VOLUME XV

MUENSTER, COOKE COUNTY, TEXAS, DECEMBER 29, 1950

NUMBER 6

Just a few more days and another New Year will be with us. And as we await its arrival we cannot but wonder whether it will bring the greatest and most devastating conflict of all time or whether it will bring a solution to present problems, introducing an era of unprecedented peace and happiness.

As we see the signs today we have plenty of reasons to be apprehensive, but we also have other good reasons to believe that we have already passed the critical point and are on our way to better days.

On the gloomy side there is the terrible potential of the world wide communist organization prodded on by a group of ruthless fanatics who are determined to bring every country under their iron control. Commanding as they do a fighting force that vastly outnumber the armies of the Christian nations, they present a terrifying threat. Even though we feel quite certain that their savage conquest would fail in the end, we are equally certain that before defeat, they could cause the greatest era of bloodshed and misery that has ever been known.

On the other side we are mindful that the evil forces are not being led by fools. Despite their disregard for justice or human rights they do not disregard the factors which threaten their survival. They are not likely to provoke the big fight as long as they are not reasonably confident they can win.

On that probability hinges the hope of the Western world. As things are developing now it begins to appear that every day of delay reduces the Communist chances of victory. Perhaps it is not too much to hope that the reds are beginning to feel the same way about it, in which case we may already be farther from a global conflict than we were a few months ago.

Several points have turned in our favor lately. The epochal evacuation of Hunguan actually amounts to a UN victory, and the reds know it. The communists acquired a little more ground but they failed miserably in their real mission, which was to destroy the trapped Tenth Corps. In addition they suffered immense casualties, losing an estimated 100,000 of their seasoned fighters, while American forces moved men and equipment safely to reinforce their comrades farther down the peninsula.

Aside from the fact that the reds, in spite of their boasted inexhaustible manpower, are severely weakened by such fantastic losses, the masterful and highly successful withdrawal is having its favorable effect. China and Russia are learning to their sorrow that the UN forces make up in skill, resourcefulness and equipment for what they lack in numbers. The rest of the world is showing greater respect for American prestige and is less reluctant to stand up and be counted on the Western side.

Another significant point is that the Tenth Corps was transferred to another part of Korea not withdrawn from the war. Obviously the UN intends to stay in Korea. Otherwise it intends to engage the greatest possible number of Chinese communist troops there for reasons which so far have not been revealed. We can only guess at what the plan can be, but we surmise that any action to keep the red Chinese away from home would be most helpful to the Nationalist troops if and when they return to the Chinese mainland.

A natural guess in the light of present developments is that Chiang Kai-shek will be given his chance. And if that should develop we have strong grounds for a hope that Chiang will acquire more and more men as he moves forward and eventually

Mothers Club Will Sponsor New Year's Eve Dance at Gym

A New Year's Eve dance to be given in the High School gym Sunday night is the latest venture of the Mother's Athletic club in raising funds in support of the high school athletic program.

A football banquet given at the close of the football season was financed principally by funds realized at the club's concession at the games. Profits from the dance will be used similarly in behalf of the athletes.

The orchestra for the dance is Miller Brothers of Wichita Falls, stars of radio and Delta records.

WITH THE MEN IN SERVICE

An "All's Well" message from their son and brother, Cpl. Jerald D. Hogan, reached the J. S. Hogans, the Dick Cains and the Jack Hogans last Friday. Jerald was a member of the First Marine Division that was trapped in Korea. His message reported that he was well, unhurt and aboard a ship at the time.

Pfc. Leonard Hartman left Fort Hood last week for the west coast where he is awaiting an overseas assignment. His wife, who was with him at Fort Hood, has returned to Muenster and is with her parents, the Joe Fettes. Recruits Wilfred Luttmere and Tony Hess of Fort Bliss, El Paso, were here to spend Christmas with their parents, the Herman Luttmers and the J. W. Hess family.

