VOLUME XI

MUENSTER, COOKE COUNTY, TEXAS, FRIDAY, JUNE 27, 1947

NUMBER 31

A reminder to veterans who have not applied for their terminal leave pay: The deadline is August 31, only two months away, and now is the time to start doing something about it. Necessary forms for filing for the pay are available at post offices.

As this is written, Tuesday afternoon, another of those sudden gully washers has just turned loose a junior sized flood on the community and increased anxiety by about 100 per cent. Farmers, already concerned over the weekend interruption of their harvest progress, are beginning to worry. They can't return to their fields for several days at least, and there's no telling how much longer they will be delayed by additional rain.

All of which helps to prove that the farmer is pretty much of a gambler. He spends lots of time and money plowing his land and sowing his grain. From then on he sweats out droughts, freezes, floods, hails and storms while his crop develops into a good, bad or indifferent yield. Even after the crop is made he's at the mercy of the weather until it's gathered in. And along with all that he has to gamble against the market.

Friend Hayley of the Saint Jo Tribune refers to the president's veto of the income tax reduction bill as a left-handed compliment to the little man — in that it reveals confidence in the little man's ability to continue paying a disgraceful percentage of his income to the upkeep of the government.

In effect that's what the bill's defeat amounts to. Small fry of the nation, people like you and me, will continue paying through the nose to support the administration's spending spree.

The administration has passed up at least one opportunity, and perhaps two, to relieve us of our financial strain. The first slip was the failure to reduce the budget. No amount of mathematical hocus pocus will ever convince us that the government needs over 30 billion dollars and over 2½ million employees when it used to spend like mad on less than 10 billion dollars with fewer than 1 million employees. Whether it passed up another opportunity is a matter of opinion. Tax reduction advocates, meaning the majority in congress, claimed that the lower tax would release more money into normal spending channels and the stimulated business would increase the total taxable income sufficiently to net the same tax return. Since the only answer to that is theoretical we can't question the president's veto, nor congress' failure to over-ride the veto. But we still insist the budget could have and should have been lower.

It seems that vetoes are fashionable lately, and that Governor Jester is trying to keep pace with the president.

To us the governor's veto of the liquor control amendment bill was amazing as well as disappointing. We cannot imagine what reasoning induced him to assume that dregs in a wet county are entitled to special privilege over wets in a dry county. Why should one kind of precinct be permitted to control its alcoholic beverage status but not another precinct?

It's hard to believe that reason governed his decision — and that's the disappointing part of it, Jester must have counted votes instead of weighing the issue on the scales of justice. Unfortunately, he marks himself as more of a politician than a statesman.

The twisted interpretation of twisted minds can be amusing at times. Socialists in England referred to our passage of the Taft-Hartley labor law as the beginning of an era of slave labor in America. Those are the fellows you know, who have already taken over much of England's productive capital and propose to take over the rest of it — the fellows who believe that the state should be the sole employer, like Russia. What is more ridiculous than a socialist's or communist's sneering remark about democracy's slave labor?

Getting back to the new labor law, there are many reasons to consider it as just what its sponsors claimed — Labor's Bill of Rights. Incidentally it is also a timely and effective check against the continued spread of communism. Whoever isn't convinced of that can take his cue from the reds and pinks themselves. The most vicious opposition to the bill was voiced by the PCA (which is merely the reorganized PAC) and its darlings in and out of Congress. Since the passage that same PAC has served notice that it will work at next year's election for the defeat of every man who voted for the bill.

3.5 Inches of Rain Causes Near-Crisis In Grain Harvesting

A total of about 3.5 inches of rain here during the past week has brought a near crisis to grain harvesting. The general opinion of farmers is that crops have reached the critical stage. Good weather immediately can pull them through with little harm whereas continued rain will begin taking its toll.

Even with good drying, combines cannot return to the job before early next week. Meanwhile every day of delay means additional growth of thriving weeds and Johnson grass, which have already developed far enough to cause serious damage. Condition of the wheat, however, is good. Little if any is broken down.

Some farmers have already decided to harvest the remaining crop with windrowers and pick-up attachments. Their purpose is to allow weeds and grass to dry out before running through the combines. Juices beat out of newly cut grass would raise the grain's moisture content above the safe storage point.

Threshermen likewise have troubles. Grain shocks are soaked so badly that they will need several days of ideal drying before they are ready for threshing. Warm winds may turn the trick, but some farmers think they will also have to scatter shocks in order to speed the drying. Sprouting in shocks is another threat in case of poor drying weather or additional rain.

Like combines, threshers are expected to return to work next week. They have just started their job whereas combines, on an average, have only two or three days left.

It was Tuesday and Tuesday night's rain that brought on the crisis. The set back caused by .34, .31 and 1.65 inches on Thursday, Friday and early Monday was short and amply compensated by benefits to growing crops. The additional .10 and 1.04 Monday and Tuesday nights was a surplus to growing crops and a threat to grain.

