

Government Will Begin Erecting CCC Camp Monday

Four Houses To Be Built To House Contingent Of 200 Men.

Actual construction work on the houses to quarter the 200-man military Conservation Corps camp at Lake Brownwood will start Monday.

After rejecting all first bids on the project as being too high, the government allowed Lieut. Dougherty to call for new bids, and Tuesday afternoon the lumber contract was awarded to the Cross Plains Lumber Company.

Weakley-Watson Hardware Company was awarded the hardware contract. Lieut. Dougherty had received instructions from Fort Sam Headquarters earlier in the week to reject bids and make preparations for housing the men in tents, but in tabulation of the new bids was authorized to proceed with actual construction plans.

Most of the houses will be approximately $4,500, with more than $100 going to labor cost. All labor will be secured through the office of the National Reemployment Service in the court house, and will be paid 50 cents per hour for unskilled labor and 75 cents per hour for artisans.

D. King, secretary to Lieut. Dougherty, arrived this week to assist in construction. Leonard Smith, construction superintendent, and E. Birdwell, assistant, will be on Monday to supervise actual work on the houses.

Monday workmen will start pouring foundations and floors of the buildings. Other preliminary work on construction will be done prior to arrival of the lumber, which is expected within ten days.

The buildings to be erected under the government include a mess hall, store room and company quarters, infirmary, educational adviser's headquarters, five company officers' headquarters, dining hall, bath house, supply room, 12 quarters for enlisted men and two latrines.

The mess hall will be 105-20 feet long with a kitchen 28-20 feet wide. Other buildings will be 16 feet wide. The camp here will be complete by one completed by Lieut. Dougherty and his crew in this Texas, near Corpus Christi, last week. The buildings will be frame construction, and several men will have canvas roofs.

Lieut. Dougherty visited the park Saturday and made locations for the buildings. He was high in the beauty of the surroundings, and stated that the Lake Brownwood site is one of the most beautiful ever utilized for CCC camps.

The CCC camp includes 200 enlisted men and a staff of officers. It will be located here for at least six months and will carry on extensive improvement work in the area park on the shores of Lake Brownwood.

The work to be done will be a continuation of work already done under the CWA program, which included the building of a native-wood club house, construction of one-half mile of roadway, building of 12 picnic structures and other improvements.

Johnson Lines Seek Service To Brady

Johnson Motor Lines of Brownwood has made application for a certificate authorizing the operation of a common carrier motor vehicle between Brady and Brownwood. Hearing on the application was held in Waco Friday, May 25, according to notices received from Texas Railroad Commission.

WALTON LEAGUE HEAD INVITED TO MEETING

Dr. Preston Bradley of Chicago, one of the foremost pastors in America, and president of the Izaak Walton League of America, has been invited to attend the state meeting of the Izaak Walton League to be held in Brownwood May 26 and 27.

An invitation to Dr. Bradley was forwarded by the local chapter, and a special invitation was issued by C. A. Wheatley of San Antonio, state president of the league. Mr. Wheatley on his recent visit to Brownwood stated that Dr. Bradley likely would attend the state meeting here if other appointments do not prevent.

In event Dr. Bradley is able to be in Brownwood for the league meeting, efforts will be made by local pastors to induce him to remain over the Sunday following. In which event union services of all local churches will probably be arranged so that everyone will have an opportunity to attend services conducted by the famous churchman.

Among other national officers who have been invited to the local meeting are Fred N. Peet of Chicago, national secretary, and Wm. J. P. Aberg, of Madison, Wisconsin, chairman of the national executive board.

The program for the two-day meeting is being worked out by officers of the local chapter along lines previously announced. One of the features of the convention will be the organization of the Texas Anglers' Club, which is to sponsor the annual bait and fly casting tournaments held at the conventions.

The club will make awards for casting, the winners to be recognized as state champions, and all awards will be engraved in that manner.

State officers of the Izaak Walton League are: C. A. Wheatley, San Antonio, president; Otis Dorchester, Dallas, first vice president; W. L. Moody, Jr., Galveston, second vice president; Bert Chaney, Dallas, third vice president; Mrs. E. Burnett, secretary-treasurer; A. E. Wood, Austin, David Henley, Brownwood, C. A. Vernon, Jr., Dallas, Ben G. O'Neal, Wichita Falls, George Buck Wynne, Willis Point, and W. J. Vernon, Palestine, directors.

David Henley, president of the Pecan Valley Chapter, Izaak Walton League, which will be the host chapter to the state convention, has called a meeting of the local chapter for Friday evening, May 18, at the Gold Room of Hotel Brownwood, for the purpose of arranging details of the convention.

