MOTORISTS WARNED IN REGARD TO PASSING SCHOOL BUSES

A large number of complaints have come into the office of Miss Ruth Richerson, county school superintendent, recently in regard to careless driving of motorists while passing school buses in the district. The laws governing traffic regulations in connection with the school buses have not been enforced very heavily in this district to date but this warning is being issued now as the regulations will be enforced to the fullest extent in the future, Miss Richerson stated. She is asking also that all school students riding the buses be very cautious while boarding and leaving a bus just in case a passing motorist fails to stop.

All motorists are supposed to stop when approaching a bus that is stopped, picking up students or unloading the students. The main thing is to read up on your traffic laws regarding the school buses and abide by them, for your carelessness may mean the death or serious injury of some child. It will save you money also.

RELATIVES WRITE AFTER NEW ORLEANS STORM

Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Grant have just received word from their grandson, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Grant Jr., who were in the New Orleans storm. They came thru the storm safely but had to evacuate their home and go to his office and stay all day. On their way home that night they had to wade water arm-pit deep but found no water in their home upon arrival. They wrote that the wind screamed all day and that the flying glass sounded like bullets whizzing through the air. Mr. and Mrs. Grant were happy to hear from them as they had no word since the storm struck that area.

TWO FURNITURE STORE EMPLOYEES INJURED AS PICKUP OVERTURNS

Wayne McElroy and Clifford Osbourn, employees of the Clarendon Furniture Store were shaken up, bruised and cut last Friday afternoon as they were driving west on the highway at the edge of the city limits and the pick-up they were riding overturned two times. McElroy received a severe cut on his hand and a wrenched shoulder and Osbourn was mostly shaken up. The pick-up and a new ice box which was being delivered to a customer were badly wrecked. It was reported that the accident occurred when an out of town car pulled directly across the road in front of the pick-up and the pick-up rolled over as they swerved to miss the car.

Charles Roberts visited Don Moore Sunday.

Bronchos To Play Price College Friday Night On Local Field

The Clarendon Bronchos will try their luck and skill with the pigskin again Friday night on the local gridiron when they meet the Price College team from Amarillo in another non-conference skirmish.

It is hard to make much of a prediction of the game as very little is known about the visitors except that they have played only one game and that was with the Canyon High School team last week and were defeated 25-0. This means very little as far as we are concerned as this was their first game and they were playing another team that we can't compare strength with other than the way Clarendon and Canyon are placed in the Regional standing. Canyon was placed one notch above the locals in the Amarillo News write-up the first of the week.

The Price College team have a fairly light line but some pretty heavy and capable boys in the backfield that will be hard to stop according to the information we have received.

Coach McKnight has been putting the locals through the mill all week and it is probable that he will do some changing between the line and the backfield in the starting line-up for Friday night.

Another good crowd is expected out for the game, especially since the Broncos have won their first two games, the last being with the rugged team from Chillicothe. A full grand stand means a lot in the way those boys play out on the field, so don't let them down by staying away. Tickets for the game will be on sale tomorrow as usual so buy your ticket and be ready to go right on in and get you a good seat before the game starts.

The probable starting line-up for the visitors, starting at left end: Joe Bobeschmidt, Stevenson, Olson, Reynolds, Keyes, Saloway and Murdock; Doyle, Lehr, Prien and Gulde in the backfield.

The probable starting line-up for the Broncos in the line starting at left end are: Wilson, N. Christie, Selman, Jordan, D. Christie, White and Heckman. In the backfield will be Bulman, Jenkins, Lowe and Bradford.

Bronchos Tounce Eagles 12 to 0

The Clarendon Bronchos kept their record unblemished again last Friday night when they downed the Chillicothe Eagles 12-0 in a fast-spirited, thrilling game that was expected to be very close and possibly in favor of the visitors before the game started. The game was closer than the score indicated with the visitors giving the Broncos plenty of opposition.

The game opened with the Broncos receiving the ball on their own 20 yard line and after 11 successive plays they marched on down the field to the Chillicothe 20 yard line where Lowe carried over for the first counter.

The remainder of the game was a see-saw proposition until late in the fourth quarter when Jordan intercepted a Chillicothe pass and raced untouched for 32 yards and the final score.

