Robert Yosten Brings in First Bale of Cotton

Muenster Merchants and Business Men Subscribe Customary Premium

Muenster's first bale of this season's cotton was brought in Friday afternoon by Robert Yosten. It was grown on his farm 2 miles northwest of the city.

There was 1,270 pounds of picked cotton and after ginning the bale weighed 432 pounds. W. L. Stock bought the bale for Muenster Gin company, paying 9 cents per pound. It graded middling white.

The bale was ginned free of charge and bagging and ties were given by the gin company. Local merchants and business men subscribed a premium for Mr. Yosten.

Mr. Yosten stated that he has 17 acres in cotton and that this year's crop is the best he has grown in 18 years.

Last year's first bale was received here August 16, being grown by Travis Whitt.

BUILDING CONTINUES, MORE ACTIVITY DUE IN NEXT FEW WEEKS

Building, remodeling and improving, is going forward at a steady pace in and around Muenster, and within the next few weeks will gain more momentum.

Lou Wolf's new home, now under construction, is nearing completion, and work will begin this weekend on a five-room bungalow for F. A. (Wimpy) Kathman. The site for the building is between the Henry Trachta and Henry Fleitman homes.

Roman Trachta remodeled his Palace Pharmacy this week by the addition of a plate glass front, and will have the building brick-veneered in the near future.

Clem Hofbauer's farm home has been razed and will be replaced by a new six-room structure on the same site. The work began this week.

The building program at the Sisters' home is almost completed. A new wing was added for a music room, the sleeping quarters were enlarged, a study hall was added, new floors were laid and the roof repaired.

Two new homes, to be started within the next few weeks, are those for J. H. Flood and Henry Luke. The Flood residence will be built in the northeast part of town, across from the August Friske home, and the Luke bungalow will be just south of Weinzapfel's house.

A new improvement at Nick Miller's shoe shop is a Landis Welderon machine, an all purpose cement press for modern invisible shoe repairing.

At the cheese plant, finishing touches are being put on the new turkey picking shed, and the new vault is complete with the exception of installing the pipe and coils, which have been shipped but are still in transit.

Meanwhile work on the sewer line is going forward rapidly and building began Wednesday on the forms for the concrete work at the disposal plant. During the week sewer line was laid north in the alley between Main and Oak streets up to Second, and between Elm and Main to the cotton gin. Also all city streets below the Katy tracks have been opened for traffic, Mr. Douglass, work foreman, stated.

ALIEN REGISTRATION WILL BE HANDLED BY LOCAL POST OFFICE

For the convenience of persons who are required to register under the Alien Registration Act of 1940, the Muenster Post Office has secured the services of an agent, Postmaster Herbert Meurer advised this week.

The special agent will be at the Post Office at some future date and will handle the matter here. If any persons, required to register, will send their names to the Post Office they will be notified of the arrival of the registration agent, Mr. Meurer disclosed.

He also added that all persons having only their first papers are required to register under the Registration Act.

Special Prayers For Peace Are Said Here

In accordance with President Roosevelt's proclamation asking prayers for peace on Sunday, Sept. 8, special prayers were said after each mass at Sacred Heart church here. An unusually large number of people also received Holy Communion.

In the evening, special devotions with Sacramental Benediction were held at 7:30.

RUMANIA'S BOY KING

BUCHAREST, RUMANIA—Michael, son of King Carol of Rumania, is shown here with his mother, the Princess Helen of Greece, to whom his father preferred Mme. Lupescu. King Carol abdicated and is reported to have fled the country. Prince Michael is back on the throne from which he was ousted by his father, Mme. Lupescu has been banished and Princess Helen has reportedly been invited back to Rumania for reunion with her son, who rules, but virtually in name only, for Rumania is now a dictatorship under Premier General Ion Antonescu.

Car-Bicycle Crash Claims Life of Percy Tempel in Ft. Worth

Percy Tempel, aged 15, died at 2:35 a. m. Tuesday in a Fort Worth hospital from injuries received Monday evening when he was struck by an automobile and thrown from the bicycle he was riding.

The youth was born in Muenster and had lived in Ft. Worth for 14 years. He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Jake Tempel and a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Tempel of this city. Besides his parents he is survived by two brothers, J. M. and Glenn Tempel of Fort Worth, and maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Brown, of that city.

Funeral services were held Wednesday at Fort Worth and were attended by members of the John and Luke Tempel and Tony Trubenbach and Ed Eberhart families from here.

Mrs. Ed Eberhart luckily escaped serious injury just before the services, when she was struck by a car as the funeral procession formed.

She was carrying her grandson, William Flusche, Jr., and both were thrown to the ground. The two months' old child was not hurt, but Mrs. Eberhart suffered a sprained knee and hip. She was taken to a Fort Worth hospital to be X-rayed and was permitted to come home after receiving treatments.

MOST REV. ARTHUR J. DROSSAERTS DIES AT SAN ANTONIO SUNDAY

Most Rev. Arthur J. Drossaerts, archbishop of San Antonio and metropolitan for the Catholic Church of all Oklahoma and Texas, with the exception of the El Paso diocese, died Sunday at 8 a. m. in Santa Rosa hospital.

The archbishop, who would have been 75 years old this Wednesday, suffered a heart attack Thursday of last week.

Beginning Tuesday morning, the archbishop's body lay in state in the San Fernando Cathedral day and night until just before the funeral Thursday morning at 10 o'clock.

Rev. Father Frowin left here Wednesday to attend the funeral services.

September 22 Is New Date For K-C Picnic

Muenster Knights of Columbus have postponed their picnic one week and will sponsor it on Sunday, Sept. 22, instead of next Sunday, Sept. 23. The picnic was originally planned, Roy Endres, grand knight, announced this week when it was discovered that the first date conflicted with a picnic in Lindsay that is scheduled for the 15th.