BEER ELECTION TO BE HELD IN COUNTY SATURDAY, MAY 19

Everything is in readiness for the Brown county 3.2 beer vote Saturday, May 19. Election supplies are in the hands of County Clerk W. E. Burleson, and will be distributed to election judges Friday. Mr. Burleson asks that all judges call at his office in the court house and secure supplies by Friday.

The beer election Saturday will be the second in the county within a year. At the August 26 elections of last year, when a number of constitutional amendments were submitted to the voters, Brown county voted against 3.2 beer by a substantial majority. With the large increase in poll tax payments this year over last, proponents of legalized beer circulated a second petition, which was signed by some 600 voters. The commissioners court ordered the election for Saturday of this week.

Very little interest has been shown in the election, and a very light vote is expected, in spite of the large number of qualified voters this year.

CHIEF FEATURES OF BANKHEAD ACT ARE EXPLAINED BY AAA

The administration of the Bankhead Act restricting American cotton production this year to not more than 10 million bales is to be handled in the counties by the county cotton production control association, according to information received by County Agent C. W. Lehmburg from the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service.

Advance notices indicate that Texas has been allotted a 1934 production of 3,991,200 bales which may be ginned and sold tax free. All in excess of this must pay a tax at time of sale of 50 per cent of the average central market price for 7-8ths inch middling as proclaimed by the Secretary of Agriculture from time to time, based on spot market quotations. At no time can this tax be less than 5 cents per pound.

The provisions of the Act are operative for the cotton year June 1, 1934, to May 31, 1935, but may be extended to the next cotton year by Presidential proclamation if two-thirds of the cotton growers approve. Every producer of cotton is called upon to apply to his county production control association for tax exemption certificates for his individual allotment.

As far as possible signers of voluntary cotton reduction contracts will be given the same allotments as indicated in their contracts, but these may be raised or lowered, according to allotments assigned the county by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Those who did not sign reduction contracts may also apply on forms to be furnished by the associations for individual allotments of tax-free cotton.

The Texas allotment is based on the ratio between the average five year production 1928-32 to the average national production for this period. Not less than 90 per cent of the State allotment is to be allotted to the counties, the remainder being reserved for necessary adjustments to take care of special cases. Allowance is to be made for crop failures in counties where it can be established that the failure is due to an unusual cause. Washington advices point out that in some sections floods and drought are not unusual. The United States Department of Agriculture has a cotton history of every county for guidance in deciding where special adjustments should be made.

Bale Tags Required. The first duty of every producer under the law is to apply for bale tags for all cotton produced prior to this season now in possession of the farmer. As soon as county production control associations have the forms the farmer should apply for exemption certificates for this allotted cotton for 1934-35. The final date for application for these certificates has not yet been determined. Every bale of American cotton entering trade channels in the cotton year 1934-35 must have a bale tag which the farmer may obtain either by surrendering his exemption certificate or by paying the tax.

The amount of the tax is determined by the tax in effect at the time the cotton is ginned regardless of when it is sold. If stored and held for a year or more it must still pay the tax.

Cotton of 1 1/2 inch staple length or longer is exempt from the tax but the producer of such cotton must first prove his point before exemption is granted. Experiment Station cotton is also exempted from the tax.

The signers of voluntary reduction contracts stand to benefit under the Bankhead Act, the Agricultural Adjustment Administration points out, because these producers will receive their land rental and parity payments in addition to the expected increase in cotton price on the amount sold.

The interests of share croppers and tenants are to be protected in the making of allotments and issuing of exemption certificates. It is promised by the Administration. Contract signers who violate their contracts are to have their exemption certificates revoked, according to the provisions of the Act.

No allotments are to be made under the Bankhead Act until all producers have applied to their county cotton committees giving their production figures and asking for exemption certificates. The collection of the tax is to be in charge of the Bureau of Internal Revenue, and it is to be collected as prescribed by them at time of sale.

A Noted Entertainer Is Entertained

They've been linked together in Mrs. Fay Webb Vallee's suit for divorce, but that didn't seem to trouble Rudy Vallee and pretty Alice Faye, film actress, when this picture was taken in a New York night club. Miss Faye had just returned from Hollywood, where Fox named her on its own list of 1934 movie stars.

EVERY BROWN COUNTY FARMER AFFECTED BY BANKHEAD ACT, SOON TO BECOME OPERATIVE

FIGURES giving the exact allotment for Brown County cotton farmers under the terms of the Bankhead Act will be received here within the next two or three weeks, according to County Agent C. W. Lehmburg. Mr. Lehmburg conferred with George E. Adams, in charge of cotton work in Texas, and T. B. Wood, district farm agent, in Brownwood Tuesday night regarding terms of the bill and methods of putting it into force in this state. The two officials spent the night in Brownwood en route from the meeting of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce in San Angelo to their homes in College Station.

Details of the plan of operation of the Bankhead Act are printed elsewhere in this issue of The Banner.

