

Moster Ventures Another Assurance That Water's Okay

Once again Water Superintendent, Steve Moster, reports that the city's water supply is okay, but this time he's kept-doubled crossed by another hoping that he will not be being his fingers crossed. He's breakdown before his assurance gets into print.

That's what happened last week. While the Enterprise was printing his statement that water is plentiful Steve was sweating over a broken down pump on the No. 2 well. That was Wednesday. Assured that repairs would be here by Saturday he kept the No. 1 well running steady and took a chance on pulling through without stopping lawn sprinklers. Garages, asked not to wash cars, were the only ones who felt the storage.

By the time the pump was working again both reservoirs were low. Another day of delay would have required rationing.

40 YEARS AGO Two Pick Bale of Cotton in One Day

Foey on that cotton pickin' Harlingen disc jockey. He's offered a few thousand dollars worth of prizes for picking a bale of cotton in a week . . . and the story gets feature mention on radio and newspapers all over the country.

Some forty years ago a couple of competing youngsters here at Muenster picked a bale of cotton in a day. All they got for their effort was a few congratulatory pats on the back and no publicity whatsoever.

That bit of local history was recalled by Felix Becker in a gabfest here several weeks ago. The two fellows were Joe Becker, now deceased, and Albert Hartman, now living in Detroit, Michigan.

Both were hot shot cotton pickers and neither was willing to concede that the other could beat him. So they decided on a contest. They started early and made a long day of it, and when they finished each had more than 700 pounds. Felix forgot the exact figures but he remembers that Joe won by a few pounds, and that the day's picking was hauled to the gin early the next morning.

He recalled also that picking was ideal that year. Bolls were big, plentiful and free of blemishes. The crop averaged about a bale to the acre.

Another feat that could serve as an inspiration to the Harlingen disc jockey was a four way contest by Emma and Frances Hartman (now Mrs. Carl Luke and Mrs. Joe Vogel) and Victor Hartman and Felix Becker. The four finished a bale by mid-afternoon.

THE MUENSTER FERRY now ready for operation will serve as a Red River crossing 13 miles north of Muenster. The project is financed by a corporation consisting of a group of Muenster men. The above picture was taken by Kent Bellah a few days after the raft was launched, before the motor boat, which serves the craft are Dick Cain and J. as a tug, was completed. On M. Weinzapfel, standing, and Lindsay Branch, mounted. The ferry now awaits completion of a road on the north side of the river.

Ferry Is Ready; Owners Organize, Apply For Charter

Muenster's ferry is ready to go and from present indications will likely be in use by the end of next week.

The power boat which will be used as a tug was launched Tuesday. On the same day Commissioner Ben Roach of Love County Oklahoma reported that he was ready to start Wednesday on the road which will permit traffic to reach the ferry from the north. Meanwhile the 13 stockholders who financed the project have elected their board of directors and applied for a corporation charter with a capitalization of $5000. Directors are Ben Seyler, president; J. P. Flusche, vice president; Herbert Meurer, secretary-treasurer; Jerome Pagel and J. M. Weinzapfel.

Installation of the Chrysler motor in the motorboat was finished Monday night. It was equipped with a 13 inch speed propeller until a 15 inch power propeller now on special order is received. It was taken on trial runs up and down the river Tuesday.

The operator of the ferry has not been named at this time but several persons are under consideration and the selection is expected soon.

Charges for crossing were announced by the directors as follows: car or pick-up, $1.00; farm truck, $1.50; loaded trailer truck, $3.00; extra heavy load, $5.00.

Weinzapfel Given FFA Honorary Title

Honorary lifetime membership as a Lone Star Farmer was awarded this week to J. M. Weinzapfel by the Texas Association of Future Farmers of America.

The title of Lone Star Farmer is the highest honor given by the state FFA organization. Members receive it after four years of outstanding work in agricultural classes and projects. Non-members can receive it as an honorary title for outstanding service to agriculture.

The presentation was made Monday by Ralph Maglaughlin, local vocational agriculture instructor. It consists of a certificate and a gold FFA key. Services cited include Mr. Weinzapfel's pioneering work and current activity in soil conservation, his efforts in organizing Texas bankers behind the conservation movement, his assistance in organizing the agriculture course for local students and the help he has given students in their projects.

Weinzapfel is one of the five men receiving the honorary title this year in this FFA district which consists of 14 counties and 67 local chapters.

Lunch Program Has New Tables, Benches

Thirty new tables and 60 new benches are almost ready for the opening of this year's school lunch program. Eight of the tables are now on hand and the balance are expected late Wednesday or Thursday when the FMA trailer truck returns from a trip to South Texas. The benches are now being painted by lunch room ladies and school children.

The tables, made in Temple, have oak tops with durable "gym-floor finish" and folding metal legs. Twenty of them are eight feet long, the others are six feet long. In all they provide comfortable seating space for 220 adults or 280 children. They will occupy about the same space in the lunch room as the present tables but can be folded and stacked away in case more open space is needed in the room.

Several of the tables were purchased by individuals and others by the lunch program. Any other persons wishing to sponsor a table for the program are still welcome to do so.

Benches were made in the school work shop by Superintendent Cowan, Ralph Maglaughlin, Richard Knabe and Billy Nieball.

News of Sick And Injured

Mrs. Thomas Sicking is recovering from major surgery performed at Gainesville sanitarium last week.

Ed Endres broke his right arm last Thursday afternoon in an accident at Endres Motor Co. Ed, who is a clerk at the Post Office, was doing electrical wiring at the new Ford house. A ladder on which he was standing fell and caused Ed to fall on his arm.

Gus Sicking is improving from a stroke and is now able to be up and around the house for short periods each day after being confined to bed for seven weeks.

