Local Hatchery Is Purchased By Hugh Barnhart

After all that has been said on the Wagner-Murray-Dingell bill more of us have a faint inkling of its substance, and that's about all. We see it as a proposal to have the government take care of our health — just another of the many, many things our big hearted government wants to do us poor helpless citizens.

Well, it happens to be a lot more. This is the bill intended to stick each and every one of us with a tax — estimated at $4,500,000,000 for all of us — in return for which the government will treat us to compulsory medical, dental and nursing care. Bureaucrats will decide what doctors will practice where, and if we happen to be stuck with a poor one, that's just our hard luck.

We'll pay it right. That's certain. But it is not certain that we will get service. Furthermore, a large portion of the payment will be used to support a typically bureaucratic system of red tape which promises to be annoying as well as expensive. From then on going to see a doctor will involve papers, papers and more papers, like most other dealings with the government.

One way to get an idea of the real significance of the bill is to notice the political complexion of the men who encourage it. Most of them are pink or plain red, the kind who want government control of everything — prices, labor, commerce, agriculture, industry and what not. They've already put over a lot of their theories and if they succeed in this they'll have the whole country in a straight jacket.

About a week ago the National Physicians Committee for the Extension of Medical Service published a 196 page book exposing attempts to foist this bureaucratic monstrosity on the public and explaining the implications involved. When doctors take this means to fight it we can understand that it must be more than a minor threat.

The book calls attention to the amazing chain of circumstances at a recently completed hearing which show deliberate manipulation to create an impression that the public favors the bill. A carefully chosen screening committee selected witness friendly to the proposal and rejected hundreds of medical, religious and social leaders who requested the opportunity to testify. In the end the committee based its favorable report on the number of approving witnesses rather than on the merit of the testimony.

One of these days the Wagner-Murray-Dingell bill is going to come before congress. When it does, maybe we'll want to tell our congressman how we feel about it. Meanwhile we might do well to think over some of the implications. Do we want our doctors selected by bureaucrats? Do we want to give the government another control over our affairs? Do we want to fill out forms — probably in quintuplicate — every time we see a doctor? Do we want to give up the existing confidential nature of medical services? Do we want to pay the high administrative expense necessary for such a system?

A fair sample of the kind of excessive fumbling involved in some of those bureaucratic dealings was recently encountered by this paper. It concerns an ad. Billing instructions with the copy called for a letter stating terms and rates after which a purchase order would be submitted. After receiving a purchase order number we were to prepare an invoice in sextuplicate each having a long drawn out certificate to the effect that all conditions have been complied with and nobody has been cheated and other superfluous stuff. And finally, 6 copies of the paper — a separate physical proof for each copy of the invoice. That's the way bureaucracy works.

While struggling through all those operations we had plenty reason to be glad normal business isn't carried on in that manner. We could imagine ourselves printing six additional papers and preparing six copies of invoices with sworn statement for every ad published, and finally the tremendous postage bill in mailing them out.

But that's only half the story. When those bills reach their destination there's at least one transaction for each one of them — probably a whole series of transactions. All that costs, too.

As far as we of this community are concerned, the political medicine bill offers only two features we don't already have. Those are

SCOUT TROOP BEING DIVIDED INTO GROUPS UNDER AND OVER 15

Muenster Boy Scout Troop No. 164 met Tuesday evening in the parish hall to review Tenderfoot work and plan a program for the coming months. Scoutmaster Nick Miller, in addressing the boys, stressed courtesy, kindness and the performance of the daily good deed.

He announced that the troop, being a large one, will be divided into two groups, one for the youngsters 12, 13, and 14 years old, and the other for those over 15.

Meetings will be held weekly, every Monday night in the K of C hall at 8 o'clock.

Four new members joined Tuesday, Larry Joe Walterscheid, Randy Bayer, Richard Knabe, and Johnny Furbach, the latter by transfer from an Amarillo troop.

