VOLUME XI

MUENSTER, COOKE COUNTY, TEXAS, FRIDAY, MAY 2, 1947

NUMBER 23

167 Calves and Pigs Entered in County 4-H-FFA Stock Show

That old confusion, daylight saving time, is here again. A part of the country sets its clocks ahead an hour, and everywhere else people have to pause for a mental calculation whenever they hear the time mentioned. It gets to be monotonous. It's bad enough to keep square on just the zones. So why complicate it further by the additional change?

Suppose we want to hear the president's speech and the time announced is 8 p.m. Eastern Daylight Saving time. We've got to subtract one hour for the zone and another hour for daylight saving. But suppose it's 8 p.m. Pacific time. That means add two hours and subtract one. Sounds simple enough, but just calculate for a while and you'll agree it's a nuisance. The answer doesn't come naturally. No sir, all too often you'll have to start from scratch and figure it out. Like the guy who has to pretend to throw something to distinguish right from left, only more so.

If those people must save daylight why don't they do it the simple way by just changing their schedule? If they are going to start work an hour earlier, why not do that instead of fixing a clock and trying to pretend it's the same time? There are some things we take for granted, and one is that mid-day is 12 o'clock. If we want to we can assume it is one o'clock, but all the while we know we're just kidding ourselves. After all the master clock is the sun and the nearer we can agree with it the less confusion we'll have.

A news report last week says that 100,000 union members in Iowa walked off their jobs one day in protest against anti-closed shop legislation then under consideration by the state House of Representatives. Most likely that report should say 100,000 workers were ordered to quit because of union leaders' protest against the legislation.

No one will be so simple as to believe that so many persons wanted to give up a day's pay to impress the legislature. Plenty of them wanted to work, you can bet on that, but because of the closed shop, they didn't have a chance.

Demonstrations like that can boomerang. Thinking legislators might be convinced by it that an anti-closed shop law is the best protection for people now being forced to strike and demonstrate against their will.

The problem child of our late illustrious president is out seeking the limelight again — this time by means of endorsing the country's Number 1 political renegade. Elliott has the nerve to describe Henry A. Wallace as political Messiah with a true vision of world and American political salvation.

Of course that doesn't really make a lot of difference. People are sufficiently familiar with Elliott's antics to take his opinions with a grain of salt.

As usual he had to refer back to the principles of FDR. A favorite trick of his — trying to cash in by reflecting the glory of his father. It's about the only way he can get along, because he certainly doesn't have enough brilliance of his own.

Equally irritating is his assumption that the country should accept Wallace's crackpot ideas because they are the ideas of FDR. How's that for crust? The man says the overwhelming majority is wrong because his pop, if he were alive, would not agree with them.

Where does the guy get the idea that FDR would approve Russia's current high handed methods? Or suppose Roosevelt did agree with Wallace and disagree with 95 per cent of our political leaders, are we to assume that he's right and everybody else is wrong? In a case like that would we say the platoon or Frankie is out of step?

Boiled down to its simplest statements Elliott's reasoning amounts to about this: My pop FDR, was infallible. If he were alive he would endorse Wallace's views. Therefore Wallace is correct and the rest of the country is wrong. Needless to say the conclusion is worth just as much as the statements it is based on.

It is pleasing to hear that congress favors attaching a few strings to future relief donations in war torn countries. Henceforth, some of them are insisting, we should send nothing without first making certain that the goods is properly used by the proper people.

Stories that come back from Europe about our previous relief efforts have made more than a few of us see red. Russia used

Approximately 125 entries were made in the calf division and 42 in the hog division in the FFA-4-H club's annual spring livestock show at Gainesville Friday, according to B.T. Haws, county agent, who said that "the boys had the best quality calves that they've had in several years."

STARLIGHT OPERETTA ANNOUNCES SUMMER SCHEDULE AT DALLAS

With the avowed intention of giving theatersgoers of Dallas and vicinity the greatest season in history, Starlight Operetta officials have announced a schedule of nine of the nation's top operettas and musicals for the ten week 1947 Starlight season. Residents of Dallas and the surrounding "Starlight Land" territory have displayed keener interest each season by the Operetta repertoire and Fair Park Casino directors feel that this year they have selected nine of the finest productions obtainable.

