Field Crops Okay But Fruit Damaged By Late Cold Wave

A news item from Austin says that the University of Texas will suspend for the summer session its restriction on the possession and maintenance of automobiles by freshman students. It adds however, that the ban will be in effect again during the regular school term next year and that it will apply to both freshmen and sophomores whose homes are not in Travis County. The reason for denying students the privilege of having a car at school is two-fold, according to the administration. It improves scholarship and it relieves the traffic situation.

The first of those reasons could be considered to advantage by any other people who are concerned with education, including parents as well as faculty members. Here is a frank admission that a car becomes a scholastic handicap if it is available any time a student wants to use it. Besides being a distraction in itself a car multiplies opportunities to take part in other activities which take the time and interest needed for good scholastic work. It seems to indicate that parents do their kids a greater favor when they do not allow them to have cars at college. It also seems to indicate that many high school grades could be improved by more restrictions on use of the family car.

For an ultimate in hypocrisy nothing can top former Russian Premier Malenkov's current smiling and hand-shaking tour of England. And, for stupidity nothing can top the official hospitality being shown this apostle of international treachery and gangsterism by the big shots of Britain. This character brazenly ambles about oozing with pretended friendship at the very time his mob is engaged in a war with his host country.

It has been proved beyond a doubt that current troubles in Cyprus, Jordan and Egypt are inspired and financed by communism. Likewise the reds are promoting the friction in Algeria. They continue, as they have for years, to infiltrate the governments of France and Italy. Every one of those activities is an indisputable strategic maneuver in the long range war by which communists plan eventually to take over all of the world.

People who don't recognize the communist program for what it is should by all means read David Lawrence's editorial in this week's issue of US News and World Report. He presents today's shocking world situation in simple concise words which leave no doubt whatever that the red conquest is moving forward as relentlessly today as it did while it was gobbling up the Balkans, the Baltic States, East Germany and China.

Every one of the present developments weakens the Western alliance as surely as if some of its manpower or certain strategic positions were wiped out in battle. Trouble on Cyprus certainly nullifies, its value as an air base. Diversion of French and British troops to cope with colonial troubles leaves the home land more vulnerable besides putting a strain on the nation's economy.

Even in this country we are not free from the evil influence of Moscow. Spies reveal our secrets and sabotage our government. Trouble makers provoke racial and economic strife. Reds and pinks parrot the Russian line to lull us into a false sense of security while the treachery goes on all over the world.

The editorial by Lawrence is one that should be read and re-read by every person in the country, especially those who have a hand in guiding its destiny, until every one of the vital facts is understood in its true perspective. It's time we became aware that the enemy is not fooling around, and that we are risking extinction by our present fooling around.

Precious time and advantage has already been fizzled away. The longer we wait the harder it will be to avoid defeat. It's high time to be realistic and begin launching a counter offensive of the same nature Russia has directed at us for years.

What can be done? We can improve conditions here tremendously by rounding up all the reds on the FBI list . . . and lowering the boom on them. In doing (Continued on Page 19)

Present indications are that last week's cold wave had no ill effects on field crops but it probably wiped out all the early blooming fruit along with tender flowers and vegetables.

In passing on that opinion Wednesday members of the Muenster SCS work unit said they were basing the statement on their own observations and also on reports from farmers of the area.

Several persons who have examined fruit buds believe that the early blooming varieties are gone even though some blooms still show a fairly bright color. However, varieties that were not in bloom before the freeze are generally believed to be all right.

Grain crops are recovering nicely from the mild nipping. Limp black blades found on practically all fields a week ago have been replaced by bright, healthy growth.

One factor contributing to the recovery was about a third of an inch of moisture coming with the cold wave. It's effect was apparent as soon as the weather moderated.

Louis Bromfield, Noted Author, Dies; Was Here in 1944

Louis Bromfield, 59, Pulitzer prize-winning author as well as a noted lecturer and champion of soil conservation died Sunday night in a Columbus, O., hospital of an illness caused by liver and kidney failure. He had been in the hospital since Feb. 28.

The nationally and internationally famous author is vividly remembered in Muenster from his visit on March 29, 1944. A lecture schedule took him to Dallas and Fort Worth on the 28th and he was due to speak in Denton the following evening. He took that opportunity to spend several hours here checking on reports he had heard on Muenster's record of progress through cooperation and conservation.

With very short advance notice of Bromfield's visit Mayor J. M. Weinzapfel arranged a luncheon and invited a group of civic leaders and conservationists along with several visitors from Gainesville for the event. Bromfield's address featured the luncheon.

