New post office under construction

by JoAnn Morton Editor

Construction began Sept. 8 and is due to be completed on or before Feb. 1, 1992 for the new Spearman Post Office, according to interim Postmaster Barbara Lamb

The new post office will be located on the northeast corner of the intersection of North Bernice and East A Avenue, just north of the First

The building, which is privately owned and will be leased by the U.S. Postal Service, is being constructed by KCS Construction of Albuquerque, N.M. Lamb said the USPS has a 10-year lease on the building.

Although the current post office building is larger than the 3,360 square-foot new building, Lamb said the loss of floor space will probably not be noticed. "It will have a better, more efficient arrangement," she said. Her opinion is based on personal experience - she was Postmaster at Boise City, Okla. when a new post office was built there. She said the new post office at Boise City was also smaller than the old one, but the more efficient design made up for the loss of area.

The new post office will have more boxes than the old one - 844, as opposed to the current 811. "That's not many more boxes, but there will be a different mixture," said Lamb. She explained that the new building will have more large boxes. And, some people's box numbers will change when the move is made.

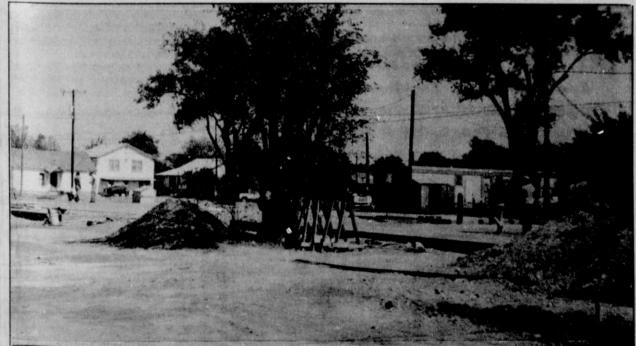

The post office will have charts of the layout of the new box sections available on Monday, Oct. 7. Lamb said postal customers can check with the post office after that date to see if their box numbers will change and, if so, find out what their new box numbers will be.

The new post office will be of frame construction, making it more energy efficient because it will be easier to insulate and maintain. That will result in a substantial cost savings to the USPS, said Lamb. "The old building is of block construction, which is hard to keep warm or cool.

Also, the new post office will have regular height ceilings instead of the high ceilings we have now. That will cut down on energy use," she added.

The building will be at ground level and will also have an entrance ramp, providing easier access for physically handicapped and elderly postal customers who may have difficulty with the current building. Lamb added that inside, along with a regular-height work table, will be a lower level work table which will be handy for wheelchair-bound customers. She also said an off-street parking area will be provided at the new post

Although she has experience in moving from one post office to another, Lamb said she won't be able to participate in this move. She explained, "The interviews were completed Thursday, Sept. 26, and we're expecting a new postmaster in about four to six weeks."

Construction began Sept. 8 and is due to be completed on or before Feb. 1, 1992 for the new Spearman Post Office. The new post office will be located at the intersection of North Bernice and East A Avenue, just north of the First State Bank.

The newest in fabric

After years of taking a back seat to natural fibers, polyester is gaining new respect with the introduction of microfibers. Microfibers can produce fabrics that are softer and more drapable than the finest silk. Brushing intensifies the softness of these fibers. They also have certain performance characteristics that other soft-hand fabrics lack. These include good resistance to wrinkling, soiling and wear, as well as washability. Although microfiber fabrics are slightly more expensive than their cotton, rayon, silk and regular polyester counterparts, the more durable microfiber fabric will have a longer fashion life.

The term microfiber describes any fiber that is less than one denier in fineness. A denier is a unit of weight for measuring the fineness of a thread. It is equal to the fineness of a yarn weighing one gram for each 9,000 meters. Some microfibers are as fine as 0.5 denier per filament. By comparison, silk, the finest natural fiber, is one denier.

Most microfibers are made from polyester, although a few are made from rayon or nylon. Microfibers also can be blended with other fibers, particularly cotton. There are no regulations about the percent of micro necessary for using the term microfiber. However, industry experts agree that 35 to 40 percent is the minimum amount required to retain the desired characteristic and performance

In addition, there are other benefits to microfibers. Colors are brighter. Due to the many filaments that make up each yarn, microdenier yarns have more surface area, thus producing a stronger color. Because they are more porous, microfibers breathe better than other polyesters. Air passes easily through the fabric, wicking moisture away from the skin's surface to the outer face of the fabric. This feature makes microfibers particularly desirable for outerwear and bodywear.