Herman Eberhart received treatment at the local clinic Friday for a gash on his right leg. He sustained the injury in an oil field accident.

Mrs. Henry Wolf Jr. underwent minor surgery at M & S hospital Thursday and is recovering satisfactorily.

Margie Lawler of Myra was a patient in Wichita Falls Clinic Saturday for treatment of an ear infection.

Henry Fette was a patient at Gainesville sanitarium Monday and Monday night for a medical check-up.

Illness confined Mrs. Lee Toothaker to bed at her home several days this week.

John P. Streng received treatment at the local clinic Saturday for a cut on his right leg just above the knee. Several stitches were necessary to close the wound. He received the injury in an oil field accident when he was struck by a piece of pipe.

Group Will Inspect Detention Reservoir

Muenster will be represented by about 10 persons in a group of 25 that will go to Jacksboro Friday to see the Howard Creek detention reservoir. Others in the party are from Gainesville and St. Jo.

The purpose of the trip is to study construction of the project and its use in controlling floods by detaining water and releasing it slowly into the creek channels for a period of several days after a heavy rain.

PFC Maurice Stelzer of Chanute AFB, Ill., and the Gerald Stelzers and daughter of Chicago stopped here Saturday for a visit with Gus Selzer and Tillie Barrier. They were enroute to Post to join Julius and Andy Stelzer on a fishing trip to Colorado. Maurice is on a two-week leave.

100% Immunity To Child Diseases Is Community Goal

Complying with a joint request by superiors of the two Muenster schools, members of the city council Monday night passed a resolution asking all parents to have their children immunized against diphtheria and smallpox unless they have previously had shots and vaccinations for the diseases.

Behind the request, and the city's resolution, is a hope that the community will cooperate in raising its immunization record to 100 per cent. According to an estimate by Dr. T. S. Myrick, city health officer, the record now stands at about 90 per cent. By communities it's a fine record, parison with most other communities Myrick said, but it still means that ten per cent of the Muenster children are not protected against two very serious diseases. Most of those are children who have not attended school before, including some who are due to begin.

In Myrick's opinion, immunizations have paid handsome dividends here. Muenster has not had a diphtheria or smallpox case in years, even when other communities have had epidemics.

He estimates that he has given shots and vaccinations to about 8000 during the 18 years he has practiced medicine here. Ages range from adult to down to six months.

Building And Improvement Notes

A six room house and garage for the Albert Hess family is Muenster's latest new home project. It will be built on 9th a block west of Main and will face Elm street when that street is extended to the north part of town. Digging for the foundation is finished and carpenters started building forms Tuesday.

Two local business places, the Magnolia Station and the Hatchery, have just been treated to new paint jobs.

Cotton Jackson is currently working on an elaborate sign and entrance to the Tractor Sales and Service lot. The overhead sign with large neon signs at either end is due to dress up the place like a Christmas tree. Next on the plan is a display room across the south side of the present building.

Matt Stelzer of Post is making headlines these days by his experiment in house-building. Co-operating with an oil company, he is trying volcanic ash from Mexico as building material for Texas. The material comes in blocks which are bolted together to build the house. As described, the material looks somewhat like concrete blocks, is extra strong, does not sweat and has fine insulating quality.

Hot, Isn't It?

Without an official thermometer to go by Muenster apparently will have to settle for about the same records that have been turned in for other North Texas cities. Call it 106 or 108, just to be agreeable.

Nevertheless there have been hot spots around which definitely topped that figure. Lots of readings went as high as 115. At Jake Pagel's maybe the hottest place and maybe the champion thermometer, temperature Monday afternoon was 118 . . . in the shade. Air seems to pick up a few extra degrees of heat as it bounces off the black-top of Main Street.

SOFTBALL

SCOUTS 24, DADS 22

Boy Scouts nosed out their dads 24-22 last Friday night in the hottest, action packed ball game the local diamond has had this year. Hits and errors were frequent and about evenly divided to keep the score tight all the way through. A special feature of the game was that each dad played his son's position and a substitution on the Scout team automatically meant a substitution on the Dad's team. Pitchers were Billy and Ben Seyler and Max and Poss Swirczynski.

CHICKS 9, VETERANS 1

The Bezner Chicks had no trouble whatever Monday night in trimming the Muenster

Veterans 9-1. They pulled ahead steadily, scoring in every inning but the fourth while the Veterans pushed over their only run in the third. Rufie Bezner hurled for the Chicks and Jackie Reiter for the Vets.

RUFFNECKS 3, VETS 10

The Ruffnecks were on the ball, and how, Tuesday night when they slugged Jackie Reiter's and Ray Walterscheid's pitching all over the lot for a total of 42 runs. Practically every man on the team got a homer and some got 2 or 3. Meanwhile the Vets did fairly well on Cecil Cain's hurling. They got 19 runs, but that wasn't quite enough in this game.

The Joe Lukes spent Sunday in Fort Worth with their son and family, the Norman Lukes.

Kubis - Felderhoff Vows Exchanged At Lindsay Thursday

Miss Mary Elizabeth Kubis of Lindsay and A. J. Felderhoff of Muenster exchanged marriage vows in St. Peter's church at Lindsay on Thursday, Aug. 9, at eight o'clock in the morning.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. I. Kubis and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Felderhoff.

Bride's Uncle Officiates

Rev. Alcuin Kubis of Corpus Christi, uncle of the bride, was celebrant of the solemn nuptial mass and performed the double ring ceremony. Rev. Henry Felderhoff of Cleburne, uncle of the groom, was deacon of the mass and Rev. Francis Zimmerer of Windthorst, cousin of the bride was sub deacon.

Pom-pom mums and greenery adorned the altar before which the couple recited their vows. Potted ferns adorned the Communion railing and tapers with white bows marked each pew down the center aisle of the church.