Following business, Scoutmaster Miller, and Assistant Scoutmasters, Ed Endres and Otto Walterscheid, directed games.

Notes On Local Conservation Group Projects

Approximately 4.2 miles of channel type terraces and a 1400-foot diversion terrace were completed this week for O.G. Rennels who lives near Myra but is in the Muenster conservation group.

Felix Becker, of the West Muenster group, is enlarging a tank on his farm after having it approved and staked out by the soil conservation personnel.

Albert Reiter, of the Southwest Muenster group, has completed about 1400 feet of ridge type terraces that he built with a one-way plow. These terraces outlet on a very suitable pasture strip which is encouraged by the Soil Conservation Service.

Tony Felderhoff, of the Muenster group, is adding depth to his stock tank and enlarging his tank dam to insure a good supply of water during dry summer months.

WOODWORKING SHOP BEING BUILT HERE BY EUGENE SCHMITZ

As soon as a building can be completed and equipment installed Muenster will have a woodworking shop. Eugene "Beans" Schmitz of Lindsay started work this week on a 70 x 30 concrete tile building on the location north of the Muenster Mill. He is digging foundation and extending the concrete floor formerly used by Marion Supply Co.

Mr. Schmitz will do custom wood finishing work such as planing, grooving, mortising, lathe work, etc., and also build cabinets. He already has some of his equipment and expects to have the rest of it by the time the building is finished.

Leo M. Kuehn, Sr. Dies Monday Of Heart Ailment

Leo M. Kuehn, Sr., 70, one of Gainesville's prominent business men, and civic leader for many years, died at his home Monday morning at about 4 o'clock following a heart attack. He had been ill since Saturday.

Funeral services were held Tuesday at 2:30 p.m. at the George J. Carroll and Son Funeral chapel with the Rev. Donald Kline, rector of the St. Paul's Episcopal church, officiating, with burial in Fairview cemetery.

Retail stores in Gainesville were closed during the funeral in respect to his memory.

Mr. Kuehn is survived by his wife, Mrs. Pearl Melasky Kuehn; a son, Leo M. Kuehn, Jr., and two grandchildren.

He was born Sept. 24, 1876, in Memphis, Tenn., the son of Morris and Tillie Kuehn, and came to Gainesville in childhood, being educated in the public schools of that city.

He entered the men's clothing business under the firm name of The Manhattan Clothiers nearly 46 years ago and his store has been continuously located at 103 West California street during that time. His son has been associated with him in the business since he received his discharge from the army last year.

Mr. Kuehn was a member of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in which he took active part, and was a member of the Masonic and Elks lodges.

In 1912 he was one of the organizers and an officer in the Young Men's Business League and in 1924 served as president of the Chamber of Commerce.

He was elected to membership in the city council in 1929 and served two 2-year terms in that capacity. He was a charter member of the Rotary club, which he headed as president for one year, and was a charter member and officer of the Powanis Country club.

Prominent in affairs of the Texas Retail Clothiers association he also served as president, secretary and treasurer of that group.

From 1935 to 1942 he was president of the Retail Merchants association.

NEW PARISH CAR IS CHEVROLET 2-DOOR

The new parish car, purchased with a purse made up by voluntary donations in the community, was delivered Wednesday of this week by J.W. Wilder. It is a '46 Chevrolet tudor black Fleetline sedan.

J.M. Weinzapfel, chairman of the drive, disclosed Wednesday that soliciting for the car fund will continue a while longer — until solicitors have had an opportunity to see all persons on their lists.

Funds in excess of the amount required for the purchase will be added to the new church fund.

ED ENDRES STARTS FLOOR SANDING AND FINISHING SERVICE

A new business venture for the community is the floor sanding and finishing service just set up by Edward Endres. Prior to this time it has always been necessary to look beyond Muenster for men and equipment to do this kind of work.