Ret. Clifford Otto of Fort Benning, Ga., was at home on a Christmas leave to visit his parents, the W. W. Ottos and family.

Recruits Urban Rohmer and Charles Davidson of Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., spent a Christmas leave with their parents, the Leo Rohmers and W. F. Davidsons.

Pvt. Leo Becker came in from Texarkana last Friday for a visit with his parents, the Felix Beckers. He is off duty until next Sunday.

Sgt. George Swirczynski of San Angelo visited his parents and other relatives here during the holiday weekend.

Pfc. Leonard Walterscheid and Rec. Alois Sicking of Fort Sill, Okla., were here for a weekend and Christmas visit with their parents, the August Walterscheids and Ben Sicking.

Mary Wiesman of Fort Worth spent Christmas here with relatives.

NABBED AFTER EIGHTEEN YEARS—Shakespearean actor Maurice Evans, who has ducked Hollywood's cameras for 18 years, has teamed up with stage and screen star Ethel Barrymore for his first American screen chore, "Kind Lady." After the renowned pair, shown between scenes on a Hollywood lot, complete the assignment, Evans will return to Broadway for a part in another Shakespearean play.

Dramatic Reading of Enoch Arden Returns

Father Patrick O'Neal of St. Bernard Alabama, who delighted a Wichita Falls audience about a year ago with his musical dramatic reading of Enoch Arden, will be in Henrietta with the same performance on Saturday of this week. Visiting here briefly on Wednesday in the company of Father John Mitchell of the Henrietta church Father O'Neal said he will give the reading in the Henrietta ward school building at 7:30 Saturday as a benefit program for St. Mary's church.

His act is a 1 hour and 20 minute dramatic reading of the Tennyson classic with a background of music which was specially composed for the poem by Richard Strauss. Tickets for the show are available at the FMA Store, Fisher's Market, Ben Seyler's, the Bank and John Hoffman.

News of Sick And Injured

Mrs. M. J. Endres advises this week that she expects to finish treatments in Dallas this weekend and looks forward to being back at home on New Year's Day. She asked that her sincerest thanks be extended to all who remembered her with get-well wishes, holiday greetings and other kindnesses while she was away, and included best wishes to all for a happy and blessed New Year.