Figures given are official readings of the city rain gauge. Some farmers, especially southwest of Muenster, estimate Tuesday's rain as nearer to 3 inches.

Notes On Soil Conservation

J.W. Hess, Chairman of the Upper Elm-Red Soil Conservation District, states, "Bermuda and Buffalo grass came up to better stands and survived the dry weather where a good seed bed was prepared."

Tony Hesse, Meinrad Hesse and Joe and John Kleiss, of the West Muenster Conservation Group, mowed grass plantings this week that were up to a good stand. Henry Pick, of the North Muenster Conservation Group, and Tony Felderhoff, of the Muenster Conservation Group, also did pasture mowing recently. Several other cooperators plan to mow pastures to increase cover of grass by controlling weeds before harvesting can be resumed.

Fields that were overseeded to Hubam Clover did not suffer erosion damage as fields did where nothing but grain stubble remained, according to local soil conservation service technicians.

Cooperators in the Muenster Work Unit report 2349 acres of Madrid, Hubam, and Biennial White sweet clover for seed harvest. To harvest these clovers for seed they should be cut at night or early morning when about two thirds of the seed is ripe. A mower with a shoe attached to cut clover high may be used but a grain binder with a sickle set high enough to cut seed branches only has proved successful and allows seeded branches to fall on high clover stubble and dry before combining. This method prevents high losses from shattering of seed when combined direct or when seed is cut after clover is too ripe. The seed also dries better when clover is cut high to allow air to circulate underneath. Direct combining is not successful due to seed shattering and seed heating after it is combined.

Scouts and Dads To Spend Sunday at Lake Texoma

Boy Scouts and their dads and the scout committee are getting set for a big time Sunday at the Father and Son outing at the Lake Texoma Boy Scout camp. Swimming is the principal feature of the picnic program.

Those making the party are expected to meet at 8:30 at the FMA Store.

450 Persons Attend Community Flower Show Here Sunday

Muenster's community flower show sponsored by the Civic League and Garden Club in the parish hall Sunday from 3 to 9 p.m., was acclaimed by an estimated 450 persons who visited the show and viewed the various exhibits.

The north section of the hall basement was transformed into a garden which visitors entered through an arch covered with vines. This portion was enclosed with white picket fencing to further stress the garden theme and held the flower arrangements and the fruit and vegetable displays.

Attracting much attention in the extreme east end of the hall were the shadow boxes, while the extreme west end held the coffee table, and end table arrangements.

Viewing with these exhibits in general interest were the commercial displays, occupying the south portion of the hall, and several hand-work exhibits shown by local talent. Another display not entered for competition was a collection of potted plants shown by Mrs. Joe Luke.

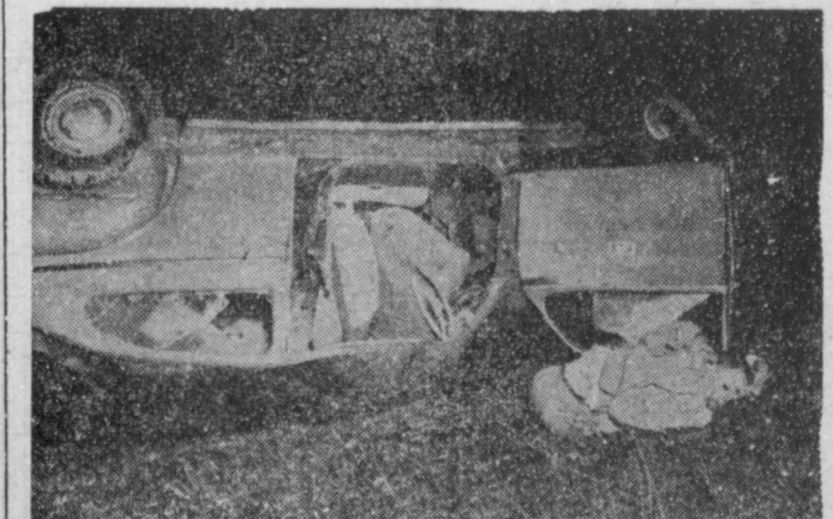

The entire hall was attractively adorned with greenery for a background and a profusion of basket arrangements were placed at vantage points.

Musical selections were presented at intervals during the afternoon and evening by local musicians, and refreshments were available.

Judges for the show were Mrs. Paul Morgan and Mrs. J.B. Ferguson of the Garden Study Club and Mrs. Austin Roberts of the Evening Garden Club, all of Gainesville. They were accompanied to this city by Mrs. E.C. Meade.

