

HATCHERY HAS GOOD YEAR IN NEW LOCATION

Expresses Appreciation for Loyal Patronage on Closing

Today is official cleanup and lock-up day at the Muenster Hatchery. All last settings of eggs come out of the incubator, and, following the disposal of baby chicks, Felix Becker will give the place a thorough cleaning and disinfecting, then pack his belongings for a move back to the farm.

Reviewing the season's activities, Mr. Becker expressed satisfaction with the business done by the hatchery during its first year in the new location as well as the first year under his management. Considering that most hatcheries had only about 50 per cent of their normal business he was well pleased with the local hatchery's 60 per cent normal year. Reasons given by him for the general drop in business are the low prices of poultry and also the high prices of feed. With this set of circumstances prevailing there was little encouragement to the poultry raiser for a profit.

Likewise Mr. Becker was well pleased with his percentage of hatch record. Eliminating infertile eggs in his calculations he estimates his hatching percentage at over 90 per cent, but considering the time along with his other eggs the record still remains well above 80 per cent.

Mr. Becker is looking forward to increases in his hatching percentages when the hatchery opens again next season. Being more familiar with the work and with conditions in the hatchery, he feels that he will be better prepared to cope with any difficulties that might arise.

High School and Grade Pupils Have Programs At Myra Commencement

Myra, May 6.—In connection with commencement exercises at the Myra school Friday night pupils of the high school department presented two one-act plays, "Nancy Orr," and "Never Ain't." An added attraction on the program was a series of dancing numbers by dancing pupils of the school under the direction of their teacher, Mrs. John Lomax.

On the preceding evening members of the grammar grades presented a program for their department.

Gainesville Little Theatre to Present Play Tuesday Night

The newly-organized Little Theatre of Gainesville will present its first production "Broken Dishes," a comedy in three acts, at the Gainesville High School auditorium on Tuesday evening, May 11. Curtain will rise at 8:15 o'clock.

The cast of 10 includes Lee S. Reese, Miss Myrtle Anna Brooks, Mrs. Brien Bonner, Mrs. Elbert Perryman, Miss Ferrol Wheeler, Gilbert G. Holman, Jimmy Tabor, A. W. Wells, Ellis Thomas and Frank Welch. Mrs. Benjamin L. Bion is director.

Tickets went on sale in Gainesville Monday at Dickerman's Pharmacy. There are 144 reserved seats available at 35c and 500 general admission tickets at 25c.

Matt Stelzer Recovers Quickly from Attack of Appendicitis at Vernon

Mrs. Matt Stelzer and her son, Maurice and Mrs. Steve Pette spent Sunday and Monday with their husbands at Vernon. They made the trip after being notified that Matt was suffering with an attack of appendicitis that kept him from work for several days.

Because the pain was not intense Matt tried to "tough out" the attack and found Monday that he had recovered sufficiently to return to his job.

Matt and Steve are both members of a gang of local "boys" engaged in drilling an oil well near Vernon.

Joe Hoening is now engaged in putting the finishing touches on his newly constructed barn. To celebrate its near completion he and others who had worked together on the structure held a "barn warming" party in it last Monday. The barn is built principally from the materials of three other smaller buildings that Joe did not need on the place.

Scouts Submit To Exams for Merit Badges

In their endeavor to win merit badges the Muenster Boy Scouts are preparing for a special meeting with the board of review Wednesday night, May 12.

At that time they will submit to examinations on the lessons they are supposed to have learned from scouting as well as some of the details of information they should have learned from their work in school.

Eligibility for merit badges will be decided by the local board of review consisting of Nick Miller, scoutmaster, and the committeemen. It is probable that Elton Burger of Muenster High School, and R. N. Pette of the Muenster Enterprise will also be invited to take part in the affair, Mr. Miller stated.

This meeting is open to everyone and especially to those who wish to learn something of the workings and principles of scouting.