If these figures are used by the government, it will mean that the average production on cotton farms in the county will be cut to 3.7 bales per farm.

This is taking into consideration only those farms which have produced cotton during the past five years, and thus can show a five-year average. Of course there are many farms that have produced cotton but one or two years of the specified five, or who have not produced any cotton in these five years and who will be entitled to produce some cotton this year.

Provision has been made for this class of farmer by allowing 10 per cent leeway from the quotas above. If this 10 per cent allowance, which in Texas amounts to only 390,120 bales for the entire state, is apportioned also according to the five-year average plan, Brown county should expect to be allowed another 650 bales of cotton. This would be apportioned among farmers not now growing cotton, or who did not grow cotton during all of the five specified years. On the basis of 3.7 bales per acre, it would allow approximately 175 more farmers to plant cotton during the coming year. That is, 175 more than are now known to be growing cotton.

Reduced Revenue. During the past year, cotton has sold for slightly more than 11 cents on the Brownwood market on several occasions, and New York cotton has gone above 12 cents. However, during the past selling season, from August until the latter part of November, when most Brown county farmers sold their cotton, the average price was slightly under 9 cents on the Brownwood market. It is assumed that most of this year's cotton was sold on this market, during the selling months.

Government experts estimate that the Bankhead Act will raise the price of cotton a minimum of 4 cents a pound. It may raise it even more than that. But assuming that the price, under the government plan, went up 6 cents, or 15 cents during the coming season, and the county was permitted to raise, and conditions were such that it could raise, its quota of 6,500 bales, plus the over-allotment of 650 bales, farmers of this county would receive a total of $536,250. Reduced to farms, if each farm is allowed 3.7 bales, on an average, and the price jumped to 15 cents, the average farm would receive a cotton revenue during the coming year of $247,500—not a large gross income for cotton, even as a sideline.

There is a possibility, however, that the Brown county quota can be increased. The Secretary of Agriculture has stated that in some cases, drought years can be eliminated from the five-year average, and another year substituted. The lowest production in Brown county was in 1928.

SANTA-FE ASKING FOR PERMISSION TO DROP NIGHT TRAIN

Application for permission to abandon the late night train thru Brownwood to Temple and one of the morning trains from Temple has been filed with the Texas Railroad Commission. Granting of the application would reduce passenger service on the Santa Fe to one train each way daily.

Hearing on the application is to be held in Brownwood at 10:00 o'clock Tuesday, May 22, at the county court room. It was announced this week by Lon Smith, chairman of the railroad commission.

It is understood that several cities along the route served have filed protests against the application, and it is expected that a large number of people will be in Brownwood to appear before the commission hearing.

Railroad officials in Brownwood last week explained that the change would not affect passenger service as greatly as is indicated. The two night trains which leave here at 8:30 and 11:30 would be combined, and the same connections would be made for Fort Worth and Dallas through Pullman service. In the morning the two trains arriving in Brownwood would be combined, offering approximately the same passenger service as now is offered.

Lack of patronage on the part of the public was given as the reason for requesting abandonment of the two trains. The late night train was inaugurated primarily to offer through service to Fort Worth and Dallas, and since the first of the year, the rail officials stated, ticket sales from Brownwood to Fort Worth and Dallas averaged six per month to each destination.

According to application the railroad wants to combine trains 77-91 from Temple to Brownwood and 77-75 from Coleman Junction to San Angelo; trains 78-76 from San Angelo to Coleman Junction; and trains 78-92 from Brownwood to Temple to make one train per day each direction to be known as trains 75-76 from Temple to Sweetwater and one train in each direction from Brownwood to San Angelo to be known as 77-78.

WORK RELIEF HALTS AS FUNDS ARE SCARCE

No work relief was in progress in Brown county this week, as funds for such work were practically exhausted. Money on hand is being used to make small advances to those on direct relief. A few days ago $2,000 for relief in this county during May was received. This has been supplemented by another $3,000, making $5,000 available for the month. As the local offices had estimated the needs of the county for the month at $22,000, little can be accomplished with the small sum available.

Meanwhile, contracts are being signed with food dealers who are members of the NRA for furnishing groceries to relief clients of Brown county upon disbursing orders and food orders issued by the local committee. NRA food handlers wishing to furnish groceries on these orders can secure contracts at the relief office.

BPW Club To Open Hot Wells Friday

The Brownwood Business and Professional Women's Club will have charge of opening the Hot Wells Swimming Pool Friday night of this week. Funds derived from the program will go toward defraying expenses of delegates from the local club to the state convention at San Antonio next month. At the San Antonio convention, the Brownwood club will ask for the 1935 convention for Brownwood.

The program will begin at 7:45 o'clock, with plenty of free features. Among these will be a free band concert by the Daniel Baker Band, a free boxing match, free beauty contests and free swimming for everybody.