Meanwhile the entertainment committee is planning details for the affair which is to be a community picnic with tango, bowling and refreshments on September 22.

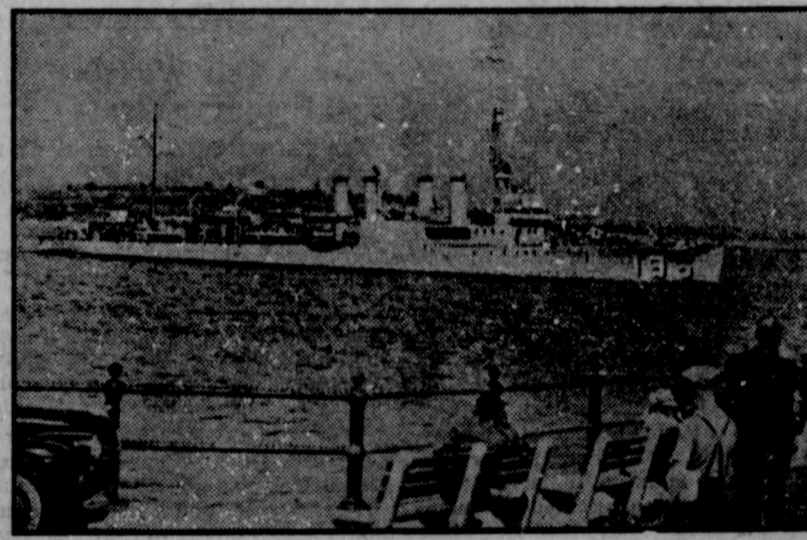

H. A. Grewing of Sabetha, Kansas, arrived this week to spend the winter with his daughter, Mrs. Frank Trubenbach, and family. His grandson, Frankie Trubenbach, went to Sabetha last week to accompany him to Muenster.

UNITED STATES ACQUIRES DEFENSE BASES

Bases at the places indicated by circled dots are being leased by Great Britain to this country for 99 years. The leases for those in Newfoundland and Bermuda are in effect outright gifts; the leases for the others are in exchange for fifty over-age U. S. destroyers. The bases in the Caribbean area will supplement present American defenses (black diamonds) in guarding approaches to the Panama Canal.

ANOTHER DESTROYER FOR BRITAIN

BOSTON, Mass. — With guns uncovered and anti-submarine depth charges ready in racks at their sterns, five more of the fifty over-age destroyers traded to Great Britain for naval and air bases in the Americas sailed out of Boston harbor yesterday and turned northeastward, apparently bound for an unnamed Canadian port. Here is the Wellborn C. Wood as it slid past Castle Island.

Muenster Students Leave For Out Of Town Schools

This week finds several local young people in distant class rooms and others on their way to begin studies in out of town schools.

The first to leave were Misses Joyce Bentley and Bertha Jane Hoehn, who departed last week for Dallas to enter nurses training at Saint Paul's hospital. They will be joined on the 16th of this month by Miss Dorothy Mae Luke, who will also study there.

Thomas Weinzapfel left Monday to continue his studies at St. John's seminary at San Antonio and Ray Wilde will be a student at St. Mary's University in that city. He left during the week and will begin classes on the 16th. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Wilde accompanied him to San Antonio.

Sunday, Arthur Feiderhoff and Joe Tempel departed for Subiaco, Ark., where they began studies, Monday, at Subiaco Academy. They are in the 11th and 9th grades, respectively. They made the trip with Jake Bezner of Lindsay, who also took his son, Wilfred, to that school.

The first cool wave for September sent the mercury to 70 degrees Tuesday afternoon, breaking a 100 degree heat wave that prevailed Monday. Early Wednesday morning local thermometers stood at 65 degrees, but with the let up of the north wind and bright sunshine during the day the mercury rose steadily until it read 75 at noon Wednesday.

CATHOLIC DAUGHTERS TO HAVE INSTALLATION RITES

Installation of officers will headline this Friday evening's meeting of the Catholic Daughters of America, Mrs. Jake Pagel, grand regent, stated Tuesday.

All officers of the court, elected for the ensuing year, are especially urged to be present for these ceremonies. The meeting will begin at 8 o'clock in the K of C hall.

EDITOR IS VACATIONING

R. N. Fette, editor of the Muenster Enterprise, is vacationing in parts unknown this week. He left the office Thursday afternoon, not mentioning his destination or when he will return. This is a much needed and well deserved vacation for the editor.

During his absence the Enterprise is being published by the rest of the office force.

MAYOR URGES ALL CITIZENS TO TAKE PART IN CLEAN-UP

Friday and Saturday of this week have been designated as clean-up days by Mayor Ben Seyler and the city council. This is one of the quarterly clean-ups sponsored by the city.

In making the announcement, Mr. Seyler asked that all tin cans, rubbish and trash be sacked or boxed and left by the curb so that the truck drivers can make pick-ups easily and speedily. He stressed the fact that the drivers will not rake yards or gather up the trash this time as they did in the past.

The city council is desirous of having a thorough clean-up this weekend. A member of the Cooke County Health Unit, in speaking to Mayor Seyler about the clean-up, stated that fines and penalties can be imposed on citizens who refuse to cooperate. Mr. Seyler is anxious to make a good showing by this weekend campaign and urges all citizens to cooperate to the fullest extent.

FIREMEN'S DANCE WILL BE HELD ON SEPTEMBER 24th

Tuesday, September 24th, has been set for the date of the local firemen's benefit dance, members of the volunteer department decided during a business meeting Monday evening.