Parochial and Public School Boys Exchange Long Margin Victories

Each school enjoyed a long margin of victory and each school suffered a crushing defeat when two teams from the parochial school met their public school rivals Friday afternoon.

While the larger boys were being shut out 13-0 by the Sumacs junior parochial players were defending their school's honor by giving a first class licking to the public school boys. In the early part of the third inning they were leading 39 to 3. Whether or not the public school got to bat again that afternoon has not been revealed.

Condition of Clayton Boy Becomes Worse in Spite of Special Care

Friends who visited the Clayton lad in St. Vincent's Hospital lately advise that he is in grave danger of becoming both deaf and blind. One eye is lost and the other has become so bad that he is no longer able to distinguish his acquaintances. His hearing likewise is so poor that persons must speak in a very loud voice to be understood.

Both maladies are a result of complications that set in after a piece of steel struck his eye several months ago.

Eighth Grade Parochial Roll of Honor Announced

MUEENSTER OBSERVES CUSTOM STARTED IN MEDIEVAL CENTURY

Rogation Services Held on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of This Week

In keeping with a custom that was instituted in the early centuries of the church's existence and has been observed here ever since the settlement of this community, special services were held at the Sacred Heart Church Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday of this week, the annual rogation days.

Named from the Latin word "rogatio" meaning to ask or to pray, rogation days are set aside as special days of prayer for the purpose of appeasing God's anger and beseeching His blessing on man's efforts. They fall on the three days before Ascension Day so that Christ, when ascending into heaven, can carry with Him the petitions of His followers and present them before His Heavenly Father.

Rogation days in the Muenster parish are observed by a procession through the church and school grounds while the choir chants the Litany of the Saints, followed by special prayers in church and finally a High Mass.

Exams, Social Events Occupy Lindsay Pupils Before Commencement

Lindsay, May 6.—Commencement exercises for the Lindsay school as announced by the faculty, will be held on Sunday night, May 16, at 7:30 o'clock, in the Lindsay hall.

During the past week the students of the school have been spending considerable time and effort taking college entrance examinations issued by the Board of Education at Austin. In view of the fact that the local school is not an accredited one, the handicap which pupils graduating from such an institution experience when applying for enrollment in institutions of higher learning, is overcome by taking the State examinations. In the event a pupil passes his credits are accepted by the State board entitling him to entrance in any college in the United States.

Aside from the strenuous mental work, the pupils are taking time out for recreation.

The first of a series of social events which the pupils will enjoy before closing, two weeks hence, took place last Friday when members of the third and fourth grades enjoyed an outing in the school park. Games of softball and novel

Enterprise Begins Serial as New Feature Next Week

Because of the kindly interest and loyal support of our many friends, the Muenster Enterprise is happy to announce that it can now advance another step in its endeavor to give Muenster a bigger and better newspaper.

Next week the first installment of our serial story, "Gunlock Ranch," by Frank Spearman, will appear. It is being introduced in response to frequently expressed wishes of many of our readers, and, we are hopeful, will prove to be a source of pleasure to all our readers.

In selecting our story we considered the likes and dislikes of our readers. Action stories were found to be preferred over character analysis or love stories. And Frank Spearman was chosen as the author because of his outstanding work in the field of fiction. He has become famous through such stories as "Whispering Smith" and "Nan of Music Mountain." His releases have been in constant demand and the quality of his work was recognized only a few years ago when he was given the Notre Dame award.

It is our sincere hope that each reader will enjoy this new feature.

New Members To Be Guests at Dallas Degree

As a special treat, all newly initiated members of the Muenster K. of C. council were invited to go to Dallas next Sunday as guests of this council and attend a gala initiation being staged by the council of that city. Henry Hennigan, in the name of the local council, officially extended the invitation at the regular meeting Wednesday night, May 5.

Although few definite acceptances were received, all the new members expressed their intention to go to Dallas unless conflicting circumstances prevent the trip.

Plans are now under way to arrange for several carloads of local knights to go. At least a dozen men have definitely decided and as many as 12 or 15 more are expected to decide before Sunday.