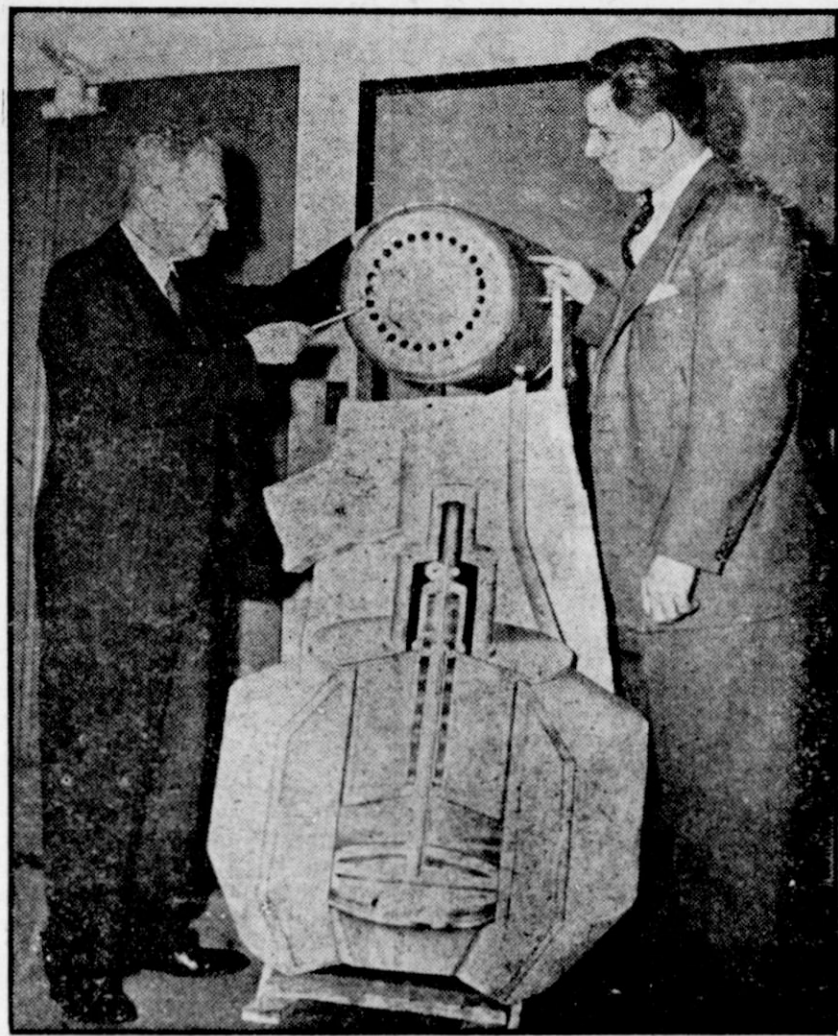

Rita Sue, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emmet Fette, is recovering from an illness of virus pneumonia.

Mrs. Clem Reiter is convalescing nicely at her home, recovering from a major operation but will be confined to bed for about two more weeks. She says many thanks to all who remembered her with cards and other kindnesses while she has been sick.

Mrs. E. P. Buckley and Betty Lue spent Wednesday and Thursday in Grapevine with Mrs. Buckley's brother, L. G. Chastain and family.

Mrs. C. W. Ratliff and sons, and Miss Carolyn Lockhart, all of Lubbock, visited the John Fettes and other relatives Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Holiday guests of the Dick Cains were the Frank K. Hogans and family of Amarillo, the John C. Hogans and children of Lubbock, the S. W. Cains and daughter, Nancy, of Fort Worth, and the Alvin Taylors and daughter of Gainesville.

Muenster Mutual Re-elects Directors At Annual Meeting

All directors of the Muenster Mutual Fire Insurance Company were re-elected Wednesday in the organization's annual general meeting in the church basement. In selecting their officers, however, the directors made a change electing W. H. Endres as secretary to succeed F. J. Hess who discontinued the work because of poor health. The other three on the 5-man executive committee are President Albert Henscheid, Treasurer Victor Hartman and J. B. Klement.

Attendance at the meeting consisted of delegates from the districts of Muenster, Lindsay, Valley View, Electra and Windthorst, the five areas in which the insurance is in effect.

The delegates decided to extend their insurance coverage to include losses by explosion even though an explosion is not followed by a fire. No additional charge is made for the additional coverage and each policy is automatically amended to include it.

Delegates also voted to make an assessment on the membership of 35 cents on $100 of insured valuation, although on the basis of this year's losses the additional funds will not be needed. Total expenses including losses and administrative costs in 1950 amounted to about $2400. The purpose of the new assessment is to build a reserve against possible heavier losses this year.

As during previous years the organization made a substantial increase in its total insurance. Part of that is accounted for by the admission of nine new members but most of it resulted from a large number of increases in the valuation of property already covered by the insurance.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Henscheid of Bushland and Mr. and Mrs. Werner Henscheid of Umbarger were here for a holiday visit with the men's father, Bill Henscheid and other relatives. The Arnold Henscheids also visited in Lindsay with her parents, the Matt Neus. The Werner Henscheids are moving this week to Hereford where he will be in the feed store business.

It sure is funny how you never get too old to learn some new way to be foolish.

Nuptial Wednesday Unites Eddie Krahl, Margie Lou Eberhart

Miss Margie Lou Eberhart, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Eberhart, exchanged marriage vows with Eddie Krahl, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Krahl of Gainesville, in Sacred Heart church on Wednesday morning, December 27.

Rev. Anthony Schroeder read the single-ring service and officiated at the nuptial high mass at 9 o'clock.

