

After the sound and fury of recent weeks on the so-called civil rights bill, it begins to seem that common sense will prevail and civil rights will really be respected. As of now it is likely that the threatened filibuster will not even need to be used. Thinking people got their heads together and threw out the more objectionable features of the bill and they are proceeding methodically toward a final solution that will not be offensive to any section of the country.

Such is the destiny of a bit of proposed legislation which was just as much a mistake as the original ballyhoo introduced years ago. This movement for the social advancement of colored people was not originated nor promoted by the colored people themselves but rather by an element that hopes to grow and thrive on the national strife resulting from racial friction. Many NAACP leaders, who happen to be white rather than colored, have proven connections in the Communist Party. They have no wish to reform, only to cause trouble while pretending to reform.

The influence of such thinking appeared to be present in the original wording of the civil rights bill. It sought to bring down the old carpet bagger type of vengeance on any white Southerner who declined to abide by the extreme provisions of the bill. The bill itself was a definite violation of white people's civil rights.

The real tragedy in all this legislative fumbling over civil rights is that our lawmakers have failed thus far to break through the real smoke screen and get at the cause of the troubles. The masses of colored people are not trying to force themselves on white people. A limited number of them are taking part in the agitation, but the real trouble makers are the white do-gooders with their urge to "help the downtrodden negro" and the reds, whose party cause is helped by the friction.

Some years ago Congressman Ed Gossett proposed legislation to divide each state's electoral votes in a presidential election in proportion to its popular vote. If that amendment had passed we would not have seen this attempt at civil rights legislation. Northern politicians would not have put on the show in the hope of impressing politically important groups of negro voters in their own states.

Another legislative fizzle which pleases the overwhelming majority of our people is Federal Aid to Education. It was not only unnecessary but a serious threat to extend federal bureaucracy over states and communities. Supporters insisted, of course, that the bill was completely one-sided... lots of financial help with no strings attached. The Congress was not taken in, however. They know that federal aid is traditionally accompanied by federal control, also that a state's money shrinks considerably on the trip to and from Washington.

Apparently President Eisenhower was one of those who saw the bill in its true light. Originally a strong supporter, he let the bill die without lifting a hand in its defense. Eventually he realized that his first advice on the issue had come from the wrong crowd.

On the subject of over crowded schools a current magazine article presents one city's satisfactory solution by keeping school open the year around. There were four groups of students each with a nine months school year and a three months vacation. A fourth of the total student body was always on vacation. Total enrollment for the year was 800 but only 600 attended at any one time.

Lots of cities that cry about classroom shortage ought to be studying that system. A way that makes year round use of its facilities makes sense, certainly more than the schemes for extensive additional spending.

We average citizens have always believed that an advertiser has the privilege of placing any kind of message he chooses in the newspaper or magazine space he contracts to use... so long, of course, as it is not slanderous or libelous. We have never questioned the validity of a message which pertained in any way to the welfare of the advertiser.

PERUVIAN PEARL—Miss Universe of 1957, Gladys Zender of Peru, is kissed by her happy parents, Rosa and Eduardo, after contest officials in Long Beach, Calif., decided to allow her to keep the crown though under age. Pageant rules say the contestants must be 18 to 28. Papa Eduardo said of his 17-year-old daughter, "For all practical purposes when a girl reaches 17 years and seven months in Peru, they go as 18 years of age." Contest authorities apparently agreed.

Child Recovering From Concussion Sustained in Fall

Johnny Monday, five year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Andy Monday, was dismissed from St. Paul's Hospital in Dallas Tuesday afternoon and while still confined to bed at home is reported recovering satisfactorily from injuries sustained in a nine foot fall Sunday morning.

The youngster fell from the second story storage space to the concrete floor of the garage at his home and remained unconscious until sometime Monday. At first believed critically injured, the little boy rallied sharply Monday night.

He suffered a brain concussion and bruises and scratches on the left side of his body in the fall.

Ace Cafe Remodels Adds Furniture and Air Conditioning

A completely new look with increased seating capacity and air conditioning were achieved by a remodeling job and installation of new furniture last weekend at the Ace Cafe.