Fortunately for the community this service becomes available just as Muenster begins hitting its stride in the postwar building boom. Several new houses were recently finished, more are under construction and still more are waiting for more favorable building conditions. Endres' decision to start the business will save many the inconvenience of a long wait.

For the present time the new enterprise has no business location. Endres' headquarters is his home.

Equipment consists of two sanders, which are used for dressing down the floors; an edger which completes the job on the strip along the wall where the sander cannot operate; and a finishing machine, which puts on the final polish.

Hornets to Play Saint Jo Friday Denison Sun.

Making up for part of their lost time during the past two weeks, the Muenster Hornets will take on two opponents this week end. Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock they will meet the Saint Jo Panthers at Saint Jo. Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock they will play St. Xavier High of Denison on the local field.

The Hornets know little about their Denison opponents and are taking nothing for granted. As regards the Panther game they are certain that the going will be tough. In preparation for it they have spent practice sessions of the past two weeks brushing up on their weak points of both offense and defense.

A game originally scheduled for Oct. 13 with Marietta High School has been changed to Nov. 20, according to a report from Father John Walbe this week. It will be a night game at Marietta.

NEXT WEDNESDAY IS DAY FOR SWALLOWS TO LEAVE SAN JUAN

California's adobe-walled Mission San Juan Capistrano annually witnesses one of the strangest dramas in the world of nature. It is the yearly conflict between the swallows and the swifts for nesting places in this 170-year-old building.

Never a day late, never a day ahead of schedule, the swallows swoop down upon San Juan on March 19 each year. The main flock arrives at dawn. It is preceded by scouts who circle the old Mission several times on the previous day and presumably fly back to make their reports to the main body.

On the morning of their arrival, the vanguard of swallows remains at a safe distance from the walls, awaiting reinforcements. The attack on the Mission begins with piercing cries from the swallows. For a while the swifts bravely defend their nests against the invading flocks. Finally they are outnumbered by the continued arrival of fresh groups of swallows. As in past years, the swifts are driven from their homes and the swallows move in.

Where the swifts journey in their hour of defeat is unknown. Where the swallows come from is an equal mystery to naturalists. As punctually as their day of arrival, the swallows depart on Oct. 23 each year. With their departure the swifts as promptly return to the Mission, there to remain until again forced out in the following March.

Local authorities declare that the arrival and departure of the swallows has been officially recorded for the past 80 years.

Certain it is that in recorded annals the swallows have never once failed, by so much as a single day, to arrive and depart on the scheduled dates.

Firemen's Dance, Nov. 11

This year's annual Firemen's benefit dance will be held on Nov. 11, members of the fire department decided at their regular meeting Monday night.

It will be held in the K of C hall and the Brooks orchestra of Denison will play.

Refinery Begins Producing High Octane Gasoline

On the basis of progress already made, this week can be marked down as the beginning of a new era for the Muenster Refinery. Its newly installed catalytic cracking process, the first to go into commercial operation in a small refinery, has produced a high octane gasoline that surpasses most of the gasoline now sold through filling station pumps.

By means of this one improvement the local industry graduates from the low octane field and takes a place among the manufacturers of high quality motor fuel. Until now major companies, the only ones able to afford and operate cracking units, have been virtually the only producers of high octane gasoline.

According to information disclosed Tuesday by John Ezell, refinery manager, the first product has an octane rating of 75 as compared with an average of about 72 in most filling station pumps. He further stated that the plant, by means of blending and adding tetraethyl lead can produce a fuel up to 90 octane. A test in his own automobile further convinced him that the fuel will deliver in smooth performance and extra mileage. On a 150 mile drive he noted an increase of more than 25 per cent on his gas mileage.

Installation of the catalytic unit enables the plant to increase efficiency along with quality. Instead of a low percentage of low octane fuel it now produces a high percentage of high octane fuel. This is because kerosene, distillate and gas oil, formerly marketed as such, are now run through the catalytic chamber and cracked into high octane gasoline which is later blended with the lower octane gasoline obtained by original distillation. Increased volatility is obtained by further blending with casing head gas.