Shows playing this season, which opens June 16 and runs through August 24th, are as follows:

- Showboat (two weeks) June 16th through June 29th.
- Blossom Time; June 30th through July 6th.
- Fire Fly; July 7th through July 13th.
- No No Nanette; July 14th through July 20th.
- Merry Widow; July 21st through July 27th.
- Roberta; July 28th through August 3rd.
- Rio Rita; August 4th through August 10th.
- Student Prince; August 11th through August 17th.
- Desert Song; August 18th through August 24th.

The season's opening production, "Showboat", will play two weeks, due to the great demand throughout the area to see this magnificent musical. All other productions will enjoy a week's run. Casts of the nine hits will be announced shortly in this paper.

Despite rising production costs, admission prices to the Operetta will be the same as in former years. Operetta officials have decreed. Prices will be $2.40, $1.80, $1.20 and .60. Announcement of seat sales will be given throughout the Starlight Land area shortly. Present reports show a keen interest among theatergoers to see this finest of Starlight Operetta seasons.

Sunday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Schmitz were Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Joughin of Gainesville and her mother, Mrs. J. Johnson and daughter, Miss Josephine, of Chicago, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lee of Gainesville.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Huchtons and children of Hobbs, New Mexico, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Pulte at Gainesville, and relatives and friends here during the past week while they are on a vacation trip.

WEEK'S 2.77 INCH RAIN REGARDED AMPLE FOR GRASS, GRAIN CROPS

Pastures are flourishing and grain crops are just beginning to show the effect of excess moisture as a result of intermittent rains which added to a total of 2.77 inches during the past week.

Farmers report that soil is thoroughly soaked and the moisture is sufficient to carry grain through to maturity, however, a light rain several weeks hence would improve both quality and yield. Row crops are somewhat handicapped because weeds and grass are thriving while the land is too wet to work.

Coming as an apparent finale to the series of slow showers spread over five days, Tuesday night's heavy down-pour measured 1.49 inches and brought the total for the month to 6.31. It also compensated for the dryness of the first three months. January, February and March had .74, .40, and 2.90 inches, respectively.

Notes On Soil Conservation

Considerable acreage is being seeded to Bermuda Grass in the Muenster Work Unit by farmers cooperating with the Upper Elm-Red Soil Conservation District. Weeping Love Grass, a new variety to this area, is being introduced on a small scale and on various types of land. This grass is very adaptable to light, dry soil, and most of the seed planted is in the Clear Creek Conservation Group, southwest of Saint Jo.

Bermuda seeding, in the West Muenster Conservation Group, includes: H.J. Wolf, 3 acres on a waterway; Meinrad Hesse, 4 acres on a waterway; Tony Hesse, 4 acres on a waterway; Felix Becker, 12 acres of Bermuda and 2 acres of Buffalo on a waterway. Mr. Becker also planted 5 acres of Weeping Love Grass on some retired, cultivated land.

In the County Line Conservation Group, Henry Pels seeded 10 acres of Bermuda and Bernard Wolf, 3 acres.

Bruno Fleitman and Paul Fisher, of the Muenster Conservation Group, planted 13 and 3 acres of Bermuda, respectively.

Al Hess, member of the North Muenster Conservation group, established 2 acres of Bermuda for terrace outlet protection and Ben Sicking, of the SW group planted 20 acres of Bermuda for pasture.

Felix Yosten, of the Northwest Muenster Conservation Group, is sodding 1.5 acres of waterway by using a manure spreader. This is a very successful method and is recommended by technicians of the Soil Conservation Service. Joe Starke, of the same group, reports a good stand of Buffalo Grass. He planted this with a 2 row planter and 4 hole corn plate. Mr. Starke has already cultivated this grass to control competing weeds.

Final plans for the event were made by the boys at their regular meeting Monday night. Other business at the session consisted of re-arranging the boys from four patrols into three and the naming of James Knabe as leader for Patrol No. 3. At the same time Michael Driever was chosen cheer leader for the troop.

Theresina.

Between acts musical selections were presented by the Youth Band.

The cast is taking the play to Windthorst this Friday night.

McNelly, president of the Horse Show Association, stated this week. The full list of events and other details of the show will be determined at a meeting the latter part of this week.