To conservationists Bromfield is best known for his soil building achievement on Malabar Farm. He bought four adjoining worn-out farms, combined them into a single unit, then applied scientific farming and conservation in developing it into one of the most famous model farms of the nation.

Changes in Holy Week Ceremonies Restore Early Church Observance

This year, for the first time since the early days of the Church, Catholics all over the world will observe the sacred drama of the Redemption in a manner which harmonizes more closely in time and in ritual with events of the first Holy Week.

Principal changes in the revised service, as announced for Sacred Heart Church, include a change in the Palm Sunday ceremony, and changes in both time and liturgy for services on Holy Thursday, Good Friday, Holy Saturday and Easter Sunday.

The decision to make these changes in Holy Week services in the Catholic Church was officially announced in Rome on November 16, 1955, along with an explanation that the restored order is intended primarily to help the faithful relive the sacred events of Christ's passion, death and resurrection.

It is referred to as the restored holy week because it revives the original church custom of observing the sacred events on same hours and days on which they occurred. A solemn Mass Thursday evening celebrated the Lord's Supper and the institution of the Holy Eucharist. Ceremonies Friday afternoon recalled the Lord's passion and death. And a holy vigil Saturday night led into the triumphant Resurrection service early Sunday morning.

For various reasons during the middle ages those services were transferred to the morning hours. Out of their proper time setting they lost much of their significance. Another factor also contributes to the restoration. In early days Thursday, Friday and Saturday of holy week had been holy days (Continued on Page 2)

NEWS OF SICK AND INJURED

Mrs. Theo Miller is recovering normally in St. Joseph's hospital, Fort Worth from surgery last Friday. She expects to remain there another week then move to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Stan Yosten, for a while before returning to Muenster. She has enjoyed frequent visits from home folks as well as former Muenster personnel on the hospital staff, including several nurses and student nurses and Dr. Monte Hellman.

A call to Spahn Hospital, Corpus Christi, this week by Father Louis revealed that Father Cyril received considerably more than just treatment, as he expected. Father Cyril underwent major surgery shortly after his arrival. The report then was that he is recovering normally but will remain in the hospital until after Easter. Father Louis will continue as relief pastor at Windthorst until Father Cyril returns.

Miss Agnes Esker returned home Wednesday from St. Paul's Hospital, Dallas, feeling much better and apparently on the road to recovery. She is able now to divide her time between a bed and a chair. Miss Esker has had a total of eight weeks of treatment, two at Gainesville, then six at Dallas. Mrs. Arthur Endres and Mrs. Al Horn made the trip to bring her home.

Denis Hess, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Hess returned to Baylor Hospital Thursday for plastic surgery on his ear Friday. He is due to remain there several days before returning home. Meanwhile he would appreciate cards addressed to him at Children's Ward, Baylor Hospital, Dallas, Texas.

Pastors Announce Parish Schedule For Holy Week

Muenster Hi Band Wins Top Trophy At Music Festival

The Muenster High School band, directed by Jimmy Harris, have a handsome trophy in recognition of winning top honors in the Class B division of a band festival in Jacksboro last Friday.

Muenster's was the only band in the Class B division to receive a 1-A rating in both concert music and sight reading. When returning to Jacksboro for the trophy Saturday Harris was told that his charges likely would have ranked high in another division also had they entered Class A or AA competition.

The trophy measures 16 inches and has a hoop topping a pedestal which is inscribed "Jacksboro Band Festival" and leaves space for the winner's inscription. It is now in the school's trophy case.

Holy Week Service - - of obligation, but since 1642 the faithful have not been required to go to church. Because of business as usual at most places during holy week the solemn liturgical services have been very poorly attended. The restoration now brings services back to an hour when people can find the time to attend.

The changes in the restored holy week begin with Palm Sunday, however the difference on that day is in ceremony only. The service is still held in the morning. Increased emphasis on the ritual commemorating Christ's glorious entry into Jerusalem constitutes the principal change here. A procession in which people and priests carry newly blessed palms demonstrates loyalty and devotion to Christ the King. In order to give more time to the procession the ceremony of blessing palms and some parts of the mass have been shortened. During the procession the priest wears red vestments but before Mass he changes to purple to symbolize the sadness that followed the great joy of the day.