Also contributing to the refinery's bright outlook is an increase in its crude supply — probably enough to permit continuous operation in the future.

In setting up its catalytic cracking process the Muenster plant pioneered the field for small independent refineries. According to Ezell, this is the first in the world to operate commercially in a small independent refinery.

Major companies, have been using an improved adaptation of the same principle for some time. The difference is found in mechanical application of the same process. Large refineries use the catalyst in continuous flow, purifying before returning it to the chamber. Here the catalyst remains in the chamber and has to be purified after each charge. A less efficient method but requiring much less equipment.

Plans for the addition of this unit were made early last spring but scarcity of material delayed completion until very recently. Even now the installation is not altogether complete. The need for additional gauges, valves and other controls becomes apparent as the operators develop a system of running the unit.

One thing is certain, however. The theory has proved out. All that remains is to develop the most efficient method of operation.

CDA To Assist At Annual Parish Picnic Thanksgiving
 During their regular business meeting Friday, members of the local Catholic Daughters of America decided to assist with details of the annual Thanksgiving picnic by being in charge of the "Country Store", and ask members or any one else willing, to donate articles for this feature. Fancy work, aprons, children's dresses and other handwork, and any other items are being solicited. The contributions may be left at the home of Mrs. Al Schadt, grand regent of the court.

Oliver Wendell Holmes was small in stature. One day he was present at a meeting which happened to be attended by a number of rather tall men, thus making his diminutive size rather conspicuous in contrast.

An acquaintance waggishly remarked, "Well, Doctor Holmes, I should think you would feel rather small among these big fellows."

The genial but modest man replied, "I do." But his irresistible wit moved him to add, "I feel like a dime among a lot of pennies."

Said the little calf to the silo: "Is my fodder in there?"

"The best way to get real enjoyment out of the garden is to put on a wide straw hat, dress in thin loose-fitting clothes, hold a little towel in one hand and a cool drink in the other, and tell the man where to dig."

TP&L ELECTRIC SERVICE
 ... Always "The Smallest Item in Your Family Budget"

Before the war, your dependable TP&L Electric Service was cheap... the smallest item in your family budget.

During the war, it needed no ceiling to keep its price down... and its supply was abundant for all needs.

Since the war, even though other living costs have gone up sharply, your TP&L Electric Service has gone down in price again... MORE THAN EVER, it's the smallest item in your family budget.

Shortly after the war's end, this Company voluntarily began installation of reduced electric rates, beginning with the metropolitan areas and completing the rate change in the rural areas recently. This latest major rate reduction... the fifth since 1929... means a saving of more than $1,000,000.00 a year to customers of this Company. It means that your electric servants work for you at lower cost than ever before! It means that the average cost per kilowatt-hour for TP&L service today is less than half of what it was only 20 years ago!

It is especially comforting in these days of sharply rising living costs to know that your TP&L Electric Service rates are continuing their long-established downward trend... in keeping with this Company's policy always to provide its customers with the highest standard of electric service at the lowest possible cost.

Esso EXTRA
 Something Extra for your money

From one of the World's Great Refineries to your car

Pipe line completion to North Texas terminal connects Humble's great, Baytown Refinery to the consuming areas of North Texas and brings you ESSO EXTRA... the gasoline that gives you something extra for your money

On October fifteenth, Humble Pipe Line Company pumped the first shipment of Esso Extra gasoline from Humble's great Baytown refinery to the Company's North Texas terminal. This finished-products pipe line will literally connect Baytown refinery, one of the world's largest and most modern, with the heavy consuming areas of North Texas. By employing pipe-line transportation, it is made possible economically to bring to the interior of Texas the quality of Esso Extra which is the product of advanced refining processes of the great coastal plant.