One new feature is a contest of the outstanding western pair. The basis of judging will be the general appearance of the team, including the individual appearance of each and the harmony of attire and similarity of mounts. An exhibit of blooded horses is also planned as a new feature.

VOCATIONAL SCHOOL CONVERTS FIRE TRUCK INTO FARM SPRAYER

Cooke County Vocational school was among Texas educational institutions purchasing surplus property from the War Assets administration recently, according to Duncan D. Myers, chief of the public interest division, WAA, Grand Prairie.

The school purchased fire fighting equipment valued at $408, but by taking advantage of the discount from fair price allowed educational institutions under existing WAA regulations, acquired the property for $243.

According to E.F. Carson, coordinator of Cooke County Veterans' Vocational school, the equipment will be converted into a power spray to be used cooperatively among six different classes for spraying orchards and livestock. Livestock will be the principal object of the spray, controlling flies, lice and other external parasites of livestock.

The spray will also be used around the house or barns on a sanitation program.

RODEO HAS CAPACITY CROWD, ADDS ANOTHER EVENT FOR NEXT SHOW

Encouraged by a capacity crowd Saturday night, the Muenster Rodeo announced plans this week to add wild cow milking as a new feature for its next show.

The object of the contest is to rope a cow, get a small amount of milk in a bottle and return to the starting line in the shortest possible time. After the contestant ropes the cow an assistant joins him to help keep the animal under control while he gets the milk.

The rodeo management also announced that it is working constantly to eliminate the less active stock and hopes thereby to make each show better than the one before.

Favorable weather last week packed both the stands and the entry lists. More than half the calf roping contestants were crowded off the main show and had to wait until the regular schedule was completed.

Winners in their proper order were as follows: Bronc Riding: Bill Biffle, Prairie Point; Willard Harrison, Denton; Robert Witt, Ringgold.

Washington News Letter

By Congressman Ed Gossett

Washington, D.C., April 25 — As this is being written the House is debating the Interior Department Appropriations Bill. The Bill as reported slashed budget recommendations for the Interior Department by 47% reducing the amount from $295,000,000 down to $156,000,000. Several agencies within the Interior Department were entirely eliminated including the Oil and Gas Division. The Bureau of Reclamation, the Bonneville Power Administration, the Southwestern Power Administration, the Bureau of Land Management, the Bureau of Indian Affairs, the Geological Survey, the Bureau of Mines, the National Park Service, the Fish and Wildlife Service, were all substantially reduced. While friends of each agency will work hard to restore its appropriation, the bill will probably pass with substantial reductions.

The Bureau of Indian Affairs is an agency which, in my opinion, should be shortly liquidated. This bureau has one employee for each five Indians in the nation. More than twice as much money is spent on the Bureau of Indian Affairs than it costs to run the entire Legislative Branch of the government, i.e. — the Congress and all its employees. If the Indians were turned loose they would doubtless soon become assimilated and merge into the general population, to their benefit.

The Senate is still debating the tax reduction bill which passed the House some weeks ago. On the theory that misery loves company, we might point out that the Income Tax in England is twice as high as the Income Tax in America.

Numerous squads of CIO members are now working the Capital in opposition to labor legislation. Notwithstanding their efforts, it is certain that Congress will soon pass a bill making a number of changes in existing laws. In Washington there is much speculation on what the President will do with such a bill, whether he will sign or veto it. Most members of Congress feel that the public interest requires that we break up big organized labor monopolies and that we also break up big organized industrial monopolies. Both forms of monopolies are doing great damage to the interests of the consumer and the public generally. Since we do no longer have price controls, all increased labor costs and other costs are simply passed on to the consumer. It was easy for Big Steel, a monopoly, to increase the wages of its 800,000 workers by 15¢ per hour, for such increased cost is simply added to the prices paid by the consumer.

About 70% of the cost of automobiles is labor cost. An agreement will soon be made substantially increasing the wages of the one-and-a-half million automotive workers. This will just be added to the cost of the commodity. Unorganized workers, farmers, school teachers, white collared workers, and so on, are particularly interested in this matter since they are affected when prices continue to rise.