Sandy Sandifer, engaged to furnish the music, will make his first appearance in Muenster. He is by no means unknown here, however. Almost everybody has heard him and his Texas Wesleyan College Orchestra over the radio, and numerous persons here have heard him at Fort Worth.

Sandifer is a popular band director, for the past several years being director of the Texas Wesleyan College band. He has played at all the leading night clubs in Fort Worth and his orchestra recently returned from a very successful engagement tour through several northern states.

GOP PRESIDENTIAL NOMINEE WILL BE IN AMARILLO, SEPT. 17

AMARILLO, Texas, Sept. 11. — A huge demonstration by Texans in honor of the first presidential candidate to visit the state during a campaign will greet Wendell Willkie when he arrives here the morning of Sept. 17.

When Willkie arrives aboard a special train at 10:30 a. m., he will be met by 100,000 or more Texans representative of all parts of the state, Miles Bivins of the Amarillo arrangements committee predicted.

A flood of visitors, some from as far away as Brownsville, 300 miles distant at the opposite end of the state, will come by trains, buses, planes and private automobiles.

Charles H. Keffer of Amarillo's entertainment committee declared that plainmen will turn out in holiday regalia of boots, chaps, colored shirts and ten gallon hats to give the presidential nominee a warm western welcome.

From the railroad station where Willkie's train, bearing an entourage of more than 200 newspapermen, photographers and newswomen, stops, the nominee will ride in a 25-block parade to Ellwood Park where he will speak for 30 to 45 minutes. Among the other honor guests will be Joseph W. Bailey, Jr., of Dallas, head of the Texas-for-Willkie clubs, and Mike Hogg of Houston, head of the Texas-no-Third Term Democrats.

Victor Rohmer, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. John Rohmer, sustained a painful foot injury last Thursday when his foot caught in a tractor wheel while he was plowing.

Sisters Anne and Ignatia New Parochial Teachers; Miss Mary Wiedeman Comes to Public School

Everything is in order for the opening of both schools in Muenster Monday. Approximately 300 pupils will be in the class rooms.

Teachers at the parochial school this year will be Sisters Anastasia, Bertha, Gebharda, Jane Frances, Anne, Frances, Michael and Lucy. They will have charge of the eight elementary grades in the order named. The high school faculty will consist of Sisters Theresina, Agnes and Ignatia.

Sister Anne, teacher of the 5th grade, comes to Muenster for the first time. She will be remembered by some local people as the sister of Rev. Eugene Knoff, Sister Ignatia, teaching in the high school, comes back to Muenster after a several years' absence. She is well known.

Sister Angeline is back in Muenster but will not teach this year. Her duties will be those of general superior. Sister Leonarda will again be the music instructor and Sister Irma is the house-keeper.

Typing is a new subject added to the high school curriculum this year and the other studies are general science, chemistry, algebra, geometry, English, history, Latin and German.

Father Richard, assistant pastor, will teach religion to both the grammar and the high school pupils.

At the public school, Virgil Lee Welch will be principal, and assisted by Miss Dorothy Fette, will teach the high school grades. Misses Eilfreda Luke and Mary Wiedeman will teach the elementary grades.

Miss Wiedeman is new on the staff, replacing Miss Mary Barker. She is a graduate of OLV, Fort Worth, and for the past two years has taught at Mary Immaculate Academy in Wichita Falls.

DOUBLE SCHEDULES ARE ANNOUNCED FOR DIOCESAN RETREATS

Announcement was made Sunday of the dates on which the annual diocesan lay retreats will be held at Dallas. There will be two retreat periods for both men and women this year, it was learned. From the attendance last year, doubling of the schedules is not only justified but necessary to accommodate the applicants.

The dates of the men's retreats have been set for Sept. 27-29, and Oct. 4-6. The women's retreats are scheduled for Oct. 8-10, and Oct. 11-13. This schedule gives men two weekends and the women one mid-week and one weekend retreat.

Parish captains, to secure the names of local people who wish to attend, were appointed by the pastors Sunday. They are J. W. Fisher, R. R. Endres, J. W. Hess and Joe Hoenig, and Mesdames Felix Becker, Tony Gremminger, Joe Swirczynski and Jake Pagel.

It was pointed out that all who wish to attend express their intention at an early date as applicants will be accepted in the order that their applications are received until the quota is filled.

One definite change is noted this year in that there will be no specific charge to defray expenses as was formerly the custom. Instead there will be asked a free-will offering.

Headquarters for the retreats is the former University of Dallas building.

Saint Joseph Society Will Sponsor Picnic Tuesday, September 17th

A benefit social, sponsored by the Saint Joseph's Society of the parish, will be held next Tuesday evening in the parish hall. The affair is for all members of the affiliated societies of the Catholic State League and their families. This includes the Holy Name Society, Blessed Virgin Sodality, Mothers' Society and the Catholic Life Insurance Union.

The committees in charge of arrangements have been busy this week planning an interesting program, and look forward to having a large crowd.

While games of tango, cards and dominoes are in progress in the basement, the Walterscheld orchestra will play for dancing on the main floor.

There will be a plentiful supply of sandwiches, cold drinks and other refreshments available throughout the evening.

Arthur Felderhoff, who left this week to attend Subisco Academy, was honored with a surprise farewell party at his home Thursday evening.

The party was planned by members of Sacred Heart high school. The group enjoyed games on the lawn at Felderhoff's and during the evening were served refreshments of ice cream and cake by the honoree's mother, Mrs. Joe Felderhoff.

LEAGUE AND GARDEN CLUB TO MEET THIS AFTERNOON

The Civic League and Garden Club will meet this (Friday) afternoon for its monthly business session and program.