Extra quality results from wartime developments
 The extra quality of Esso Extra is the result of processes developed for the production of 100-octane aviation gasoline during the War. These processes call for heavy crude runs through a refinery. Only the larger refineries are built to accommodate such runs, and the large refineries of Texas are necessarily located on the Gulf Coast, where economical water shipment to heavy consuming centers is available.

It's the same fine gasoline you've been using Pending completion of the pipe line Esso Extra has been shipped to North Texas by rail. North Texas' enthusiastic approval of Esso Extra, evidenced by letters, by word of mouth commendation, by heavy sales increases, has more than justified this extra service.
 Get something extra for your money—get Esso Extra at any Humble sign. It's the same extra performance gasoline—every gallon made at Baytown—at every Humble sign.

Find Cow Spends Most Of The Night Grazing

The common belief that a cow spends most of her time lying down has been refuted by findings of dairy research workers at the Louisiana State University agricultural experiment station. In warm weather, they say, she spends most of the night grazing — if she gets the chance — in an effort to make up for time spent in the shade to escape the heat during the daytime.

Constant observation of six dairy cows during one week in the summer showed that on two relatively warm days, night grazing averaged over six hours, or more than three times the approximately two hours grazed during the day time between morning milkings and evening milkings. Grazing habits of the cows were studied to determine their effect on milk production. Daytime grazing more than doubled on two relatively cool days but even on the cooler days the cows grazed more at night than during the daytime, it was reported. For the entire period three grazing periods were the most common at night, and the time spent grazing averaged 5.5 hours, while 3.5 hours were spent lying down and 0.7 hours standing without grazing.

Serious Problem

Pastor — "What seems to be the difficulty?"

Young Man — "I've been telling her so many nice things about herself that she's getting conceited. If I stop she'll think I don't like her any more, and if I keep on she'll think she's too good for me."

Mother: "I hope your roommate at the training school is a nice boy, Robert."

Robert: "Judge for yourself, Mom. The other night he barked his skins on a chair in the dark, and I heard him say, 'Oh, the perversity of inanimate objects!'"

ELECTRONIC PROCESS USED FOR CHECKING WATCH PERFORMANCE

Electronics, the amazing scientific development that helped this country win the war is now working at the simple little job of testing the accuracy of your watch. It discovers in only a few seconds what you or your watch repair man used to discover by patient checking over periods of days or weeks.

Such an instrument is the "Watch-Master" just installed at Huneycutt Jewelry, successor to Porter's Jewelry, in Gainesville. By means of electronics it registers each tick of the watch on a whirling cylinder which runs at precisely the correct speed. If the watch is correct it charts a horizontal graph, if fast or slow it charts a diagonal above or below the horizontal.

This instrument demonstrates the fact, surprising to most people, that many watches run one speed in one position and another speed in another position. Face up or face down may cause a variation. The same is true of stem up or stem down. That is the reason a watch may be off time on a person's wrist after checking perfectly on a jeweler's rack.

After becoming familiar with it the watch repair man can diagnose just as a doctor does with a stethoscope. Irregularities on the graph have characteristics which can be interpreted.

The Watch-Master helps the jeweler in two distinct ways. It helps him discover trouble and it helps him check the watch after he has worked on it. (adv.)

Mrs. Housekeeper — "When I was young, I had a maid. Now that I'm old and fat and gray, I do my own work."

Mrs. Visitor — "Why? Can't your husband still afford to have a maid, come in?"

Mr. and Mrs. Andy O'Connor spent the weekend in Dallas with their daughter, Mrs. Noel Jacobs and husband, and then went to Bryan for a visit with her brother, John O'Connor and family, and other relatives.

The refining capacity of Humble Oil & Refining Company's big plant at Baytown (above) was brought to the doorstep of agricultural and industrial North Texas on Tuesday, October 15, with the formal opening of the Company's Dallas-Ft. Worth terminal and distribution center.