Hearings on the labor bill brought out many absurd practices which any legislation passed will seek to eliminate, such as jurisdictional strikes. Jurisdictional strikes are not strikes over wages, or hours or work, or conditions of work, but over which union will do a certain job. One serious strike occurred in a war industry over which of two unions would deliver the coco-cola to the plant. The matter of boycotts and sympathy strikes is also serious. Many examples appeared in the hearings where the Teamsters Union had refused to haul, or permit others to haul, goods and equipment from non-union shops. A woman in California was unable to market her turkeys because they were not plucked by union pluckers. Milk was destroyed in one locality because union teamsters had not hauled the fodder on which the cows were fed.

An absurdity concerning who does what is illustrated by a personal experience. We live in a village of 225 apartments here in Washington. The village is owned by an individual and is maintained, of course, by union workmen. Some time ago two men came to the apartment and did a five minute job of caulking a few cracks in the tile bathroom. Mrs. Gossett asked them to make similar repairs in the tile kitchen. To this they replied, "We only work in bathrooms." This is carrying specialization a little too far.

In my opinion a great majority of the members of organized labor would, themselves, like to get rid of abusive practices. Good wages and reasonable profits are in the public interest. But when too much is paid for too little, the consumer gets it in the neck.

many Americans know that it was under Capitalism that America achieved prosperity, and that if this country is to remain prosperous and to go on to even greater prosperity, it can only be attained under Capitalism and Free Enterprise. They know that prosperity depends upon the creation and distribution of wealth, and that under the Capitalistic System this country has created and distributed more wealth to more people of all classes than has any other nation in all the world's history.

No nation has ever attained real prosperity except through industry and trade and these only can flourish under a free economy such as Capitalism. All the teachings of history prove that where private property has been the most secure and enterprise the most free, in that place has existed the greatest degree of prosperity.

At the same time it would be foolish to fail to recognize and frankly admit that the Capitalistic System is far from perfect, that it has numerous flaws. But, I hazard the opinion that until someone comes along with some scheme of economy that looks better, this nation is going to string along with Capitalism. So far, despite all the clamor of the Reds, the Nazis and the Fascists, no plan has been advanced that comes even close to having as many virtues and as few faults as the Capitalistic System.

And now to hark back to the opening sentence of this article. Did you ever have a toothache? A rather foolish question, because of course, you have. What did you do? You took that aching tooth to your dentist, you had him examine it. Just because it was aching a bit, you didn't give up on that tooth entirely. Your dentist's examination revealed a fairly sound tooth with a small spot of decay. You didn't tell him to yank it. You told him to remove the decay and fill the tooth. You knew that tooth had done a lot of service for you, that it could do a whole lot more, and you wanted to keep it. So the dentist filled it.

And so it is with Capitalism. Now and then it may have a toothache. But let's be as sensible about that as we are with our own personal toothaches. Let's not allow Capitalism's teeth to be extracted until we're awfully sure they can't be filled.

Isn't It So?

The peculiarity about a law is the amazing amount of breakage it can undergo and still exist.

The American Way CAPITALISM

Very often an aching tooth does not have to be pulled — it can be filled.

The Communists, Socialists and kindred spirits would have us believe that Capitalism is doomed.

They contend that Capitalism was on the skids in the United States before the outbreak of World War II, because, as they allege, it failed to solve the unemployment problem and end the depression. And now that the war is over, they see Communism sweeping the world and eventually engulfing these United States of ours.

But they are wrong. Capitalism is not doomed. It is not going to disappear from the face of the earth, and most certainly not from the United States. Too

"As Homelike As a Barn"

Cy Hartman finally got his new barn painted, but plenty of folks had a hand in it. Whenever someone got a free day, or a little extra time, they'd come over and help out with paint and brush.

And Cy, to show his appreciation, held a big "barn warming" Saturday—for all the folks who'd helped him (but not barring those who couldn't). Ma Hartman supplied sandwiches, and Cy rolled out a mellow keg of beer.

You'd never think of a barn as "homelike." But with those lanterns hanging from the rafters; make-shift tables spread heavy with food; and Ed Carey's fiddle playing while the folks enjoyed their beer—Cy's barn was sure a mighty hospitable-looking place!

