Doherty Peach Crop Ready For Harvest

W. P. (Red) Doherty, the "Peach King" of Hedley, Texas, reports that his peach crop is now in full swing and he will have ripe peaches until the peach season is gone as he has several varieties that will be ripening all along. He brought us by a nice sample of his product and we have been enjoying them immensely. Red's orchard is located at the east side of Hedley on Highway 287 and he will be glad to accommodate anyone that wishes fresh peaches direct from the orchard.

This Is Your Annual Celebration Edition

Clarendon business firms want this to be the biggest celebration ever to be held here which is evidenced by the large number of welcome ads in this issue of the Leader. They want everyone to feel that they are honestly welcome to take in the entire celebration and encourage everyone to lay their work aside and not miss any event. Turn through the pages and absorb the warm spirit of welcome that is extended.

The Leader force has enjoyed putting out this larger edition and wish to thank the merchants for splendid cooperation in turning in their copy at an early date to make it possible.

Local Firemen To Serve As Deputies

Sheriff Bill Cornell has announced that the complete membership of the local volunteer fire force has been commissioned as special deputies of the Sheriff's Department during the entire celebration and will help with general law enforcement at the Rodeo grounds and elsewhere as needed.

He pointed out that these men will have the full authority of a regular deputy and will be carrying proper identification. We appreciate the time and effort these men will be extending, the Sheriff added.

Dusters To Play Amarillo Hawks Sunday Afternoon

The Clarendon Dusters will journey to Amarillo again this coming Sunday to take on the Amarillo Hawks with game time set for 3 o'clock.

This past Sunday the Coors Lions of Amarillo defeated the Dusters 11-1 while the Groom team nipped the Hawks 3-2 in a 12 inning affair.

The Dusters are still in second place and have their sights set on defeating the Hawks again this Sunday.

Sheriff Issues Annual Celebration Warning

Sheriff Bill Cornell, in speaking for the entire sheriff's department, issued the usual warning for the celebration yesterday and is urging full cooperation in order that everyone may enjoy the entire affair without mishap.

He pointed out that streets will be congested and everyone should just take a little more time or allow more time to get to your destination. If you plan to drink, please use moderation and don't get on the streets or highways in your car if you are drinking. Remember to consider others, (the innocent) who might be injured due to your carelessness.

He is again reminding parents and youngsters in regard to the shooting of fireworks within the city limits. Fireworks can be more dangerous than ever in a crowd and can be especially dangerous when thrown under a horse either on the streets here in town or at the rodeo. If you want to hear the loud reports, etc., take your fireworks to the country where no innocent person will be affected.

We are looking forward to a comparative peaceful celebration again this year and hope, for the good of everyone concerned, that everything goes well, the Sheriff said.

June Goes Out A Real Scorcher

The majority of the month of June was quite pleasant but she really turned on the heat the last two days to give us the hottest weather so far this year. The high reading for June 29 was 102 but the sun really poured out the heat Sunday, June 30th with a sweltering 105. It was a bit kinder Monday with an even 100 degrees. The moisture total for the month was 1.74 inches.

Weather reports indicate a continuance of the hot weather for the next several days and the air-conditioning business is really picking up.

Eats And Dancing For The Fourth

The Clarendon Odd Fellow and Rebekah Lodges are offering a double feature for the celebration. They will have a fried chicken dinner at their Hall on the Fourth and dances the nights of the 3rd and 4th.

The chicken dinner will be served beginning at 5 p. m. on the 4th. There will be lots to eat and a cordial invitation is extended to everyone. Proceeds will go to the building fund.

They are inviting everyone to attend the dances also which will be held in the IOOF Hall on the nights of the 3rd and 4th. Music will be furnished by the Caprock Valley Boys and the admission will be $1.00 for the men and the ladies will be admitted free.

Most Stores To Close Thursday, July 4th

The majority of Clarendon business firms will be closed Thursday (July 4th) although a few establishments will remain open to help accommodate the crowd that will be here for the celebration. July Fourth is one of the four holidays of the year observed by local merchants as a general closing date. Be sure to purchase the items you need today (Wednesday).

The Leader office will be Closed both Thursday and Friday

Best Way To Enter Rodeo Grounds

As many of you know, there are two entrances to the Rodeo Grounds but for local folks and others who do not know, the committee wishes to point out that the north entrance is the best and quickest way to get inside the grounds. You will save time by driving on past the entrance east of the chutes to the first lane north of the grounds as visitors from other places naturally see the east entrance and figure it is the only way in. There is more parking space to the north of the arena and you can get out quicker when the rodeo is over.

GIVING YOUR DOG MEDICINE

by Dr. R. M. Gildow
Director, Friskies Research Kennels

Home care of dogs after initial treatment by a veterinarian may require administration of medicines. You will probably find this easier if you have another person to help you.

If your dog is large, it is best to seat him in a corner, so that he can't back away. If you are alone sit in a chair and seat the dog between your knees facing away from you. Smaller dogs are best treated by sitting them broadside to you on a table. Handle the dog gently to prevent him from becoming excited.

Dog of the Week: SAMOYED

Average weight: 55 pounds; Height at shoulder: 21 inches; Coat: thick, soft, short undercoat, with coarse straight hair growing through it to form the outer coat; Color: white, white and biscuit or cream, Black or black spots disqualify.

If the medicine is in pill form, open the dog's mouth and push the pill or capsule back over the base of the tongue, then hold his mouth closed until he swallows.

In administering liquids, the dog's mouth should not be opened in this fashion. Instead, hold his chin with your right hand so that the muzzle is elevated slightly. Slide the thumb or fingers of your left hand between his lips to the angle where the lower and upper lips join. Pulling out this corner makes a pocket between the lips and teeth into which the liquid may be poured, a little at a time, so that it may be comfortably swallowed. If the dog holds the medicine in his mouth, rub his throat gently to make him swallow.

For greater ease in administration, the liquid should be given from a small bottle rather than a spoon.

Feeding Tip: Don't make a practice of feeding your dog tidbits between meals. It can spoil his appetite or make him fat. The proper use of such morsels is as a reward when you're training your pet.

PRESCRIPTION PRICES

How are prescription prices determined? We have a policy in this matter, the only one we can follow. We do not offer bargains in prescriptions—there is no cut-rate way to health. Nor do we pretend to under-sell. Prescription prices simply are determined by the cost of the ingredients and operating expense. The prices we charge are as low as satisfactory service and effective drugs will allow.

Local Station Men Receive Awards

Messrs. Dewey A. Foster and Don Wooten of Don's 66 Service Station, Clarendon, Texas, received a $50 award from Phillips Petroleum Company for giving perfect driveway service to a Phillips "Mystery Motorist". The award was made when the "Mystery Motorist" paid an unheralded and strictly incognito visit to Don's 66 Service Station recently.

