind of advertising the county could have, especially in this dry year when there is an impression abroad in the country that Donley has suffered a crop failure," said Secretary G. L. Boykin of the Chamber of Commerce, after returning from Amarillo where he spent the week in taking care of the exhibit.

Mr. Boykin states that the Donley County exhibit, which was entered for advertising purposes only, was so good that it outranked the greater number of those entered for competition. He believes that if it had been entered in competitive class it would have placed with the first four or five county exhibits.

The judges, he said, in the same opinion and asked why Donley had not entered for prizes. At the time the exhibit was carried to Amarillo feedstuffs in this county were rather green. Two weeks later they could have been shown with the best feeds in the country, according to the general opinion. The late season on grains and feeds made it advisable to enter for advertising and not enter the competition at the Fair.

Donley County melons, pumpkin, and grapes attracted much attention. The melons and grapes took first prizes and the pumpkins second prize. Frank Hardin raised the melons and pumpkins, while J. C. Estlack raised the grapes. Mr. Boykin says the grapes were easily the sensation of the entire fruit show at the Fair. They are a large and very delicious variety which Mr. Estlack has developed himself, and are a cross between the California and the Delaware. Many expressed surprise at finding that such grapes could be grown anywhere in the Panhandle. They can be grown easily in West Texas counties and are adapted to the blow-sand soil of this territory. A. K. "Dad" Short, Federal Farm Loan Bank representative, was much interested in the grapes shown at the Fair. He declares that the grape is the best crop for the greater part of the Panhandle and for the counties having the loose, blow-sand soil, in particular. He considers Mr. Estlack's grape the best he has seen.

People who know conditions in Donley County were more than ever impressed with the possibilities of the county after seeing the excellent showing at the Fair. Many made the voluntary statement that they knew Donley County was one of the best counties in the entire state, they were not greatly surprised to see the finest of agricultural produce from there in even a very bad year. The Donley exhibit attracted as much attention and brought about as many questions as any exhibit at the Fair, competitive class or otherwise.

The value of this kind of exhibit is greater this year than at any other time, as it counteracts the bad effects of the crop failure propaganda which may damage Donley county in many respects. Many competent judges who saw the exhibit from this county asked if the county would exhibit at the Dallas Fair and said that they believed it would make one of the best showings there, in case such an exhibit was made.

REV. INGRAM WRITES THAT CONTEST WILL BE FAIR ONE

9739 Dearborn Ave., Home Gardens, Los Angeles, California, Sept. 14, 1927.

Sam M. Braswell: Your favor of the 10th inst. to hand. I see you are to have a car contest managed by the same young man who had the management of the car race the Wellington Leader gave away October 30, 1926. This car contest I was in and did not have time to quarrel with the other fellow who said I'd be left and would not be in it.

And I wish to say if he is the same man I found him to be that no one need fear a square deal will not be had. I hope to see the paper in my home in one of the suburban towns of Los Angeles.

Yes, I am enjoying the cats and especially the climate. I met an old man 87 years in age today. He said this California coast was the finest place on earth for old men. Well, I see lots of old people here. I tell them so long as I can work, I'll go to it and so far I have been too busy to look around but lots of people here looking for jobs so they say, just to October 1. And I tip the beam at 75 and I bantered a lot of small boys today to race but was afraid I'd beat them.

Yes, big industries are planning here and 352,000 children start this week to school in Los Angeles besides the adjoining towns. Yes, I'd be beat to come back and be in Clarendon.

Luck to you all.
REV. C. B. INGRAM.

WIN ONE CLASS ELECTS NEW OFFICERS MONDAY MEETING

New officers for the year were elected at an important business meeting transacted at the regular meeting of the Win One Class of the Methodist Sunday School, which was held Monday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Homer Ellis. The new officers are: Mrs. U. J. Boston, president; Mrs. Homer Ellis, vice-president; Mrs. Ralph Kerbow, secretary, and Mrs. Bennett Kerby, treasurer.

The Win One Class previously voted to establish a scholarship in Clarendon College. Following the election of officers, it was announced that the scholarship had been awarded and that the young lady who holds it is now in school. Mrs. Sam Dyer, chairman of the Hope Chest Committee, reported that an unusually large amount of material had been placed in the chest during the past month. She also distributed stamped material for embroidery.

A delightful social hour was enjoyed at the close of the business session, during which the hostesses, Mrs. Ellis and Mrs. Will Johnson, served delicious refreshments. Thirty members of the class attended the meeting.

THE QUICKER WAY

One way to improve a herd of hogs is to use a purebred sire with grade sows. "But why," asks E. Z. Russell, swine specialist of the U. S. Department of Agriculture "spend from seven to ten years of valuable time in breeding up, when a start can be made with the best there is? Hogs multiply so rapidly that if only one purebred sow were purchased as a start, a good sized herd could be produced in a very short time. If one will take one good sow and keep her and save her best pigs, breeding them regularly, he can produce more than 300 hogs in three years."

Kestrels reduce erosion. Any vegetable cover tends to reduce erosion, but forests usually perform this function more effectively and permanently than any other type of vegetation. This is because of the thick mulch of leaf litter and branches which they drop upon the ground. Furthermore, they are constantly feeding humus into the soil itself, increasing its porosity and binding its mineral constituents.

"INSIDE" INFORMATION

Score or prick baked potatoes to let the steam escape when cooked.

Celery for soup should be chopped or cut very fine to give the juices a chance to mix with the other soup flavors.

Beets need not always be served cold, in vinegar. The new, young summer beets are especially good hot, with butter and salt and pepper. Cook them in their skins and peel them when done by plunging quickly into cold water.

If your sewing machine has been closed for any length of time, it will probably need a thorough going over. Wipe and dust it carefully, fill your oil can with kerosene, oil every part and run it vigorously without thread until well loosened up. Then oil with good quality of machine-oil and go over all the parts again. Wipe and clean carefully, stitch on scraps until the thread is perfectly clean, and as a final precaution, tie a bit of wool on the presser foot above the needle to prevent any oil from running down on the work.

The poultry industry of the United States is a billion dollar industry. In fact, according to Roy C. Potts, chief poultry marketing specialist of the United States Department of Agriculture, it has passed well beyond that value and has become one of the leading agriculture industries of the country. Chicken egg production on farms is in the neighborhood of 2,000,000,000 dozen annually with a value of $600,000,000 or more while the number of poultry raised each year is approaching three-quarters of a billion with an approximate value of $500,000,000. These production and value figures include farm production only and do not embrace the village and city production, which, if its extent were known, would undoubtedly swell the totals considerably.

It is said that the Jersey cattle show at the State Fair of Texas, Oct. 8 to 23, will be the largest ever held in the United States.