Besides the official invitation from Dallas to attend its degree work, at least two more subjects were of interest to the members. One was an announcement of the State K. of C. convention to be held next Tuesday and Wednesday at Mineral Wells. Grand Knight Hennigan advised that a well filled day was in store for any visitor who decided to attend on Tuesday. The day opens with an elaborate Field Mass, features many prominent speakers during the regular session, and closes with a dance. All who can spare the time were urged to take advantage of that attractive program.

Another subject of interest was a proposal for an old time dance restricted to members and for the special benefit of the many older members who have quit attending the regular dances because the floor is monopolized by youngsters. The dance is to be more in the nature of an old time party, a sort of family affair, and will be featured by music appropriate for the occasion. After discussions pro and con the date was set for Tuesday, May 18, and Roy Endres and John Herr were appointed as a committee of two to take charge.

Seventeen Workers of Road Crew and Negro Cook Make Big Family

It's just a big happy family over at the big Schenk house—the one occupied until last winter by G. A. Stelzer and family.

Arrangements were made Monday for 17 workers of R. W. McKinney's road crew and one negro cook, probably the first negro to make his residence in Muenster, to live in that house.

The crew has been living together on several of Mr. McKinney's contract jobs during the past few years and expect to carry out their co-operative plan here until about January 1, 1938.

The system adopted by the men is that each provides his own bed or cot and blankets, but all of them pay equally on the food and rent bills and for the services of the combination cook, valet, butler. They like their system because it is economical, convenient, and keeps them together.

Andy Hoffbauer's time was well spent when he trimmed the shrubbery in front of the Farmers Store Monday. He improved the general appearance wonderfully.

Luke Tempel, accompanied by Paul Nieball, went to Sherman Sunday to visit his daughter, Rose Marie, who had undergone an operation for appendicitis the previous day.

10 MUEENSTER BOYS JOIN AT K-C INITIATION

Mass, Degree Work, Banquet Constitute Program at Sherman

Ten young men of Muenster were elevated to the rank of full fledged Knights of Columbus in a major degree initiation at Sherman Sunday. They were a part of the "John Arnold Class," named in honor of the grand knight of Sherman and the largest group ever to be initiated at Sherman. The ceremony was preceded by a procession of knights and candidates to St. Mary's Church where Mass and sermon officially opened the day's activities, and was followed by a splendid banquet at the Grayson Hotel.

The Rev. Father Francis, delivering the sermon at the High Mass, spoke masterfully on medieval knighthood. He explained that knights of old were specially selected protectors of church and society and that the true test of their merit lay in achieving some great task. For many that achievement was realized in the Crusades. Immediately thereafter Columbus, spurred by a resolution to spread Christianity and eventually to gather a powerful army by which to wrest the Holy Land forever from the infidels set out on his epochal voyages. Though he did not live to see the realization of his dreams, he instilled a spirit which has lived to this day and finds expression in the order that bears his name.

Officers especially conspicuous in conferring the degrees were State Treasurer J. M. Weinzapfel of Muenster, and District Deputies Nicud and Mooney of Dallas and Denison. State Deputy C. K. Walsh of Wichita Falls was unable to attend because he was on that day instituting a new council at Dalhart. Another

City Council Installs New Alderman; Orders Hookup of New Meter

Very little more than the routine approval of bills featured the regular city council meeting Monday night, May 3. Henry Flettman was installed as new alderman replacing J. C. Trachta, as were John Fisher and Henry Hennigan in their new terms of the same office. All of last year's councilmen were also given the nominal sum of $1.00 in payment for their last year's services.

With the arrival of a new master meter for the city water department, the council took action to provide for its immediate installation. Al Walterscheid was chosen to do the work.

A resolution was also passed to bring to a close at the earliest possible date the work being done on the street one block west of Main Street. Being repaired to serve as a passage for lug-bearing equipment, that street required a great deal of work because of the presence of cans, broken glass, etc., and its badly washed out condition.