To win the award they gave the "Mystery Motorist" the six steps of "Golden Approach" service, which included a friendly approach; checking under the hood of the car; cleaning all the car windows; whisk-brooming the floor mats; checking the tires, and thanking the customer for his purchases. At the conclusion of these services, the customer identified himself as a Phillips "Mystery Motorist" and left a $50 certificate at the service station.

In addition to the "Mystery Motorist" award Don's 66 Service Station received a bonus for the cleanliness and neat overall appearance of the station.

The "Mystery Motorist" is one of more than 2,000 who will this year be rewarding Phillips 66 dealers and their driveway salesmen for giving customers complete driveway service. Dealers and personnel of more than 16,500 Phillips 66 service stations operating in 35 states are eligible to win an award by giving the "Golden Approach" service.

The program is part of a $166,000 Jackpot which Phillips Petroleum Company has established to encourage its dealers and their driveway salesmen to give top driveway service to all customers. As further recognition of driveway performance efficiency, a Jackpot certificate was awarded Don's 66 Service Station for display in the station window.

BIRTHDAY OF A FREE NATION as the Declaration of Independence was presented to Congress in 1776. Contrary to popular belief, this historic document was not signed by Congress on July 4th. Instead, the Act by which the original 13 states broke colonial allegiance to Great Britain was approved by Congress July 2, proclaimed on July 4th, and signed at various times up to Nov. 4.

SYMBOL OF HUMAN RIGHTS and freedom, the Liberty Bell in Independence Hall rang out at every festival and anniversary of independence until it cracked in 1835.

BIRTHPLACE OF OUR NATION was Independence Hall, Philadelphia, where Continental Congress met. Declaration of Independence adopted and proclaimed, Washington appointed Commander-in-Chief, and U. S. Constitution framed.

GABIE BETTS BURTON LIBRARY NOTES
By May L. Prewitt

The list of books given us recently are: "A Doctor's Pilgrimage," which is a biography of Dr. Edmond A. Bassett, or incidents occurring in his practicing experience. "Grain of the Wood" by Michael Home is apparently interesting. "Ramey" is a Father and Son story by Jack Farris. This is the story of the zestful companionship and deep understanding that existed between this father and his son. "The White Gate" is written by Mary Ellen Chase and is the adventures in the imagination of a child. Upton Sinclair's "Cup of Fury". This is on the liquor condition and alcoholism as it exists today. It reveals some gruesome facts, and states that three out of four of our college students are drinkers. "Saddlehog Parson" is by Sara Jenkins—the title suggests the story. "Gold Mountain" is written by Charlotte Paul. It is a pioneer story of the American Northwest. "Tolbecken" is by Shellabarger whose stories fascinate most all of our adult readers. Several of these books are 1956 editions and we are indeed grateful for them.

We have recently purchased "O Western Wind" by John Anthony Devon. This is a story of the birth of New England. It relates the story of the wind, thirst and shivering poverty of the early winters. "The Peyton Place" has been listed on the best seller list for several months, and has been asked for here frequently. We had an opportunity to purchase it, and did so. "Sand In My Eyes" by Loune si a pioneer story most of my readers will enjoy. Cokesbury Book Store gives some suggestions as to reading in a pamphlet they mail to Libraries. "1/2 book a week—2 books a month—20 books a year—1000 books in your life time—equal to going thru college 5 times. Making you a world authority on any subject you choose." So read your 15 minutes each day. Read while you wait. A woman can carry her material in her purse, a man in his pocket. We have a variety of material here at the Library and will attempt to stock something you are interested in.

Non-Resident Fish Licenses To Cost Less

AUSTIN—Visitors from other states from now on will be able to fish in Texas lakes and streams without having to pay a premium for an out-of-state fishing license effective September 1, according to the Executive Secretary of the Texas Game and Fish Commission. This is a feature of the new fishing license bill passed by the last session of the legislature. The fishing license fee was increased from $1.65 to $2.15, which will increase the revenue of the Department by an estimated $625,000. "The elimination of the non-resident feature of the license should be helpful in promoting tourism in Texas," according to the Executive Secretary. "Previously when a visitor came to Texas he had to buy a short-term license. Now he can get a license for $2.15 that is good for a year."

MEASURING COTTON

Work started this week and is getting well under way with cotton measuring. We have seven reporters working out of the office, and this reminds us that we wish to express our appreciation for the very fine assistance and cooperation you gave our Wheat Reporters and our office during the Wheat Measuring season. We will sincerely appreciate this same cooperation now that the cotton measuring work has started.

Every effort will be made on the part of the Reporter and our office to correctly measure your cotton, however, it is practically impossible not to make some errors.

You will be mailed a notice of your measured acres as soon as possible after your cotton is measured in the field and measurements computed in the office.

After you receive your notice, if you feel that an error has been made, we urge you to come to the office immediately and let us check the measurements with you.

1957 COTTON PERFORMANCE

In order to speed up our cotton measuring, the farmer can be of very valuable assistance to our Reporters by showing him the location of all cotton on your farm and also help him measure it. Give him all the information you can with reference to turn rows and other eligible deductions.

ACREAGE RESERVE

Soil Bank Acreage Reserve Certificates were issued last week to all farmers who had placed their entire cotton allotment in the acreage reserve. Payments have not been made where only a percentage of the allotment has been placed under acreage reserve contract, due to the fact that field compliance checking has not been completed on participating farms.

CONSERVATION RESERVE

Have you made your performance report on components or completed performance for practices under your Soil Conservation contract. Payment will be made for all completed practices or components upon completion.

ACREAGE RESERVE

Due to recent rains, the control of noxious weeds on acreage reserve land will present a problem. However, these weeds must be controlled to avoid violation of your contract.

OUR FLAG

There is the National Flag. He must be cold, indeed who can look upon its folds rippling in the breeze without pride of country. If in a foreign land, the flag is companionship, and country itself, with all its endearments. (a thought)

Scouts Spend Week At Camp Ki-o-wah

Last Saturday 26 boys from Clarendon's Boy Scout Troop No. 37 returned from a week's camping at Camp Ki-o-wah near Canadian, Texas. Fifteen different troops from towns in the Adobe Walls Council were in camp at the time Troop 37 was there. An indication of the activity of the Clarendon Troop is that more boys from Troop 37 were in Camp this summer than from any other Troop so far this season.

The Saturday morning before leaving camp was taken up with contests between troops on the various activities which the boys do during camp; such as rifle shooting, swimming, boating, knot tying, axemanship, and archery. Each troop enters one or more boys in each contest. Points are given for 1st, 2nd, and 3rd places. The Troop winning the most points is considered the best Troop in Camp. This year Clarendon's boys won that honor with over 1300 points. In addition, 7 boys earned their swimming merit badge, three their pioneering merit badge, two passed all the work required for their second class rank, and most all the boys did work on advancement to a higher scout rank.