Entries were judged on the point system and the judges pinned blue, red and white ribbons on winning exhibits to designate first, second and third place. A list of the winners (Continued on Page 3)

Robert Mitchell and family of Corsicana will arrive Saturday to make their home in Muenster and will occupy the new house completed recently by R.M. Zipper adjoining his home. Mitchell is connected with the local soil conservation work unit.

Here lie the remains of a driver who thought he could drink and still drive a car. Racing down the highway at a dangerous speed, his car wandered off the edge of the pavement, dragged on the sandy shoulder, and was wrenched into a spin. Drunken drivers are potential murderers of every other motorist who comes near them on the road. They were involved in more than 5,000 fatal accidents last year. National Conservation Bureau safety specialists say even one or two drinks slow up reactions, make judgment unsure, increase chances of accident three to four times.

REA APPROVES USE OF POWER LINES FOR RURAL PHONE SERVICE

The REA has announced details of standard conditions which it will approve for any REA borrower wishing to enter into an agreement with a local telephone company for joint use of poles or wire.

The contracts have been worked out by REA and officials of the Bell Telephone System, but REA stated that it was ready to approve such contracts between REA borrowers and any telephone company. They embody specifications for joint use of poles and wires and provide a rental formula designed to divide equitably between the REA borrower and telephone company the economies resulting from their joint use of facilities.

Two types of standard contracts were developed to cover joint-use operations. One form covers the joint use of the same wires for both power and telephone. This is the "power line carrier" telephone in which the telephone conversation is transmitted by a high-frequency, short-wave current along the power line. The other form covers joint use of poles on which separate wires are attached for power and for telephone. The arrangement is strictly a leasing proposition — the rural electric cooperatives will not, under these contracts, render telephone service.

Eddie and Teddie, Twins, Born to Clarence Hellmans; Teddy Lives Only 5 Hours

Funeral services for Teddy Hellman, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hellman, were held at Sacred Heart church Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock with Father Herman, pastor officiating at the rites and at the burial in the local cemetery.

The baby, a twin, was born at Gainesville sanitarium Tuesday at 11 p.m. and died at 4 a.m. Wednesday. His brother, Eddie, was reported as "doing alright" and Mrs. Hellman's condition was given as satisfactory. The infants weighed 4 pounds, 8 ounces, and 4 pounds, 12 ounces, respectively.

Serving as pallbearers were Billy Ben Boyles, Jimmy Hellman, Donny Lehnertz and Jerry Henschel. Flower bearers were C.J. and Mary Nell Hellman and Barbara and Dolores Boyles.

Wilde Starts Construction On Texaco Service Station

Work started this week on J.B. Wilde's new Texaco service station at the intersection of Main and the highway. The exact location is the east part of his lot, adjoining the Muenster Machine Shop with vacant space at the Main street corner for a future annex or another building.

The building will consist of three sections — an office and accessories room and separate rooms for the washing and lubricating departments. Floor and driveway will rise about a foot above the highway level. Several hundred loads of dirt have already been filled in to raise the lot level and the estimate is that as many more will be needed to reach the desired elevation.

Scout Cubs to Meet Friday

Muenster's four cub scout packs will have their monthly meeting this Friday night, June 27, in the parish school auditorium. Scoutmaster Nick Miller advised this week. The packs hold regular weekly meetings and get together monthly to compare achievements and coordinate their plans.

Mrs. Clarence Erpelding, who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Swirczynski, left Wednesday by car, accompanied by her brother, Bernard Swirczynski, and the three Swirczynski nuns, Sisters Ruperta, Ladislaus and Angelina. The nuns will return to Grand Island, Neb., but the party will stop for visits at Oklahoma City, Emporia, Kansas, and Omaha, Neb., to visit relatives. Mrs. Erpelding and Bernard will continue to her home in Bode, Iowa. Bernard will spend the summer with his sister and brother-in-law.

Death Tuesday claimed Mrs. William Wieler, 76, a resident of this community for 57 years. She died in a Gainesville hospital at 1:15 p.m. following an extended illness.

Funeral services with high mass of requiem were held Thursday morning at 8:30 at Sacred Heart church with Rev. Herman Laux, pastor, officiating. Burial was in the Muenster cemetery under direction of Mrs. Nick Miller.

Pallbearers were her grandson, Arthur Felderhoff and Arnold Rohmer and four nephews, Albert, Alphonse, Bruno and John Fleitman.

Rosary was recited at the home Tuesday night at 8:30.

Mrs. Wieler is affectionately remembered by the community as one who was always willing to lend a helping hand whenever help was needed whether in church work or in the community.

She was born in Loretto, Tenn., on Dec. 6, 1870, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Herman Hessel, and came to Muenster with them and her only sister, the late Mrs. Mrs. Henry Fleitman, on April 13, 1890, just a few months after the colony was established. Elizabeth Hessel married William Wieler here on May 22, 1894. They were the parents of ten children. Mr. and Mrs. Wieler made their home on a farm northwest of the city and after his death in 1915 Mrs. Wieler moved to town.