Temple Girl Undergoes Appendicitis Operation At Hospital in Sherman

Rose Marie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Luke Tempel, has been in St. Vincent's hospital in Sherman since her appendicitis operation there Saturday. She was taken there early Saturday when it was discovered that her case was serious enough to demand an operation.

The girl's mother has been at her side constantly and her father visited her Sunday in company with Paul Nieball and again Tuesday with Dr. T. S. Myrick.

Although the squid is about as large as a whale, it cannot cope with the monarch of the oceans in free-for-all fighting. However, once it sees that a whale is getting an advantage, it plunges to the bottom, uses its tentacles, tries to hold the whole down until the latter has been drowned. Whales, you know, must breathe real air to live.

Workmen under the direction of G. O. Renfro, were busily engaged this week in raising a section of the side track near one of the warehouses. Their little act consists of raising the ties and tamping dirt or gravel under them—a flimsy job considering the weight it supports, but they say it works.

Mr. Carlisle, one of the Kraft sales force at Kansas City, spent Wednesday at the local cheese factory gathering first hand information as to the process of making cheese. Hello, Everybody!

"Teeth of Black Tom"

By FLOYD GIBBONS
Famous Headline Hunter.

STICK a couple of wads of cotton in your ears, boys and girls. They're going to be ringing aplenty before this night's over. We're going back to the days of the World war—June 30, 1916, to be exact—and although we're a couple of thousand miles from France and the big ruckus, we'll hear plenty of the noises that battles are made of. In fact, we're going to have front seats to a fireworks display big enough to keep a World war supplied with ammunition for two or three months. And that's no joke either. It's history.

This yarn comes to us, as the radio announcers say, through the courtesy of David Finley.

And was Dave a soldier in the front-line trenches or a gob on one of our fast-moving destroyers? No, by golly, Dave was a tug boat captain, loing his bit in a spot that was far more dangerous than all the front-line dugouts and pill-boxes put together. Dave's tug boat was handling barges filled with the sinister output of "Black Tom."

Sure—that's the one—the Black Tom you've often heard of. The little New Jersey factory town, where, during the war, tons of explosives were turned out every day—or every hour, for all I know. Black Tom blew up one day with a roar that shook the world. And where was Dave when it happened? Well, that's the story.

On that fateful Saturday night, back in 1916 Dave had taken a tow of boats to Brooklyn and was coming back for another load. He was just nosing his boat back into his slip at Black Tom when he noticed a fire burning on the shore near the waterfront. Fire in a town like Black Tom was the gravest sort of an emergency. Dave ordered the deck crew to get the fire hose ready, signalled full speed ahead and started for the dock.

Sixty Tons of "Soup" Ready to Be Exploded.

The fire was in a boxcar, full of ammunition. As Dave got closer, shells began to explode, flying in all directions and dropping into the water all around his boat. His fire hose, he saw, would never reach to that blazing car, but there were seven barges loaded with ammunition lying at the dock nearby. Among other things, there were sixty tons of nitroglycerine on those barges, but Dave set to work getting them out of there into a place of safety.

In a hall of flying bits of shrapnel he nosed his tug into the wharf and got hawsers aboard those seven scows. Four of them he hooked onto stern lines and three more he fastened with lines running to the tug's bow. At that he almost got away with that daring attempt to save those barges. He was all ready to give the signal to pull out when suddenly the world seemed to blow up in one huge sheet of flame. A flying bit of shrapnel had hit one of the scows and set them all off at once. Sixty tons of nitroglycerine and ten after ton of cordite, TNT, high explosive shells and what not, all going up into smoke and flame and gas and hell's fire, in one grand holocaust of thunder and destruction.