Holy Thursday, the feast of the institution of the Blessed Eucharist, will be celebrated at a time more closely coinciding with the hour of the Last Supper, beginning between 5 and 8 p.m. Only the bishop of a diocese has a Mass on the morning of Holy Thursday, the Mass at which he blesses the holy oils to be used in the administration of sacraments in the diocese for the coming year. All other Masses are to be in the evening. An added feature of the evening Mass, wherever practicable, is a re-enactment of the Gospel narration pertaining to the washing of feet. The faithful also receive Holy Communion, from freshly consecrated ciborium during that Mass. Hosts that remain are carried in procession to the church repository where the faithful will adore the Lord during the night hours.

Persons wishing to receive Holy Communion are reminded of the church's new regulations for the Eucharistic fast. No alcoholic drinks that day (except beer or wine are permissible with meals), no solid foods for three hours, no liquid foods for one hour. Water may be taken any time before communion.

The Good Friday observance no longer has a liturgical service in the morning. It has been shifted to the afternoon to coincide more closely with the time of Christ's death on the cross. Principal parts of the ceremony are chanting the Passion of Christ according to St. John, prayers directing solemn petition to God, the adoration of Christ on the Cross, and Communion following the return of Sacred Hosts from the repository in which they had been placed the night before. Again, those receiving are governed by the new regulations for the Eucharistic fast.

Holy Saturday, the vigil of the Resurrection, likewise has no morning services, nor does it have a Mass. Restoration of this feast's prayer observance has, in effect, postponed the liturgical celebration of Easter to its proper time. In the past the Resurrec-

Floradell Endres
And Ft. Worth Man
Will Wed in June

The engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Floradell Endres, now living in Fort Worth, to Eugene H. LaGessee Jr. of that city was announced this week by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy R. Endres.

The wedding has been set for June 9 at 7 p.m. in Sacred Heart Church with Father Louis Deuster officiating at the ceremony and also celebrating the Nuptial Mass.

Mrs. R. D. Cogburn, a friend, of Fort Worth will be matron of honor and Philip LaGessee will attend his brother as best man.

Other attendants to the bride will be Miss Cana Wilburn of Amarillo, Miss Julia Ann LaGessee of Fort Worth and Miss Dianne Endres of Muenster. Other attendants to the groom will be Hugh Endres of Albuquerque, N.M., David Endres of Memphis, Tenn., and Jerry Endres of Muenster.

Miss Endres, employed at the Jefferson Life Insurance Co. of Fort Worth is a 1952 graduate of Sacred Heart High School. Mr. LaGessee, a sophomore at Arlington State College, graduated in 1947 from Lanier High School of Fort Worth and has spent four years in the U.S. Navy since then.

The significant feature of Holy Saturday is the vigil service which continues until the Mass of the Resurrection beginning at midnight. It begins outside of church with kindling and blessing a new fire from which the Easter candle is lit. The Easter candle, symbolizing Christ, the Light of the World is first blessed, engraved and studded with five grains of incense. The lighted candle is then carried into church with the faithful following. Other ceremonies in the vigil are readings from the Old Testament relative to the Redemption, the Litany of the Saints, blessing of Baptismal water and renewal of Baptismal vows.

Mrs. Ed Cler and Mrs. Herman Fette were joined by Mrs. J. E. Stewart of Gainesville for a trip to Sherman Monday.

Homemaking Hints

by Mrs. H. H. Homsley

Certain foods will blacken silver, eggs for instance, but dunk the soiled forks and spoons in cold water until you're ready to do the dishes. Never soak silver any length of time, it will get spotty.

When you put silver away, put it somewhere else than in the kitchen. Tarnish comes from gas, so if you have that kind of stove, keep your silver out of possible harms way by storing it in the dining room or living room. Never put a rubber band around silver, even if it is in a plastic or tarnish proof bag; it will turn black right through its covering. Another storage tip worth taking: line drawers with tarnish-preventive cloth. The same cloth, made into bags, can do ounce-of-prevention duty in storing halloware.

An apple corer is an excellent tool to use for taking up and transplanting tiny plants.

Place your roll of shelf paper in an empty foil carton of similar width. Paper can be torn off evenly on the cutting edge.

Spices may be used individually, also in combinations, or blends. A little nutmeg on vanilla ice cream, whipped cream, or puddings yields an exciting, new flavor and garnish.

Many excellent spice blends are packaged commercially to save the homemakers time and expense, curry powder may contain up to 18 spices, mixed pickling spice a dozen or more.

Mixed pickling spice is a blend of whole spices. Tie one teaspoon in a piece of cheesecloth, and drop into two or three pounds of stew. Remove when properly flavored.

Have you ever wondered how famous chefs get such wonderful color in their fried dishes?