Acolytes for the mass were the bride's brothers Gilbert, Alcuin Paul and Bernard, her cousin, Billy Zimmerer, and the groom's brother, Charles Felderhoff.

The church choir sang the Mass in Honor of St. Aloysius with Mrs. W. J. Schmitz at the organ. She presented the traditional wedding marches and accompanied Miss Mary Ann Felderhoff of Muenster, cousin of the groom, who presented a pre-nuptial solo, Just for Today, and sang Ave Maria at the offertory. After the mass she sang On This Happy Wedding Day as the bride and groom placed a bouquet of white gladioli at the feet of a statue of the Blessed Virgin.

Mr. Kubis gave his daughter in marriage. She was lovely in a gown of white marquisette over taffeta designed with a Chantilly lace yoke that extended into points over the shoulder. Long fitted sleeves formed points over her hands. The full flared skirt was accented with panels of Chantilly lace that began at the waistline and extended around the cathedral length train.

The bride's veil of French illusion was finger tip length falling from a ruffled nylon net cap and a pearlized orange blossom wreath that her mother wore at her wedding. The bride carried her flowers, a white orchid and stephanotis, on top of a white prayer book, a gift from the groom. The bride and groom both carried rosaries presented by the groom's uncle, The Most Rev. Bishop Dangelmayr of Dallas.

Carrying out the bridal tradition the bride wore an antique gold brooch belonging to her paternal grandmother; she borrowed a strand of pearls belonging to Mrs. Pat Schmitz of Dallas; carried a blue silk handkerchief belonging to the groom's mother and carried at her wedding; and wore a penny in her shoe.

Bridal Attendants

Attending the bride were her sister, Miss Alma Louise Kubis as maid of honor and the groom's sister, Miss Joan Felderhoff as bridesmaid. Their dresses of Nile green and coral pink were of springanza over taffeta. They were made with fitted bodices, short sleeves and full tucked skirts which fell over hoops. They wore matching ruffled half hats and elbow length mitts and carried colonial bouquets of white carnations with coral netting and Nile green streamers.

Little Miss Judy Dangelmayr, cousin of the groom, was flower girl. Her costume in white duplicated those worn by the bride's other attendants. She also carried an identical nosegay.

The groom's attendants were his brother, Joseph Felderhoff, best man, and the bride's cousin, Willard Zimmerer, groomsman. Little Tommy Zimmerer was ring bearer. Joe Dangelmayr and T. Voth, uncles of the couple, were ushers.

Mrs. Kubis attended her daughter's wedding in an aqua nylon crepe dress with black accessories. Mrs. Felderhoff wore a blue crepe dress with tan accessories. Both wore white carnation corsage as did Mrs. Mary Voth and Mrs. Elizabeth Kubis, the bride's grandmothers.

Wedding Day Festivities

Festivities on the day's program began with a wedding breakfast, included dinner at noon, a reception and buffet supper and a dance.

Members of the bridal party had breakfast in the home of the bride's parents after the church services. About 40 guests were present for dinner, and some 400 attended the reception and were served a buffet supper at the Kubis home. Throughout the house the bride's colors were used in floral arrangements.

The bride's table was covered with a white linen cloth belonging to her maternal grandmother and held the three tier wedding cake, circled with fern and white cushion mums.

Misses Jeanette Zimmerer of Gainesville and Gerry Kelly of Corpus Christi served the wedding cake. Misses Viola Bezner and Joan Arendt presided at the bride's book.

After a dance in the Lindsay hall the couple will leave on a wedding trip. For traveling the bride chose a beige dress with green accessories. Her corsage will be the orchid she carried at her wedding.

When they return they will make their home two miles west of Gainesville.

Mrs. Felderhoff was born in Lindsay and is a 1950 graduate of Lindsay High school. Mr. Felderhoff was born and reared at Muenster and graduated from Sacred Heart High school. He is employed at Schad and Pulte in Gainesville.

Rev. Edward Devers of Paris spent Wednesday here visiting the Fisher families.

Miss Ernie Zipper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Zipper of Muenster, became the bride of Sgt. James H. Stockman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe H. Stockman of Tulsa, Oklahoma, at 9 a. m. Saturday, August 4, in ceremonies held in St. Joseph's Church in Dallas.

Rev. Walter Arnold officiated at the nuptial mass and performed the double ring ceremony in the presence of relatives and friends of the couple. The church choir and Nancy Quinn, organist, presented the wedding music.

Arrangements of orchid and yellow gladioli adorned the altar before which the couple exchanged vows, and glads and asters in the same colors decorated the communion railings.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was an exquisite picture in a ballerina length gown of imported Chantilly lace over a double layer of French net and satin. The basque bodice was accented with a high-necked yoke of illusion edged with a ruffle of lace. The long sleeves tapered to points over her wrists.

The bride's veil of imported French illusion fell in two tiers from a lace Juliet cap with a border of seed pearls. Her bouquet was a cascade of white orchids and stephanotis, and her jewelry consisted of a single strand of pearls and matching ear rings, gifts from the groom.

Government Plans Are Expensive

When the Economic Planners of England's Labor-Socialist government blithely wasted $100,000,000 of hard-pressed Britain's money on a scheme for growing peanuts in British East Africa, and were obliged last January to publicly admit utter failure, the limit seemed to have been reached on the high cost of bureaucratic bungling. But the facts regarding our own Interior Department's plan for irrigating a small section of Arizona desert land, would suggest that the English Socialists are, after all, only small-time spenders.