Dave was knocked flat on the floor of the pilot house and slid out through the side door to land against the guard rail that ran around the side of the tug. That guard rail was all that saved him from being blown into the water. The tug was practically a wreck. The windows of the pilot house were blown in and the walls were in ruins where flying pieces of steel had crashed through them. There were four men on one of the scows astern. How they had escaped death was one of those miracles that happen in all explosions. Dave set about rescuing them and got them all aboard.

Fire Burns for Two Full Months.

The tug's oiler came up from below badly injured by a flying piece of metal that had cut through the boat's walls and landed in the engine room. Dave turned the tug around and rushed him to Jersey City and the hospital. When that was done he brought his little boat about again and went back to Black Tom, where tugs, no matter how battered, would be needed to pull more of those deadly cargoes away from docks that were menaced by the flying shrapnel and the raging flames.

It was 2:10 a. m. when the first explosion had occurred and it took about 45 minutes for Dave to take that injured oiler to Jersey City and return to the scene of the holocaust. The rest of the time—from about 3 o'clock Sunday morning to 8:30 p. m. Sunday night, Dave spent in that bloody inferno of bursting shells and flying steel. The explosions continued through the rest of the night and up until noon Sunday and the resulting fire burned for two full months afterward.

It wasn't until later, though, that Dave realized exactly how big a jam he had been in. When he began figuring out how much explosive went up with those seven barges he had tied to his tug he nearly passed out with fright. According to his figures there were more than fifteen hundred tons of the stuff on those barges—and Dave Finley right in the midst of it when it exploded. Boy! Has science discovered anything tougher than a tug boat captain?

THE LANGUAGE OF YOUR HAND

By Leicester K. Davis

© Public Ledger, Inc.

YOU have now learned that the thumb has a very real significance to those who become masters of the mysteries of the hand. As in dealing with other elements which in final combination are an accurate index of the inner self, each element of the thumb should be thoroughly understood.

Temperamental Elements of the Thumb.

The thumb, telling as it does, the unvarnished truth about many an inherited and acquired trait which so strongly characterizes you as "you" and me as "me," is remarkable in its revelations. As you progress with study of the thumb, you will learn how well the Ruler of Our Destinies has given compensations for what would otherwise be serious deficiencies in temperament. Such compensating elements are found throughout the hand, but nowhere so clearly indicated as in the thumb.

The illustration charts for you the position of temperamental indications of the thumb. Fix these in mind. Base your analysis of the thumb upon: (1) Its length, (2) its position on the hand, (3) the respective lengths and contours of the first, or nail joint, the second, or middle joint, the third, or palm joint, and (4), the amount of flexibility or rigidity throughout the entire thumb.

State Health Officer Terms Typhoid Fever 'Unnecessary Evil'

Austin, May 6.—Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, characterized typhoid fever as a National disgrace and an unnecessary evil, while discussing this preventable disease. He said, "Each year about 400 Texans die of this disease and approximately 4,000 are sick with it. The average duration of illness is about six weeks; this means that the disease is responsible for the loss of 168,000 days in Texas each year."

Typhoid vaccine is a harmless solution. This is injected under the skin in the upper part of the arm, in three doses, usually at weekly intervals. It ordinarily protects against the disease from two to three years or longer, although one who is definitely exposed to infection should be revaccinated more frequently.

"Typhoid fever can be controlled by the use of pure water, pasteurized milk or clean milk, clean foods, proper disposal of sewage, screening against the fly and destroying its breeding places, by search for and care of human carriers, and by the general practice of vaccination," Dr. Cox added.

"Certain people," Dr. Cox continued, "carry the germs of typhoid in their intestines or urinary tract and cause many cases of typhoid each year through handling foods with unwashed hands. They are called typhoid carriers and many cases result from personal contact with these carriers.

"In selecting a place for a vacation choose one where you know that the water and milk supply is pure. Be sure that the kitchen and dining room are screened to protect food from flies. When camping it is best to boil water used for drinking, unless you know that it is pure. Clear, sparkling spring water may be polluted by drainage," Dr. Cox said in conclusion.