From where I sit, it's just about as appropriate to have a barn warming as a housewarming... if only because it's another chance to get neighbors together in a spirit of good fellowship.

Shopping

A very well-dressed woman walked into a Fifth Avenue milliner's shop, and the manager of the shop, herself came up to serve her.

"I see by your advertisement," said the woman, "that you have just received two thousand hats from Paris."

"Yes, we have," replied the manager of the shop.

"Good" said the woman, taking off her hat, "I wish to try them on."

The Weight of Worth

A certain small-town lawyer whose pretensions of importance were somewhat greater than his actual merit went about the village with head held high and an expression of superiority on his countenance.

"Charlie," he remarked to the courthouse caretaker one morning, "why do you persist in shambling about with your head hung down and that everlasting dreamy look on your face? You should stand up straight and proud like I do!"

"Mr. Tucker," rejoined Charlie, "have you ever noticed in passing a wheat field that some of the plants stand up straight while the others bend low?"

"Of course I have," the lawyer rejoined impatiently.

"Well," observed Charlie, "the wheat that stands too straight hasn't any grain on it."

How to Store Dry Foods

COFFEE or jam jars with screw tops and pint or quart mason jars make handy receptacles in which to store rice, cereals, spaghetti and other dry foods in cupboard and pantry space which could not otherwise be used.

Fasten the jar tops, with nails or screws, to a permanent position on the bottom of a wooden shelf. Then, when the jar has been filled, it can be screwed into place, hanging from the bottom of the shelf. Large jars can be placed at the back and a row of small jars for spices and condiments can make up a front row. You will find the foods stored in this way handy to get at and easy to keep in order.

The space under the jars can be used for dishes or for other packaged foods. This arrangement stretches the space in cupboards and pantries and puts everything in place so that it is unnecessary to lift one package from another when removing items from the shelves. If you have trouble identifying some of the items, such as salt and sugar, flour and baking powder, scissor off a part of the package label and put it along the glass at the bottom of the jar before filling.

This same arrangement can be employed under a shelf over your gas range for spices and condiments that are used often. The jars can be decorated if you wish with decalcomanias or stripes of colorful paint to match your kitchen decoration scheme.

Tip on Seating Guests

Sir Mark Young, liberated governor of Hong Kong, is known for his lively wit.

One day, at a luncheon in Government House, a lady prominent in society was vexed to discover that she had been seated at the end of the table, instead of next to the host. This was a blow to her prestige.

At the end of the meal she approached Sir Mark and said rather tartly: "Apparently you don't care where you seat your guests."

"Madam" he replied, "those who really matter don't mind where they are seated. And those who mind don't usually matter."

Voice of Experience

The perspiring woman, one humid August day, practically filled a bus with shouting children. As she was dropping nickel after nickel in the fare box, the driver asked, "Are these all your children, or is this a picnic?"

"These are all my children, mister," she replied, "and it wasn't any picnic."

Powerful Words

"Just think of it!" exclaimed the romantic young newlywed, "a few words mumbled over your head and you're married."

"Yes," agreed the old cynic, "and a few words mumbled in your sleep and you're divorced."

Foreign Freedom
A GI and a Russian soldier in Berlin were discussing their respective governments. The GI told the Russian that he could go to Washington knock on the White House door, ask President Truman how he was and "then wag my finger in front of his face and tell him just what I think of Harry S. Truman."

Said the Russian: "I can go to the Kremlin, ask to see Generalissimo Stalin, ask him how he is, wag my finger in front of his face and also tell him just what I think — about Harry S. Truman."

Very True

"Daddy, don't they give showers for the groom?"
"No, son. There will be storms enough for him after the bride begins to reign."

Troubles

I've got a heap of troubles
And I've got to work them out
But I look around and see
There's trouble all about
And when I see my troubles,
I just look up and grin
And count all the trouble
That I'm not in.

That's Different

I'm writing to Bill—he's serving on an island in the Pacific.
"Which island?"
"Alcatraz."

A NEW TWIST

No harm is being done by the girl on the left to her jacket. She's merely tying it up in knots to prove how Resloom, a new Melamine resin process, makes it resistant to crushing and wrinkling. Even a downpour of water can't hurt the jacket, for this process also makes the cloth water repellent.