The garden club program will be an interesting one with Mrs. Herbert Meurer telling about bulbs for Spring bloom, and Mrs. M. J. Endres speaking on "Bulbs for Winter Forcing." Mrs. Stan Yosten will also be on the program, telling something about the golden rod, flower symbolic of the month of September.

The yearbook and program committee has been working on the new yearbooks and they will be distributed at this meeting. A large attendance is anticipated.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to take this means of thanking Muenster merchants and business people for the premium they subscribed and gave me for bringing in the first bale of cotton this year. I appreciate it all, very much.

Robert Yosten.

Electric Calf Weaner Is A New Invention

WASHINGTON.—The Nation's inventors burst forth with a batch of new gadgets Thursday designed to make the world an easier place in which to live—but you'll have to use your own judgment about that.

Most "shocking" of the latest patents granted is the electric calf weaner, aimed at making things more pleasant for mamma cow plus giving the calf a quicker start in life.

The brain child of Patrick Kelly of Anacostia, Wash., it consists of a neat little battery carrier that fits around the calf's neck and a metal contraption that rests lightly on its nose. An unobtrusive fire connects the two.

It works this way:

When the calf gets ready to go to lunch the metal contraption touches the cow, and closes an electric circuit, thus shocking the dickens out of the calf.

Kelly doesn't say what it does to the cow, but from the looks of things it appears that she is grounded.

Joseph Burrer of New York City thought up a little piece of mechanism that should be a boon to the man or woman who wants to look taller. It's a sort of miniature platform that fits into the shoe, attaches onto a screw that goes into the heel. To raise yourself an inch or so, you turn the screw, which raises the platform and you on it.

It's all concealed and your friends will never know. If the wearer tires of the higher altitudes he can always come back to earth.

CHUKARS MAY HAVE ONE CHANCE

After experimenting with the Chukar Partridge for more than two years in all sections of Texas, State Game Department biologists have reached the conclusion there is but one area in Texas in which the birds have a good chance to spread and populate the countryside. That is in Brewster and a few surrounding counties of high altitude.

The Chukar was imported from India and attempts to adapt them to the United States is being made by more than a score of states. Birds were planted in many areas in Texas and various methods of propagating them attempted. However, in most sections they disappeared. A few times they appeared forty to fifty miles from where they were liberated.

COYOTE LASSED BY PIPELINE

The strangest method of trapping coyotes ever disclosed has been found in Texas! And there is a picture of the event to prove it! A pipe line recently broke on the Howell lease near San Diego in Duval county. Force of the explosion caused a piece of the pipe to curl in a circle—and in this circle, held so tightly it could not escape, was a coyote. It has not been determined whether the pipe choked the coyote to death or the force of the explosion killed it, according to J. L. C. Beaman, newspaper owner in San Diego, who ran a picture of this strange occurrence. It is said the pipe was twisted so tightly around the coyote's neck, and with no tool marks on it, that it would have been impossible for anyone to have played a practical joke.

BEAVERS ARE REPORTED

Evidence of a considerable number of beaver inhabiting the hills surrounding Buchanan Lake in Central Texas has been uncovered by a game manager of the State Game Department. The few beaver which remain in Texas generally are welcomed by land owners. They destroy some trees, but their building of dams has aided many landowners and helps some streams from a fishing standpoint.

WINTER FOOD FOR QUAIL

This is the time of the year when landowners should start thinking about feeding quail during the rugged days of winter and the time when sportsmen should urge the owners of their favorite quail shooting grounds to help the birds.

With a marked increase in Bobwhites being reported from many sections of Texas, it is more necessary than ever to leave food standing for these birds. It is pointed out by the executive secretary of the Game Department. A few rows of grain left standing at the field edges, close to natural cover, is the best insurance possible for carrying over the game and insectivorous birds into next year.

Emergency feeding is not nearly as effective as proper preparation against shortage, the executive secretary pointed out. One of the best plans is that of leaving small grains near the edges of fields. Hundreds of farmers in Texas are building shelters for quail under supervision of the Game Department.

The motto of real sportsmen: "Take a boy hunting or fishing."

HOW MUCH DO YOU KNOW ABOUT SALT?

Although the Bible traces the history of man back to four thousand years before Christ's birth, salt had been used for so many centuries before then that it is quite impossible to determine its origin as a seasoning for food. The Chinese, the Egyptians, and the Hindus all attempted to establish the time and place of salt's discovery, but because it had been in use long before man learned to record anything, their efforts were unsuccessful.

We can, therefore, do not more than guess, and one man's guess is as good as another's. Some say salt was originally discovered on weeds cast up by the sea. Others believe it was first found in the form of exposed rock salt, such as the salt licks used by wild animals. Historians are rather generally agreed that man's first salt was the crude deposits left by the evaporation of sea water.

While all we can do is speculate on the discovery of salt, we can very definitely determine how man first "made" or produced salt for his own use. It was by the solar process, which consisted of permitting the rays of the sun to evaporate or dry up imprisoned sea water, leaving rough salt. This primitive method was used for countless centuries and still is in many parts of the world.

During ancient times hundreds of shallow salt basins or "evaporating vats" were operated along the shores of the historic Dead Sea in Palestine. In fact, most of the salt consumed in Biblical times was made there and carried into neighboring countries by caravans of camels or donkeys.

The next development in salt production came about the year 1000 A. D., when the mining of rock salt was begun. At that time the now world-famous Wieliczka salt mine in Galicia, Poland, was accidentally discovered.