Microfibers are versatile. They can be knitted or woven into a variety of familiar fabrics, such as twill, satin, crepe and broadcloth. They are showing up in virtually every textile in use, from men's slacks to women's silk-like blouses and dresses, from intimate apparel to sheets and pillow cases. Luxurious upholstery fabrics, including jacquards and rich velvets, are also getting the microfiber touch. Individual worth

Individual worth is the belief that everyone, regardless of personal circumstances or personal qualities, has worth. Furthermore, each person is entitled to respect as a human being. To develop and apply the philosophy of individual worth to your relationship with people: · Accept everyone as individuals with their own unique personalities. · Recognize that everyone has his/her own way of trying to meet personal needs.

· Make a conscious effort to understand and accept each person's behavior.

· Expect that others will not behave as you want them to. . Do not expect people to adapt to · Consider that others are influenced by customs, beliefs, values, religious practices and socioeconomic levels - just as you

The troop is also working on a manners badge. The girls made placemats, practiced setting a table and pretended they were waitresses. They also discussed having respect for others.

On Sept. 14 the troop went to Camp Parhill at Lake Fryer to earn a fun day patch. There, they played games and made hair bows

Troop members who attended fun day were Megan Dorton, Lisa and Ashley Powers, Stephanie and Natasha Kirby, Sara Olsen, Sarah George, Misty and Tiffany Hand, Maranda Fight, Amanda Apodaca, Jamie Kunselman, Leslie and Sarah Goodson, Amy Vasquez, Melba Olsen, Barbara Fight, Tami Kunselman and Carma Dorton.

Brownie Troop 90 meets on Thursdays from 3:45 to 5 p.m. at the Girl Scout Little House at 22 S. Endicott in Spearman.

Troop 126

Junior Girl Scout Troop 126 is working on two badges: Eco Action and Science In Action. Troop members have been doing experiments with crystals, probability factors, air/space, surface tension and how plants drink.

They have also been learning about pollution (air and water), the ozone, global warming, CFCs (chlorofluorocarbons), recycling and reusing, wind erosion, and endangered species. These studies are in preparation for the National Poster Contest on the environment.

All of the troops in Spearman will be working on these posters through Nov. 1. There will be a local winner from each Scouting level in Spearman: Daisy, Brownie, Junior, Cadette and Senior. Local winners will be judged along with those winners from all the other towns in the Yucca Girl Scout Council.

A Girl Scout from Yucca Council could win a $500 savings bond, have her poster displayed in the National Museum of Women in the Arts, or be flown to Washington, D.C., to participate in the National Girl Scout Birthday celebration.

Any merchant wishing to have a poster to display in their window is asked to contact Carolyn Cummings

Troop 127

"Oh, the things we do for our kids!" was the feeling shared by Myrna Biggers, Mary K. Harbour and Carolyn Cummings as they load-ed the girls from Girl Scout Troop 127 (Cadettes and Senior Scouts) into the van at 5:30 a.m. Saturday.

The group was on its way to spend the first of four Saturdays studying for the Atomic Energy Merit Badge.

Those attending, including Lena Harbour, Brandi Burch, Hilary Big-gers, Kelli Cummings and Amber LaRochelle, have a lot to do. The first week they are studying for a test on atomic terms. Each member was given a package of regular beans and a package of irradiated beans to plant. They are keeping records on the control and irradiated beans for growth differences, color differences, etc. This project is due on the fourth and final week of study.

Each troop member was also given one sheet of Polaroid high speed black and white film to make a radiograph. To make a radiograph, a radioactive source, in this case two lantern mantles, are placed atop a target (an image-maker, which can be a piece of jewelry, coins, keys, etc.) on the film. The film is then placed in a cool, dark place. This project is due the fourth week also, at which time a counselor will develop bol posters are due next week, when the girls should be able to explain the rules and the symbol. To make their posters, the girls use compass, protractor and ruler.

The atom models are due in week three, the week for the test on the scientists. They will also work on an electroscope and a cloud chamber.

There is a happy ending to all this hard work. If they pass, the troop members will take a trip to Albuquerque, N.M. and Los Alamos. They will visit Kirtland Air Force Base, tour the National Atomic Museum and then visit selected nuclear reactor facilities and solar and wind energy engineering projects, run by Sandia National Laboratory. They will be overnight guests of the United States Air Force at Kirtland AFB.

At Los Alamos, they will be guests of the Los Alamos National Laboratory, with nationally-known scientists conducting tours for the girls. They will visit such places as the Clinton B. Anderson Meson Facility, with its laser-aligned, halfmile long linear accelerator, and take a tour through their museum.