The construction cost of our own Economic Planners' Arizona irrigation project, together with its so-called "multi-purpose" trimmings, is to be $708,780,000. But that's just the beginning of what the American taxpayers would have to pay. The Interior Department itself admits that actual cost to the taxpayers, counting interest on the borrowed money necessary to build it, would be $2,784,509,000. That's almost 10 times the total value of all farm lands and buildings in the whole State of Arizona as recorded by the U. S. Census Bureau.

A Fantastic Proposal

The astonishing facts about the Interior Department's "Central Arizona Project" are disclosed in an article by Towner Phelan, distinguished economist, in the July 16 issue of The FREEMAN Magazine. "From the standpoint of costs in relation to expected benefits," he writes, "possibly nothing more fantastic than the Central Arizona Project has ever been proposed."

Mr. Phelan points out that the $2,784,509,000 figure is the Economic Planners' own estimate of the ultimate cost, with interest, and that actually the cost probably would be two or three times this amount — or from $6 to $10 billion. "History shows," he says, "that in most cases the initial cost estimate of a government project is very low, later estimates much higher, and the final cost higher still. The Hoover Commission gives many examples such as the Hungry Horse Project in Montana. It was originally estimated to cost $6.5 million but actually cost $93.5 million.

Passed Senate

Since the bill to authorize the Central Arizona Irrigation Project is now before Congress, and has passed the Senate, it is well that citizens know the facts. They constitute an example of what makes our taxes so high. The project affects every citizen's income for it must be financed with funds borrowed by the government on the strength of the taxpayers' ability to pay. It provides direct benefits for 6,000 Arizona land owners, but only speculative or intangible benefits — if any — for the remainder of the nation's 150,000,000 people.

According to Mr. Phelan's well-documented article, the object is that: Water is to be diverted from the Colorado River to provide irrigation for 152,500 acres of land now being irrigated by a dwindling supply of "ground" water-pumped by private means, and an additional 73,500 acres of desert wasteland. To reach the land to be "rescued" the Colorado's water must first be raised nearly 1,000 feet by pumping, and then transported some 300 miles by canals and pipelines.

Half A Trillion!

More than half the land to be watered by the government's engineering colossus is owned by 420 landowners with 500 acres or more — thus more than half the multi-billion dollar cost would actually be expended for the direct benefit of only 420 farmers. Mr. Phelan estimates that the cost allocated solely to the irrigation phase of the "multi-purpose" project calls for $7,159, of taxpayers money to be spent for each acre of land to be irrigated — on the basis of the government's own estimates. On past performances, this figure likely would be closer to $25,000 per acre.

The writer shows that on a pro-rata basis the Economic Planners are proposing to bring water to the 420 larger farms at an average cost to the taxpayers, counting interest, of $2,118,000 per farm! His article also states significantly that the Central Arizona Project is only one of a batch of such projects officially planned by the Planners at an estimated cost of $57,506,200,000 and which would probably cost $500 billion — half a trillion dollars!

Yes, planning by government Economic Planners comes high! It is bankrupting England and pulling the citizens down to socialized poverty. Must we too become its victims?

The stranger ambled into the farmyard and was greeted by the farmer. The visitor produced his card and remarked: "I'm a government inspector and am entitled to inspect your farm."

Half an hour later the farmer heard screams from his pasture, where the inspector was being chased by a bull. Leaning over the gate as the inspector came by, the farmer cried: "Show him your card, mister — show him your card."

It usually doesn't take long for a man with push to pass the man with a pull.

Sacrifice Is Rooted Deep In Man's Heart

By Bishop Fulton J. Sheen

There is a greater potential for sacrifice in the hearts and minds of men NOW, than at any time in the last four hundred years!

Whence come the devotees of Totalitarianism of the last thirty years, the fanaticism, the burning zeal and the blazing devotedness of Communism, if it be not that these souls have become sick and tired of the milk and water Liberalism that denied there was a Truth worth dying for and therefore one worth LIVING for? Whence came the sacrifice of soldiers in this Korean war, and at a time when we're supposed to have softened by luxury and ease, if it is not because a tremendous reserve for sacrifice is in the depths of their hearts?

World Wants Fire

The world is fed-up with broadmindedness which is cold as a miser's heart and as spineless as a file of sole; it wants to catch fire, to feel the burning heat of its passions and above all to love even to the point of death. "I am come to cast fire on the earth; and what will I, but that it be kindled?"

We of the Faith are often frightened away by the sight of ashes and clinkers in the furnace of the faithless, little suspecting that beneath them are flames that like Paul could enkindle a world, and like Magdalen set fire to penitential hearts.

What greater proof is there of this, than the fact that when these modern pagans receive the gift of Faith, they often surpass us in self-denial and therefore love of God. In some instances what keeps them back is a want of correspondence on our part between light and heat, or the divorce between our knowledge of Divine Truth and the self-renouncing love which that Truth should inspire.

Approach To Men

It is our studied belief that many weary souls in the world would come to God, if we presented the faith to them the hard way instead of the easy way, that is by an appeal to self-sacrifice. "If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow me."

Yes, there is a greater readiness for sacrifice on the part of modern minds than even members of Christ's Mystical Body perceive. Perhaps, some of us shrink from that appeal, not because we fear they would not understand it, but because we are not sufficiently mortified ourselves.

How we would be surprised at the favorable reaction from the modern man if we showed him the pressed Hands and Feet of Christ and asked: "How did They get that way?"

† Factual Information Service, Washington 17, D. C.

The armed forces are now employing one civilian for every two men in uniform, according to Senator Byrd of Virginia. At the peak of World War II, the ratio was one civilian for each five men in uniform. The Senator believes that the military effort would be strengthened if the military establishment saved half a billion dollars by reducing the number of civilians it employs.

The district attorney was questioning a Kentucky colonel in court. Unable to shake his testimony, he tried sarcasm.