Rock salt lies in vein-like deposits under the surface of the earth, very much like coal and as in the case of coal, occasionally crops out on the surface. Here is where we find the salt licks so necessary to wild animal life. Salt springs are, of course, the result of spring water flowing over underground salt deposits. The location of salt springs and deposits of rock salt have had much to do with the manner in which the earth has been peopled. Towns, cities and even nations have sprung up where salt is most easily obtainable. Were it not for salt, it is likely that the map of the world as we know it today would be decidedly different.

One of the most interesting things about the history of salt is that this "magic white sand," as the Indians called it, has always played an important part in the superstitions and religious beliefs in the world. From the dark ages of the past to the present day, salt has been valued by hundreds of creeds, tribes and races not only as a seasoning but as a source of protection against sickness and evil.

In the Bible are many references to the use of salt in establishing a covenant of an agreement. It is thought that this was due to the widely-known preservative power of salt, and that those entering into an agreement believed it would prove more lasting if a certain amount of salt was exchanged by the contracting parties.

Not even scientists have the slightest idea of the extent of the vast salt deposits or veins which underlie the earth. Salt is found in almost every part of the world in almost unlimited quantities. Drillers of oil wells often bring in gushers that spout salt water with oil. Great salt domes are in East Texas and veins of salt underlie West Texas to depths of 100 to 1,000 feet.

In the Klear mine, owned and operated by the Morton Salt Company, is the best equipped salt mine in the United States. Located in Van Zandt county, Texas, about 60 miles east of Dallas, it taps an underground pillar of salt 30 miles around and of unknown depth. Salt wells have been sunk into it for many thousand feet without reaching the bottom. This huge salt deposit is of much higher quality than those found in other states, averaging 99 1/2 per cent in purity.—Exchange.

GO TO SCHOOL

With another school term opening next Monday we feel a special urge to address a few remarks to the boys and girls of school age.

We would like to have it noted first of all that the remarks are not confined to those who are planning to attend. It is an unfortunate fact that many who can and should continue their studies are now seeking excuses to drop out. By all means go on. Go as far as you can, then make special efforts to go even farther. If circumstances will not permit you to go the full term, join the classes a few weeks hence, but go. Teachers will be happy to have you.

That doesn't sound so good to the average youngster. It seems like hours of drudgery that could be avoided. And it is exactly that to the vast majority. Only a small percentage get enjoyment out of study. But a thought of the future makes the monotony seem insignificant. There will be long years when boys and girls will have to apply the training they received in school, when each hour of work will pay handsome dividends. Ask any person who's facing the struggle now. Every one will regret the opportunities he passed up.

And don't get the idea that school training is not needed because a few men were remarkably successful without it. Check their lives closely and see how every one of them was self educated, because he did not have the chance to get a regular school education. They developed themselves the hard way, without the help of instructors. Perhaps you could do likewise but it is not probable if you lack the ambition to develop yourself the easy way—by going to school.

And once you get into school don't complain of how little good this or that subject is doing you. Naturally you won't see the utility in every course but you should be fair enough to appreciate that the courses were planned by persons older and wiser than yourself.

You say you can make yourself understood without mastering grammar, but think forward to the day when the ability of proper expression will mean something to your pride or your purse.

You can't see any sense in history or geography but there will come a time when you will be happy to know a little about people who lived years ago or who now live oceans away. You'll think more of your own nation when you know its glorious background, you'll understand more about the world when you know more about its conditions. Of course you will not come out with an encyclopedia of facts filed in your mind, but you will have general ideas.

There is another value in these courses that it emphasized too little. Undoubtedly the most important result of study is the ability to think independently. Any subject that works your mind, no matter how useless it seems to you, serves that purpose. As many instructors will tell you, you do not graduate with a set of formulas enabling you to solve life's problems, but you do have more ability to figure things out for yourself. You are independent and self-reliant. That's what counts in the long run.

A final thought: In these times as never before every boy and girl needs to grow up with an understanding of the fundamentals of this government. This country is overrun with fanatics who will tell you democracy is no good and should be replaced. Study your government carefully, understand how it respects your rights to life, liberty and happiness, and appreciate at the same time how it expects you to respect the rights of others. Live and let live, in peace and harmony. That is the idea.

And don't ever let anyone tell you that any government has a right to demand unreserved obedience of its citizens. Study it carefully and understand that your government is meant as a sort of honorary guard to see that no one transgresses your rights. It is meant to serve you, not you to serve it. These are fundamentals our forefathers considered when framing our constitution. If everybody in America understood them we'd not have any fifth columns. You can be sure of that.

By all means go to school. Equip yourself for a more useful and more pleasant life and learn to appreciate the blessings that are yours.

LIFE OF A RATTLER

W. A. "Snake" King, who operates a snake farm near Brownsville, Texas, says this about rattlesnakes in the Elk Magazine:

"Most of the rattlesnakes used in shows today have their fangs removed. In many states laws require it. Such laws came into being a long time ago, after a few rattlers with their fangs in working order slipped out and nipped a customer here and there.

"The removal of fangs is a delicate operation. Also it is dangerous. The rattler has an active or functional pair of fangs, a half-developed pair just back of these, and six sets of rudimentary fangs. If he happens to sink the big fangs into something and can't get them out, he jerks them off, and the next set starts to grow up to proper size for business operations.

"Rattlesnakes are born in litters of 40 to 150. This is about five times as many young as there are in the average litter of non-poisonous snakes, the larger number of rattlers being necessary to perpetuate the species—in view of the heavy toll of young taken by enemies, particularly the hawk and the chaparral cock.

"In his native state the little rattler is a frequent feeder. He eats mostly small bugs, seeking larger game as he grows. When he nears maturity he eats with less frequency, but bolts larger meals.