A New Approach To The Screw-Worm Problem

John C. White, Commissioner Texas Department of Agriculture

Texas stockmen will be keenly interested in a new procedure for eradicating the screw-worm now being tested in the Florida cattle country. In a joint Federal-state operation, a project is now underway involving the use of male screw-worm flies hatched under laboratory conditions and sterilized through radiation exposure to cobalt gamma rays. It is believed that when the sterile male flies are released in a screw-worm infested area, a marked decrease in reproduction will result when many eggs produced by female flies in the area fail to hatch.

The Florida experiment, which is being directed by R. C. Bushland of the Entomology Research Division at Kerrville, is not an attempt at eradication of the screw-worm but merely a test to see if it can be accomplished. The research project grew out of a similar operation held on the Caribbean Island of Curacao in which a complete eradication was accomplished. In the Curacao project, 400 male screw worm flies per square mile were released. The Florida experiment will employ a release of 500 males per square mile each week for four months. This will require a total of about 2,000,000 lab-reared flies a week when operations reach their peak in the area to be treated, which is 40 by 50 miles. The screw-worm is the larvae, or maggot, of the fly Callitroga hominivorax which develop from eggs laid on open wounds on ani-

Highway Deer Slaughter Gets New Name - Dor

AUSTIN—A new alphabetical name is supplied in the June issue of TEXAS GAME AND FISH, in an article by Theron D. Carroll, according to the Director of Information and Education of the Texas Game and Fish Commission.

The new name is DOR which means Death on Roadside. Last year, according to the article in the official publication of the Commission, there were 98 deer killed on the roadside in Kimble County. The records were kept by Warden Bob Evins of Junction.

Of the 98 deer killed, 67 or 74 per cent, were does, indicating a heavy sex ratio of does to bucks in Kimble County.

Financially, the damage to each car averaged in excess of $200, with a total repair bills on 93 cars amounting to $18,600. Five of the automobiles were not so badly damaged.

First Social Security
Checks Due In Aug.
Disability Insurance

More than one hundred thousand severely disabled people in communities all over the nation will receive their first social security disability insurance checks in August, John R. Sanderson, District Manager of the Amarillo Social Security Office announced today.

But many other eligible disabled workers 50 to 65 years of age, have so far failed to make application to their social security offices. Those who have been disabled for work for a long time must apply before June 30, Mr. Sanderson pointed out, or they will lose their rights to these new benefit payments.

Any severely disabled person who has worked under social security for at least 5 years and who has been disabled for 6 months or more should get in touch with his social security office right away, the social security district manager said.

If he is between 50 and 65 years of age, he may be eligible to have his social security record frozen to protect his future right to disability payments, and also his and his family's rights to old-age and survivors insurance benefits.

"Unfortunately there is a lot of misunderstanding," Mr. Sanderson said, "as to how disabled a worker has to be to get social security disability insurance benefits, or to have his social security record frozen. The rules in the social security law for deciding whether a person is 'disabled' are different from the rules in some other Government and private disability programs."

To be found "disabled" under the social security law, he said, a worker must have a disability which, in the words of the law, makes him unable "to engage in any substantial gainful activity." It must be the kind of physical or mental condition which shows up in the medical evidence, including his doctor's report, hospital reports, or special tests. It must have lasted for at least 6 months and be expected to continue for a long and indefinite time.

In general, he said, "substantial gainful activity" means the performance of a substantial amount of work with reasonable regularity in employment or self-employment. A person does not have to be completely helpless to qualify under the social security disability provisions, Mr. Sanderson emphasized. Consideration is given to all of the facts in the individual's situation both medical and non-medical.

First consideration is, of course, given to the severity of his condition as shown by the medical evidence. This evidence must show that the person has a condition which makes him unable to perform significant functions such as moving about, handling objects, hearing, speaking, understanding, or reasoning, so that he cannot with his training, education and work experience engage in any kind of substantial gainful activity.

Examples of some impairments which would ordinarily be considered severe enough to prevent substantial gainful activity are:

1. Loss of two limbs.
2. Progressive disease which has resulted in the physical loss or atrophy of a limb; such as, diabetes, multiple sclerosis, or Buerger's disease.
3. Disease of heart, lungs or blood vessels which has resulted in major loss of heart or lung reserve as evidenced by x-ray, electrocardiogram or other objective findings so that, despite medical treatment, it produces breathlessness, pain or fatigue on slight exertion, such as walking several blocks, using public transportation or doing small chores.

4. Cancer which is inoperable and progressive.

5. Damage to the brain or brain abnormality which has resulted in severe loss of judgment, intellect, orientation or memory.

6. Mental disease (e.g., psychosis or severe psycho-neurosis) requiring continued institutionalization or constant supervision of the affected individual.

7. Loss or diminution of vision to the extent that the affected individual has central visual acuity of no better than 20/200 in the better eye after best correction, or has an equivalent concentric contraction of his visual fields.

8. Permanent and total loss of speech.

9. Total deafness uncorrectable by a hearing aid.

Mr. Sanderson said most individuals with such serious disabilities are unable to work. There are cases, however, where a person with such a severe disability is working, or able to work, because of his special knowledges and skills. He would not be entitled to benefits, the district manager said, because he would be able to engage in substantial gainful activity.

A person might work occasionally or intermittently and this would not necessarily mean that he was able to engage in substantial gainful activity. Both the nature of the work and the amount of money he earned would have to be considered.

On the other hand, some persons with conditions somewhat less severe than the ones listed above might be found unable to engage in substantial gainful activity because of the actual facts in their cases. If a person's condition coupled with his work background, his lack of education, training and other physical and mental resources does in fact prevent him from working, he would have a disability which prevents him from engaging in substantial gainful activity, and would therefore be found eligible under the social security disability provisions.

ABOUT YOUR HEALTH

Texas State Dept. of Health
 Henry A. Hollie, M. D., Com.

AUSTIN—Ever since the first spark of life appeared on this earth, cancer has been one of the most fearsome, most enigmatic diseases mankind has had to contend with. But we know more about it than is generally realized. We know enough, in fact, that a diagnosis of cancer need not be considered a sentence of death. We know that all types of cancer are different since they affect different tissues of the body. We know cancer has no respect whatever for age, although it does occur more frequently after 40. Conversely, we know it causes more deaths than any other natural cause in children between 9 and 12.

Cancer is not inherited, except in perhaps two rare types. A tendency toward cancer may be passed from one generation to another, but the actual cancer cell is not inherited. This we also know.

We know that cancer is not contagious or communicable from one person to another. We know that certain agents or conditions will cause certain types of cancer or are factors in causing cancer. For example, exposure to sunlight over long periods of time (farmers, seamen) is known to cause certain types of skin cancer. Certain chemicals such as aniline dyes may cause cancer in experimental animals. An injury or prolonged irritation of the mouth or lip area such as sometimes comes with habitual pipe-smoking is also a factor in causing cancer. Prolonged exposure to x-ray or radium may also cause cancer of the skin or other parts of the body.