She is survived by seven of her ten children, one son, John Wieler, Muenster, and six daughters, Mmes. Ben Roewe, Sherman; R.B. Shelton, Dento; H.C. Billingsley, Ardmore; A.A. Hellams, Chicago; and Mmes. Joe Felderhoff and Ervin Hamric, Muenster, 15 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Mrs. Wieler was a member of Saint Anne's Society and was active in work of the organization as long as her health permitted. As one of the early pioneer settlers of the colony she often recalled to her younger friends happenings of her first years in the community, and the hardships endured during those trying times when wild steers roamed the prairies and water was scarce.

GI CLASS CONSIDERS RELATIONSHIP OF DAIRY TYPE AND PRODUCTION

The selection of a dairy cow according to type was the subject discussed at the Muenster Veterans Vocational Agriculture class Monday night at the Tony Hesse farm. Hugh Barnhart, instructor, stated there is a direct relation between a cow's type and her production, and illustrated his lecture by pointing out the different physical characteristics of two dairy cows.

Tony Klement was enrolled as a new member of the class and Albert Henschel, Meinrad Hesse, Al Hesse and Paul Fisher attended as visitors.

The next meeting will be held at the Eugene Klement farm east of Muenster for a demonstration and discussion on the proper method of killing and dressing poultry.

Muenster Scouts Send Four Boys to Life Saving Course

Four scouts and Scoutmaster Nick Miller will represent Muenster at a Boy Scout Life Saving course next week Wednesday, Thursday and Friday at the Lake Texoma scout camp.

The boys are John Myrick, Henry Weinzapfel, Larry Hofbauer and Michael Driever, winners in an elimination contest recently held at the Katy Lake, Saint Jo.

H.P. Hennigan returned to Muenster Saturday to make arrangements to have his furniture moved to Albuquerque, N.M., where the family will make their home. Mr. and Mrs. Hennigan and two youngest daughters left for that city on June 2 and when Mr. Hennigan left here again Thursday he was accompanied by his other daughters and son, Joe, who arrived Monday from Subiaco, Ark., where he had been attending school. The family is at home at 304 North Morningside in Albuquerque.

where 20 years ago there were no evaporated milk, powdered milk, or cheese plants in Texas, now this State produces all 6 of the major dairy products: buttermilk, ice cream, butter, evaporated milk, cheese, and powdered milk.

Dr. Cox pointed out that last year Texas made 25,396,000 pounds of butter, 13,699,000 pounds of cheddar cheese, and over 30,000,000 gallons of ice cream.

"Milk is our most nearly perfect food" Dr. Cox said. "It is rich in proteins, vitamins A and G, and the minerals, calcium and phosphate."

"The State Health Department is indeed glad to join with the Texas dairymen in celebrating June as Dairy Month," Dr. Cox said, "and to urge that from a health protection angle at least a pint of milk be included in the daily diet of all adults and an even larger amount provided for children."

Washington News Letter

By Congressman Ed Gossett

Washington, D. C. June 21 — As this is being written the big storm in Washington is over the President's veto of the labor bill. I personally was greatly disappointed in the President's action and in his attack upon the so-called Hartley-Taft Labor Bill which we have explained in previous Newsletters. The President's veto was overridden in the House of Representatives by a vote of 331 to 83. I joined those voting to override. In my opinion it is absolutely necessary to bridge the power of the labor czars who now have it within their power to completely strangle the nation's economy. For almost ten years now, Congress has struggled to pass legislation amending the Wagner Act. In this they have always been opposed by the President. Even the Smith-Connally Act passed in wartime was vetoed by President Roosevelt and then passed over his veto by the Congress. It was the Smith-Connally Act that enabled the President to win his recent fight with John L. Lewis. This Act expires on June 30. The bill the President has just vetoed simply seeks to impose upon employers and employees equal rights, duties, and responsibilities, and at the same time protect the public interest.

Last Tuesday afternoon in company with Congressman Vaughan Gary of Richmond, Virginia I drove down to this Capital of the State of Virginia and addressed a national convention of the Junior Order of United American Mechanics. Richmond is approximately 100 miles from Washington on U.S. Highway No. 1. It is an historical center. While there I saw the old church in which Patrick Henry delivered his famous "Give me liberty or give me death" speech. I also drove down Monument Boulevard, along which appears at intervals of several blocks beautiful statues of Confederate heroes. First is the famous cavalry officer, J. E. B. Stuart; next comes a statue of Robert E. Lee astride his famous horse; then a statue of Jefferson Davis; next comes Stonewall Jackson; and finally that genius of the sea, Fontaine Maury.