"They call you colonel," he sneered. "In what regiment are you a colonel?"

"Well," drawled the colonel, "It's like this. The 'Colonel' in front of my name is like the 'Honorable' in front of yours. It doesn't mean a thing."

Cutting Red Tape

Best free enterprise story we've heard lately concerns Corporal Tomberlin of the 1st Marine Division.

Needing replacement parts for the lubricating equipment with which he serviced his outfit's motorized equipment, he wrote from Seoul direct to the manufacturer, The Aro Equipment Corporation, Bryan, Ohio.

"Please send me such-and-such a part. I'll pay for it myself —"

Aro had the part on its way to him air mail within 4 hours.

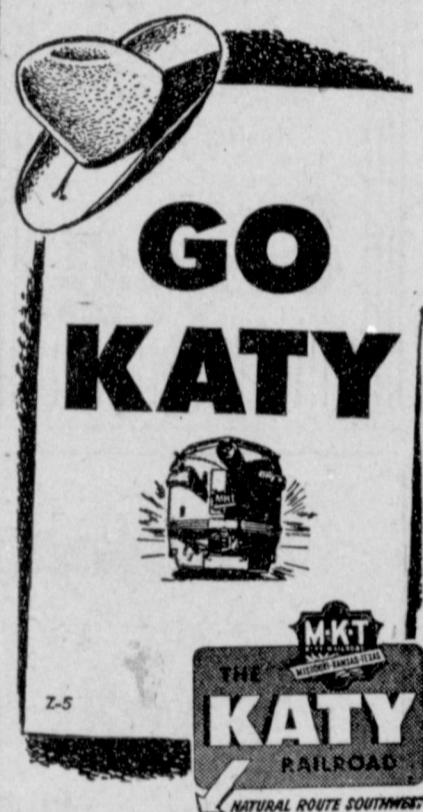

In return they got a chatty letter:

"Thanks a million for the parts. . . . The fellows all thought it was swell of you and the company. . . . The weather is hell now — snow, mud, ice. We are camped in a river bed so the wind has a good blast at us."

Although the company had specifically stated that the parts were sent without charge, Corporal Tomberline enclosed a Korean bank note for 100 won, inscribed with good luck wishes from seven members of Motor Section 4-11-S.

Hostess: "Our dog is just like one of the family."

Gas Company Ups Industrial Price

Industrial customers of the Lone Star Gas Company in September will begin paying an additional nine-tenths of one cent for each thousand cubic feet of natural gas used.

The increased cost of gas service will affect more than 3,000 industrial and manufacturing plants and large consumers throughout the Lone Star system in Texas.

M. L. Bird, operating manager for the company's general division of distribution, has sent letters to industrial customers in this area advising of the additional cost and pointing out that the rate hike became necessary after a gathering tax was imposed on the gas industry by the Texas Legislature at its 1951 session.

"In accordance with the provisions of our contract with you covering industrial gas service," Mr. Bird stated, "this tax will be added to your gas bill starting with our September, 1951, billing."

McFarlane States Platform in Race For Congressman

GRAHAM, TEXAS. — W. D. McFarlane opened his candidacy for Congress, in the special election to be held September 8, in his home town, Graham, Saturday evening, August 4, speaking to a large and enthusiastic crowd on the Courthouse lawn. He was introduced by John J. Gallaher, prominent Graham businessman and former mayor. Mr. Gallaher cited Mr. McFarlane's record of service which includes eight years in the House and Senate of Texas and six years in the United States Congress, his outstanding legal career, and his proved ability to render to the people of this district honest, efficient service. He added to this the pride and esteem with which Bill McFarlane is held by those in Graham, his hometown for thirty years.

Mr. McFarlane, expressing his deep appreciation for the honor paid him on opening his campaign, by his hometown, stressed that he has "always been a candidate on my record of service rendered and not on the demerits of any other candidate, and in this campaign I hope to keep the discussion strictly upon the issues now pending solution before the people. I have voted consistently for what I believe to be right, whether or not it agreed with the administration program.

"The platform upon which I ask the privilege of representing the people of this district is as follows:

1. National Defense: I have always favored a National Defense second to none. As a World War I veteran I became acquainted with our national defense equipment, as a member of the House Naval Affairs and Appropriations Committees I became familiar with and have continued an active interest in the problems confronting the national defense program in Congress.

2. Agriculture: I have always favored parity for farm and ranch products. We should continue the program of assistance to the farm, including soil conservation, rural electrification and cost of production plus a reasonable profit on all agricultural products. We should continue to improve federal highway aid for farm-to-market roads.

3. Labor and Management: I have favored fair treatment for labor and management to protect each other's rights. We should now enact such legislation as is desirable to establish a just body of rules to assure free and effective collective bargaining to determine in the public interest the rights of employees and employers and to enable unions to keep their memberships free from communistic influences.

4. Anti-trust laws: I have favored strengthening and intensifying enforcement of anti-trust laws. We should enact legislation providing that violation of our anti-trust laws should be punished on the same basis as violations of other criminal laws. We must stop monopolies, unfair trade practices and unfair competition and give small business an equal opportunity to survive and prosper.

5. Rights of the aged and the veterans: I have always voted for uniform treatment and benefits for veterans, their widows, and orphans. Their rights under law should be made uniform for all wars, including the Korean, which so far has received little consideration by congress. I have voted for the Social Security Act and the corrective amendments to provide $40 per month pensions for the aged. We should now increase old age assistance commensurate with the increased cost of living.

6. States rights free from Federal Domination: I have favored states rights wherever this question has arisen and favor the states' title claim in the submerged lands.

