ROOSEVELT INTERESTED IN RURAL ELECTRIFICATION

"President Roosevelt is one of the greatest rural electrification enthusiasts," says Morris L. Cooke, new Rural Electrification Chief, in the July Progressive Farmer.

"As a farmer he is tremendously interested in the welfare of the rural people, and he has often stressed the nesessity for giving the country people those advantages now found in the cities. He has aided in building better roads, in improving rural schools, and in raising the level of prices which the farmer obtains for his products. Now he is intent on bringing electricity to the farm.

EROSION PROJECTS

The National Government is going to spend a little more than $5 an acre on 325,000 acres of Texas crop and grazing land to prevent erosion. This figure is arrived at by dividing the allotment of $1,725,375, which was made Monday, by the total estimated acreage of 325,000 in the 13 undertakings. Of course, it is probable that more than $5 an acre will be spent before the projects are completed, whom the appointments will be The new allotment represents additional expenditures for three projects already under way, and it is likely that the three projects already under way, and it is likely that the current allotment will not complete the newly designated ments of the academies. This is undertakings.

Five dollars an acre is a good deal to gamble on eroded farm land, yet, if the returns are one-half what the program calls for, the expenditure will be insignificant. Under the submitting educational certificate with or without calidating except to follow government agents' instrucplan farmers agree to follow government agents' instruc-tions for a specified period in the utilization of their lands aminations in English and mathaand, in return, the Government spends a certain amount of money in terracing and other forms of soil conservation work. The projects are widely distributed throughout the state and are expected to stand as examples.

Communities where erosion has already tione great damage are selected; hence the experiments will be real tests of the effectiveness of this kind of work. Of course, the success of the terracing of some 7,000,000 acres of Texas farm lands under the supervision of demonstration agents demonstrates the practicability of such undertakings.

No state owes more to its soil than Texas but few states have been more prodigal in wasting that resource. Although this reclamation work is the kind of government enterprise that can, under poor management, result in waste of public funds, under right supervision it promises great returns. Our intelligent co-operation will help make it success.—Dallas News.

A very helpful way to arrange cut flowers in a shallow container. Place the container at least half way full of white sand, then add water almost to the top.

To prevent the annoyance caused by the deposit of moisture upon eye glasses due to going from a cold into a warm atmosphere, moisten the tips of the fingers and rub them over a cake of soap. Rub the lens and polish as usual.

To remove Iodine stain, cover the stain on cloth as soon as possible with a paste of corn starch and water. Change fresh paste and repeat until stain disappears. If on wood, apply paste, let stand a few minutes, and rub with a soft cloth.

Mrs. C. B. Morris suggests— Water lilies make lovely cut flowers if, when first cut, a drop of melted paraffin is dropped in the center of each flower.

Aspirin added to the water in which cut flowers are placed will prolong the beauty of them. ********

DICK COOKE

It's always all right to lose away from home, but the tie Sunday with Shamrock didn't look so good. Oh, yes, I got beat too, but that's not news, everybody expected that, and then, I just play for exercise.

Timidly I offered the excuse that I hadn't played in almost two weeks, but it developed that Walter Pendleton had layed off for two weeks and Billie Holmes had not touched a club in three weeks-so I walked off, afraid that Andy had never played before, and I knew that the caddies were possibly seeing the golf course for the first time, and probably would never see a golf

Later I explained that intercity matches were got up by the chamber of commerce to create good will, and that it would be all right for us to win as they beat us when we visited them. I told them about gentlemanly fellows I had known in the past who gave their opponents all putts in one, and never hesitated to concede the hole when their hosts reached the green a stroke ahead. I told them-oh, well it doesn't matter what all I told them, when the game was over I was still just playing for exercise."

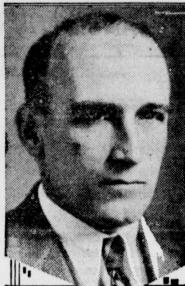

The tournament craze is on. Shamrock is staging their first annual invitation, August 18, 19, and 20, and word comes from Memphis of plans for a tournament soon. Pampa is talking cournament, too.

So far the Shamrock go is the most practical. Golfers who want will sell Phillips products. to get away for a day or two, can have a fine visit with all the fraternity and plenty of golf on one of the finest courses in this section, for a minimum expense. Follows in part a letter from the Shamrock club:

The U. S. Navy has awarded Sinclair for the 5th year in succession the annual contract for supplying lubricants to the Navy on the Atlantic seaboard and to other government departments in 42 states. Included in this contract are lubricants for battleships, submarines, destroyers, airplane carriers and airplanes, motor cars, trucks, tanks, tractors, etc.

Due to the vast 5th TIME

Public Works program and improved types of automotive and aircraft equipment used, the Navy this year called for a wider range of lubricants and made more stringent many specifications. As before, the contract was awarded Sinclair on the basis of lowest service cost as determined by Navy Work-Factor tests and competitive bids.