Anthony Luke presided at the organ for the wedding marches and for the mass "Missa Tertia", which the church choir sang.

The bride wore a lovely wedding gown of white taffeta and marquisette with silver sequin trim. It was fashioned with fitted bodice, long petal point sleeves and full skirt. Her nylon net veil was attached to a silver sequin head dress and she carried an arm bouquet of white carnations. She borrowed a silver rosary from her sister, Mrs. Bill Flusche and carried a blue silk handkerchief, sent from Paris during world war II by her brother, Bill Eberhart.

Miss Lydia Krahl, sister of the groom, attended as maid of honor wearing a frock of blue taffeta and net with a matching head dress and a corsage of carnations.

Walter Eberhart, brother of the bride, was best man.

After the nuptial service a wedding breakfast was served in the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Bill Flusche at Lindsay. Guests in addition to the bridal party were parents of the couple and the pastors from Muenster and Gainesville.

At noon immediate members of both families, the pastors, and close friends were guests for dinner. The bride's table carried out her color theme of white and blue and held a tiered wedding cake. A dance in the Lindsay hall at night concluded the day's festivities.

After the dance Mr. and Mrs. Krahl left on a wedding trip. She was wearing a blue two piece suit and black accessories.

The groom will leave on January 5 for induction in the army.

GROUPS GET TOGETHER FOR CHRISTMAS BREAKFASTS

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Walterscheid entertained with a Christmas Day breakfast in their home following the mid-night Mass. Guests for the occasion were Messrs. and Mmes. 1950 has been a critical year. It has led us into a war which may possibly develop into the greatest war of all time. At the same time it has shown the world that America, though wealthy, is not soft, and aggressor nations will do well to think again before starting a fight. So we welcome 1951 with a devout wish that peace and justice will prevail.

The American Way

SOUTH IN THE SADDLE

By George Peck

Those Americans who live north of the Mason and Dixon Line had better take warning that those Americans living south of it must be treated with increased deference and respect. For the next two years, at least, there will be no legislation enacted or blocked at Washington which does not have the South's blessing, or disapproval, as the case may be.

For four score and seven years the South has been a political stepchild. Counted "in the bag" by the Democrats, because of its unswerving allegiance to that party, the South has been forced to take the crumbs falling from the table whenever the Democratic Party has ruled the roost. Confident that the South would "string along" no matter how it was neglected, the Democratic Party saw no need of wasting any "juicy plums" in that section of the nation.

On the other hand, whenever the Republican Party was cock of the walk, it saw no reason for going out of its way to do anything for the South. It felt, and with some justification, that no matter how benevolently it brandished the olive branch south of the Mason and Dixon line, southern voters, come next election, would continue over-whelmingly to support the Democratic ticket.

Up to 1933 there was some reason for the South's blind loyalty to the Democratic Party. Despite the shabby treatment of its southern supporters, it was otherwise a good political party. But, not so today. Since 1933, it has gradually been captured by a radical element that has no respect for the political philosophy of Thomas Jefferson, upon which the formerly great Democratic Party was founded.

Southerners are beginning to realize that they have been trying to cling to something which has disappeared from the political arena. The party which claimed their fealty for so many years, no longer exists—something un-American and un-Jeffersonian now masquerades under the false title — Democratic Party.

The Dixiecrats or States' Right movement was the first tangible evidence that the South was awakening to what was happening to the Democratic Party and to the fallacy of adhering to a one-party system.

The teaming up of a number of its conservative Congressmen with conservative Republicans to block the Administration's socialistic legislature proposals in the 81st Congress gave further evidence that the South is "fed up" with being the footstool of the Democratic Party.

In the 82nd Congress the Republicans will have a larger representation in both Houses than in the 81st, just two short of a majority in the Senate and 34 short in the Lower House. The Southern Democrats will sit more firmly in the saddle and represent a stronger balance of power than they did in the 81st Congress.