They sprinkle the food with paprika before frying. Try it the next time you fry potatoes, fish or poultry.

Rub a chicken inside and out with a mixture of 1 teaspoon ginger and 2 teaspoons butter, before roasting or broiling to improve the flavor.

CAN COMMUNISM BE STOPPED?

In a Western City recently the Federal Bureau of Investigation trapped and took into custody another "Public Enemy," a gangster notorious for his record of crime. The FBI had tracked him down relentlessly, with the fullest backing of the American people. The gangster was a "lone wolf"; he always worked alone. He was a "Public Enemy" because of his criminal record and the fact that every day he remained at large he was a threat to the life and property of at least a few individual citizens.

In the eyes of the American people this gunman was an outlaw. His deeds might not have affected more than a half-dozen lives in his lifetime. But the only common-sense way to handle an outlaw threatening the safety of even a half-dozen people is to take him out of circulation . . . outlaw him. The American people agree on this. They understand the nature of a hardened criminal.

Incredible Attitude

Yet there is a great criminal conspiracy at work in America dedicated irrevocably to the destruction of everything we all hold dear, and we are permitting its thousands of highly trained agents all the freedom they need to carry out their missions. In addition, we are according the leaders of this world-wide conspiracy courtesies, social pleasantries and even gestures of public respect. On the basis of irrefutable facts our present relationship with this monstrous organization of gangsters is incredible; it doesn't make sense.

Communism is not likely to be stopped until the decent, free people of the world recognize its true nature and its uncompromising objectives and get to work immediately outlawing it, and firmly resisting its advance. The cunning leaders of international Communism know that the people of the world would do just that if they realized the full truth of Communism's nature and its aims. So they have conducted a world-wide propaganda campaign to confuse the minds of people and capitalize on normal human apathy.

Too Unpleasant

The normal human aversion to thinking about unpleasant things helps the Communists. Even when the truth about Communism begins to come through to people it is normal for them to banish the whole thing from their thoughts. In last week's column, the facts presented showed that if World Communism continues the rate of growth of the last 10 years, it will have the whole world at its mercy within another 10 years. Yet many people will shut their eyes to this fact. It's too unpleasant to accept.

In the March 5 issue of TIME Magazine are these facts about the nature of Communism: "Foreign specialists, carefully sifting reports from refugees and other sources, estimate that at least 20 million Chinese have been (slaughtered, murdered) deprived of existence. This does not include 23 million believed to be held in forced labor camps. These are figures that stagger the imagination. In no previous war, revolution, or human holocaust, either in the days of Tamerlane or in the time of Hitler, have so many people been destroyed in so short a period."

A Grave Question

The magazine continues: "Because it is hard for the mind to visualize so vast a slaughter in human terms, the Communists have been able to reap an advantage from the very size of their funeral pyre: many Westerns (Note: that's us), finding the monstrous incredible, cannot see the blood on the hand of pretended friendship proffered by Chinese Communist Leader Mao Tse-tung." Although the TIME article shows photographs of citizens being machine-gunned to death by the Communist political police, many Americans will be disbelieving, many will turn their head and shut out this horrible truth.

Since the end of World War II, the free world has given up 693 million people and six million square miles of territory in 23 countries. And yet the agents of this colossal force, here to undermine America's strength and prepare it for destruction, are allowed to work freely; and we give its leaders, and thus indirectly its evil nature, the prestige of acceptance. When will the citizens of America wake up? Will it be in time to save all mankind from enslavement under the heel of these international gangsters?

The Man Who Didn't Ask Why

by Rev. Hugh Calkins, author and lecturer

HOW CAN a good God allow so much suffering in the world? This is a question people continually ask. And on Good Friday we get the answer. Christ, willingly tortured by pain, shows us that suffering isn't meaningless, that it can be a blessing and not a curse.

Suffering offered to God to make up for our sins, offered to Him for the sins of others, accepted as God's will and borne for love of Him — this is how Christ who was both God and man gave meaning to pain.

SUFFERING CAN also be a key opening our souls to God, for it can make us aware of our need for Him. But too often suffering is a bolt locking Him out of our souls, for we fight against Christ and His Father for sending pain.

Then too, so many of us endure pain like Stoics. You know, the grin and bear it routine — instead of bearing it for God. And often we lose rich results from suffering because we waste hours analyzing why this happened to us, instead of accepting it as something God wants us to accept.

MANY TIMES we fritter pre-ous pain away by blaming it all on other people. We forget that nothing happens except with God's permission, and that whatever God permits is for our good in some way.