Understanding The Philippines

by Charles H. Ridge, M.D.
To understand the Philippine Republic as it is today, it is necessary to know a little of its history. A good place to start is the story of Magellan, credited with being the first man to sail around the world.

Ferdinand Magellan was a Portugese sailor who spent the years from 1505 to 1516 in military and naval expeditions in Africa and Asia. Altogether, he spent five years in India. He shared one of the obsessions of his day - the desire to find a new trade route to India to replace the cumbersome overland passage.

Magellan had heard about the voyage of Vasco da Gama, another Portugese sailor, who had reached India by sailing around the southern tip of Africa. Magellan had the novel idea that he could reach India by sailing around the southern tip of South America. He tried, throughout most of 1517, to get financial backing for the trip. The governments of Italy and Portugal were not interested.

Finally he persuaded the King and Queen of Spain to finance the trip. In 1518, he left Spain with five ships and 250 men. When he finally reached South America, three of the ships with 150 men deserted the expedition. Their fate is unknown to history. He sailed on to the southern tip of the continent where he passed through a very treacherous area which has been named The Straits of Magellan in his honor.

From there, they sailed up the Pacific with scarce provisions until they arrived in Guam in 1519, near death from starvation. They spent several months eating, resting, and regaining their strength. They persuaded the native Chamorros to stock their ships with food and then prepared to set sail.

Later they took the ferry from Burlington across Lake Champlain, then toured the Adirondacks in upper New York state into Canada. From the Canadian border north they were surprised to find the land flat and treeless. Some of the valleys in New York resembled Iowa with the corn Holly is very active in extracurricular activities. She runs cross country, plays basketball, and runs track. Holly was all district in basketball and ran on the mile relay team that placed sixth in the state meet last year. She also qualified to participate in the regional academic meet in poetry interpretation. This year Holly has a part in the All School Play, "Arsenic and Old Lace;" serves the school as a cheerleader; and serves her class as president. When she graduates from high school, Holly plans to attend college and then to enter into a field of communications. Politics may be in her future. Defeated 38-20 by Panthers ...

Lynx win 1st quarter battle but lose the war

The Spearman Lynx won the first quarter of their Friday night game against Panhandle 140, but they lost third down plays, while the Panhandle dle offense began to make them.

It started when the Panhandle the game 38-20.

The Lynx got on the scoreboard in the first quarter thanks to two big passing plays. One was a fourth down and ten yard completion from Khris Kelp to Chad Riggins. The catch moved the Lynx from their own 49 yard line to the Panhandle 35 yard line.

The other pass play was a 35 yard touchdown pass from Kelp to Brandon Rex. Rex caught the Kelp pass right at the junction between the sideline and the goal line. He went up high for the pass in front of the defender, caught the ball and extended one leg down to keep it inbounds for the TD completion. The PAT kick was good and the Lynx were leading Spearman's second TD was set up by a pass play and finished off with two running plays by Brian Beck. On a third and ten play, Kelp hit Chad Riggins with a 15 yard completion to the Panhandle 49 yard line. Kelp then handed off to Beck, who gained 12 yards on his first carry. On the second carry he went the rest of the 37 yards for the TD. The PAT kick was again good to boost the Lynx lead to punt returner broke loose and returned a Lynx punt to the Spearman 10 yard line. Three plays later the Panhandle quarterback completed a 6 yard pass for the TD. Lynx defensive end Chris Strawn stretched out and blocked the PAT kick to leave the score 14-6. Panhandle scored a second TD just before the end of the half, on a 75 yard drive. Their two point PAT attempt failed. The Lynx went into halftime clinging to a twopoint, 14-12 lead.

The third quarter was all Panhandle. Their offense scored three TDs and kicked three PATs to run the score to 14-31. The Lynx offense could not seem to make any head way against the Panhandle defense. Panhandle forced the Lynx to punt on all three of their possessions. At the end of the third quarter the Lynx were dealt another blow, as starting quarterback Kelp left the field holding his right arm. He was replaced by back-up quarterback Jason Varnon for the rest of the game. The Lynx were already without the services of senior running back Tim Dooley. Dooley had injured his knee during the previous game and did not play against Panhandle. In the fourth, both teams managed one TD apiece. Varnon scrambled 65 yards for Spearman's TD and a Panhandle running back went 89 yards for their TD. This brought the final score to 38-20 in favor of Panhandle. Spearman's next opponent will be Clarendon this Friday night. It will be homecoming for the Lynx. According to Lynx coach Don Mullins, the Clarendon team is tougher than last year. "They are going to be after us," said Mullins. "We took them too lightly last year and lost." Mullins expects to have all his starters able to play in the game. He said Beck has a chipped bone in his wrist, which is sore and will have to be wrapped, but should not keep him from playing. Dooley's knee will be sore and he will be wearing a support brace, but he should also be able to play. Mullins said both players worked out on Monday.