The Broncho team as a whole put up a good fight all through the game but slackened on their defense several times and let the Eagles through for some nice gains which had the local fans on their toes and guessing what might come next.

Donley Milk Cows Set High Record

Fine blooded, mooring Donley County milk cows are doing their bit to increase production—and bring down costs.

Results of the two-day dairy cow production contest at the Tri-State Fair were announced Tuesday afternoon by Wayne Thomas, Perryton, superintendent of the show.

The top producer gave 39.8 pounds of milk, including 2.5 pounds of butterfat during the contest interval. That's plenty of milk for hay.

Greenbelt's Golden Joy, a prime Jersey matron, was the honor winner. J. R. Gillham, Clarendon, is owner of the ranking cow in the contest.

Mr. Thomas, in announcing the awards, pointed out the percentage of butterfat in Golden Joy's product was 6.28 percent—a good high mark.

Runner-up milker was Thonyma Triune Molly, owned by Richmond Hales, Amarillo dairyman and son of H. B. Hales, one of the state's leading Holstein breeders. Molly gave slightly more than 40 pounds of milk, but butterfat content was just shy of the test made on Joy's prize winning milk.

Third honors were won by Frank Cannon, Clarendon, with a 4-year old named Ronoline Pansy.

Ribbon awards in the contest were presented by Connie Hood, president of the San Jacinto Kiwanis Club, which sponsored the event.

Tabulated results of Donley County contestants follow with the name and address of the owner, name of cow, pounds milk, pounds butterfat and percentage butterfat:

Telephone companies the country over share many problems—one of them is the record number of daily long distance calls now being made. Along with this is the fact that most companies are operating with limited long distance facilities. This naturally slows long distance service sometimes, especially during peak hours. So, if you have a short wait occasionally, it simply means that lines are busy here, or along the route to the city you are calling.

Two Little Ships

But at noon that day, when the little squadron was at a point not far north of the passage between Bougainville and Choiseul, the second man, who had had very little experience, reported that he had a contact dead ahead. Even if the England's skipper had wished there was no time to replace anyone on watch with more experienced personnel. He ran right in, firing a salvo from the hedgehog. No one aboard had ever heard the sound of an explosion from that device, but the dull boom that came up from the depths of the sea was unmistakably that of a hit.

As the turbulence died and the ship swung around, the sound man reported he still had contact. The sub seemed to be fish-tailing, but slowly, as though she had been hurt. The England made another run, but did not get a good position; then a third, a fourth, and a fifth. A second second hedgehog salvo was let go. Again there came the boom, followed like the stroke of a clock by a heavier, wider explosion. As the England turned for a sixth run, the water boiled and garbage began to come out of it. The I-16 was all thru.

The rule in anti-submarine warfare is to take nothing for granted. The three ships remained in the area all afternoon and night, searching. Toward morning a 75 pound sack of rice in a water-proof covering drifted past, and the commander of the little Task Force judged it would be a good idea to continue his back track up the line from which the Jap had come. The contact had been made a full 12 hours before the anticipated time, and some eight miles off the true line; it was quite possible that it represented a different sub.

The three DE's ran up toward Truk, then, for something over another 24 hours. During those 24 hours a plane operating out of Manus spotted one of the submarines in the Japanese scouting line which would seem to have been the RO-117, dropped some bombs on her, thought it was a miss, and reported. This was Admiral Halsey's first knowledge of the Jap submarine concentration. Since his big board showed the England, Raby and George near the area of the contact, he ordered them down toward it for a look. There was this much luck in it - the position the three ships had attained as a result of their pursuit of the I-16 was precisely that which would carry them right along the Jap scouting line in making for the area of the contact with the RO-117. But let us not attach to much importance to the J factor, for this line was also the line from Truk to the reported contact position which the DE's would have swept out in any case.

The three ships were running this line at 0350 on the morning of May 22, when the George, in the center of the formation, reported a radar contact, unmistakably a submarine. The DE's opened out and speeded up; the George illuminated. As the searchlight beam swept around, the George caught one glimpse of the low sinister shape and then it disappeared from sight and radar screen together. The George ran in for an attack, using the hedgehog; she missed. The England's sound gang confirmed that the sub was still there, and at 0420 she got order to try a run. The first salvo was a clean miss. As the DE came around for a second try, the enemy was fish-tailing and moving slowly about 240 feet down, apparently expecting to put on speed and rudder to dodge a depth charge attack. It was a good fix, and the England used the hedgehog again. On the heels of the salvo came a triplicate explosion; and seven minutes later, as the England tried once more to find her opponent, a heavy dull shock seemed to shake the whole Pacific. The sound men could pick up nothing but the knuckle of the explosion, and the RO-106 was gone.