When suffering comes it is easy to call God cruel. Yet we know sinful man produced Original Sin from which all other evils flow. What is true of the human race is true of each of us. We bring on our own crosses in many cases. Serious sins, foolish actions, stubborn self-will, laziness, mad pursuit of false goals — these create much of our loneliness, boredom and satiety.

PAIN ALWAYS remains pain, of course, no matter how lofty our motives for accepting and bearing with it. If we get too used to suffering, it would no longer be suffering. Our human nature revolts against it always.

We can't help feeling revolted by pain. But if we didn't dislike it, if it didn't bother us, there would be no sacrifice to offer to God.

GOD REWARDS us for patiently bearing suffering. He understands our difficulty. Accept in painful darkness whatever He sends you. Remember how Christ suffered without asking "Why?" And suddenly the darkness of your Good Friday will turn into an Easter Dawn.

The boy had shown such ignorance and mental obtuseness that the teacher was disheartened. She finally asked sarcastically: "Do you know whether George Washington was a soldier or a sailor?"

"He was a soldier," answered the urchin, promptly.

"How do you know that?" she persisted.

"Cause I saw a picture of him crossing the Delaware, an' any sailor'd know enough not to stand up in the boat!"

"What's your complaint against the banking business?"

"They lend you all the money you want as long as you can prove you don't need it."

For A Neater Nation

The man who wrote, "Let me live in my house by the side of the road, And be a friend to man," probably resided miles from the nearest highway. At least, it's reasonable to believe he never had to rake up the lunch papers and bottles and cans and candy wrappers and partly-eaten sandwiches from his front yard, and pick the used match-books, punctured balloons, empty cigarette packages and assorted cellophane out of his hedge.

And if he had owned vacant property "by the side of the road," especially if it had a few trees on it, the accumulation of picnic trash, newspapers, old tires, even a junked car or two would definitely have deprived us of his touching poem.

But Keep America Beautiful, Inc., a non-profit corporation organized about two years ago to restore this poetic faith in our fellow man — and to clean up our highways and byways, our beaches, picnic grounds and sylvan dells, and keep them clean — is swinging into action on a wide front.

Associated with KAB in a nationwide drive against litterbugs are 36 influential, energetic national organizations, including the 4-H Clubs, National Grange, The American Legion, Boys' Clubs of America, the Boy Scouts, the Campfire girls and the National Clean-Up, Paint-Up, Bureau, National Council of State Garden Clubs, the US Chamber of Commerce, the Jaycees, National Recreation Association as well as appropriate US Government departments.

And cooperating with KAB in newly inspired drives against litterbugs, are the enforcement agencies of the various states where anti-litter laws, calling for stiff fines and even jail terms, have long been on the books but until recently have received scant or inadequate attention. As of now, state, county and city police, justices and judges are pretty well agreed that motorists will Keep America Beautiful — or else!

It is the popular supposition that nice people (like you) are not litterbugs, and that people who strew trash in their wake are definitely not nice. But the sad fact is that all of us are litterbugs — to a greater or lesser extent. And let him who never threw a matchbook or a chewing gum wrapper out of a car window speak up in protest! In fact, he can write to Keep America Beautiful, Inc., at 99 Park Avenue, New York 17, N.Y., and they will probably strike off a medal for him!

As for how NOT to be a litterbug, here are KAB's rules: Dispose of your trash in a proper receptacle — wherever you are. (If there isn't any, keep the trash till you find one.) Urge your community to provide plenty of such receptacles — conveniently located. Carry a litterbag in your car. Encourage local anti-litter programs. Set a good example to the youngsters — yours and others.

And do NOT, as the poet says, "... sit in the scorners' seat, Or hurl the cynic's ban" — or anything else out of your window.

Commissioner Harry J. Anslinger of the Federal Narcotics Bureau estimates the nationwide total of drug addicts at about 60,000. Anslinger says his agents can spot a drug addict a mile off. "They have a peculiar shuffle when they walk. Their eyes have a frozen stare with a pinpoint pupil, and they freeze at whatever they're looking at as though they were in a dream. They don't care about eating, but when they do, they just eat sweets. And Lord knows why, but they always have a lot of old paper stuck in their pockets."

The Narcotics Bureau, in a pamphlet entitled, "The Truth About Drug Addiction," adds this note: "The idea that an addict takes dope just to feel good is a mistake. He takes it to head off, for a little while, the horrible effects which he feels when he doesn't have the drug."

