VOLUME XI

MUENSTER, COOKE COUNTY, TEXAS, FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 26, 1947

NUMBER 44

About the most welcome news to pop up around here lately is the decision to get going on the new Sacred Heart Church. All of a sudden the project emerges from the list of things to be accomplished "when circumstances permit" and becomes a definite objective to work on constantly from now until completion.

Something more to cheer about is the decision to put a lot more money into the church than originally planned. Times have changed and the $125,000 considered as adequate back in the thirties has shrunk down to about half size. But instead of cutting corners to keep costs down to that figure the community will dig deeper into its pockets and put up a building it can be proud of.

That is exactly as it should be. Nothing short of magnificence is a proper movement to some 300 families in a community as prosperous as this. Divine Providence has smiled on the people here, so it is only fitting that they express their appreciation with an edifice that will be an honor to God and a credit to themselves.

In addition, there are a few practical considerations. This church is not a temporary building, nor even a two or three generations building. The plan is to put into it all the permanence that modern architectural science can muster. It is intended to be good for at least a century or two, or three, or more.

Besides being sturdy it has to be big to accommodate the ever expanding needs of the community. It should have twice the capacity of the present church plus facilities for adding balconies if and when the need should arise.

That all takes money, of course, but it's more practical, and cheaper in the long run, to build now for the future than to do the job half way and go through the same experience a few decades hence.

When we get down to actual figures this really isn't such a tremendous burden. The original amount was reached several years ago and has been earning the regular war bond interest ever since. What's more, practically everybody has more spare cash today and can actually do better for the supplemental purse than he did for the original.

Just a suggestion along that line. Suppose every person in the parish resolved to tithe until the full amount has been raised. How long would it take? We wouldn't even have to contribute the full tithe to this cause. Only what's left of it after our normal charity donations and church support. Without reference statistics, Con couldn't say definitely but he has a notion that a parish-wide tithing plan would complete the fund by the end of next year.

Compared with the amount we're accustomed to giving back to God this may seem like a sizeable lump. But before discarding the idea let's remember that the old testament custom was to give a tenth every year. Surely we ought to be willing to do as much for only a year or two.

Here's another of those practical and simple ideas that makes us wonder why it wasn't done years ago. A congresswoman from Massachusetts says she's going to sponsor a bill to have different denominations of currency printed in different colors.

If the lady can put her deal over she'll be doing a big favor to lots of people. Not especially to small change guys who seldom carry anything bigger than ones, but to clerks, tellers and any others who handle lots of money in the course of their daily business. To nine out of ten persons color distinctions will stand out more conspicuously than the corner figures we now depend on. There should be fewer mistakes in making change.

There is an appealing feature about the recently publicized trend to buyer strikes. Quite possibly it could accomplish some of the things that common sense could have prevented in the first place.

The public has the ability to push present economic budgets back in line. Items passed up because of high prices will come down to a more proper figure, and eventually the reductions will move down through the entire distribution and production process.

That's the development we're looking for most of all. A combination of lower prices and lower wages to the end that a dollar will be restored to something at

Hornets Hold St. Jo Panthers to 6 Points In 1947 Grid Opener

Though losing by a score of 6-0, the Muenster Hornets opened their 1947 football season in grand style at Saint Jo last Friday night. They played a whale of a game against heavy odds, and while failing to score for themselves managed to stop three of the Panthers' goal line drives.

Weight and experience both favored the Panthers. Their advantage of about ten pounds per man along with better coordination on most of the plays chalked up gains with monotonous regularity. Superior interference gave the runners a better chance and the extra weight consistently helped pick up additional yardage after the tackle.

The toughest opposition in that respect was big Pete Jones, 190 pound fullback and outstanding power-house of the Panther team. Almost invariably his line plunges were good for the yardage needed in a pinch. Jones also distinguished himself as a dependable blocker assisting his team-mates in many of their substantial gains.

Breaks of the game, though favoring both sides, probably leaned slightly in Muenster's favor and helped to compensate for Saint Jo's advantage in first downs and yardage. One Hornet kick took a tricky bounce past the safety man giving the Panthers the ball deep in their own territory whereas two Panther kicks went sour. One was a complete miss and the other went out of bounds only fifteen yards downfield. The teams were even on interceptions with two apiece, and about even on completed passes, although Saint Jo, with a 40 yard heave in the first quarter netted more yardage. Total gains were about proportional to first downs, which were 11 to 5 in the Panthers' favor.