We know that certain malignancies are self-limiting; that is, they have the curious property of curing themselves without treatment. This is an unusual happening, but it does occur for some unknown reason.

Perhaps the most important thing we know about cancer, many cases can be cured by early removal by surgery or by irradiation with x-ray or radium or a combination of these techniques. Rapid strides are now being made in treatment of certain types of cases with chemical compounds.

Since it can be cured, why do more than 10,000 people die in Texas with cancer each year? Because by the time the disease is recognized it is too far advanced for effective treatment. Half of these persons could be saved by early and adequate treatment.

If this one cardinal fact could be drilled into the minds of people until it moved them to action at the appropriate time, cancer deaths would skid downward almost overnight.

Here again are cancer's seven danger signs. It will pay to memorize them: irregular bleeding or discharge from body openings, unexplained change in normal bowel habits, sore that does not heal properly, persistent cough, any lump especially on breast, constant indigestion, unexplained weight loss, and change in moles.

SCIENCE IN YOUR LIFE

Snuff
 Snuff, a form of tobacco which is sniffed up the nose without the preliminary nicety of setting fire to it, is not as popular as it was in the 18th century. In those days, the use of snuff to provoke the pleasurable sensation which comes just before a sneeze was widespread; today it is almost extinct.

Recently, however, three British doctors revived the use of snuff for just the opposite purpose — to head off the sneezes and runny noses of hay fever patients. The modern medical snuff contained no tobacco. Instead, it was composed mostly of a milk sugar called lactose, plus a small amount of Sterane, one of the most potent of the new hormones.

The sufferers got two sniffs a day of the new wonder snuff, while a control group of patients got an inert snuff which consisted entirely of lactose. Those given the Sterane snuff reported that it not only benefited their noses, but also relieved the itching and congestion of the eyes which often accompanies hay fever. In contrast, the patients who took unmedicated snuff got no significant relief.

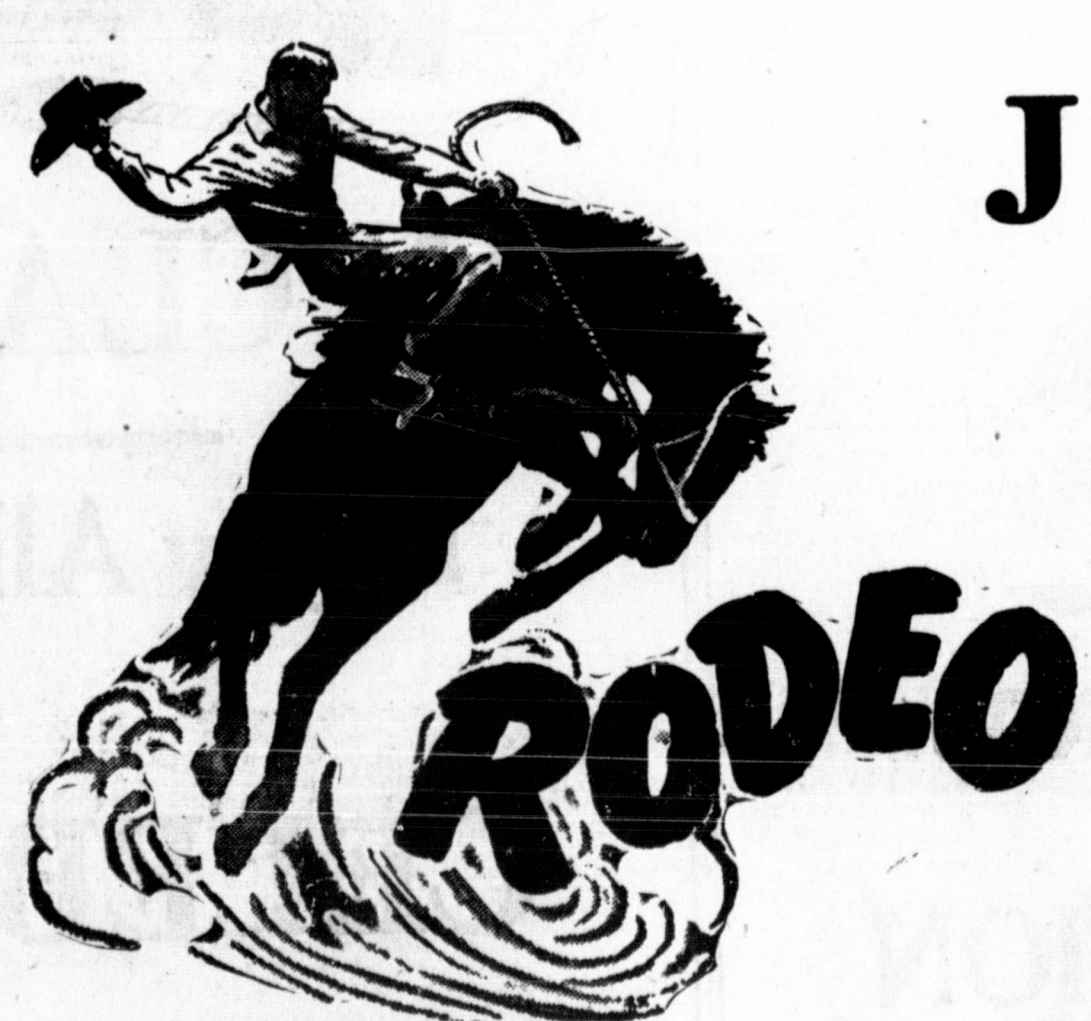

The doctors — all affiliated with King's College Hospital in London — didn't explain why they used snuff instead of nose drops or an aerosol spray. But their experiment, which they urged other doctors to try, may lead the British sniffers to revive a once-traditional piece of pocket furniture: the ornate snuff box.

Coturnix Quail Being Planted In Trial Areas

AUSTIN—Sportsmen of Texas will find a new quail in some areas when the season opens December 1, according to the Assistant Executive Secretary of the Texas Game and Fish Commission.

It is the Coturnix quail, a Japanese import, which now is being released in various areas of the state. It is estimated that some eight thousand will be produced at the State Quail Hatchery at Tyler. Already a number have been released, with several more plantings scheduled before the breeding season ends.

The Coturnix closely resembles the illustrious bob white. Their feeding habits are somewhat comparable, but the coturnix is more migratory than the bob white. It is supposed to be a very hardy bird.

It already has been released in the El Paso area. Other areas include Travis, Midland, Kerr, Wise, Taylor and McCullough counties. They will be released in different types of quail range for research purposes. All birds are banded and sportsmen are asked to return bands of the birds they kill to the game department and report the kill of unbanded birds. In that way a study can be made of the conditions best suitable.

There are 200 brood pair at the Tyler hatchery. Their eggs production is high, but the fertility seems to be low in pen birds, according to the Assistant Secretary.