Learn to Recognize The "Signs of Life"

Urging motorists to learn the Signs of Life by shape so that they may immediately recognize them on sight, the Texas Safety Association describes six traffic signs as follows:

1. Octagon . . . red with white lettering. It means come to a full stop and make sure the way is clear before proceeding. This is a revision of the older stop sign painted yellow with black lettering, but the meaning remains the same.

2. Triangle . . . yellow with black lettering reading "Yield Right of Way." It signifies slow down or stop to give right of way to cross traffic at intersections.

3. Rectangle . . . white with lettering in black or another color. This sign indicates traffic laws concerning parking restriction, speed limits, turning and passing regulations, etc.

4. Round . . . yellow with "X" and "RR" in black lettering. It warns of a highway-railroad crossing some 300 to 500 feet ahead.

5. Diamond . . . yellow with black lettering. This sign warns of dangerous or unusual conditions ahead such as curves, side roads, intersections, hill, dips, bumps, school zones, etc.

6. Crossbuck . . . tall white railroad sign with black lettering. It is usually placed within 15 feet of a highway-railroad crossing.

Don't Say Housewife
LINCOLN, Neb. — Nebraska Farm Bureau Official Bernie Camp suggested Thursday that the word "housewife" be stricken from the dictionary.

Child Earning $600 Or More Must File Income Tax Return

The many inquiries received indicates that there is a misunderstanding regarding the taxpayer status of dependent children earning $600 or more, H. P. Moore of Internal Revenue Service in Fort Worth announced today.

"A child earning $600 or more qualifies as a taxpayer and must file a return and pay any tax due. This is true whether the parent claims the child as a dependent or not. Parents are responsible for the tax due from minors," Mr. Moore said.

"Parents may claim the dependency deduction for a child earning $600 or more under certain conditions. The parent must furnish more than half the support of the child to qualify the child as a dependent. The child must be under 19 years of age, or if 19 or over must meet the qualifications of a student. A student must attend a full-time school during at least five months of the calendar year. Such schools include only institutions with a regular faculty and student body and do not include correspondence schools, night schools and employer training schools.

"For example, a child 21 attended a college as a full-time student during 1955 and earned $720 which he used for school expenses. The father spent $850 for the child's support. The child is required to file an income tax return and pay tax due on the above earnings. The father can claim the child as a dependent on his return since he contributed over half to the child's support. A child earning less than $600 who has had tax withheld should file a return so that the tax withheld may be refunded to him," Mr. Moore said.

Cuts Work and Handling Costs Improves Milk Quality —

- DARI-KOOL MEETS ALL 3-A SANITARY STANDARDS
- ... Cools Faster
 - ... Easier Cleaning
 - ... Ready to Operate
 - ... Complete Service Available
 - ... Milk Cannot Freeze
 - ... Stainless Steel Tank
 - ... Lower Bacteria Count

The DARI-KOOL will pay for itself in use.

HERE'S HOW...

The cost of hauling milk in cans is 40 cents per 100 pounds as compared with 25 cents per 100 pounds for hauling tank milk, thus a saving of 15 cents per hundred.

Elimination of wastage of milk spilled or left in the can at the plant is 7 cents per 100 pounds.

Improved butterfat test gained by selling all the cream instead of leaving some of it sticking to the can and lid account for another 6 cents per hundred.

THIS GIVES A TOTAL SAVING OF 28 CENTS FOR EACH 100 POUNDS OF MILK HANDLED. THIS 28-CENT A HUNDRED SAVING WILL PAY FOR YOUR DARI-KOOL.

A producer with an average of 10 cans of milk (86 pounds each) a day will sell 25,800 pounds per month. At 28 cents per hundred saving, he will be ahead by $72.24 each month.

The approximate cost of a 250-gallon tank installed is $2,400 with interest of $216 for a total of $2,616. This can be divided into 36 monthly installments of $72.11 each. THUS YOUR SAVINGS MAKE YOUR PAYMENTS FOR YOU. This estimate is without down payment or trade-in, which would cut the principal and monthly payment substantially.

Soil Conservation Notes

Spring is officially here and landowners cooperating with the Upper Elm-Red Soil Conservation District in the Muenster-Saint Jo Area are busy getting soil protecting grasses and legumes in the ground.

Nursery plantings of Coastal Bermuda grass are still being planted by landowners throughout the area. These small base plantings of this improved, fast growing hybrid Bermuda will be used to furnish a root source for additional plantings in future years.

Clifford Hudspeth has planted five acres of Coastal Bermuda grass on his farm near Forestburg. He used the District's two row sprigging machine to put the roots and fertilizer in the ground.