Hot dogs, drinks, ice cream and hamburgers will be sold by members of the club. A new feature this year will be a dance at the Hot Wells pavilion, starting at 9 o'clock.

GIFT CAMPAIGN IS IN SECOND PERIOD

Going up! Swinging away for the finish, all at a high with high hopes and nearly-realized ambitions, candidates in the Banner's now famous New Deal Gift Distribution have swelled their vote totals to splendid marks. From now on to the finish it will be an exciting race between the leaders to see who will capture the many grand prizes which is included on the list two popular make automobiles, a NEW 1934 model Dodge Coach, worth $965.00 fully equipped, purchased from and on display at Abney & Bohannon's show room. The other, a NEW 1934 model Plymouth Coach worth $740.00, purchased from and on display at the Patterson Motor Co.'s show room, besides the many cash awards.

The first period of the campaign, which closed Monday night, was a tremendous success, but a strange coincidence, unusual in affairs of this kind, has appeared. Each of the leading candidates benefited so equally during the period just closed that a hair-line decision, almost, is required to determine today's leaders.

Unexpectedly, therefore, the competition to determine the ultimate winners depends almost entirely upon the results obtained by the various participants in the great race between now and the final moments.

There are the facts in a nutshell! The struggle for supremacy must be fought out in the next few hours, for the campaign closes in just a few more days. The second period ends Monday, May 28th.

Do not forget the "second subscriptions"—they mean real votes, extensions. Names on subscription stubs should be written or printed so plainly that there will be no occasion for error, and secure the subscriber's postoffice box number if possible. Instead of street address; however, if subscriber prefers paper delivered to street address, write it plainly. Each stub should bear the candidate's name as well. In case of second payment subscriptions, the stub should be marked as such and the amount and date of the first payment should be indicated.

Directors For New Citizens Bank Selected

Four Directors of Old Bank Chosen, Three New Ones For Reorganized Bank.

Stockholders of the new Citizens National Bank at Brownwood, which is in the process of organization to take over the affairs of the Citizens National Bank in Brownwood, being operated by a conservator, met Wednesday afternoon and elected directors for the new institution.

Four of the directors are directors in the old bank, while three have not previously been directors. The old directors are: F. S. Abney, president of the Citizens National Bank, and at present serving as conservator; Clyde McIntosh, cashier of the old bank; E. E. Kirkpatrick and J. F. Renfro; new directors chosen are R. N. Beakley, H. L. Cravens and J. A. Watt.

About 60 stockholders, representing 3300 shares of the 5000 outstanding, attended the meeting Wednesday afternoon, which was held in the Citizens National Bank building.

May Be Open Soon. F. S. Abney, conservator of the old bank, was in Dallas Thursday conferring with government officials regarding plans for opening the new bank. There are many requirements to be met yet, however, and it probably will be some time before the new bank can be opened.

Organization of the new bank was made possible through the obtaining of a loan from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation some time ago. The old bank has been operated under a conservatorship for about a year.

Melton Says Crop Loan Interest Is Cut To 5 Per Cent

W. E. Melton, secretary-treasurer of the Coleman Production Credit Association, which has charge of feed and seed loans in Brown county, was in Brownwood Wednesday on business of the association.

Mr. Melton stated that he had received word from W. I. Myers, governor of the arm Credit Administration in Washington that the association now can make loans at an interest charge of only 5 per cent on all new loans of the Production Credit Association. The new interest rate becomes effective immediately on all new loans and advances made by the association.

The lowering of the interest rate to 5 per cent is the second reduction in two months. The rate was reduced from 6 per cent to 5 1/2 per cent on March 16.

Legion Post Will Honor Commander At Friday Meeting

A special program in honor of the new State Commander of the American Legion, M. J. Benefield of Brady, will be held by Isham A. Smith Post, American Legion, in the Legion club rooms in Memorial Hall Friday night, it was announced by John A. Collins, post commander.

Commander Benefield has been invited to be present, and it is expected that he will be here for the program. This will be the first meeting in the Legion club rooms in about two months, or since gas first was discovered in the building. The gas situation is sufficiently in control at present to permit use of the building, and the club rooms have been completely renovated.

Refreshments will be served at the meeting Friday night, Collins announced, and he is expecting a record attendance.

Arrangements for decorating graves on Memorial Day also will be completed at the meeting. J. H. Sprinzer, vice commander, will be in charge at Greenleaf cemetery; Lon L. Smith, vice commander, at Zephyr, and L. G. Porter, vice commander, at Bangs. The public will be invited to take part in the grave decorating program.