An unusual feature of the coturnix is that the birds sometimes begin laying at 36 days of age. Generally, however, they begin laying at from six to eight weeks. Their eggs are slightly larger than bob white eggs and

Model Ranch Shows Gains In Teamwork

AUSTIN—A demonstration of how soil conservation and wildlife conservation go hand-in-hand is related by J. E. Dossett and Zach B. Evans in the latest issue of Texas Game and Fish magazine which will be off the press shortly.

The setting for the project is the Flat Top Ranch, owned by Charles Pettit and located in the Bosque Soil Conservation District, which consists of 16,769 acres of tall grass prairie, mostly in good and excellent condition.

Nearly every species of wildlife native to this portion of North Central Texas can be found on the ranch.

"Though wildlife improvement is secondary to commercial beef cattle raising, it happened to be by no accident," according to Dossett's and Evans' article. "In

Mr. Pettit's original work with the Bosque Soil Conservation District, 2,300 acres of wildlife area improvement were planned. More land was bought at later dates and more wildlife improvement was applied. Ponds and lakes were built and properly stocked with fish. Seedlings and planting operations were carried out to provide food and cover. Wildlife that had disappeared from the area was restocked. Habitat improvement resulted from all range management practices applied.

"As a refuge for migratory birds, Flat Top offers its forty-three lakes and ponds as a resting place for thousands of ducks and geese each year. These same birds also use the East Bosque and its tributaries, which are filled with clear water from the grassy watersheds and springs. Migrating ducks and geese are of course not the only wildlife enjoying the water, since year-round inhabitants of the ranch find it of good quality and well distributed. Also, those ducks that want to wander can find better environment for succeed-water in the Bosque below the south fence of the Flat Top because pipes in the pond dams slowly release the water and let it move on downstream. It is estimated that 200 to 300 gallons of water per minute flow off the Flat Top across the neighboring ranches. This pipe release method allows the water in the ponds to lower slowly and provides more capacity for holding up flood-water when heavy rains are received. During every day of each year of the present drought, water has been running under the south fence of the Flat Top on the Bosque. This gives a dependable water supply for the lower ranches as well as water for wildlife.

"Water is of prime importance to all the species of wildlife. Each watering hole has its watershed well protected from silting or contamination and every drop of water that runs off has been filtered by thousands of bluestem and Indian grass plants. A mulch of organic material accumulated by leaving at least half of the annual grass growth has created a ing vegetative generations to go through their life processes of germination, growth, reproduction and utilization.

"Habitat improvement for both Hereford cattle and wildlife has been the aim of management operations at Flat Top. Vegetative improvement for cattle feed and cover for soil, water and plant conservation has resulted in the same conditions as that demanded by high populations of the various species of wildlife. When the ranch was bought no deer were to be seen, quail were few and far between, ducks had no water to land on, and no cover or food for any appreciable amount of wildlife was present. With the advent of tall grasses, climax forbs and legumes also moved in and still maintain themselves as testimony to the fact that good range management and good wildlife management go together.

"Major wildlife species present on Flat Top are: turkey, deer, quail, doves, beaver, ducks, antelope and fish, and management is concentrated along lines to promote their welfare."

Modifying Weather By Scientific Techniques May Be Possible Says Researcher

WASHINGTON, D. C.—A pioneer researcher into the means of modifying weather by cloud seeding and other scientific techniques believes it may become possible to change atmospheric conditions which produce tornadoes so that the death-dealing storms do not develop.

Senator Ralph Yarborough of Texas said Vincent J. Schaefer, director of research for the Minutal (cg) Foundation, Inc., of Schenectady, N. Y., told a special senate sub-committee on weather modification of the tornado-avoiding possibility. Sen. Yarborough is a member of the sub-committee.

The Texas Democrat reported Schaefer told the sub-committee fundamental research into tornado-spawning conditions is now being carried out by the U. S. Weather Bureau's severe local storm warning center at Kansas City.

Schaefer, Sen. Yarborough said, carried out the historic 1946 experiment into seeding clouds with dry ice over eastern New York and western Massachusetts—the first such U. S. test.

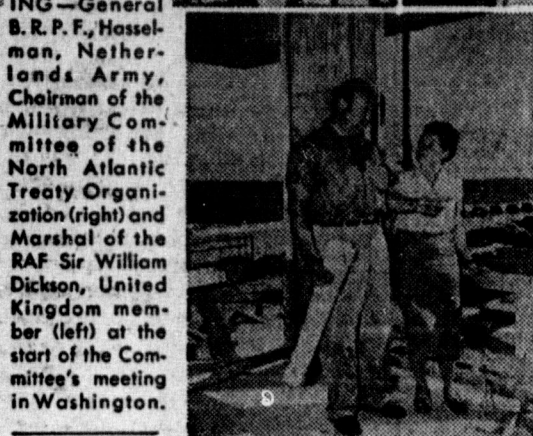

Sen. Yarborough said he wished to emphasize that breaking up of severe storm-producing conditions is still a "good many tomorrows away," and not yet an absolute probability. Still, he said, Schaefer's testimony before the sub-committee offers much hope.

The pertinent Schaefer testimony cited by Sen. Yarborough: "I would rather hope that our efforts, and that of those who follow us in this field, will be directed more toward attempts to moderate or even prevent disastrous weather such as severe hail and thunderstorms, persistent droughts or excessive rains, death-dealing tornadoes and hurricanes and similar phenomena, some of which result from the organized build-up of excessive amounts of latent energy which, when triggered off, cause such things as torrential rain, damaging hail, severe wind or forest fires induced by lightning."

GROOMING PROBLEMS

When your dog is just plain dirty, a bath is a simple answer to the situation.

Dog of the Week:

familiar doggy odor is submerged in the unmistakable aroma of skunk?

For tar or chewing gum, rubbing a piece of ice into the matted spot makes the sticky substance brittle, so that it can be easily removed.

Kerosene is also good for removing tar, and turpentine is effective in removing paint. However, these substances irritate the skin, so the dog should be thoroughly bathed after they have been used.

If your dog is a long haired hunter constantly among burrs and brambles during the hunting season, his coat should be trimmed close until the season is over. For the dog that has only an occasional encounter with burrs, petroleum jelly or mineral oil may be used to loosen up the tangle.

If he has had a meeting with a skunk, give him a hot bath, using plenty of suds, rinse well, then completely saturate coat with tomato juice letting it stay in coat approximately 15 minutes. Rinse out with hot water and dry vigorously with bath towel.

Feeding Tip: A dog will sleep most soundly after a big meal, so if you value your dog as a watchdog during the night, try feeding him his big meal in the morning, and a snack at night.

Beachcombing
Recommended
As Diversion

AUSTIN—A woman biologist who follows beachcombing both in line of duty and for personal pleasure recommends this custom to Texans seeking new fields to conquer.

The opportunities are described by Patricia Pew, member of the Game and Fish Commission's Marine Laboratory staff at Rockport, in the May issue of the Game and Fish Commission magazine, due off the press shortly.