T. F. McKenzie of Myra has planted Coastal on an area to be used as an outlet for a diversion terrace. The waterway will carry the terrace water safely to a natural drain and so protect the bottomland field.

Fred Hennigan of Muenster and Mac Kirk of Freemound have planted nursery plots to this improved Bermuda grass. They plan to grow their own roots in order to get the grass started on most of their pasture land.

The coming of spring also brings out the District owned grass planting machines to sow the very popular King Ranch Bluestem grass. KR Bluestem is widely used as a pasture grass. It is a deep rooted bunch grass and very drought resistant. It forms a heavy mat on the ground to resist erosion and for that reason is being used on wide waterway stripes. It produces two seed crops per year and good grazing for livestock.

The Felderhoff Brothers are busy planting nearly 100 acres to King Ranch Bluestem. Most of the seed are being planted on old field areas that are being taken out of cultivation and developed into pasture. They are also scattering KR seed hay, harvested from their older plantings, on parts of their ranch that were recently cleared of brush. They have also made a 10 acre planting of side oats, grama grass. Side oats is a native grass of this area and produces well on shallow soils.

Andy Fleitman is seeding KR on a pasture area by scattering seed hay. The seed hay was harvested from the bluestem waterway on the W. W. Otto farm.

At Saint Jo Vanis and Rip Redman are planting nearly 100 acres to KR Bluestem. They are using seed combined from their own farms last year. The seed is going on old field areas that have been improved by growing two or three years of vetch to build up soil fertility. Roy Kingery has finished seeding 20 acres of his Dye Mound farm to KR. Part of the planting will be cared for and used as a seed producing plot.

Joe Wyatt has recently completed a pond for livestock water at Marysville. The pond will enable better grazing management by providing water in another pasture so that rotation grazing can be carried out. With this additional water supply better distribution of grazing will result in better grass growth for soil protection.

Three Classes of Residents

"There are three classes of residents in any community: those who live off it, those who live in it, and those who live for it.

"The first class are parasites, reaping where they do not sow.

"The second class lives in the community but has little or nothing to do with its activities. If enough of the population are in this group, there is community hari-kari.

"The third class of residents of a community — those who live for it — recognize their political, social and economic duties as citizens by taking an attitude of live civic brotherhood. Such men meet on common ground, regardless of professional status, physical possessions, religion or politics. Let it not be said of the people in any community that they abhor this common ground."

INCOME TAX FACTS No. 6
Deductions Reduce Your Income Tax

(This is one of a series of articles on federal income tax filing. The articles are based on information provided by the American Institute of Accountants and the Texas Society of Certified Public Accountants.)

"Deduction" is the taxpayer's favorite word. Every dollar you can deduct in figuring your tax puts twenty cents to ninety-one cents in your pocket, depending upon the tax bracket you're in.

Medical deductions were discussed in a previous article. Here are some of the other deductions you may be able to take if you itemize them instead of using the short 1040A form or the standard 10% deduction:

Contributions

You can deduct your contributions to religious, charitable, scientific, literary and educational organizations, and to non-profit cemeteries.

Include contributions of goods at their fair value, as well as cash, but not your personal services (blood donations are regarded as a personal service and not deductible).

If you contribute stocks, real estate or other property, you can deduct their value at the time of the gift, even if it is considerably more than the original cost to you.

You are ordinarily not permitted to deduct a contribution which you have only pledged and not paid during the tax year.

You can deduct up to 20% of your income for any eligible charitable contributions, and up to 30% if at least 10% was in gifts to religious organizations, schools or hospitals.

Interest and Taxes

Interest you pay on personal loans and other indebtedness is deductible.

If there is a mortgage on your home, be sure to find out what part of your payments is interest and deduct it on your tax return. The same applies to automobile financing and installment purchases.

If some of your credit buying involves "carrying charges" instead of specified interest, you are allowed to deduct such charges up to 6% of the average monthly unpaid balance if they are listed separately in your contract or bills.

Most taxes you paid for yourself or a member of your household, except federal taxes, are deductible. However taxes are not deductible when included in the price and not separately charged to the customer.

"Baby-sitter" Deduction

If you paid someone to care for your child under 12 because that was necessary while you were at work, you may be entitled to a "child care" deduction of as much as $600. This deduction also applies to the care of any dependent who was mentally or physically incapacitated. Check the instructions to see whether you qualify.

Storms, Floods, Fires

Don't overlook deductions for losses due to storms, fires, floods, theft, and accidents not due to your own negligence.