EXPLOSION BLOWS MAN ATOP DERRICK, HANGS HIM BY BELT

Nocona, April 30.—Concussion from an exploding boiler last night blew Lemon Manley, derrickman at a wildcat well, off his feet and left him suspended from the derrick by his belt 75 feet above the ground. He was only slightly injured.

Other members of the crew of five men, none of whom was seriously injured, included Earl Paschal, fireman, and Joe Strader, driller.

The boiler, used in drilling the Ed Bell No. 1, a wildcat six miles southeast of Nocona, was hurled 100 feet. The well is being drilled by the Vantex Oil Company, an English concern.

"SHOW-OFF" DRIVERS

EVERY DAY the citizens of Muenster get to see some classic example of foolhardy driving. Hardly an hour passes but someone charges up the street at a dangerous speed, or crosses without regard to other traffic, or deliberately skids around some corner, or makes a U-turn between intersections, or commits one of a score of other violations of common sense and traffic regulations.

Sometimes the offenders are normally careful drivers just making a slip or failing to do the better thing. Those people would appreciate a kind word pointing out their errors. Of course it should not be a calling down that ridicules or antagonizes, but a kindly word of advice given in private with a view to avoiding another similar mistake.

Most of the offenders, however, are "show-off" youngsters eager to make an impression by doing tricks the next person would not risk. Apparently they do not realize that the reason others do not attempt the same maneuvers is that others are wiser than themselves.

Any person under the sun can drive faster than a safe speed or reverse crazily away from a curb, or skid his machine in loose gravel, but only a nit-wit overlooks the danger to himself and others or the punishment he gives his car.

Muenster is made up of a group of normal human beings who feel they have a right to live. Since fatal accidents have been few, most of the citizens think little about the dangers of "dumb driving." But it is time that Muenster people did think about a method of making conditions safer.

Many cities meet our situation by passing laws with teeth in them, and then enforcing. Muenster has room for worlds of progress in that direction.

Another possible solution is to take an idea from those reckless drivers themselves. Most of them are seeking to make a big impression. If every thinking man told such drivers that they are making an impression—a very bad impression—they might try a change of habits. Think of the effect on the driver who steps from his car to be greeted with "You're headed for an early death," "Any sap can be reckless," "I think you're crazy," and other similar retorts. Sooner or later the reckless driver will realize that he's not so smart after all and that if he wants the respect of persons who count, he will have to earn it by sensible action.

If carried out by everyone in town that plan should work. At any rate it is worth a trial. Are you, citizens of Muenster, willing to co-operate to that extent in bringing some of our drivers to their senses?

GIVING CREDIT WHERE IT IS DUE

THOSE WHO slept through the sermon of the first Mass Sunday missed a wonderful thought. Father Francis mentioned the self satisfied farmer who, upon viewing a field of waving grain, is prone to gloat over his achievement and never give a higher power credit for some portion of the success. But when a storm, or a plague of insects, or any of a dozen other causes wipes out his crop, that farmer is hard pressed for an explanation.

Usually the thought does not occur to him that since he has taken full credit for all previous success, his Creator has given him a chance to manage the affair himself. He does, however, in his distress usually call on a higher power for help; and after the help is given he takes credit for helping himself.

Since that is the attitude of the nor-

AS USUAL, many a person will be wearing a rose for Mother next Sunday, the day set aside as one of special honor to that group of persons who are entitled to greater credit for all that is worthwhile in our present civilization.

In spite of all the praise given to our political, social, and industrial leaders, we must still admit that most of the virtues that make life worth living are the result of patient training by the world's mothers. A person who grows up to be a credit to his family and society usually receives his first ambitious urge from the industry of his own family, in which a mother's influence is predominant. A person who has a just attitude regarding his own responsibilities and the rights of his neighbors is most likely to have received his viewpoint from his mother.

Because everyone is indebted to his mother for his worthwhile qualities, to say nothing of his very existence, he should observe Mother's Day according to the highest standards of the civilization he enjoys. Gifts and flowers are in order, but, after all, they are merely expressions of a person's feelings, and all too often they express no more than a desire to follow the custom of the day.