The remodeling work consisted of removing the old counter and building a partition which divides the front area almost in half. Two large openings in the partition leave a single-room effect except when sliding doors are closed to provide a separate dining room for special events.

Combined seating space of both sides is 56. The larger dining room has eight tables with four chairs each, the smaller room has three tables with four chairs each and three 4-place booths. All the new furniture is finished in gray, black and pink. Table tops are gray. Frames of tables and chairs are black and upholstery is covered with pink plastic.

Each room of the cafe is cooled by a 1 H.P. refrigerated air conditioning unit.

Small Vote Elects Trachta on Council

David D. Trachta is the new member of the Muenster City Council. He received all of the 13 votes cast Tuesday in the special election to name the successor to Jimmy Lehnertz, who moved out of town.

The unexpired term which Trachta fills will last less than a year. His term, along with that held by M. D. Kaderli, will expire in April.

L. A. Bernauer and R. E. Hamric were in charge of Tuesday's election.

Weinzapfel from their son Wednesday. The pilgrims met Father James Tucek of Dallas in Vatican City and he accompanied them on their visit with Pope Pius XII.

NEWS OF SICK AND INJURED

Larry Hennigan lost the tip of his right index finger in an accident at Tony's Seed Store Monday afternoon. The mishap occurred when he was cleaning seed and caught his finger in the machinery. He was treated at the Muenster Clinic.

Weldon Holland has a broken right hand and a badly crushed thumb and forefinger as the result of an oil field accident east of Gainesville last Friday. He was rigging up with a crew for T&O Drilling Co. when the accident occurred and was taken to Gainesville Sanitarium. The injury is being treated at the Muenster Clinic. Weldon will wear a cast on the hand for about four weeks.

T. M. Hammer was dismissed from Gainesville Sanitarium Wednesday afternoon following a week's treatment for a stomach ailment.

Denis Koessler spent several days of last week as a patient at the Muscular Dystrophy Clinic in Galveston for special tests and observation. His parents Mr. and Mrs. Norbert Koessler were with him. On their way home they stopped in San Antonio for a visit with Sister Mary Lin and Sister Mary Corrine Koessler at Our Lady of the Lake convent.

Joe Endres has returned to the Veterans Hospital in McKinney for medical care. Another patient there is Pete Rollman and the two enjoy visiting together.

Nick Block Elected 1957-58 President Of Catholic League

Nick Block of Lindsay was elected president of the Catholic State League of Texas and Windhorst was chosen as the site for the 1958 convention during the closing sessions of the League's 58th annual meeting in Hallettsville last week.

Muenster's Saint Joseph Society won the plaque among men's affiliates for securing the most new members in a membership drive. The local society increased its membership by 47 per cent.

"The Christian Family United for Catholic Action" was the theme of the convention this year. The subject was portrayed in general sessions and in meetings the men, women and youth groups.

The Catholic Day program, which derives its name from the fact that each year speakers are presented on some Catholic doctrine or principle, featured Brother Gerald Schnepf, vice president of St. Mary's University, San Antonio, who outlined "The Church's Position on Social Justice," and Mrs. Frank Scheffe of Windhorst who spoke on "The Place of Women in the Liturgy."

The Youth Rally was highlighted by addresses by Rev. Al (Continued on Page 8)

Parochial School Playground Gets Black-top Surface

An all weather playground and cleaner classrooms are the principal benefits to be derived from a current improvement program at Sacred Heart Grade School. A solid playground with black-top surface will be built across the entire front of the building.

Other expected benefits are more breeze and more playing space as curb and shrubbery are removed at the front property line and some trees are being removed where the grouping is too dense. The project is sponsored by Saint Joseph's Society.

Father Christopher Paladino, superintendent, said that a hard surfaced playground will not only provide a clean place for children but will also eliminate dust which is blown in or carried in on children's feet.

The pavement job will run into a fairly big project, costing $1,000 to $1,200, Father Christopher estimates. First several inches of top soil will have to be removed, then a gravel base hauled in. Then the special topping, a ready-mix of asphalt and pea gravel, to provide a surface which is considerably smoother than average pavement.