Candidates Bombard County Following WTCC Convention

Candidates for various offices, too numerous to mention, visited Brown county this week, following the convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce the first of the week in San Angelo. Dozens of candidates for state and district offices were in Brownwood either before or after the convention, and most of them stopped over to distribute literature and cards and shake hands with the Brown county yeomanry.

The West Texas chamber of commerce had a political carnival and invited all comers to make speeches to all who cared to listen. The result was that there were almost as many candidates as delegates to the convention, and many a vote was made or lost during the three days.

Among those stopping here for a brief campaigning spell was WALTER WOODDUL of Houston, state senator and candidate for lieutenant governor. He has two or three opponents that we do not call to mind at the present time, but seems to be running a good race. The senator is not to be confused with WALTER WOODWARD, of Coleman, also a state senator, who is running for some office or other this year. Attorney General, it is, and he has as his opponent

WILLIAM MCGRAW of Dallas, who also was at San Angelo and came by Brownwood to garner a few odd votes if possible. A personable gentleman, who made a big success as district attorney of Dallas county, and who can be counted on to run Woodward a strong race.

County Candidates. There were others. And county candidates have begun to show more interest in how things are going to come out in July and August. More cards are being circulated, and the candidates are showing an increased interest in school closings, picnics and various gatherings. Just in case you have forgotten who is running for office in this county, The Banner lists the following who have authorized this newspaper to announce their candidacies:

For Congress: Charles L. South of Coleman County. E. E. (Pat) Murphy of Tom Green County. Culberson Deal of Tom Green county.

For State Senator: E. M. Davis of Brown County.

For Representative, (125th Legislative District: Courtney Gray of Brown county. C. M. Kilgore of Brown county.

For District Attorney: J. C. Darroch of Brown county. J. Reagan Sanders of McCulloch county. A. O. Newman of Coleman county.

For County Judge: A. E. Nabors. For Tax Assessor and Collector: T. W. (Winston) Palmer, Mrs. J. L. Karr, Lee Meek.

For County Attorney: Mrs. Pearl P. Gibson.

For County Clerk: W. E. (Bill) Burleson.

For County Treasurer: J. P. (Ted) Gist.

For Commissioner, Precinct 1: E. S. Thompson.

For Public Weigher, Precinct 1: C. H. "Uncle Charlie" Boren.

county was in 1930, when only 5,023 bales of cotton were produced. If this year could be eliminated, and 1926, which was a normal year, substituted, the average would be increased considerably. In 1926, 12,565 bales of cotton were produced in this county, and in 1927, 7,581 bales were produced. Prior to these years, the county total ran up around 15,000 and 16,000 bales per year. If either 1926 or 1927 could be substituted for 1930, the drought year, the county would benefit; more, of course, if 1926 were used as the substitute year.

Use of 1926 as one of the base years would increase the five-year total about 7,000 bales, or the five-year average 1,400 bales, and the expected quota for this county by nearly 1,000 bales, which at the anticipated price would mean an Interest in court reform, along with other governmental reforms, is taking on new life through the activity of a committee from the State Taxpayers Association, appointed to study the situation from the layman's standpoint. Various groups have held meetings in the northern part of the state, and it is announced that the laymen's committee will carry the campaign into each county in the State. The committee is planning to use a campaign truck with loud speaker equipment to cover the State in a speaking tour, visiting several towns a day.

Legal procedure has become so cumbersome in Texas as to be a burden to litigants, and a needlessly large expense to taxpayers. The need for reform is great. Several worth-while suggestions have been made during the past year or two, which if given sufficient backing of public sentiment, should be enacted by the next legislature. One that comes to mind is the non-severance of criminal cases. This procedure is adopted in Federal court, a notable example being the trial of the Urschel kidnapers, some half a dozen of whom were tried at the same time, with the jury being permitted to bring in a separate verdict for each defendant. In state courts, this trial would have been separated into six or more individual trials, each of tremendous expense to the taxpayers. In addition, the defendants would have chosen to go to trial with the weakest case first, with chances of conviction less, and thus have endeavored to build up sentiment against conviction.

Civil litigation likewise is costly and unwieldy, making justice, if not actually purchased, at least out of reach of those unable to pay expensive attorney's fees and court costs.

Much thought must be given to the problem by those worthy gentlemen who are backing the movement, and much effort made to arouse public sentiment. It is a lamentable situation that legislative reform cannot be secured until after the public is aroused, rather than in anticipation of actual needs of the public, but such is the case. And it also is a noteworthy fact that little has been done by those experts who could do most to effect needed reforms—the attorneys themselves.

The movement for a third national party, which has been growing since the disastrous route of the Republicans in the last national elections, has taken form in Wisconsin in the formation of a third party headed in the state Senator Robert M. LaFollette, who has decided to throw off the cloak of Republicanism and cast his lot with the new party. He has substantial following in his own state, and it is possible that the movement may force a third ticket into the field in the national elections of 1936.