Gruver edges Clarendon by one point

In a turnover-plagued defensive struggle the varsity Gruver Greyhounds held on to a one-point lead to beat Clarendon 8-7.

The only scoring of the game took place in the second quarter, when each team scored a touchdown. Both TDs were set up by good defensive play. Clarendon was the first to score when they pinned the Hound offense on their own one yard line. The Hounds were forced to punt out of their own end zone. Clarendon took advantage of good field position and scored a TD. Their PAT kick was

On Clarendon's next series of offensive plays, the Gruver defense began to make things happen. They forced a Clarendon fumble and covered it on the Clarendon 25 yard line.
The Gruver offense came on the field and converted the turnover to a Hound TD on the first play from scrimmage. Hound quarterback Shannon Pool passed to Matt Etheredge for the TD. Matthew Hoel then passed to Pool for the two point PAT conversion to bring the score to its final margin of 8-7 in favor of

For the rest of the game it was all defense, according to Barry Haenisch, Gruver football coach. "They only crossed our 50 yard line one time the rest of the game," said coach Haenisch. That one time was when the Hounds stopped Clarendon on a fourth down and two yards for a first on the Hounds' 48 yard line.

That play was set up by what Haenisch described as the best hit he has seen all year. Etheredge made an open-field tackle on a Clarendon running back for no yards gained on third down and 2 play.

Haenisch praised the entire defense for good hitting. He singled out the front line of the defense for keeping pressure on the Clarendon quarterback. "Two or three of their five fumbles were pitches to the ground," said Haenisch. These bad pitches were caused by pressure from Gruver defensemen.

Haenisch complimented the play of the defensive secondary as well. He pointed to Kevin Spivey's end zone interception of a Clarendon pass. "It was a well thown ball to their fastest receiver," said

The Hounds' next game will be Friday night at Sunray. Sunray will be the third 2A opponent in a row for the Hounds. Haenisch said he expects to see a lot of passing from Sunray. "They will throw 50 percent of the time," said Haenisch.

Haenisch listed three things Gruver will have to do to stop Sunray. First, the Hounds must keep pressure on the Sunray quarterback. Second, they must play good pass defense and third, they must not give up the big play.

As to the health status of the Gruver players, only one player will not be suiting up because of injuries. Marty McCloy suffered a deep thigh bruise during the Clarendon game and will miss one game. Rex Ralston is expected to have recovered from his back injury enough to play against Sunray.

Hounds quarterback Shannon Pool, 9, gets ready to pitch the ball to his running back as the Clarendon defense closes in.

do themselves proud

Cross country teams

The Gruver Lady Hounds varsity and junior varsity cross country teams did themselves proud last weekend at the Amarillo Invitational Cross Country Meet, with the varsity finishing third and the JV finishing Lady Hounds coach Steve Myatt said there were about 27 teams in Gruver's division - Division I - with 1A, 2A and 3A schools competing. The varsity cross country team came in just behind first-place Perryton, which is 3A, and second-place Claude, the only Class A team to outdo Gruver. The meet was held at Thompson Park in Amarillo.

"I was real proud of them. They did real well," commented Myatt. "Amarillo traditionally has the largest and toughest field of the season. We competed against 27 teams that comprise all of the Panhandle and South Plains' best teams. Finishing third was a great victory over Clarendon.

Myatt said every girl on the varsity team ran her best time of the year. 'We still have more than a month to get ready for the district meet, and need to keep working hard and improving every week," he said.

Individual finishes and times for varsity Lady Hounds included Cora Meyer, 8th, 13:17; Kasey Davis, 31st, 13:59; Brendy Brown, 40th, 14:10; Tisha Ralston, 42nd, 14:12; Julie Meyer, 44th, 14:13; and Holly Venneman, 94th, 14:50. Individual times for junior varsity cross country runners included Myriam Alvarez, 14:53; Monica Ward, 15:37; Mika McLain, 15:48; Janelle Haefner, 16:07; and Janyth Hart, 16:18.