The England and her skipper had learned a good deal in that attack. For one thing, the Japs expected to be attacked with depth charges and were using the kind of tactics that would counter such an approach. But the explosion after the hits was somewhat puzzling; aboard the DE they were disposed to think that the submarine commander had some device for setting off his torpedo warheads and that he had succeeded when he saw that he could not save his ship. But one of the important features of this second submarine sinking in four days was that the Executive Officer had happened to have the bridge when the attack began, and the Commanding Officer had let him continue there, conning the ship in, while he himself kept, the general supervision of all departments. The arrangement worked so very well that he resolved to try it again if contact were made on another submarine.

There was another contact within 24 hours as the three DE's were still running toward the position where the RO-117 had been seen. It came just as the ships were setting dawn alert next morning, May 23. The Raby made contact on radar, at much 8,000 yards distant. She attacked a once, giving ranges and bearings as she did so to let the other DE's plot positions. It seems that this submarine skipper was a clever experienced man. He used speed, and when pinged on pinged right back, throwing out the attacker's recorder. Fifty minutes and four hedgehog salvos from the Raby produced no results. The George tried twice, making contact and losing it for an hour, and at 0814 was sent out to join the circle round the position while the England ran in for a try. The first salvo missed; at the second there was an explosion so loud that it was felt aboard both the other DE's, 3,000 yards away. Four minutes later, in came the big bang that marked the death of the previous submarine. And that was the end of the RO-104.

By this time it was clear both to the destroyer escort and the Third Fleet that they were dealing with a regular formation, and that noon the three DE's steamed away from an oil slick five miles long and still being fed from below to look for bigger and better submarines. They found RO-116 at two o'clock in the morning, the George picking her up on radar at 8,000 yards as the three DE's were running several miles apart - good work by the George's radar watch. She close in at once. But the England was nearer, and as the submarine dived, obtained a beautiful sound contact, fired a hedgehog salvo and got hits the first time. Apparently this Japanese submarine skipper never got a chance to touch off his suicide mechanism. Only a deep rumbling sound followed the noise of the hedgehog explosion; and at dawn the Japanese quattering the area for another contact; it never got, found many pieces of shattered inside wood and some chromium boxes. That was all there was left of the RO-116.

We All Need Fun!

Nobody in Our Town is exactly lazy (even though Pete Swanson's missus claims he sleeps till seven A.M.). But the hardest working man of all is Doc Hollister - on call, morning, noon and night.

Funny thing, Doc's favorite prescription to his patients is: You ought to have fun. The pace of modern living, even on the farm, demands some relaxation.

And as Doc says - fun is a personal thing. For the missus it may mean a movie or a good book; for Dad, a mellow and refreshing glass of beer; and for the kids, parcheesi or the radio. Doesn't mean everybody has to like the same thing - so long as they relax, have fun, together, in the home.

Doc doesn't have much time himself. After a hard day, he'll relax before the fire with a glass of beer - and wait for the phone to ring again. And from where I sit, Doc deserves each well-earned minute of that relaxation.

THE TEMPLE OF TRUTH
By the Apostle

HOPEFUL.
Every man lives in hopes that his ideas will some day work—so that he won't have to.

MEMORIES.
One of our most pleasant memories is brought back through the medium of an "autograph album" filled up during the school term of 1898. Mr. Ike Terry, now a prominent citizen of Stamford and a resident there for years, was my teacher and the best one I ever had. The larger percent of those who wrote verses in that small book have passed over the divide. I seldom hear of many of those living. The little book is a priceless heritage and I just hope the reader who is of that age, was thoughtful enough to keep the copy of the popular custom of those years in book form.

MORE OLD JUNK.
He is an old-timer who recalls the "congress" shoes. And many a man today is suffering from corns and bunions because of the toothpick shoes worn back in the 90's.

SMART STUFF.
"Old Mother Hubbard" originated in England. Now they are proving it.