Female Version

"What does your husband work at?" one woman asked another.
"He's an efficiency expert in a big office downtown," replied the other.
"Efficiency expert? What are his duties?"
"It's hard to say exactly," explained the second woman "but if we women did it, they'd call it nagging."

Liquid Assets

A farmer, paying his first visit to the seashore, asked a boatman if he could buy some of the water to take home to show his wife.

The boatman assented and charged the farmer a quarter.
A few hours later the visitor returned to the shore. By now the tide had gone out, and the man gazed open-mouthed at the spectacle.

"By cracky, mister," he said "you've done a good business today."

"My aunt and uncle in Washington, D.C., recently celebrated their silver wedding anniversary, and among the guests were a number of attaches of the French legation. His face beaming, one young chap asked his neighbor: "Tell me, mon cher, what is this silvaire wedding which we celebrate? I do not understand."
"Oh," replied his neighbor, "don't you know? Why, my uncle and aunt have lived together for twenty-five years without having been separated and—"
"Ah," he returned heartily, a lightbreaking upon him. "And now, he marry her? Bravo! Bravo!"

Who says times aren't getting back to normal? We've just heard of a new father who received the glad tidings in a telegram — "Hazel gave birth to a little girl this morning, both doing well."
On the message was a sticker reading:
"When you want a boy, call Western Union."

Daughter — "What is the best way to make Harry stop spending so much money on me when he takes me out?"
Mother — "Marry him."

Closed Shop Is Key To Growth Of Reds

Tight Control of Unions Over Workers Offers Ideal Attraction.

Attorney General Tom Clark, G-Man J. Edgar Hoover, and even spokesmen for organized labor recently have put their finger on a primary reason for growing public sentiment against the closed shop—namely, the steady spread of communism in the labor movement.

Addressing the Chicago Bar Association, General Clark declared recently that "small groups of radicals, well-coached in a pre-arranged plan, are using the party-line methods in identical activity so that they can speak to the people, not in open avowal of their aims, but with the voice of the honest working man. No country on earth, and no government, can long endure this vicious attack."

FBI Chief Hoover termed the spread of communism in the labor unions of the United States "the greatest threat this nation faces."

And earlier this month, a Detroit labor publication revealed the alarming extent to which communism has grown in the unions when it reported that of 39 CIO unions, only 14 are known to be non-communist dominated. Other union leaders have openly espoused the cause of communists in the labor movement, with a Milwaukee electrical local voting five to one against refusing membership to known party members.

How the closed shop has made the unions the most attractive field for communist infiltration in the U. S. has been one of the points emphasized to Congressional leaders studying the question of what to do about the closed shop and other remedial labor legislation. Some recommendation is expected from both the House and Senate labor committees in Washington within the near future, and any effort to curb either the closed shop or other so-called labor "gains" is expected to precipitate one of the hardest-fought battles of the session.

The principal attack on the closed shop has been centered on the fact that it takes away the right of citizens to work and earn a living, and that it gives union leaders a life-and-death stranglehold upon even the personal lives of union members. It is this tight control, Congressional leaders have been told, that has attracted communists to infiltrate into the labor unions with a view to seizing the workers for their cause.

The seriousness of the closed shop weapon in the hands of a few individuals was pointed out several days ago by the editor of the United States News who declared:

"Whenever any group of citizens becomes bigger than the government, it is the duty of all the people to put such groups in their places, no matter how loud the cries of pain or indignation that come from those who are reluctant to give up special privileges."

Tail Louse, African Pest Reported Latest Threat to Texas Cattle Production

Texas stockmen may have another cattle parasite problem on their hands.

In a report received by the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service, entomologists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture state that they have discovered in Florida and Texas an African cattle parasite, the "tail louse". The scientists say that heavy infestations of the lice can be a serious threat to cattle production. The lice sap cattle of their vitality and can make them too weak to walk if infested heavily.

How the louse got to the United States is a question, the entomologists say. Previously it was known to exist only in West Africa, where it was discovered in 1915. It has been most recently reported in Texas.

The lice infest the brush of the animal's tail, and Florida cattlemen have named it the "tail louse". Stockmen can recognize serious infestations by the matted appearance of the animal's tail.