The uncertainty of the Republican party as to its course and the recent resignation of Everett Sanders as national committeeman with the party being unable immediately to name a satisfactory leader, has caused renewed interest in the movement.

There is little hope for national success two years hence. Or any other year until drastic changes in our national life have come into being. Third party movements in the past have resulted in taking votes from the party from which the leaders are chosen, generally to such an extent that the party is not successful in the immediate elections, but never have placed a candidate in national office.

In Wisconsin, where voters like to express their independence, and where the LaFollette name is a tradition, the situation is different, and young LaFollette will lose little of his personal following through the formation of a third party. LaFollette supported Roosevelt in 1932, and probably will be favorable to the Administration during the next elections, in spite of small differences at present.

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce this week held its sixteenth annual convention in San Angelo. Fifteen years ago the nucleus for the present powerful and useful organization was founded upon the common interests of the counties and cities of this vast section.

Many predicted at that time that the organization would not survive, because of the varied interests and the petty jealousies of the numerous localities that it endeavored to serve. Or, if it survived, that it would be an organization of negligible importance.

Yet with each succeeding year the organization has become more useful to West Texas, and hence stronger and more vital to the healthy growth of West Texas. Today there is no community in West Texas that has not felt the benefit of association with the organization, and few that have not called upon the sectional organization for advice or assistance, which always has been forthcoming.

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce stands today as a model for each of the city or county organizations in this section. If the diverging interests of hundreds of communities can be forged into a strong organization serving all, how much easier should it be to overcome the petty jealousies of individuals who make up a city, and unite for a common interest in a strong local chamber of commerce to serve the entire community.

Whether the government reduction figures for cotton in this county were correct or not, they were accepted by Brown County farmers with a promptness that should be encouraging to those gentlemen who have worked so diligently to improve agricultural conditions in this country. The number who did not accept the second reduction immediately was negligible, and probably was due to failure to understand the proposition thoroughly.

It is splendid to see such a spirit of cooperation. We have no idea whether or not the government is on the right course in all this effort to reduce farm production and thus boost farm prices. But we do know that the cause is a worthy one, the effort is sincere, and the wholesome cooperation given by farmers in this county is such that, if followed in other parts of the country, an accurate test of the value of the plan can be had.

James Hamilton can never be forgotten by Texas, the hearts of whose people cannot disregard his great public services.

The first "Lone Star" flag bearing the sanction of governmental authority and expressive of independence was that adopted by President Burnet at Harrisburg, April 9, 1836.

The "Original Buffalo Bill"

ASK the average American who was the "original Buffalo Bill" and he will answer, "Why, William F. Cody, of course!" But he's wrong. For there were at least two men who bore that title long before Cody made it world-famous.

One of them was William Matthewson of Wichita, Kan. According to the story, in 1869, the year of the great drought, when grasshoppers blackened the skies and ate up all the crops, the early settlers of that section would have starved had it not been for Matthewson, a buffalo hunter, who went out repeatedly and sent back wagon-loads of buffalo meat to feed them. In gratitude for this they gave him the title of "Buffalo Bill."

Years later, when Cody had become famous under the title, some of Matthewson's friends advanced his claims to being the "original Buffalo Bill" and that claim was not very successfully refuted by Cody partisans.

Another just claimant to the title, in that the application of it to him antedated its application to Cody, was William Comstock, a native of Wisconsin who was something of a "mystery man" of the frontier. Comstock had been a pony express rider and in the late sixties he was owner of a ranch on Rose Creek near Fort Wallace, Kan. He served as a scout and guide during the Indian war on the southern plains in 1867-69 and had gained such renown as a buffalo hunter that the officers at Ft. Wallace called him "Buffalo Bill" Comstock.

In the meantime William F. Cody, who had done some scouting for the troops at Fort Ellsworth and Fort Fletcher, had become a hunter for the contractors who were supplying the meat for the laborers then building the Kansas Pacific railroad westward. Cody's success as a hunter led to his being dubbed "Buffalo Bill" by the laborers.

Then followed the famous buffalo-killing match between Cody and Comstock, arranged by the army officers at Forts Wallace and Hays for "the championship of the world," and Cody, having won the match, was hailed as THE "Buffalo Bill," a title which the public soon confirmed. But this does not mean that he was "the original Buffalo Bill." Both William Matthewson and William Comstock had a better right than Cody to that title.

The end of Matthewson is unknown, but Comstock's career ended tragically a few months after his match with Cody when he fell a victim to Indian treachery in the camp of Chief Turkey Leg of the Cheyennes.

More than a dozen colleges and universities entered the 1934 Texas intercollegiate dramatic tournament.