8 INCH PIPE LINE TO NORTH TEXAS OPENED BY HUMBLE COMPANY

Houston — Humble Pipe Line Company's new 8-inch finished products line was formally opened Tuesday, October 15th, literally connecting Humble Oil & Refining Company's Baytown refinery, one of the world's largest and most modern, with the heavy consuming areas of North Texas.

Beginning 276 pipe line miles away on the Texas coast, the new underground artery ends at Irving, between Ft. Worth and Dallas on the northwest highway. Storage & terminal facilities have been provided for 150,000 barrels of products, and delivery has commenced from the North Texas terminal by rail and transport trucks to sales outlets over a broad territory.

Thus by employing transportation by pipe line, it has been made possible to bring to the interior of Texas the high quality gasoline which is the product of catalytic cracking and other advanced refining processes of the great coastal plant.

Catalytic cracking was developed just before the war and its utilization made possible the production of 100-octane gasoline in overwhelming quantities; it is this same process which today provides a motor gasoline of much higher quality than could be manufactured before the war.

IT PAYS TO KEEP DAIRY PRODUCTION AND FEED RECORDS

Any kind of record that is kept in feeding dairy cows is better than none, say dairymen of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service.

The dairyman that keeps no feeding and production records at all will usually feed all his cows the same amount, which means that the high producing cows are underfed and low-producing cows are over-fed. The Dairy Herd Improvement Association will furnish dairymen with the information necessary to do the right job of feeding cows according to production, the Extension dairymen say, and this method of feeding means more pounds of milk for each pound of grain fed.

If cows are on pasture and getting all the roughage they can clean up each day, grain can be used most economically by feeding one pound to Jerseys and Guernseys for each three pounds of milk they produce, and one pound to Holsteins for each four pounds of milk produced.

An old lady stepped up to the ticket window in the railway station and asked, "How much is a ticket to Cleveland?"

"That's two dollars and sixty-five cents," replied the ticket seller.

The old lady turned to the little girl by her side and said, "I guess we may as well buy our tickets here. I've asked at all these windows now, and they all charge the same price."

AT GARDEN CONFERENCE

Miss Olivia Stock returned Monday evening from a visit in Tyler and Dallas. In Tyler she attended a meeting of the executive board of Texas Garden Clubs, Inc., on Friday and Saturday, and then stopped in Dallas Saturday night to visit until Monday evening with her uncle and aunt, Dr. and Mrs. E.W. Laake, and a former school mate, Mrs. Tom Watson and family. Dr. and Mrs. Laake, known locally through his connection with the Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus, and for their regular visits here, are preparing to move from Dallas to Kerrville where Dr. Laake will be in charge of a large, new United States Department of Entomology station, now being built.

A hard-bitten hillbilly sat on his front porch sipping and rocking. A neighbor went by and called from the trail, "How be ye, Si?" Si spat, rocked a little more and yelled back, "None o' yer gold-durned business." He rocked faster, spat again, and shouted, "Wouldn't a' told ye that much if ye weren't a neighbor o' mine."

Want a Vacation from Marriage?

Alvin Blake went south on his vacation, for some fishing, and left his Missus to enjoy a vacation from the cornob pipe, clothes in a heap, and solos on the harmonica.

First few days, Martha enjoyed it—house neat and quiet, top back on the toothpaste, no morning mess from Alvin's midnight snacks (Al's partial to a bit of cheese and beer at bedtime).

Come the end of the week, she began to fidget; couldn't even read the Clarion, it looked so unmussed; didn't have any appetite with nobody to cook for. She was about to wire Al, when he barges home a week ahead of time, and she almost cries for gratitude. ("Felt the same way myself," says Al.)

From where I sit, those differences of habit and opinion—whether they have to do with cornob pipes, a glass of beer, or playing the harmonica, seem mighty trivial when you're separated. And they are, too!

HALF A MILLION WATCHES A MINUTE

It is said that half a million matches a minute are lighted in the United States. But it takes only one of these, dropped unextinguished or left within the reach of a venturesome child, to cause a destructive and tragic fire.