7. Debts and Taxes: As a member of the Appropriations Committee I have favored rigid economics in government spending and have advocated placing of safeguards on administrative agencies and favor reduction of taxes on incomes under $10,000 and more liberal exemptions for each dependent. I have always favored retention of the community property exemptions and depletion allowances, which have been a part of the statutes for many years.

Socialized Medicine: I am opposed to socialized medicine as it exists in England. We should enact legislation that will encourage and provide more doctors, and through insurance programs care for those unable to pay for medical care.

9. Foreign Affairs: Under our bipartisan foreign policy we won World War II and have been winning the cold war against communistic hostility whenever and wherever it has shown its ugly head. We should continue to strive for preparedness, not weakness; collective security, not isolation; our people everywhere want peace, not war.

10. Price and wage controls: During the Korean situation and any other war emergency when our government is purchasing tremendous war supplies we should immediately have price and wage controls to protect consumers against the perils of inflation.

Because the last three republican administrations followed their fundamental policy and principles that government exists for the benefit of the privileged few they wrecked our governmental economy. In this campaign it has been charged and not denied that the Republican National Committee has a hand in Wichita Falls directing the republican candidate's campaign in this district, to try to win this race and thus lead us back down the road of Hoover's prosperity into an economic state of collapse. In 1932 the Democrats were entrusted with the responsibility of correcting these wrongs which under republican neglect of the people's rights had blighted their hopes, had squandered the fruits of prosperity and had plunged the nation into the depths of our worst depression and despair.

You remember these chaotic conditions confronting the nation back in 1932. Cotton was selling at 5 cents per pound, corn at 10 cents per bushel, wheat at 25 cents per bushel, cattle at 3 cents per pound on the hoof, crude oil at ten cents per barrel and all other products in proportion. Our nation was staggering under the heavy load of poverty, unemployment, and want. Farms and homes were being foreclosed by the thousands, and farm products were rotting in the fields for lack of a market and buying power to purchase them. Fifteen million men were unemployed. Factories were closed; banks were broke. The whirlwind of hunger and starvation howled through the empty streets and vacant building throughout the land.

It was at this time and under these conditions that you good people elected me to Congress to right these wrongs perpetrated by these three republican administrations. The above program and platform upon which I now ask your support is the record I made as your representative in Congress.

The current points covered on Foreign Affairs, socialized medicine, and price and wage controls now pending before congress are the only subjects not covered in my legislative record of service already rendered in your behalf. Consequently, I now bring you a record of service rendered upon which I ask your support. My legislative record is a public record and is open for your inspection. It is a record of doing that which is right for the masses of the people, not mere empty promises now being made to secure your vote. I am the only candidate in this race who brings you such a record of honest, efficient congressional service made in your behalf. This record of service clearly shows I am well qualified to fulfill the duties and responsibilities of this office now. It would take a new man several years to learn the duties and responsibilities of this important office before he would be well qualified to efficiently perform them. The six years seniority I now have in Congress would be of great

Can Tornado Be Destroyed by Bomb?

STILLWATER, OKLA.— Dr. H. Jones, Oklahoma A. & M. College scientist, says it may be possible to "bomb" tornado formations out of existence before the twisters have a chance to hit the ground.

He said large airplanes, possibly of the B-36 type, will be needed to fly into storm areas where tornados are brewing to release aerial bombs.

Jones and his assistants are devising radar and other electronic gadgets to enable weathermen to determine in advance when conditions are ripe for tornados.

The Oklahoma City Weather Bureau and the Air Force weather station at Tinker Air Force Base, near Oklahoma City, are co-operating in the projects.

"There isn't any doubt about it," Jones said. "We can spot a tornado cloud, probably as far as 200 miles away, long before it becomes dangerous."

"I'm convinced that scientific work on cloud seeding, to create artificial rainfall, will point the way to killing tornados."

Patient: "Hey, that wasn't the tooth I wanted pulled!"
Dentist: "Calm yourself. I'm coming to it."

Husband: "Maybe we can figure out what the problem is."

Wife: "I already know what the problem is: it's having too much month left over at the end of the money."

That Something

This country was not built by men who relied on somebody else to take care of them. It was built by men who relied on themselves, who dared to shape their own lives, who had enough courage to blaze new trails — enough confidence in themselves to take the necessary risks.

This self-reliance is our American legacy. It is the secret of "that something" which stamped Americans as Americans. Some call it individual initiative; others backbone. But whatever it is called, it is a precious ingredient in our national character — one which we must not lose. —J. Ollie Edmunds benefit to me as your representative in securing preferred committee assignments not available to any other candidate in this race. This would enable me to render you that much better and more efficient service.

In going to the polls on September 8, I urge you to select your representative in Congress as you would your lawyer, doctor, banker, or place of doing business, which is and should be based upon their ability, integrity, honesty, and efficiency to now render the service in the position involved. On this basis, I urge and request your vote and influence.

Legends Surround 'Lone Wolf' Ranger

Dallas.—When Capt. M. T. (Lone Wolf) Gonzaulas puts his Texas Ranger badge in a bureau drawer for keeps, the state will have lost one of its most colorful law enforcement officers.

After creating legend for 31 years with his smoking six-guns, Lone Wolf is on the threshold of retirement. But memories of his feats will live long in the Ranger ranks.

Four of some 500 guns owned by him bear the inscription "Never draw me without cause, nor shield me with dishonor."

Associates claim he has never violated this code, although "several" outlaws have been felled by lead from his smoking revolvers.

He refuses, however—as always—to discuss any of his individual cases that are legend in the law enforcement world.

He is feared, respected and revered by criminals as well as the elite. Not modest, yet not a braggart, he is Texas' best known peace officer.