The Hornets' only scoring treat came in the first quarter when, after the kick-off and a short Panther gain, they took the ball on downs on the 40 and advanced to the 20. There the Panthers took over and started the scoring drive with a long pass. Another pass and several plunges carried the ball across as the quarter ended.

From then on the playing was done mostly in the Hornets area. The Panthers threatened three more times but were stopped at every try. The Hornets did not advance past mid-field on their drives.

Albert Fleitman, cooperater in the J.B. Klement Conservation Group, four miles north of Muenster, recently applied 200 pounds of phosphate per acre on 10 acres planned for alfalfa.

Charles Cler, cooperater in the Felix Becker Conservation Group, two miles west of Muenster, finished construction on three miles of new terraces that were constructed to specifications of the Upper Elm-Red Soil Conservation District. Terraces will spill on native meadow grass and buffalo grass pasture.

Cooperators in the Katy Conservation Group, immediately north of Saint Jo, in the Upper Elm Fork Sub-Watershed, had a group meeting Thursday night in the First National Bank at Saint Jo. Waterways and cover crops were discussed by Thomas F. Moore, District Conservationist, and Hubert Copeland, Work Unit Conservationist, Nocona, Cooperators, whose agreements were transferred to the Muenster Work Unit, are: W.E. Scott, R.S. Mann, C.W. Varney, Glenn W. Lovett, Meador Brothers, and Redman Brothers.

Alphonse Luke, cooperater in the Bruno Fleitman Conservation Group, one mile northeast of Muenster, is applying his phosphate by mixing 50 pounds of phosphate to one ton of manure. This mixture gives available nutrients of 10 lbs. nitrogen, 15 lbs. phosphoric acid, and 10 pounds potash per ton in addition to organic matter and desirable bacteria added to the soil.

Monday's meeting was devoted to two subjects, corn production and dairy herd improvement. Movies were used to supplement the discussion.

Reports at the meeting disclosed that three of the class projects are progressing very satisfactorily. Instructor Hugh Barnhart revealed, Tony Hesse, Eugene Klement and Thomas Sicking have accurate production records on their herds for the past four months. Milk weights on individual cows are recorded daily and butterfat tests are recorded monthly. At the end of the year these figures will reveal which cows are producers and which are only boarders.

Meurer is state financial secretary and Schmitz is chairman of the state council activity committee.

BROKEN FRONT SPRING CAUSES CAR WRECK; ALL ESCAPE INJURY

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Yosten and little daughter escaped injury but the car in which they were driving was badly damaged in an accident Sunday morning.

Coming from Fort Worth to this city to visit relatives, the accident occurred near Valley View when the front spring of the 1936 Ford coupe broke and resulted in the car turning over.

After receiving word of the wreck Buddy Yosten dove to the scene and brought his brother and family to Muenster. They visited here until Monday evening. At that time they were still undecided as to whether the wrecked car was worth repairing.

Notes On Soil Conservation

Chairman of the Upper Elm-Red Soil Conservation District J. W. Hess, states, "I hope every farmer who plans to establish a Bermuda grass or Buffalo grass waterway will call at the Soil Conservation Service Headquarters and get his waterway staked out before this land is sowed to grain. These waterways should be soded and seeded this winter and spring to get cover as soon as possible to continue our terracing program".

The recent rain has been very beneficial to district cooperators in doing terrace maintenance, planting Hairy Vetch, and sodding bermuda grass for terrace outlets.

Bruno Fleitman, group leader one mile northeast of Muenster, maintained 9.8 miles of terraces last week with a tractor and grader. Andy Schoech, in the H.J. Fuhrman Conservation Group, also maintained terraces east of his house with farm equipment. Since the rain settled loose soil, terraces are in an ideal condition to build up to district specifications. Last winter and spring, many terraces broke due to improper maintenance during and after Fall breaking.

Joe Tischler, cooperater in the N.J. Klement Conservation Group, four miles northeast of Muenster, sowed a mixture of Balboa Rye and Hairy Vetch seed on seven acres last week. Mr. Tischler made a special trip to town for innoculant to inoculate his vetch seed. Proper inoculation of vetch is important as un-inoculated seed makes slow growth and does not have nodules formed by nitrogen fixing bacteria on the root system of the plant.

Albert Fleitman, cooperater in the J.B. Klement Conservation Group, four miles north of Muenster, recently applied 200 pounds of phosphate per acre on 10 acres planned for alfalfa.