MIGRATING CAPITAL

(From The Texas Weekly) ONE of the questions which the Commission of Inquiry on National Policy in International Economic Relations is looking into is that of the building of American factories in foreign countries. At the Houston hearing, R. C. Kuldell of the Hughes Tool Company said that his company had been offered inducements to build a factory in Germany from which to supply the European market. They refused to do this, not because it would not be a profitable undertaking, but simply because the owners are Texans and would rather lose the foreign business than invest any of their capital in a foreign country. But other American concerns have not felt the same hesitancy about it, and have built factories in foreign countries. When they found that exchange restrictions, tariffs, or other trade barriers kept their products out of a country, they put a factory in that country.

That is one way that American capital can overcome the new tariff situation. It can migrate. But what about labor? Will it migrate also? Well, that would not be found to be so easy. It is a fact that for the past three years more persons have left the United States to reside permanently in some foreign country than have come to the United States to live permanently here. But we can not picture great numbers of our unemployed following American capital abroad. Not unless conditions get much worse in the United States, in any event. But what is the unemployed labor displaced in this way to do? Where is it to find employment?

It is frequently said that while capital can be transferred to other countries in this way, and that even labor may follow, you can not move the cotton fields to foreign countries. That is true, but new regions for growing cotton may be opened up. Acreage is being increased in every foreign cotton growing area right now, and it is not impossible that new areas may be found. Indeed, it is altogether possible that American capital will be found to finance such projects. If anybody thinks that is far-fetched suggestion, such a person is not familiar with some strange things which have been

Singing At Chapel Hill

Last Sunday evening we met with the singers at Chapel Hill, this being our first time there. We met many new singers on the above occasion as well as many of our old-time acquaintances. The two class rooms that are convertible to an auditorium was well filled with people who are interested in good singing. Mr. English ably took charge of the services for the evening, after the opening song and prayer. Mr. English led a song and E. F. White followed with two selections. Then Prof. Burleson, Valley Evans, Luther Wilson, Bert Middleton, Mr. Reese, Lutz and a few others that we failed to get the names, led class songs. Special selection arranged by Evans, Homer Middleton, Bert Middleton, Gene Burleson and Luther Wilson with a selection from the Caldwell Brothers trio. Those little fellows sure can sing.

"The people voted to make it a regular event and will meet each first Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Mr. English was unanimously elected president of the singing. Boundless Joys was the class book happening lately. Or example, W. L. Clayton told the commission at the Houston hearing that the owner of a cotton mill in Czechoslovakia, whose ability to buy American cotton has been limited by restrictions on dollar exchange, came to Houston recently with the sole object of interesting his firm in the financing of a new cotton-growing area in that country. It seems there is a region in that country in which successful experiments have been made in cotton culture and all it needs is capital to develop it. Mr. Clayton's firm was not interested, but that does not mean that other Americans with money to invest may not become interested. And in that event labor in the American cotton fields would be displaced.

The migration of American capital in this way, if it should reach considerable proportions, would be an additional force operating to displace Americans labor and cause chronic unemployment. And the American tariff policy is calculated to increase the migration of capital.

TURNER ELECTED VICE COMMANDER OF STATE LEGION

Orville H. Turner of Brownwood was elected commander of the Fifth Division, American Legion, at a meeting of the state executive committee in Austin Sunday. By virtue of his office, Turner automatically becomes one of the vice commanders of the state department.

He succeeds as division commander, M. J. Benefield of Brady, who was elected commander of the Department of Texas, succeeding L. Van Perkins of Cameron, who resigned following filing of charges against him before the United States Commissioner at Waco. Perkins was charged with forging the name of a payee to a government obligation.

Benefield has been commander of the Fifth Division, which includes Brownwood, since the convention last fall. He has been in Brownwood on numerous occasions, and his election met the approval of local Legion members, among whom he is very popular.

Turner now is committeeman for the 17th congressional district, and two weeks ago was elected committeeman from the newly-formed 21st district. He will resign as committeeman from the 17th district at the district convention in Sweetwater next month, and is expected to resign from the new position to take over the duties of Division Commander.

It is expected that Art Kramer of Del Rio will be elevated to committeeman from the new 21st district. Kramer was elected assistant committeeman at the organization meeting of the new district in Brady recently.

Turner at present is in San Antonio attending the training camp for reserve officers. He holds a captain's commission in the artillery reserve.

A Citizenship Call

Brown County will vote Saturday, May 19th, on whether we shall have beer sold legally within our borders. Good citizenship calls for a united front against this evil.

BROWNWOOD IS AN EDUCATIONAL CENTER

The leaders of our schools are 100 per cent against legalizing the liquor traffic in any form. Church leaders stand with them, of course.

Do not be misled by the statement that as much beer is now being sold (illegally), as would be sold if beer is made legal. Do you want beer made available to your children in all the drink stands and eating places in Brown County?