The Lone Wolf has been wounded, slashed and beat up various times since he began prowling the Mexican border in the early 1920's for gun smugglers and cattle rustlers. It was in this period that his future. He will divide his time between Hollywood and Dallas associates and the press tacked on him the title of the Lone Wolf. It was given him because of his prowess and ability to apprehend outlaws single handedly.

A sure shot, Capt. Gonzaulas still believes in carrying two guns. "Two will shoot longer than one and in the close fighting a person hardly has time to reload," he avers.

In uniform Capt. Gonzaulas draws his five feet, 10 inch frame into a perfect picture of a typical Texas Ranger. In civilian cloths he resembles a successful insurance man or bank executive.

Capt. Gonzaulas declares he never ran into any trouble as a Ranger that did not arise from his strict enforcement of the law.

"But there are two classes of persons the young law enforcement officer should watch out for," he said. "Watch out for the young kid who doesn't have enough sense to know about danger and the old man who hasn't much time to live and doesn't give a hoot."

The Lone Wolf was born in Spain of American parents who were on a visit to that country at the time. His father was of Spanish extraction and his mother of German. He was brought to the United States at an early age.

"When I first joined the Rangers in 1920, it was the fulfillment of all my boyish dreams and hopes," he said. He has applied his Ranger trade in all sections of the state—from the Mexican border to the Red River. Capt. Gonzaulas came to Dallas to head Company B of the Rangers in 1940.

Although he will lay away his uniform, mild-mannered Ranger Gonzaulas will stay close to his first love. He will become technical consultant for a national radio and television series "Tales of the

Bite Kills Rattler Instead of Victim

SAN ANTONIO —A Kelley Air Force Base civilian employee told Friday of a hunting trip during which a rattlesnake struck his leg, bit him, crawled fifteen feet away, had convulsions and died.

The employee, Demetrio Gomez, suffered no ill effects. He is head of the Kelly plating unit and has handled a great deal of sodium cyanide, a deadly poison used in plating. "My system is so full of it that I've built up a gradual immunity to the poison, but I suppose the snake had not," Gomez said.

The army has enough coffee on hand to supply all the Armed Forces for a full year, according to data uncovered by the House Subcommittee on Executive Expenditures. Army's stockpile amounts to 143,971,000 pounds, the subcommittee found. All the armed forces, it was said use only 12,870,000 pounds of coffee per month.

Spurns Check, Meeting Not Worth Attending

In these days of crime committee investigations and big government spending, we're all glad to learn who can teach the government a lesson in both economy and honesty.

There was a Michigan farmer who received a check for $7.50 from the government for attending a meeting of the Production Marketing Association. Promptly he mailed back the check with the statement that he didn't hear anything at the meeting that he didn't know before he left home. If we had more farmers like that, the government might not spend so much tax money giving meetings that aren't worth attending.

Denton Old Maids Are At It Again

DENTON, TEX., — Denton's Old Maids are at it again.

Their celebration last year for "Old Maid's Day" brought them so much recognition and pleasure that the ladies had their mayor proclaim this Aug. 15 as the second annual "Old Maid's Day" in Denton.

Originator Dorothy Babb, Latin instructor at North Texas State College, and a number of her charter members of the group in Denton, were recipients of thousands of gifts, messages, and courtesies during the month of August last year as the result of the mayor's proclamation for the first celebration.

Members of the citizens' committee, composed of Denton Chamber of Commerce members, merchants, and civic leaders, have made plans already for this year's celebrations. The local theater manager will entertain with a free movie in the evening and a local merchant will entertain the county and area ladies at a tea at the Country Club. Denton County merchants, civic leaders, mayors, Chamber of Commerce officials, bank presidents and college presidents will serve as hosts and "pour tea."

Local florists will provide flowers for the guests at the tea and movie, and merchants will send gifts again this year. Last year's celebration attracted more than 300 spinisters.

Sister M. Helen left Saturday to return to Jonesboro, Ark., after spending two weeks with her parents and being present for a number of family reunions. Sister Gabriel of the parochial school accompanied her. Sister Helen's brother, George Swirczynski and her cousin, Buddy Yosten, took them to Dallas where they boarded their train.

Upper Elm-Red Soil Conservation District News

DISTRICT SUPERVISORS
 J. W. Hess, Muenster      Henry Reynolds, Nocona
 John Rice, Collinsville      Ed Blackmon, Bowie
 Willard Kemplin, Valley View

Every Texas citizen is interested in the splendid, constructive work being done throughout the State in the interest of soil conservation. This work is being done not only by the Soil Conservation Service of the Department of Agriculture and its 58 District Conservationists, but by 825 Soil Conservation District Supervisors, who are assisting in carrying out this program throughout the State. These District Supervisors, who give their services gratis, are now to get recognition for their splendid work. The Texas Bank and Trust Company of Dallas has announced that an annual award, beginning in 1952, is to be presented to the outstanding Soil Conservation District Supervisor in Texas. This award is to be an all-expense trip for the Supervisor and his wife to some chosen area within the United States or its possessions to study soil and water conservation methods.

The winner will be selected through a banker-farmer-rancher tie-up in each district. Each of the 165 districts in Texas has five supervisors, all farmers and ranchers. The districts are grouped into five zones. Each zone has a vice president and four directors, all of whom also are farmers and ranchmen. A soil conservation award committee will be set up in each zone. Committee members will include the zonal vice president and one director, plus three bankers. Banks will be asked to nominate the outstanding supervisor in their districts. These nominations will go to the zone committees which will screen the nominations and send one name from each zone to a State Soil Conservation Award Committee. This Committee then will select the winner. The State Soil Conservation Award Committee will include Claude Jones, Gainesville banker; Paul Walser of Temple, State Soil Conservationist; Clayton Puckett of Ft Stockton, head of the Texas Association of Soil Conservation District Supervisors; Walter Humphrey, editor of the Fort Worth Press; C. M. Caraway of DeLeon, Chairman of the State Soil Conservation Board, and P. B. (Jack) Garrett, President of the Texas Bank and Trust Company of Dallas.