My address to the Richmond Convention was one opposing the Stratton Bill to bring into this country 400,000 refugees from Europe. On Thursday night of this week I engaged Congressman Emanuel Celler of New York in a radio debate on the same subject. Tomorrow noon I will engage Congressman Stratton of Illinois, author of the bill, in radio debate on the subject. My active opposition to this proposal has been bringing in volumes of mail — some praising, some abusing my position.

We all know that America is an immigrant nation. Most of us are proud of the German, the Irish, the Norwegian, and the people of northern and eastern Europe who came here in the last century. They brought strong blood. They brought willing hands to do the work that needed to be done. They brought strength. Today conditions have greatly changed and so have the immigrants. Generally speaking those who would come under the Stratton Bill would be the worst, not the best. They would aggravate tremendously our many serious social problems. We do not want workers or non-workers. Under existing laws we will continue to get several hundred thousand immigrants per year. The Stratton Bill, in effect, proposes to use this country as a dumping ground. The cry that 800,000 displaced persons in some 300 camps maintained by us have no place to go is false. The cry that these people will be liquidated if returned to their homelands is false. Major General Lowell W. Rooks, Director General of UNRRA, has just stated that out of more than 7,000,000 repatriated — sent home — since the end of the war, not one substantiated instance of reprisal after repatriation has come to his attention.

Our only hope of survival in a mad world is to keep this country virile and strong. Such cannot be done if we become simply a dumping ground for the undesirables of other lands. Among visitors in my office this week were the 4-H Club boys and girls from Texas, Elnora Miller, Rt. 1, Valley View, Deane Boenig, Rt. 1, Converse, Eloise Woodruff, Rt. 1, Shallowater, and Bobby Joe Griffin of Ovalo, accompanied by their Supervisor, Miss Lorene Stevens, of Texas A & M College. We enjoyed having these fine young folks for lunch in the Capitol.

Other visitors included Mr. Joe Nesbitt Postmaster at Harrold, Mrs. Chas. E. (Chuck) Collins and daughter Betty, of Wichita Falls, Mr. J.M. Isbell and Mr. and Mrs. Otis Nelson of Wichita Falls, Mr. A.G. McDonald, son of Postmaster McDonald of Alvord, and his wife.

This story is reported by a contributor to a magazine:

"At a dinner party several doting mothers were discussing their children's illness with the guest of honor, a noted pediatrician. One mother asked, 'Doctor, what do you find to be the principal ailment of children?'"

"Mothers, madam", he answered gravely.

Crazy Hat Wins Refrigerator!

One of those "Breakfast in the morning" radio shows came to Capitol City last week, and Sarrah Carey won first prize for wearing the craziest hat in the audience. It was a full-sized refrigerator! (The prize, not the hat.)

"Glad them hats of hers paid off at last," says Ed, treating the whole thing like a joke. But you could see he was proud of Sarrah.

From where I sit, there's another thing Ed can be proud of: the way he's put up with those hats of Sarrah's, with never a criticism; just as she's put up with Ed's pipe and the other little freedoms he enjoys.

They've got that refrigerator home now, stocked with beer; and we're going over tonight to drink a toast—not just to Sarrah's hats taking first prize... but to a happily married couple, who've learned to live with one another's differences in tastes—whether it's a taste for hats or beer!

THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES: "The problem of lowering the highway death rate remains one of the nation's most serious problems. It is an appalling fact that 33,500 American citizens were killed in automobile accidents in 1946. I therefore call upon every State and every community in the land to work unceasingly through 1947 to promote highway safety.

"Laws and regulations will be of little avail unless the individual driver holds himself strictly accountable to his own conscience."

That call is to you personally to cooperate as a citizen of the United States in helping reduce highway accidents. It is a shameful record when in one year 33,500 lives are sacrificed; 1,150,000 persons are injured and $750,000,000 in property destroyed, resulting in an economic cost to the nation of $2,000,000,000 because of careless, reckless driving.

It is a national problem, but essentially the solution is in your hands. Drive safely—live and let live!

[ This is the first of a series of advertisements presented in the public interest by the President's Highway Safety Conference and the daily and weekly newspapers of the nation through their Press and Publisher Associations. ]

Everything's in Accord but the Cords

WHAT'S wrong with this picture? Only the wiring. Home decorators along with adequate wiring specialists are reemphasizing this spring their message on how to avert such an eyesore. Here's their tip: Before you redecorate or remodel, eliminate such sloppy tangles of electrical extension cords. Install instead convenience outlets and lighting switches in handy spots. In rooms where furniture is likely to be rearranged, outlets should be placed so that no point along the floor line is more than six feet away. Lighting switches should be installed near main entrances to all rooms. . . . All of which, the professionals stress, will insure "that finished look"—and greater electrical efficiency—in your home.