Charles Cler, cooperater in the Felix Becker Conservation Group, two miles west of Muenster, finished construction on three miles of new terraces that were constructed to specifications of the Upper Elm-Red Soil Conservation District. Terraces will spill on native meadow grass and buffalo grass pasture.

Cooperators in the Katy Conservation Group, immediately north of Saint Jo, in the Upper Elm Fork Sub-Watershed, had a group meeting Thursday night in the First National Bank at Saint Jo. ATTEND K OF C MEETING FOR STATE OFFICERS

Herbert Meurer of the local Knights of Columbus council and P.E. Schmitz of the Gainesville council were in Waco Saturday and Sunday to attend a meeting of state officers, district deputies and state committee chairmen of the organization.

Fast Aerial Attack Expected as Hornets Meet Valley View

If advance performance is any indication of what to expect in football, the Hornets had better be ready for tough competition when they meet the Valley View Eagles there Thursday night. A 33 to 0 win over Whitesboro in the season opener last week indicates that the Eagles have power and lots of it.

Along with that there are a few psychological factors well worth considering. The Eagles are playing on their home field and they are still smarting from the defeat handed them by the Hornets last year. They are primed to deal the Hornets plenty of trouble.

Advance information reaching here indicates that the green clad boys have a smooth clicking outfit featured by a heavy line and a light, fleet-footed backfield. They move fast and specialize in an aerial attack. In their game with Whitesboro all touchdowns and practically all substantial gains were made on passes.

The Hornets, however, are not conceding a thing. At Saint Jo last Friday they discovered they can hold their own against fairly tough opposition, and they've been working like beavers ever since to correct all the faults they can. At the same time they're putting in lots of practice on special alertness against passing attacks.

The game is scheduled for 8 o'clock Thursday night on the Eagle field, adjoining the High School.

PARKING SPOT FOR FMA EMPLOYEES WILL RELIEVE MAIN STREET

Parking should be less of a problem in the vicinity of the FMA after this week. Special parking sheds, now under construction across the highway and west of Jones and Laughlin supply company, will accommodate 12 cars. In the future employees will park their cars there leaving the space at the plant and store for customers.

Materials for the two sheds were salvaged from the old poultry house formerly located west of the cheese plant. It was torn down just before the parking lot project was started.

Saint Charles Church At Gainesville Is Dedicated By Bishop Dangelmayr

The Most Rev. Bishop Augustine Dangelmayr of Dallas officiated at the dedication rites for the new St. Charles church in Gainesville Sunday afternoon at 3:30.

He represented the Most Rev. Joseph P. Lynch, Bishop of Dallas, who was to have officiated at the ceremony but was unable to attend. Witnessing the rites were 150 colored people, some 200 white people including a large assemblage from Muenster, 18 clergy from various sections of Texas and a large number of nuns.

Bishop Dangelmayr concluded the dedicatory address by expressing thanks to the people of Muenster, Lindsay and Gainesville for making the parish a reality.

A choir composed of Sisters of St. Mary's church, Gainesville, presented music for the occasion and sacramental benediction was given by Rev. Father Albert.

Mitchell Heads Discussion On Soil Conservation At Veterans Vocational Class

The value of legumes as soil builders is scheduled as the subject for study at the next GI vocational agriculture class session Thursday night, Oct. 25. Robert Mitchell, director of the local soil conservation unit will lead the discussion.

Monday's meeting was devoted to two subjects, corn production and dairy herd improvement. Movies were used to supplement the discussion.

Reports at the meeting disclosed that three of the class projects are progressing very satisfactorily. Instructor Hugh Barnhart revealed, Tony Hesse, Eugene Klement and Thomas Sicking have accurate production records on their herds for the past four months. Milk weights on individual cows are recorded daily and butterfat tests are recorded monthly. At the end of the year these figures will reveal which cows are producers and which are only boarders.

PARCHED SOIL LAPS UP 2 INCH SLOW DRIZZLE; COULD USE SOME MORE

Almost two inches of rain last Friday night and Saturday finally broke the weather man's jinx on this community. It was a slow, steady drizzle and the parched soil soaked it up like a sponge.

Though a welcome starter, the rain did not begin to meet the needs of local farm lands. Two or three more showers of that size would hardly restore the soil to an ideal growing condition. Pastures are showing a slight improvement but are still far from the bright greenness that indicates lush grazing.