CONSTERNATION.
There was some excitement in the next car. A man gave his seat to a woman and she fainted.

When the lady recovered, she thanked him, and he fainted.

PROBLEMATIC.
The old man who boasts that he "feels as young as a two-year-old" should designate whether it is a horse or an egg.

WORRY! WORRY!
The days are getting shorter and the skirts are getting longer, in case you want to worry about something.

HISTORICAL.
Lady Godiva was the first lady jockey. And while she didn't place, she certainly showed. And we might add that Spanish minds still are upset to this day.

FINICKY.
Then there is the gambler who always has potato chips and diced carrots on his daily menu.

TRAGEDY.
As a small boy I visited a dog pound. When I saw those appealing faces of man's best friend begging for a chance to serve humanity, I leaned against the fence and cried. In my college days, history was a favorite subject. I doted on America's record, and boasted of her history. Then when I visited an asylum and saw unfortunate human beings penned up, that historical phrase "all men or born equal" slipped away never to return to the boyish mind. Some day, perhaps, the unfortunate sick in mind will get a break. There are so many things this simple mind of the writer cannot grasp. This is the biggest of them all.

MIDWAY

Mrs. John Goldston
The people of Midway are indebted to Mr. and Mrs. Lige Hill for their wonderful work in putting Midway on the map at the Donley County Fair this past week.

Given on limited time, and the disadvantage of a short crop year. So many being rained, blowed, hail-d or dried out. They put up a booth, while it did not win first place it did win third. And it was a booth every Midwayist could be proud of. Several different kinds of grain and corn, maize heads, sudan, potatoes, peppers, and pumpkins were selected by Mr. Breedlove to be taken to Amarillo for the Fair there.

The sign for the booth, the letters M I D W A Y overlaid with evergreen framed in by sprays of the orange berries from the Pryacantha shrub which is grown over Donley Co. in memory of our soldier boys, was the ingenuity of Mrs. Hill. Midway is very fortunate in having these energetic and resourceful folks in our midst.

And folks it isn't to early to think of putting out one or two more of these Rryacantha shrubs for another year. Lets make Donley Co. more Beautiful in memory of our soldiers.

Veterans' News

World War II veterans who re-nounce disability payments for any reason do not lose their rights to other benefits provided by law for them or their dependents, the Veterans Administration has ruled.

VA said these veterans may reapply for disability compensation or pension at any time in the future and that approved awards will be payable from the date of the second application, but will not include retroactive payments covering the period the renunciation was effective.

VA's ruling is of particular interest to disabled veterans who desire to enroll as officers or enlisted men in the National Guard or Naval Reserve. They may enlist in these units under the law only by waiving their disability payments. Reserve officers are not subject to this restriction, but while receiving active service pay, they may not also receive compensation or pension.

Almost as many World War II veterans will be alive at the turn of the 21st century as there are living veterans of World War I today, according to the latest Veterans Administration estimate.

VA computes that 3,400,000 War II veterans will be alive in the year 2000. The number of War I living veterans as of June 30, 1947, was 3,727,000.

However, although the average age of War I veterans now is approximately 54 years, the average age of the War II veterans expected to be living in the year 2000 will be slightly over 77 years.

The War II figures come from a projection that VA made to determine what its administrative and operating requirements for these veterans will be in the future.

The projection begins with the potential War II veteran population of 16,051,000 as of July 25, 1947. The average age of this group of that date was 28.6 years.

The projection ends with the year 2030 when VA expects less than a thousand War II veterans to be alive, averaging 104 years of age.

Half of the nation's 14,500,000 World War II veterans have received one or more payments of readjustment allowances for unemployment or self-employment since their discharge from the service, VA reports.

However, of those who have drawn upon their benefits as unemployed or self-employed veterans, fewer than eight in every hundred have claimed all of the allowances to which they are en-

GLASS SKYSCRAPER—Newest tower puncturing New York skyline is shimmering Universal Pictures Bldg., whose 30,000 square feet of glass, according to Libbey-Owens-Ford, projects daylight a record 40 feet into its interior.

Veterans entering schools and colleges this fall may expect their first subsistence check early in November, the Veterans Administration has announced.

The initial payment will include all subsistence allowances due from the start of the semester through the end of the last full subsistence period before the check is issued.