The real expression of love for a mother is kindness and consideration and an earnest effort to follow the ideals she taught. Mother's Day is truly an empty day unless every day of the year is spent to make her happy, and that can be achieved only by following a standard of honesty, decency, and kindness that will make her proud of her child. Following that rule will, moreover, prevent all causes of pain to Mother.

Many a person will seek to make his mother happier next Sunday. Those who think a little farther will offer a prayer that God will bless their mothers, keep them in good health, and bestow upon them a more complete happiness than mere creatures can offer. And finally they will resolve to do nothing that would hurt their mothers' feelings.

mal person, it is not surprising that we find the world in its present state of confusion. For the past 100 years man has been making progress by leaps and bounds, and like the man in the field, was viewing the work and taking all credit for the success. He went so far as to think there was no one more powerful or wiser than himself and began to shape his destiny without considering the work of a Supreme Being.

This man, Civilization, we shall call him, decided he could get along without regard for the standards of the Decalogue or the teachings of his most illustrious son, Christ. Instead of them he introduced his own standards of greed, immortality, and dishonesty. Right now he is living according to his new standards and gloating over his achievement.

But a storm is brewing not so far away and threatens to wipe out the fruit of his toil. As yet he does not realize that what achievement he can see is actually the work of one higher up who has been co-operating in spite of being ignored.

The time is at hand when that Supreme Being will withdraw his guiding hand and leave Mr. Civilization to fight the storm himself. When that happens a few of the fruits will be saved, as usual, but most of them will be destroyed.

Isn't it time, Mr. Civilization, that you realized your own incompetence and called on some help? Your God is glad to help but you can hardly expect Him to get in the game unless you admit He knows something about it and agree to play according to His rules.

ABROAD AT HOME TRIPS POSSIBLE AT TEXAS FAIR

Dallas, May 6.—America will have opportunity this summer to eat its cake and have it too, for the Pan American Exposition, which opens in Dallas June 12, offers the vacation traveler the unusual opportunity to "go abroad at home."

With the signing of 15 foreign nations and the United States' province of Puerto Rico, the 1937 international fair becomes The Hague of America, and exhibits from these countries will virtually be the center around which the exposition revolves. These displays depict the triumphal march of the New World through a period of five centuries.

While natural resources will be featured by each of the participating countries, several are designed to lure tourists to Latin America. Mexico will feature a history of its postal system from the runners of Montezuma to modern air delivery. Peru has designed its exhibit around an archaeological display of ancient Incan ruins.

Exhibits are being assembled by the New York consulates for Brazil, Ecuador and Honduras, and by the Embassy at Washington for Argentina.

Other countries participating in the 1937 international fair are Guatemala, El Salvador, Nicaragua, Costa Rica, Colombia, Cuba and Uruguay.

Her Own Father!

Should She HATE HIM?

Jane Van Tambel, born and raised in Chicago, came West to meet her father for the first time . . . a man whose supposedly misunderstood complex had made him leave a wife and child many years ago to seek fortune on the western ranges.

But Gus Van Tambel's complex was downright wickedness, far too well understood by his fellow ranchers and the cowhands. Jane, managing the ranch while her father was in the hospital, tried not to believe the wicked stories. In her own heart there was certainty that Gus Van Tambel was a land thief, a crook whose very soul was hated by all who knew him. But . . . after all he was her father.

Then came Bill Denison, bronzed and handsome, the man whom Jane's father despised with a deathless passion for revenge. How should she regard this young stalwart? Should his vow of undying love be accepted or must she follow the dictates of her father and stamp Bill Denison as one to be scorned?

Jane Van Tambel followed the dictates of her heart . . .

new council also instituted Sunday was that of San Benito.

Spring chicken with all the trimmings and an array of gifted speakers ably directed by Frank McCullough of Dallas, as toastmaster, made the banquet a very fitting close to a solemn day, and provided mental as well as physical nourishment for more than 200 guests.