Contract Awarded For Hy 77 Paving

A contract for the construction of 4.329 miles of concrete pavement on Highway 77 from the Red River to Gainesville has been awarded to T. L. Jones and Co., of Ruston, La., the Texas Highway Department announced this week at its Austin headquarters.

The firm submitted the low bid of $947,627.16 for the grading, structures, foundation course and concrete paving, which is expected to take 225 working days.

John Simpson, resident highway engineer of Gainesville, will be in charge of the project.

KCs Lick VFW, Lose 9-8 Tussle to Joes

The KCs finally broke into the win column, and they did it in a big way Tuesday night by clobbering VFW 16-6. A few nights before, in their tussle with St. Joseph's they came close but were finally edged out 9-8.

Their game with the Joes was a see-saw thriller. The KCs took a 4-2 lead in the third and still led 4-3 after the fourth. Then St. Joseph put on a 5 run rally and the KCs scored 2 each in the fifth and sixth to tie the score at 8 each. In the seventh St. Joseph made the winning run.

Hitting was monopolized by the St. Joseph kids as Danlagmay got a homer and 2 singles, Endres and Bayer each got triples and Dan Hess got a single and a double. The only KC hits were doubles by Virgil Hess and Huchton. However that advantage was partly offset by the walks. KCs got 6 free passes and St. Joseph got only 2.

The game with VFW was tight until the fifth and sixth when the KCs used a flock of hits, walks and errors to run up a ten point lead and the final tally of 16-6.

Virgil Hess, pitching for the KCs, allowed only 1 hit but gave up 8 walks and fanned 12. Huchton gave up 9 hits and 6 walks and struck out 11.

The heavy hitters were Vogel with 2 homers and a triple, Trachta with a triple and a double and Huchton with 2 singles.

The present record of the teams is Lions 5-0, St. Joseph 5-1, VFW 1-5, KC 1-6.

Vatican Changes Fasting Rule for Assumption Vigil

A decree from Vatican City reveals that the obligation of fast and abstinence on the Vigil of the Feast of the Assumption has been transferred permanently to the Vigil of the Feast of the Immaculate Conception. The decree setting forth the change was issued July 25. It affects Catholics throughout the world.

The Feast of the Assumption, observed August 15, is on a Thursday this year. There will be no obligation of fast and abstinence on Aug. 14. The Feast of the Immaculate Conception, Dec. 8, will be on a Sunday this year and therefore will be kept Monday, Dec. 9. Since the vigil falls on Sunday and Sunday is never a day of fast or abstinence Catholics this year will not be required to fast and abstain on this vigil.

The change in regulations was made because "many Ordinaries of various nations have called the attention of the Apostolic See to numerous difficulties which because of circumstances of time and place, run contrary to complete observance of the law..." One difficulty is that the Vigil of the Assumption occurs in the vacation season when many persons are away from home.

Until now the three vigils in the liturgical year were those of Pentecost, the Assumption and Christmas. The decree now fixes the vigil observance to Pentecost, the Immaculate Conception and Christmas. The Vigil of Easter, under Holy Week regulations which went into effect in 1956, is now a normal Lenten day of fast and partial abstinence.

County Dairy Herd Association Leads DHIA June Report

The Cooke County Dairy Herd Improvement Association was tops in Texas for June, according to a summary for the month, just released.

The county cows ran up the highest averages in both milk and butterfat production, posting 1,369 pounds of milk and 51 pounds of butterfat.

The summary shows the Randall Association in second place with an 810 pound milk average and a 34 pound butterfat average.

The state DHIA averages, based on 346 herds comprising 24 associations, were 630 pounds of milk and 26 pounds of butterfat.

Sunday Night Fire Destroys Arena at Livestock Auction

One of the most destructive fires in Muenster's history almost completely destroyed the sale arena of the Muenster Livestock Auction last Sunday night.

The blaze was far advanced when discovered about 9:30 and flames were leaping high before volunteer firemen arrived with their equipment. The firemen brought the fire under control in about an hour, meanwhile preventing its spread to the office and stock pens.