"BLOSSOM TIME" OPENS MONDAY AS SECOND ON OPERETTA SCHEDULE

With Show Boat finishing up its fortnight's run this weekend at the State Fair Casino, patrons of the big outdoor theatre are set to welcome Blossom Time, second offering of the great season. While Show Boat continues to entertain and thrill great crowds at the Casino, rehearsals are well under way on the liltting story of life in old Vienna. Probably no operetta in existence today is loved as well by American as the tale that features the music of Franz Schubert and Sigmund Romberg.

Ready to take their places on-stage next Monday night for the opening are such theatrical luminaries as Metropolitan Opera star John Brownlee, who will sing the star role of Franz Schubert; Ann Andre, who will play the lovely Miltz and Edward Kane who will portray Baron Franz von Schober. Others in the great cast are Xenia Bank as Bellabruna; Joseph Macaulay as Kuppelweiser; Anthony Blair as Christian Kranz and Mary Dyer as Mrs. Kranz.

The score of Blossom Time is one of the loveliest parts of the entire production. A few of the many enjoyable tunes in the show are "Three Little Maids", "Serenade", "My Springtime Thou Art" and the ever popular "Song of Love".

FOUR TIMES WORSE

By DeWitt Emery

(EDITOR'S NOTE: DeWitt Emery is president of the National Small Business Men's Association.)

President Truman has earned himself the dubious title of the world's greatest spender. There are some of us who thought Roosevelt was pretty bad — or good, whichever you choose — on throwing away the taxpayers' money, but the most he ever spent in a peace time year was 9 billions, which means that on this business, of squandering public funds he was a rank amateur compared with Truman who insists that he must have 37½ billions for fiscal '48.

Why does Truman need so much money in '48? Here's a small but typical sample of how it's to be squandered — yes, I mean squandered, or thrown away if you prefer.

In the basement of the Department of Agriculture Building there is a small library. Why the professors and the others who operate this Department must have a library of their own when the Congressional Library, absolutely the finest and most complete library in the world, is nearby is an entirely different question. But they do have their own library, and of course, they must have an appropriation to operate it.

What do you suppose the amount requested in the Department of Agriculture budget is to operate this library? You'd think, wouldn't you, that since it's quite small as libraries go, $5,000 per month would be far more than enough to staff this library and buy whatever new books might be necessary. Sixty thousand per year is a sizeable amount of money, especially so since there isn't any rent to pay.

Fulton Lewis, Jr., the well known radio commentator, sprang this on me and asked me to guess what I thought the bureaucrats were asking to run this library. I didn't see how they could possibly spend more having some idea of what expert wasters these bureaucrats are, I multiplied my estimate by four and guessed four thousand per month. Fulton got a big laugh out of that, as well he might.

Actually, the Department of Agriculture is asking — hold onto your hat — for $600,000.00 to operate this library during fiscal '48, that is, from July 1, 1947 to June 30, 1948. Yes, I mean 600,000 dollars. Fifty thousand dollars per month to run this "two-bit" library.

Frankly, I'm sure I could take a contract to run that library for a year at three thousand per month, run it better than it has ever been operated, and make myself a net profit of at least a thousand dollars a month.

The '48 budget, which is about the size of the New York City telephone directory and is printed in even smaller type, is filled with instances as bad or worse than the one I cited. At least one-third of every dollar is in this budget for no reason other than to be thrown away. Two years after the end of the war, there are still more than 2,600,000 persons on the payroll of the Executive Branch of our Government. Before the war, there were never more than 900,000 on this payroll. Why so many now? The only reason I can think of is that '48 is a presidential year.

How long are you folks — I almost said suckers — who pay the bill, going to sit back and take this sort of thing?

Asbestos, Master of Heat and Flame, Doesn't Grow on Trees, as Many Think

Asbestos is seemingly as common as clay because of its popularity since the 5th century B.C. as the master of fire, but few people even know what it is. Many, for instance, think it's a plant, or that it grows on trees, or on bushes like cotton—or it's sheared from animals.

It's a mineral and is mined like coal or iron, from major deposits in Arizona, Canada, Russia and South Africa. Its well-known resemblance to raw cotton is attained only after it has been processed, or fiberized.

Popularly associated with such factors as fireproof clothing, curtains, roofing or flooring, it plays a little-known but vital role in the control of another of nature's great forces—electricity.

One of the best of insulators against heat, asbestos is used as a shield on electrical wiring that has a wide range of applications, particularly where severe operating conditions exist, such as on planes, ships, in mines and many factories.

Pictured is the "Maypole dance" process in the production of this special wiring. An inch-thick cable, already fortified with asbestos and saturated in compounds to provide added protection, is being braided with asbestos yarn.

The braiding machine is quite a number in itself. It can handle cable from one to three inches in diameter, and is braiding the inch-thick cable at the rate of 100 feet an hour.