That brings us back to the statements made in the opening paragraph of this article. The South must be treated with a deference and a respect to which it has for much too long a time been unaccustomed. What happens along the Potomac these next two years is in its hands. I'm betting that those hands will join in halting the nation's march to socialism and in getting this nation back on the course it pursued with such unprecedented success before the so-called Democratic Party went berserk and upset the apple-cart.

A word to all wise Northerners should be sufficient—"Speak softly" of the South and "throw away the big stick."

Know the Facts

If a recent survey made of a group of high school seniors produced typical views, American education is giving the student a highly erroneous idea of how American industry operates and the size of the profits it earns.

These seniors were asked to estimate how much profit the average company makes. Their answers averaged 50 per cent. The true figure, covering a long period of years, is about six per cent.

They were asked to estimate the average investment per worker in American industry. Their figure was $81—while the proper answer would have been $8,000!

They estimated that the annual return to industry's stockholders averages 24 per cent. Actually, it was three per cent on net assets in 1949—which was a good year for practically all lines of enterprise.

The same seniors, by a margin of 61 per cent, then said that they favored closer government regulation of business as against free competition whereas it is really free competition that keeps profits and prices down.

The point of all this is that ignorance and misunderstandings do more than anything else to create distrust of free enterprise. A man who honestly believes that business makes extortionate profits and operates solely for the benefit of a group of bloated plutocrats, is a man ripe for the phony blandishments of the socialists and the communists. Those who would destroy free enterprise and free government have small concern with the truth. They make the most of every misconception that exists in the public mind.

Only those who know the facts can make intelligent decisions. And the place to start teaching those facts is in our schools and colleges.

Why This Country Owes 297 Billion

The government has awarded a $286,000 contract for permanent visitors' facilities and exhibit building at Shasta Dam, California. The structure will contain an auditorium, observation decks and exhibit rooms. This is being done despite the fact that excellent accommodations now exist for those who wish to see the dam and the power plant.

This is just one minor example of the reckless waste of the taxpayers' money that is going on all over the country—in spite of deficits, in spite of the demand for higher taxes, and in spite of unpredictable expenditures for the military forces and for the other purposes in connection with the international situation.

The most tragic part of it is that political support and agitation for non-essential government spending does not seem to have abated one bit. This is particularly evident in the electric power field. The socialists in the government—much as they dislike that accurate label — are actually using the present crisis as an argument for going ahead with valley authorities throughout the country even though private enterprise has demonstrated that it can provide all the power we can use if given the opportunity. And it can do it without a nickel of tax subsidy and it will create important new sources of taxation while doing it.

On top of that, the advocates of the Brannan plan, compulsory health-insurance, all-inclusive social security and the rest of the socialism program are still in full cry. No one can even estimate the cost of these schemes in billions of dollars.

The world may be in the gravest peril it has ever known. We need desperately to build our defenses in rigorous state and Federal economy that will keep government out of any activity that can be handled by private enterprises. Governmental waste is always bad—at a time like this is criminal.

It has been well asked, "Why are we fighting the Communists and at the same time setting up socialistic plans in this county?" The time is near when Washington will have to answer, says the Industrial News Review.

The world has become so small that almost any nation is within reach of Uncle Sam's pockets.

fortable attic apartment with her mother, Mrs. Alice Owsley, is awaiting royalties from her first book.

Titled "A Handy Guide to Grownups," it is a collection of her opinions on what makes grownups tick and how kids can get along with them.

Jill—short for Jennifer—started writing, her mother said good-naturedly, because "she thought she'd had a pushing-around from the adults in her life.

"She saw all the books on child care I was reading and decided children needed a handbook worse than adults.

"When she was annoyed, she'd write something. Often she'd cross it out later. The book is what is left."