Other teams and their placement in the meet included Floydada, 4th; Stratford, 5th; Dimmitt, 6th; Spearman, 7th; Sunray, 15th; and Booker,

The start of October, 1991, will be remembered as the beginning of the archery experiment in Texas. Historically, the bow-and-arrow hunters have been forced to compete against the rifle hunters during the regular November hunting season. This year is different because now the archery season for deer and turkey opens October 1st and ends October 31st. Some problems might exist if a rifle hunting lease is first hunted by archers. Some leases can tolerate the extra hunting pressure, but others cannot. November 2nd is also the start of quail season, fall turkey season, and aoudad season. It is time to head to the rifle range and make sure the rifles can find the bull's-eye.

RESOLVING COMPLAINTS

If you're in business, it's bound to happen to you. Sooner or later, you will be accosted by an unhappy customer. The problem may be real or imagined. It may be of serious consequence or a simple misunderstanding. How you deal with angry and unhappy customers can put money in your pocket or send you to the poorhouse.

Research studies show that each unhappy customer tells at least 10 others about unsatisfactory service. Few small businesses can afford this type of negative advertising. Therefore, you must deal with problems quickly and sincerely.

Difficulties with customers often occur when they feel cheated or believe that you didn't live up to your end of the bargain. Because of previous bad experiences, they may feel that you won't care about their

Often, these customers are angry and ready to unload on you or your company. They may think you won't listen unless they show you how upset

Angry customers require careful handling. However, there are no better customers than the ones whose problems you resolve. They become a steady, reliable source of income for your business. These customers know you will take good care of them

if a problem arises. We Have A Problem

The first step toward solving any problem is acknowledging its existence. Don't try to deny that the situation exists. If your customer believes there is a problem, there is a problem. It may not be your fault, but you must still find a solution. When you acknowledge the difficult situation, you begin to drain off steam that may keep the customer from exploding. You can help by staying calm yourself.

The second step is to listen patiently to the customer. The angry customer needs to vent some frustration. By being a patient listener, you accomplish two goals. First, you allow the customer to work off some anger. Second, you begin gathering facts and details about what went

After the customer has lowered his or her adrenaline level, try to find the real cause of dissatisfaction. This may take some probing. Once you find the source of unhappiness, you're a step closer to finding a solu-

Find the Facts

Engage in a fact-finding dialogue. Ask relevant questions. Make certain you know what happened and when. It doesn't hurt at this point to make some notes. When customers see you writing down their comments, they may stick a little closer to the facts. Your notes also serve as a record in case you cannot resolve the problem right away.

Once you have all the information, move quickly to resolve the complaint. Ask the customer to propose a solution. If the desired action is realistic, do it. Replace the item, refund the money or fix the product.

Stew Leonard's Dairy Store is known around the world for its outstanding customer service. All store employees receive training in resolving complaints. Not only does the store have written policies, but they also have the two most important store rules carved in stone in front of the store. Rule No. 1 says the customer is always right. Rule No. 2 states that, if the customer is wrong, see Rule No. 1. Leonard's single store currently grosses more than $100 million annually in sales.

If you cannot solve the problem immediately, let the customer know what you are going to do. You must communicate any progress to the customer. Postponing the problem is not a solution. Remember that the goal of resolving complaints is to create a satisfied customer.

We have written an easy-to-use guide to help you resolve complaints quickly and effectively. For a free copy, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to: ALERT, c/o Minding Your Own Business, P.O. Box 67, Amarillo, Texas 79105.

Operators honored

Telephone operators help thousands of Texans each day.

To honor these professionals, Southwestern Bell Telephone has declared Oct. 7-11 "Operator Recognition Week" in honor of the nearly 3,000 Southwestern Bell Telephone directory assistance and long distance operators who serve the public.

"We want to let our operators know how much their outstanding work is appreciated and let our customers know the professional manner in which they do their job," said Gary Stevens, area manager-external affairs of SWBT.

'Each of our directory assistance and local/long distance operators handle nearly 900 to 1,200 calls per day," said Stevens. "Statewide that's almost two million calls we deal with day in and day out. We take pride in handling those calls in a friendly and efficient way."

Operators provide a vital service to millions of customers who depend on their telephone for their livelihood, security or pleasure, according to

"Our operators are specially trained to give friendly service that's efficient and accurate," said Stevens. "To help our operators do a better job, here are a few simple tips we'd like to pass along."

• Have information ready when billing a call to a third number, calling card or making a collect call. · Have plenty of change when calling from a pay phone.

• Give directory assistance operators as much information as possible including the spelling of a name and address

• In an emergency, stay calm, tell the operator what kind of help is needed and the location.