This moisture was the first of any consequence to fall here since the latter part of June. Late in August a total of about one half inch settled the dust and brought temporary relief from a heat wave but did little to improve the condition of the soil.

Frank Kaiser was a patient at St. Vincent's hospital in Sherman Tuesday and Wednesday for treatment of his eye.

Wimpy Kathman was back on his bread route Saturday after laying off several days last week on account of a boil near the corner of his eye. Ed Endres substituted for him while he was confined to his home.

Fang Discovered 3 Days Later Identifies Minor Accident As Snake Bite

A snake fang removed three days after the bite left no doubt in Ben Haverkamp's mind as to the cause of swelling that puffed up his hand more than twice the normal size.

It happened on Sunday, September 14. While working on a drilling rig near Myra Ben was handling a piece of pipe among bushes. Suddenly he felt a prick on his left index finger but thought nothing of it. He assumed he had been stuck by a loose burr of steel or a thorn. Even when swelling set in the next day he thought it was a minor infection caused by dirt.

On Wednesday he realized he had serious trouble and called on a doctor who discovered the fang when he lanced the finger. Infection was so far advanced then that little hope was held for saving the finger.

However Ben has responded well to penicillin shots and rest. During the past week his finger has almost completely healed.

Social Center For VFW Members Opened Sunday

Since Sunday night the Muenster VFW post has a club-room of its own. Besides serving for the group's business meetings it will be headquarters for social gatherings of the members and their lady guests on Tuesday, Thursday, Saturday and Sunday nights. Located a door north of Fisher's market, the place has been favored with rest rooms and a complete paint job. Furnishings added to date consist of a music box, chairs and tables.

New Church Project Revived; Cost To Be Near Quarter Million

This community's new church project came to life again this week after lying dormant for several years because of difficulties brought on by war-time shortages in building materials and labor.

Father Herman Laux, pastor of the Sacred Heart parish, announced Sunday that preliminaries to actual construction are already in progress and work will continue steadily until the building is finished.

First step in the program is to raise additional funds. Because of increased building costs the original amount of $125,000 which was reached years ago and has since grown to about $140,000, is far from adequate. Rev. Herman now expects the structure to cost approximately $250,000.

In raising the money, he added, collectors will be going after the hard cash, not pledges to be met at a later date. The reason, he explained, is to avoid the possibility of future financial problems by having at least 90 per cent of the money on the barrel head before actual construction gets under way. Parish members are asked to consider that fact and try to respond with their full quota immediately.

Preliminary planning with an architect is due to begin in the near future in the hope of having blueprints ready about the time the drive for funds is completed.

When actual construction gets under way Father Herman will rely on two factors to relieve the financial strain by many thousands of dollars. One is the old community custom of gratis labor. Everyone will be asked to donate several days of his time. The other factor is salvage materials. Bricks, stones, heavy timbers and any other usable items from the present structure will be figured into the new building wherever possible.

150 PARENTS REPORT FOR FIRST MEETING IN '47-8 P-TA PROGRAM

The Sacred Heart Parent-Teachers Association held its first meeting of the season Thursday evening in the parish hall with more than one hundred and fifty parents in attendance.

The president's message, brought by Mrs. Rudy Hellman, listed the aims and objectives of the organization, stressed closer relationship between parents, teachers and children, cooperation of school and home and the organization's willingness to assist whenever and wherever needed.

Rev. Herman Laux spoke briefly, mentioning several instances in which the association can cooperate with the parish in accomplishing worthwhile objectives to benefit the school and the community.

Father John Walbe, business manager of the Hornets, gave an account of athletics, announced the schedule of football games and reported on work at the shower building.

Mrs. Al Wiesman, treasurer, read the financial report and Mrs. Al Walterscheid reported on the organization's activity during the summer, including the serving of refreshments at the auction sale and rodeo.

It was announced that meetings will be held regularly on the third Thursday of every month, and room mothers to serve during the current term were appointed.

Mrs. Hellman gave a report on the lunch room project and stated that new equipment added this year includes an electric mixer, serving trays, plates and silver.

Members agreed to continue the attendance contest which was inaugurated last year and which proved successful in bringing more parents to the sessions and caused more enthusiasm at the meetings. Prizes offered are 50 dollars to high school class and fifty dollars to the grade class that can account for the greatest number of parents at the monthly meetings.

Following adjournment of the business session the group enjoyed a social hour during which refreshments of chocolate muffins and hot coffee were served.