MORE THAN 50% LONGER NON-SKID MILEAGE

IN THE NEW Firestone HIGH SPEED TIRE FOR 1934

The new Firestone High Speed Tire for 1934 is the greatest tire Firestone has ever built. With its wider, flatter tread, greater thickness, deeper non-skid, more and tougher rubber, and greater non-skid contact with the road, you get more than 50% longer non-skid mileage.

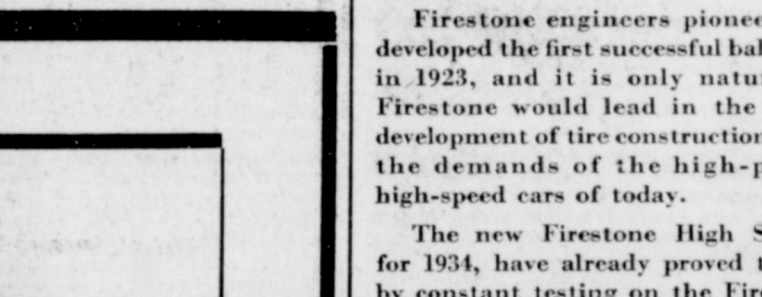

This new development is made possible by the Firestone patented process of Gum-Dipping, whereby the cotton fibers inside the high-stretch cords are soaked and coated with pure liquid rubber. This provides greater strength, safety and blowout protection.

Firestone engineers pioneered and developed the first successful balloon tire in 1923, and it is only natural that Firestone would lead in the further development of tire construction to meet the demands of the high-powered high-speed cars of today.

The new Firestone High Speed Tires for 1934, have already proved their worth by constant testing on the Firestone fleet of test cars over all kinds of roads and highways throughout the United States.

Firestone High Speed Tires are further subjected to the most severe tests known on the greatest proving ground in the world—the Indianapolis Speedway. In fact, Firestone Tires have been on the winning cars in the annual 500-Mile Indianapolis Race for fourteen consecutive years — conclusive evidence of Firestone's outstanding leadership in tire development and construction.

Drive in today and replace your thin, smooth, worn tires with a new set of the Safest—Longest Wearing—and Most Dependable Tires Firestone has ever made

W. T. Hughes Enters Race as Candidate For Superintendent

W. T. Hughes, for five years principal and superintendent of Cross Cut schools, Brown county, authorizes the Banner to announce his candidacy for county school superintendent, subject to action of the Democratic primary in July.

Mr. Hughes is 32 years old, is married and has two children. He was educated in Texas public schools and holds a Bachelor of Arts degree from East Texas State Teachers College. He says if elected he will work toward accomplishment of the following aims:

1. To plan and work out a more unified and practical course of study of the county school system, as a unit, thereby insuring greater efficiency and greater return for the taxpayer's dollar.
2. To organize a more efficient plan for checking the scholastic census enumeration of the county, whereby great yearly per capita losses may be prevented for many school districts.
3. To organize and institute a program which will insure prompt payment of teachers' salaries, thereby saving them many dollars, in discounts, each year.

COMMITTEE NAMED TO MEASURE WHEAT

Ross Newton of Cross Cut and W. D. Pierce of Blanket have been appointed as the Brown County wheat committee, to measure the wheat coming under the provisions of the government's wheat reduction program. The appointment was made by John R. Edmonds, head of wheat reduction in Texas.

Wheat acreage measuring will get under way in this county as soon as needed equipment is secured.

Cotton measuring will also start soon and definite plans concerning the cotton will be made next week. There will be approximately 20,000 acres of cotton that will be included under the contracts in this county. Training of men to do the cotton measuring will be started immediately and upon completion of this work the actual measuring will begin.

In this county all measuring will be done with a steel tape instead of the use of a wheel as was advocated here in a recent visit of government officials. Mr. Lehmborg said that the tape was a more satisfactory method of doing the measuring and that farmers would be better pleased with this system.

George E. Adams and T. B. Woods, district agent, were here for a short time this morning to discuss the cotton work in this county. They are on a tour of the counties of this section and went from Brownwood to Comanche to visit the officials there. Mr. Adams is head of the cotton division of the government program in Texas.

HAY FEVER
May be Prevented

See Your Physician... NOW

Hay-Fever sufferers who wish relief from this exhaustive summer condition should commence very soon to take a course of treatment with Pollen Extract.

The Ragweed Pollen Extract for the treatment of fall hay-fever, occurring in August and September, is administered beginning about May 15th. By gradually increasing the dosage, tolerance is built-up so that the sufferer, as a rule, is not affected by the pollens in the air.

Your physician will be glad to tell you about the treatment. See him now and get relief this year. Bring your physician's prescriptions and orders here to be filled. Our stocks are fresh and complete.