DON HEROLD SAYS:

For two months I was in a little Florida town where some city employees got hold of a big set of stencils for painting the word "Stop" on the pavements. Those guys had a lot of fun—and made a job for themselves—painting "Stop" all over town, even on streets almost out in the country where there is no sign of traffic.

This reminds me of government bureaucrats and social planners who love regulation (and love jobs).

And I found that the Florida townspeople thought that some of these Stop signs are so silly that they drove right through all of them. That's what too much regulation does.

Governments should try to give us the fewest possible Stop signs—not the most.

MAGAZINE ITEM CALLS TONY VOTH "WIZARD WITH WELDING TORCH"

"A Wizard With a Welding Torch." is the title given Tony Voth, well known Lindsay farmer, in the June issue of the "Farm Family," published by the Humble Oil and Refining company at Houston, in the interest of better agriculture.

"When the army abandoned Camp Howze several months ago, the farmers who came in to reclaim their farm lands were faced with the formidable task of constructing miles of new fences", the article says.

"To Tony Voth, one of the fence needing farmers, the thought of digging all those post holes by hand was not a pleasant one. He decided to do something about it. Digging around in his scrap pile, he picked out an old Model T Ford axle, a discarded cultivator beam, a piece of an elevator screw from a worn-out threshing machine, chain and sprockets from a hay bailer, and a few other odds and ends of junk. These he took to his workshop.

"A few hours later, Tony emerged from his shop with a strange-looking but highly practical post-hole digger, mounted on the front end of one of his Farmall tractors. Except for his own labor, he had not spent a penny on the machine, yet he had built a post hole digger which operates by tractor power and which can drill an eight-inch hole 30 inches deep in a few seconds; then move to the next position as quickly as the tractor can be moved. When the job is finished the whole contraption can be dismantled from the tractor by simply removing four bolts and lifting it off."

The article is illustrated with photographs of Mr. Voth and his electric welding unit, powered by a discarded tractor engine; the post-hole digger; a grinder made

Entomologists Release Latest Dope on Using DDT On Cotton Insects

College Station, Texas — Latest recommendations for the use of DDT to kill cotton insects have been released by the entomologists of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service.

To control flea hoppers, the entomologists recommend a mixture of five per cent DDT and sulphur, with at least 75 per cent of the mixture consisting of sulphur. Applied at the rate of 12 to 15 pounds per acre, one application is usually enough to get the hoppers.

The bollworm takes a 10 per cent DDT and sulphur mixture, consisting also of 75 per cent sulphur. Ten to 15 pounds of this mixture per acre at five day intervals is the recommended rate of treatment. Stink bugs and plant bugs can be controlled—the entomologists say, with the same poison mixture recommended for bollworms.

Thrips, another cotton pest, are controlled with a five per cent DDT and sulphur dust, applied at 10 pounds an acre.

JEROME DIETER WINS IN 4-H RIFLE SHOOTING CONTEST

NUPTIAL AT LINDSAY UNITES CLARA HUNDT AND FRANCIS DIETER

Miss Clara Hundt and Francis Dieter were united in marriage on Wednesday morning, June 25, in a pretty ceremony performed at Saint Peter's church, Lindsay, at 8 o'clock. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hundt and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Valentine Dieter, all of Lindsay.

Rev. Conrad Herda, pastor, performed the double ring ceremony and officiated at the nuptial high mass in the presence of a large assemblage of relatives and friends of the young couple.

Preceding the ceremony Miss Dorothy Dieter, sister of the groom, sang Ave Maria, accompanied on the organ by Mrs. Wm. Schmitz, aunt of the groom. The church choir sang the mass with Mrs. Wm. Fleitman, organist, accompanying. She also played the wedding processional and recessional. The altar before which the vows were exchanged was decorated with a profusion of summer flowers and greenery.

The bride was beautifully gowned in white net over satin. The dress featured a fitted bodice with tiny self covered buttons down the back, a net yoke with lace fichu, diagonal lace inserts in the sleeves which came to points over the wrists, a lace apron tying into a modified bustle at the back, and a double net skirt extending into a cathedral length train. The bridal veil was finger-tip length attached to a lace halo. The lace used in the dress and on the veil were from the wedding dress of the bride's mother and was worn by her exactly 33 years ago at her wedding on that date. Only jewelry worn by the bride was a single strand of pearls, a gift from the groom, and she carried a white prayer book topped with a cluster of white gladioli tied with streamers.

Miss Anna Mae Dieter, sister of the groom, was maid of honor, wearing pale blue net over taffeta designed with round neckline, short puffed sleeves, fitted bodice and full gathered skirt. Her head-dress was a matching net halo and flowers, and she carried an arm bouquet of salmon pink gladioli.

Joe Hundt, brother of the bride, was best man.

The mother's of the couple wore white carnation corsages.