A second fire broke out Monday night in the charred ruins. Smoldering embers, apparently overlooked the night before, slowly revived and finally broke into flame. It was discovered early and put out in a few minutes by the city's small pumper truck.

The cause of the Sunday night fire is not definitely known, but electrical trouble where wires lead into the building is believed to be responsible. Lumber there was more completely burned, indicating that it probably was the first to start burning.

Damage has been estimated at $12,000 to $13,000, and it was partly covered by insurance. It includes practically the entire sale arena and its equipment. Building tile in the wall and some heavy lumber in the grandstand type seats may be usable as salvage.

All current records of the business were saved, however old records, which were stored in a large cabinet in the sale area, were lost. Firemen and volunteers carried all the records out of the office, but they could have saved themselves that effort. The only damage in the office was a slight water soaking from dousing just one small flame.

The local fire department used all of its facilities in fighting the blaze. The small pumper truck had all three of its spray nozzles going and three more nozzles were tied into the two hoses leading from the fire plug across the street. At times only five nozzles were going as the one hose was used to refill the tank of the pumper truck.

Dick Cain, owner and auctioneer, was out of town during the excitement and did not know of his loss until he returned shortly before midnight.

While the hose lay across the street all traffic on Highway 82 had to be detoured around the block. Volunteers assisted Deputy Buck Wilson at that work.

According to his present plan Cain expects the sale barn to be out of business about four to six weeks. His intention is to take his time on the rebuilding job, salvaging as much material as possible and also making a number of improvements.

The sale barn was built in September 1946 by E. A. Felker and Frank Solomon. In December of the same year Cain bought Solomon's interest and in April 1948 he bought Felker's interest. Cain has made a number of improvements since then, especially in pens and loading and unloading facilities.

What We're Up Against

"The military do have great virtues but thrift is not one." Thus spoke Senator Douglas of Illinois. He added that "The military have a built-in bias against economizing."

The Senator's remarks were made in support of a $2.5 billion cut in the defense budget that had been recommended by the House and was up for consideration in the Senate. Senator Douglas certainly did not approve this cut because he wants to weaken our defense — he is as strong an advocate of a top quality military establishment as anyone in or out of the government. But he had carefully examined the proposed defense budget in detail, and had found a number of expensive items that have nothing to do with military security. He cited examples, among them swimming pools, buffet tables, and extensive remodeling of a golf course at one of the bases. How did Senator Douglas make out? The Wall Street Journal answers that question in these words: "Well, the Senator built his case so strongly there's scarcely anything that can be added by us. One would naturally assume, too, that the other Senators after all their talk about economy would agree with Mr. Douglas. And that they would have gone along with the House in the $2.5 billion slash it had recommended in the military budget."

"But that just isn't the way the Senatorial minds work. The Senate voted to restore almost all the $2.5 billion slash. Plainly that will buy a lot of swimming pools, buffet tables and putting greens for the nation's warriors."

And that shows what the taxpayers of this country are up against, not only in the military but in all of the hundreds of spending departments of government.

Standing Room Only

"American—products—from live piglets and chicks to hi-fi sets, frozen foods, cars and clothes—are playing to standing room only in Poznan, Poland."

Thus states the New York Times Magazine. The occasion was the International Trade Fair at Poznan. The American exhibit—which was set up by the Department of Commerce with the cooperation of 300 private companies—was the hit of the show from opening day on.

The Times Magazine carries a number of photographs showing Polish people staring at the exhibits. There is a look of wonder on their faces—as if they couldn't quite believe that such splendid foods and commodities can be obtained by ordinary mortals.

One can understand that feeling on the part of the Poles. For they live in a rigidly-controlled, communist-type society in which living standards are woefully low. And the significant part of all this is that the American wares shown at the fair can, for the most part, be bought at retail stores in every farthest reach of this country. And the prices, save for a few top-luxury items, are within the means of the average American family.