Boiled down, Miss Pew writes: "Beachcombing is like fishing or playing bridge; not until you make your first find (catch in the case of the former, or grand slam in the case of the latter) will you become an ardent advocate. And it has its advantages. It doesn't take as much money and equipment as the former, or as much brains as the latter."

Miss Pew, herself a comparative rarity in a profession ordinarily held exclusive for men, contrasts the seclusion of beachcombing to clogged highways, over-crowded lakes and rivers which, she states, creates noise and human congestion comparable to city life scenes.

But beachcombing stands out like a beacon of hope for the actual and potential psychiatry patients, Miss Pew adds: "You'll need no tackle; no bait; no license; no special clothing (in fact very little clothing at all most of the year); no open and closed seasons; no size limits; no closed areas; no crowds; no tangled lines; no hooked fingers."

Depicting the several degrees of seriousness associated with beachcombing, Miss Pew describes herself as "the spasmodic lazy-type", goes on to relate: "I make occasional trips to the beach, usually have a picnic, go for a swim, dry off in the sun, then mozy along the water's edge enjoying the sky, sun, sand and waves, and occasionally pick up a shell or piece of coral which is later thrown away by the gasoline station attendant when he washes the car and sweeps out the sand."

Miss Pew's article describes the other extreme—the serious or the professional beachcomber: "This type devotes more time and money to the perfection of beachcombing as a science or vocation. He travels great distances to unexploited beaches where there are no tourists or amateurs to spoil the pickings. He works generally after storms, high tides, and strong southeast winds. One professional beachcomber I know has built a house out of driftwood and parts of wrecked ships. The curtains are of fish and shrimp net; shells serve as dishes. It is painted with ship paint which was washed up on the beach in sealed cans. Another serious beachcomber has built a restaurant out of material collected from the beach and from wrecked ships, and appropriately calls it 'Driftwood Inn'. Each year he takes a two or three week vacation and makes an excursion up the beach to get the material for enlarging his establishment which is continually growing in popularity."

Miss Pew's article naturally is slanted toward her own personal domain which is the six hundred miles of Texas coastline. But the vast inland waters of Texas likewise provide ample roaming areas for the fresh water-type of beachcomber.

SESAME IN TEXAS

Texas Department of Agriculture
John C. White, Commissioner

About five years ago, an ancient plant never before grown commercially in this country was introduced to farmers in the cotton producing areas in Texas.

It was Sesame, a plant that grows under conditions favorable to cotton. It produces tiny seeds from which vital oils are extracted.

At the time, Sesame was hailed as a new cash crop for those areas where cotton production was cursed by allotments. But a big obstacle to profitable production was the Sesame plant's tendency to shatter its seeds.

The Texas Research Foundation at Renner was primarily responsible for development of the crop in Texas. And after much research, the Foundation has been able to produce—a "non-shattering" variety.

This new variety has produced amazingly high yields, particularly where irrigation is applied.

On the High Plains, Sesame has been termed the No. 2 money-maker for irrigation farmers, who last year averaged $121 per acre in gross returns—second only to cotton.

The Texas Sesame Seed Growers announced that the 1956 Sesame crop totalled 3,300,000 pounds. The crop was sold for $341,880. TSSG is a production and marketing organization composed of farmers. It handles the bulk of the U. S. Sesame crop.

Sesame production runs as high as 1,200 pounds per acre. Last year's crop sold for $10.34 per hundred pounds.

Sesame seed is used in a variety of ways. But its chief market advantage is that the oil becomes rancid much more slowly than most oils and therefore is used in the food industries.

The five-year-old crop continues to make gains not only in Texas but in sections of New Mexico, Oklahoma, Louisiana and Arkansas.

The record-breaking yields and high profits being achieved give Sesame a prominent place in Texas agriculture.

THE RESCUER

by Bob Bartos
Prominent Dog Authority

Among the many breeds of dogs with colorful and dramatic histories, the St. Bernard rates a distinctive place.

This famous dog is named after the monastery founded by the monk, Bernard de Menthon.

Dog of the Week:
ST. BERNARD

Working dog. Average weight: 165 lbs.; shoulder height: 28 inches; coat: smooth or rough; colors: white with red or red with white, the red in all various shades. White muzzle, blaze, chest, legs and tip of tail.

In 980, the monastery, located in what was once a heavily traveled Alpine pass between Italy and Switzerland, also served as a hospice or refuge for travelers.

The original St. Bernards may have descended from huge mastiffs brought to Switzerland by the Romans. Possibly they were used from the very earliest days of the hospice, but the first actual record we have of them is a painting made in 1695.

Stories of their fame as rescuers of travelers lost in the snowbound Alpine pass were first recorded in 1774 and reached a high point in 1819 when the English artist, Sir Edwin Landseer, painted his famous picture showing two St. Bernards helping a wayfarer lying in the snow. Landseer introduced into his painting the famous detail of the wine cask suspended from the St. Bernard's neck.

The most noted St. Bernard was a dog named Barry, credited by one writer with saving 75 lives. After his death in 1815, Barry's body was stuffed and mounted and placed in the museum at Berne, Switzerland.

Feeding Tip: Although dogs by nature are meat-eating animals, muscle meat alone will not give them all the elements they need for health. A balanced diet should include cereals, fats, vitamins and minerals, such as provided in an all-purpose dog food like Friskies.

Just real often we hear from some of our readers who are still in their teens. We always consider it a greater honor to know that a young person reads our column. Then, on top of all that it makes us try harder and harder to say the right things in the right way. Not long ago we ran onto the following Teenage Commandments in a little magazine called "Now"

1. Stop and think before you drink.
 2. Don't let your parents down, they brought you up.
 3. Be humble enough to obey. You will be giving orders yourself someday.
 4. At the first moment turn away from unclean thinking.
 5. Don't show off when driving. If you want a race go to Indianapolis.
 6. Choose a date that would make a good mate.
 7. Go to church faithfully. The Creator gives us a week. Give Him back at least an hour.
 8. Choose your companions carefully. You are what they are.
 9. Avoid following the crowd. Be an engine, not a caboose.
 10. Recall the original Ten Commandments.
- Don't you agree that they are all worth remembering? Take number One; if you think right before you drink you will never have that worry after that drink. We think Number Six so very important. In choosing a date we can be careful and choose with a cool clear mind. If we pick the wrong dates sometimes we can't back up and use a clear head in choosing our mate. Keep them all young people and you will be glad you did.

Ten Persons Predicted To Die During 24-Hour Period of July Fourth

AUSTIN—Faced with the prediction that 10 persons will die in traffic accidents in Texas during the 24-hour period of July 4th, Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, has called state police forces together for a coordinated effort to prevent death and injury on our highways during the forth-coming holiday.

Col. Garrison has ordered all facilities of the Motor Vehicle Inspection Division and the License and Weight Division to bolster the force of the Texas Highway Patrol. Their mission will be that of patrolling our highways July 4 to remove dangerous drivers from the road before accidents occur.