Outstanding in the list of speakers was John Philip, grand knight of Dallas and former Assistant Postmaster General of that city. He stressed obligations of American citizens and emphasized duties of those more advanced in years to provide the proper moral and religious background for American youth. "A belief in God," he said, is the only true basis of freedom, and for that reason he urged all to practice and to instill into American youth the Christian principles upon which American liberty is founded. He called attention to an admonition by President Taft at the close of his term in the executive position, that because of Godlessness and lawlessness our government is in danger of collapse before 1950. Following that central theme he dwelt on Communism as a vicious movement of Godlessness fostered and financed by foreigners, exploiting the poor and depressed with a mirage of wealth, and flourishing through a campaign of bitterness, hate, violence and destruction.

Other prominent speakers of the program were Francis Mooney who extended his thanks to all who had helped to make the celebration a success. Mayor Tuck extended all visitors a welcome in behalf of the city of Sherman. Joe Korioth, the first grand knight of Sherman, spoke in behalf of his council. Monsignor O'Donohoe briefly outlined the activities of the Knights of Columbus in Texas.

Joe Fisher, Sr., with his seven sons and one son-in-law, all of them knights, was singled out for special praise by John Arnold as being a family truly exemplifying the principles of knighthood. Four of the sons were members before and three of them, Earl, Paul, and Harry, and son-in-law, Henry Picks, were included in the day's list of candidates.

Other Muenster candidates were Paul and Gilbert Endres, Al Kleiss, Richard Fette, Werner Becker, and Alfred Walter.

Pupils of the elementary grades were entertained with a lawn party on Wednesday, May 5. By far the most eagerly anticipated event for the 1937 class of graduates was the picnic Tuesday, May 4. Details of the affair had not been definitely known Tuesday morning, but it was learned that the party is being sponsored by the undergraduates as a farewell to their senior classmates.

 By Lindsay Parish to Usher in Month of May

Lindsay, May 6.—May the month of all things beautiful and dear to the hearts of Catholics because it is dedicated to Mary Our Heavenly Mother was fittingly ushered in at services in St. Peter's Church Sunday.

Services began at 3 o'clock in the afternoon with Vespers followed by a procession in which 20 flower girls in white dresses and veils carrying bouquets of roses, accompanied by the pastor, the Rev. Father John, made their way to the Blessed Virgin altar and offered their natural bouquets together with the spiritual bouquets they had made. After this the statue of the Blessed Lady was crowned while the choir sang the beautiful "Magnificat." Sacramental Benediction concluded the afternoon's services.

 Report of Delegates to Pilot Point Convention

Lindsay, May 6.—The St. Peter's Society junior section held their regular monthly meeting last Thursday night, April 29. At this time the report of Joe Bezner, Jr., delegate to the recent district meet of the Catholic State League in Pilot Point was heard.

Among the questions and suggestions which members of the society brought up for discussion is a picnic during July, the definite date having not as yet been decided upon.

In order to do their part of the Catholic Action program, the society voted to contribute $5.00 toward the "Light of the World" fund, and concluded its business hour by accepting the names of 10 candidates for initiation in ceremonies set for July.

his first stop at Dallas on June 12, as a feature of the noon opening day ceremonies of the Pan American Exposition.

The flight was scheduled originally for August. Other Latin American squadrons are scheduled to arrive on June 12.

Mexico plans to send an army squadron, leaving Mexico City about dawn and flying non-stop to Dallas.

Dr. Roscoe R. Hill, one of the Exposition's flying emissaries just returned from a 17,000-mile visit to Central and South American capitals, reported at Washington that Peru and Venezuela likely will send squadrons to Mexico City to join in a mass flight. A proposal for such a mass movement was suggested at capitals on the invitational tour, and is being considered by other governments.

An escort of United States Army planes will be invited to meet the visiting squadrons at the international border and accompany them here.