The competitive free enterprise system makes possible American mass production and its full partner, American mass distribution. It thus makes possible the million and one aids to good living we take for granted—from a package of frozen food to the latest in labor-saving home appliances. The Poles had a brief look at what we enjoy every day of the year.

Makes Good Start

There are several thousand magazines published by and for their employees by American businesses and industries. Items appearing in one of these company publications are of interest mainly to the employees of that particular company. But now and then a story is carried that should be of interest to every American, no matter where employed or located.

One such appeared in "The Exciter," a monthly magazine, published at Augusta, Maine, by and for the employees of the Central Maine Power Company System. On the front page appeared a picture of a handsome young lad. Beneath was inscribed:

"Thirteen-year old Smith Dunnack, Jr., of Augusta was the youngest stockholder to attend CMP's annual meeting. An eighth-grade student at the Lincoln School, Smith bought his stock with money earned by selling newspapers."

That's all—there was no further comment, but that short inscription packs a big and important message. It serves notice on all and sundry that its going to be a tough job to sell Smith Dunnack, Jr., any socialistic ideas, and especially the socialistic concept of having government develop and sell electric power.

At the tender age of thirteen, Smith is a capitalist, a stockholder in an investor-owned electric company, not through inheritance, but by virtue of stock bought with money earned by his own ingenuity and toil.

Now, if we can only get more 13-year olds to follow Smith's example, the public power zealots will be "hanging on the ropes."

Waste of time is the most extravagant of all expenses.

A new study says that the cost of alcoholism to business and industry through absenteeism and labor turnover is more than $1 billion a year.

Big jet planes will use some 12,000 gallons of jet fuel for a 6½ hour flight from New York to Paris while flying about 600 miles an hour.

"Big Business" Filth Is Ruining Our Youth

By J. Edgar Hoover, Director, Federal Bureau of Investigation

"PLEASE do us American teenagers a big favor and get rid of the trash that is trying to kill us." This is the plea that recently came to me by letter, and it is typical of the respectable youngsters across the country.

Many letters which I receive from the younger population implore help against the obscenity bombarding them from all sides. This seventeen-year-old stated that even though lack of family life and absence of religious training were seeds of the youth problem, certain sordid literature, pornography, and other forms of obscenity acted as fertilizers to nourish these seeds into juvenile crime.

Hoover

IN THESE summer months with their seasonal rise in sex crimes, there is a special need to focus public attention on a despicable business—the sale and distribution of obscene material.

The serious danger of this "big-business" criminal enterprise lies in its degrading influence on youth and American communities. Too often the purveyor of filth in the form of movies, playing cards, books, photographs, and other devices, reaps a rich reward as a result of lackadaisical public opposition to his evil occupation. The carefree hours of school vacation time afford these parasitic peddlers of ugly wares many opportunities to claim the inquisitive and impressionable minds of the Nation's youth.

THE MOST effective means of preventing juvenile crime is the proper adult guidance and practical moral training, based on Christ's teachings, in the home, school and church. A breakdown in this basic phase of adult responsibility, however, is clearly evidenced by the spiraling youth crime statistics.

To implement the guidance of home, school and church, weapons for combating this menace must be found or forged in the arsenal of local, state and Federal laws. And there must be cooperative public and police effort to assure that local ordinances against obscenity are adequate and rigidly enforced.

PARENTS, school authorities and law-abiding citizens interested in the welfare of youth must share the duty of reporting sources of obscene material to the proper officials. Most certainly, local civic leaders and legislators have a responsibility to their communities in the matter of controlling this pollution problem.

Public opinion and coordinated action, sparked by a Christian conscience, can sound the death knell for the obscene material peddler. Assuredly, each and every citizen must contribute to the fight against filthmongering or suffer the moral contamination spread by this diseased business.

"Good," For Whom?

Marshal Zhukov, the Butcher of Budapest, is about to land on Washington's red carpet any minute, seems as if. The President has described Zhukov as "an honest man," and said "there is a history of past good cooperative effort between us in Berlin."