"Finally, when he reaches a sedate maturity, the year becomes as a day with him. After a long night of sleep which may last from November through March, he comes out in the morning of early spring for breakfast. He is thin and fairly active, and may seek his breakfast by stalking.

"When stalking, he eases up, looking like a dead stick to a bird perched on a low limb. The bird sees the snake but, instead of flying, remains motionless, no doubt figuring that his protective coloring will save him. If the bird starts to fly away it is too late, for the rattler has coiled his body without moving his head, and now — flashing that head out with the speed of an arrow—he picks his prey off the limb.

"Two or three birds, with perhaps a rat thrown in, and the snake has had his breakfast. Then he finds a cool spot and settles down to the job of digesting it, which may take five or six weeks.

"The rattler sheds his skin, which permits additional growth. Then he probably takes a stand under the shade of a cactus bush and waits for his noon meal along June or July.

"Patiently he waits for something to hop, run or crawl by him. And his patience is rewarded. A young cottontail comes hopping along, every little while nibbling at a blade of grass. Closer he comes until at last he is within reach. There is a flash, and the rattler recoils to watch the results of his work. The rabbit hops along a few feet, and nibbles another blade of grass. Then, he loses his appetite and just sits there. Soon he becomes sick and dizzy, and finally he topples over, dead. The snake leisurely makes for his meal and starts the slow task of stretching himself around the young rabbit.

"This is a big meal. This will carry him on through the afternoon and well into the evening of the year, until he finally moves out in search of his final big feast to carry him through the long winter night.

"A rattlesnake has the world for his enemy. And if he ever bites you, the reason will be clear. The poison of the rattlesnake reacts on the blood causing it to coagulate, in contrast to the poison of the cobra which acts on the nerves."

Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Whitaker moved last week from an apartment at Mrs. Frank Seyler's to the house vacated by the Hirschy family.

ANOTHER DRY HOLE?