The USDA entomologists say that sprays containing 1.5 per cent DDT, in a wettable powder form, have proved to be effective means of controlling the louse. They state that although the tail is the central point where the lice gather, spraying the entire animal thoroughly is advisable. One and one-half to two pints of spray per animal is usually enough to do the job.

WILLIAM FUHRMANN IMOGENE BEZNER WED IN GAINESVILLE RITE

Miss Imogene Bezner and William Fuhrmann were married in a pretty ceremony Tuesday morning at 8:30 in Saint Mary's church at Gainesville with the Rev. Father Peter Molloy, pastor, reading the ring ceremony and officiating at the nuptial high mass. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bezner who reside north of Lindsay and Mr. Fuhrmann is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Fuhrmann of Muenster.

The bride was attractive in a traditional white satin wedding gown, designed with high neckline, long, fitted sleeves, a moulded bodice and full skirt that swept into a long, graceful train. Her veil was full length and she carried a white prayer book topped with a cluster of gardenias.

Miss Marcella Bezner attended her sister as maid of honor, wearing a bouffant blue net frock over taffeta with a matching net headdress and a corsage of white carnations.

Joe Fuhrmann, a cousin of the groom, was best man.

After the ceremony, breakfast was served to the bridal party in the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Mosser, and at noon dinner was served to immediate members of both families in the home of the bride's parents. The bride's table carried out her chosen colors and was centered with a decorated cake, flanked with tapers.

In the evening at 7 the young couple was honored with a reception and a buffet supper, followed by a dance. The Lindsay community hall was the scene of these events and a large number of relatives and friends were guests.

In the late evening Mr. and Mrs. Fuhrmann left on a wedding trip and when they return they will make their home on a farm northeast of Muenster.

Among out of town relatives at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. A.C. Flusche of Denison.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Walterscheid and daughter, Mary Catherine, and Mr. and Mrs. C.M. Walterscheid and son, Junior, spent Saturday, Sunday and Monday in Hereford with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Walterscheid and were among those attending the K of C initiation-banquet in Hereford

Sugar Saving Chocolate Cake a Family Favorite

Mother will have fun watching the satisfied expressions all around the table when sugar-saving chocolate cake is the dessert, says the Country Cooking editor of nationally-circulated Capper's Farmer. The secret of stretching short sugar supplies lies in using prepared pudding mixes in the baking job, whether it's thick-frosted cakes, hearty pies, cookies or nutbread, she tells home-maker readers of the magazine read by 1,300,000 farm families.

Chocolate Cake

1/4 c. lard
1 egg, beaten
1 c. dark corn sirup
1 tsp. vanilla
1 c. milk

2 c. cake flour
3/4 c. cocoa
1 pkg. chocolate pudding mix
8 tsp. baking powder
1/2 tsp. salt

Have lard at room temperature; cream thoroly, then add egg. Stir well and add sirup, milk and vanilla; blend. Sift dry ingredients together and stir into batter. Beat for at least 2 minutes on low speed of electric mixer, or beat 300 strokes by hand. Cover bottoms of two 8-inch cake pans with waxed paper; grease lightly. Pour in batter. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) for 30 minutes or until done.

Chocolate Frosting

1 sweet chocolate bar
4 tsp. cream

1 pkg. chocolate pudding mix
1/2 tsp. vanilla

Melt chocolate in double boiler over hot water. Add 2 tsp. cream and stir until smooth. Add pudding mix and stir until blended, adding remainder of cream as needed. Continue stirring over hot water until of spreading consistency, about 3 minutes. Add vanilla. Will frost one 10-inch loaf cake, or two 8-inch layers.

Confetti---

our generosity in one of the most contemptible tricks of treachery known to modern times. It used our confidence not only to make suckers out of us but even to promote the spread of its anti-American prejudice and to extend its own poisonous influence.

We furnished food and clothing and trusted local authorities—hirelings of Stalin—to distribute them. Too late we discovered that much of our goods was being used to finance Communist aggression and the rest was being given to good party members. At the same time people were told that Russia was providing the goods and this country was falling to help.

Henceforth the plan is to furnish our own distributors and make certain that people learn where the help is coming from. While they're doing that the distributors might also explain Russia's shabby part in previous relief activities.