"At least 120 more units from other divisions of the department will be in operation during the 24-hour holiday to add to the Patrol strength," he said. "Our divisions will patrol around the clock, and every effort will be made to reduce the death count from the 10 we anticipate."

The prediction of 10-traffic deaths came from N. K. Woerner, chief of the department's Statistical Division, who said 12 persons were killed in traffic accidents during the holiday last year.

Col. Garrison said law enforcement officers throughout the state once again will be working overtime to carry their part of the traffic law enforcement load.

In addition to the operation to prevent traffic deaths and injuries the Texas Department of Public Safety will be keeping its eye on all other forms of violence.

The department's OPERATION DEATHWATCH will be in effect for the 24-hour period starting at 12:01 a. m. July 4. In the operation all forms of death and violence will be reported to the department here.

The state police director urged all Texans who plan to celebrate the holiday to plan safety in their activities, especially while swimming. And he suggested that special care be taken with foods to prevent them from spoiling before eating time.

Summer Fertility In Ponds Grows Bass

Bass grow fast only during summer and early fall—a 5 or 6 month season of abundant food. The major food is newly hatched fingerling bluegills in a bass-and-bluegill pond. A pondowner, therefore, must fertilize his fish pond all summer long to grow the most pounds and the biggest bass.

Fertile water grows green microscopic algae which feeds a heavy poundage of worms. The worms grow more bluegills. The bluegills would grow in summer too if they didn't spawn. They do spawn and the thousands of little bluegills eat so much food that their parents cannot grow during the June-October period. Some pond owners stop their fertilization program to keep the bluegills from spawning so much. This is a bad mistake. Bass cannot grow unless they are well fed. A larger number or heavier poundage of bass will help prevent an over-population of bluegills—by eating more during the following fall, winter, and spring.

The important 'thinning' of the bluegill population begins in October, following their spawning season. It ends in early summer when the bluegills spawn again. Failure to maintain pond fertility throughout spring, summer, and fall results in low production of bass.

The best ponds—the best fishing—require good summer fertility. Next year's bass crop depends on it.

That is likely to prove controversial in itself. Then there is likelihood of considerable discussion over the State Board of Water Engineers and its recent troubles. Fuses get lit that way. Former State Sen. Joe Carter resigned as the Board's general counsel. Board dissent erupted into public view at a meeting called by Chairman R. M. Dixon to demand Carter's resignation. Member Otha Dent, in support of Carter, avoided attending the meeting and no action was taken.

Dixon accused Carter of being "disloyal" and working against his confirmation in the Senate. But Dent indicated Carter wasn't the main reason for Board dissent and his leaving doesn't mean Board harmony.

Carter remained non-committal. INSURANCE BOARD CHANGES

New Insurance Board Chairman Penn Jackson took over duties earlier than planned last week after a snarl developed in the new reorganization law.

Atty. Gen. Will Wilson ruled that the Board cannot legally function without employing a newly-authorized commissioner. But there is no money to pay him until Sept. 1.

Gov. Daniel decided to accept resignations of the outgoing Board members immediately. Jackson took office. Hold-over appointee Joe Gibbs remained.

DAY'S END — Members of the all-Texas recruit company find time to write a letter home at the end of a busy schedule. Edward F. The Texas company will pay tribute to their State during the summer-long open house celebrating Great Lakes Navy Homecoming's "Salute to Texas" week, July 1-7. (Official U. S. Navy Photo)

Third member, Dave Irons, will join shortly. Together they will try to untangle the knot and launch a new era in insurance regulation. ONE-THIRD COMING BACK

U. S. Trust victims can expect to get back a little more than 33 cents on the dollar.

State Liquidator J. D. Wheeler says there will be $2,449,221 for distribution to creditors after suits by claimants are settled. Approved claims total $7,292,365.

Litigation by a group of claimants seeking priority is still pending on appeal.

Meanwhile, Gov. Daniel has asked federal authorities to use diplomatic channels to return Ben Jack Cage to Texas for trial. Cage faces theft and embezzlement charges, involving a half million dollars, in connection with the collapsed JCT Insurance Co. He is reportedly in Brazil where he has extradition immunity. OIL CUT-BACK LASHED

Texas' biggest slash ever in oil allowable ruffled up the dander of independent oil men.

July allowable was scissored 390,449 barrels a day by the Railroad Commission in an effort to cope with increased imports and excessive stocks.

Four associations of independents fired telegrams to Washington. They urged immediate steps in Congress to cut imports. They said the slash puts national security at the mercy of unreliable foreign oil supplies.

No blame was aimed at the Railroad Commissioners. Independents said the officials were "compelled" to order the cut. FARM PROSPECTS BRIGHTEN

Let up in rains has sent farmers scurrying back to the fields in hope of making some late crops after all.

Agriculture Commissioner John White granted a third emergency extension of the cotton planting deadline in 44 Central and East Texas counties. July 1 is the new cut-off date.

Intensification of insect control programs was urged in view of the deadline extension.

Livestock and ranges are reported in good to excellent conditions as far west as the Pecos. But fly and other pest problems were widespread and serious. ANTI-BLOOPER PLAN URGED

WHAT TO DO WITH

SURPLUSES

Yesterday the House of Representatives was considering the proposal to extend the Agricultural Trade Development and Assistance Act of 1954. This is Public Law 480 which was approved on July 10, 1954, as an emergency program for disposing of surplus agricultural commodities through various means calculated to return some permanent benefit to the United States. The methods of disposal included (1) sale for foreign currency (2) barter (3) donation, both domestic and foreign. It was proposed to extend the present authorities in the Act until June 30, 1958. The law authorizes the President to enter into agreements with friendly nations or organizations of friendly nations for the sale of surplus agricultural commodities for foreign currencies to be used for market development, foreign assistance, settlement of U. S. obligations abroad, and certain other purposes. The foreign currencies accruing from these sales have been used for market development projects, including marketing studies, exhibits at trade fairs, advertising and promotional displays, and exchange visits of industrial representatives of the United States and the foreign countries from which the foreign currency was obtained. The currencies are also being used in economic development, assistance to American sponsored schools, libraries and community centers, and for economic development loans. In general, it can be said that the foreign currencies obtained under the provisions of this Act are being used in the furtherance of the foreign aid program, and it might be pointed out in addition thereto. In fact, if you traced some of the foreign aid dollars, you would find that these dollars are given to a particular foreign country by the United States under the foreign aid program. The country receiving the dollars exchanges them into their own currency, then uses their own currency to purchase agricultural surpluses from the United States. The United AEC-ARMY REACTOR—The 15-ton cylindrical pressure vessel which will contain the reactor core is lowered into the package nuclear power reactor at Fort Belvoir, Va. This power plant, capable of being air-transported to remote areas, is slated for its 700-hour continuous performance test this spring.