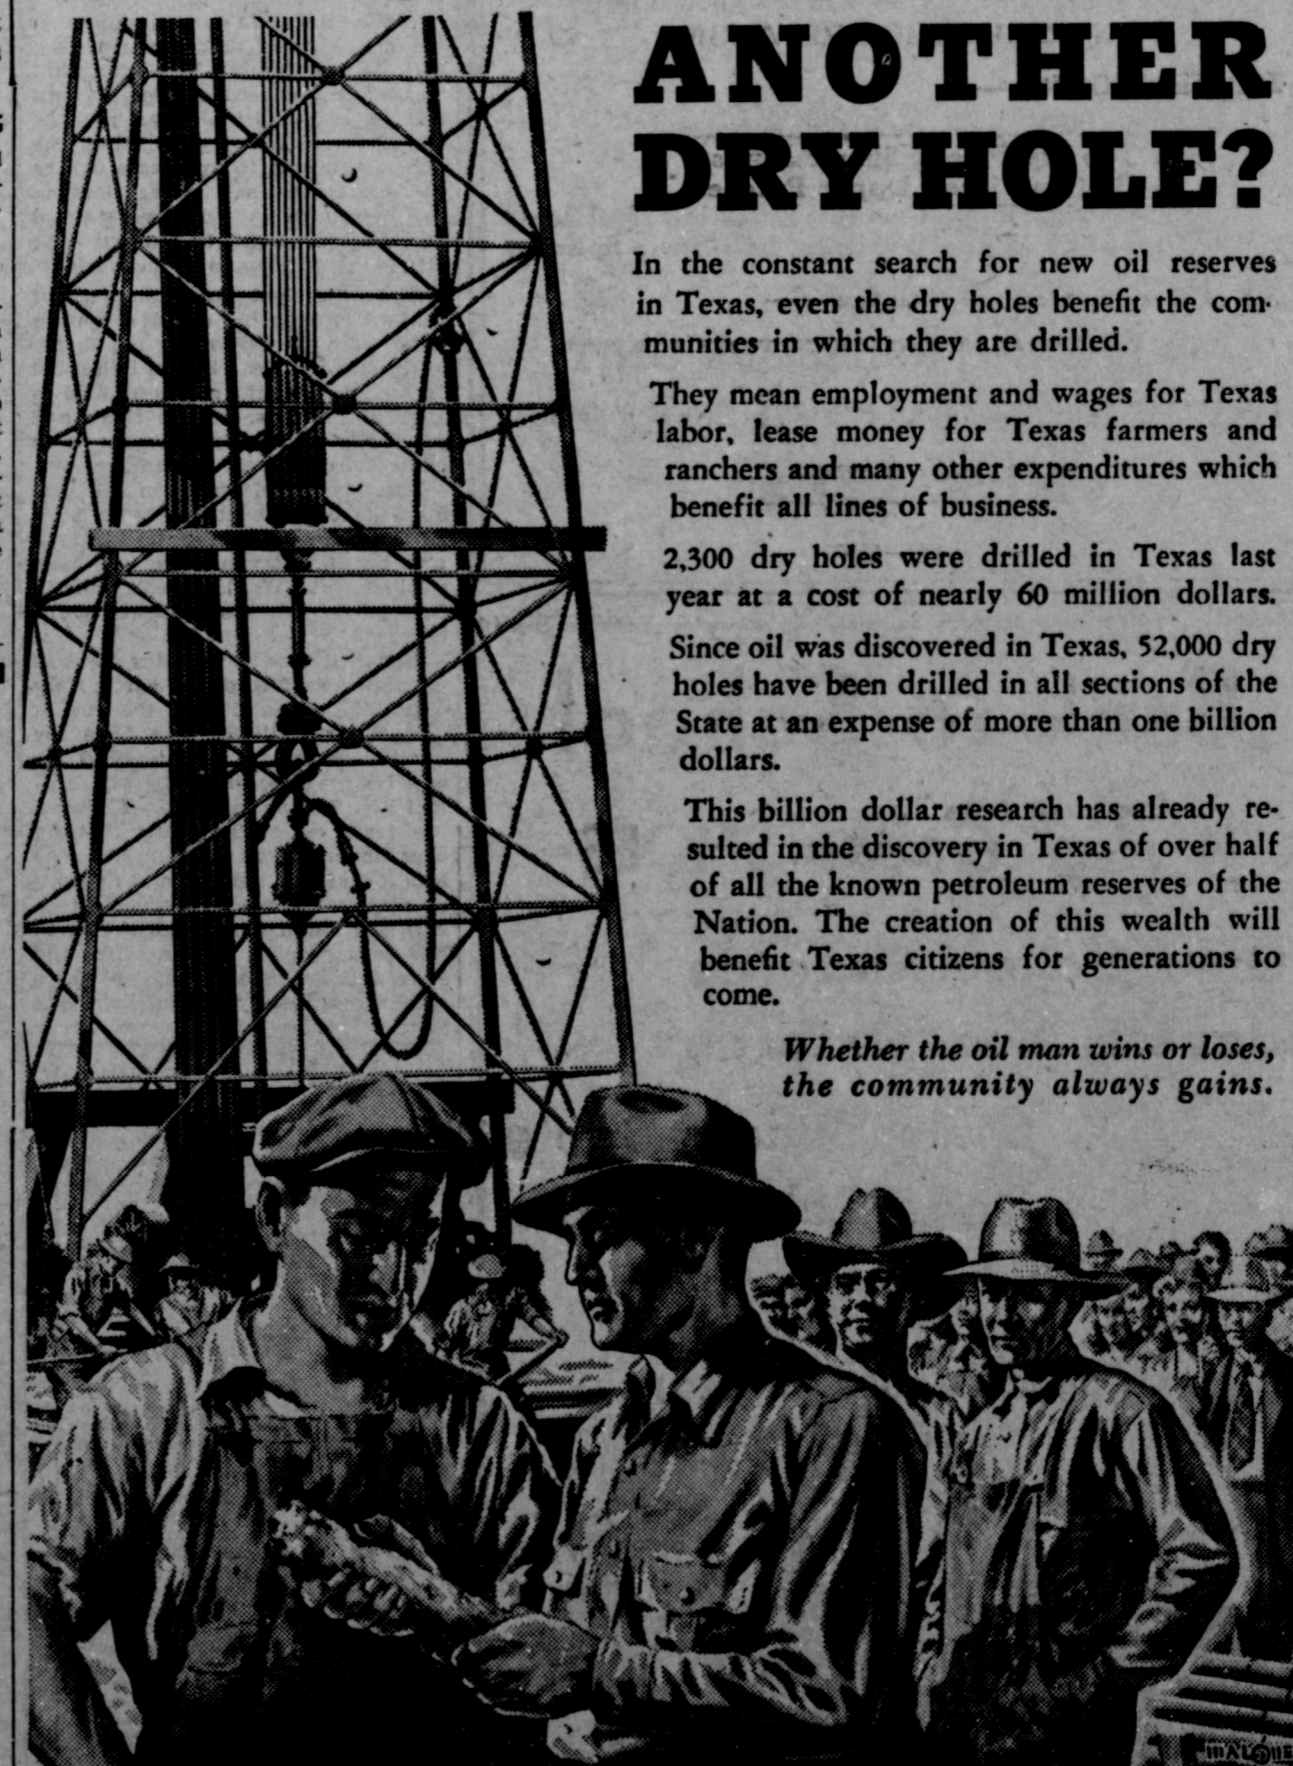

In the constant search for new oil reserves in Texas, even the dry holes benefit the communities in which they are drilled.

They mean employment and wages for Texas labor, lease money for Texas farmers and ranchers and many other expenditures which benefit all lines of business.

2,300 dry holes were drilled in Texas last year at a cost of nearly 60 million dollars. Since oil was discovered in Texas, 52,000 dry holes have been drilled in all sections of the State at an expense of more than one billion dollars.

This billion dollar research has already resulted in the discovery in Texas of over half of all the known petroleum reserves of the Nation. The creation of this wealth will benefit Texas citizens for generations to come.

Whether the oil man wins or loses, the community always gains.

"Dear Walter Winchell: I guess you'll be pleased to know that the Royal Air Force think that you are tops in your broadcasts, which we get by short-wave. Keep up the good work. Maybe you'll remember me—in collaboration with the late Nan O'Reilly of the Journal-American. I wrote and produced 'Four O'Clock' at the Baltimore theater in 1934. I worked on the Daily Mirror in New York when it was down on the Row. Hello to Bill Farnsworth and all the others who might recall my name. Hello, too, to Mr. and Mrs. America. A few Sundays ago the fellow didn't show up at the usual 4 poem and Fred got nervous and almost hysterical. He phoned the police to help trace him and sent friends searching all over town. When they found the truant, Allen yelled at him, "Don't ever worry me that way again!"

Before the last war Lord Beaverbrook, the London publisher and statesman, was in the real estate business in Montreal. He had been proposed for membership in the Mount Royal club (Canada's most exclusive club, sir) and had been blackballed. Beaverbrook never forgot the rebuff. The following year he went to England and began his brilliant career. A few years later a Canadian friend got this cable: "Would you inform the gentlemen of the Mount Royal club that the fellow they blackballed has just dined with the king? Beaverbrook."

Drivers Won't Hit What They Can See

No single factor contributes more to the traffic accident problem than the pedestrian's invisibility at night, according to "Smash Hits of the Year," tenth annual booklet published by The Travelers Insurance Company in the interests of highway safety.