No serious delays in payment of subsistence allowances are anticipated, but VA is advising student veterans to be able to meet personal financial obligations for at least the first six weeks of the fall term.

The time lapse between date of enrollment and receipt of the first check involves two factors. First, a veteran generally is not entitled to receive a subsistence allowance until he has been in training for 30 days. Secondly, all checks are mailed normally on the first of the month, covering the allowances due for the previous month. Therefore, a veteran enrolling during the latter part of September ordinarily would not receive his first check any earlier than the first of November.

The Southwestern area supervised by VA's Dallas Branch Office is expecting an enrollment of more than 100,000 World War II veterans in colleges and universities. The estimate for Texas is 75,370, for Louisiana, 20,068, and for Mississippi 9,267.

The Veterans Administration has announced it will extend compensation payments to veterans who have been discharged from VA hospitals with arrested pulmonary tuberculosis but need more time at home in which to recover sufficiently to take a job without endangering their health.

The new plan permits payments to these veterans on a totally disabled basis up to two years from date of discharge from any VA hospital while they remain under close medical supervision. Previously, the payments were reduced by 50 percent within six months of the veteran's discharge.

Under the new plan, these veterans will be examined every six months. If the examination indicates they are unable to resume employment safely, doctors will certify their findings so that VA may determine whether to continue full compensation payments for an additional six months.

VA expects this plan to result in better control of arrested pulmonary tuberculosis among veterans and thus reduce the necessity of hospitalizing them again.

if YOU are driving a TIRE that is Wearing Smooth. Let Us Buy It!

We can pay you a Good Trade-in Price on a Fine NEW Tire

The last 3 or 4 thousand miles you may get out of a smooth tire are mighty expensive miles—far more expensive to you than any other miles in the tire.

You see, even though your tire is wearing smooth, if the body is sound we can right now pay you a very good trade-in value on a new tire.

But if you drive it longer, you may bruise it or have a blow-out—or wear it down so far it cannot be re-capped. In either case, it will then bring you only a JUNK price.

You will be several dollars ahead if you bring that tire in to us while we can still pay you a substantial trade-in value for it. You will also have the pleasure—and the safety—of driving on a fine new tire. Why not let us bid on your worn tires—TODAY!

Ten Little Servants

Ten little servants, waiting in a line,
Call on one to do the wash—and still you have nine!

Nine little servants, working long and late,
Ask one to cook your meals—and still you have eight!

Eight little servants—working like eleven!
Call on one to clean for you, and still you have seven!

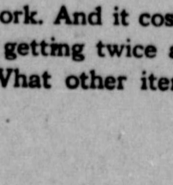

Seven little servants—you don't need candlesticks
When this one lights the house for you—and still you have six!

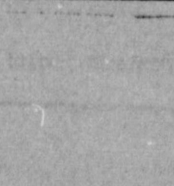

Six little servants, electrically alive,
This one sews a handy seam—and still you have five!

Five little servants to help with every chore;
One breathes a little breeze—and still you have four!

Four little servants—such activity!
One can iron all the shirts—and still you have three!

Three little servants—if you're feeling blue,
One will entertain you—and still you have two!

Two little servants, whose work is never done!
One keeps the food fresh, and thinks it's rather fun—

One tells the proper time from sun to setting sun.
(Dependable electric service makes these servants run—
And saves you lots of elbow grease. Suppose you had none?)

Yes, electricity is always ready to take the work out of housework. And it costs so little! Matter of fact, if yours is the average family, you're getting twice as much electricity for your money as you did 20 years ago. What other item in your budget does so much for so little?

LIBRARY NOTES

By Mrs. J. A. Burton

Often through these weeks when the broken arm was healing I have wondered if my friends missed my library notes—and if so, if they missed them half as much as I missed writing them, through the many years since I began.

So many interesting things have happened in the literary world. But perhaps the most interesting to us is the fact that quite a few new books have found their way to our shelves, some as gifts, some as purchases. As a sort of souvenir from the A.L.A. Convention in San Francisco, Geraldine Pratt sent us the two beautiful little books which won the Calder and Newberry medals; Miss Howren gave us Bellamy Partridge's "Big Family"; Mrs. Hulsey brought us three stories; Robert Summers brought two or three classics which had done duty in an English class at Canyon; and Mrs. Mary Peebles Tullos brought from her mother's library some beautiful volumes of George Elliott and the complete set of Delphian books. It will be remembered that a Delphian Chapter was once very active in Clarendon. A recent article in the daily press spoke of the revival of Delphian Clubs in many places, saying there were more than 4,000 chapters with a membership of more than a quarter million.