Lt. and Mrs. Tim Stormer and daughter of San Antonio are here for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C.J. Fette and other relatives while Lt. Stormer is on leave.

Steve Denham returned to Muenster Monday after spending the summer with his family in Pueblo, Colorado.

Miss Loretta Hartman of Dallas was here Saturday night and Sunday to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Hartman and family.

In an Awful Hurry

The Hamilton Herald-News tells the story of two buzzards lazily soaring over the desert when a jet-propelled plane zipped by them, its exhaust throwing flame and smoke. As it whizzed out of sight, one of the buzzards remarked: "That bird was really in a hurry."
"You'd be in a hurry, too," said the other, "if your tail was on fire."

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

We All Need Fun!

Nobody in Our Town is exactly lazy (even though Pete Swanson's missus claims he sleeps till seven A.M.). But the hardest working man of all is Doc Hollister—on call, morning, noon and night.

Funny thing, Doc's favorite prescription to his patients is: You ought to have fun. The pace of modern living, even on the farm, demands some relaxation.

And as Doc says—fun is a personal thing. For the missus it may mean a movie or a good book; for Dad, a mellow and refreshing glass of beer; and for the kids, parcheesi or the radio. Doesn't mean everybody has to like the same thing—so long as they relax, have fun, together, in the home.

Doc doesn't have much time himself. After a hard day, he'll relax before the fire with a glass of beer—and wait for the phone to ring again. And from where I sit, Doc deserves each well-earned minute of that relaxation.

PARENTS OF SENIORS AND 6TH GRADERS TAKE LEAD IN P-TA CONTEST

The seniors and the sixth graders of Sacred Heart school won the first lap of the attendance contest, sponsored by the P-TA to encourage the attendance of parents at the monthly meetings of the organization, as the result of last Thursday night's opening session of the season.

The classes with the largest number of parents in attendance at the end of the school term will be awarded cash prizes. Fifty dollars each is the reward for the winning high school and grade school class at the end of the year.

Last year's awards went to Sister Eymard's freshman class and to Sister Canesia's fifth and sixth grade boys. At Thursday night's P-TA meeting they reported on how they had utilized the prize money. Sister Eymard stated that it was being used for gym suits for the girl's volleyball and basketball teams and for equipment. Girl's basketball will return as a part of the athletic program this year she said after several years during which only volley ball was played.

Sister Canesia reported that her pupils had bought footballs, baseballs and bats and had donated the remainder of the prize money to the school library.

OUR SCHOOLS

There seems to be something definitely wrong with our present-day educational system. Most certainly our public schools, our high schools and colleges are not turning out the same high grade students they did a generation ago.

A business man with whom I talked, has perhaps diagnosed the trouble. Each year his company finds it necessary to take on an additional number of young men. He was quite depressed about the quality of applicants in recent years. He said:

"Most of the boys who apply here for jobs these days are totally unfitted and untrained. Our schools, at least those in my city, have ceased to turn out self-reliant students. We want boys to enter the employ of our company who have initiative and imagination and who can figure out things for themselves.

"But our schools seem to be going in the opposite direction in training our youth. The child is taught to look to his teacher for the method of doing things, even for the way he should think about them. The pupil is taught to memorize and not to think. The net result is that when boys enter our employ, we really have to start their education. This is particularly unfortunate because not only our company but nearly all companies are crying out for young men able to take responsibility, possessing sound judgment and real imagination."

This could be the answer as to why so many of our young people are experiencing difficulty in finding suitable jobs. Many of our educators do not seem to be disturbed about this situation; they simply shrug their shoulders and say that if there are not suitable jobs available to the young, they should be kept just so much longer in school.

Such policy, of course, has resulted in larger enrollments and crowding in our schools; has necessitated more class rooms and more teachers. It almost leads one to wonder whether our schools are run for the benefit of the teachers or of the pupils. Needless to say, and this is rather important, it adds to an already top-heavy tax burden.

Even as recently as a generation ago, most of our young people were through with their schooling at 13 or 14 years of age. They then went to work and our standard of living was constantly rising. Let it not be argued that this was possible then because of our unexploited natural resources. We still have them plus synthetic resources greater than anything we have known in the past.

Undoubtedly schooling should not be finished at age 13 or 14. But the point is, are the extra years of school attendance fitting the pupils to be more useful citizens? The business man quoted is convinced that they are not doing so; that our present-day educational system is smothering the initiative so necessary to maintain a free economy. Can it be that our educational methods are simply serving to equip our children to be slaves of a totalitarian government, under which they will be told what to do and when and how to do it?