Richard L. Stokes, veteran reporter of the European Theatre in World War II, writing in Human Events, says General Eisenhower was given the job of securing an "invulnerable corridor" to Berlin. "Sitting down with his 'friend' Marshal Zhukov Eisenhower arrived at a 'corridor' agreement. Since Zhukov was such a fine fellow, however, the American commander satisfied himself with an oral rather than a written agreement." Perhaps the President has forgotten the Berlin blockade and airlift.

Social Security to Show First Deficit This Fiscal Year

WASHINGTON — For the first time in its history, Uncle Sam's vast Social Security system this year will dole out more in benefits than it collects in payroll taxes.

The gap between outgo and current tax income upsets the calculations of Federal forecasters and results from these simple facts: Collections are falling short of expectations; benefits are mounting faster than anticipated, as Congress extends coverage to new groups of workers.

Payments in excess of collections also are threatened for next year and again in 1959. Only a boost in payroll levies scheduled under present law for January 1, 1960, seems likely to halt the trend. And Robert J. Myers, chief Social Security actuary, sees at least the possibility that Congress may have to raise taxes higher than existing law allows.

Although investment income is expected to keep the Social Security fund in the black this calendar year the next, an actual deficit is threatened for 1959. That is, payments are likely to exceed income from both taxes and investments.

Surpluses piled up in earlier years give the Social Security system a trust fund which now totals $24 billion.

Confetti - - -

an advertiser is being challenged. Representatives of the Federal Power Commission and the Internal Revenue Service have decided that "opinion" advertising, in which 59 electric utilities have used advertising space to present the private enterprise side in the public vs. private power issue, cannot be allowed as a legitimate advertising expense on income tax reports.

That opinion of the FPC and the IRS bureaucrats is a serious threat to our constitutional rights of freedom of speech and freedom of the press. It denies private concerns the right of appealing to public opinion on issues that are vital to their very survival. If advertising is permissible as a means of building business it should certainly be permissible as a means of surviving in business.

Aside from the violation of a fundamental right, the bureaucratic opinion is a classic example of unfair tactics in dealing with an economic foe. Advocates of socialism are spending millions of dollars to propagandize their side of the issue. What's more, much of the money they spend is not theirs. It is tax money, toward which we all have to pay whether we like it or not. Still they would deny to private concerns the right to spend their own money in protecting their interests.

If that attitude by FPC and IRS is allowed to stand its results can become terrifying. Under it any group in power can restrict, perhaps even prevent, expression of opinion by any opposing group . . . on issues of economics, sociology, politics or anything else. It is an ideal method for making and supporting a dictatorship.

Catholic League - - -

bert G. Henkes of San Antonio who spoke on "Every Youth a Leader," and Henry Joe Henke of Hallettsville who discussed "Youth Which Way Will You Go?"

The Catholic Life Insurance Union, another affiliate, presented its annual report.

The League, widely known for its interest in the problems of rural people, again presented awards to three outstanding farm boys and girls chosen by the rural life committee.

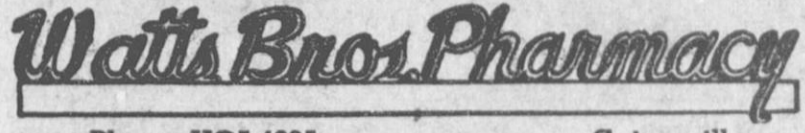

Maurice R. Hafernik of Houston, outgoing president of the League, presided at the men's sessions, and Mrs. Stephen Marturano of Temple, conducted the women's meeting. For the first time in many years — possibly since the League was organized — Ben Schwegman of San Antonio was not present to conduct the life insurance session. Illness prevented him from attending.

Climax of the religious services was a solemn pontifical mass celebrated by His Excellency Most Rev. Adolph Marx, Auxiliary Bishop of Corpus Christi, and the sermon by Rev. Edwin A. Jurascsek of San Antonio, Archdiocesan Moderator of Catholic Action.

On the new executive committee with Nick Block are Walter D. Zimmerman of San Antonio, secretary; Mrs. Henrietta D. Galie, president of the women's section; Bernard Ripper of Highill, president of the youth section, and Mrs. Leo Slippek of New Braunfels, treasurer.