Few pedestrians, and especially those who are not drivers themselves, realize how difficult it is for approaching drivers to see them during dusk and darkness, the booklet asserts. If the walker is wearing dark clothing, less than five per cent of the light which falls on him is reflected back to the driver's eyes. Rain, wet pavements and glaring headlights make matters even worse.

When wearing dark clothing the pedestrian is all but invisible at a mere 100 feet away, it is shown. If he wears something white, or carries a handkerchief or newspaper, he can be seen fairly easily at that distance.

"Never depend upon the driver's ability to see you at night," the booklet urges.

ownership maps of individual counties.

Lease and royalty payments on this acreage to Texas farmers and ranchers totalled over $125,000,000 in 1939, the association reported. This extra cash income for Texas farmers and stockmen represented an additional 27 cents from the oilman for each dollar of cash farm income, exclusive of Government benefit payments. Including such payments, it represented 22 cents additional for each dollar of cash agricultural income in Texas last year.

In total return to the State, however, petroleum far exceeded all agricultural products. Expenditures of the oil and gas industry in Texas in 1939 were approximately $750,000,000, or nearly $200,000,000 more than the $567,596,000 Texas farm and ranch income from all crops, livestock and Government benefits. Well over one-third of petroleum's total expenditures go to Texas workers who receive $272,000,000 a year in wages and salaries.

All but three counties out of the State's 254 now have acreage leased for oil and gas exploration or production. The exceptions are Rockwall, Mason and Llano.

"Here's Your Change"

"Can you spare me a nickel for a cup of coffee?" said a youth to a Laramie, Wyo., business man, on a Laramie street. The man, noting that the young fellow didn't appear to be an ordinary "panhandler," handed him a quarter. Two hours later the business man reached his office. The youth was there — with 20 cents change from the quarter. "I had a hard time finding you to return this change," said the youth. "Thanks a lot."

27 PER CENT OF ALL TEXAS LAND LEASED OR PRODUCING OIL

DALLAS, Texas, Sept. 12.—More than one-fourth of Texas is now under lease for oil and gas development, a statewide survey just completed by the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association shows.

Out of a total area of 169,130,716 acres in Texas, Texas oilmen have under lease 45,402,656 acres, the association found. This is nearly 27 per cent of all land in Texas. The figures were compiled from county tax records, company reports and afternoon and continue during the evening hours. The committee in charge of arrangements has planned an interesting program of games, lunches and refreshments, and invites the public to attend.

CEREMONY TUESDAY UNITES BETTY MAGES AND FELIX YOSTEN

The marriage of Miss Betty Mages, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mages of Era, and Felix Yosten, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Yosten, was solemnized at St. Peter's church at Lindsay Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock.

The service was read by Rev. Conrad Herda, Lindsay pastor, who also officiated at the nuptial high mass.

Preceding the ceremony, pre-nuptial music was given by Miss Regina Fuhrmann, church organist, and she assisted the choir in rendering music for the mass. The altar was adorned with a profusion of late summer blossoms.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of white satin, designed with long sleeves and fitted bodice. The skirt, slim at the waist, extended into full, graceful folds. Her long veil of silk tulle was held with a wreath of valley lilies and she carried an arm bouquet of white carnations, lilies and fern. Her only jewelry was an heirloom gold cross that was her grandmother's.

Miss Jane Mages, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and Miss Josephine Yosten, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid. Edward Mages was the best man and Ferd Yosten was groomsmen.

Miss Mages wore a frock of white pebble crepe with a fitted jacket of gold embroidery and Miss Yosten's frock was of white taffeta, topped with a short bolero, trimmed with gold lace. Both wore shoulder corsages of mixed snapdragons and shoulder-length veils of tulle.

A reception at the home of the bride's parents for 40 guests followed the church rites. In the evening a wedding dance in the Lindsay hall honored the couple.

The dance preceded Mr. and Mrs. Yosten's departure on a wedding trip to Colorado and Mexico. When they return they will make their home on a farm 2 1/2 miles east of St. Jo. For travelling the bride chose a crepe ensemble of cadet blue with black accessories.

Mrs. Yosten attended the Lindsay school and Mr. Yosten received his education at Sacred Heart school at Muenster. The couple is popular in the young society crowd of both cities.

MRS. KLEMENT IS HOSTESS TO GET-TOGETHER CLUB

Mrs. John Klement was hostess to members of the Get-Together club at her home on the first Wednesday of the month. Games of progressive 42 furnished diversion for the group and were concluded with the awarding of high score prize to Mrs. J. B. Wilde and the consolation favor to Mrs. Jake Pagel.

During a brief business session Mrs. Ben Luke was named hostess for the meeting next month at which time the annual election of officers will take place. Birthday gifts, from their sunshine pals, were received by Mrs. John Wieler and Mrs. Joe Kathman.

At the close of the afternoon, a delicious plate supper was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Joe Swinger and Miss Evelyn Swinger, to 11 members and 1 guest.

Enjoying the affair were Mesdames Bill Becker, Roy Endres, Tony Gremminger, Joe and John Kathman, Ben and Joe Luke, Jake Pagel, J. B. Wilde, Henry Walterscheid, Clarence Wilson and J. M. Weinzapfel.

A Bank With a
BACKGROUND OF EXPERIENCE
"What is his background?" is often asked about some man in public life or in some important position. Back of the present always stands the past. Is it worthy?
Likewise, the value of this bank to you today is increased by your knowledge of its background of long years of community service, and its intimate acquaintance with the needs of home people.
There are no finer "references" that any bank can give than its friends of long standing who are dealing with it today.