Seldom have the types of literature changed more rapidly than during the last few months. Long lists have been given of the 200 best books, the 50 best books and on and on—but the most significant types at the present time are those on race relations. That problem is greatly disturbing the world and some splendid books have resulted. Pearl Buck's "Pavilion of Women" is a striking example. All of her earlier books were about the poorer Chinese, the farmer class usually. But this is a story of the wealthy people of the flowery kingdom—and some of it is startling.

We have several Japanese stories, but this latest one is striking—"Black Fountains" by Oswald Wynd. This book won the Doubleday $20,000 prize. The author is an American but was born in Tokio—knows Japan. It is the story of a Japanese girl who had spent five years in American schools before her return to a Japan at war.

Two Jewish stories are mostinteresting, and leave one with a sense of greater knowledge and consideration. One is "Wasteland" by Jo Sinclair—a story of psychiatry. This we have had some time. The other is not only new for us but leads the best sellers—"Gentleman's Agreement" by Laura Z. Hobson. It is the story of a man given the task of writing of the Jewish situation. In order to do this he represents himself as a Jew. The result is startling, to say the least.

Another new book of unusual interest is "The Quarry" by Mildred Wright—a Civil War story of the friendship between two fine, splendid men, one black, one white. It is surprising, but satisfying.

H. R. Cullen of Houston has given $2,000 for a library building at Columbus. Enough in addition has been raised to begin the building on a plot given by the late Judge Mansfield. The Columbus Study Club is sponsoring the library project.

Some Girl Scouts have lately given much appreciated help on Saturdays—Ira Jean Estlack, Ann Thompson, Cynthia Ann Thornberry, Inelle Cox and Joan Swink.

Fay Kidd, a nurse at St. Anthony Hospital at Amarillo, spent the weekend with homefolks.

Mrs. L. C. Glasgow of Amarillo visited Sunday with her sister, Mrs. Victor Smith.

One of our old time circuit rider Preachers tells the following story: Once after services a good brother handed him a fairly fat envelope and told him not to open it until he got home. That was in the days when we didn't pay our preachers much, even less than we do today, so on the way home he imagined that there would be at least ten dollars in it, five for his wife and five for him to go on his way with. But to his disappointment, there was only a letter asking him to please take their names off the church roll. Anyway, he didn't starve, for today he is past eighty, raises horses and breaks them to ride. I hope I can talk to him again sometime, as he has lived a very colorful life. He is a Methodist, and his first name is Ed.

I met a lot of my old Schoolmates on my trip last week, and how they had changed. One boy that used to be on the first string didn't look as though he could tie his shoe strings now, and another that the girls all thought had prettier hair than anyone in the class was as bare as a Panhandle garden. Haven't looked in the mirror since I came back, and I sure do hate to.

Heard a man talking to a group of men the other day, and he was against just about everything. He claimed the New Deal had given him a New Deal, and that before that he hadn't had any kind of a Deal at all. His Taxes were too high, and the services rendered by the taxing agencies were too slow. He didn't say a kind word about anything or anybody. I couldn't get him off of my mind, so I was telling one of my friends about it and the following is his explanation: The words that come out of our mouth are an expression of the things that are in our heart. If we are full of hate and selfishness, then we go out looking for those things and according to my friend we always find them. If, on the other hand, our heart is filled with love and charity, we go out expecting to find and looking for those things, and we find them. Anyway, now he has me afraid to think about some of the people I know, for fear some of the thoughts will slip out of my mouth, and they will hear about them and get mad at me.

Some men were in favor of longer dresses, until they thought about how much it would cost to replace Mama's wardrobe.

The Democrats and the Republicans "Fussing" about who caused inflation, sounds like the first line of "Who Killed Cock Robin", with nobody wanting to be the Sparrow. But when Old Man Inflation is passed away and another Depression comes along most everyone will want to be the Fly and say "I Saw Him Die."

Miss Marian Hammon from Las Anamas, Colo. is visiting her sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Clint Martin.