The way to figure such losses is explained in the instructions. Any insurance or other compensation you may have received for the damage must be subtracted from the amount of loss.

Miscellaneous deductions to which you may be entitled include union dues, purchase of necessary tools of your trade, fees to employment agencies, expenses you incurred for the benefit of your employer, and some alimony payments.

The instructions that come with your tax forms give further information. Help is also available from the Internal Revenue Service, which urges you to consult a properly qualified advisor if you need outside assistance.

Next article: Pensions and Investments.

A constantly swelling government is a sure sign of the moral sickness of the people under it. Governments swell when and because the people shrink.

It's Just Like This

Any ordinary sentence can be made to have as many meanings as it can have variations of inflection. Let us give an example: If we were to say, "I never said he stole money," what would it mean? It's all in the way we say it. There are six words in that sentence; by emphasizing each word separately, we get six different meanings. Read them aloud, and see.

I never said he stole money.
I never said he stole money.
I never said he stole money.
I never said he stole money.
I never said he stole money.
I never said he stole money.

Church Man Lists 7 Objectives for Christian Farmer

Seven objectives for the Christian farmer to follow in carrying out his responsibility to the land, his family and his community were listed this week by the president of the National Catholic Rural Life Conference in calling attention to National Catholic Rural Life Week, March 16-22.

The Most Rev. Peter W. Bartholome, Bishop of St. Cloud, Minn., and president of the NCRLC said the Christian farmer should strive toward:

1. True spiritual leadership of his family, through family prayer, religious training of the children, and reception of the Sacraments.

2. Proper education of his children in the values of rural living, in love of country, and in the skills and tools for a successful career in the rural community.

3. A keen awareness of his Christian responsibility for the welfare of his neighbors. This calls for participation and leadership in community activities and in farm organizations.

4. Careful stewardship of the soil — in recognition of the fact that man is but a trustee of the Lord's land.

5. Full recognition of his responsibility to his country and its citizens, including the most efficient possible production of food and fiber to fill the needs of the nation and the world.

6. A real appreciation of his obligation to humanity, including an obligation to join in efforts to make America's abundance available to needy people in other countries.

7. Full recognition of the importance of the church and the clergy in the rural community and of the individual personal responsibility in Christian leadership.

Connected with the week's observance is the beginning of a national country beautification program to encourage more general awareness of the beauty and spiritual values of rural living. This "Country Beautiful Program" continues an effort previously sponsored by the NCRLC.

TEENAGE COURT — Frankfort, Ky., is trying a teenage traffic experiment in which juries of teenagers try teenage traffic violators. County Judge John D. Darnell reports that civics classes from the high schools make up the juries, and the result is a forceful lesson in court procedure, good government and traffic safety. Such trials make a profound impression on the youngsters, he states.

We are spending approximately $800,000,000 a year for flowers and seeds as more and more Americans go in for gardening.

School Problems Aired at Meeting Of N. Texas Boards

Impressions of the Texas and White House conferences on education were the outstanding ideas presented to members of the North Texas School Board Association last Thursday night in Dallas by M. W. Glosserman of Taylor, president of the Texas Association of School Boards.

Representing the Muenster board at the meeting were Superintendent Homsley, Herbert Meurer and Arthur Hellman.

One impression gathered by the speaker was that the White House conference was dominated by a group which favored federal aid to education.

Offsetting that less desirable impression however, were other signs which point to better days in education for the future. One is a public awareness of public school problems. Another is evidence of the schools' increasing prestige along with increasing concern over the needs of schools, indicating that the general public sincerely wants better schools to take care of the needs of children who want education.

Ben F. Abel Sr., 66, Former Resident Of Marysville, Dies

so we should proceed on the theory that no individual's right to dissent gives him a right to plot the nation's destruction. Every known communist and every fifth amendment character should be taken out of circulation.

In addition we should serve notice on other countries that the present state of war, which we finally recognize for what it is, has precipitated the economic policy of war. We refuse to trade with our enemy or with any other nation that trades with him.

Next, and probably the most important, we should do our utmost to provoke and support trouble for the reds. The first good spot to do that is in the Far East where Chinese Nationalists and South Koreans are waiting and praying for an opportunity to start rolling back the red tide.

If all this seems too likely to set off the much dreaded global shooting war, let's also keep another very positive fact in mind: our present methods are not preventing the conflict but only allowing reds to postpone it until they have a better chance of winning.

It is even possible that this policy is the better way of preventing the big fight. It might reverse the trend of the cold war and start the deterioration of the mighty communist empire.