For 150 years, due in no small degree to the training of our young in our schools, we developed a people who relied upon themselves, and whose courage and spirit of enterprise built the greatest nation of free people in all the world's history. Today, due in large degree to faulty teaching in our schools, we are developing into a nation that looks to government in every extremity, forgetting that in a Republic, we ourselves are the government and should take care of ourselves.

Education we know is good — is essential, but it looks as though our present educational methods are failing to develop young men and women with independence of thought and integrity of character. Take a look at the schools and school teachers in your community. If they are falling down on the job of turning out good Americans, then do something about it. You can do something about it, if you have the will to do it.

Muenster Bested 8 to 3 In Opener of Three Game Series With Windthorst

Too much pitching by the visiting hurler and too many errors by themselves netted an 8 to 3 defeat for the Muenster boys here Sunday afternoon in the first of their 3 game series with the Windthorst baseball club.

The Windthorst pitcher was hot, turning away 18 batters at the plate, while Buck Knabe, pitching for Muenster, was able to fan only 6. In other respects, however, the two were on even terms, each allowing 10 hits and a walk. Errors added to 8 for the locals and 3 for the visitors.

After a 1 to 1 tie in the first Windthorst started its fireworks in the third inning with a 3 run lead and held its advantage for the rest of the game. In the sixth it got 3 more and added another in the eighth. Muenster scored its second and third runs in the sixth.

The second game of the series will be played at Windthorst next Sunday. If Muenster wins the teams will flip to decide where the third game will be played. A win for Windthorst would end the series.

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Laux spent Sunday with her father, Henry Fleitman, in Muenster and also visited with other relatives.

Miss Frances Spaeth of Dallas was home for a weekend visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Spaeth and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Walterscheid of Harlingen visited during the week with his sister, Mrs. Henry Zimmerman and family.

Herbert Hundt is the owner of a new Fleetline Aero Chevrolet sedan in two-tone green and beige color delivered by J.B. Wilde Wednesday.

LARRY YOSTEN AND HELEN AREND MARRY MONDAY AT LINDSAY

Miss Helen Arend, daughter of Mrs. Lena Arend of Lindsay, and Larry Yosten, son of Mrs. Robert Yosten of Muenster, were married Monday morning at 7 o'clock in Saint Peter's church at Lindsay with the pastor, Rev. Conrad Herda, officiating at the double ring ceremony and at the nuptial high mass.

The bride wore a becoming suit of light gray wool crepe with a gray felt hat and veil and other accessories in black. Her flowers were tuberoses arranged to top the prayer book she carried.

Attending as maid of honor was the bride's sister, Miss Mary Frances Arend, who wore a dark gray gabardine suit with red and black accessories and a carnation corsage.

Leroy (Buddy) Yosten was best man for his brother.

Mothers of the couple wore pink carnation corsages. Mrs. Yosten was attired in a navy blue ensemble and Mrs. Arend's costume was aqua green.

After the ceremony breakfast was served at the home of the bride's mother to members of the bridal party, an informal reception was held at 3 o'clock for relatives and close friends and dinner was served at 5. The bride's table carried out all-white theme. It was laid with linen and was centered with a decorated three-tier wedding cake flanked by tapers.

The dinner preceded Mr. and Mrs. Yosten's departure on a wedding trip, the bride wearing the costume in which she was married. When they return they will make their home in Muenster where he is employed with the cheese plant.

Mrs. Yosten attended school in Lindsay and for some time prior to her marriage was employed in Fort Worth.

Mr. Yosten is a native of Muenster, attended Sacred Heart school, and served with the army during the war, being stationed in India and China with the air corps ground personnel.

Among out of town relatives at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Yosten and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. Stan Yosten of Fort Worth; Mr. and Mrs. Tony Wiesman and children, Don and Gladys, Gainesville; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Rauschuber of Wichita Falls; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Smeale and daughter, Patricia, and Vernon Halway, all of Stanton, Neb.

6-0 loss to the Panthers is practically a moral victory. Though completely outclassed in weight, training and experience they did themselves proud in effort and alertness.

As regards sportsmanship and clean playing, they share honors with the Panthers. Officials commented on the complete absence of rough stuff, and every spectator will recall that there were practically no penalties.

Winning a game is fine, and we always like to see it, but win or lose, the boys rate our cheers any time they give a performance like that at Saint Jo.