This program is designed to create a better understanding and closer relationship between the banker, farmer and rancher, as crop growing and livestock-raising are still the basis of the Texas economy, despite the outpour of oil and industrial products.

All farmers and ranchers are encouraged to help their supervisors, for the winning of the Award will bring recognition not only to the supervisor, but to the district and zone he represents.

Lindsay News

PFC Herman Sandmann of San Antonio spent Friday to Monday on leave with his parents the Ben Sandmanns.

Sister Alban Bezner who spent the summer in San Antonio is back in Laredo to teach at St. Augustine school.

Sister Christina Flusche who formerly taught at Tours has a new assignment this year. She will teach at Guardian Angel School in Willis, Texas.

Miss Rita Popp joined Miss Leola Weber in Dallas Sunday and they left there by train for a two-week vacation along the eastern seaboard. They will spend about a week in New York City and go from there to Washington, D. C. to visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Neu have returned from a vacation trip to San Antonio where they visited the Charles Rauschubers who joined them on a trip to Corpus Christi and Alice. In Alice they visited in the Gus Schmitt home. They returned home by way of Lampasas where they made a tour of the Long Horn Cavern.

HERMES FAMILIES HAVE REUNION PARTY MONDAY

All members of the Hermes families gathered Monday evening for a reunion and covered dish supper honoring Sister Marcella, the former Rose Hermes, and Sister Josephine Elsie, the former Gertrude Bengfort.

The reunion was held at the Ben Hermes home. Tables were arranged on the lighted lawn. Potted holyanders and shrubbery formed a cool, lovely setting for the occasion.

Present were the honorees and the Ben Sandmanns and family, the Clem Hermes family, the Joe Hermes family, the Joe Bengforts and family, the Julius Hermes family, the Tony Hermes family and the Julius Sandmann family all of Lindsay; the Ted Neu family and Mrs. Martha Neu and children of Gainesville; the Henry Sandmann family of Valley View, the George Bayers and the Edgar Klements and their families of Muenster, the hosts and their family.

Messrs. and Mmes. Joe Bengfort and Norbert Zimmerer took the Sisters to Fort Worth Tuesday night to board a train for San Antonio. They had spent eight days here visiting relatives and friends.

Legumes Sustain Cotton in Drought

An outstanding example of what soil improving legumes such as sweet clover, winter peas or alfalfa will do to increase the fertility and the water holding capacity of soils is seen on the Ted Neu farm five miles south of Gainesville.

CAT WALKER—When a kitten nestles in the paws of a giant dog, why then you can expect almost anything to happen. And so it was no surprise when the door to Southampton's new animal home opened and in walked a cat. The shelter, sponsored by Our Dumb Friends League, apparently attracts not so dumb friends.

Neu, a co-operator of the Upper-Elm Red Soil Conservation district, reports that during the past weeks of hot dry weather his cotton put on fruit and has not "fired" as has the cotton which followed regular crops. This field of cotton followed Austrian peas preceded by a year of oats and Hubam clover. It looks good enough for a half bale per acre right now and is still growing, Mr. Neu said.

This conclusion bears out the results found in a recent infiltration test on the Zimmerer farm by Otto Bynum of the Soil Conservation Service. Land that was in clover in 1950 absorbed water more than 15 times as fast as adjoining land that had not been in clover. The ability of legumes to open up soils so that more water can be stored to carry a crop through hot dry periods is an asset to farmers that should not be overlooked, according to Bynum.

Father Leo Koesler Gets Doctor Degree

Father Leo visited his parents, the Alfons Koeslers, here last week before going to Dallas where he will assist with duties at Blessed Sacrament church during August.

TWO SHARE HONORS AT PRE-NUPTIAL SHOWER

Misses Mary Elizabeth Kubis and Joan Arendt shared honors at a miscellaneous shower and party at Lindsay Thursday evening.

Members of the Blessed Virgin Sodality were hostesses for the affair complimenting the brides-to-be. Miss Kubis was married this week, Thursday, to A. J. Felderhoff of Muenster and Miss Arendt will become the bride of Albert Bauer Jr. of LaFeria on August 30.

Twenty-four guests attended the party in the school lunch room.

Game prizes were won by Annabelle Metzler, Louise Ann Fuhrman, Elfrieda Block and Dorothy Mae Nortman who presented them to the honorees.

Shower gifts included a statue of the Blessed Virgin for each honoree given by the sodality.

The serving of ice cream, cake and cold drinks concluded the party.

Before you flare up at anyone's faults, take time to count ten — ten of your own.

Confetti---

president said that wiping out slaughter quotas on beef will "encourage the return of the black market." How? If legitimate packers are permitted to sell all the beef they wish through legitimate channels why will there be any need for anyone to buy the higher priced black market meat? As we understand it, controls are more likely to cause black markets. As we remember it, the only black market the country has had was during controls.

Likewise he states that removing ceilings will cause prices to skyrocket. But economists say inventories are bulging and the old law of supply and demand is handling the situation very well. Even now things sell below ceiling prices. Competition takes care of that. We don't have to worry about inflation caused by business.

But we do have to worry, and plenty, about another source of inflation . . . the government. Right now a raise of $400 a year is being considered for most federal workers. Consider that along with the fact that the government averages adding on 1,000 new workers every day. Then figure in the additional billions of dollars being spent needlessly. If the government is really interested in checking inflation it had better consider another type of control . . . the control of government spending.

You can send a message around the world in one-seventh of a second, but it may take years to force a simple idea through a quarter-inch of human skull.