States then uses this foreign currency in economic or other development of the foreign country. The end results being that the U. S. gives the foreign country some money with which to pay for surplus commodities from the U. S. so that the money received in payment for the surplus commodities, which was given to the foreign country in the first place, can be used to develop the foreign country. This is quite an economic merry-go-round, as you can see. It enables the foreign country to use the American dollars for trade with other countries, yet at the same time, insures the expenditure of an equivalent amount of money for the purchase of foodstuffs to be used in the country and, also, the expenditure of the amount of money representing the value of the foodstuffs in development purposes for that country.

It has been argued that a much simpler process could be devised; that the foodstuffs could be delivered to these nations free of charge. However, if this was done, it would tend to do away with all of the administrative machinery necessary to maintain the economic merry-go-round above referred to. Many people would lose their government jobs in both this country and the foreign country. It would make bookkeeping operations so simple that everyone could understand them, which is an abhorrent thought to an average bureaucrat. In fact, a simple direct program could result in an excellent possibility of a measurable reduction in the budget. Such a proposal would bring immediate opposition from the Administration, with warning cries about inflation.

But be that as it may, there is a distinct controversy in this country as to the good or bad of the foreign aid program. My observation is that it would be most difficult to reconcile the clear differences of opinion concerning the foreign aid program, both direct and indirect. Nevertheless, the debate concerning Public Law 480 furnished the basis for a most interesting development. The Congresswoman from Missouri, Mrs. Leonor Sullivan, offered an amendment that would authorize the Commodity Credit Corporation, which holds all of these surplus agricultural commodities, to donate to charitable organizations and certain needy persons in the United States, surplus food commodities. An amendment had been adopted authorizing the donation of raw cotton and cotton products to these people in the United States. However, the discussion on Mrs. Sullivan's amendment became very heated, and Congress, sitting in all of the complexities concerned with providing foodstuffs to needy foreign nations but denying them to our own people. After the oratorical smoke had cleared, a vote was taken on Mrs. Sullivan's amendment and the result was 89 yeas and 128 nays. In simple words this meant that the amendment had failed; that this country could and would provide surplus food commodities to be used in foreign nations and would go so far as to ship these commodities to those foreign nations and pay the freight on them, but would not make them available to a needy grandpa or grandma in this country, even if they came to the storehouse for them.

Congressmen cannot be arrested for traffic violation.

Official Memorandum

In accordance with the program adopted last week by the Texas Traffic Safety Council, Governor Price Daniel has issued the following Official Memorandum:

The Fourth of July is a day of great significance and celebration for all Americans. Unfortunately, it has also become a day of tragedy for many people, due to the terrible toll of traffic deaths and injuries that this holiday brings each year.

Last year, twelve persons were killed and more than 300 injured in Texas traffic accidents on July 4th. An equal or even greater number will be killed or injured this year, unless an aroused and informed citizenry does something about it.

The Texas Traffic Safety Council, an official agency of the State Government, has endorsed a campaign by Rio Grande Valley ministers and civic leaders to encourage churches and Sunday Schools of all denominations to help reduce this human slaughter.

The Traffic Safety Council earnestly petitions Ministerial Alliances, individual ministers of all faiths, Sunday School teachers, church groups, and youth workers to devote special emphasis to traffic safety on and about Sunday, June 30, 1957.

THEREFORE, I, as Governor of Texas, do hereby designate

Sunday, June 30, 1957 as SAFETY SUNDAY in Texas and urge full cooperation of all churches and all citizens in this campaign to conserve human lives.

ABOUT YOUR HEALTH

Texas State Dept. of Health
Henry A. Holle, M. D., Com.

AUSTIN—If you think "mental illness" and "emotional disturbance" are one and the same thing, you're like most people. But you aren't necessarily correct in your opinion. That's why the difference between the two expressions should be cleared up.

It is a matter of degree. Mental illness is generally considered severe enough to require hospitalization and a regimen of treatment, often for long periods.

On the other hand, many people have emotional disturbances which temporarily affect their mental health. Proper professional help can prevent the trouble from progressing into something more serious requiring hospitalization.

It is in providing this professional help that psychiatric outpatient clinics prove their worth. There are 18 such clinics in Texas. There is a great need for many more.

Clinics are currently operating in Austin, Corpus Christi, Dallas, El Paso, Fort Worth, Galveston, Houston, and San Antonio. The address and telephone number of each is listed in the city telephone directory.

The first comprehensive look at the services rendered by clinics has recently been completed by the State Health Department's Division of Mental Health. It shows that in one year more than 2,400 people—95 per cent of them from urban areas—were given psychiatric help, visiting clinics for consultation and returning home afterward. And since each patient was a member of a family, the relief of his distress meant happier relationships for the entire family.

Most children patients in the 5-9 age group were diagnosed as having personality problems—such things as social conduct and habit difficulties. The bulk of mental deficiencies were also found in this age group.

Among adults, the most common diagnosis are personality disorders exclusive of alcoholism or drug addiction. Few psychotic disorders are seen, but when they are most of them are schizophrenic ("split personality") reactions.

Boys and girls do not differ substantially so far as diagnoses are concerned, but of patients under 18, boys outnumber girls by almost twice. Clinic costs per patient range from an average of $99.41 to $272.24.

Nearly three-fourths of all patients were considered "improved" after clinic treatments, a fair gauge of their true worth to the Community.

Mental Health has become the nation's Number One concern. At least nine million Americans are now suffering from a mental disorder. The cost to taxpayers: more than $1 billion a year. More psychiatric outpatient clinics could prevent much of the high cost in dollars—and in human unhappiness.

Bernice, Quail, Keeps Up Record For Eggs Laying

AUSTIN—Bernice, most faithful of all state workers, is back on the job again, according to the Assistant Executive Secretary of the Texas Game and Fish Commission. Bernice is the little hen quail at the Tyler quail farm.

Last year she set a world's record by laying 211 eggs. This was equal to taking only Sundays, Labor day and Christmas off.

This year Bernice laid 23 eggs in each March and April and has a perfect record for May, according to George Stodghill, hatchery superintendent.

WHAT TO DO WHEN BREATHING STOPS

These five figures illustrate, from top to bottom, the steps in mouth-to-mouth resuscitation now being taught in Red-Cross First Aid courses.

(1) Mother, using middle finger of one hand, clears child's mouth of any foreign matter. With same finger, she holds the tongue forward.

(2) Mother places child in a face-down, head-down, position, and pats him firmly on the back with the free hand, to help dislodge any foreign object in the air passage.

(3) The child is placed on his back, and the mother, using middle fingers of both hands, lifts the lower jaw from beneath and behind so that it "juts out."

(4) With one hand only, the jaw is held in this jutting-out position.

(5) The mother, covering the child's mouth and nose with her mouth, breathes into the child with a smooth, steady action. The free hand applies continuous moderate pressure to the child's abdomen, between navel and ribs, to prevent the stomach from being filled with air.