Breakfast for the bridal party at the Dieter home followed the ceremony and a reception with dinner at noon was held in the home of the bride's parents with approximately 85 guests in attendance. The home was decorated with garden flowers and the bride's table stressed her chosen colors. It was centered with a three-tier, heart-shaped cake.

After the reception Mr. and Mrs. Dieter left on a wedding trip not revealing their destination. For traveling the bride wore a white jersey dress and white accessories.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Dieter are natives of Lindsay and graduated from Lindsay high school. He is now attending college in Longview where they will make their home. He was a member of the Seabees during the war and served three years as a machinists mate, being stationed in China, the Philippine Islands and Azore Islands. Mrs. Dieter has been an active member of the Young Ladies Sodality and served as secretary and as vice-president for a number of years.

FUHRMANN-KLEIN RITES SOLEMNIZED AT LINDSAY CHURCH

Miss Anastasia Fuhrmann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Fuhrmann of Lindsay, and Joseph Paul Klein, son of Mr. and Mrs. P.J. Klein of Kansas City, Kansas, were married in rites performed Tuesday morning June 17, in Saint Peter's church Lindsay. Rev. Vincent Orth of Corpus Christi, uncle of the bride, performed the double ring ceremony and officiated at the solemn assisted nuptial high mass. Rev. Conrad Herda, pastor, was deacon and Rev. Joseph Fuhrmann of Corpus Christi, another uncle of the bride, was sub-deacon. Rev. Alvin Kubis of Corpus Christi was master of ceremonies.

Music was furnished by the church choir with Mrs. Wm. Fleitman at the organ. She also played the traditional wedding processional and recessional.

The bride wore a lovely gown of white slipper satin fashioned with fitted bodice and gathered skirt, sweetheart neckline and long sleeves tapering to points over her wrists. Her veil of illusion, edged with lace, fell finger-tip length from a crown of seed pearls. She carried a white prayerbook topped with a gardenia and a sprig of blue forget-me-nots. Her only jewelry added a bit of sentiment in "something old and borrowed". It was a handsome gold cross and chain belonging to her maternal grandmother.

Mrs. Henry Stoffels Jr. attended her sister as matron of honor, wearing an aqua marquisette gown over satin. Her head-dress was fashioned of net and pink flowers and she carried an arm bouquet of pink gladioli.

Paul Fuhrmann, brother of the bride, was best man.

The home of the bride's parents was the scene of a dinner at noon for which there were 25 guests. The bride's table carried out the traditional all-white wedding theme and was centered with a three-tier cake. In the evening a reception was held and a buffet supper served to some 80 relatives and friends. Out of town guests included the groom's mother and Mr. and Mrs. Nick Heiderscheidt and family of Morgan, Minn.

Mr. and Mrs. Klein left on a wedding trip to Colorado and will make their home in Emporia, Kansas, where is employed with the Santa Fe railroad.

The bride is a graduate of Lindsay high school and the groom graduated from high school at Emporia, and attended Kansas State Teachers College.

Pre-Nuptial Shower

The bride was honored with a pre-nuptial shower, given by Mrs. Paul Devers at her home on June 8. Games and informal diversion were enjoyed after which the honoree was showered with an assortment of gifts and refreshments were served to 30 guests.

But we don't have to depend on communists for an opinion in this matter. Just a few of the provisions speak eloquently for themselves.

For one thing future strikes will have to be called the democratic way, not the dictatorial way. A strike will become official only on the majority secret vote of the entire membership. That means the will of the workers will decide and not the will of a few big bosses.

Another provision is that no man will have to pay tribute to his union or endure union boss abuse to hold his job. Closed shop no longer exists. He can work regardless, as long as his service is satisfactory to the employer. Union leaders howled that the provision is intended to break the backs of the unions, but actually it does nothing of the kind. It only deprives union bosses of the privilege to push their members around. Unions now will be forced to survive on merit instead of the iron fist. If they render a useful service to their members they will be strong, otherwise they will fall apart.

The net result is that both employers and unions will now strive to please the working man. How can anyone possibly contend that such an arrangement is contrary to the interests of labor?

There are other good provisions. One is the elimination of rough-stuff in picket lines. Another is holding union bosses accountable to their members for all funds. Another is holding unions financially accountable for unjustified damages caused by strikes. Another is permitting an employer to appeal to his own employees. This country will have to trace a long way back to find an equally just and equally useful piece of legislation.

No wonder our communists are so peeved. Those of them who managed to get control of some unions are now holding an empty bag. They can't dominate workers any more. They know that from now on they have to treat men like men or face wholesale withdrawals. Those who have been striving all this time to get a strangle hold on industry now find themselves empty handed. Now that employers can appeal directly to workers, communists are becoming fearful of the consequences. They know that free workers will do what's reasonable and good for themselves — and that won't be good for communism.