Treatment of Mothers
One of the gems it contains reads:

"Hardly any mothers will stop talking (on the telephone) until you bother them quite a lot. I think it is perfectly fair to bother them as much as you have to. After all they can call their first friends back after you have to be in bed. Some of the ways to bother them are: Going upstairs and calling them, starting downstairs without any coat on . . ."

But Jill insists, "the publishers misunderstood. It's for the kids." Of course," she added philosophically, "I guess there are more grownups than kids and they had to make money. Kids don't have as much money as grownups."

"In our family they do," interrupted Mrs. Owsley, beaming at her daughter.

But both publisher and mother insist the work is all her own, and the spectacled young woman makes statements just as candid in normal conversation—like "people you meet camping are different from those in motor courts."

Growing Up, Now
Or on the sizes of people—"there are more adults and they stay the same size and shape, so furniture is made for them instead of kids."

For this reason, said Jill, she's glad she's growing up. It's easier than it used to be, she declared, to reach the dishes she's washing.

And "when I fry bacon it does not pop in my face like before."

It is on the note of growing up that Jill closes the book with the postscript:

"I am beginning to be adolescent now. I am more mixed up in my feelings than I used to be. Writing this book was fun, but I seem to have gotten more mixed up as I went on. This is probably because I kept growing up myself all the time. I couldn't stop and neither could you, even if we wanted to."

To Sellers, To Buyers

To each and every one, buyer or seller, or anyone attending our sale we want to say THANKS for helping us build one of the best livestock markets in North Texas today.

Our sale last year sold about 2.5 million dollars worth of livestock. Combining this with a nice volume at the Gainesville sale, you can see that we have in North Texas a livestock market that is equal to or better than any other available market.

In the years to come we will strive to continue a sale that is outstanding for honesty, efficiency and high prices. In 1951 we ask your continued fine patronage to help us make it a 3 million dollar year.

We hope you had a Merry Christmas and we wish you a happy, prosperous New Year.

We expect a good market Saturday, Dec. 30. Bring anything you have.

Confetti---

clear the reds out of China. Such an upset of the Soviet scheme can prove the best possible guarantee of world peace. Without their satellites to depend upon the Moscow mad men will quickly lose interest in their world conquest.

Other favorable signs are apparent in Europe. Western Germans are willing to consider plans of mutual defense with France. Tito continues to defy Stalin. And Eisenhower is organizing his Atlantic pact army.

Meanwhile America launches an extensive defense program and bluntly warns Russia that it will use the atomic bomb at its own discretion.

It begins to appear that Stalin has already missed his big chance and the odds against him will grow bigger and bigger as he prolongs his delay. Everything considered there are plenty of signs to sustain the hope that 1951 will start the decline of Russian terror and the world can get started on an era of permanent peace.

In this nation's internal affairs also, 1951 seems to give promise of better times. Last November's elections brought a sudden jolt to socialistic plans by showing a heavy preference for conservatives in Congress. Perhaps we have at last halted our mad rush toward welfare statism and started our return toward the solid principles of traditional Americanism.

From here 1951 looks as though it will develop into a wonderful year. Let's hope that it will do just that.

BADGE OF A MAN

How proud can a man be?

You'll know when you're wearing the Combat Infantryman's Badge on your chest— Because here is the emblem that marks a man— A man with the heart and the guts to serve his country as a member of the finest fighting force, man for man, on the face of the earth. It's there for you—with a sign on it that says "For MEN Only!"

Ask your Recruiting Officer about the opportunities the U.S. Army offers YOU!

Recruiter from your Sherman U.S. Army and U.S. Air Force Recruiting Station will be in Muenster every Thursday at the Post Office from 2 p.m. to 3 p.m.

It's a great big dizzy world we live in, with more wonderful things happening than any dreamer could possibly conjure in his adventurous mind. And then, too, there are many, many sad things happening . . . sometimes more than we think we can bear. But here in youthful, optimistic, smiling America we're sure that tomorrow will keep its promise of a bright, shiny, new world. So we are waiting for the New Year, wishing all of you the very best in the days to come.
